PHI KAPPA PHI ELECTS NINE

YWCA International Secretary Lectures; Hutcheson Addresses Reception

Nine senior students and two alumni members were named to Phi Kappa Phi at a special assembly held Tuesday morning.

Those chosen for membership in the scholastic honorary include: Scott Whitney, philosophy major and member of the university debate and oratory group; John Lowden, English major; Joe Robinson Mathis, mining engineer major; John Spirig, history major who is now teaching in Winnemucca high school; Kaare Aaalde, mining engineer major; Eleanor Brown, sociology major; Rita Mortara, Spanish and economics major; Bonnie Malignoni, Spanish and education major; and John Helstowski, business administration major.

Roger Corbett, assistant superintendent of the Reno schools, and R. Guild Gray, principal of Reno high school, are the alumni who were elected to membership. Gray was a former education instructor at the University of Nevada. Both men hold Nevada master's degrees, and both have been summer school instructors at the university.

Dr. A. E. Hutcheson, president of Phi Kappa Phi, introduced the newly elected members, and each came forward to receive his bid.

Miss Ann Guthrie, international secretary for the Y.W.C.A. and official observer for this organization at the United Nations assembly, was featured speaker. Introduced by President John O. Moseley, Miss Guthrie spoke about the recent UN assembly meetings held in Paris.

She stated that a world of conflicting ideas is growing against a background of scientific development and stressed the need for realization and teaching of human principles.

"People think only in the terms of the difficulties of the UN. We must realize it is still an infant; in fact, it is just three years old," Miss Guthrie stated.

Naming the two outstanding policies formulated by the recent assembly, she cited the child welfare and health program and the first international Declaration of Rights.

Miss Guthrie concluded with four points which the world must be aware of when thinking of the United Nations, namely patience, intellectual courage, language knowledge, and brotherhood among the 58 member nations.

Initiation ceremonies for the new Phi Kappa Phi members were held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the agriculture building. Following initiation a reception was held with Dr. Hutcheson, an authority on Nevada history, speaking on "Conflict of Comstock Giants."

No New Buildings For Campus Now, Legislature Says

Action taken by the state legislature dimmed any immediate building hopes for the University of Nevada, at least for the next two years.

The $317,000 intended for building purposes for the campus were reverted to the general fund, with $100,000 appropriated to meet any emergency arising during the ensuing two years. The appropriation provided that any new boilers installed in the heating plant be adaptable to hot water or steam heating.

The new heating plant was postponed for two years because plans for its construction were not definite or complete, and because present facilities had proved adequate during the past year.

The committee, headed by John E. Murray, R., Eureka, that made the recommendations for the legislature recommended several improvements to be made immediately. These recommendations included:

Salary increases for faculty members in proportion to those granted other state employees.

Improvements in lighting and ventilation in some of the older buildings.

Immediate steps to take fire prevention and suppression measures in the various buildings.

Improvement of the janitorial service.

Location of the fish and game headquarters in a suitable location off the campus.

Improvement of student housing quarters in the old gymnasium. More orderly living quarters and a lounging room were emphasized.

Location of the YWCA student center in a quonset hut, or some other building where "conditions are more cheerful and sanitary."

Improvement of the electrical engineering building.

Provision of new equipment for the college of engineering.

An Editorial...

NEVADA, THE ONE SOUND JOKE!

Readers of the Nevada State Journal will notice that the traditional slogan, "Nevada, the one sound State," which adorned its nameplate since the early "thirties," has been removed.

The slogan expressed the civic pride once held by the people of Nevada—a pride which is now buried in a shroud of disgrace woven by the representatives of the people in Carson City.

Apparently, the majority of legislators believe that the running of the State government is a big joke. And, they have done their utmost to impress this idea upon the people. The people have been impressed; they realize that the joke is on them for putting such men in office.

The financial crisis which faces Nevada today was foreseen long before the legislature convened. It was known that something had to be done, whether it be additional taxation, or reorganization; still, the first 60 days of the legislature proved to be a period of procrastination.

Now that the legislators are working without pay—they are still bleeding the people through additional expenses necessitated by the overtime session—they are in a rush to desert the ship. Consequently, they are proposing emergency measures such as bond issues which will further weaken the financial structure of Nevada.

This failure to properly cope with the pressing problems of State has shown a definite absence of purpose. A condition which, if stood alone, is cause enough to provoke public wrath. However, some men in Carson City aren't satisfied just cheating their constituents through their lack of ability—they find it necessary to make a mockery of democratic government.

On March 17, the last official day of the legislature, a mummery took place during a meeting of the lower chamber as a committee of the whole, which was not only an insult to the voters, but an exhibition of the obscene minds possessed by certain legislators. The exhibition was so disgusting that many spectators left.

In good taste, it's impossible to reprint the details of this incident. Nevertheless, the reader may draw a conclusion as to its validity by considering that this legislature, is one which allowed the question of legalized prostitution take precedence over educational problems.

STATE SENATE PASSES RESIDENT TUITION BILL

Plan Would Leave $50 Tuition Fee At Discretion of Nevada Regents

Nevada resident students at the university may be required to pay up to $50 a semester tuition if the board of regents desires, according to a bill passed by the senate and sent to the assembly.

Tuition for resident students was suggested by Harry S. Allen, director of the Nevada Taxpayer's Association, at a public hearing before a combined session of the senate finance and assembly ways and means committees.

An earlier proposal to charge resident tuition as a means of solving financial problems of the university was sent to the legislature by a joint legislative committee composed of representatives from the Reno Chamber of Commerce, Reno Employers' Council, Nevada Retail Merchants Association, and the Nevada Board of Trade. This suggestion was one of several for improving the financial condition of the state sent to the legislature by this committee.

A general appropriation of $866,000 for the university was passed by both houses and has been sent to the governor for approval.

This general appropriations fund is just a part of the income of the university. It is supplemented by $334,000 from veterans under the GI bill, $250,000 from student fees, $142,516.50 from A&M fund, and from other sources. The total income for the university as it now stands is $1,837,016.50.

The board of regents' budget request sent to the legislature was for $2,103,264.08 which included $265,409.68 for salary increases. The governor deducted the salary expense and sent the net budget request to the legislature for $1,837,854.40. The salary increase is still being considered.

Funds totaling $517,000 for the new heating plant and a new building at the university will be reverted back to the state's post war reserve fund, according to a bill that has been passed by both houses and now awaits the governor's approval.

Construction on a new heating plant will be postponed until 1951. Members of both houses generally agreed that construction can not be started now because of a disagreement between the board of regents and the state planning board.

The university building fund of $200,000 was provided on the condition that it be used only if matching federal funds were obtained. It is not being recalled because there seems to be little chance of getting the matching funds.

HONOR STUDENT

Lois Charlesworth, A&S junior, was omitted in last week's notice of honor roll students. Miss Charlesworth's grade average for last semester is 3.33. Her home is in Sacramento, Calif.

Summer Catalogs Said Available

The 1949 summer catalog is now available for students who plan to attend the university this summer. Dr. Harold N. Brown, director of summer sessions, announced today.

The summer session is divided into two five week terms, June 11 to July 15 and July 18 to August 19. The regular staff members will be supplemented by a number of visiting professors and instructors from all parts of the country.

In addition to the regular curriculum several new courses have been added. These are "Marriage, Homemaking and Divorce," "Descriptive Astronomy" and "Recent Russia." Most of the departments of the university will offer a variety of courses designed to enable students to accelerate their programs to make up work lost during the winter terms.

For recreational and educational purposes, special low cost student trips will be conducted during both summer terms to Virginia City, Lake Tahoe, Pyramid Lake Indian Reservation, and San Francisco.

The catalogs may be obtained at Dr. Brown's office, room 108, in the Education building.

Dr. Miller to Speak At Mackay Lunch

Dr. William Miller of the University of Nevada department of English and speech, has been chosen as the principal speaker for the program at the Mackay Day luncheon.

Dr. Miller, when told of the committee's invitation, replied that he was surprised by the committee's choice, but said that he was delighted to accept the invitation.

FIRE AT PI PHI HOUSE PROVES FALSE ALARM

Pi Beta Phi sorority members called the Reno fire department Sunday afternoon when they smelled smoke coming from the basement of their house.

Firemen discovered that an overheated motor on an automatic washing machine in the basement had caused the wiring and motor to burn out although there was no fire.

Athletes Feted At Annual Dinner Given by Boosters

The three Joes and the Len of Pacific coast football coaching last Tuesday night added their bits to the general levity at the annual Boosters Banquet. This affair, sponsored each year by the Downtown Boosters Club in the interest of promoting athletics at the University of Nevada was held at the Golden Hotel, and attended by some 200 persons.

The Joes, Sheeketski of Nevada, Kuharich of U.S.F., and Verducci of St. Mary's, together with Len Casanova of Santa Clara, Jack McDonald, sports editor of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin, Mayor F. E. "Tank" Smith of Reno, Hal Deal of the Associated Oil sports broadcasts, and several other sports enthusiasts from the Reno area, took turns telling stories on one another about the good old days and added a good deal to the merriment.

Main purpose of the dinner, to honor the members, and especially the seniors, of each of the major sports teams at the university, was carried out as each of the coaches introduced the members of his team, then presented merchandise awards from several local business firms.

Football players so honored by Coach Joe Sheeketski, included Scott Beasley, Harold Hayes, Tommy Kalmanir, Bill Morris, Dan Orlich, Carl Robinson, Ken Sinofsky, and Dick Trachock.

Only two seniors from the ski team, named by Sheeketski in the absence of Coach Jerry Wetzel, are Barnes Berry and Cliff Banta.

The basketball team, said Coach Jake Lawlor, is losing Ron DuPratt, Les Ray, Louie Joseph, Dan Orlich, and Harold Hayes.

From the roster of the track team will be struck the names of Robinson, Kalmanir, Trachock, and Bill Gillis.

Only major sport team on the hill that now contains no seniors is the boxing squad, and coach Cliff Devine stated that this situation spoke well for the strength of next year's entries.

Members of the university Board of Athletic control were introduced, and a vote of thanks was given to Chairman Harry Frost and members Dr. Maurice Beasley and Dr. Merle Deming of the university faculty, Carl Robinson of the Block N Society, and Student Body President Rex Jimison.

PLAYING POLITICS

In their original budget, the university regents requested $265,000 to allow for faculty salary increases. This represented the bare minimum required to place Nevada near the standards of other universities and colleges in the country.

The recent campaign by faculty and student members to impress upon the legislature the importance of having this budget must have had an effect. The "politicians" in Carson know that there are quite a few votes interested in the university.

Naturally, in the game of politics, these votes must be guarded, so Nevada legislators couldn't just ignore the issue. Instead, they are proposing a reduced sum of $125,000 in place of the minimum need.

DON'T LET THIS HAPPEN TO YOU

Last week at Brown university, Greek fraternities were in hot water. At the end of the traditional pledge week one man was dead and many were in bandages. Brown students, who are accustomed to rough "hell weeks," admitted that this time their customs had gone far too far.

Here's the way it happened. The fraternity men had finished their pledge week and were making the rounds of the houses to congratulate each other. These congratulatory meetings soon resulted into free-for-all's, and to such a violent extent that police help had to be called. The net result was one dead student, who had fallen downstairs, and scores of other men bandaged from the wounds incurred.

A mass meeting of non-Greek students, who were boiling over the sad happening, wanted action. A counter meeting by the Greeks only brought forth wrath from Brown's president, Henry M. Wriston. Dropping into the fraternity men's meeting, he proclaimed that "the Greeks would have to represent the majority of students on campus or get out." Among other labels, he titled the Greeks "non-democratic, discriminatory, and anti-intellectual."

Brown faculty and students had to admit that it was an extremely tragic day.

Brown's plight is an example of what can happen when Greeks are "on the wrong road." Too bad that such a disastrous ending had to result from festivities where the fraternity men are supposed to show "brotherhood" and "hospitality." However, it is a concrete example of what CAN happen when fraternities lose sight of their real purpose and go off on a tangent.

Let's face the facts. Most Greek fraternities were originated to foster social and educational standards in college. Since their beginnings many chapters have "gone astray." Dances, beerbusts, and socials have prevailed as the "important" house functions instead of raising grade averages and providing their members with "a home away from home." True, not all fraternities have the same objectives, but the essence of all frat constitutions hold that members should be "brothers" and strive for higher ideals in education and social life.

Fraternity life here at Nevada is a decent one, mostly because "hill" Greeks have long realized that violence is not the keynote to a happy existence, but that cooperation is. We do not fear that Nevada's fraternities will ever feel the bitter resentment which dominates at other schools.

The tragedy, such as Brown university underwent, will be avoided so long as fraternity men adhere to the principle "Alma Mater first, fraternity for Alma Mater."

Campus Queries

"Are you for or against legalized prostitution in Nevada and what are your reasons?" Twelve people were finally cornered. Their reluctant answers were:

Bonny Yturbe, Lambda Chi, senior, Reno: "I am against legalized prostitution. Otherwise you are giving legal sanction without doing anything to combat the real source of the problem."

Marie Penrose, Delta Delta Delta, freshman, Reno: "When prostitution was legalized in the past under police control it worked out very well. I believe it's better that way."

George Bennett, unaffiliated, junior, Tonopah: "Public opinion seems against it, and I see no sense in passing a law for something the people don't want."

Beth Miller, unaffiliated, frosh, Reno: "Prostitution will be here anyway. It might just as well be legal."

Tom Godbey, Theta Chi, sophomore, Boulder City: "Since legalized vice has been known to lessen sex crimes and certainly provides a normal outlet, I am for it."

Leslie Morrow, unaffiliated, senior, Modesto, Calif.: "Although I don't think morals can be legalized, I don't believe that prostitution should be brought out in the open and made legal."

Portia Hawley, unaffiliated, sophomore, Belmont, Calif.: "It might as well be legal since it'll be there anyway."

William Ishimoto, unaffiliated, sophomore, Overton: "Legalized prostitution controlled by doctors is better than uncontrolled streetwalkers."

Jean Hagenbuch, Gamma Phi Beta, junior, Santa Monica, Calif.: "I prefer legal controls and zoning. That way it is centralized instead of being spread all over town."

Fred Fulton, unaffiliated, sophomore, Reno: "I am definitely in favor of legalized prostitution. It would get women out of the hotels. We'll always have it, so why not a place for it?"

Neva Marker, Independent, junior, Reno: "I don't believe prostitution is necessary, and the medical control they talk so much about is just a farce."

Val Larson, unaffiliated, sophomore, Whittier, Calif.: "Nevada is noted for its liberal views. There is no reason to draw the line there."

In a recent meeting, Saddle and Spurs members voted to help beginning women participating in WRA sponsored riding classes which will begin in about three weeks, depending upon weather conditions.

Riding skills and saddling techniques will be taught with the intent of helping new women interested in becoming members of the Saddle and Spurs society, it was explained.

Following the end of WRA riding, three super rides will be held at that time, tryouts for Saddle and Spurs will be held.

The match with San Francisco State is slated for Saturday afternoon and will be played at Harding golf course at San Francisco. The Wolf Pack golfers will then face the St. Mary's Gaels on Sunday afternoon before returning home. The St. Mary's-Nevada match will be played at the Richmond Country Club.

The California teams have the advantage of being able to play all year round while the Nevada players are just getting the feel of their clubs again after a long winter layoff.

Nevada golfers met both San Francisco State and St. Mary's last year and were beaten in both matches.

SOFT TOUCH

Julie Haydon, Broadway star who performed in the "Glass Menagerie" this week, gives Carmel Caruso's black beard the "soft touch" during a look-see at a Pack spring training session. Proceeds from the play will go to the Nevada athletic fund.

Cage Competition Nears Final Play

Sigma Nu, well on its way to the intramural basketball crown, ran into unforeseen difficulty this week when it was learned that Jack Pringle, a member of the Sigma Nu's five, was eligible for a varsity award.

A squabble over Pringle's participation was headed off when intra-mural team managers met recently and decided that Sigma Nu would have to play its games over without Pringle.

Sigma Nu has since played three games and has won all three. Two other teams have conceded the play off.

This leaves Sigma Nu and the (unorganized) independents in an 8-1 tie, but a play off is necessary to establish the supremacy of this season's intra-mural cage tussel. This play off has tentatively been set for March 29.

The Independents, should they win, could purchase their own cup, but since they have not made contribution to the inter-fraternity council the established award cannot be made to them.

The play off game which will be held in the evening, is expected to be the fastest of the intra-mural season.

Five Wolves Seek Intermount Titles At Pocatello Meet

Pacific coast intercollegiate tournament officials extended invitations to three Nevada boxers to compete in the annual coast tourney at Sacramento March 31.

Last year the Pack was completely ignored for representation at that event. Early this week it was announced that two fighters had been bid to the CPI and Tuesday a third received an invite.

Most probable choices to represent the Wolf Pack at the coast tourney are Bob Thronson, Martin Rodriguez, and Don Blackham. All have excellent records and Cliff Devine indicated that this trio would be Nevada's best bets in the PCI.

Meanwhile, the entire squad have been readying for a busy weekend in Idaho. A return go with Idaho Southern was on tap last night. (Due to an early deadline, results of the Idaho Southern mix were not available for this edition.)

Friday and Saturday nights, five Nevada fighters will be busy attempting to pick up titles at the intermountain tournament at Pocatello.

Rodriguez, Thronson, Blackham, Frank Sanches and George Bedelich will compete in that tourney.

Nevada Opponents Take Tournaments

U.S.F. and the Oakland Bitters, two of Nevada's basketball opponents this year, claimed national recognition last week as they upset their way into two championships.

The Dons, who disposed of Manhattan college in their opener, upset Utah, Bowling Green, and Loyola of Chicago in a row to cop the National Invitational tournament at Madison Square Garden, New York.

The Bitters, led by all-

American Don Barksdale, fought their way to the finals of the National A.A.U. tournament at Oklahoma City and then upset the defending champion Phillips Oilers.

Nevada Fighters Deadlock, Lose In Southland Mix

Nevada boxers invaded southern California last weekend, coming home with a tie and a loss.

The Nevada fighters lost a 5-2 decision to Pasadena City College Thursday night and battled Compton Junior College to a standoff, 4-4. This was the third time this year that the Nevada boxers have been tied.

Lightweight Martin Rodriguez and heavyweight George Bedelich were Nevada's only victors as they pounded out wins over Pasadena's Bill Johnson and Eugene Jacobs, Thursday night.

Augmented by one UCLA boxer the southerners took the remaining five bouts.

Close decisions were lost by Bob Thronson, Jack Swobe and Don Blackham of Nevada. Thronson dropped his fight to UCLA's Floyd Wilson, while Jack Swobe was decided by Bob Fry and Blackham lost a split decision to Pasadena's Stan Marcil.

Fighting their second match in as many nights, the Pack boxers fought Compton Junior College to a draw, Friday night.

Nevada had the best of the fights, losing only two bouts, but they were forced to accept the draw because of the lack of an entry in the 130 pound class.

Thronson, Rodriguez and Swobe all won their matches while Wayne Osborne and Frank Sanches fought to draws.

Ten Teams Vie For Intramural Baseball Crown

Intra-mural baseball started with the coming of spring this week. Ten teams, two more than last year, will fight through 45 games during the season.

Playing dates for the season were released last week by Art Broten, director of physical education for the University of Nevada. Six games will be played each week until the final game on May 26. The schedule calls for a game each Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday afternoon at four o'clock and two games on Saturday, at one and three. All but the unorganized independents and Highlanders have had their initial games this week. These last two will meet at one p.m. tomorrow.

Spring Football Practice Launched, Forty-odd Candidates Issued Togs

Some forty-odd grid candidates reported to Coach Joe Sheeketski Monday afternoon for the first workout of the spring practice session.

Getting the most thorough going over by the head man were the linemen. Sheeketski devoted most of the afternoon working with tackles, guards and centers. Dick Evans, end coach, spent the day working with ends and backs. The backfield boys and ends went through an extensive short-passing drill.

Sheeketski has come up with a slight change in the Nevada formation, using his version of the Missouri "T". The change calls for more option on the part of the quarterback as whether to run or pass. Last season, either Stan Heath or Alva Tabor passed or handed the ball off, and each did little totting of the pigskin.

This new setup makes the Nevada attack a trifle more versatile. Johnny Subda, halfback and fullback for the past two seasons, has been working as a quarterback in the spring drills. His passing has been good and his outstanding running ability makes the Missouri "T" more potent for the Wolves.

Missing from familiar spots were such 1948 stars, either lost by graduation or ineligibility, are Stan Heath, Tom Kalmannir, Dick Trachok, Sherman Howard, Scott Beasley, Dan Orlich, Carl Robinson, Hal Hayes, Bill Morris, Ken Sinofsky, Fred Leon and Bob Corley are not in school this semester.

Tennis Schedule Announced; Players Vie for Team Spots

Currently participating in ladder play, varsity tennis players under the guidance of coach Bob Fairman, set their eyes on a possible eight or ten game schedule which gets under way in three weeks.

Matches already scheduled include Cal Aggies there April 16; Santa Clara there April 17; Chico State there April 29; St. Mary's at Richmond April 30; Cal Aggies at Reno May 7, and Chico State at Reno May 28. In addition, College of Pacific, Placer JC or Sacramento college (one of the three) will be scheduled for dates here and away.

Reno and Fallon tennis clubs will probably take on the Pack team with dates to be arranged later.

Campus Marksmen To Attend Meet

Nevada's rifle squad will participate in the annual sectional tournament at the University of California rifle range at Berkeley on April 9.

The school having the top score at Washington, D.C. will be declared the national champions. It will receive the National Championship trophy and a certificate of victory plus six silver awards.

Second and third teams in the nation will be presented with six bronze awards.

Firing will be done from prone, kneeling, and standing positions.

The individual high scorer will receive a gold-filled award. A silver award is to be presented to the second high individual scorer. The next eight highest scores will get bronze awards. The three highest scores at sectional meets will receive bronze awards. The three highest scores at sectional meets will receive bronze awards.

Jemison Proposes More Senators

Student Body Considers Unaffiliated Members

A plan to add two members to the student senate was offered to the student body last week. ASUN President Rex Jemison, speaking at the student assembly held on March 14, mentioned the idea as a possible remedy to the fact that the present student senate represents only affiliated students.

Jemison's plan, which has not yet received any official consideration or action, would provide for the election of two senators at large. The members would be elected each year at the same time as other student body officers.

This change would require an amendment to the ASUN constitution. The executive council of the student body would first consider it, and refer it to the student senate, who would set the date of the voting.

A two-thirds vote of the student body is required to amend the constitution.

At present the student senate consists of the ASUN president and 17 senators. The independents have two senators; each of the fraternities and sororities, one; the Highlanders, one; Artemisia, one, and Manzanita, one.
