

Maturity Keynoted As National Need

Moseley Outlines Road to Stability

"The real objective of education is to bring our country to a wholesome maturity. This country will never grow up unless you grow up." These words were said last Tuesday by John O. Moseley, president of the University of Nevada, at the first student convocation of the semester.

The president called upon students to match their attitudes and talents to the environment in which they now find themselves.

"No one thing can contribute more to the progress of this university and your personal development as individual members of it than the full realization of the stern necessity of growing up," stated Dr. Moseley.

President Moseley went on to outline the four doors open to the student. "The opportunity to learn from fellow members of this student body; to learn from professors more than is taught in their books; to learn from the pioneer traditions of this university, and to gain an education which will make fit for a life of freedom in a democracy by living here and now on this campus in accord with the highest ideals of this American way of life."

He asked that the many childlike qualities which follow people into adulthood be overcome. The selfishness, impulsiveness, dumb belief, glitter, magnificence, and imagination; all these things, he said, must be outgrown.

"Although our student body is of record size, our band is better, our football team more successful, our faculty strengthened and our laboratories enlarged and improved, nevertheless we are far away from the needs of a university of this size and it will be up to each of you by increased devotion and attention to duty to make up for the facilities which are still lacking," Dr. Moseley said.

Other events at the convocation included a Scripture reading and invocation by Rev. J. Edward Oslund; two vocal solos by Miss Mary Hanley, accompanied by Miss Betty McEwen; a welcome message by Rex Jemison, president of the ASUN; an introduction to new faculty members by Dr. Moseley, and a welcome message by Miss Jean Howden, director of the YWCA.

Studio May Film A Fourth Picture On U of N Campus

The University of Nevada campus may again be the location for a motion picture. On Monday, September 27, Mr. Pat O'Hara and a group of executives from the location department of Twentieth Century Fox Film Corporation will be on campus.

They will consider the possibilities of filming a sequel to "Sitting Pretty," starring Clifton Webb, it was learned from the president's office.

If the film executives decide to film the picture here, it will be the fifth movie made on this campus. The others were "Apartment for Peggy," "Mother Was a Freshman," "Andy Hardy's Blonde Trouble," and "Marge."

Griffin Addresses Highlander Meet; Asks Participation

The Highlanders got the ball rolling this year at a meeting last Tuesday evening that was highlighted by an address by Dr. R. S. Griffin, dean of men.

This group was organized in 1946 and is made up of student residents of Highland Terrace. It is the purpose of this group to promote a more complete student life through organized participation in all phases of student activities on the campus.

At the meeting, Dr. Griffin said, "It is hoped that the reorganization and strengthening of the Highlanders will result in this large group of veterans taking its rightful place in the campus picture. These men can add greatly to their own pleasure and profit from their college careers, and can contribute immeasurably to student government and campus life in general. They are certain to have the support of everyone on the campus."

Officers of the Highlanders are Dwight W. Peterson, president; Dwight (Duke) Lindeman, vice-president; Roger J. McGowan, secretary; Richard G. Knight, treasurer, and Joseph Morita, senator.

During the summer the lounge and halls of dormitory No. 30 were painted. The lounge was furnished with blue leather furniture. A new Bendix washer was installed and the showers were put in good working order.

In the next few weeks a system of supervision of the members will be set up and administered by the members themselves, it was announced. Under this program the regulations governing cleanliness, preventing destructiveness, informing new occupants of regulations, and study hours will be enforced.

The members plan to participate in campus sports and social activities. On the social calendar, four parties are slated for this semester: one dinner dance, a picnic and two smokers.

Veteran Enrollment Figure Decreasing; 773 Total on Hill

Latest figures released from the dean of men's office indicates the veteran's enrollment has taken another drop from the peak reached two years ago. The present number of veterans on the campus is 773 with a few more expected by registration deadline Saturday.

This will show an approximate decrease of 10 per cent as compared to the 875 veterans enrolled at the University of Nevada at the same time last year. Dr. R. S. Griffin said these figures are consistent with those released by the veterans administration throughout the country.

The only difficulty during the fall registration has been with transfer students whose certificates of eligibility have not arrived in Reno yet. The comptroller's office has cooperated and deferred the veterans registration fees in such cases, pending the arrival of the eligibility certificates.

Dr. Griffin praised the veteran's administration for its hands-off policy with respect to the veterans' activities and study courses.

NOTICE

Students planning to attend the Nevada-St. Mary's football game have until 5 pm October 6 to get their seat reservations into the graduate manager's office.

Gene Mastroianni, graduate manager, has announced that the officials of Kezar Stadium in San Francisco should be required to submit reservations to them at least ten days in advance of the game. If the reservations are not in by the deadline that does not mean students will not be able to attend the game, it was explained. It means only that they will not be able to sit in the section reserved for Nevada students.

The admission procedure at Kezar Stadium will be to check the names off the list submitted to them by the graduate manager's office as each person enters the stadium. The final advice of the graduate manager's office is to check with them even if the deadline is past. There is always the possibility of cancellation and a few extra reservations being available.

Equipment Shortage Hurts U of N Band, States Prof. Tate

Fifty-five students have signed up for band activities, Prof. Robert Tate, band director, announced this week. This is 15 more than turned out for rehearsals this time last year.

The major problem facing the organization this year is acquiring majorette uniforms and musical instruments for the additional members, Prof. Tate said.

In addition to musicians, six baton twirlers and six flag twirlers have signed with the group.

Scheduled performances for the band to date include an appearance at the first home football game with North Texas State College on October 9. The group is also slated to appear at the Nevada-St. Mary's game in San Francisco in October, and at the Nevada-Santa Clara game at Sacramento.

Tentative plans have also been made for a winter and spring concert and possibly a massed band concert with high school units, the director added.

Selective Service Considers Change

Veterans Reminded To Keep in Mind Benefit Deadlines

There are a number of important deadline dates on GI bill benefits which World War II veterans should keep in mind, Mr. E. F. Reed, manager of the Veterans Administration Center, Reno, Nevada, points out. The benefits and their deadline dates are:

1. Readjustment allowances—Veterans who were discharged on or before July 25, 1947, can apply for readjustment allowances up to July 25, 1949.

Men discharged after July 25, 1947, are entitled to readjustment allowances until two years after discharge. However, no readjustment allowances are payable after July 25, 1952.

2. GI education or training benefits have two deadlines, one to enter training and another to complete training. Education or training must be started within four years after discharge or by July 25, 1951, whichever is later. As a general rule, education or training must be completed not later than July 25, 1956.

The exceptions from the general rule are veterans who enlisted or reenlisted before October 6, 1946. These men figure deadlines on GI bill benefits from date of discharge, and may start and complete their training later than other veterans.

3. GI loan guaranty or insurance applications can be made until July 25, 1957.

Student-Veterans Asked to Submit Change in Status

Student-veterans whose dependency status changed during the summer vacation are reminded by Veterans Administration to submit proof of additional dependency as soon as possible to the appropriate VA regional office in which their records are filed.

Veterans with dependents, who are studying full or part time in schools and colleges under the GI bill are eligible for additional subsistence payments because of the dependents.

However, legal proof, such as certified copies of public records of birth, baptism, marriage, divorce or other evidence, must be in their VA training file in order to qualify.

Single veterans eligible under the GI bill are eligible for monthly subsistence allowances up to $75. Veterans with one dependent may receive $105 per month and veterans with two or more dependents, $120.

Engineers to See Films at Meeting

The American Institute of Electrical Engineers will meet at 7 pm Thursday, September 30. The meeting is tentatively scheduled to be held in the Engineering building.

The Bell Telephone Company will sponsor the meeting and will provide the entertainment. Three films will be shown. "Echoes in War and Peace," "Western Crossing" and a Walt Disney film. The feature film will be about telephones in war and peace, and the story of transcontinental telephone lines. Jim Chester, president of AIEE, invites everyone on the campus. Refreshments will be served.

EXEMPT STATUS MAY BE GIVEN TO ROTC MEN

Students at the University of Nevada may be deferred from the selective service quotas if they are enrolled in any of the classes of the ROTC, according to word received by Dr. John O. Moseley, president of the university.

After June, 1949, students who advance in their courses in ROTC, subject to War Department quotas, will be exempted from the draft as long as they satisfactorily carry on their work in the course. Explanation of the deferment program was given at a special conference at the Presidio of San Francisco, headquarters for the Sixth Army.

Said Dr. Moseley, "Congress has long recognized the fact that universities of the country furnish the great reservoir for future leadership, not only in agriculture, industry and science, but also in the field of national defense. The armed forces, looking for higher education among its leaders, turn to college students as a logical source of officer candidates. The ROTC is designed to meet the needs of college students who can and will work for a commission."

Early in 1949, students will begin competing for the right to fill War Department quotas, covering advancement in the ROTC program which is designed to keep pace with the normal academic years in college. Incoming freshmen, it was explained, will compete by written examinations for admission to the second year course. These tests are to be held at the beginning of the second semester of the year's work.

If accepted, a freshman will be deferred through his second year of school, at the end of which he must again compete for the quota-filling right.

Juniors and seniors, enrolled in the advanced course in ROTC will be allowed to complete their course of study, subject to signing an agreement to serve two years as an officer on active duty if called at the finish of their schooling. These students will under no circumstances be called to active duty before they have completed the prescribed course.

It has been stressed that the new quotas set up will in no way change the University of Nevada requirements that all male students, with the exception of veterans, must take the two year course in basic ROTC during their first two years of college.

According to Dr. Moseley, quotas for the U of N, which will probably be based on the size of the present units, have not as yet been released.

Representing the University of Nevada at the Sixth Army headquarters conference was Dean Stanley G. Palmer of the college of engineering, accompanied by Lt. Col. James Smeed and Lt. Col. Bruce Cator of the university military department.

ASSEMBLY PROBLEM

After hearing the propaganda concerning compulsory assemblies last Tuesday, many of us began acting like southern Democrats about lost state's rights.

However, the situation isn't as we assumed. President Jemison at the beginning of last week found himself faced with the ultimatum of either finding a way to stimulate interest in student body assemblies or losing the right to have them.

This ultimatum came from the faculty who believes too many students take advantage of these occasions to serve personal reasons. They feel that since the time allowed is normally time which would be spent in class, it should be used for constructive purposes; if not, assemblies should be abolished.

Rather than give up these meetings which serve a definite purpose for the ASUN, Mr. Jemison sought a solution. Prompted by the thought that most students who skip assemblies don't know what they are missing, he hit upon the idea of having a compulsory meeting. By doing this he hoped the students would realize through participation the merits and importance of these heretofore regular sessions of the student body. The plan was presented to the administration who agreed to give it a try.

ASUN assemblies were originated as a manifestation of the democratic ideals set forth in our organization. Through our own stupidity in disregarding our rights we now stand to lose them. THE ISSUE IS NOT COMPULSORY ASSEMBLIES, BUT, WILL WE BE PERMITTED TO RETAIN THIS MEDIUM OF EXPRESSION FOR THE ASUN?

Seeing a need for some kind of stimulation to regain interest in student body meetings, members of the ASUN several years ago instigated entertainment as part of these programs. It was a success. In fact, it was such a success that more and more entertainment was added until the assemblies began to lose their original purpose. We hope that this is what President Moseley meant during the recent convocation when he referred to our slap-stick vaudeville assemblies.

We believe that entertainment has a rightful place on these programs. And, we feel that the talent exhibited in the past has been of a high caliber in most instances. We will concede that there have been times when entertainment has been over-stressed.

On October 6, the first official ASUN assembly will be called. Under the provisions of Mr. Jemison's plan it will be counted as a regular class session. Failure to attend will constitute a cut in your class for that period. We have his promise that the meetings to follow will be returned to an optional basis.

Remembering that this is an experiment to determine if we possess sufficient interest in the affairs of our student government to warrant these assemblies, let's back the plan 100 per cent. If we are lacking in this interest, we might as well dissolve the ASUN.

Gorrell Explains Numbering System

The new system of numbering in the 1948-49 catalogue of the University of Nevada is for the purpose of preventing confusion in the registrar's office and avoiding the repetition of course numbers in use, it is explained by the committee in charge of changing the numbering system. The committee, headed by Dr. Robert M. Gorrell, proposed that a range of 400 numbers be used for underposed that there should not be too much disparity between the graduate courses in order to prevent major changes in the system.

The committee further proposed departments; that it is not necessary to make a distinction as to when a course will be given; that it is only important to indicate the beginning and advanced parts of a course which extends beyond one semester, and that the courses will be numbered according to the group for which it is primarily intended. This does not mean that a student will be restricted to the courses of his class rank, it was explained.

Orientation Head Extends Thanks For Help Given

To members of the student body organizations and other individuals who assisted during the freshman week program:

So many students cooperated during the freshman week program that I have been unable to adequately thank everyone for making so great a success of it. Such a program put on by the faculty alone would be one-sided and deadly, to say the least. I believe the new members of our student body are appreciative of your interest and efforts in extending them a cordial welcome.

The student activities parade was one of the most colorful and best carried out activities I have seen at the University of Nevada. Each participating organization deserves to be proud of its part in that event. I hope that each organization will begin now to make plans for a similar event next fall. The icebreaker Saturday night was well staged by the YWCA, assisted by the YMCA. Their decorations in the gym stayed up and contributed greatly to the success of the whole program. Blue Key's campus trek and the AWS clothesline were especially appreciated by the orientation committee. Rex Jemison, ASUN president, was on hand at many events and did much to insure their success. Many others assisted.

Please accept the great and whole-hearted thanks of the orientation committee for a job well done.

Yours sincerely,
Ralph A. Irwin,
Professor of Psychology.

Higginbotham Outlines Progress Of Journalism

Professor A. L. Higginbotham, head of the University of Nevada department of journalism, is the author of a current article in the June issue of the Journalism Quarterly, national professional magazine devoted to journalism. The title of the article is "A New Approach to Teaching Courses in Editorial Writing."

In this article Professor Higginbotham outlines the program made at the University of Nevada over a number of years in the teaching of editorial writing. He stresses the fact that most university students lack a mature knowledge of world, national and local affairs.

The journalism department has worked to overcome this problem and produce editorial writers who possess a knowledge of what is behind the news, the article points out.

This inadequacy has been partially overcome by the willingness of the leaders of Reno's civic enterprises to lend their "know-how" in the form of guidance and lectures to the editorial classes. The policy of the journalism department is to pattern the class' activities after the editorial councils of metropolitan newspapers, says Professor Higginbotham.

Ample opportunity is afforded the students through class discussion and research to gain a thorough understanding of an issue. When the study is complete the student writes his editorial. Many of the student's editorials in the past have compared favorably with those produced by professional editorial writers and have been published by local newspapers, the article concludes.

Program Planned By Dance Group

Though the women's physical education department has no dance instructor as yet, the members of Orchesis, the modern dance group, have planned a full program for the semester. Norma Martel, who was to take Jacquelyn Van Gaasbeek's place as dance instructor, when Miss Van Gaasbeek returned to school for a master's degree in dance, was called to her home in Wyoming before the semester began because of illness in her family. However, Miss Price of the physical education department has agreed to sponsor the group.

Alice Pettis, president of Orchesis, announced that the group will meet Tuesday evenings in the gymnasium at which time the older members will hold a "laboratory of the dance" to teach the new members steps and movements.

During the semester the group plans to attend several dance symposiums at which many western colleges will be represented. If possible, Orchesis will present a performance in December demonstrating some of the new ideas brought back from these conferences. However, the regular spring program of modern dance cannot be scheduled until a permanent sponsor and instructor can be obtained.

The new officers of Orchesis for this semester are Alice Pettis, president; Kay Brennan, vice-president; Jeanne Fulstone, and Anita Coates, treasurer and secretary, respectively.

Preliminary Teas Held by Sororities For Campus Women

More than 100 women were ushered through houses on sorority row during last Sunday's house teas. Held as a preliminary to formal rushing, the teas took place from three to five in the afternoon giving all campus women, prospective rushees or not, ample opportunity to view the interior of sorority houses.

Co-chairmen in directing the Kappa Alpha Theta tea were Marilyn James and Barbara Parker, while Pat Fee was in charge of arrangements for Gamma Phi Beta. Alice Pettis of Pi Beta Phi and Pat Sandler of Delta Delta Delta chaired the teas of their respective houses.

The houses of Kappa Alpha Theta, Delta Delta Delta and Pi Beta Phi were decorated with gladiolas, while Gamma Phi Beta used asters. According to this year's Pan-Hellenic decision, punch was the only refreshment served.

Who painted the large SJS's on the sidewalks and signs about the campus ranks first on the list of campus mysteries this week.

No one seems to know the answer, and officially no one cares. Dean of Men Robert S. Griffin was not aware of the decorations and had no comment when informed of their presence.

Rex Jemison, student body president, said that the ASUN planned no official action but added that he could not predict what might happen.

Jemison also added that if San Jose students were responsible for the daubing, they'll get their smearing tonight at San Jose.

Folk Dance Group Opens Membership

The Nevada Polkateers, campus dancing group, officially opened its membership at the first executive committee meeting here Saturday. Its officers, Wallace Kurtz, president, and Rudy Gerken, vice-president, extended a welcome to freshman students, and expressed the hope that any interested persons would attend the Wednesday evening meetings to be held in the basement of Stewart Hall from 7 to 9 o'clock.

European and American folk dances requiring varying degrees of mastery are the order of the meetings, but special provisions has been made for beginners.

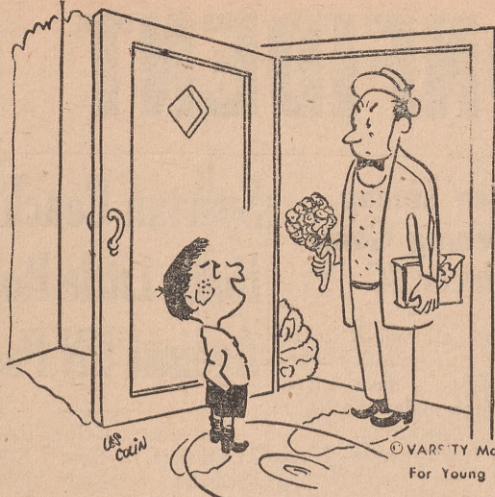

The beginners session will be under the direction of Kurtz and instructor Gordon Marsh, and is to be conducted from seven to eight while the advance workshop will meet to practice for exhibition dancing in another part of the building.

The last hour of the meeting will be a combined dancing program, the dances featured common to both groups.

The organization was founded in the fall of 1947 by a group of 40 interested students under the sponsorship of Miss Elsa Sameth, and since that time has appeared publicly on various occasions at such places as the Nevada Repertoire Club, the Civic Center, the annual folk dance festival, and the Veterans Hospital. Costumes are brightly colored and set off by silver and blue sashes.

JUST FOR THE RECORD

By Barney Childs

This is the first column in what we hope will be a regular series. Each week we will discuss the latest releases in recorded music, classical and popular, and mention current musical events for your convenience.

Biggest news in the world of records is, of course, the Columbia long playing record. Designed to operate at a speed of 33 1/3 revolutions, the discs are grooved in such fashion that up to half an hour of music may be condensed onto one 12-inch side. Columbia has taken a hundred of its most popular items from its vast catalogue to be issued on these microgroove records; titles include the Khatchaturian Gayne Suite, the Tchaikovsky Piano Concerto, one of Beethoven's Rasoumovsky quartets, and Gustav Mahler's Fourth Symphony. Your reviewer has heard a demonstrator of Tchaikovsky's Nutcracker Suite on microgroove, and can report that fidelity and range are on a par with the best domestic regular issues, and that surface noise is at a minimum.

Unfortunately, distribution of these revolutionary records has been sporadic. As yet, local shops are awaiting their quotas of microgroove sides, while such towns as Ely have a full supply. The other difficulty with this advancement is the necessity of adapting phonographs to operate at the slower speed. Radio-phonograph companies are falling all over themselves to release two-speed rigs or "33" attachments, but very few of them are available to the general public at this writing. Best bet will probably be the Webster adjustable-pressure head two-speed motor player.

Popular releases have been slowed down considerably since the Petrillo lowered the boom on cutting, but the big companies are allowing trickles of their two-year backlog to reach the market. At this writing there seems to be little of pre-James C. caliber on the juke boxes and hit parade, with the possible exception of "A Tree in the Meadow." This tune has yet to receive satisfactory arrangement, from where we stand. Columbia has released four sides of Toni Harper, the sensational nine-year-old blues singer. Backed by extremely skillful sidemen, young Toni brings a new freshness and joy

YW Snack Bar To Open Monday

The University of Nevada snack bar will open Monday, Sept. 27, under the management of Mrs. Mary Duke and her assistant, Mrs. William Gonzales. Student YWCA co-chairmen Helen Burr and Joan McCabene will enlist the aid of YWCA volunteers to work one or two hours a week serving coffee and cashing.

The snack bar will be operated cafeteria style.

Miss Jean Howden, executive secretary of the YWCA, emphasized several regulations which must be observed by students using the snack bar facilities. These include the forming of a single line at the cafeteria, the proper disposal of paper cups and plates in the receptacles provided for that purpose, and the using of ash trays by smokers.

Miss Howden welcomed campus groups to use the snack bar for meetings, provided they check with her before hand to avoid conflict.

The beginning menu will include coffee, milk, fruit juice, ice cream bars, doughnuts, cookies, snails and sandwiches. "Prices will be flexible," she said, "until operating expenses can be determined."

The snack bar has been redecorated in green and cream, and potted plants will be placed around the room.

SHEEKETSKI CONFIDENT OF NEVADA TRIUMPH

Wolves Carry High Mental Attitude Into Clash With San Jose Tonight

Nevadans Favorite To Win First Game; Spartans Are Tough

"We expect to win," were the words of Nevada football coach Joe Sheeketski as he readied the Pack for tonight's opening game against San Jose State College.

In a pre-season statement Sheeketski predicted that Nevada, barring injuries, would defeat all of its Pacific coast opponents. Tonight is the night on which the 1948 Pack must start to make good on that statement.

Definitely out of the game is Louie Mendive, reserve end, and a doubtful starter is guard Tom Bell.

Stan Heath is rapidly returning to form after a shoulder injury which has slowed him up for the last three weeks, and X-rays of Scott Beasley's hand disclosed that there is no break.

Coach Sheeketski said the Wolves are "mentally high" for the game and are rapidly rounding into good physical condition as the early practice bruises disappear.

Sheeketski intends to use much the same strategy as last year and will substitute entire defensive backfield units to counter-act a San Jose passing attack which showed definite strength in the Spartans 26-20 loss to Stanford last week.

Thirty-six players, coaches Sheeketski, Lawlor and Smithwick flew to the bay area yesterday and will stay in a San Francisco hotel until near game time tonight.

The starting lineup for Nevada will include Dan Orlich and Scott Beasley at ends, Tom Reinhardt and Fred Leon at tackles, Frank Sanchez and Ken Sinofsky guards and Bob Corley center.

A backfield of Stan Heath as quarterback, Dick Trachok and Tommy Kalmanir, half-backs, and Sherman Howard, fullback, may be changed if Nevada kicks off.

She's a suicide blonde—dyed by her own hand.

Hose San Jose.

WINGMAN DELUXE

Beginning his third season as an outstanding end for the Wolf Pack is the veteran Scott Beasley. Scott should have a great year and is tabbed by west coast sports moguls as one of the best wingmen on Pacific football front.

PACK TRACKS

By Bill McFarland

Nevada's 1948 football opener at San Jose State tonight should give the local citizens some sort of a vignette on what to expect from the Salad Bowl champs this season.

Joe Sheeketski, in his second year on the hill, has virtually the same squad that won nine of 11 games last year. With that kind of talent on hand the Wolves can't help but be tagged LOADED. Expectations are that the Wolves should go all the way, UNDEFEATED.

Now that this column has properly Fleagled the Pack, maybe it would be wise to see how this evening's shin-dig really stacks up. As has been published all over town, Sheeketski's boys are bruised up more than somewhat, which undoubtedly will not produce peak physical performances.

San Jose, on the other hand, has one game under its belt, a last minute defeat at Stanford last Saturday, an advan-

Freshmen Lineup For Opening Game With Placer JC

Frosh football makes its return debut this evening when Nevada freshmen meet Placer Junior College under the lights at Auburn, California.

The new frosh mentor, Hugh Smithwick, has been putting the squad of 30 through their paces and expects to be ready for the season's opener. His forward wall hits the healthy average of 212 pounds, while the backs average a cool 170 pounds. However, he does feel the need for reserve strength and intends to keep a sharp eye for new prospects.

The freshmen have taken on an impressive four game schedule and the last two games will be played at home. Mr. Smithwick has also announced an opening for the position of frosh football manager.

The probable starting lineup for the Friday night game is as follows:

tage point, in that they found many weaknesses and will have them remedied. Nevada will have to iron out any wrinkles as they come up tonight.

Upset

Nevada rates as the second "big game" of the year for the Spartans and they'll be shooting the works for an upset to avenge the Stanford debacle, which was all their for three quarters.

The Wolves will have to produce, and in a loud fashion. Even with their physical miseries, the Silver and Blue should win going away. (Predictions on the California games will be easy this fall as we are riding on the tip-off made by Sheeketski to Golden State sportswriters at the recent Reno Golf Open, in which he commented that his team should win all five of its California engagements.)

It is always interesting this time of year to see how the experts tab Nevada's chances for '48. One writer from way down in Florida has the Wolves rated third in the intermediate class, that position between major and minor college elevens, with College of Pacific number one and Miami of Ohio second.

Another scribe has the Wolves performing in the Rocky Mountain area and others continue to ignore the Pack entirely. Bill Leiser, an old friend of Nevada's and sports editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, gave the locals a boost in his coverage of Pacific coast prospects. He named the Wolves as one of the coast's better independents and singled out the play of ends Scott Beasley and Dan Orlich, and backs Tommy Kalmanir and Stan Heath.

Most of these predictions are based on last season's data. Yet, many of the so-called forecasters over-looked Nevada's spot as the 23rd ranking eleven in the nation last autumn. This fall should find the Pack in the top 20, and maybe a break from Filberts next fall.

Spartan Coach Holds Little Hope Against UN Pack

San Jose, California, Sept. 23 (Special).—Coach Bill Hubbard has a tough mental, as well as physical, task in getting his San Jose State Spartans ready for this Friday night's date with the Nevada Wolf Pack.

The Spartan mentor has been working this week to square away the ragged edges which cropped up against the Palo Alto Indians. But after the performance of his charges against Stanford, he holds little hope against the potent Wolves from Reno.

A heart-breaking loss to Stanford in the season's opener dealt a sharp blow to the morale of the gold-clad Spartans. After building a 20 point lead over the Indians, the Spartans fell apart late in the third period and watched Stanford catch fire. The Cards pushed over the tiring San Jose team to pull off a 26-20 victory.

Hubbard found that his reserves were not up to the tough Pacific Coast Conference competition. The first team and a few of the alternates fitted in well and played the Stanfords off their feet.

The modern girl's hair may look like a mop but that doesn't worry her—she doesn't know what a mop looks like.

FROSH MENTOR

Teaching first year men the Nevada system is Hugh Smithwick, first freshman football coach since pre-war days. Smitzy, trainer and equipment manager for the Wolves last year, was appointed to the frosh coaching position last summer.

Wolf Opponents Lose Four of Six Tilts In Pigskin Openers

Six of Nevada's nine opponents got their seasons underway last weekend and four of them came out on the short end in the scoring column while two managed to cop their first games.

Down in the southwest the Wolves two home game rivals, Oklahoma City University and North Texas State met in a rough and tumble affair with the Oklahoma Chiefs topping the Eagles 14-6.

Farther north, but still in the plains country, Wichita took it on the chin by two touchdowns, losing to Oklahoma A & M 27-12.

On the Pacific coast, Stanford staged a last period rally to score three TDs and a 26-20 verdict over the San Jose State Spartans in Indian wigwam at Palo Alto.

Santa Clara, long on spirit and surprisingly effective on runs through and around big and mighty California, scored somewhat of a moral victory although losing 41-19. The three touchdowns by the Bronco's were more than anyone expected.

St. Mary's roamed down to Los Angeles to take the measure of Loyola, winning handily by a score of 32-7.

Varsity Debate Begins Thursday

The 1948-49 varsity debate squad, under the direction of assistant professor Gale Lee Richards, will commence its forensic activities Thursday evening, September 30, at the first squad meeting of the year.

Professor Richards urges all veteran squad members and other interested parties to be present at the meeting which is to be held in room 20 of the temporary English building at 7 pm.

Serious lack of women debaters moved the new mentor to issue a plea that interested women, experienced or not, should not hesitate to turn out, as there are many positions in the women's division to be filled.

The '48-'49 debate season will include several tournaments and intermittent competition with nearby institutions, Richards announced.

Campus Sororities Close Rush Week

This is the time when the four national sororities on the University of Nevada campus choose their new members. The social activities began Sunday and will end tonight with preferential dinners.

Each girl who is going through rushing has been given a booklet prepared by the Pan-Hellenic Association. In this booklet are facts about the sororities and bits of basic information regarding what to wear, where to go, when to go, and how to carry on the necessary correspondence with the sororities.

The girls going through rushing report each morning to the office of Dean Mobley. If they receive an invitation for the evening's activities, they reply at the Student Union.

The climax for the week's social events comes Friday night when the sororities hold their preferential dinners. At that time, each rusher who receives a bid makes the important decision as to which organization she will join.

Pack Football Team Bid Noisy Fairwell By Many Students

Approximately 200 students were on hand at the airport Thursday to give a noisy send-off to the 1948 edition of the Wolf Pack as they left to meet San Jose State in tonight's season opener.

Coach Joe Sheeketski expressed his thanks for the fine display of school spirit and stated that his squad was in good condition. He urged the continuation of this type of demonstration and promised to field an eleven that the student body could be proud of. He indicated a desire to see an even larger crowd when the team returns Saturday morning.

Scott Beasley, acting captain in tonight's game, was introduced and given a generous round of applause. He confidently predicted a win against San Jose State. Several other outstanding players were introduced by Mr. Sheeketski and made brief addresses.

The yell leaders then called for a personal cheer for the coach. This was followed by several cheers for the team.

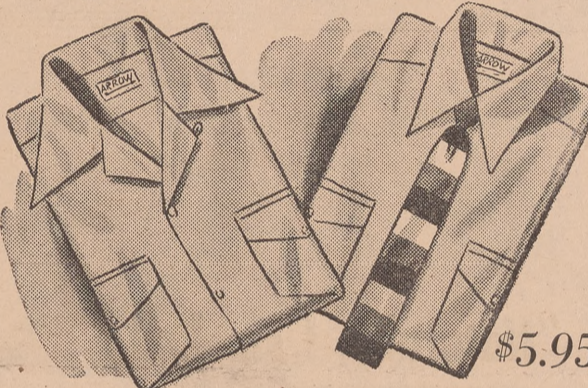

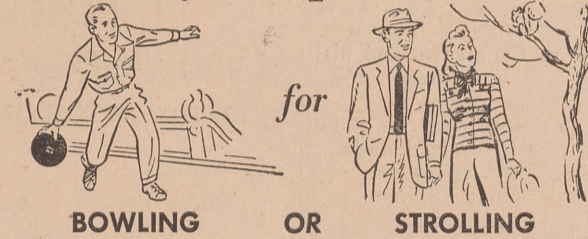

As the students sang "Hail to Our Sturdy Men," the team headed for the plane, carrying the hopes of many loyal fans with them.

Wolves Frolic Will Be Staged At Homecoming

Football, Dances, Rally, Parade and Frat Race To Highlight Fete

The Wolves Frolic, a stage production including skits by the various campus organizations, will again be a part of Homecoming at the University of Nevada, Don Metzker, Homecoming chairman, announced.

The 29th annual Homecoming will be held October 29 and 30, with all the traditional functions included. Oklahoma City University, of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, will be the Wolf Pack's opponent for the Saturday afternoon game.

ASUN student cards will admit their bearers to all functions except the Wolves Frolic and the dance.

Events scheduled thus far include the Phi Sigma Kappa street dance, to be held in front of the Phi Sigma house Thursday evening, October 28, the annual bonfire and rally, Friday evening at Clark field, and the Wolves Frolic, which will follow the rally.

The coss country race, a foot race from Sparks to the university, will be held Saturday morning, with representatives from the fraternities competing.

Campus organizations will be represented by floats in the parade at 10:00 Saturday morning. Individual prizes will be awarded for the various floats.

Kickoff for the football game between the Nevada Wolf Pack and the Oklahoma City Chiefs will be at 2:00 Saturday afternoon.

The Alumni Association will sponsor the alumni banquet Saturday evening. This is the only event to which university students are not invited.

Homecoming dance will close the festivities Saturday night. A "semi-name" band will be chosen to play.

"Students are all whole-heartedly welcomed to attend all of these functions and help make this the best Homecoming yet," Mr. Metzger said.

Second Aquacade Plans in Progress For Next Semester

Paniwallis, the campus swimming club, is once again planning an aquacade. The first water show and swimming exhibition of the sort ever presented in Reno was given by Paniwallis two years ago. The success of the first water show merited another aquacade which is planned for the spring semester.

Paniwallis, to which both men and women students belong, consists of intermediate and advanced swimmers. Instruction at the regular Thursday night meetings at Moana Hot Springs trains the members in form swimming, synchronized swimming, water ballet, diving and exhibition swimming.

A swimming meet in the early spring to which other western college students will be invited is being discussed, though nothing definite has been planned as yet. This meet and the other Paniwallis activities during the semester will all help to prepare the swimmers for the aquacade.

SATURDAY DEADLINE FOR CLASS CHANGES

All students who are still sweating over class schedules won't be able to suffer much longer, even if they want to.

All such mental afflictions will be brought to an end Saturday, September 25. That is the last day any new classes or changes in classes will be accepted by the registrar's office.

Margaret Wonderful, Says AWS President

"Miss Truman is wonderful," according to Lorraine Houghton, senior student on the University of Nevada campus. Lorraine was the fortunate coed to be riding by the side of Margaret Truman when the president's daughter visited Reno with her parents, Wednesday.

Lorraine, AWS president, said that Miss Truman was very interested in activities of the Nevada campus, not to overlook her interest in the city of Reno. She asked about the sororities on campus, and the clubs downtown.

According to Lorraine, Miss Truman's interest in school was due to the fact that she is a recent graduate of George Washington University, Washington, D. C.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS WELCOME TRUMAN

Nearly 50 Young Democrats of the University of Nevada, a campus organization affiliated with the Young Democrats of America, assembled together in Powning Park last Wednesday to greet President Truman.

Carrying a large banner which read "Nevada Students Welcome Truman," it was the only campus organization to make any organized demonstration in the president's honor. The group is headed by Ed Reed, Jr., A&S student.

"Do you really love her?" "Do I love her? Why I worship the ground her father struck oil on."

Customer: "Have you a book entitled, 'Man, the Master of the Home'?"

Salesgirl: The fiction department is on the other side, sir.

Castle in the Clouds

Here's an "Angel's Eye" view of the most luxurious thing a-wing, the new Clipper America of Pan American World Airways' ever-growing fleet. A double-deck plane, it gives the passenger freedom of movement, which has never been available before. With lounge, bar, berths and chef-cooked meals, there is a stability about it in the air that completely relaxes the passenger. Its first flight will be between San Francisco and Honolulu, and then between New York and London. Eventually the Boeing-built Clipper will also be used extensively on Pan American's proposed domestic routes.

Commerce Club Set To Hear Address

The Commerce Club opens its semester activities next Tuesday night with its first meeting, which will feature as a speaker, Edward G. Southerland, professor emeritus, University of Nevada. He will speak on a timely subject concerning the function of the student and his relationship to an active philosophy of our times.

The group will meet at 7:30 in room 107 Aggie building, and after the discussion refreshments will be served.
