SANTA'S PANTS

as told to Harry Spencer

(Ed. note: Just before we went to press, we received this on-the-spot interview from our Ice Cap columnist, who was borne to the North Pole on last week's Glacier Flow from Reno. This interview is brought to you by express Yule Train.)

Spencer: (with teeth that chatter): "S-s-s-anta! I'm h-h-h-here to s-s-s-ee what y-yuh-yuh-your most int-int-er-er-esting x-x-x-mas experience w-w-wuh-was!"

Santa Claus: "Well! Well! How Jolly! By Golly. (Excuse this verse; It's an old Christmas Card curse.)

My most interesting time?
Why sure, I'll tell you in rhyme!

'Twas a Christmas eve,
Back in nineteen o' three.
I was ready to leave,
All loaded with gifts for the tree!

My sled was greased,
My igloo leased.
My whip had a snap,
And there was a tuit to my cap!

All was ready—
The hour was near—
My hand was steady,
And my hear was clear!

Dasher champed,
And Blitzen shivered,
Rudolph stamped,
And the whole sled quivered!

Picture it—Boy!
Christmas Joy!
The perfect scene—
In four-color red and green!

Nothing forgotten, except—
Ah, and here's the tub!
You know I'm adept—
But around my waist—I was wearing a tub!

There I stood,
Cold? But good!
Like a mouse in deep freeze,
With the snow up to my knees.

What?
Needs some explaining!
"Cut!"
Oh, no profaning?

Well, it may sound funny—
But I lent my pants to a bunny!
Now, I'm not in the habit
Of cavorting with rabbit.

But this case was different—
It was all for Easter.
So my pants were lent,
And I had a cold—

Now, this is really a honey—
You see, the Easter Rabbit, is only a big snow bunny!
And though it's not known—
We both share the same home!

Now, it was a cold spring . . . back in o' three,
And Easter came late for my bare friend.

To wear my warm trousers . . . he made such a plea,
That I gave him permission . . . to put them to end.

He promised me faithfully that he'd return.
Long before the Northern Lights would burn.

I smiled in contemplation,
And went back to my hibernation.
I slept pretty long that year,
Didn't get up 'til late in October.

Slipped on my working gear,
And plunged into my work—cold sober!

I labored right up to Christmas
Eve
Then wiped my brow, with a greasy sleeve.
Finished at last—
But, Ding Blast !!!!!

That doggone rabbit—
Hadn't come back!
It was too late . . . dagnab it!
To get other trousers out of my sack.

I waited as long as I could—Cursing that bunny . . . long and good!
Finally, I jumped into my sleigh,
And with a whoop . . . was up and away!

I delivered, each doll and fiddle—
With that blasted tub around my middle!

Yes, that was a year!
My trousers were queer,
And my cheeks were red!

Yes, that was a year!
I shoulda stood in bed!

'The Best in Years' Is Comment For 1949 'Messiah'

More than 3000 people assembled at the new gymnasium last Monday evening to hear the 16th annual presentation of The Messiah, Handel's great English oratorio.

Col. Gilbert Parker, acting president of the university, said that this performance was the best I have heard in my years here" and that much credit is due to the improved acoustics in the gym. Everyone thought the voices were fine, according to th many comments received by Colonel Parker.

A mixed chorus of 140 voices presented the choral numbers.
The combined talents of the Reno Civic Chorus and the University Singers were assembled under the direction of Theodore H. Post, who also conducted the orchestra.

Soloists were Marjorie Dickinson, soprano; Dorothy McLeod and Nona Lee Tuttle, contraltos; Joseph Battaglia, tenor; and Manford Hardesty and Loring Williams, baritones.

Mrs. Dickinson is YWCA director for the university and Dr. Williams is an assistant professor of chemistry.

The combined choral groups spent more than two months in rehearsal for Monday's presentation.

Most Dormitories Close for Holidays

All dormitory houses on campus with the exception of Lincoln Hall will be closed for the holiday vacation beginning December 21. Sorority and fraternity houses will close on that date, also.

Lincoln Hall will remain open for all male students who are going to spend the vacation on campus. These students will not have campus cafeteria service during

Initiation Tonight For Blue Key Men

The Blue Key, national honorary service society, will hold its banquet and formal initiation tonight in the Trocadero room of the El Cortez Hotel for 18 new initiates.
Dr. R. S. Griffin, Blue Key faculty advisor and dean of men, will be the principal speaker of the evening, while Bob Vaughn, western region president and head of the local chapter, will act as master of ceremonies.

In order to become a Blue Key member, a person must be above the all men's average in grades, possess the qualities of leadership, and give 25 hours of service to the university, ten of which may be in the form of a campus position.

Two honorary members will be initiated to the society tonight, Col.
Smer of the military department and Dr. Inwood of the economics department.

The following men will go through the formal rites tonight:
Ray Alzola, Wayne Ashley, Jack
Barry, Eyer Böles, Al Dicharia,
Tom Gaffey, Jim Godbey, Bill Horton, Gary Hyde, Reilly Jensen, John Marvel, Clarence Lund, Gene Mc-Kenna, Charles Pulfipher, Han
Prugh, Paul Reimer, Tom Ross, and Bulkeley Wells.

'Family Portrait,' Christmas Drama, Ends Performance

"Family Portrait," a three act play presented by the University of Nevada students, closed last night after a three night stand.

Jane Baty Tieslau as Mary, as the mother of Christ, and George Bennett, in the dual roles of a disciple and Appius Hadrian, had the leading parts in the play that dealt with the family of Christ.

Other members of the cast were Clarence Brown, Joseph; Blanche
McChure as Mary Cleophas; Andrea Smart as Reba; Odile Frost as Naoma; Wallace Kurtz as Juda; Guy Cardinalli in the parts of Mendel and Mathias; Robert Deady as Daniel at the age of 16; Russell
Mills as Amos and also in the role of Joshua; Norma Carnal as Hep-zibah; Suzanne Winer as Anna;
Donald Smart as Rabbi Samuel and Nathan; Portia Hawley as Mary, of Magdala; Beverly Jones as Esther; Keith Kerr as Simon; Lör-ing Charman as James and also in the characterization of Lebau; William Jager as Mordecai and also as Eben; Katherine Cladianos as Beulah; and Donna Speer as Se-lima and the woman of Jerusalem.

The play was directed by Dr.
William C. Miller.

that period, as the dining hall will be closed, too.

All campus living quarters and Greek letter houses will re-open on January 3. Regular classes will begin on January 4.

"YES, VIRGINIA, THERE IS A SANTA CLAUS"

Fifty-two years ago little eight-year-old Virginia O'Hanlon had some doubts about there being a Santa Claus. In her letter to Francis P. Church, editor of the New York Sun, she stated her BIG question, Virginia wrote:

"Dear Editor—I am eight years old. Some of my friends say there is no SANTA CLAUS. Papa says, 'If you see it in the Sun it's so.' Please tell me the truth, is there a SANTA CLAUS?—Virginia O'Hanlon, 115 West Ninety-fifth street."

And Mr. Church, acknowledging that little letter of a perplexed child, back in 1897, wrote something which has gone throughout the nation every year at Christmas time where it is re-read in thousands of homes to thousands of children just as puzzled as Virginia was. Here it is:

"Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except what they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours, man is a mere insect, or ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole truth and knowledge.

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas!! How dreary would be the world if there were no SANTA CLAUS! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no child-like faith, then no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We would have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

"Not believe in SANTA CLAUS! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas eve to catch SANTA CLAUS, but even if they did not see SANTA CLAUS coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees SANTA CLAUS, but that is no sign that there is no SANTA CLAUS. The most real things in the world are those that neither man or children can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that is no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders that are unseen and unseeable in the world.

"You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which is not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

"No SANTA CLAUS! Thank God. He lives and he lives forever! A thousand years from now he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood!"

Comic Skit Set For Assembly

An assembly program for Monday was announced today by Pat O'Brien, assembly chairman.

The entertainment will consist of a skit by several Gamma Phi Beta members, songs by Odile Frost, and several selections by the band.

"Because last year's Sam
Schmoe script was so well received by the students, we are presenting another, called the St. Nick Caper," said O'Brien.
The cast will include Jane Beatty Tieslau, Jerry Wyness, Pat
O'Brien, and Bill Jager.

ENGAGED

The 1949 Homecoming queen, Lynne Horner, freshman student from Las Vegas, announced her engagement to Ronald Pace, also of Las Vegas, who is a transfer student in the college of agriculture. Miss Horner, who is affiliated with Delta Delta Delta, is in the college of arts and science.

Regents Name Byrd Admissions Director

Clarence Byrd, assistant director of the University of Nevada extension service, has been named to replace Dr. Meryl Deming as director of admissions at the university, it was announced this week by the board of regents.

Mr. Byrd will take over his new duties on January 1, 1950, the report said. In addition to his admissions post, Mr. Byrd will also hold the title of assistant registrar.

Dr. Deming will return to his duties as professor of chemistry. No one was named to take Mr. Byrd's place in the extension service, and this position will probably not be filled until after the first of the year.

Reason for the change was to allow Dr. Deming more time for his work in the chemistry department.
Since his appointment to the admissions job, Dr. Deming has been able to devote only about one-half of his time to his chemistry work.

Mr. Byrd has had 25 years experience in administration affairs in various parts of the country. He has held high positions in school systems in Nevada, Colorado and Indiana.

UNIVERSITY PUBLICITY DIRECTOR

At the recent Board of Regents meeting two major developments came up for discussion—and we are glad to report—also for approval.

The first was the regents endorsement of a sound Public Relations Program for the University of Nevada.

Second was the regents instruction to Acting President Gilbert E. Parker to investigate and nominate a person for the job as director of the program on a full time or part time basis.

The University of Nevada has long needed such a program. It felt the need just last September, when for every ONE student who graduated from White Pine High School and who registered at Nevada—TWO went to other universities. This was the case, not only in eastern Nevada, but in other sections too.

If the University of Nevada wants to remain a "live" institution, it must have students. The trend has been AWAY for many years, not in huge numbers, but enough to hurt the state's only school of higher learning. A good public relations program will do much to counteract this "school away from home" idea.

The university's future is of prime importance to all of us. If we want to be proud that our diploma says "Nevada" on it, and if, in the future, we also want our children to attend our Alma Mater, then we must see to it that the university remains "active" in every sense of the word.

Thanks regents!

SLIPPERY BUSINESS

The recent snow which blanketed the University of Nevada campus and which turned the area into a picturesque winterland is not all that it's cracked up to be. At least, not now, after most of that snow has turned into slick and slippery ICE.

Cries of anger and disgust have been thrown around—and from all ages and sexes too—because the newly arrived visitor has proven to be the greatest "DOWNFALL" of campuses since the inauguration of the grading system.

Attempts have been made to eliminate the danger of falls around the campus, or so we understand. Many walks have been chipped clear, most entrances have been swept clean, and a few sidewalks made passable.

BUT THE REAL DANGER LIES ON THE STEPS OF THE UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS.

Ice built up and hardened has been made much slicker by constant student and faculty climbing up and down.

So far, Reno hospitals report only one injured person. BUT HOW LONG WILL THIS GOOD LUCK LAST? If the ice is not removed from steep entrances at once, then we might as well prepare ourselves for sad news.

And another thing, ICE doesn't recognize individuals—that hospitalized person might be YOU!

Choraliers Set Tuesday As Date For Xmas Program

The Reno-Sparks Choraliers, a local music organization, will present a free program of Christmas music in the Education auditorium next Tuesday at 8 pm.

The first part of the program will consist of a cantata, "There Were Three Shepherds," sung by the entire chorus. The second part will be popular Christmas songs sung by the sextet which includes Arland Hand, Dan Olguin, Maurice Petre, Fred Howell, Earl Freemont, and Mike Schon.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Congrats on this last week's Brush, especially your editorial on the bean feed. We who have daily munched such voluptuous fare for what seems nigh on to a thousand years, salute you as brothers in the flesh. Our fulminations and pleading have been all but unheard; here's hoping that the fraternities can raise a cry more effective than ours; we'll keep our fingers crossed.

Also a tip of the hat and a loud "huzzah" to Mr. Curtis, whose well considered (if often inconsiderate) brush gave the scene a very effective onceover, and certainly "hit the spots"!

PHILIP F. WHITMER.

Brush Strokes

By MARK CURTIS

The Brush may have a new look this week but it's still coming off the same old press, now in its 25th year of operation for this paper. The press is 50 years old, had its feed board burned off in the San Francisco fire of 1906. Still one of the best of its kind in this western area . . . the principle is practically the same on the newest version. It's good for 50 more years . . . providing atomic radiation won't hinder its operation.

The president's office really had a face lifting. It looks like the dash board of a new Cadillac stuck in some old Stanley Steamer. Walking through the decaying outer office and then into this modern, rich-paneled room, it's hard to believe they are in the same building. The colonel says the remodeling came from his discretionary fund, and that local architect Ed Parsons and assistant art Prof. Craig Sheppard donated advice and ideas. Sheppard is going to do some of his linoleum block murals which have caused much comment. . . . Incidentally, the dapper art prof is said to have picked a bucket full of rubles for his advisory capacity on the Harolds Club big new front. Can't say how much . . . but he'd have to work here a long time to top it. . . . History Professor Owen Ulph makes history by being the first well dressed history professor outside the movies.

Gerald McBride, business administration senior, means business. He's gotten student senate approval to start a student publicity department for the university. Certain facts and figures (in enrollment) shocked this guy into action. As publicity director for the students, he's going to work with a staff of people who are INTERESTED and CONCERNED in university public relations. . . . Here's an example of the power of the editorial. . . . When Brush Editor Gene McKenna in an editorial asked for action on the terrific traffic problem on the campus a month ago, he went home to find an official letter from the administration telling him to 'pay his campus traffic fine or face suspension.'

Things that are inevitable: at a game in this vicinity recently, the public address system didn't say "Testing, one, two, three, etc." but "Testing, Ace, King, Queen, Jack." . . . When former coach Jim Aiken's car was stolen in Eugene, Oregon, a few weeks ago, and brought down here, he didn't miss it for two days. . . . The seniors last year decided to leave $150 as a gift for the purchase of a movable steel pole and underground electrical conduits for the annual Nativity scene. They meant well, but you can't do much with $14.34. If at first you don't succeed . . . Eva Adams, Senator Pat McCarran's administrative assistant for a number of years, a graduate up here years ago, just made Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. She will graduate with an LLB from Washington College of law in June.

Buster McClure, when there was still a serious man shortage on this campus, used to accept a pretty regular invitation to dine in one of the rooms in Artemisia Hall. If this busts up any such rare deal now in progress, our heartfelt apologies. McClure is now a line coach at the University of Oregon.

THINGS THEY'RE TRYING TO FORGET: Buck Shaw, coach of the '49ers was line coach up here a long time ago and not considered too good at that. . . . Bob Finnemore was turned down by Jim Aiken because he was "slew-footed and couldn't run. He went to Oklahoma A&M and made All-American for three years. . . . Aiken also considered Al Solari too small. Al went to UCLA and was on the all-coast team and some All-Americans . . . in fact, Ernie Case was his understudy. . . . There's a story that Ollie Matson, great fullback with USF, tried to get in here last year. He's considered a really hot potential. . . . Ed Brown, another USF star, turned the tables. Joe Sheeketski got his brother Clarence recruited in hopes it would entice Ed. When Ed changed his mind, Joe asked Clarence why . . . and the show stopper reply . . . if true . . . was, "Why Joe! I thought you wanted me." . . . Marion Motley was traded to the Cleveland

Browns for Horace Gillom . . . after Motley made his mark in one year . . . then Gillom went to the Browns also and made a similar mark . . . and Nevada read about it in the papers.

GERALD McBRIDE NAMED HEAD OF ASUN PUBLICITY COMMITTEE

Gerald McBride was elected chairman of the publicity committee at the senate meeting last week.

The purpose of the newly formed committee is to show high school graduates and the taxpayers of the state that the University of Nevada has something to offer in the way of a fine education.

Student speakers and student entertainment groups will work throughout the state. They will work through the boards of education, the teachers, the principals, newspapers, and Alumni Association.

The committee hopes to publish a newsletter which will be circulated throughout the state. This newsletter will tend to show the progress that the university has made and the progress it will make.

McBride, senior student in business administration, has been active in many college activities. He is a member of Coffin and Keys, Blue Key, the Rovers, Block N, and is affiliated with Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. During the war, he served in the armed forces.

Faculty Politics Restricted By "Little Hatch Act" Passage

Regents Pass 'Little Hatch Act'; Faculty Express Varied Opinions

By JAMES HULSE

The announcement that future undesirable political activities of faculty members will be officially restricted caused various reactions among campus personnel this week. The issue arose from the passage of a "Little Hatch act" by the board of regents in its regular meeting Saturday.

Faculty members were generally cautious in their observations of the "act," since its provisions are not widely known. It was said to deal generally with restrictions on the activities of faculty members in political campaigns, rallies, and fund drives.

The regents approved the measure three to one in the meeting Saturday. It was first presented to the board in August.

Acting President Gilbert E. Parker, one of the advocates of the measure, expressed the opinion that the act was in the best interest of the university.

Some faculty members were critical of the provisions of the act, and others merely expressed "surprise" and declined comment.

"Political activity of the faculty will rarely help the university, and it will very likely do harm to it," Parker said.

"There is actually nothing new about the act," he continued. "It is merely a case of changing common law into written law here. The idea has been observed by many universities throughout the country."

A faculty member cannot represent his own personal opinion and official capacity separately, he said. "We cannot afford to have political factions at the University of Nevada."

A contrary opinion was expressed by a member of the department of economics, business and sociology, Dr. Richard C. Bernhard. "A faculty member should be as free in his political activity as a member of the legal or ministerial profession," he said.

"This measure appears to have been designed on two mistaken premises; first, that a professor's opinion carries considerable weight in the community; and second, that academic people must never enter their opinions in the free, competitive market of ideas. I believe that even a professor should have the right to make a fool of himself, if he hasn't any better judgement," Dr. Bernhard said.

Dr. Claude Smith, professor of history and political science, called the provisions of the act "very reasonable." "I have no criticisms of the measure," he said.

Parker stressed that the act was not aimed specifically at any action or condition on the campus. "It is merely one step in building a complete code of policy and procedure of the university," he said.

The measure has been referred to as the "Little Hatch act" on the campus because of its similarity to the federal Hatch act which restricts the political activities of civic service workers. Parker stated that the little Hatch act was much less complete and restrictive than the federal measure.

The plan does not affect student political activity.

New Printing Press For University

The University of Nevada is going to get a new printing press, according to reports received here this morning.

Jack McCarthy, superintendent of state printing, reported yesterday in Carson City that he hopes shortly to have a multilith printing press in operation at the university.

Storm Surprises Maintenance Crew; Ice Is Threat

The maintenance of the university was caught in the middle of a busy week by last Friday's snow storm. Carl Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds, said his men were too busy with other projects to start cleaning the steps and walks until Wednesday. The steps were salted on Tuesday, and the men began to clear them on Wednesday.

Acting president of the university, Colonel Gilbert Parker, said a maintenance routine will take care of all the ordinary snow conditions, but no guarantee can be made for abnormal conditions.

Mrs. Mary Rotter, head nurse of the infirmary, said that several students were treated last year for injuries received from falls on icy walks and steps, and one student had been treated this year for a similar accident.

Jennilee Gibson was treated Tuesday for injuries she received from a fall.

MERT BAXTER LEADS SCORING FOR WOLF PACK

Mert Baxter, sophomore forward with the Wolf Pack cage crew, continues to lead the scoring after six games. Baxter has amassed 72 points for an average of an even 12 per game.

In second place is Joe Libke with 59 points. Ted Johnson trails by nine points for third place with 50. Here is the way they stand:

ACTING PRESIDENT PARKER EXPLAINS 'LITTLE HATCH ACT'

The following statement was issued at 9:30 am today by Colonel Gilbert Parker, acting president of the university, in an exclusive release to the U. of N. Sagebrush.

Regents' action in adopting provisions for control of political activities of the university faculty and staff has aroused some criticism. It is appropriate to discuss the reasons for its adoption.

The new code preserves the right of every man to vote, to express his opinions privately, and to enter into activities which insure good government and promote civic welfare, but it outlaws participation in partisan politics. There is no thought of "muzzling" and no mention of lobbying. It is not a disciplinary measure and there is no reflection on the current activities of any member of our faculty or staff. It does not apply to students unless employed permanently by the university. It is no novelty in educational administration.

The provision which prohibits the collection of funds for political purposes is a safeguard for our employees against the type of autocratic chief who uses the weight of his influence and authority to force contributions of money and, perhaps, of service to further his own or his faction's ends.

The pronouncements of a faculty member must be accepted because of his scholarly insight, free of the taint of party politics. Any active partisanship lowers his standing as an unbiased commentator and with it the standing of the university of which he is an inseparable part. The faculty is the university. Each member is identified as one whose every speech and act represent not merely his own opinion, but inevitably that of his sponsor, the university. A faculty member cannot devote himself to party politics and retain his integrity as an educator. Our campus must never be made the battle ground for warring political factions within the faculty.

Junior football activities, under the direction of Buddy Garfinkle, U. of N. student, had a turnout of at least a thousand, according to the Reno Recreation Commission records.

In a report to the city council, W. C. Higgins, superintendent of parks and recreation, said that large numbers of Reno's youth participated in the various activities prepared by the commission.

Other activities include Huskies Haven, folk dancing, social evenings, Campfire Girls and Girl Scouts.

The Charleston dance was much in vogue in the United States during the middle of the decade 1920-30.

It was not until 1802 that a method for extracting sugar from beets was perfected.

ASUN INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE WANTS QUESTIONNAIRES BACK

By PATTI ZAHM

Endeavoring to find out which organizations are active on this campus, the investigating committee of the senate sent out questionnaires to all known campus organizations before Thanksgiving.

There were 70 questionnaires sent out by the committee. The committee hoped to determine from the questionnaires which organizations are functioning and have a place on this campus. The original deadline for having the questionnaires returned to the ASUN president's office was before Thanksgiving. When they had not all been returned by that time, a second deadline date was set for December 12. There are still many more questionnaires to be returned.

The organizations who have not turned in their questionnaires are requested to do so immediately. If they are not turned in, it will be assumed that they are no longer functioning and will not be included in the list of recognized campus organizations to be announced by the investigating and executive committees, it was announced.

Col. Gilbert E. Parker, acting president of the university, has expressed an interest in the investigation because in his opinion the university has become "over organized."

The organizations that have failed to return the questionnaires are Chi Delta Phi, University band, Manzanita Hall, Corps of Sponsors, Campus Choral Club, Campus Players, Canterbury Club, Crucible Club, Fine Arts, Electrical Engineers, Interfraternity Council, Math Club, Newman Club, Nu Eta Epsilon, Phi Kappa Phi, Sagers, Scabbard and Blade, Chess Club, The Circle, Masque and Dagger, Delta Delta Epsilon, Forensic Key, Campus Club, DeMolay, and Wesley Foundation.

Xmas Club Plan Open to Students

The First National Bank of Nevada has started a "Christmas Club" savings program with the purpose of enabling persons to acquire funds for special purposes, such as Christmas expenses.

There is a supply of applications for memberships in the comptroller's office for anyone who is interested.

Accounts may be opened at any time up to January 1, 1950, it was announced by the bank authorities.

All manufactured articles used in Guam are imported from the United States.

5 Aggie Students To Represent Nevada at Contest

Five agriculture students have been chosen to represent the University of Nevada at a livestock judging contest to be held at the Western Livestock Show in Denver, January 13 to 21.

Members of the judging team are Betty Bassett, Laura May Sauer, Ray Alzola, Eyer Boies, and Gary Hyde. The team was selected and coached by Charles C. Adams, assistant professor of animal husbandry.

This is the first time in the history of the university that women have been included on a livestock judging team, according to Dr. Eldon Wittwer of the college of agriculture.

Two alternates will be chosen for the team from among the following students: Corky Lingenfelter, Ernest Hackett, Richard Reid and John Pursel.

Expenses for the trip will be paid by the Associated Students, the Nevada State Cattle Association, and the Nevada Hereford Association.

Plans call for the team to leave January 11 and return January 18. The two women will travel by train while the Aggie boys and their coach travel by private auto.

The trip will allow the students to see much of the best livestock in the nation. Those traveling by auto plan to visit the campuses of nearby agricultural schools.

Nancy Hecker Flies to Phoenix As "Miss Reno"

Nancy Hecker, a senior student at the University of Nevada flew yesterday to Phoenix, Arizona, on the inaugural flight of the Bonanza Airlines over the new direct route between Reno and Phoenix. Miss Hecker made the trip as "Miss Reno" and took part in the ceremonies held at Phoenix to commemorate the occasion. Miss Hecker appeared in the ceremonies with Jacqueline Mercer, who was chosen as Miss America last August.

The celebration in Reno was held yesterday to herald the long awaited direct line between Phoenix, the Valley of the Sun, and Reno, the western mecca for skiers. The initial flight left right after the ceremony and took state dignitaries, city officials, Chamber of Commerce delegates, and press representatives over the route to Phoenix.

Governor Vail Pittman, Mayor Francis Smith and George Wingfield, Jr., took part in the program.

Artemisia Editor Says Contracts Must Be Signed

All organizations planning on pictures in the yearbook are requested to submit a complete list of names and also to come to the Artemisia office to sign a contract.

Artemisia editor Barbara Carter announced this week that it is the policy of the 1950 Artemisia that every group or panel organization pay one-half of its bill before December 16 and the remaining half by March 1, 1950.

Organizations not complying will forfeit their right to be in the annual as well as any previous payment it may have made to the annual.

In the first U. S. census in 1790, Massachusetts had a population of 378,787.

Sheppard, Joslin Display Paintings At Art Department

Water colors and oil paintings by Mrs. Helen Joslin and Professor J. Craig Sheppard of the art department are now being exhibited in the university art gallery.

The exhibit opened Sunday, December 4, and the paintings will remain on display until Friday, December 16. Gallery hours are from 1 to 4 pm every day except Saturday.

The paintings displayed by Professor Sheppard are done in water colors and feature his popular western landscapes, pictures of horses, and portraits.

Mrs. Joslin has on display several portraits and landscapes done in oils and numerous landscapes in water colors.

Francis Headley, Nevada Grad, Issued Patent

Distinction came to another University of Nevada graduate recently when Francis B. Headley, of the class of 1931, was issued a patent. Headley's latest invention — he has several — is a means of controlling the 10,000,000 volt electric surge generator. This apparatus is expected to become a vital part of the new high voltage General Electric plant at Pittsfield, Mass. Previous to his work on the control device, the Nevada graduate conducted lightning research. He was the young man chosen to be stationed on top of the Empire State building to measure lightning as it struck the building. After his lightning research was completed, Headley worked with a group of General Electric engineers developing special types of power transformers. Headley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Headley of Reno. The father is superintendent of the Fallon Branch of the agricultural experiment station of the University of Nevada. Francis Headley was graduated from the state university with a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering. Later he received his master's degree from the University of Michigan. While at the University of Nevada, Headley served as president of the campus chapter of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. He was also a member of Phi Kappa Phi, national scholar-

Expert Talks On Guided Missiles

Little known information on rockets and guided missiles was presented to advanced military students at the university Monday. Col. Benjamin Mesick, army authority on rockets and missiles, who was invited to Nevada by the military department, gave two lectures on the details of operation of the weapons. Colonel Mesick was an engineer on rocket experiments during the war. He is a former West Point instructor and holder of a Ph.D. from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. ship society, and of Nu Eta Epsilon, the engineering honorary society, at the University of Nevada.

MORE VACANCIES AVAILABLE HERE

A substantial listing of houses, apartments and rooms for rent on the bulletin board in the dean of men's office indicates an increase in vacancies, though prices are about the same. Three houses are listed for rent, ranging from $80 a month for a three room house to $100 a month for a two bedroom house. Twelve apartments and duplexes are for rent from $70 to $100 per month. For some apartments, this rental price includes some utilities. Two cabins were listed at $35 and $40 a month. Eighteen private rooms are for rent for between $25 and $40 a month. Kitchen privileges are also offered in some homes. A single two bedroom, newly decorated house, is listed for sale at $11,750.

Lag in Registration Of Veterans Noted

The large group of veterans attending the university is gradually diminishing. In 1947, the dean of men's record show, there were 844 veterans enrolled here. Now there are only 636. The overall attendance figures remain about the same, the dean's office stated. This semester 1776 men and women are attending the university. It was pointed out that since the war the policy has been to keep the enrollment under 1800, and that many out-of-state applications were turned down because of this. The University of Nevada is one of the few universities in the nation able to maintain a constant enrollment figure. Others have shown a decline in both veteran and non-veteran enrollment.

PUBLIC RELATIONS POST OK'D BY BOARD OF REGENTS

By RODLIN GOFF

Going on record as favoring a coordinated program of public relations for the University of Nevada, the board of regents, meeting Saturday, authorized Colonel Gilbert Parker, acting president, to nominate a person for the position of public relations director.

Such an individual would be responsible for statistical work, public relations, and University publications, according to the acting president.

Colonel Parker said that he does not know yet whether the job will be handled on a full time or part time basis. So far, he says, he has received two applications, but nothing will be definitely decided until the next board of regents meeting in February.

In the past, Colonel Parker said, such activities have been handled independently and without coordination by various individuals or groups concerned with their particular needs. The only regular news service on the campus at present is one, maintained by the journalism department as a service to the newspapers of the state.

No Propaganda

Colonel Parker emphasized that the new post would not be used for propaganda purposes, nor would the man be merely a press agent.

A public relations director, Colonel Parker feels, would inform the people of facts concerning the university, which in turn would increase the prestige of the university. The colonel added that most other universities, many smaller than the University of Nevada have such public relations offices.

Many future university students on the outer fringes of the state are being attracted to other universities, Colonel Parker believes, largely through the lack of coordinated information here.

Lambda Chi Will Play Santa Claus

The annual Lambda Chi fraternity Christmas party for underprivileged children will be held Wednesday, December 21, at the Lambda Chi house, according to George Beaman, president of the fraternity.

The party is an annual affair that has been going on for more than 15 years. Last year, the affair was broadcast over the radio.

Twelve children selected by the Red Cross, who otherwise would not have a Christmas, will be feted to a turkey dinner and given a gift by Santa Claus who is due to appear after the meal.

Money is collected for the affair by staging a drawing at each fraternity meeting for months in advance. The money thus collected is used to purchase gifts for the children.

Christmas Scenery Livens Snack Bar

Radiating Yuletide atmosphere, the Y snack bar and lounge donned its Christmas finery for the holidays this week. Mrs. Mary Duke, proprietor of the snack bar, arranged the colorful decorations in the main room and bar itself, while Shirley Lowery, of Gamma Phi Beta, made the scene atop the candy shelf.

The old piano in the corner is now a red brick chimney, while a small Christmas tree livens a corner of the small room. Tinsel and streamers have been strung from the ceiling, with the entrance to the snack bar transformed into a door of greens. Hilda Cox and Irene Waterman collected the greens.

Mrs. Duke also revealed a new addition to the snack bar, which will be installed this week. Glass cases for the food now on the counters are being made for the bar and donated by the YWCA. The new cases will be installed to comply with the wishes of the health department.

Students who do not care for doughnuts or cookies for breakfast will find that toast will be served at the snack bar beginning next week. Mrs. Duke requested that students help keep down congestion of the Y room during cold weather by emptying cups and papers into containers.

They Will Tumble At Portland Game

A tumbling exhibition complete with human pyramids, parallel bar antics and the traditional tumbling clowns will be staged by the university tumbling team at the half-time of the Nevada-Portland University basketball game on Saturday, January 14.

According to George Broten, coach of the tumbling team and instructor of physical education at the university, a four ring tumbling circus will be set up by the team. Using the trampoline, the parallel bars, the high bars and the spring board and mats, the team will perform simultaneously on each piece of equipment.

The team will finish with a pyramid formation.

Team members are Gene Wait, Jack Parke, Jerry Schafer, Dave Cochrane, Irving Hackett, Bob Arnesen, Earle Dempsey, Mark Tett, Bob Coughlin, Don Thompson, Russell Mills and Joe Melcher.

4 Nevada Coeds Will Attend YWCA Meeting in Carmel

The Nevada YWCA plans on sending four delegates to Asilomar, camping grounds near Carmel, California, for the annual meeting of western and Pacific states YWCA's and YMCA's. Mrs. Marjorie Dickinson, executive secretary, will accompany the group.

Mary Lou Sewell was chosen as housing counsellor for the meeting. She was one of the eight delegates representing Nevada last year.

Those planning on going this year from December 26 to January 1, are Barbara Smith, president of the YWCA on campus; Pat Shepard, Joan Anderson, and Dorothy McElwain.

Clerical Workers Rating Revised

Clerical workers at the University of Nevada will be classified in accordance with new regulations approved by the board of regents last week.

Campus office personnel are to be classified in four divisions: junior clerk typists, senior clerk typists, junior secretaries or junior account clerks, and senior secretaries or senior account clerks. Under the new plan no employee classified under one of these four divisions will earn over $200 a month.

All regulations concerning these workers will be handled by a permanent committee to be appointed by acting President Gilbert E. Parker.

A temporary committee was recently appointed by the president to make recommendations to him, concerning the wage scales and new classifications of staff workers.

The committee, with Mr. Perry Hayden, comptroller, as chairman, consisted of Dean Frederick Wood, Dr. Harold Brown, Mr. Byrd of the extension division, Mrs. Grossholtz, chief clerk in the extension division, and Miss Alice Terry, secretary to the president and to the board of regents.

Col. G. E. Parker submitted the committee's plan to the board of regents where it was accepted and will be turned over to the permanent committee, also to be headed by Mr. Hayden.

Xmas Library Hours Announced by Hill

The University of Nevada library will close Wednesday, December 21, at 5 pm. It will be open Thursday and Friday, December 22 and 23, from 9 to 12 noon and from 1 to 4 pm.

The library will be closed from Saturday, December 24, until the following Tuesday, when the 9 am to 4 pm schedule will be resumed.

It will be closed again on December 31, January 1 and 2, and will open on Tuesday, January 3, to resume regular library hours.

Where's Eugenia? University Issues Plea for Hill Coed

Does anyone know the whereabouts of Eugenia Shelby?

Miss Shelby was graduated after the summer session this year and has seemingly disappeared; at least, nothing concerning her address or where she can be found is on record at the alumni office.

President Parker's office has some valuable information for Miss Shelby and cannot find her.

If anyone has any information regarding the address or whereabouts of Eugenia Shelby, he is requested to contact the president's office at once.

2 FRATS ROBBED OF VALUABLES BY PRANKSTERS

By BOB DEADY

Thieves entered the Phi Sigma Kappa and Sigma Nu houses, last Saturday evening, stole some expensive furniture and made off with all of the trophies.

Members from the Phi Sig house reported that while the fraternity was having its Christmas formal at the Trocadero, thieves entered their house and took a new table valued at $50, a new lamp worth $35, their best silverware, a phonograph, and all of their trophies.

The theft was discovered Sunday morning, when the Phi Sigs had invited their dates of the preceding evening to join them at breakfast, and noticed their knives, forks and spoons had disappeared.

Late Sunday evening they received an anonymous phone call telling them to go to the ASUN building to pick up the stolen articles.

They recovered the lamp and table, which had been damaged, and the record player and silverware. The trophies are still missing.

The Sigma Nus said all of their trophies had also been taken from their house Saturday night and are The Phi Sigs say they can take a joke, but they don't think it was necessary for the would-be pranksters to damage their most expensive furniture.

LDS Fraternity May Be Formed On Nevada Campus

The possibility of establishing a chapter of Lambda Delta Sigma, Latter-Day Saints fraternal organization, on the University of Nevada campus was revealed recently in a letter from Acting President Gilbert E. Parker to Frank L. West, commissioner of the department of education of the church of Latter-Day Saints.

Many students on the campus have requested that such a fraternity be instituted, the president's office reports, and the department of education of the church itself has inquired about the possibilities for establishing a chapter on this campus.

In his letter, President Parker approved the institution of such an organization as a part of campus life, and promised the full cooperation of the university in its welfare.

Paint Job Delayed On Hartman Hall

New cream colored paint for Hartman Hall situated at Clark field will not replace the present army drab until warm weather arrives.

The building was transported to the university from the Reno army air base last summer and has the same paint on it now that it had in 1941 when the structure was first built.

The interior of the building has been redecorated and modern facilities have been installed in the barracks, which are now used as student dormitories.

Carl Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds, stated that it is too cold now to try to apply paint to the building. He said that the cold nights would prevent the paint from setting and would cause it to peel.

Artemisia Bulletins Encourage Student, Advertiser Support

Bulletins featuring the names of Artemisia advertisers from all over the state are being posted each week in the fraternity and sorority houses, residence halls, and other central points of campus life.

The bulletins are part of a plan to encourage students to back the advertisers who support the Artemisia, and, in turn, encourage more advertisers to buy space in the yearbook.

Advertisers names, and information about them, are turned in each week by the yearbook's ad solicitors. The names are printed in a weekly bulletin form, and have a slogan urging students to support the advertisers who support the Artemisia.

University Rifle Teams to Arrange Postal Matches

The university rifle teams are completing arrangements for this season's postal matches, said Jack Davis, Rifle Club executive officer. These matches will be fired on the university rifle range and the scores will be sent to other colleges for competition.

Six of last year's nine lettermen will be on this year's varsity team. Jay Atwood, last year's high-scoring individual and winner of the ROTC presidents trophy, is expected to register the spring semester and be eligible for a large part of the competition.

The ROTC team will consist of two of last year's lettermen, Lowell Miller and Knight Beauchamp. Three members of the team, Louis Giroux, Melvin Guerrero, and Quinio Kajikami, are also on the freshman team. Additional positions are open to complete the two ten-man teams.

A pistol team will represent the university for the first time this year. It has been under the supervision of team captain Don Marshall the past year. Actual competition will begin in January. This team shoots between 2 and 3 pm Monday through Thursday, and competitors must supply their own pistols.

Practice of the women's varsity rifle team has been underway for several weeks under the direction of Sergeant C. Brunetti, Rifle Club instructor. The range is reserved for women shooters on Monday and Wednesday from 3 to 5 pm. Prospective members are Ruth Barakat, Phyllis Wheeler, Sally Buol, Natalie Curtis, Joan Steadman, and Nancy Rolph. Awards will again be presented to this year's women's team.

"The postal competition starts the week of January 9, and any student who can turn in qualifying scores is eligible for the teams. We hope that anyone interested will come to the range and investigate the possibilities for himself," said Sergeant Brunetti.

Campus Charities May Be Combined By Student Senate

A definite plan for the combining of the various charity drives on the campus was discussed by the senate at the regular meeting last week. Pat DeWalt, senator from Gamma Phi Beta, will draw up a financial plan which will allot a sum of money from a student's original contribution to various organizations.

A report on the subject will be issued in the near future. The organizations on the campus are generally in favor of the combined drive.

The frosh-sophomore tug-o-war again has been scheduled. This time it will be staged on December 19, on the athletic field.

A new committee was formed to publicize the University of Nevada throughout the state. This committee will direct its publicity to the high schools during the school year.

Traveller Lectures To Church Group

A lecture on Liberia was the highlight of a recent Canterbury Club meeting held at St. Stephen's Chapel on University avenue and Eighth street.

Miss Eleanor Henbroeck, a lecturer who recently returned from Liberia, told the group about her experiences and impressions of that country. She illustrated her talk with colored slides of Liberian scenes.

Following the lecture, club members held an informal discussion on African affairs.

Pension Increase For Instructors Passed by Regents

Pensions for faculty members will be upped somewhat beginning January 1, 1950, in accordance with a new ruling recently passed by the board of regents.

The new arrangement modifies the 1915 pension statute which provided that a sum equal to one-fourth of the pay of the faculty member during the last five years of service would be paid as pension. The one-fourth was later raised to one-third.

Comptroller Perry Hayden said the faculty pension plan now costs the university $906.25 monthly. The increase will bring the cost to $1028.82, which will be paid from any appropriation of the last legislative remainder of the $125,000 salature.

'Name Beneficiaries' Veterans Instructed

John P. Farmer, recently appointed regional insurance officer for the local area, urges all veterans who have retained their National Service Life Insurance to name a beneficiary or beneficiaries in order that they may receive the money in case of death.

Prior to August 1, 1946, it was not necessary to name a beneficiary as the law provided for payment of the insurance to legal heirs in a specified order. Now, however, if the veteran dies without naming a beneficiary, or if the beneficiary should die before the policyholder, the insurance becomes part of the veteran's estate and subject to all laws governing estates.

Physical Science, Engineering Exams To Be Given Soon

Positions with the federal government may be awarded to sophomore, junior, senior and graduate students in the physical sciences and engineering who can pass examinations to be given early in 1950 the United States Civil Service Commission has announced.

Examinations will be announced this month for physicists, chemists, metallurgists, and engineers in all branches of engineering. Written examinations for the positions offered will be given early in 1950.

Competing sophomores and juniors will be considered for summer or part time employment before graduation, and may receive full time appointments after graduation.

Senior and graduate students who will complete required courses by June 30, 1950, may receive provisional probational appointments prior to completion of the courses, but will not be entered on duty until their study is completed.

The beginning salary on an annual rate for sophomore students is $2650; and for those in their junior year, $2875. For senior students who are appointed to full time positions upon graduations, the annual salary is $3100; and for graduate students with one or more years of graduate work $3825.

Merry Christmas

The season of glad cheer and good fellowship is with us once again—and everywhere we go we see as well as hear and feel this wonderful spirit! We see it in the gaily adorned shop windows . . . the colorfully lighted trees . . . and on the smiling faces of the people about us. We hear it in the well-wishing greetings of friend to friend . . . stranger to stranger . . . in the church bells resounding magnificently through our community. We feel it in our every activity—be it home or business. And we extend it also in our own sincere heartfelt wishes to you our friends and patrons—that this may be a truly memorable Christmas and a happy, happy New Year!

YULE SEASON IN FULL SWING FOR HILL FRATS AND SORORITIES

By GORDON PRATT

Christmas season festivities were ushered in last night by the Press Club in a gay party held in the journalism laboratory. Beverley Lehman and Terry Alauzet, co-chairmen, and Len Crocker, Rose Marie Faul, and June Holmes were in charge of the affair. Gifts were exchanged and the white whiskered old gent from the north was on hand to distribute them.

Greeks

Enjoying the Yule spirit tonight will be Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Nu, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon. The ATO's will hold their annual Christmas dance tonight at nine o'clock in the Mapes Hotel. Tom Ross, social chairman, is in charge.

The SAE's will also have their Christmas dance tonight. The formal dance will be held at the Nevada Game Farm.

The Sigma Nu Christmas dance, which is semi-formal, will be held this evening at Lawton's.

Tomorrow night the Pi Beta Phi sorority and the Sigma Rho Delta, Theta Chi, and Lambda Chi Alpha fraternities will share in the Christmas atmosphere.

Sigma Rho Delta will hold their Christmas dance at the Nevada Game Farm. The dance, which starts at nine o'clock, is semi-formal.

The Theta Chi's are holding their Christmas formal on the same evening at Lawton's.

Lambda Chi Alpha will also have their Christmas formal tomorrow night. It will be held at the Twentieth Century Club.

The Pi Phi's are holding their annual dance at the Trocadero tomorrow evening. Chaperones for this affair will be Dr. and Mrs. Harold N. Brown and Elaine Mobley, dean of women.

Freshmen, Sophs Enter Round 2 Of Tug-o-War

By TED COVINGTON

The freshman-sophomore tug-o-war will be held for the second time this Monday at 4:30 pm.

The freshmen, in an attempt to save all of their hair and some of their prestige, will be battling it out against a determined bunch of sophomores in a duel of brawn.

The last attempt at the tug-o-war was declared no-contest because of the lack of a sufficiently strong rope. The one used was snapped three times during the contest, and the fight ended in a very wet draw.

The contest Monday will be preceded by an assembly introducing the Who's Who persons from the University of Nevada. Wayne Osborne and Proctor Hug, managers of the sophomore and the freshman classes, respectively, will give fight talks to their classes in an effort to get the interest in the tug-o-war to a high pitch.

As Hug so aptly put it, "The tug-o-war is to save the face of sophomores or some other extremity of the frosh. The freshmen have a good chance of saving their interests."

Home Economics Christmas Party

The annual Christmas tea given by the home economics department was held Thursday, December 15, Miss Mildred L. Swift, chairman of the home economics department, announced today. It was held from 4 to 5:30 pm in room 204 of the Agriculture building.

Christmas trees, holly wreaths made by the girls and branches, decorated the room.

Tea and coffee were served from a beautiful Christmas tree table, decorated by a holly wreath and red tapers for a centerpiece, Miss Swift said.

Confections were served on a Christmas card which circulated among the guests. The cart was constructed from an old tea wagon. The dainties were prepared by students taking the foods course.

Each year little booklets containing the recipes used for making the confections are placed in a basket by the door, so that those interested may take one.

Christmas carols were sung from time to time during the tea by a group of home economics students, who have been practicing the songs with the help of Professor Theodore H. Post, chairman of the music department.

Goethe Bicentennial Celebration Draws Capacity Audience

The 200th anniversary of the birth of Johann von Goethe was honored at the university's education auditorium by a capacity crowd.

Dr. C. F. Melz recreated the character of Faust, and Wallace Kurtz, a senior student at the university, portrayed the student in the presentation of six of the most famous scenes.

Mrs. Marjorie Dickinson, YWCA secretary, gave a soprano interpretation of six of the most famous nod's opera "Faust." Prof. John Gottardi made all the introductions, presented a prologue, and read the synopsis in English of the presented scenes. Dr. Charlton Laird opened the program with an address on Goethe, and Dr. Robert Hume read several poems by Goethe.

The program was under the direction of Dr. William Miller and Dr. Melz, and the music and art was handled by Prof. Theodore Post and J. Craig Sheppard.

Tilton Injured In Auto Mishap

Dick "Buster" Tilton, one of the better known university football stars, received minor injuries Saturday when his car plunged off highway 40 one mile west of Reno.

Sheriff's deputies said Tilton was driving his 1937 model automobile west at approximately 30 miles an hour when he skidded on the icy pavement and went over a 30 foot embankment.

Tilton was taken to Washoe county medical center for treatment. His automobile is reported badly damaged.

Tate to Present Music Recital Soon

Professor Robert Z. Tate of the music department, who limped about campus for several weeks after suffering a vertebrae dislocation, reports that he has recovered and is planning a violin and piano recital.

He is working out the program at present and will announce the presentation date in the near future.

Pi Phi Entertain Faculty at Party

Pi Beta Phi sorority entertained members of the faculty and their wives or husbands at dessert recently in the chapter house on Sierra street.

Coffee, tea and cake were served during the evening to the guests.

The opinion was expressed by both faculty and students that these get-together promote a better feeling between students and teachers and also give the students a chance to know the families of the instructors.

Wise Y Officers Elected by Group

Officers were elected last week at the first meeting of Wise Y, a newly formed group for upperclass women of the YWCA. Selected to head the group for this semester were June Holmes, junior, and Shirley Laurie, sophomore. Mrs. Marjorie Dickinson, executive secretary of the YWCA, will act as advisor.

REGENTS ADOPT NEW STANDARDS FOR INCOMING NEVADA FRESHMEN

Nevada high school graduates seeking admission to the university next year will find it harder than it has been in the past four years.

Nevada high school graduates seeking university admission, beginning next fall, must present six quality credits in order to be accepted, according to a resolution passed by the board of regents Saturday morning. These admission changes were recommended by the admission committee and the administrative council.

A quality credit is a high school credit, one of the 15 required for admission by the university, which carries a grade of 80 per cent or better. Four of the six quality credits must be in academic subjects.

A Nevada graduate who cannot fulfill the requirement may be admitted if he can obtain passing grades in entrance tests prescribed by the university.

The quality credit requirement for Nevada students was used for admission to the university until the fall of 1945, when it was dropped by the board of regents. The alternative is new.

Out-of-state students at the present time are required to present six quality credits for admission, but they are allowed no test alternative.

Any person over 21 years of age who cannot meet the admission requirements may be admitted as a special student if he gives satisfactory evidence that he can do the work. This specification was in no way altered by the resolution.

Since the quality credits requirement for Nevada students was dropped in 1945 both high school administrators and faculty members have complained of lack of responsibility and preparation on the part of the students.

When President Gilbert S. Parker presented the resolution to the board of regents he emphasized that the university does not desire to discriminate against prospective students, but wishes to give greater responsibility for adequate preparatory training to high schools in the state.

Lorne Black Gets Army Commission

Lorne F. Black, senior student at the university, has been notified that he has been accepted by the army as a second lieutenant and will report upon graduation to Fort Riley, Kansas, to begin his army career.

Black was accepted from a group of "distinguished military graduates" throughout the United States. He will spend six months at Fort Riley, along with the graduates from other universities and West Point, and upon completion of the six months training will be sent to a branch school of infantry.

Sinclair Melner, last year's winner of the award, has just completed his first training period and is now in the infantry branch school.

Black, who will complete the four year course offered in the military department in June, is a member of the SAE fraternity, and is a captain in the corp here, as well as being a first lieutenant in the Scabbard and Blade, honorary military society.

Barbara Smith On Assignment To Mademoiselle

Barbara Irene Smith, senior A&S student from Reno, has been appointed to represent the University of Nevada campus on Mademoiselle magazine's college board. She is one of 850 women chosen from colleges all over the United States.

She will report campus news, fads and fashions, and will be required to complete three magazine assignments during the college year. The assignments are to include a critique of the 1949 August college issue, a personal autobiography, and a project for one of Mademoiselle's feature departments.

Next June, guest editorships will be awarded to 20 of the 850 board appointees. The guest editors, who will be chosen on the basis of the year's three assignments, will be sent to New York for four weeks in June to help write and edit Mademoiselle's 1950 August college issue. Round-trip transportation, plus a regular salary will be paid, and a full calendar of activities is planned.

Cold Spell Freezes Manzanita Lake; Sagers Plan to Flood It Regularly

With the coming of snow and cold temperatures, the University of Nevada campus has acquired a wintry look, adding to the spirit of Christmas.

Manzanita lake has frozen over, and many students have unpacked their ice skates and are testing the ice.

In previous years, the Reno fire department has kept the lake smooth for skating by occasionally flooding the rough surface. Assistant Fire Chief North stated, however, that the department would be reluctant to flood the lake this winter unless the students cooperated by scraping the slush and snow from the surface of the ice before calling the fire department.

Bill Jager, president of the Sagers, stated that the Sagers service organization would probably undertake the job of keeping the lake in good condition for skating after the Christmas vacation.

Last winter ATO and SAE were active in preparing the lake for flooding.

Gamma Phi Beta Gives Xmas Party

Gamma Phi Beta pledges entertained alumni and active members last night at the chapter house with the annual "muffin worry."

Entertainment was provided by the pledge class, included a song by Doris Mack, "Oh Holy Night"; a reading by Joan Foster entitled, "The Littlest Angel," and a doll dance by Peggy Bell, Elsie Shaver, Katherine Cladianous, and Betty Christiani.

Skiing Highlights Shown in Movies To Nevada Ski Club

Motion pictures of the National Giant Slalom and Silver Dollar Derby races last year highlighted the meeting of the University of Nevada Ski Club recently. President Brent Aiken led a regular business meeting before the pictures were shown.

Two amendments to the constitution discussed and voted upon concerned the eligibility for membership in the club and election of officers. Election of officers will be held before November 1 of each school year, and faculty members may be voted into membership by the group.

Concerning the National Intercollegiate Championships which might possibly be held here this year, letters have been received from Dartmouth and West Point. Both Dartmouth and Middlebury find it impossible to attend a meet in the west unless it is held during their vacation from March 31 to April 16. West Point declined the invitation altogether for several reasons, the chief one being too much time away from school affairs. President Aiken said it might be possible to hold the meet during the vacation from April 5 to 12. Nothing can be decided definitely until more answers are received.

Mormon Fraternity To Be Established

Plans are going forth for the establishment of a local chapter of the Lambda Delta Sigma, national church fraternity of the Mormon Church. A meeting will be held every Wednesday at 6:30 pm at the Mormon Church, 1309 Buena Vista, to formulate plans of the organization.

The fraternity is an honorary one and is open to any man or woman that lives up to the standards of the Mormon Church. Dr. Eldon E. Wittwer, of the agriculture department, will be the instructor of the institute that the fraternity hopes to build in the near future.

Anyone who is interested in joining the fraternity should either get in touch with Dr. Wittwer or attend the meetings that are held every Wednesday.

Nevada Polkateers Show Live Y'ers

The Nevada Polkateers, a campus organization given over entirely to folk dancing and folk songs of the United States and foreign countries danced to Spanish songs last week before the Yive L'ers, a Reno YMCA organization.

President Wally Kurtz said that the Polkateers have about 45 paid members and several others who have not yet paid their dues. Advisors for the folk song dancers are Prof. and Mrs. Richard E. Panzer.

Kurtz announced that there will be a folk festival at Sacramento next Sunday, and that all Polkateers are eligible to attend.

Vets May Be Able To Work in Europe Tour on GI Bill

Dr. Paul H. Jensen, assistant professor of education, announced today that government application forms are being made out as a first step in an effort to obtain GI bill benefits for veterans who go on the university sponsored European tour next summer.

Benefits covering tuition, fees, books, and subsistence, if obtained, are expected to exceed $200. The trip is expected to cost each member of the party about $1,000.

The tour will give each student taking it from three to six hours credit toward graduation, if his or her department accepts the courses given on the tour.

Approximately 35 persons are expected to take the tour, which will extend through six European countries and Canada and will include special short courses at the University of Copenhagen.

Dancing is practiced by both civilized and savage people the world over.

Spanish Club Hears Gottardi and Melz

Prof. John R. Gottardi and Dr. Christian W. F. Melz, associate professors of foreign languages, were the guest speakers at the last meeting of the Spanish Club.

Prof. Gottardi spoke on "Origins of the Spanish Language," and Dr. Melz' subject dealt with the difference between South American and Castilian Spanish and the various differences between the countries in South America.

John Lee, Spanish Club head, presided at the meeting.

Philippine Lawyer Offers Prize To Student Writing Best Poem

Hoping that it will bring closer relations between the United States and the Philippines and stimulate students to a better understanding of the culture of the islands, a $50 poetry prize was offered this week to University of Nevada students by Frank W. Brady, of Manila, Philippines.

The award is to go to the composer of the poem which is considered by judges the most significant literary accomplishment and the most effective comment on the heroism of Jose Abad Santos, Philippine leader who was killed by the Japanese in World War II.

The judges, to be selected by the department of English at the university, will consider not only the artistic proficiency of the poem, but also its clarity and interest for the general reader, its insight into the meaning of Santos' death and its relation to modern society, and its appropriateness as an expression of Philippine feeling for the man considered by his countrymen as the greatest hero in the late war.

Brady, an eminent attorney in Manila, recently spent a week as a visitor at the University of Nevada, where he attended classes and observed education in an American university.

As a young man, he had ambitions of graduating from an American university, he said, but his hopes were never realized. Now that he was in the United States for the first time in his life, he was given permission by acting President Gilbert E. Parker to "enroll" at the University for three days.

The guest's experience at Nevada gave him confidence that the university students at the state institution might compose poetry worthy of the subject selected.

Only under-graduate students enrolled at the university are eligible to compete in the contest. Copies of the winning poem will be sent to Mr. Brady who will distribute some of them to the president of the Philippines, the University of the Philippines, and the family of the late Jose Santos.

Dr. Hume Addresses English Fraternity

Dr. Robert Hume, associate professor of English, was guest speaker recently at the monthly meeting of Chi Delta Phi, English honorary society, at the Gamma Phi Beta house.

Dr. Hume gave a thumbnail biography of Robertson Jeffers, a contemporary poet now living in Carmel, California. He spoke on some of Jeffers' more noted works. They include the "Roan Stallion," "The Double Ax," and "The Women of Point Sur."

Before Dr. Hume's arrival, a business meeting was held to discuss plans for the short story and poetry contest for high school seniors, which the organization sponsors in the spring semester.

Sheerin Speaks At Anniversary Assembly Program

"Beautiful buildings do not make a university, but quality is based on the quality of the faculty and the personal relationships that exist between all factions."

This was the feeling passed on by Chris Sheerin, member of the university board of regents, to the students, faculty, and graduates during the diamond anniversary program held in the gym last Friday.

The program was begun with the presentation of colors by the university military department, and the University Singers then sang "The Star Spangled Banner," "Nevada O," and "Auld Lang Syne."

Mr. Sheerin was introduced by Acting President Gilbert E. Parker. Mr. Sheerin flew in from Elko Friday morning to deliver the principal address at the assembly. He is editor and manager of the Elko Free Press. He graduated with the first journalism graduating class of the university in 1924.

"I believe," he said, "that we are emphasizing our weaknesses rather than our accomplishments." He referred to the old buildings and temporary quonset huts, and to the recent comments regarding faculty cuts in salary. He seemed to feel that these discrepancies were caused by the lack of state funds, the rise in enrollments, and that such quick action was necessary.

Mr. Sheerin felt that our advantages and accomplishments should be emphasized rather than diminished, considering the size of the school in comparison to the size of the enrollment.

Other guests at the celebration, only one of many given since the founding of the university at Elko in 1874, were president emeritus Walter E. Clark, chairman of the board of regents Silas E. Ross, board members Albert Hillard and Sam S. Arentz, Jr., and chairman of the anniversary celebration committee, Prof. Jay A. Carpenter of the Mackay School of Mines.

Xmas Job Openings Scarce, Says Dean

Job openings for students during the Christmas season appear to be scarce. Last year at this time many of the local stores offered jobs through the dean of men's office, but as yet no such openings have appeared for this season.

The bulletin board does have a few salesman jobs listed, but they are more "full-time" than the ordinary holiday jobs. Anyone interested in these positions can get the particulars at the dean's office.

Two Students Have Lead in Little Theater Production

Two of the leading parts in "Shop at Sly Corner," the next production at the Reno Little Theater, will be portrayed by University of Nevada students.

George Bennett, who has appeared in several little theater and university plays, handles the lead part as Decius Heiss, a shopowner who is being blackmailed and takes drastic measures to prevent it.

Robert Deady has the role of Archie Fellowes, an arrogant, egotistical assistant to Decius.

"Shop at Sly Corner" is an English murder drama that was staged in London in 1945 with Boris Karloff in the leading role.

The play was also dramatized last week over a local station starring Karloff in his original role.

The play will be shown at the Little Theater for a week starting January 16.

Pack Tracks

By LEN E. CROCKER

With the advent of the basketball season, and particularly with the appearance of the new Sagebrush, Pack Tracks returns to the fold with, as Oscar Levant puts it, "a smattering of ignorance."

Ramblings on the football season, just to clear up a back-log of little gems that have been collecting dust around the Brush office. . . . Almost everyone knows that Bill Osborne led the scoring for the Nevada varsity in football, with eight touchdowns, and that Johnny Subda came in second with seven. But how many know that Ed Brown and Tom Massey each scored four times to lead the frosh? . . . Bob Corley, center, co-captain of the team, and place-kick specialist, made good 25 kicks in 34 attempts . . . for the frosh, Charlie Schmutte made good 12 tries. . . . The varsity totalled 235 points for their 10 games, while the Cubs had 130 in five games . . . 23.5 points per game for the varsity, and 26 for the frosh . . . we don't know what it proves, but there it is.

Stuff about the basketball season. . . . Mert Baxter seems to be one of the hidden jewels among athletes on the hill. When the football season came along he wasn't even noticed . . . then he developed into a fine end, and won a starting position . . . now he's pulled almost the same thing with basketball . . . he tallied 59 points in his first five games, although he didn't start any of them. . . . That's just one point under 12 per game. . . . How about Joe Libke and Les Ray pulling a turnabout last Wednesday night? . . . Both the guys are starters for Nevada, yet they played against the Indiana State crew, from a town about 30 miles from home.

Followers of basketball fortunes at the university will have plenty of opportunity to see university students in action . . . in the Reno city league. The city leaguers play four nights a week, Monday through Thursday, at both Billingham and Northside Junior high schools . . . watch this column for stuff as it comes up, and the regular sports page for stories after the league begins play on January 3..

Leave Us Look At the Likeable Lawlor

Jake Lawlor began his sixth season as coach of the University of Nevada cagers last week when the Pack split with Chico State College at Chico.

Lawlor was born in Victor, Iowa, and moved to Nevada, where he became a multiple sport star at the University of Nevada. He was captain of both the football and basketball squads and won all-league honors in both sports when Nevada was a member of the Far Western Conference. After graduation in 1930, Jake played baseball with the Sacramento Solons and San Francisco Seals for one season.

He began his coaching career at Virginia City, Nevada, and later moved to Delano, California, before joining the University of Nevada sports staff in 1942. When the coaching staff was curtailed during the war he returned to Delano for the 1944-45 season, but came to Nevada in 1946 to produce one of the university's best hoop squads.

Lawlor, in addition to being head basketball coach, is also line coach on the football team and a track coach. Lawlor's basketball teams have won 65 and lost 22 games at Nevada.

PACK MEETS COLORADO AGGIES HERE MONDAY AND TUESDAY

Monday and Tuesday evenings the University of Nevada Wolf Pack will carry on the home stand it began last Wednesday against Indiana State. This time the opposition will come from the Rams of Colorado A&M College.

The Colorado Aggies played in Reno once before, in 1947, as one of the teams in a four-way tournament sponsored by the University of Nevada. Brigham Young and USF rounded out the tourney list. Nevada, incidentally, won the meet.

The Rams are members of the Mountain States Conference, sometimes better known as the Big Six or the Skyline Six. Other members of the loop are Denver, Utah State, Brigham Young, and Wyoming.

Of the 24 men on the Aggie roster, 13 are returning lettermen. The team that played together last year, the starting team at least, is intact. Last year they didn't fare too well, due to lack of experience, but better things are expected of them this season.

Don Dabler, forward, led the scoring for the men from Fort Collins in last year's season, with 379 points in 35 games. He averaged 10.8 points per game. Second place went to forward Benson Allen, with 359 points in 34 games. Others above the 200 point mark were Jim Ranson, Glendon Anderson and Ray Williams. They scored 258, 247 and 214, respectively.

Other returning lettermen include Bill Gossett, Fred Peterson, Ralph Selch, Phil Andrews, Carl Gustafson, George Jansen, Charles King, and Victor Lind.

The Aggies bring a fairly tall crew to Reno. Only five of the 24 men are below six feet. Five centers are with the Rams, the shortest of which is six three, the tallest is six seven.

Nine of the guards and forwards reach or better the six two mark, although the shortest of them,

George Scott, is but five six. Head man of the Aggie court men is H. B. "Bebe" Lee, former three sport star at Stanford. Lee took over at Fort Collins in July, this year.

A native of Hollywood, California, Lee graduated from Stanford in 1938, after starring in basketball, baseball and track. He was a member of the Stanford basketball team that won three straight championships in the Pacific Coast Conference. In addition, he was student body president.

After graduation, Lee became assistant varsity basketball coach and frosh mentor for the Indians, as well as assistant football coach for the frosh. In 1941 he moved to Utah State, to become head basketball coach, but he was there only three months before he entered the service.

Lee served with the Navy from December of 1941 to November of 1945, and came out with the rank of lieutenant (s.g.). In 1945 he returned to Utah State, where he coached for two years before leaving to enter private business in California.

That's a roundup on the team and the coach, and you can bet they haven't forgotten losing the Nevada in the tournament in 1947. They'll be after a pair of wins.

Ski Bulletin Board For Stewart Hall

A bulletin board for ski news will soon be placed in the basement of Stewart Hall, Brent Aikin, ski club president, announced today. The board will be for the exclusive use of the ski club and the ski team.

Aikin says he hopes the board will eliminate the confusion of meeting times caused by small posters used previously.

TURKEY SHOOT TONIGHT, 6:30

Sharpshooters around the campus will have a chance not only to show off, but to profit by it, as well, this evening.

The opportunity will be presented by the Christmas turkey shoot being sponsored at 6:30 tonight by the University of Nevada Rifle Club.

President Tom Macaulay announced the shoot, and said the competition will be open to anyone who would care to enter. Contestants may use their own rifles, if they meet NRA standards, or may fire rifles from the range. Ammunition and targets are also provided.

Each match will consist of three shots, cost of which will be fifty cents. There are plenty of prizes to go around, too, Macaulay said, with 10 turkeys being offered.

Semi-finals were held yesterday for the WRA badminton championship. The tournament has been going on all week with doubles and singles elimination and will be concluded on Tuesday.

The tournaments are being held in the old gym. Miss Faye Briggs is the faculty advisor for the contest and Margie McKnight, arts and science, has been made manager. Twenty-five girls are entered in the tournament and working for WRA credit.

Tuesday's finals will be held from 3 to 5 pm.

PORTLAND NEXT ON SCHEDULE; PLAY TONIGHT AND TOMORROW

The University of Nevada Wolf Pack, with four wins and two losses this year, opens tonight in Portland against a revenge-hungry Pilot crew. The two teams have met three times to date, with the Pack taking all three wins.

Leading the starting team is Leo Grosjacques, 25 year old guard in his third year of Portland basketball. Last year the hustling back-court man led Pilot scoring, with 333 points.

The number two spot last year went to a small but dynamic Chinese guard, Fred "Happy" Lee, who tanked 295 points. Lee is back again, and is being boomed for his fine floorwork and ball handling ability.

Center for tonight's game will probably be Jackson Winters, affectionately known as "Old Rubber Legs." The six foot three inch pivot man racked up 289 points last year, and is noted for his rebound play.

Probable starting forwards are Bob Devich and Hal Holden. Devich just shaded his teammate last year, getting 223 points, to 222 points for Holden.

High on the list of capable reserves is forward Ray Foleen, who specializes in a corner shot. He tallied 272 points last year, most of them from the corner. Foleen may work with "Pistol Pete" Petros, a reserve guard noted as a "clutch" player.

Among the newcomers to the squad being counted on for a lot of work are guards Warren Brown, Henry Cwalina, and Jim Winters, forward Eddie Hummel, and center Don Mayfield.

Brown stands an even six feet tall, and is a sophomore, as is Jim Winters. This Winters is the younger, and shorter, brother of the starting center. Jim is only five eight, however.

The other three are all freshmen, with little experience, but Mayfield will be called on to put his six feet six inch frame to good use under the backboards.

WRA Initiates Eighteen Members

Eighteen new members were taken into WRA on December 8. Old members and initiates held an initiation dinner after the regular meeting was conducted and the ceremonies were over.

Jackie Wilson, president of the Women's Recreation Association, read the resignations of vice-president Shirley Hornbeck and secretary Virginia Shaw. A panel of members eligible to fill these offices will be drawn up soon for election.

Awards were presented to several girls who participated in the three activities offered during the first half of the semester. Terry Alauzet, golf manager, gave honors to Betty Kling, with Berle Herbert and Beverley Myles receiving honorable mention. Mary Mischeo, manager of archery, gave honors to Beth Miller. Jo Hibbs, manager for one of the riding groups, presented honors to Joyce Flournoy, and honorable mention to Darlene Lowry. Nilda Cox and Marnie Miller both received honorable mention in the riding section managed by Jackie Wilson.

Following the meeting and initiation, all the members enjoyed a spaghetti dinner.

Those initiated were Mary Anderson, Ruth Barakat, Barbara Barott, Peggy Bell, Nilda Cox, Mary Ann Douglass, Arlene Freedman, Joan Foster, Berle Herbert, Betty Kling, Barbara Kemp, Darlene Lowry, Viola Neil, Beverley Myles, Marianne Piccinini, Irene Waterman, Joyce Flournoy, and Anna Mary Ianni.

25 MEN OUT FOR VARSITY SKI TEAM NO SNOW PREVENTS PRACTICE

By JOAN METZGER

About 25 aspirants for berths on the "A" and "B" ski teams met Tuesday night to map future training procedure. Coaches for the four events, jumping, cross country, downhill and slalom, were chosen.

Hal Coddling, head coach for the team, will coach downhill and slalom, assisted by Wally Young. They are both of Mt. Rose Bowl. John McManna, ski professional at Mt. Rose, will coach cross country and jumping, instructing in techniques and waxes for both.

Bill Briner, member of the team last year, revealed that all men will be trained in all four events in order that teamwork may be more concentrated. Practice in downhill and slalom will be started in Mt. Rose Bowl as soon as there is sufficient snow.

The team hopes to receive special rates at Squaw Valley in order to practice on the long downhill slope there. The new road to Lake Tahoe via Mt. Rose will be used for practice in cross country, upon permission received by the team from the highway department. The Washoe county golf course also will be used for this purpose.

Reports on conditions of the ski area at Sand Dunes from students that have been up to the summit indicate that more snow is needed to insure good skiing this weekend. From five to six inches of new snow fell during the last snow storm but is still not sufficient to cover the slopes entirely.

Squaw Valley is trying to complete its lodge for the opening this weekend. From the massive main room, diners and loungers will be able to watch skiers swinging down the hill and getting on the chairlift. Staff members at the lodge were skiing on the slope directly behind the lodge this weekend. No tow was in evidence. Pickets were still parked at the entrance of the road to the new resort although the culinary workers strike seems to be over.

Wisconsin was the first state to set up a cooperative crop reporting organization jointly with the federal government.

WOLF PACK FELLS SYCAMORES; YEARLINGS BEAT RENO HIGH

NEVADA VARSITY BEATS STATE BY 55 TO 46

The University of Nevada basketball team made its home debut a highly successful one by snowing under the favored Indiana State Sycamores by a score of 55 to 46.

In their first home game of the season, the Nevada men took the lead early in the game and never lost it. They poured in a constant volley of buckets soon after the start of the game, and played slow, controlling ball through the remaining portion of the contest. Nevada's lead came in the first four minutes by way of big Ted Johnson, a newcomer to the Pack's varsity ranks, who controlled the backboard and tipped in the early margin markers. Mert Baxter, last year freshman big gun, along with veteran Harold Hayes and Les Ray, kept the scoring going until half time where it ended 29-20, for Nevada.

Baxter scored three goals in the first six minutes of play and added to his scoring with several foul shots during the closing minutes of the game. Hayes was second in scoring honors with a total of 11 tallies. Les Rays, a defensive standout throughout the game, was tied with Johnson with ten points. Buddy Garfinkle and Burt Larkins combined talents for seven points and a great deal of excellent floor play and cool headedness. Only seven players saw action in the whole contest.

Len Rzeszewski and Don McDonald led the Sycamores with 12 and nine points respectively. Bill Jagodzinski was a close third with eight counters. Indiana seemed to have trouble in the center slot, as they tried Hooper and Dimich alternately, in an effort to keep big Ted Johnson under control.

Jagodzinski started the scoring, after the Nevada hoopsters missed a couple of opportunities. Hal Hayes followed with a shot of his own to even the game up shortly thereafter, and Johnson's rebound put the Pack ahead. Jagodzinski came back to tie it, but Hayes followed suit to keep the lead. Johnson put through a long pivot shot. Baxter entered the game at this point to add a fast seven points to the total, but the Staters retaliated to trim the Nevada lead to five points.

At the beginning of the second half the Sycamores came roaring back with a fast break to again cut down the Nevada lead. In the middle of the half the score stood at 40-34. With three minutes to go, the Indiana crew was behind, 48-43, and getting a little time conscious. Les Ray stuck it out under heavy fire as the going got rough under the Nevada bucket. Baxter was fouled three times in the remaining minute and sank all four shots. The final tally was 55 to 46, Nevada.

WOLF CUBS WIN OVER HUSKIES BY 49-32 COUNT

Literally running their opponents into submission, the Nevada frosh cagers walloped a fighting Reno high school team, 49-32, in the university gymnasium Wednesday night. The game was a preliminary to the varsity-Indiana State game.

The yearlings used a fast breaking offense, and scored almost at will during the first three periods. Despite the fact that three frosh teams went into action, the Cubs led both at half time and at the end of the third quarter.

Dan Sullivan, John Wisser, and John Buccambuso started the fireworks with an array of buckets, and the score continued to mount on the Wolf Cub side of the ledger, although 14 players figured in the scoring.

The Huskies from Reno high got in their best licks during the final quarter, in which they outscored the frosh. The frosh, by this time, had cleaned the bench, to see what the players had to show.

All the freshmen played good ball, with Sullivan, Wisser, and Buccambuso leading the offense. Ray Hunter and Ed Spoon sparked the team on defense.

Leading the attack for the Huskies was speedy forward Jack Bream, who tanked five field goals for 10 points and scoring honors in the game.

45 HOOP GAMES SET FOR FRATS IN INTRA-MURAL

Forty-five intramural basketball games have been scheduled for this year's competition for points toward the Kinnear trophy, according to Art Broten, instructor of physical education.

Most of the teams began practice two weeks ago, and are hard at work rounding into shape for the competition, which will begin January 4. All games will be played in the afternoon or evening.

In addition to the sports already accepted handball will again be played this year, and the old gymnasium has been made available for courts. Table tennis and badminton may be added, if the organizations show enough interest, Broten added.

Next fall, if all goes well, intramural play may be adopted in badminton, volleyball, and table tennis, in both men and women's groups.

Here is the schedule for the first week of play in basketball.

January 4 — 7 pm—Phi Sig vs. SAE and ATO vs. unorgan. Independents.

January 5—4 pm—Theta Chi vs. Lambda Chi; Highlanders vs. Independents. 5 pm—Sigma Nu vs. unorg. Independents; Phi Sigs vs. Sigma Rho Delta.

January 6—7 pm—SAE vs. ATO; Theta Chi vs. unorgan. Independents.

National Ski Meet

A competition, to be called the National Intercollegiate Ski Championship, has been tentatively planned by the University of Nevada Ski Club, in conjunction with the university ski team. It will probably be held during Easter vacation, April 5 to 12.

PACK BEATS FRESNO TWICE; DROPS ONE TO SAN FRANCISCO

By BOB PETRINI

By scoring two out of three wins this past week, the University of Nevada Wolf Pack basketball team raised its record to date to three victories against two defeats.

The Nevada hoopsters grabbed a pair of wins from Fresno State College as they dumped the central Californians 67-56 on Friday and 55-46 Saturday. The Nevadans had invaded Fresno after losing a 70-51 clash to the University of San Francisco at Kezar Pavilion Thursday.

This week's results, coupled with those from the double series the Wolf Pack split at Chico State the week previous, give the Nevadans their present 3-2 record.

In playing the San Francisco Dons, the Nevada cagers met what probably will be their most outstanding opposition of the season. Last year the team from the Bay City surprised everybody when they went to New York City and won the National Invitational Tournament. This year's Don team boasts almost the same players as those which won face in the tourney.

The San Franciscans managed to build up an early lead and had a 34-24 advantage at half-time. The Nevada crew never did come closer to the Dons than nine points during the second half.

It wasn't until the final five minutes, however, that the national champions really managed to pull away from the stubborn Wolf Pack.

Don Lofgran, 'Frisco's "All-American center, took high point honors with 19. Mert Baxter and Joe Libke, forwards, led the Nevada scoring with 15 and 12 points respectively.

In their series with the Fresno State Bulldogs, the Wolf Pack put on terrific second-half display in both contests.

The first tilt saw the Nevadans trailing 32-31 at half-time, but come back strong in the final period to score 36 points and defeat the Fresno 67-56. On Saturday night, the Renoites held a slim 27-25 half-time lead, but poured it on for 28 more points during the following period and won 55-46.

In both games, the Wolves displayed a deceptive passing offense and apparently were beginning to show some of their potential power.

Nevada's first win over the Bulldogs was paced by guard Burt Larkins with 15 points, forward Joe Libke with 14, center Ted Johnson with 13, and guard Les Ray with 11.

In the Wolf Pack's second victory over Fresno, forward Mert Baxter sank 13, guard Les Ray and forward Joe Libke, 12 each, and forward Harold Hayes, 10.
