J. Craig Sheppard Illustrates Book Of Western Horses

Appearing on the bookstands in the latter part of October will be "The Horses of the Conquest," a new book by R. B. Cunningham Graham, with illustrations done by Craig Sheppard, assistant art professor at the University of Nevada.

Prof. Sheppard spent a good deal of the summer at the University of Oklahoma Press, where he worked with Will Ransom, famous book designer, and typographer, in balancing the weight of the type used and the weight of Mr. Sheppard's illustrations.

Prof. Sheppard revealed that the book is concerned with a historic narration of the first horses on the American continent, and has some 40 illustrations in two colors, pen, brush, and ink. The front-piece of the book will be in full color, also done by Prof. Sheppard.

First 'Artemisia' Now 50 Years Old

In 1899, half a century ago, the first issue of our yearbook, "The Artemisia," appeared on the campus after a lengthy job of compilation by its staff, which included a young man named Patrick Anthony McCarran, of the class of '01. McCarran is now United States Senator from Nevada.

Why was the yearbook named, "The Artemisia?"

Webster's International dictionary defines Artemisia as "any of a genus of herbs and shrubs of the Aster family. SEE Sagebrush."

Gorman is Reported To Be Recovering From Heart Attack

Charles H. Gorman, retired comptroller of the university who was stricken with a heart attack in San Francisco two weeks ago, is "progressing satisfactorily," according to recent reports from his son, Harold S. Gorman, vice-president of the First National Bank of Nevada.

However, he said, he will not be able to return to Reno until the middle of October. The attack was apparently induced by over-exertion and exposure at a national tri-annual Knights Templar convention in San Francisco Friday, September 23, the last day of the six-day convention, he was rushed to Franklin hospital where he has been under a doctor's care since.

Gorman is the past grand commander of the Knights Templar for Nevada and was attending the convention as a member of the finance committee of the national group.

Gorman first entered the service of the university in 1911 when he became assistant registrar and comptroller. Last June he retired as vice-president and comptroller.

Large Membership In Cap and Scroll, President States

Cap and Scroll, the highest women's honorary organization on the campus, has an abnormally large membership this year, according to President Norma Carruth.

Four members was considered normal, but this year eight students are eligible. To enter Cap and Scroll a student must have an average of 2.7 or better, and must have been president and belong to three other campus organizations. She must also be a senior.

The new members, selected last May, are Sue Broadbent, Angela Naveran, Fay Fryberger, Moray Black, Pat Fee, Barbara Smith and Kay Sterling. All are residents of the state of Nevada except Miss Fee.

Faculty Recreation Program Planned

A new faculty recreation program, intended to meet the needs of University faculty members and their wives, is being planned by J. E. Martie, physical education director.

The program will include sports such as volleyball, badminton, basketball, archery, golf, and also hikes and picnics.

Mr. Martie stated that a recreation program was conducted with a great deal of success about fifteen years ago, but was discarded because of lack of facilities at the time. He stated that faculty groups often competed in intra-mural activities under the old program.

Members of the new recreation committee are: Clarence E. Byrd, Dr. M. W. Deming, Dr. William C. Miller, Dean Elaine Mobley, Prof. I. J. Sandorf, Dr. Owen Ulph, and J. E. Martie, chairman.

Doors Open First In October, '74; Class of Seven

Seventy-five years ago today there was a whirl of activity in a little building in Elko, Nevada. Tables were being prepared, and floors being cleaned. A one-man faculty was preparing for seven students who were to attend classes next week. In short, a university was about to open.

A few days later, on October 12, 1874, the University of Nevada opened its doors. D. R. Sessions, A. M., began classes in a few secondary subjects, and thus founded the university that was one day to become an accredited institution with almost 1800 students and more than 100 faculty members.

The seventy-fifth anniversary theme will be observed throughout the year, according to a report of the faculty committee on the subject. The Homecoming celebration and other functions will be based on the diamond jubilee idea.

A special anniversary assembly will be held Tuesday, October 12. Chris Sheerin, regent, University of Nevada alumnus, and publisher of the Elko Free Press will address the student body.

Dr. J. A. Carpenter, director of the Mackay School of Mines, is faculty chairman of the committee. Publicity on the anniversary will be distributed throughout the state, and the letterheads from the President's office will also carry mention of the anniversary.

Other members of the committee are: Dr. J. E. Church, Dr. R. S. Griffin, Dr. W. C. Miller, Dr. Eldon Wittwer, Prof. A. L. Higginbotham, Prof. T. H. Post, Prof. W. S. Palmer, Lt. Col. Smeed, Miss J. E. Wier, Mrs. Margaret Griffin.

This transition period was marked with struggles and accomplishments that were a credit to the people of Nevada. The 75 years were filled with difficulties which severely tested the state.

Nevada was one of the few states in the Union that provided for a state university at its constitutional convention. A board of regents was appointed almost immediately after the state itself was born, and it began planning for the establishment of the university.

Elko Saved Life The birth of the University was not easy, however. Elko county assumed the responsibility of guaranteeing its survival, and issued bonds and script to raise money for the institution. The county, of 3,000 people, assumed a debt of more than $100,000 in the early years of the University's existence.

Due to the small attendance the University was moved to Reno in 1886, and a two-man faculty opened classes in the then uncompleted Morrill hall. Seventy-five students attended the first sessions after the University moved to Reno.

The University's growth was slow. At times the population of Nevada

QUEENS: SIX TO CHOOSE FROM AND ALL OF THEM LUSCIOUS

Homecoming Sweetheart Candidates Make the Voting Easier This Year

By Alice Shell y

Five blondes and one brunette were named as candidates this week to vie for the coveted "75th Anniversary" Homecoming queen title. The six women, all freshmen, were selected by their respective organizations last Monday.

Four of the six candidates are graduates of Reno high school with one coming from the southern part of the state and the other hailing from a neighboring state, Colorado.

The Artemisia candidate is Marjorie Yetter, a graduate from Reno high school. She is 17 years of age, is 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 129 pounds. She is majoring in Business Administration.

Another graduate of Reno high is the Gamma Phi Beta candidate, Betty Jean Pincolini. Nineteen years old, she weighs 115 pounds, is 5 feet 5 inches tall and a Home Ec major.

Manzanita's candidate is an out of stater, graduating from Greeley high school in Colorado. Fay Letford is 19 years of age, weighs 115 pounds, is 5 feet 3 inches tall and is also majoring in Business Administration.

Pi Beta Phi is represented by Mickey Francis, Reno high graduate, 18 years of age, 5 feet 4 inches tall and weighing 107 pounds. She is an Arts and Science student.

Merrilyn Byrd, Kappa Alpha Theta's candidate is the last one from Reno. She is 18 years of age, 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighs 114 pounds. She also is a Home Ec major.

The southern part of the state is represented by Tri Delta's candidate, Lynn Horner of Las Vegas. She is 18 years old, 5 feet 6 1/2 inches tall, weighs 110 pounds and is an English major.

Organized Independents are not entering a candidate for Homecoming sweetheart this year.

Voting will be held the same time as the election for the Frosh manager, Thursday prior to the Homecoming weekend. All male students are eligible to cast a ballot for their favorite beauty. The sweetheart will be crowned at the half time of the Homecoming game on Saturday, October 22.

The list of organizations and the days they are to be photographed is as follows: October 7, 10—Kappa Alpha Theta; 11, 1—Pi Beta Phi; 13, 14—Alpha Tau Omega; 17, 18—Lambda Chi Alpha; 19, 20—Phi Sigma Kappa; 21, 24—Sigma Alpha Epsilon; 25, 26—Sigma Nu; 27, 28—Theta Chi; 31—Sigma Pi.

Sigma Rho Delta members will be photographed on Nov. 1, and the Highlanders will have their pictures taken on November 2.

The schedule for members of remaining organizations will be announced later.

Sigma Nu appears to be the threat in the intramural softball competition which got under way last week. In its first game played Sept. 28, they briskly disposed of the Theta Chi's with a lopsided 17 to 1 count.

Spoon, ace pitcher of the "Snakes", went the first three innings allowing no hits. Douglas, the Tonopah wizard, fired the last two innings giving up two hits. There was no doubt as to the outcome of the ball game after the second inning in which Vucanovich homered for the Snakes with the bases loaded.

On Oct. 4 the "Snakes" crossed bats with the Lambda Chi's. Spoon went all the way to win his second game 10 runs to 3. Allowing but four hits, Spoon seemed to have the Lambda Chi batsmen well under control. Garfinkle, 2nd batter for the Snakes looked good in the field. In the fourth inning he nailed Assurases line drive and then quickly fired to Delauer who caught a runner off second for the only double play of the afternoon.

Jerry Davis pitched for the Lambda Chi's.

Competition opened this week for admittance to Sigma Delta Psi, national honorary athletic society, and a group of men began performing tests required for membership.

The opening of the tests marks the second year of activity for the fraternity on the campus. Four Nevada students qualified for membership before this year.

Sigma Delta Psi requires a long list of physical accomplishments. According to Art Broton, advisor for the fraternity, all the tests do not have to be completed at once. A student may take any amount of time in qualifying for the fraternity.

Nomination to the fraternity also requires scholarship and posture, said Broton. Tests will be held for all interested men every Thursday from 4 to 5, he said. Nevada students who qualified last year were Jerry Wyness, Ted Ensslin, Charles Springer, and John Gianotti. Members are entitled to a gold key and certificate.

POOR TASTE

One of the most obvious displays of poor sportsmanship shown during the Nevada-St. Mary's football game last weekend occurred not on the field but in the stands.

In the student section behind the Nevada band a group of men students all from one fraternity decided that one of the rear band members would be a good target for their "suppressed emotions." They poured some of their high-powered spirits (liquid form) over the player and then proceeded to rough him up a bit by grabbing his hat and pushing him around.

True, the incident was small. But the action showed no thinking on the part of those Nevada students. Had not the band member realized the situation and left the area there is no telling what would have happened.

The band, most students will agree, did a fine job at the game. All of them were under a handicap to begin with. While others were having a gay time in San Francisco Friday and Saturday, the band was having rehearsals. Transportation down to San Francisco left early Sunday morning for which band members got up at 4 am.

No one is forcing our band to don uniforms and play. They have always done a commendable job at our football games, and if we want to continue having music, incidents such as the above must be stopped.

If personalities are involved then they should be held in check until all concerned can iron things out.

Whether caused by the excitement of the game or from over-indulgence in a different kind of "spirit" the incident was definitely in poor taste.

MORAL VICTORY

The Wolf Pack's defeat at the hands of St. Mary's Gaels last weekend was quite a blow to many local followers of Nevada football. Going into the game a decided favorite, the Pack was working smoothly until the loss of fullback Osborne, who was relied upon for the heavy line plunging. His presence MIGHT have made a difference.

Osborne's loss was felt heavily, but it did not harm the morale of the team as a whole. Every Pack player was in there fighting (and winning until the fourth quarter) right up to the final gun.

This year's "big" game against the Gaels was a real pleasure to watch. We were not relying on any one "star" player to win the game for us such as happened in '48 when all-American Stan Heath played Santa Clara in Sacramento.

Win, lose, or tie, the Pack will be backed by every student in the university if the grid men continue putting up the fight they displayed last Sunday.

Nevada Carousel

By Jon Milburn

How many students would like to see Nevada's band dissolved?

Of course, there are some people who probably don't care whether Nevada has a band or not, but we'll venture to say that the majority of the student body would raise merry cain if such a thing should be considered. As a matter of fact, the very people who would scream the loudest are the ones who gave the band such a hard time last Sunday at Kezar Stadium.

It was bad enough that the graduate's manager's office was unable to reserve the proper number of seats for the band—they had to squeeze into 5 rows of seats when a minimum of 8 rows were required—but for them to have to take a lot of smart-aleck stuff from drunken students, or at least students who thought they were drunk, was a definite addition to the many insults they've already endured.

No one could blame the entire organization if they quit and left Nevada without a band. After all, what are they getting in return for the service they afford the school? Not even thanks from the students—just abuse.

Oh yes, some of the students who participate in the band receive 1 credit in music per semester; however, after 4 such credits are accumulated they've had it—from there on out they're donating their time. Most of the members disregard the credit anyway because it's something they can receive their degrees without.

Actually, the band must be considered an orphan child as far as campus activities are concerned. Members receive less than what is awarded to the minor sports such as golf, tennis and riflery. These teams are given circle "N" sweaters, while the band gets letters—maybe!

The least the student body can do is to give the band an even break, if not appreciation. They put in from 4 to 6 hours a week in practice and drill. When they attend games like St. Mary's last Sunday the members unselfishly relinquish part of the good time which is enjoyed by the rest of the students. On top of everything else they are given a mere pittance as far as expenses are concerned and always wind up digging into their own pockets to make the trip possible.

If the students at Nevada want to retain a band worth having, they had better start giving it more consideration and less indifference.

Fulstone Sisters Enter Toni Contest

Jeanne and Eleanor Fulstone, twin sisters at the University of Nevada, became contestants this week in the national "Toni Twin" contest. The girls are being sponsored by the Reno Chamber of Commerce.

The contest, held on a national basis, offers many valuable prizes, including a trip to South America. Many contestants from all parts of the nation are entered.

The Fulstone twins are from Smith, Nevada, and are juniors at the university. They are among six sets of regional finalists. It was reported that Life magazine will carry a picture of the girls in November.

Fred Waring and Enric Madriguera, orchestra leaders, and John Robert Powers, modeling agency head, judged the twins in the regional elimination contest. The public will be invited to vote in future contests.

Wolf Pack Loses First; Drops To Gaels, 20-14

Pack Hurt By Loss of Osborne; Kondel, Subda, Star Offensively

By MYRON LEAVITT

The University of Nevada Wolf Pack dropped its first tilt of the season Sunday when it bowed to the Galloping Gaels from St. Mary's, 20-14, before a crowd of approximately 15,000.

The game, which was an exciting one from the spectators' standpoint, which saw Nevada surge ahead twice, only to have the Gaels overcome the lead and score the win in the final period.

Two spectacular runs in the final quarter by Dave Marcelli of St. Mary's and Ted Kondel of Nevada added to the thrills of the game. Marcelli, after intercepting Jesse's pass on his own three yard line, raced down the sideline 73 yards, before he was hauled down from behind by Ted Kondel.

Ironically, it was the same Marcelli who prevented Ted Kondel from scoring after he had broken into the open and headed for pay dirt with the possible winning score.

Chances Dimmed

Nevada's chances were dimmed early in the first quarter when Bill Osborne, driving halfback, was taken from the game with a bone separation in his foot. Osborne figured prominently in the opening drive for the first score.

The Wolf Pack took the opening kick-off and held the ball until it had marched 73 yards down field and scored. Ted Kondel, who played outstanding ball throughout the game, took the kick and raced 25 yards before he was stopped. Gains by Osborne and Subda put the ball in scoring position, and Kondel cut off tackle and scored the first TD. Corley converted and the Pack had a 7-0 lead.

The second stanza was played mostly in midfield with Nevada crossing the midfield strip once on drives by Subda and Kondel to the St. Mary's 38 yard line, where Kondel's fumble was recovered by Bill Sherman.

Graf Shines

In the third period one of the most spectacular plays of the game occurred when Nevada was forced to kick, after St. Mary's held on downs. Wally Graf, Nevada kicker, fumbled a pass from center, ran toward the sideline, and punted the ball 60 yards in the air and 41 from the line of scrimmage while on the dead run.

St. Mary's took over on the 29 yard line and began to march toward the Nevada goal. Runs by Bell, Bare and Cassara carried the ball 71 yards for the tying score. Lou Bradinca converted.

At this point Nevada minus Bill Osborne took to the air. Jesse passed to Wilson for a score, after Subda picked up 13 yards and lateraled to Elder, who got 13 more. Corley converted and Nevada lead 14-7.

St. Mary's was not to be denied, however, as Cassara took the kick-off and raced to the Nevada 49, where a series of line plays put the ball on the 18. Bill Bare skirted the end to tie the score again Bradinca's kick was good.

Nevada was held on downs after the kick-off and Graf went back to punt. The pass from center was high, and Graf ran the ball to the 21 yard line, where St. Mary's took over. On the next play, however, Jack Carmody broke through and recovered a St. Mary's fumble. After a few attempts at the St. Mary's line, Jesse faded back to pass, but

Bare was there to intercept on the 44 yard line.

Winning Goal

On the next play Glen Bell, 172 pound back who picked up 148 yards for the Gaels, broke loose and streaked the remaining 44 yards for the winning touchdown. Bradinca missed his try for the extra point and the score remained 20-14. Two drives by Nevada were stalled by the St. Mary's forwards and an interception by Dave Marcelli.

Set Santa Clara On 1950 Schedule For Wolf Pack

Closely following the announcement that the University of Nevada will play Texas A&M in 1950, came the announcement that the Wolf Pack will be granted a return engagement with the Santa Clara Broncos and the chance for revenge for last year's defeat.

Although the Nevada-Santa Clara game in 1948 was one of the major upsets of the season and a grudge game would have seemed inevitable, the Broncos would not put the Nevadans on their '49 schedule.

But with the signing of the playing agreement for next year, the big game should provide the Wolf Pack with the needed opportunity to avenge their only loss on the regular schedule.

The game will be held in Hughes Stadium on October 22, 1950, four weeks after the Texas A&M contest in the same stadium. These games are classified as home games and are played in Sacramento because of the small capacity of Mackay Stadium.

Games scheduled for 1950, other than the Aggie and Bronco contests, are with the College of Pacific and the University of Portland eleven, both of which are scheduled as home games. Saint Mary's and the University of San Francisco are certain to be scheduled, but the dates are not known.

Wives and husbands of students will be allowed to sit with their spouse in the regular student rooting section, according to the Board of Athletic Control. They must, however, sign up and purchase a ticket at the graduate manager's office before the deadline.

Students desiring seats in the reserved section for the USF game should acquire application forms at the graduate manager's office.

These forms must be filled in and turned in to the graduate manager before 5:00 pm Thursday, October 20. "Under no circumstances will any application be honored after this time," the graduate manager's office states.

All students going to the game must have their student body card for the fall semester 1949. Only the students whose names are on the list will enter in the reserved section prior to game time, it was announced. Students who do not apply for reserved seats can still gain free admittance to the stadium but will not be able to sit in the reserved section. Student cooperation is requested so that the graduate manager can reserve the proper amount of seats.

Over 400 Students Expect to Attend Nevada COP Game

Approximately 418 Nevada students are expected to attend the College of Pacific game Saturday night in Stockton. The Downtown Boosters Club is sponsoring buses to the game, but, according to Al Barsanti who is handling the charter of the buses for the club, few students have signed up for the bus as yet.

The bus will leave here Saturday at noon and return after the game. Cheerleaders, Jim Morrison, Johnny Gianotti, and Jerry Wyness, will make the trip to the game but the University band will not attend.

BUSES

Al Barsanti, the university's Greyhound bus representative, announced today that the chartered buses for the College of Pacific game at Stockton will load at Manzanita hall Saturday at noon. Tickets are still available at the campus rate, $5.30, tax included.

These buses are sponsored by the Downtown Boosters club in order to provide the students with cheap, convenient transportation, and boost attendance at out of town games.

Frosh Class Mgr. Candidates Listed; Solons Name Subs

Alternate senators from the various organizations on campus were duly sworn in Wednesday night at the regular meeting of the Student Senate in the ASUN building.

Other business matters taken up were reports on the textbook investigation, a report by Tom Ross from his men's upperclass committee regarding penalties to be imposed on wayward frosh, candidates for freshman class manager, Senate committees, and matters concerning Homecoming.

Concerning the textbook situation, Pat DeWalt, Gamma Phi junior, said that the concensus among the students was that the faculty ordered their class textbooks through the book store too late, making it impossible for all students to purchase their books before classes began.

A Cold Dip

The frosh penalties suggested by the men's upperclass committee were in the form of swats, whose number would be increased every time the student committed the same offense, and an occasional dipping into the lake for flagrant violators.

Discussion on the subject was limited to how and when these penalties would be inflicted. Ted Klemiszewski moved that a swat committee chairman be appointed if it was unanimously approved.

Candidates for freshman class manager were read. They are ATO,

Smart Leads Cast In Fall Production

The first Reno Little Theater play of the fall season, "The Women," will feature a university student, Andrea Smart, a junior. The play, scheduled for the week of October 17, will be the first time that Miss Smart has appeared with the Reno Little Theater.

Stage manager for the production will be George Bennett, Arts and Science senior, and the stage crew will be composed of members of an English dramatics class.

Although this is the first time that Miss Smith has appeared for the Reno Little Theater, she is well known on the campus for her performance in many plays, the most recent, "The Psychoscope."

Edwin Semenza, director of the Reno Little Theater and also instructor of English at the university, stated that after "The Women" the theater will present "Command Decision," with an all male cast.

Removal of Rent Controls Creates Additional Problems

Because of the number of students and university employees who must rent housing in Reno, forms were distributed Wednesday asking for certain housing information.

Dr. Ernest Inwood, professor of economics and chairman of the university rental committee, stated that the information obtained from these forms would be used in hearings on rent decontrol for the Reno area.

Realtor and other interests in and around Reno are advocating removal of all rent controls. As rent ceilings are now a local matter, a series of hearings will soon be held before the Reno City Council, at which time the information on the questionnaires will be discussed.

Tabulation of the forms should take several days, Dr. Inwood said, details will then be released to the public.

Aggie Club Makes Semester Plans

Plans for the rest of the semester were formulated by the Aggie Club at its initial fall meeting Wednesday evening. Committees were appointed for an aggie party, a float for Homecoming and a proposed banquet.

After the meeting refreshments were served and new members were welcomed. The new members are Bill Cockrell, Charles Clifford, Irving Hackett, Melvin Pursel, Joe Frade, Melvin Sharp, Walter MacKenzie, Ed Bush and Ron Pace.

WRA Plans Aired, Calendar of Events Buzzes in October

The Women's Recreational Association has scheduled a host of activities for the month of October, according to information released by that group this week.

Archery classes will commence on Tuesday and Thursdays. The class is open to any interested woman student, it was announced by Miss Ruth Russell, assistant professor of physical education for women.

An archery team will be selected from this group to represent Nevada in the Western Telegraphic Archery meet. Nevada has not entered this meet since 1943, at which time they placed in the top four.

Miss Marjorie Ann Price, instructor of physical education, announced that she will initiate the teaching of golf this year for the first time in the history of the university insofar as the women are concerned. She further explained, that it will depend upon the interest shown in golf to decide whether or not competition will be offered in this field.

The WRA also plans to sponsor an inter-collegiate playday on October 29. At that time competition will be offered in golf, archery, bowling, badminton and tennis.

Invitations for this event will be extended to all colleges and universities in central and northern California.

Two Instructors Hired by Military

Two new instructors were employed in the Military department for replacements during the summer.

Col. F. J. Pope and Sgt. C. Brunetti are the new additions to the department.

Pope is replacing Col. Bruce Cator, former head of the Air Force unit of the department. Brunetti is serving as instructor on the rifle range in place of Sgt. Garnett.

Pope is noted as one of the flyers who was part of the fighters that escorted ex-President Franklin Roosevelt to the Yalta conference.

Brunetti was in the Marine Corps during the war, and coached the U. S. Marine boxing team.

Spouses May Get Hospital Benefits Says New Doctor

Health benefits for faculty and students' wives may be inaugurated by the next fall semester. At present only students are treated at the university infirmary. Dr. Q. E. Fortier is the new health officer. He formerly practiced at Pioche, Nev. It is expected that the dispensary will also be available for summer school students.

Health on the campus generally is very good, according to Dr. Fortier. 283 students have been examined or treated since the beginning of the fall semester. The dispensary staff will work on increasing the scope of treatments. One case of appendicitis has been operated upon.

To keep up the general good health of the campus members, a program of inspections will be carried out. Lighting in class rooms will be checked and conditions of dorms will be watched.

If there is enough demand, Dr. Fortier said, a course in marital relations will be started the next semester. Present office hours at the dispensary are from 8-10 and 4-5.

Larson is Cited For ROTC Service

Roy Larson, engineering student at the University of Nevada, was the subject of a page one article in a national ROTC publication during the summer. The article cited Larson for his ROTC work at Fort Lewis this summer and his war record.

Larson was voted by other trainees at the summer camp as "the man with whom they would most like to go into combat."

A junior and member of Theta Chi, Larson won recognition during the war for his service on Iwo Jima. He was the only man in Company E of the Fifth Marines who survived the battle for Surabachi heights.

NEW WOLVES' FROLIC PLANNED WITH HOLLYWOOD DIRECTOR

Three Stages Offer Continual Shows; Scenery and Props Held to Minimum

By Mark Curtis
The biggest little extravaganza in the world will be staged in the city of the same dimensions, when the University of Nevada produces a new and completely different "Wolves Frolic" October 21. The annual homecoming show, with a Hollywood theatre director in charge, will play to its biggest audience, 3200, in the acoustically improved university gymnasium. The university's 75th anniversary will be the theme of the presentation.

Director Byron Griffith, in Nevada to establish a summer theatre at Lake Tahoe, will present the show Tahoe in the Hollywood theatre-restaurant tradition.

Employing three stages, one at each end of the "theatre-gym", and a master stage in the middle, the skits and production numbers will appear in immediate succession. Spotlights will switch from one stage to another, eliminating even the smallest intermission for scene changing. In this manner of "central staging", Mr. Griffith explained that scenery and props will be held to a minimum to afford full vision from all angles. Effort and budget will be turned into costuming. Background music for the entire show will be furnished by a professional orchestra.

The idea at first met with skepticism and disappointment when fraternities and sororities heard of central staging and the use of the gymnasium as the theatre.

Close Contact
The arena staging, Mr. Griffith said, put the audience in closer contact with the performers, and afforded more people "ring-side" or front row entertainment. He also explained about the continuous flow of acts which would be uninterrupted by scenery changes.

The gymnasium was chosen over the usual site, the state building in downtown Reno, because of its campus location, the almost doubled seating capacity, acoustics, and stage room. With a larger audience, the production will also be more worth the undertaking financially, it was pointed out.

Byron Griffith is a graduate of the University of Iowa where he majored in dramatics. He has staged shows in San Francisco, Chicago, New York and Hollywood. In New Jersey he had his own legitimate theatre. He served in the army in special services.

His plans for the summer theatre at Lake Tahoe, will bring one Hollywood actor or actress to star in each of the plays. A dramatic school there will also be under his direction.

Sigma Delta Chi Initiation Planned

Initiation of last spring's pledge class for membership in Sigma Delta Chi, a professional journalism fraternity, will take place on the afternoon of October 18, according to Jon Milburn, chapter president.

Carl Miller, former national president of Sigma Delta Chi, and at present publisher of the Pacific coast edition of the Wall Street Journal, will officiate at the initiation. Several professional newsmen from Nevada and other states are also expected to attend.

The initiation will be followed by a banquet at Lawton's Springs.

Board of Regents Announce Proposed West Europe Tour

A supervised trip to Europe for a group of University of Nevada students is being planned for next summer, it was announced by the Board of Regents recently. Dr. Paul H. Jensen, audio-visual instructor in the Education department, is making plans for the project.

A group of 35 selected students are expected to make the trip, which is to include visits to several European nations. The trip will take 10 weeks, and will cost approximately $900 per student, according to Dr. Jensen.

The group will study during the journey and will make frequent and extensive reports to the university and also to Nevada newspapers. Each student will be required to work on various educational committees.

The purpose of the trip, according to Dr. Jensen, is to study the customs and outlook of the people of western Europe. Lectures by eminent educators en route are being arranged.

Many eastern universities have sponsored such projects in recent years, Dr. Jensen said, and as the students pay their way, there will be no cost to the university under the present plans.

Dr. Jensen is furnishing literature about the proposed trip to all interested students.

The trip will include visits to Great Britain, France, Belgium, Netherlands, Germany, Denmark, Sweden, Luxemburg and Switzerland. Transportation on the continent will be by bus.

Moira Shearer, start of "The Red Shoes," J. Arthur Rank Technicolor three-way Academy Award winner. Students will be given special rates for the production.

Automobile Slated Homecoming Prize

A new car will be at the Homecoming football game this year as usual. However, a new rule assures that people who have won the prize before, won't be able to again. Floyd Gori announced that only the Blue Key and Alumni may sell tickets.

There will be three prizes this year; the car, a washing machine and a console radio. The Homecoming queen will select the winning tickets during the football game.

The car is expected to be on display downtown on October 10, and tickets will go on sale the same day at $1 each. Tickets will also be available at the Homecoming football game.

Fraternity Men Begin Softball, Horseshoe Tilts

Intramural sports opened Wednesday with softball and horseshoes singles. According to J. E. "Doc" Martie, professor of physical education for men, handball will be added to the intramural list this year. The handball court in the old gym will be available for the series.

Mr. Martie has issued the following rules for softball: "1. All games will start promptly. 2. Any team not ready to play at 10 minutes after the scheduled time will forfeit. 3. All organizations must furnish umpires. 4. Organizational athletic directors will select officials well before game time. 5. No game will be postponed without consent of both athletic directors and the intramural director."

The following rules relate to the horseshoe matches: "1. Players must begin games promptly. 2. Failure to report within 10 minutes after the scheduled time will result in a forfeit. 3. Two out of three games will constitute a match. 4. Report results to the intramural director each day."

Improper Transfers Cause Confusion In Deans Office

"Veterans transferring to the University of Nevada without proper veteran credentials have the university and the local Veterans Administration board a problem of prime importance." This was announced today by Dr. Robert S. Griffin, Dean of Men and Administrator for the Veterans Administration at the University of Nevada.

Veterans transferring from one college to another are required by the VA to secure a supplemental certificate of eligibility before transferring, Dr. Griffin said. The VA reserves the right to withhold that certificate unless it can be proved that the change of institutions is warranted.

"Too many students transfer to this university without this certificate of eligibility and invariably ask the university to pay their fees and other incidentals until the certificate arrives or has been cleared. We are unable to do this because we are uncertain whether or not the student will receive the required certificate. Any veterans who expect to transfer would do well to apply to their Veterans Administration and secure their approval first before losing all educational benefits provided by the GI bill."

WRA Handbooks Issued by Prexy

Jackie Wilson, president of the Women's Recreation Association, officially issued the WRA handbooks last week. The handbook contains a list of the organization's officers, board members, and scheduled activities.

Other officers of the group are: vice-president, Shirley Hornbeck; secretary, Virginia Shaw; treasurer, Beverley Simon.

While classes in riding, golf and archery began Tuesday, dates and hours remain to be scheduled for bowling, badminton, rifle, softball, tennis, volleyball, and swimming, and will be announced later.

Managers of these activities also serve as board members to WRA, and are as follows: volleyball, Rose Orybide; basketball, Nat Curtis; softball, Beth Miller; tennis, Laurel Parker and Marnie Miller; archery, Mary Micheo; badminton, Margie McKnight; golf, Terry Alauzet; bowling, Dorris Linsea; social dance, Virginia Shaw.

Participation in WRA offers women a chance to join such campus organizations as Saddle and Spurs, Paniwallis, Orchesis and Gothic N.

College of Pacific Ready For Wolf Pack

Bengals Have Won All Three Games; LeBaron and Company In Top Shape

By ED POWELL
Sports Editor, Pacific Weekly,
College of Pacific

Riding a win streak of three straight, the College of Pacific Tigers play host to the University of Nevada Wolf Pack at Baxter Stadium Saturday night. Victims of the Bengals include USF (7-6), Loyola (52-0), and Cincinnati (34-7).

In each instance, including the USF game, Pacific far outgained its opponent. Pacific doubled the Dons' total from rushing, despite 124 yards lost by penalties. The Tigers gained 518 yards through the air, and none on the ground.

From the statistics it could be said that Pacific has a weak pass defense. Although the Tigers are admittedly no great shakes at breaking up an aerial threat, who can stop such passers as Jim Ryan (USF), Don Klosterman (Loyola), and Tom O'Malley (Cincinnati)?

LeBaron Sure Starter

Getting down to what the Tigers have in the way of offense, let's take a look at some of the backfield men. It is difficult to say for sure just who Coach Larry Siemerling will start besides quarterback Eddie LeBaron. He has some 15 backs that have seen action so far, and all of them have looked good carrying the ball.

His present favorites include Don "Scooter" Brown, a pint-sized left half who is particularly adept at broken field running; Bruce Orvis, 175 pound right half with the drive of a fullback; and Walt Polenske, a 185 pound package of dynamite, who tackles as hard as he runs.

There are no bone-crushing fullbacks in Coach Siemerling's type of offense. This position calls for speed because of Eddie LeBaron's double-spinning pitchouts. Don Hardy, a Tiger track man, gets the call here. Hardy has been clocked in the century at 9.6.

Behind Hardy are three of the toughest men on the club to bring down: Wilbur Sites, an all-CCAA choice last year; Ernie Bobson, a three year letterman; and Don Lipelt, a transfer from Stanford. Bobson is one of the reasons the score against Loyola went so high. Ernie was tired of riding the bench, and picked that time to show his ability. As the score shows, he tore the Loyola line to shreds.

Lipelt is the same type runner, but has been used sparingly because of an injury he received in practice. Last year's number one fullback for the Bengals has been shifted to defense work, and now specializes in line-backing.

More Good Backs

Four other backs who will bear watching are Ed Macon, Don McCormick, Jim Price, and Al Smith. Macon is only a sophomore, but has already captured the hearts of Bengal fans. The tall, lanky colored lad is Pacific's answer to Ollie Matson. He has been clocked in the quarter mile at 48.1, and is hard to stop, despite his lack of weight. Macon tips in at 165 pounds.

Don McCormick is used primarily as a pass receiver, but can run with the ball if necessary. Jim Price, though not the runner that Bruce Orvis is, nevertheless will see plenty of action. Al Smith is a bright new spot in the Tiger attack, having scored three TD's against Loyola. A fast, break-away runner, his tactics are to merely outrun the defensive players and haul in long passes.

One of Coach Siemerling's chief worries at the beginning of the season was a replacement for Eddie LeBaron. Surprisingly enough his answer came from the line, in the person of Doug Scovil, a fine pass-receiving end. Rather than ride the bench behind such ends as John Rhode and Phil Ortez, Scovil became understudy to LeBaron. With two games behind him in the quarterback spot, there are many who regard Scovil as a better passer than LeBaron. Take a good look at this back.

Sports Editor's note: Thanks are extended for this story to the Pacific Weekly, newspaper at the College of Pacific, and to Sports Editor Ed Powell, whose cooperation has made possible this closeup look at the COP Tigers.

Up front, the Tigers are stronger than ever before. Pacific averages 214 pounds from end to end. Don Campora, 244 pound vet handles one tackle spot, with Bob Klein, another veteran, at the other.

Guards, although they are small, spark the Bengal offense. Downfield blocking by Bob Franceschini and Joe Rhin is what shakes loose the Tiger speed burners. Doug Brien and Ken Johnson are able replacements in the spot.

Big Bob Moser does most of the offensive work at center, with Sid Hall and Harry Kane serving as defensive line backers. Kane, a little All-Coast choice in 1948, is regarded as one of the finest linemen in Pacific history, and it would be foolish not to admit that pro football scouts attend COP games to watch Kane, as well as LeBaron. When a Wolf Pack ball carrier goes down, look for number 77 to be on the bottom of the pile.

End spots are filled by big John Rohde, All-CCAA in 1948, and Phil Ortez, a three year veteran. Both are tall and fast, and are glue-fingered pass receivers. Top replacement for the end spot is John Poulos, a 230 pounder converted from fullback. As a defensive end, Big John is a tough man to turn in.

20 Wins in 24 Games

There isn't enough that can be said for the talents of Eddie Le-

Jim Wilson, veteran Wolf Pack end, hauls down a pass from Ed Jesse, on a play good for a six yard gain. On the next play Wilson took another pass for the touchdown that put Nevada ahead of St. Mary's, 14-7. Making the tackle on Wilson is St. Mary's defensive quarterback Tom Dugger. St. Mary's won the game, 20-14, handing the Wolf Pack its first loss of the season. (Photo courtesy of Reno Evening Gazette).

Baron. He has to be seen in action to be appreciated. On his shoulders have ridden the destinies of the Orange and Black, since he began at Pacific. During this time the Tigers have won 20 games, losing but two and tying two. Apparently the weight rested easily on the shoulders of the "Sorcerer's Apprentice."

Nevada Freshmen Begin Home Stand Sunday With USF

The University of Nevada freshmen open their season Sunday, when they take on the University of San Francisco yearlings in what should prove to be a hard fought battle. The Dons, who are to revenge the 33-6 setback handed them by last year's frosh, are led by Coach Brad Lynn. According to reports received from the bay area city the Dons are "loaded" with football talent.

Coach Hugh Smithwick has had his charges out but two weeks, but from the showing they made against the varsity in a scrimmage Wednesday, the Cubs look tough to beat.

Nevada will use the modified T with a flanker. Fans will want to keep their eye on number 16, Andy Kalmanir, brother of Tommy Kal-manir, former Nevada star now with the Los Angeles Rams.

The probable starting line-ups:

GEORGE IS DEAD!

George is dead. Yes, the little black Dachshund with character who found his way into all the hearts of the Highlanders came to a sad and sudden end when he was hit by a train near Ninth and Evans recently.

George Schlitz, as he was known to all, was befriended by Jack Berry who found him on the Mt. Rose road, hungry and bleeding. When George recovered he knew he had friends in Jack Berry and the Highlanders.

George's first appearance into the public's eye was during P. O. Reimer's campaign. He was almost a constant auditor in his master's classes. Jack claims that George was a very intelligent dog. One of his greatest accomplishments was picking coins up off floors.

With the rest of his buddies, George spent many happy hours in his favorite "hang out," the Little Waldorf. He became a connoisseur of beer but Acme draft was his favorite.

FOUNDERS

was less than 50,000 people. The big neighbor, California, had 30 times as many people, and was taking steps in the educational field which threatened to make the University of Nevada insignificant. The men and students at the little University were ambitious and progressive, but the school was threatened with obscurity, if not extinction. The University struggled with these conditions until after the turn of the century.

Mackay Shows Interest

It was then that the most significant step in the development of the University occurred. Clarence Mackay, son of one of the distinguished mining men of Virginia City, took an interest in the little school. The results of his generosity gave it the means and inspiration to stand among the famous universities of the United States.

Through his contributions, the Mackay school of Mines was founded and became one of the most famous mining schools in the nation. Evan's Hollow, a remote depression in the ground north of the campus, became Mackay stadium. Many years later he reassessed his interest and faith in the state and the school by furnishing endowments and providing for the building of Mackay Science hall.

The first commencement was held at McKissick's opera house in Reno in 1891. Three men received degrees.

Since that time, nearly five thousand degrees have been granted by
