STOP AND THINK

In the event that the students vote to increase the ASUN fee under the proposed plan it will mean that each member will contribute $29 per year. This figure is in direct contrast to the student fees at other western schools.

For example, Saint Mary's College which also has a good football team, has a student fee of $5 per year. Brigham Young university gets by with $14.50 per year. San Jose State has set an optional $15 which includes $3.40 for personal insurance. Fresno State College for $20 offers an array of student activities that makes Nevada look sick.

The story is the same anywhere you wish to inquire. If you don't believe it just pick a few schools at random and write to them. The answers will be eye-opening to the fact that the students of Nevada are paying too much for what they are getting in return.

Problem of Stench From Manzanita Lake Attributed to Decay

By George Umbenhour

With the arrival of hot weather, a stench began to rise from Manzanita Lake.

Several people have been interviewed in an effort to determine the cause of these conditions.

Carl Horn, superintendent of maintenance, commented that he had two men working on the lake, cleaning it up. They cleaned up everything but the smell.

Mr. Horn's remarks about dredging the lake were to the effect that such action was irrelevant and unnecessary as he assured that the circulation of free-running water was maintained most of the time.

Another source of information about the situation was Mr. Donald Cooney, instructor in biology and botany, who stated that at this time of the year the water is low and that the smell was due to the decomposition of microscopic plants and animals, presumably along the sides of the lake.

Mr. Cooney explained that this condition would no doubt be alleviated when water resumed circulation through the ore-ditch. He also laid the blame to the cattails which he claims are a nuisance and are gradually filling in the lake.

"It is a wonderful lake for collecting microscopic plant and animal life," said Mr. Cooney.

Manzanita lake has, for years, been a feature attraction of the University of Nevada campus to visitors and students alike. On several occasions in the past, complaints have been voiced from both the women's dormitories and visitors concerning the odors coming from the lake.

LIBRARY POSTS VACATION HOURS

The university library will be open part time during Easter vacation for the benefit of students living here and those remaining here during the vacation period.

On Wednesday, April 13, the library will close at 5 p. m. and the following day it will be open from 9 to 12 a. m. and 1 to 4 p. m. It will be closed all day on Good Friday and Easter Sunday but will be open Saturday morning, April 16, from 9 to 12. On April 18 and 19 it will be open from 9 to 12 and 1 to 4. Regular hours will be resumed Wednesday, April 20, when school begins again.

Beardless Males To Test Trough, Claims Committee

Beardless men without proper excuses will no longer roam the campus unmolested, it was announced by the men's upper class committee today.

Bearing grim testimony to this proclamation is a well-filled steel horse trough near the cannons in front of Stewart hall. Surrounding the trough are several score of burly and eager looking upper classmen ready and willing to carry out a campus tradition that stems from the early days.

Traditionally, male students of the University of Nevada grow beards in the spring to commemorate John W. Mackay and do honor to the Mackay family which has endowed the university with many buildings and improvement funds.

Those male students having legitimate excuses for remaining beardless, must carry with them for presentation to authorized upperclassmen a beard excuse card obtained from Mackay Day committee chairman Joel Morris.

CINCH NOTICES

Delinquent scholarship notices will be issued to advisors (shortly) after Easter vacation, Mrs. Jeanette C. Rhodes, registrar, reported today.

The first half of this semester officially ends Saturday noon, when grades are due at the registrar's office, but students will not know how they face until after the Easter vacation.

Easter Recess Begins April 13; Ends April 20

Easter vacation is neither longer nor shorter this year than it was last year. The recess begins Wednesday, April 13 at 4 p. m. and ends April 20 at 8 a. m. Last year it ran from March 24 at 4 p. m. to March 31 at 8 a. m.

Lincoln hall, the men's dormitory, and Artemisia and Manzanita halls, the women's dormitories, will remain open during the vacation.

The University of Nevada dining hall will be serving meals through the vacation and any change in the meal schedule will be posted in the dining hall.

All six fraternity houses will remain open; however they will be minus cooks. Pi Beta Phi sorority house is the only one of the four sororities that will not be closed during the recess.

The shortest Easter recess was in 1920 when university students got a one-day break between April 2-4, 1946 had the longest vacation when classes were excused for seven school days off, March 29 to April 8.

NOTICE

All prospective June graduates are requested to check with the registrar, Mrs. Jeanette C. Rhodes. This check is necessary to make certain that all hope-graduates have filled their graduation requirements and to make arrangements for their diplomas.

Sigma Pi Colony Elects Officers

Albert McFadden was re-elected president of Sigma Pi in an election held by the fraternity last week. McFadden and other officers will be installed after the Easter vacation.

Sigma Pi colony, which now has twelve members, expects to reach the status of a fraternity next fall.

Other officers elected were vice president, Jim Lynch; secretary, Bob Gifford; treasurer, Dick Piccini; interfraternity council, Raymond Free; social chairman, Ray Phelps; and correspondent, Walt Johnson.

SENATE OKAYS VOTE TO RAISE ASUN FEE

Freshmen Needed For Peavine Trek Beside Block N's

By Bob Hunt

Every year the poor, downtrodden Freshmen go on a long trek, through the valleys and over the mountains, to good old Peavine Mountain, where there is a strange, white-washed formation of rocks in the shape of an "N".

Once there, they roll up their sleeves, grab buckets, and start carrying and spreading whitewash, under the supervision of the big, burly block "N" members.

Last year a small, unimportant detail was overlooked. The water truck didn't appear.

This year "Eppie" Johnson, chairman of the committee, assures that no such detail will be overlooked when the "N" is painted on Saturday morning, April 23.

All first and second semester Freshmen are required to participate in this event. They will meet in front of the University Dining Hall Saturday morning at 8 a. m. All car-owners are requested to bring their cars for transportation, if possible.

Wayne Osborne, Freshman class manager, is in charge of all arrangements, aided by the Freshman working committee.

All written excuses must be turned in to the ASUN office by Thursday, April 21, in order to be approved. Anyone absent without an excuse will be dunked in the horse trough by block "N" members.

Refreshments will be served.

University Singers Plan Music Series

The University Singers will continue a series of University "Music Hours" which began with a concert at the Reno Twentieth Century Club in March.

On April 20th they will appear before the Parent-Teachers convention in the Sparks High School, to be followed on April 26th by an all American program in the Education auditorium.

Late in May there will be two performances of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta "The Pirates of Penzance" in play-reading, concert form, as has been the custom on the campus for the past two years.

This latter work will be under the joint direction of William C. Miller, director of the dramatic department, and Theodore H. Post, chairman of the music department.

Three Way Split for Proposed Increase; Athletics, Artemisia, General

As the result of action taken by the ASUN senate Wednesday night, an amendment increasing the student body fee from $13 to $14.50 per semester will be placed before the students for vote. According to student body president Rex Jemison the additional $1.50 will be divided with 50 cents going to the Board of Athletic Control, 50 cents to the Artemisia and 50 cents to the general ASUN fund.

If two-thirds of a quorum are for the increase the amendment will become law upon the approval of the Board of Regents. Silas Ross, chairman of the board, stated, "The compulsory fee is a ruling of long standing which was made by the students themselves and approved by the Board. If the students wish to change the rules the board will probably go along with them."

In an effort to bring this issue before the students, Gene Mastroianni, graduate manager, has met with campus groups during the past several weeks to discuss the ASUN financial situation. When interviewed,

Mastroianni said, "Some activities of the ASUN are running into the hole every year. It is necessary either to raise the present fee or cut down on ASUN services and facilities."

Based on an ASUN membership of 1600, the proposed increase would mean that students would be contributing $24,000 a year for the support of athletics alone as compared to the present 22,400. It has been pointed out by Jemison that with this increase, the Athletic board will be responsible for the cost of athletic awards, an expense which heretofore has come from the general fund.

Under the present breakdown, $7 per semester is allotted to the intercollegiate athletic fund for the support and admittance to scheduled athletic events. Two dollars per semester goes to the Artemisia, 75 cents for a one semester subscription to the Sagebrush, 35 cents for the support of forensic activities, 50 cents for upperclassmen's dues and 25 cents for lowerclassmen's dues, and 50 cents for Associated Women Students.

The remainder of the fee ($1.90 from upperclassmen and $2.15 from lowerclassmen) goes into a general fund. Appropriations from this fund, governed by the Finance Control Committee, maintain the Student Union building and other non-profit activities, and assist in supporting Homecoming, Mackay Day, the Ski Carnival, play productions and other approved activities.

The Finance Control Committee is chosen by the student senate at its first fall meeting. Two faculty members, one acting as chairman, the student body president and one man and one woman representative from the senate. This year's board consists of Chairman William C. Miller, English department, Lt. Col. James C. Smees, military department, Bonny Mollignoni and Bill Kornmayer, Senate representatives, and Rex Jemison, SUN president.

Traffic Tickets Set For Rule Violators; New Officer Hired

Traffic tickets are being printed and should be available this week, according to Dr. Charles H. Gorman, vice president and controller. Fines will probably be levied on traffic violators in the near future.

A new traffic policeman, Art Cox, has been hired to take the place of W. M. Castle, who resigned last week.

Cox urged all drivers to be sure they are properly registered. "This appears to be the most widespread violation," he said.

Cox, who began Saturday, declared that there have been many violations of parking rules on the campus main street. According to the regulations, no parking whatsoever is allowed along this street.

Dr. Gorman expressed regret that it is necessary to take harsh action in this traffic condition, but he declared that the recommendation made by the student senate will be accepted. The senate recommended fining of violators.

The University Singers will continue a series of University "Music Hours" which began with a concert at the Reno Twentieth Century Club in March.

On April 20th they will appear before the Parent-Teachers convention in the Sparks High School, to be followed on April 26th by an all American program in the Education auditorium.

PROGRESS AGAINST PREJUDICE

Those who think that progress cannot be made in the struggle against prejudice should consider what is happening in college fraternities and sororities.

Amherst college is probably one of the best examples of democracy at work. Phi Kappa Psi fraternity not too long ago pledged one of the college's track stars. He was a top student well liked by all the people on the campus. After a short period of waiting for the national fraternity to OK his pledgship—the word finally came back. But it was not the answer which the Phi Kappa Psi's didn't like, it was the reason behind the answer. The boy would have to be dropped from the pledge class because he was a Negro.

Phi Kappa Psi fraternity men couldn't see the logic behind such reasoning and took some long needed action against racial prejudice on their campus. The chapter denounced all affiliation with their national organization. The move swept to the other twelve fraternities and in turn created a nationwide reaction.

Phi Kappa Psi took the first big step—since then many other organizations have followed in their tracks.

The student council of Brooklyn college suspended a local fraternity which failed to remove discriminatory clauses from its constitution.

Honorary societies at the University of Chicago may not continue in existence unless they abolish discriminatory practices.

National fraternities and sororities may not establish chapters at Arizona State College if their constitutions discriminate on the basis of race, creed, or color.

The University of Minnesota's Inter-fraternity council has agreed to abolish discrimination in fraternities. The Pan-Hellenic council has taken similar action where sororities are concerned.

The University of Colorado has refused to approve new societies, honorary and social, which have constitutions limiting membership in terms of race or religion.

The University of Washington will not grant recognition to any new organization having religious or racial restrictions on membership eligibility.

Local Inter-faith and Inter-racial fraternities have been organized at Ohio State, Ohio Wesleyan, Marietta, Baldwin Wallace—with similar groups on the way at Bucknell and Minnesota.

Prejudice knows no boundaries. Neither does the offensive against it. And America is on the offensive against it.

Letters to Editor

4 April 1949

Dear Jon:

We have read the article on the front page of the Sagebrush for Friday, April 1, in which comptroller Charles Gorman is quoted as saying that the students from the improvement committee who visited the legislature were not well enough prepared, and that they did more harm than good.

We believe that both these misconceptions should be corrected. Our information for the report that we submitted to the legislature was taken from all available sources; faculty and even legislative cooperation was at its highest, and we had access to all information available on the budget problem — EXCEPT material which Mr. Gorman had in his possession which neither students nor faculty could gain access to.

During a discussion that we had with Senator Ralph Lattin on the night of Sunday, 6 March, the senator commended us on the completeness of our information and on its pertinence to the problem at hand. He also assured us that he was in complete agreement with the Student Improvement Committee in regard to faculty salaries, and that what money could be secured for the budget increase would be passed with the stipulation that at least $120,000 of it be used for faculty salaries. This amount covers projected raises for all teaching faculty for the two-year period, but does not take care of other raises listed on the budget. The senator told us that the money would not be voted unless the committee of which Senator Lattin was the head received assurance from the Regents that an amount sufficient for ALL faculty raises would be used for this purpose.

Mr. Gorman's complaint about the improvement committee is the first one we have heard, and, from his own personal standpoint, perhaps his statements are true.

Yours very truly,

Time Stands Still At Hill Library

For the last two weeks, time has stood still at the University of Nevada library.

It has stood at 6:30. This timeless situation is due to improve, however, when Carl Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds, gets his crew to work on the matter. James J. Hill, librarian, has turned the matter over to him, and as soon as parts arrive the clock will once more become the center of attention at the library.

At the end of the game the score stood at 18-all. Forwards of the Theta team, Mary Micheo and Jeanne Fulstone added 3 points each to the score, and the SAE's were unable to come back.

Miss Micheo with six baskets and two free throws was high scorer. Paul Salemi led the Violets with a total of eight points.

The game was played according to girls' rules and Judy O'Shaughnessy and Ann Yenter were referees, with Gedney Gallagher and Shirley Keller serving as scorekeepers.

The Pansies had yell leaders, Patsy and Gloria Eddy as well as a water girl who was Jane McTavish.

As a penalty for losing the game, the SAE's had to hash at the Theta house.

Campus Breathes Sighs of Relief As Spring Arrives

By Frank Johnson
After the toughest winter in the memory of University of Nevada students, spring has at last stepped in and taken over the campus.

The Mackay Day committee, which had long feared the necessity of chipping ice off the horse trough if any beardless males were to be ducked, breathed what was perhaps the loudest sigh of relief.

It was beginning to look like the man with the upturned face would have a white beard instead of a green one on the big day, and that the big obstacle race would be done on ice skates, snowshoes and skis instead of bicycles, gunny sacks, and old inner tubes.

The motoring students welcomed the weather with open arms and removed tire chains. Convertible tops came down and the majority of cars were washed for the first time since last fall.

Students who hadn't missed a class since the first snow were beginning to see the undeniable advantages of cutting a few lecture periods.

University tennis courts have been filled to capacity for the last few days, and in the afternoons there is often a waiting line.

Sunbathing, too, has returned as the most popular pastime for campus women.

Aggie Horse Show Plans Progressing; Announce Awards

A schedule and purse amounts for the featured quarter-horse racing events at the third annual University of Nevada Aggie club horse show to be held at the Reno rodeo grounds on May 7 and 8 have been released by Lyle McCartney, chairman of the club executive committee.

The schedule calls for three quarter-horse races on Saturday, May 7 and four on Sunday, May 8, and all races will be set up by a representative of the American Quarter Racing association.

The first race on Saturday is set at 330 yards for unclassified breeds, with an entry fee of $15 and a purse of $50 plus the entry fee. The second is 220 yards for foals of 1947, and the entry fee and purse are same as for the first race. Race number is also 220 yards for Class C horses, with the same entry fees and purse.

On Sunday the first race will be 220 yards distance for Class B breeds. The second race will be twice the distance, 440 yards, for Class C horses. The third race will also be 440 yards for Class B horses. The first three races will call for a $25 entry fee and will have a purse of $75 plus the entry fee. The last race on Sunday is 440 yards, open class, with an entry fee of $35 and a winner's purse of $75 with fee added.

Division of purses is to be on the 60-30-10 percentage basis in the six racing events, McCartney announced. In the five-horse contest the division will be on a 70-30 basis.

The quarter-horse races will start from the modern six-stall starting gate and will be run on a straight-away course.

Officials for the quarter-horse events will be George Wingfield, Jr., presiding steward. His assistants will be Harry Frost, Charles Short and Ray Peterson. Chief timer will be Cliff Devine, with two assistants to be announced at a later date. Foul judges are Dr. Paul Silva and Jack Sheaffer. Cliff Gardner will be official starter.

This year's show will include trail horse, Arabian, jumping, Palomino and gaited events on both days, and will feature a cutting contest open to all breeds. Trophies and ribbons will be awarded for all events.

Index Is Dropped To Meet Expenses Of 1949 Artemisia

The entire index of the Artemisia, the University of Nevada yearbook, will be omitted due to financial difficulties, Sinclair Melner, the editor, reported today.

Five pages of advertising will be added instead of the index in an effort to break even on the book. The annual has not broken even for years, and as far back as the editor remembers, he says, it never has been a financial success.

"I think the index is an important feature of the book," Melner said, "but I would rather see the book make ends meet financially."

If the yearbook does not pay its own way, the deficit is made up by the publication board fund. This money comes from the profit on the Sagebrush, one-third of whose profit goes into the fund. If this money does not cover it, the board of finance control of the student body pays the balance.

The book will go to press in San Francisco April 11, and the time it takes for the printing of the book will determine whether it will be distributed before the end of school. The engraving section of the book is now at the engravers in Reno.

This year's annual will contain 312 pages.

Army Day Feted By Military Dept.

The military department was honored at a ceremony held in Mackay stadium Tuesday in celebration of Army Day. A special citation from General Omar Bradley was presented to the staff for proficiency in instruction.

Members of the military staff also planned ceremonies for this weekend as part of the national Army Week proclamation by the President and Governor Vail Pittman.

Cadet Lt. Col. James Parker was also honored at the ceremony Tuesday for outstanding work as a student. Parker is a junior.

Although Army Day was actually Wednesday, April 6, the department plans its biggest celebration tomorrow, when army equipment will be displayed and demonstrated at Virginia Lake. Amphibious equipment and planes will be used.

The band and student cadets participated in the ceremonies at Mackay stadium. The motto for Army Day for 1949 is: "U. S. Army—Part of the Team for Security."

Army Day was established by Congress in 1937. It was first observed by veterans of World War I as early as 1928.

New Sheeketski System Emphasizes Running Attack, Power Socking Lines

More running plays and two strong lines will be featured in next year's varsity football team if Coach Joe Sheeketski's present plans materialize.

Running plays will center around quarterbacks Ed Jesse and Alva Tabor, supported in the position by Johnny Subda. Subda played halfback this year, but on next year's team he will play both positions—quarterback and halfback—according to Sheeketski. Another quarterback for next year's team is Al Matteucci.

Sheeketski is now working on a plan for two strong lines next year, with the so-called best linemen distributed between them according to weight.

Graduation will leave the team's end position deficient, but Sheeketski has been working to counteract this by switching other players to the end position. This has worked out quite successfully, he says. Tom Bell has been changed from guard to end and Deloy Anderson from center position to end.

Johnny Subda, fleet halfback for two seasons with the Wolf Pack, is working at quarterback during spring grid drills. Subda is a better than average passer and his running ability gives more versatility to Joe Sheeketski's new "T" system.

Many a man is proud of his father and mother merely because they are the parents of a fine fellow like himself.

Candidates Chosen For AWS Prexy During Bean Feed

Candidates chosen to run for the office of the Associated Women Students president for the University of Nevada are Moray Black, Sue Broadbent, Norma Carruth, Jean Nash, Mary Low Sewell, and Kay Sterling.

These women gave campaign speeches at the AWS sponsored women's bean feed Thursday night in the dining hall.

This year's candidates for the position have been chosen according to qualifications and have been nominated by all the women's organizations on the campus. In previous years, the president has been chosen from sorority houses in yearly rotation.

Intra-Squad Meet Scheduled Today

First intra-squad track meet of the season is scheduled this afternoon between 3 and 5 o'clock at Mackay Stadium.

Coach Jake Lawlor will pair the squad off into two teams with lettermen and newcomers distributed on both sides.

Some talent turned up at the intermural meet last week and Jake wants to see how they will go in faster intra-squad competition.

First meet of the season is two days after Easter vacation against San Francisco State and Chico in a triangle meet. Time trials will in all probability be run next Tuesday as a final check before the holidays.
