

Sweetheart Nominations Head 29th Homecoming Agenda

Homecoming sweetheart will be crowned at halftime during the Nevada-Oklahoma City University Homecoming game October 30, Don Metzker, chairman of the 29th annual Homecoming committee, announced today. Each sorority will nominate one candidate for sweetheart and the fraternities will vote on the nominees.

Celebrations will begin with the Phi Sigma Kappa street dance, held in front of the Phi Sigma house at 9 pm Thursday, October 28.

The pajamboree will start from the university gates at 7 pm Friday, October 29. University students will don pajamas and walk around town in a long chain, ending on Clark Hill, behind Mackay Stadium, for the bonfire and rally. Homecoming sweetheart will be announced at the rally.

Frolic on Again

The Wolves Frolic, to be held at the State Building, will begin at 9 pm Friday. A trophy will be awarded the winning skit in each of three divisions, fraternity, sorority and general campus organizations. Miss Mary Jane Shirley will direct the Frolic.

The cross country race will start from Sparks High school at 8 am Saturday morning. The first fraternity to have three men cross the finish line at Mackay Stadium will be awarded points toward the Kinnear trophy.

Homecoming parade will begin at 10:30. Floats will be judged in the same three groups, fraternity, sorority and general campus organizations. High school bands will compete for trophies in the parade. The university band also will march.

President and Mrs. John O. Moseley will hold a reception for the alumni at their residence from 12:00 to 2:00 Saturday.

Kickoff for the Nevada-OCU game will be 2:00 Saturday in Mackay Stadium. Blue Peppers, university all-girl drill team, and the university band will take part in half-time activities.

The alumni banquet will be held Saturday evening.

Homecoming sweetheart will reign over the dance to be held in the State building at 9:00 Saturday evening.

Committee members include Don Metzker, chairman; Sue Broadbent, co-chairman; Roger Brander and Pat Fee, dance chairmen; Bob Vaughn, parade chairman; Bill Buck, Homecoming rally, bonfire and pajamboree; Bill Ebert, Phi Sigma Kappa street dance; Albert Richardson, trophies; Lee deLauer, sweetheart election; Gene McKenna, publicity, and Elaine Abercrombie and Gloria Eddy, secretaries.

Galena Creek Scene Of Church Meeting

Galena creek ski hut was the meeting place for an informal outing by the Kampus Klub, college age group of the Federated Church, last Sunday evening.

Activities on the program included a picnic supper and singing around the campfire.

Discussion of semester events for Kampus Klub followed with plans laid for the election of officers Sunday evening.

Attending the Galena creek meeting were Wally Kurtz, David Hamilton, Barbara Hamilton, Pat Welty, Warren Greenway, Ernest Lorbeer, Vale Cooley, Bryant Nagel, Tahsin Karacabe, Elinor Kristel, and the Rev. and Mrs. Terry Stoker, Kampus Klub advisors.

FACULTY MEET SCHEDULED FOR NEXT TUESDAY

First meeting for the Faculty Club of the university is scheduled for Tuesday, October 5, according to the completed program for 1948-49. The group will meet at 7:30 pm in the home economics room of the Agriculture building. This will be a joint meeting with the Women's Faculty Club, and new members will be received and presented.

Seven other meetings are scheduled for the year. Speakers at these meetings will be Paul H. Jensen, who will talk on "Survey of the European Situation" at the November 2 meeting; Austin E. Hutcheson, "Some Early Nevada Personalities," December 7; Gordon H. Marsh, "A Summer in the Aleutians," February 1; Charleston Laird and Max Urban, "Chapultepec Suite," March 1; John Craig Sheppard, "Contemporary Art," April 5; and Jeanne E. Wier, "Local Historical Work in Nevada," May 3.

The annual dinner meeting with the Women's Faculty Club will be held on January 7 at the Twentieth Century Club. A one act play and other entertainment will be given.

Officers of the Faculty Club are Irving J. Sandorf, president; Clarence E. Byrd, vice-president, and Elaine Mobley, secretary.

Members of the program committee are Clarence E. Byrd, chairman, and Irving J. Sandorf, Mrs. Ralph Irwin, Weld Arnold, W. D. Billings, Robert A. Hume and Vincent P. Gianella.

New Bulletin Board Erected on Campus

A new $300 bulletin board, especially for engineers, has been added to the University of Nevada campus.

Until now, engineering students have had to walk the full length of the campus to read the main bulletin board at the University avenue entrance to the campus. Many of the students live in the temporary housing project north of the university, and had little occasion to visit the south end of the campus. The new board is located at the north end of the quad by the school of mines.

Funds for the construction were provided by the finance control committee of the ASUN. The cost is estimated at approximately $300, but may be higher because of price rises since construction was authorized in June. The money was appropriated out of a parking fund surplus.

The actual bulletin board surface is approximately three by four feet and is glass covered. It is supported by two concrete pillars and protected from the weather by a small roof.

WOLF PACK MOVIES OFFERED TO PUBLIC

Football pictures will be the campus attraction on the Wednesdays after each of Nevada's traveling games.

The pictures, open to the public, will be shown at 12:25 pm in the Education auditorium. Dick Evans, varsity end coach, will point out the highlights of each play as it occurs on the screen.

Movies of the San Jose romp were shown last Wednesday as the first in the series.

Gals Outnumbered In Fall Semester, Rhodes Announces

Men outnumber women by 2.8 to one on the University of Nevada campus this year, according to figures released this week by Mrs. Jeanette Rhodes, registrar.

There are 1305 men to 465 women attending the university this year, making a total of 1770 students, a number which is 50 less than last fall's figures.

The ratio of men to women is considerably higher than in the pre-war years, Mrs. Rhodes said. Before the influx of veterans to the Nevada campus, the ratio was usually about three men for every two women. Now it has increased to nearly three to one.

The difference is not entirely due to the veterans, however. Among non-veterans there are 77 more men than women at the university this year, whereas last fall, the women outnumbered the men by 59 in the non-veteran group.

Last year's total of 1820 was a record enrollment on the campus. This year the figure fell only 50 short of that record. The decline was due to the fact that there are 80 less veterans going to the university this year, characteristic of a national trend in all universities. The non-veterans came close, however, to making up for the deficit, as there was an increase of 30 in that group.

New Decal Parking Permits Issued to Student Car Owners

More than 500 automobiles were displaying the new decal parking permits at the close of registration Wednesday afternoon. An actual total of 625 automobiles were registered at the Blue Key booth during the three day registration period.

Bob Vaughan, Blue Key supervisor of this registration, said that approximately 900 cars should be displaying university parking permits.

Students who did not register their cars during the three day period the booth was set up on campus may do so at the graduate manager's office in the ASUN building beginning Monday. All cars parked on campus, both student owned vehicles and family cars, must be registered.

This year the Blue Key will not have the job of policing the campus and giving fines as in previous years. The university administration is still considering various means of control. A list of regulations and fines will be released from the office of Dr. Charles H. Gorman, comptroller, in the near future. Dr. Gorman is director of the new parking program.

Blue Key, which is a student service organization, will continue the job of registering cars. Blue Key tryees were in charge of the registration booth.

Complete Addresses Requested by Agent

Students receiving packages via Railway Express are asked to inform the shipper to have packages addressed to the student's residence and not to the student's mailing address.

M. R. Peters, general agent for the Railway Express Agency in Reno, made this request on the claims that delivery of packages and trunks has been slowed down due to the incomplete addresses of university students.

Picture Schedule For Artemisia Set By Melner

All organization members must have their pictures for the Artemisia taken on the date designated or they will not be in the annual, announced Sinclair Melner, editor.

The pictures are being taken by the Camera, located at 129 North Virginia street, at a charge of $1 each for fraternity and sorority pictures. Seniors will be charged 50 cents.

Sorority women will wear white peterpan collars with dark plain sweaters. Fraternity men will wear bow ties and sport coats. There will be no exceptions, Melner stated.

The schedule is as follows:
 October 1, 4: Kappa Alpha Theta.
 October 5, 6: Gamma Phi Beta.
 October 7, 8: Alpha Tau Omega.
 October 11, 12: Lambda Chi Alpha.
 October 13, 14: Phi Sigma Kappa.
 October 15, 18: Sigma Alpha Epsilon.
 October 19, 20: Sigma Nu.
 October 21, 22: Sigma Rho Delta.
 October 25, 26: Theta Chi.
 October 27: Sigma Pi.
 October 28: Independents and juniors not in organizations.
 October 29: Seniors not in organizations.

Journalists Given Historic Payroll By Nevada Author

A historic 1878 payroll page from the famous Virginia City Enterprise, the newspaper that chronicled the big bonanza in Virginia City, was given to the journalism department of the University of Nevada this summer.

Historian Donates
 Mr. Effie Mona Mack, Nevada historian and author, presented the page to Professor A. L. Higginbotham, head of the department. It will be placed in the Nevada Newspaper Hall of Fame in the Journalism building at the university.

The payroll is signed by C. C. Goodwin, editor of the Enterprise, Steve E. Gillis, staff member, and by William Wright, the famous Dan De Quille of the Comstock.

Dan De Quille
 Dan De Quille was elected to the Nevada Newspaper Hall of Fame this year, and was a featured reporter on the Enterprise when Mark Twain was a cub there. He had a fine knowledge of mining, essential for good reporting on the Enterprise, and was a facile writer. His comments on the affairs of his day were similar to the modern columnist's jottings, and were eagerly awaited by subscribers of the Enterprise.

Low Salaries
 Dan De Quille is listed as being paid $45 weekly, and Mr. Goodwin, editor, received $75 a week.

Dr. Mack, teacher of history and economics in Reno High school, was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Literature last June at the University of Nevada.

Wolves Frolic Head Announces Deadline For Script Turn-in

Don Metzker, Homecoming chairman, announced that all scripts for the Wolves Frolic must be turned in to the graduate manager's office by 4 pm Tuesday, October 5. A meeting of all chairmen for the various organizations participating in the program will be held on Wednesday, October 6.

The first Frolic in two years will be a part of the Homecoming celebration. Miss Mary Jane Shirley, theatrical writer and producer from San Francisco, has agreed to direct the show.

This year's Frolic will be held October 31 at the State building.

Miss Shirley, working with Bob Creveling, Wolves Frolic chairman, and Ty Short, business manager, will assist with rehearsals of skits and integration of the program. She has worked with such stars as Leo Carillo, May Robson, Victor Jory and Mable Talifanio.

The first rehearsal will be held 4 pm Thursday, October 7, in the Education auditorium. All those planning to participate in the Frolic must be present at that time, Miss Shirley said.

Gow House Feels Inflationary Trend

The cost of food at the University of Nevada dining hall has risen 22 per cent over the summer. Mrs. Nellie Nelson, the dining hall dietician, has estimated a 10.5 per cent increase in meat alone. And, as of Wednesday, the total increase in the cost of milk is now 11 per cent.

Many students have complained about a decrease in the supply of milk. This may be attributed, Mrs. Nelson said, to the fact that the dining hall has one or two servings of meat daily. The meat is of more importance in the daily diet and, due to high costs, the supply of milk has been reduced to provide the regular meat serving.

However, she added, the pint and a half per day allotted each student is sufficient for the normal diet requirement.

Mrs. Nelson has stated that a notice will be posted shortly in the dining hall regarding "seconds" for extra hungry students.

Kissing Tradition Revived by SAE's

An old fraternity tradition was revived by Sigma Alpha Epsilon Monday night and its chances for sinking back into obscurity seem doubtful. Three SAE members, who had previously hung their frat pins, were obliged to hold kisses with their respective girls while brother SAEs serenaded them... slowly.

The old tradition was brought back during the SAE sorority serenade, which served to introduce 27 pledges. The new members were introduced with words and music.

The three couples who revived the kissing tradition were Johnny Lee and Pat Crandle of Kappa Alpha Theta, Tom Gaffey and Jane Ray of Delta Delta Delta, and Bill Buck and Eleanor Sweatt of Pi Beta Phi.

ACTIVITIES TO BE HIGHLIGHTED BY BIRTH OF A NEW TRADITION

BUSES TO USE

Today at 5:00 is the deadline for ticket registration for the University of Nevada-University of San Francisco game in San Francisco, Gene Mastrianni, graduate manager announced.

Anyone planning to go may register in the graduate manager's office. Names will be checked at the gate game time.

The chartered Burlington bus will leave the university at 6:00 Sunday morning. There will be a breakfast and rest stop; it will return directly from Kezar Stadium after the game, arriving in Reno around midnight.

Scholarship Cup Returned to Shelf Of Sigma Rho

Fraternity scholastic averages for the spring semester of 1948 have been released by the dean of men's office. These are the combined averages of active members and pledges.

Fraternities were rated in the following order: Sigma Rho Delta, 2.3767; Lambda Chi Alpha, 2.3570; Alpha Tau Omega, 2.2471; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 2.1970; Sigma Nu, 2.0408; Phi Sigma Kappa, 1.9313; Theta Chi, 1.9063.

The dean of men's scholarship cup, awarded on the basis of the scholarship standing of members and pledges, went to Sigma Rho Delta who replaced last year's winner, Lambda Chi Alpha.

The race last semester was extremely close between Sigma Rho Delta and Lambda Chi Alpha. During the 22 semesters the cup has been awarded, these two groups have won the cup 18 times. Sigma Rho Delta, which grew out of the old Lincoln Hall Association has won the cup 16 times.

Phi Sigma Kappa who has occupied the cellar position for the past few semesters is on the way up. They have relinquished the bottom position to the Theta Chi's.

Disabled Veterans Get New Benefits

Veterans with service connected disabilities rated 60 per cent or more in degree are entitled to allowances for dependents under a new law, but they must submit proof of these dependents before the additional compensation can be paid, Mr. E. F. Reed, manager of the Reno Veterans Administration, announced today.

The new law became effective September 1 and eligible veterans are urged to immediately submit proof of dependents in the form of certified copies of birth certificates for children, or marriage certificates for a wife. If parents are involved, acceptable proof of relationship and dependency should be submitted to the VA.

Mr. Reed further advised that eligible veterans who have any question regarding this new law are urged to contact the nearest VA office.

"Hello Week," planned by the Sagens and Sagers to be one of the outstanding events on the school calendar, is slated to start Monday. The spirit of friendliness which has already become a Nevada tradition will be brought out during "Hello Week" by the use of such ideas as hello cards, a bonfire rally, and a "hello lane."

The hello cards, to be purchased for ten cents each, will be used for the purpose of identifying all students, for getting acquainted with other students, and as tickets to the Sagens-Sagers barn dance, Friday night. Starting Monday morning, these cards will go on sale at a booth in front of the library. Each class will have a different color which will consist of green for the freshmen, yellow for the sophomores, white for the juniors, and blue for the seniors. The hello cards were designed by Dee Spradling.

"The birth of a new tradition," announced by Student Body President Rex Jemison will be the christening of the "tram" as hello lane" on Tuesday morning at 11:50. Everyone meeting on the lane must say hello, and this friendly practice will become a regular tradition.

On Wednesday at 11 am an "hello week" assembly will be given which will feature an open forum led by Pat O'Brien, assembly chairman.

Thursday night will feature open house at all sororities from 7:30 to 9 pm. There will be dancing at each house, and refreshments will be served.

A pre-game bonfire rally will be held Friday night at 8 pm in back of the veterans housing. Large letters N and T 32 feet high representing Nevada's football opponent, North Texas State, will be set ablaze. Refreshments including hot dogs, marshmallows and cokes will be sold at the rally by the YWCA. Transportation will be provided by the Sagens and Sagers and the University of Nevada yell leaders will be on hand to lead Nevada yells during the bonfire.

After the rally, the Sagens-Sagers barn dance will begin at the gymnasium. The dance will be a no-date affair and upon presenting their hello cards, each student will be admitted free of charge. Shirley Bell will be in charge of the dance.

"Hello week" comes to an end Saturday afternoon as the University of Nevada Wolf Pack tangles with North Texas State in Mackay Stadium. The game time is 2 pm.

Manzanita Group Has First Meeting

The first meeting of the Manzanita Association was held Tuesday evening in the Education auditorium. The association is composed of Manzanita Hall residents.

Mary Zorzakis, president, discussed house regulations and customs. Miss Elaine Mobley, dean of women, spoke about some of the problems of large group government. Miss Mobley also outlined some of the improvements suggested by the dining hall committee, of which she is chairman.

No date has been set for the next meeting.

DOES YOUR WORD MEAN ANYTHING?

Each fraternity on the hill agreed on Monday to appoint at least one man to assist Bill Devlin and Harry Varischetti in the big job of organizing card tricks. The meeting was called for Wednesday night in the ASUN building. Of the eight Greek letter houses who made this agreement, three lived up to their word.

Without mentioning any names (this time), is this the kind of cooperation to expect in the future?

OUR POOR JUDGEMENT

The University of Nevada Sagebrush avoided the prosaic blast on campus traditions in the publication of the freshman edition. It was assumed that the new students would read their handbooks and any plea directed at them to abide by the rules would be an insult to their supposed maturity. However, the wisdom behind this stand has now been shattered.

It's bad enough that freshmen should sit on the senior bench, but when they sit there with their dinks on—

This reprint of Nevada traditions is for the benefit of those who found the print in the frosh handbook too small to read.

- All freshman men students are required to wear on the campus from dawn until sunset during the fall semester the regulation "frosh dink."
- All first year men and women students are required to carry from dawn to sunset on the campus for the fall semester one copy of the current official ASUN student handbook.
- All underclass men and women students shall not use the front steps of Morrill Hall.
- Freshmen are charged with the duty of painting the Block N on Peavine mountain twice each year.
- The senior bench, in front of the Hall of English (Journalism building) shall be for the convenience of the seniors only.
- No Nevadan "cuts" campus.
- The privilege of wearing cords will be granted only to men who have attended the university four semesters. Moleskins may be worn only by sophomores.
- All freshman women are required to wear on the campus from dawn to sunset during the fall semester the regulation blue and silver frosh women's hair ribbon.
- No Nevadan smokes in the halls or classrooms of campus buildings.
- No student parks his car on campus streets.
- The "N" is the only letter worn by students of the University of Nevada. All other letter emblems earned in high school or other colleges are removed from clothing before it is worn on this campus.

Other Nevada traditions concerning the campus as a whole are found in the frosh handbook, however, these are the ones which concern the individual.

STANDARDS SET Military Adopts FOR WHO'S WHO Honor System

Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities, a national publication, has set October 20 as a deadline for the submitting of nominations to their staff, it was announced by Dr. R. S. Griffin, dean of men.

The quota this year for the University of Nevada is 17 students. Every campus organization and student is invited to submit nominations to the dean of men's office. The campus deadline is October 4. This early date has been set to facilitate the handling and judging of nominations by the university administrative council before October 20.

The following qualifications have been set by the national publication: nominee shall be a junior or senior this year, should exemplify scholarship, high character, excellence of leadership on campus, and show promise of leadership after college.

Nominations should be submitted in outline form stating the following: full name of the individual, complete local mailing address, and all achievements and activities on the campus. The dean of men's office will check the scholarship average of all candidates.

Approximately 600 colleges and universities participate in this national event each year. The names of each of the 17 students chosen from the University of Nevada will be publically used this year for the first time in the history of the University of Nevada Scabbard and Blade, announced James O. Parker, captain of the group.

While an unofficial honor system has existed in the military society for a number of years, the present corps of officers will be the first to put it into official practice.

The Scabbard and Blade started its year's activities last week with a discussion of the draft and its effect on that body and the campus as a whole.

High on the agenda is a plan to put a fence around the Gold Star plaque, the plaque in front of the library honoring University of Nevada war dead, to keep it from being defiled by careless students. Captain Parker stated that Carl Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds, has approved the plan.

lished in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges and each one will receive an engraved certificate from the publisher.

AGGRESSIVE

Big Buster Tilton has been described by Coach Joe Sheeketski as the most improved lineman on the squad, and also the most aggressive. Tilton is slated for action at both tackle positions.

Homecoming Plans For Alumni Group Nears Completion

Final plans are being formulated for alumni activities to be held during Homecoming. The annual Homecoming celebration, set this year for October 30, is the traditional time for graduates to take over the campus and renew their college acquaintances.

Registration for alumni, pajamboree, rally and Wolves Frolic will be scheduled for the weekend. A "new and different rally" to quote the rally committee, has been planned with special speakers and stunts to welcome graduates.

Receptions will be held at the Greek letter houses for all graduate members of the respective organizations following the Homecoming game Saturday, October 30, in which Nevada meets Oklahoma City College.

The alumni banquet will take place at 7 pm Saturday evening, during which there will be an election of officers and of executive committee members. Mark Yori and Louis Peraldo are the outgoing alumni president and vice-president, respectively.

The annual Homecoming dance will begin at 9 that evening at the State building auditorium. Music will be provided by a surprise orchestra which, according to the Homecoming committee, is exceptionally good.

Alumni have also been invited to the Phi Sigma Kappa street dance on Thursday night, October 28.

A special bulletin containing a calendar of events and a welcome message by Rex Jemison has been set to all alumni.

Highways will be jammed. Don't get rammed.

AWS Council Aim For Active Part In Campus Rule

The Associated Women Students of the University of Nevada are striving to take a more active part in campus self-government, Lorraine Houghton, AWS president, announced today.

AWS is the campus governing body for women. It makes and changes residence hall regulations. Membership in AWS is automatic for every woman student.

The AWS council will be enlarged to include representatives from each women's activity organization, as well as from the residence houses. The monthly meetings will be open to any woman student wishing to attend.

The council plans an early revision of the AWS constitution. In council meetings various phases of campus self-government are discussed, including house rules and class privileges.

Plans for the coming year include all-association assemblies, to be held twice a semester, which will present guest speakers and student talent. An all-woman's group gathering, similar to the bean feeds of the past, will be held.

During the spring semester a fashion show and career conference, outlining the qualifications and advantages of various jobs, have been tentatively scheduled.

Dormitory discussion groups, informal panel discussions of campus life, will be held in the residence halls this winter. No definite dates have been announced.

Student Open Forum Set for Wednesday

An open forum in which student body problems will be aired will be a feature of an assembly Wednesday, Oct. 6, at 11 am. The assembly will be held in connection with the University of Nevada's second annual "hello on the hill" week.

"The open forum will not attempt to concentrate on any single phase of student body problems," Rex Jemison, ASUN president, said, "but will consist of questions and problems brought up from the floor."

The assembly will inaugurate the compulsory attendance program explained to the student body at the Sept. 21 assembly. Students attending will receive a slip which will serve as an absence excuse to the class they had scheduled at the assembly time.

Y.; Shirley Williamson, Las Vegas, and Joanne Wilson, Reno.

Kappa Alpha Theta pledged the following women:

Betty Alauzet, Twin Falls, Ida.; La Vonne Bingham, Las Vegas; Merle Brockway, Reno; Colleen Brown, Reno; Joyce Craner, Reno; Georgia Crystal, Vacaville, Calif.; Barbara Ann Friend, Sacramento, Calif.; Edna May Gregory, Elko; Shirl Hodge, Fernley.

Mary Lou Kent, Fallon; No-reen Lartey, Reno; Suzanne Leake, Los Angeles, Calif.; Dorris MacPhee, Reno; Joan Melner, Reno; Jean Ravera, Reno; Gretta Reuter, Reno; Jacqueline Tavelle, Larkspur, Calif.; Vicki Tinsman, Reno; Louise Thompson, Reno; Julia Wickstrom, Reno, and Lucille Thompson, Reno.

Pi Beta Phi pledges are:

Georgia Ames, Piedmont, Calif.; Elizabeth Bassett, Reno; Margaret Bassett, Reno; Maxine Brockett, Pioche; La Vonne Browning, Sparks; Natalie Curtis, Reno; Mary Engle, Caliente; Donna Florence, Sacramento, Calif.

Odile Frost, Reno; Lorraine Goni, Reno; Jean Lundy, Reno; Joan Metzger, Reno; Betty Miller, Las Vegas; Judy Morrison, Piedmont, Calif.; Joann Rich, Sacramento, Calif.; Beverly Simon, Las Vegas; Joy Wells, Las Vegas, and Patricia Zahn, Henderson.

Gamma Phi Beta pledged the following women:

Bonnie Colton, Sparks; Phyllis Coughlin, Reno; Coleen Gilbert, Hawthorne; Jean Hagenbuch, Rowland; Nancy Haggerty, Reno; Barbara Horning, Winnemucca; Shiley Laurie, Sparks; Maureen Magee, Reno; Berlien McCray, Reno; Marlene Nyberg, Reno; Anna May Oliver, Carson City; Elaine Powell, Las Vegas; Laura May Sauer, Carson City; Rita Schwartz, Reno; Norma Walsh, San Francisco, and Pat Welty, Reno.

With fall rushing over, the sororities now look forward to a season full of social activities. Dances and teas for presentation of the pledges will be held soon.

Fall Social Calendar To Be Ready Soon

The University of Nevada social calendar has gone to the printers and will be available soon, Miss Elaine Mobley, dean of women, announced today.

There are still three vacant weekends on the calendar, October 1 and 2, November 5 and 6, and January 7 and 8, Dean Mobley said. Pre-Christmas and pre-Thanksgiving weekends are crowded with organizations planning holiday parties.

All campus social events must be approved through Dean Mobley's office in advance. Application blanks may be obtained at any time from the dean of women's office.

"Oh, Oh, My Gun's Jammed!"

Never Underestimate These Women

By Russ Maynard

It has been often and wisely stated that one should never underestimate the power of a woman, but few people would have predicted what happened on registration day two weeks ago.

It is rare for a man to major in home economics or clothes and dressmaking, but for a woman to major in animal husbandry was virtually unheard of—until three freshman women, each entirely oblivious of the intentions of the other two, registered as majors in agriculture.

They are Laura May Sauer, Reno; Elizabeth Bassett, Reno, and Ann Watts, Boulder City.

The situation was of sufficient rarity that an inquiry into the girls' background and future plans was made with the following result.

Miss Sauer, born in Reno, has, for 18 years, lived on a cattle ranch. At ten years of age, she began exhibiting her livestock at the annual livestock show, and since that time has won various trophies, among which is one for the prize calf of the 1947 Grand National Livestock Show at San Francisco.

Her ambition is to some day own a ranch on which to breed her own prize winning stock.

Laura May is five feet seven and one-half inches in height, has red hair and green eyes. She did not disclose her weight, but assured that she had just enough to handle the job.

Miss Elizabeth Bassett, born in Long Island, New York, came to Nevada at the age of two and a half. She is now 16 years of age, and five feet seven.

Her plans include graduation from college majoring in animal husbandry with a minor in journalism. From there she will either work with the agriculture extension service, or write for an agricultural journal, but will retain her hobby, raising registered Duroc hogs.

When asked if a husband would fit into her plans, she replied, "Maybe, if the right one comes along."

Miss Ann Watts of Boulder City has, perhaps, the most unusual of the three ambitions. Although weighing a meager 104 pounds, she hopes to become a veterinarian to work with heavy animals, horses and cattle.

Her interest in veterinary work began with a pet dog and cat.

"Somebody had to patch them up," she said, "I couldn't see them suffer."

The 17 year old high school graduate says that men are nice to work with, but that it is comfortable having the other girls in the same courses.

To the question, "Isn't heavy animal work a bit strenuous for a woman your size?" She replied, "Dynamite comes in small packages, and besides, a little hard work never hurt anyone."

"See this stickpin? Well, it once belonged to a millionaire."

"And who is the millionaire?"

"Woolworth."

Three Sororities Vote for Frolic

Pi Beta Phi, Delta Delta Delta and Gamma Phi Beta went on record as unanimous supporters of the University of Nevada's forthcoming Wolves Frolic.

Although a date for the Wolves Frolic has been set and a chairman appointed by the student senate, the question was put to a vote before sorority members in their Monday night meetings.

Only dissenter to the proposed program was Kappa Alpha Theta.

Last year's Wolves Frolic was postponed until the spring semester and then entirely dismissed from the social calendar. At that time, sororities formed a solid block of opposition on claims that their social programs were already filled to capacity. Fraternities split their votes, and only after much debate, those favoring the frolic gave up their support of the program on the promise that it would be held again this fall in conjunction with Homecoming festivities.

The Wolves Frolic, for many years a campus tradition, has the approval of this year's student senate, but in all probability will appear again as a problem before next week's student senate meeting.

'WEST'S BEST' TO FACE ACID USF TEST

Wolves Riding High Wave of Fanfare Move Into Kezar Stadium Sunday To Display Touted Power

By Joe Ward

Attention of football critics in this section of the country will indeed be focussed on Nevada's Wolf Pack this Sunday afternoon, when they meet the USF Dons at Kezar Stadium, San Francisco.

A flock of bouquets are being tossed at the Nevada team for last week's showing at San Jose. Some of the more cautious observers believe that this storm of praise is an ulterior effort on the part of the opposition to inflate the confidence of the Wolves and impair their efficiency in the coming contest. They apparently didn't take into consideration the fact that this mass of broad shoulders support level heads.

Joe Kuharich, first year coach of the Dons, has taken over practically the same talent laden outfit that scuttled Nevada last year. He inherits a powerful squad of 39 footballers, which averages 197 pounds, and a crying towel to match. The gun had no sooner sounded ending the San Jose game when this same towel was ready for the dryer.

It is generally conceded that the new Don mentor suppressed some pretty fair performances in the St. Mary's skirmish. The green and gold may unwrap a surprise package before Sunday's game is very old.

Coach Joe Sheeketski leads his pack into enemy territory for the second time this year to make good the second part of his pre-season prediction that he will defeat all five California opponents. The squad emerged from the San Jose game practically unscathed and should be in top physical condition at kickoff time Sunday.

Wider recognition is likely to encompass some of the stellar products of Nevada's gridiron machine as the season unfolds. A delegation of approximately 2500 Reno fans is expected to journey to 'Frisco over the weekend, by nearly any mode of transportation to lend support to the Nevada cause.

Barring injuries and the possibility of over-confidence, the Pack should justify the advance heralds of coast sports scribes. Starting for Nevada at ends will be Dan Orlich, Scott Beasley, Tom Reinhardt and Fred Leon at tackles, Ken Sinojsky and Frank Sanchez at guard positions and Bob Corley at center. The backs are Stan Heath, Dick Trachok, Tommy Kalminir and Sherman Howard. The backfield may be changed if Nevada kicks off.

USF should field a team of Doug Dyckman and Mike Davlin at the ends, Sam Winters and Don Ramatic at the tackles, Richard Stanfel and Joe Wozniak at guard spots and Adolph Lubamersky at center. The backfield has Fred Klemenok, Hal Jensen, George Buker and Rudy Ragan.

Nevada's Opponents Have Tough Weekend As Pack Triumphs

Most of Nevada's future opponents had a little tougher row to hoe than did the Wolf Pack last weekend.

USF and Santa Clara managed to squeeze out wins, Fresno State played to a 6-6 tie with Portland University; Tulsa and Saint Mary's were defeated and Wichita University was still trying to recover from a beating of the week before.

If Wichita press releases can be believed, the Shockers, as they are called, may not even be able to put a team on the field by the time they play Nevada in November. Seven of their first or second string players are supposed to be out for the season as a result of injuries in their first game.

Santa Clara made what was probably the best impression as they came from behind to defeat favored Oklahoma team 20-17.

USF and Saint Mary's tugged and pulled each other around the Kezar turf in San Francisco, until a fourth quarter score gave USF a 7-0 win. Nevada coach Joe Sheeketski comment on this game was that both teams seemed afraid to open up.

The human body is remarkably sensitive. Pat a man on the back and his head swells.

Nevada Cub Pack Rolls Up 33-0 Win Over Placer JC

Not to be outdone by their big brothers, the Nevada frosh rolled to a 33-0 victory over Placer Junior College in the opening game of their 1948 season, last Friday night.

The scoring was evenly distributed as five different men scored the touchdowns and two others took a try at the conversions.

Nevada's initial score came early in the first quarter as Placer fumbled on the opening running play of the game and quarterback Jesse went over on a quarterback sneak two plays later.

Touchdowns by Graff and Matteucci and two conversions by Stuhlman pushed the Wolf Cubs into a commanding 20-0 halftime lead.

In the second half a pass from Matteucci to Stuhlman accounted for the fourth score, and near the end of the game halfback Engman went over for the final touchdown. Serber converted.

Acting coach Dick Evans commented that the game was much tougher than the score indicated, and he was especially pleased with the work of the reserves.

All of the 30-man squad saw action. Of the first string, Evans had special praise for the passing of quarterback Jesse, the kicking of Graff, and the line-backing of Matteucci.

Four Card Stunts Set for Texas Tilt

A card stunt section will be the feature of the half time activities at the Nevada home games this year. The North Texas game will see four stunts attempted by the Nevada rooting section.

The first stunt will be a Let's Go N in blue on a white field. The second will feature a green NT on a white field. The rooting section will then spell out Wolf Pack in white on a blue field, and the concluding stunt will show Eagles in white on a green background.

The card stunt committee headed by co-chairmen Bill Devlin and Harry Varischetti is also planning a series of the card pictures for the Homecoming game with Oklahoma City University.

PACK TRACKS

By Bill McFarland

MAGNIFICENT! TERRIFIC! BETTER THAN MOST PRO TEAMS! BY FAR THE BEST ON THE COAST! Such were the words of California sports writers, local writers, scouts, coaches and above all, Spartan observers who watched Stan Heath and Company turn to shambles a scrappy but highly outclassed San Jose State team.

Reno fans are buzzing over the fanfare that bay area papers are giving the Wolf Pack. The publicity balloon is flying high and get more inflated each day.

Ridin' the Bandwagon

What makes with all the phenomenon about the Wolf Pack, no one is able to fathom, but no one seems to care. The bandwagon is rolling and the entire west is climbing aboard. That is, with the exception of GRAVEL VOICE Jim Aiken, whose Rose Bowl special from Oregon was practically derailed by Stanford. James says he never heard of Nevada. No doubt he's still unconscious from last year's pasting by Nevada . . . YAK, YAK.

Best of All?

One writer went so far as to say Nevada may have the best football team in the history of the sport. That is saying more than a mouthful so early in the season. Undoubtedly followers of Pacific coast teams are wonderin' just what we do have here in Reno. About 50-60,000 fans are gonna' find out Sunday when the Wolves tackle their old nemesis, the San Francisco Dons.

World Beaters

coach, is the guy who started the fanfare going by comparing the Wolf Pack to the very great Chicago Bears professional team of 1941. There is some method in his madness. If his boys turn the tables on Joe Sheeketski's crew then they are world beaters. If they lose handily, Nevada is all the team they said it was.

At any rate, Kezar will bulge Sunday from the hoard of curious attempting to pass their judgement on the Silver and Blue WONDER team. In all, Nevada should gross 10-$15,000 more than originally anticipated.

Level Heads

Sheeketski's boys like their new role of the west's most prominent eleven. They want to keep that standing and as yet haven't lost their heads over the mammoth word campaign in their behalf.

From the stratosphere the Brush predicts a Nevada romp . . . at least four touchdowns' worth.

Tourist: Good river for fish? Fisherman: It must be. I can't persuade any to come out.

Jimmy Melarkey Appointed Coach For Pack Cagers

Jimmy Melarkey, former U. of N. basketball star, has been appointed to assist Jake Lawlor, basketball coach for the Wolf Pack, it was announced today.

Melarkey starred on the team during the 1941-42 season, before his entry into the army. After being released from service he again joined the Pack to become one of the outstanding players of the 1945-46 season.

One of the foremost forwards in Pack history, Melarkey is also a good fundamentalist, making him well qualified to assist Lawlor in training this year's power house.

The former star's work will start Monday when the Pack has its first practice, and will continue through the season as a part time job.

With an Oakland game looming in six weeks, Melarkey will have ample chance to prove his value.

His appointment was confirmed by the board of athletic control, Harry Frost, chairman.

"I am very glad to get Jimmy back, and I know his work with the players will be of the same high caliber that his playing was," stated Lawlor.

"That waiter is either a fool or a humorist."

"What's the matter?"

"I ordered extract of beef and he brought me a glass of milk."

Powerful Freshmen Meet Klamath Falls In Oregon Tonight

The Wolf Cubs have high hopes of making the Oregon Vocational College their second victims of the season in tonight's encounter at Klamath Falls.

The powerful frosh aggregation will start the same lineup which was so effective in last week's encounter with Placer Junior College. This team has a line which averages 212 pounds to the man and a small-er but fast backfield led by quarterback Ed Jesse and Myron Leavitt, former Las Vegas high school back.

The coaching staff hopes to again make use of the reserves who last week took over where the first string left off and continued to push Placer around the field.

A 30-man squad will make the trip.

PERSHING RIFLE COMPANY FORMS TEAM ON HILL

Pershing Rifle Society, crack national military drill organization, will establish a company at the University of Nevada this semester, according to Captain Stanton L. Fickel (infantry) of the university military department.

The drill group is comprised of basic ROTC students, and has for its members only the best at each of the colleges throughout the United States where it now exists. Rigid standards for the society are set by a national society and enforced through periodic inspections.

A group of basic ROTC students started to form the society last year by drilling on their own, but due to a lack of time they were unable to organize the unit. These men, all of whom are now advanced military students, will act as sponsors for the company when it is formed.

Members of the society may be distinguished from other military students by special insignia on their uniforms, including the Pershing Rifle fourragere and a service bar.

The nucleus of the Pershing Rifle Society was formed in 1892 at the University of Nebraska, by a then unknown lieutenant of infantry, John J. Pershing, who had an intense desire to form the world's best drill team.

Women's PE Head Returns to Hill From Long Leave

Miss Ruth I. Russell, head of the women's physical education department, is back again after a year's leave of absence. Miss Marjorie A. Price is also instructing again this year. The staff is still incomplete, however, since Miss Norma Martell was unable to accept her position because of illness in her family.

A professional skater, Mrs. Terry Stearman, is instructing the roller skating classes. Mrs. Jean Curtis, president of the Reno Women's Bowling Congress, is teaching bowling, and Carol Thomas, a student at the university, is helping with the swimming classes. One more instructor is still needed, it was learned.

The freshman orientation program has been changed this year to offer freshman women volley ball, tennis, archery or American rhythms.

The course called American Rhythms has never been taught at this university before. It includes early American dances as well as modern cowboy dances.

Social dances are also included, such as the foxtrot, Charleston, the old time jazz, and modern day jitter bugging dances. The object of the course is to teach the dancing lore of the United States.

Freshman women students are required to have four different activities, two of which are individual or dual sports, one a team sport and one a rhythm activity.

Sophomore activities are elective. Besides the activities offered the freshmen, sophomore students may also take bowling, roller skating or swimming.

Detach the Dons.

VETERANS' QUESTION BOX

Q. I wish to purchase an automobile house trailer that I can use during my vacation. Will the Veterans Administration guarantee a loan for the purchase?

A. No. Loans for pleasure purposes cannot be guaranteed or insured by Veterans Administration.

Q. I would like to change the beneficiary on my National Service Life Insurance without letting the old beneficiary know about it. May I do this?

A. Yes. A veteran may change the beneficiary or beneficiaries of his National Service Life Insurance at any time without their knowledge or consent.

Q. One of my arms was amputated because of injuries received while I was in the armed service during World War II. May I select the type of artificial arm I want and the firm I want to buy it from?

A. Yes, you will be permitted to select the artificial arm of your choice, but it must be purchased from an approved prosthetic appliance manufacturer under contract with Veterans Administration.

Q. To what benefits is a veteran with a yellow or blue discharge entitled?

A. A yellow discharge from the army is dishonorable and the veteran is not entitled to Veterans Administration benefits. A yellow discharge from the navy may be honorable or other than honorable. If the navy discharge is dishonorable, the veteran is ineligible for any benefits. If the navy discharge was issued under conditions other than honorable, the veteran is entitled to file a claim and VA will determine whether the discharge was issued under dishonorable or other than honorable conditions. The latter also applies to blue discharges from the army.

Heath Paces Pack In Spectacular Win At San Jose State

In a 39-0 shut-out, the Nevada steamroller left San Jose State's Spartans gasping for air. Described as the classiest aerial attack ever launched against the Spartans on their home ground, it was San Jose's worst defeat in 11 years.

The Wolves sailed to a fast start. Three pass plays and three rushing plays, found them on the San Jose 10 yard line. A pass from Heath to Orlich put Nevada in the lead 6-0. A conversion attempt failed.

Although threatening to score several times during the remaining minutes of the first quarter, the Wolves didn't break into the scoring column again until after the middle of the second period when Johnny Subda lateralled to Stan Heath in San Jose territory, and the latter romped over for the score. Corley's conversion was good. Score 13-0.

Seven snappy plays by the Wolf Pack and another mid-field lateral gave the sagebrush boys 19-0 in third period.

Corley's kick into the San Jose end zone was returned to the Spartan 14 by Russell, but a penalty and an unsuccessful play later, Lindsay booted a high spiral to the Nevada 40 where the fleet footed Nevada backfield returned it to the Spartan 47. It was Subda's ball from there on. A 20 yard pass to Subda, and a 27 yard run by Subda accounted for a score of 25-0.

Again the Wolves placed the ball in the Spartan end zone where it was returned to the Spartan 27 by Russell, but a 15 yard loss was all that it took to convince Lindsey to quick kick. Ted Kondell siezed the ball, and an for 30 yards, and Tabor passed to Hayes for 31-0. he conversion was good.

The Nevada kick to the Spartan three yard line was returned to the San Jose 35.

There a series of two clipping penalties set them back to their own eight. Lindsay punted, and the Nevada squad received on their own 34 and began a rushing offense of 11 plays which eventually put Ted Ensslin over for the score. Corley's kick was good, and the game ended at Nevada 39, San Jose 0.

Regent Candidate Speaks at Meeting Of Crucible Club

"The biggest turnout ever," said Albert Barrios, Crucible Club president, commenting on the club's first meeting of the school year, Friday, September 24.

Guest speaker for the evening was Samuel S. Arentz, general superintendent of the Pioche Mining development in central Nevada.

Barrios said almost 70 members were on hand to listen to Arentz' description of the Pioche district. Arentz described it at the "biggest lead, silver and zinc camp today." He also told anecdotes of Herbert Hoover's experiences with the development, and described further the former United States president's experiences in the Far East and Russia.

Arentz is a graduate of the Mackey School of Mines in the class of 1934, and is a candidate for the University of Nevada board of regents.

Independents Elect Hamilton as Prexy

Dave Hamilton, former vice-president of the Independents, was elected president of the organization at a meeting which was held in the basement of Stewart Hall Monday night. Gordon Baker and Billie Yen were appointed as tellers and the election of new officers was as follows: Wallace Kurtz, former chairman of the social committee, vice-president; and Murray Black and Jo Ann Barbash woman senator and alternate, respectively. George Umbenhaur was appointed publicity chairman.

Plans for the forthcoming social events were formulated. Reports were also given on past activities. Miss Jean Howden, director of the YWCA on the campus, sat in as a special guest. Jo Ann Barbash was appointed chairman of the float committee and Barney Childs was appointed chairman of the Wolves Frolic committee.

NOTICE

Tea from 3 to 5 pm Tuesday afternoon at the president's home is on next week's social calendar for all coeds. Mrs. John O. Moseley will act as hostess assisted by YWCA cabinet members. The tea is given annually to introduce coeds to the YWCA before the organization sponsors its membership drive.

JUST OFF THE RECORD

By Barney Childs

We are a little hesitant about this week's column—it might be titled "How to Lose Friends and Infuriate People;" the number of Kenton enthusiasts who have made suggestions concerning the projected analysis would gratify Maestro Stan. Nevertheless...

The most succinct way to go about the Kenton problem is, I believe, to ask two questions and answer each in turn. First: What is Kenton trying to do? Second: Is he doing it?

We remember a statement quoted in a national magazine a few weeks ago to the effect that Stan Kenton is trying to adapt the idiom of the modern classical composers to popular music. There can be no doubt that there is some degree of truth in this; read the enthusiastic sales talk in the front of the latest Capitol album of Kenton sides.

There are many such manifestations of this idiom that can be found in the newer Kenton records; use of the human voice as an instrument, fugal treatment of melodic material, and so-called "modern" chords and progressions. Counter parts of these devices may be discovered in modern classical music; Arnold Schonberg's Second String Quartet is scored for soprano voice in addition to the four stringed instruments, and gugal treatments are everywhere. Kenton's record of "Fugue for Rhythm Section" is reminiscent of Edgar Varese's "Ionization," scored for 42 percussion instruments and two fire sirens. However, these are startling innovations, and to get to the root of the matter we must look at the classical composers themselves.

The self-styled "neo-classicists" composing serious music nowadays do not write for effect, but for clarity and sincerity approaching that achieved by Bach, Mozart, et al. Such men as Hindemith and Stravinsky, both of whom are mentioned by Kenton as sources in previous issues of this magazine, use the "modern" approach to gain this clarity and sincerity. Kenton has caught a great deal of their spirit of device, but seems to lack the basic tenets of the "neo-classical" school. No one since Mahler has used massed brass with such bombast as Kenton in such sides as "The Peanut Vendor," and even the "Fugue for Rhythm Section," while purportedly fugal in treatment, lacks the clear polyphony and tight construction of any of Hindemith's fugues. We must conclude, then, that Kenton has managed to employ a great many techniques used by the moderns without preserving anything else that lifts them from the level of mere stunts.

What has Kenton got, then? A big band, marked by several top-notch musicians: Kenton himself, Safransky on bass, Winding on trombone, and arranger Pete Rugolo. When he isn't trying so hard for effect that the sight of the forest is lost in the trees, he and his band can produce pretty good music; the piano introduction to "Southern Scandal," for example, and sections of "Willow, Weep for Me." Trick chords? Not so tricky. Look at any harmony text, or analyze any of Gershwin's larger works or the better Ellington; listen to such pre-war Raymond Scott sides as "Kodachrome" and "Eight Letters in the Mail Box" or Big Biederbecke's "Candlelight" or "In a Mist." Here are the same chords, but they are employed as an integral part of the work, not as musical exclamation points. The squalling trumpets that have become a hallmark of Kenton are not original and become monotonous through repetition; Cootie Williams and Sam Nanton were playing "stunt" brass when Kenton was just another bandleader trying to make an honest finifit.

To conclude, we will say that Kenton is headed in the right direction, but has become bogged down. A little less "pure, gem-like flame" enthusiasm and a good deal more sincere discretion would make the Kenton band the greatest thing that has happened to popular music since Louis Armstrong. Only time can tell.

Newman Center Nears Completion

Expectations are high that Newman Hall, headquarters for the Newman Club, organization of Catholic students on the campus, will be usable by Christmas, it was announced this week by Msgr. John T.

Smith, chaplain of the organization. When the hall is completed, there will be a library, meeting rooms, recreation room, living quarters for a resident Newman Club chaplain, as well as the chapel. At the present time a library is being completed, Msgr. Smith said, to offer the members of the Newman Club the benefit of the many Catholic books on philosophy, history, and science.
