VA MISTAKE HITS UNIVERSITY; $1,003 MUST BE RETURNED!

By WALT MacKENZIE

The sum of not less than $463 dollars must be paid from the Associated Students' treasury to the Veterans Administration for fees collected from graduate and special students during the past four years.

Gene Mastroianni, graduate manager, announced at a finance control board meeting held this week that he has received a notice from the VA asking payment of $1003, the amount paid by the government as ASUN fees for these students during the four year period. Since these fees are pro-rated to the ASUN and the board of athletic control, the ASUN must pay six-thirteenths ($463) and the board of athletic control must pay the remainder ($540).

The VA had paid these fees to schools under the GI bill which allows each veteran a student body card. Recently, however, they changed their policy toward graduate and special students with the result that many schools throughout the country will suffer more severe losses than the University of Nevada.

Since these fees are already the property of the ASUN and the board of athletic control no individual students will suffer losses as a result of the VA's action.

Another announcement by Mr. Mastroianni at the meeting revealed that several campus organizations have little or no funds deposited with him, which indicated that they may be in a "shaky" financial condition. The chairman of the finance control board is writing to these groups in an effort to straighten out the situation.

Those long awaited "old time" movies also came up for discussion. P. O. Reimer, student body president announced that as soon as the studio involved approves the location of our "theater" we shall start having the movies.

An advance of $100 was granted the Ski Carnival committee by the board so that the committee may purchase trophies. It is hoped that in this way the trophies will be here in time for the presentation at the conclusion of the meet. Last year the trophies arrived late and had to be mailed to the winners.

NEW $20,000 HEATING PLANT PLANNED FOR ENGINEERING AND ME BUILDINGS

A new $20,000 heating plant may be installed in the new Engineering building in the relatively near future, it was announced Monday. A meeting of some of the administrative heads of the university was held Friday to discuss the matter.

Plans are still incomplete, but the project is being seriously studied, President Gilbert Parker said.

An act was passed by the state legislature in March of last year approving the project. It was part of an act which called for several improvements to heating and circulation systems of university buildings.

The board is considering the measure carefully so that the plant will not be obsolete in the event of any new changes that may be made on the campus in the future. According to the measure adopt-

H. S. Publications Being Judged By Press Club

Eight high school annuals and nine high school newspapers have been entered in the third annual Nevada high school publications contest sponsored by the University of Nevada Press Club and the department of journalism.

The contest is held each year to provide the incentive for better high school publications throughout the state.

The entries are made in four classes, designated as the print-newspaper class, the mimeographed newspaper class, the printed annual, and the mimeographed annual.

The champions in each class will receive an award in the form of a cup which will be presented to the high school by the Press Club.

Judging is done by the junior-senior Press Club members and journalism students.

The judging of the yearbooks is based on pictures, layout, copy, art, originality and scope of representation of the activities of the school.

Last year's winners of the contest were best mimeographed annual, Carlin high school; best printed annual, Moapa Valley high school; best mimeographed newspaper, Wells high school; best printed newspaper, Las Vegas high school; and best mimeographed magazine (special award), White Pine high school.

Judging of the publications entered this year began yesterday and will continue until each entry is thoroughly checked.

ed by the legislature, the engineering building will be separated from the present central heating system. A steam boiler will be installed capable of serving the Engineering building and any future additions, as well as the Mechanical Engineering building.

The committee which met Friday consisted of President Parker, Regent Silas Ross, Regent Albert Hilliard, Comptroller Perry Hayden, Carl Horn, supervisor of maintenance, and J. E. Springmeyer, legislative council bureau.

Tri-Delts Welcome Back Welcome Mat

Friends and visitors will again be formally received by the Tri-Delts because their "welcome" mat was returned to the front steps of their sorority house.

The mat, valued at $65, was stolen over the Christmas vacation. The name (or names of whoever took it has not been revealed, but the mat has been returned and is now in Carl Horn's possession, and will be returned to the Tri-Delts.

The girls' "welcome" sign was adorned with the initials "DDD" woven in the center, thus assuring its uselessness to anyone but its owners.

Military Ball Set for March

The Scabbard and Blade annual military ball will be held sometime in March, it was announced by Captain Dan Olguin. The exact date has yet to be set pending a meeting of the calendar committee for the spring semester.

A queen will be nominated from each of the sorority houses and the women's dormitories to be voted on by the military department students. She will reign over the festivities of the evening, and will be escorted by Governor Vail Pittman through the arch of sabers.

The military ball is an all-school affair and everyone is invited to attend. Formal uniforms from any branch of the service is to be the attire.

Dance committee chairman Eppie Johnson has announced that the dance is to be held at the Mapes Hotel, the same place it has been in the previous years.

"There have been two such balls held in the years since the war, but last year was the first truly successful event, and we plan to make this one even more so," Olguin declared.

Artemisia Proofs Must Be Returned

All seniors and juniors must have their yearbook picture proofs returned to the Camera Photo by Monday, Jan. 16, announced Barbara Carter, editor of the Artemisia. She further stated that officers of all campus clubs must have complete membership lists in her office by that date.

Organizations planning costume dances between now and March should get in touch with Miss Carter either by phone or visiting the Artemisia office in the Student Union building if they wish to have pictures taken at their dances for yearbook publication.

She added that payment for pictures appearing in the Artemisia must be made before the end of the fall semester if delinquent organizations and individuals wish to be included in the yearbook.

TWO WEEKS' VANDALISM WAVE COSTS $200 IN BREAKAGE, THEFT

A wave of vandalism has cost the University of Nevada more than $200 in the last two weeks. This was the estimate of Carl Horn, supervisor of maintenance, early this week.

Faculty Members Hold Annual Joint Meeting

The annual joint dinner meeting of the University Faculty Club and the Women's Faculty Club was held last Friday at the Twentieth Century Club.

The event featured a musical program presented by Professor R. Z. Tate and Mrs. James Dickinson, and accompanied by Mrs. Merle Atcheson.

After the dinner, guests and members played cards and danced to the music of Tony Pecetti and his accordion.

Arrangements for the meeting were made by a committee consisting of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Hicks, Dr. and Mrs. Erickson, Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Graban, and Miss Marjorie Price. Dr. Hicks served as chairman.

Clarence E. Byrd, president of the University Faculty Club, and Mrs. James Van Dyke, president of the Women's Faculty Club, made the introductions.

WOOLIES AND BOOTS ARE THE STYLE AT UNIVERSITY AFTER BIG SNOWFALL

By JAMES HULSE

The usual Oxfords were replaced by various types of boots Wednesday, and among the pros a lot of ties were significantly covered by pullover sweaters. The eight inches of snow that fell Tuesday night was blamed for this, and other out-of-the-ordinary campus actions.

About ten men on the university maintenance crew worked all day on the walks and stairs. They weren't able to clear them fast enough, however, because about four falls were reported to the infirmary.

Traffic officer Art Cox found his job a little tougher than usual, too. He said the number of violations had increased noticeably, and that the parking problem was more acute.

Even the old campus traditions suffered a little. The quad was no longer a sort of sacred "no man's land," as paths across it indicated.

There was a no man's land of a different kind, however, in front of the ASUN building about noon. SAE and Sigma Nu fought it out with snowballs until a truce was

The most recent acts of violence came Sunday night when a large window was broken in the Education building. One of the marble benches in the library was broken the same evening, Horn said.

This announcement came while police and university officials were still seeking the vandals who broke four doors in the Field house, broke two windows on the campus and stole part of the art department's Christmas scene. This violence occurred on December 31, and there have been no developments.

The plate glass door of the Education building was broken by a rock, Horn said. It cost more than $20 to repair.

The marble bench, which was on the first floor of the library, was a gift to the university and had been brought from Italy, Horn said. It will not be possible to replace it, he said. The $200 estimate did not include the cost of the bench.

The vandals who broke into the Field house on New Year's eve and broke four doors ignored money and watches, residents said. Nothing in the rooms were disturbed, but the doors were smashed even though they had not been locked.

Windows which were broken in Stewart Hall and the old gymnasium have been replaced, Horn said.

The Wise Man and Camel, part of the Christmas scene, have not been found. They were painted by Professor Craig Sheppard of the art department, and were valued at more than $50.

called in time for one o'clock classes. The neutrality of by-passers was not observed, they complained.

The Phi Sigs and SAE's had a battle earlier in the day, with claims of victory coming from both sides.

A similar battle near the vets dorms resulted in the demolition of a large front window in dorm 30.

Dean Stanley Palmer, who's been around long enough to be an authority, observed the snow by commenting on how they used to clear the streets' way back when. Horses used to pull the snow plows.

Your reaction to the snow probably depends on where you stand. If you belong to the ski club, and have been hopefully watching the barometer for weeks, it was a great day.

And then there are the Las Vegas students who question the wisdom of the state legislature, which, seventy-odd years ago, decided Reno was the ideal site for the university.

Maybe we don't know when we are well off. There's three feet on Donner Summit.

INDIAN GIVERS

Well, this tops them all!

The Veterans Administration has been paying student body fees for ex-GI's going to Nevada for quite some time. These fees are pro-rated to the ASUN and the Board of Athletic Control. Recently, the VA changed its policy toward graduate and special students, with the result that many universities and colleges throughout the nation now owe Uncle Sam Quite a chunk of cash.

The policy change hit Nevada right between the eyes!

After four years of allowing these students to attend all university sporting events through the use of a student body card and giving them the Artemisia, university yearbook, and the Sagebrush, campus newspaper, the university has found out that it shouldn't have! The VA wants the money returned, $1,003, to be exact!

Whose mistake is it? The VA's, they admit it.

The ASUN will have to dig up $463 and the Board of Athletic Control $540.

But here's the payoff. In its contract with the university, the Veterans Administration has a clause that says ANY MISTAKES MADE ARE NOT THE FAULT OF THE GOVERNMENT.

You can't beat a deal like that!

Student Literary Magazine Gets "OK" From Col. Parker

A new student literary magazine to be sponsored by the English department has been authorized by Colonel Gilbert E. Parker, acting university president.

Next step in the publication of the magazine is to appoint a board of control. The board will be composed of three faculty members, one not a member of the English department, and four students, one not an English major.

The three faculty members, chosen by the English department, will be Charlton G. Laird, professor of English, who will act as chairman of the board; Stuart A. Daley, instructor in English; and Craig J. Sheppard, assistant professor of art.

Student representatives have not been named yet. One of the students will be elected by the advanced writing class, and the others will probably be chosen by the English department.

The magazine will be run entirely by the students, the faculty members serving only in an advisory capacity, Dr. Robert Gorrell, associate professor of English said. No faculty material will be used in the magazine.

It will be partly financed by a grant from the president's discretionary fund. The university duplicating machine will be used to save expenses. The sale price of the magazine has not been set yet.

Manuscripts will be accepted and considered from any student.

Publication dates have not been set, nor has a name been chosen. It is up to the board of control to make these moves.

Dr. Deming Moves To New Office

The office of correspondence and extension, headed by Dr. M. W. Deming, will move into new quarters next to the president's office in Morrill Hall, around the first of next month.

Dr. Deming said that "this office will be entirely separate from the registrar and admissions office, and will even maintain its own phone." The office originally was located in the quonset hut next to the registrar and director of admissions.

We'd like you to meet a man who has hung out his own shingle.

This Standard of California Distributor, like those all over the West, works as an independent businessman . . . and here's how we helped him get his start.

We first turned over a going business to him with a good list of customers. We helped him learn the best methods of serving his neighbors well . . . supplied the finest products, expert engineering help in meeting tough lubricating problems, the benefits of all our laboratory research and every other practical assistance possible.

Brush Strokes

By MARK CURTIS

A RECAP OF THE FIRST HALF: Pat McCarran, Nevada perennial Democratic senator, was running even 50 years ago. He was in the 100 yard dash against Stanford in 1900. Results: unknown. . . . The Sagebrush, then the Student Record, went tabloid about five months in 1905. . . . The first basketball game Nevada played against another school was in April of the new century. The team was female and lost to Stanford. . . . That was the same year Nevada's football manager tried to entice a guy named Simpson away from Oregon to coach up here. . . . There was an item about "Buster" who went all the way to San Francisco to get a haircut. (There are some guys up here right now who missed that same mule train.) . . . Also, can't get the headline out of my mind, "Normal Party Is a Success. . . . Young Women Prove Themselves Good Entertainers." . . . That's really got possibilities. Work with it awhile.

The NBC show "Big Story" will tell about Frank McCulloch's part in solving the Walter Hemple slaying of last summer. Frank graduated up here in '41. He gets $500 for the story rights . . . says he's earning it with ribbing he takes. Listen in 9:30 Monday night . . . KOH. . . . Acting President Parker became so engrossed in what Supreme Court Justice Badt was saying the other night, he stuck the lighted end of a cigarette in his mouth. . . . A sports writer named Rube Samuelson swears one of the west's most prominent educators filled him in on who will be Nevada's next president. The clairvoyant, who ever he is, says Dud de Groot, West Virginia's football coach, is the leading prospect. (O. K. Everybody out for football practice! If we're gonna beat Santa Clara, we've got to ALL PITCH IN.) I can hear it now.

TIME COPY: History Prof. Hutcheson's running gag now in its (?) season. . . . "The queen reigned and reigned and never gave the son a chance to shine." Remember some better ones but we'd like to keep him on the faculty. . . . Either not thinking at all, or thinking too much, found myself remodeling an old cliché about "eyes like limpid pools." New model. . . . "Eyes like Lampe pools." . . . Suggestion box . . . To assure the campus of this Carol type fixture, let's give out scholarships for beauty. A downtown Boosters Club would be no problem. . . . Things to look forward to: Cyd Chapman, fourth in the national 15 year old beauty contest plans to study at Nevada when she graduates in a couple of years. Unless she changes her mind, she'll major in journalism. Her mother worked on L. A. papers for ten years. Brother Loring Frederick Chapman is a pre-med here. . . . Cyd is especially interested in photography—both ends of the camera—and sports.

INSIDE ARTEMISIA HALL: One coed found all her lingerie nailed to the walls of the hallway the other night. Lace all over the place. . . . Inside Ely Utah: Walter Wilcox, editor Ely Record, answered the Brush editorial on favoring a public relations program, with three main arguments. He doubts that the students of White Pine County will come to the U. of N. because of the proximity of Utah colleges . . . easier to get home on weekends and holidays . . . the education standards . . . some courses aren't to be found up here and the Utah State Agricultural College is "logical choice" . . . and Religion.

One issue of the new Tabloid was enough to convince even the longest head of hair that the handy size should stay . . . so, it will. That's official. . . . Fraser, Nash, Packard, Ford, and Dodge are enrolled at this university. So for heavens sake, look both ways before you cross the halls. The life you save may be your own.

ICE SKATING PLANNED TOMORROW; SAGERS, FIREMEN PREPARE LAKE

By PRISCILLA CORBETT

Well, you can bring out your ice skates now and start praying for clear weather, because if all goes well, Manzanita Lake will have become a good ice skating pond by tomorrow.

The Sagers, local service organization, have offered to clear the lake this afternoon, announced Bill Jager, president. Several sections will be cleared, not the whole lake.

The Reno fire department has promised to flood the lake either this afternoon or tomorrow morning. They will try to get the job done this afternoon, said Fire Chief K. L. Evans, because they prefer flooding it right after it has been cleared.

Each year the fire department offers to flood the lake providing the students clear it off. In the past, lack of student cooperation has delayed the preparation of the skating pond, Evans remarked.

The condition of the pond itself is a problem, said Chief Evans.

When the weather gets extremely cold the ditch that provides the only course of water for the lake, freezes, cutting off this source of water. The water in the lake continues to drain out without being refilled, leaving the ice suspended with nothing but air below it. During a thaw, the pond refills, forcing the ice to float.

No ice skating is allowed at Lake Virginia this year because of danger created by this same situation, he explained.

Alaska's rivers and lakes afford excellent fishing.

FULSTONES END HOLLYWOOD TRIP; THETAS PLAN 'THANK YOU' PARTY

By DON SWANSON

Nevada twins, Jeanne and Eleanor Fulstone, winners of a national contest, arrived in Reno last Wednesday afternoon after three days in Hollywood where they were the subjects of much photographing.

The two coeds visited various places in that city, among them the famous Brown Derby where they had their picture taken with William Eythe, who starred in the FBI film, "House on Ninety Second Street."

Kappa Alpha Theta, the sorority to which Jeanne and Eleanor belong, is planning a celebration in honor of the two girls, and in appreciation of campus efforts in the election. It is to be held in the old gym next Friday, and all students will be invited.

The members of Kappa Alpha Theta had in general, the same opinion on the selection of the Smith Valley girls as All-American Twins in the nationwide contest. Gwen Byrd, president of the sorority, said, "it sure is a credit to the university, our sorority, and the girls themselves. I am real happy for them."

Gloria Eddy, arts and science junior stated, "I had a hunch they would win all along." Another member of the sorority, Mary Micheo, a junior in arts and science, remarked, "I am very glad these twins got it, they are the most enthusiastic girls I know. We are all thrilled about it."

An out-of-state student, Bill Yaeger, who goes to Hastings University, said he was present when they first received news of their selection. "They were just jumping all over the place and were very excited," said Yaeger. He accompanied the twins to Reno on their return from Hollywood.

Hundreds of pictures have been taken of Jeanne and Eleanor since the announcement of their victory about two weeks ago. Some of the pictures are expected to be featured in national magazines, and others will be used in a promotional capacity by the company which sponsored the contest.

English Society Sponsors Contest For High Schools

High school students throughout Nevada have been invited this week to enter the annual poetry and short story contest sponsored by Chi Delta Phi, English honorary for majors and minors in the language.

The contest is open to all high school students in the state, and students may submit any poem or short story which they have written during high school; there is no specific subject with which the selections must deal, and the only binding rules in the contest are that entries must be submitted before April 1, 1950, and short stories must be under 1500 words.

Members of the committee for the contest are Fay Fryberger, president of Chi Delta Phi; Gloria Griffin, chairman; Norma Walsh, and Mona Perry. Judges will be a number of university professors not yet selected and Chi Delta Phi members.

There will be a first and second prize offered for both the short story and the poem selected. First prize will be an engraved Chi Delta Phi gold key, and second prize will be an inscribed blue ribbon. If a senior woman should be among the four winners, she will be given a one year honorary membership in the Nevada chapter of Chi Delta Phi. Winning selections as well as the better selections submitted will be published in state newspapers and will be given statewide recognition. Plans for the contest were com-

'Big Story' Tells Grad's Coverage Of Local Murder

The "Big Story" Monday evening will dramatize an article written by a University of Nevada journalism graduate.

He is Frank McCulloch, 1941 Nevada graduate, now employed by the Reno Evening Gazette. He has received word that his story of the Walter Hempel murder at Lake Tahoe last summer will be used as the "Big Story" on January 16.

The "Big Story" dramatizes cases solved by newspaper reporters throughout the United States. It is heard locally over KOH at 9:30 pm.

McCulloch's original story on the murder investigation appeared in the Gazette on July 12, 1949, following the arrest of Mark J. Donnelly, the man accused of the crime.

The Gazette reporter had aided in the investigation, and it will be his part that will be dramatized on the radio. McCulloch today admitted, however, that he did not know just what would be used in the broadcast.

All names on the radio broadcast, with the exception of McCulloch's will be fictional, it was announced. For letting them use his story, the sponsors of the program will send McCulloch $500.

McCulloch has had wide experience in the newspaper field since he graduated from Nevada in 1941. He has worked for both the United Press and Associated Press, in San Francisco; several California newspapers including the San Francisco Chronicle, the Humboldt Star in Winnemucca, and the Gazette.

He has been on the Gazette staff since 1945. For a time he worked as sports editor and is now on the police and city hall beat. He is also the San Francisco Chronicle's representative in Reno.

McCulloch is a native Nevadan, having been born in Fernley and attended grammar school there. He went to Reno high school before coming to the university.

He was editor of the Sagebrush during the '40-41 school year.

SAE Pledge Beaten; Robbed

Gordon Ralph, SAE pledge, was the victim of a holdup around 9 pm Saturday evening near Sixth and Lake streets, when three unidentified men forced him at gun point to hand over his wallet.

Ralph said that the men did not get his money as he had it in his pants pocket.

When the bandit discovered that his wallet was empty, they struck him, threw him to the pavement and made their getaway in a nearby automobile. Ralph said it was a dark old-model coupe, and that there might have been another person driving the car.

Ralph explained that he believed the men to be members of his fraternity playing a practical joke on him, until one of the gang held a gun on him and told him that it was a stickup. The men were young and wore overcoats, he said.

Ralph is a transfer student from Los Angeles and is majoring in arts and science. He lives at 920 Ralston street.

Old Hand Press Now On Display In Journalism Hall

A real relic of early western journalism, a Washington hand press, is on display in the foyer of the Journalism building.

Donald I. Sagerstrom, publisher of the SonoraUnion Democrat, last June presented the press to the department of journalism from which he graduated in 1946.

The press was manufactured around 1870 by R. Hoe and Company of New York, and was once owned by the Merry-mount press of Merrymount, New York.

Found in Cottonwood, California, where it was in use until 1940, the machine reputedly saw considerable service in Death Valley and in the area of the Bullfrog-Beatty boom near the turn of the century.

Mr. Sagerstrom conjectures that it was used for several years in the mid-west before turning up in Nevada.

Journalism Banquet Presents Discussion By Pittman, Dean

"Government and the Press" was the subject of a roundtable discussion held at a banquet given by Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalistic fraternity, last Saturday at the 116 Club in Reno.

The theme for the discussion was centered around two questions. What is the function of the press in our democratic society in relation to the agencies of government and the officials selected to direct these agencies, and what are the obligations of government agencies and their officials and the press to each other?

Governor Vail Pittman of Nevada, a member of Sigma Delta Chi, presented the side of the government, and Graham Dean, publisher of the Reno Evening Gazette, presented the side of the press.

The two opening speeches were followed by a roundtable discussion in which guests Milton B. Badt, associate justice, Nevada supreme court, Francis R. Smith, mayor of the city of Reno, and Colonel Gilbert E. Parker, acting president of the University of Nevada, represented the government, and professional journalists from Reno and other parts of Nevada represented the press.

Undergraduate as well as professional members of Sigma Delta Chi attended the banquet.

Jon Milburn, president of the Nevada chapter, acted as toastmaster, and Edward Olsen, correspondent of the Reno bureau of the Associated Press, was the moderator.

A. L. Higginbotham, faculty advisor to Sigma Delta Chi, and head of the University of Nevada journalism department, and Keiste Janulis, assistant professor in journalism at the university, are both members of Sigma Delta Chi, and attended the banquet.

Calendar Committee Meeting Set

The calendar committee will meet Monday, January 23, at 4 pm in the Journalism building.

It is important that all organizations planning social activities for the spring semester should come prepared to schedule their dates, which will appear on printed Campus Calendar early in the semester.

International Week Program Outlined

Plans for future celebration of International Week were made at the last meeting of the International Club of the University of Nevada at the house of Billie Duffin, 1525 Westfield Avenue, Reno.

Three movies on Switzerland, "Skiing in the Swiss Alps," "Swiss Scrapbook," and "Rhone Valley," were shown to the members by Dr. Q. E. Fortier, university physician. Accompanying the movies were 60 scenic slides on Switzerland with a brief explanatory review by Hilmi Voskay, president of the club, and Turkish honor student at the University of Nevada.

All of the material for the entertainment at the meeting was provided by the Swiss Travel Bureau in New York City. Voskay is now trying to get several travel films from which he hopes to present a synoptic view of western Europe for the international fete to be held here at the education auditorium on January 20.

The International Club has been invited to send delegates to the third annual conference of the International Relations Association which will be held at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, Michigan, from March 30 to April 4.

WOLF PACK OPENS HOME STAND AGAINST PORTLAND, REGIS

University of Nevada Wolf Pack opens an extended home stand tonight against the Pilots of Portland. The two teams will meet again tomorrow night, with Regis College of Denver, Colorado, moving in for one game Monday.

Nevada has already split a two-game series with the Pilots, in the Oregon city. Portland took the opener, 61-60, on a free throw with 10 seconds left to play, and Nevada trampled the Pilots the next night, 66-54.

This time, Nevada enters the series with a record of eight wins and four losses. Previously, the Pack had a record of four and two. On the strength of the previous meetings, the Pack will be favored to win both ends of the two-night stand. Joe Harris, nationally known forecaster whose predictions are carried in an ad in another part of the Sagebrush, has picked Nevada to win the first night game by 22 points, and the second night by 14.

Nevada's frosh will play a preliminary game, at 6:45, against the First National Bank team of the Reno City League.

Regis College of Denver, 1949 champions of the national Catholic tournament, finished last year's play with a record of 36 wins and but three losses. Two of the losses were in the regular season, to Wichita and Denver, while the other was to Hamline, in the NAIB tournament in Kansas City, Missouri.

Sixteen men are carried on this year's Regis roster, led by forward Bob Fisher and center Bryce Hefley. Both were named All-American at the close of the National Catholic tourney last year, and Fisher made the national rating again after the NAIB tourney in Kansas City.

It is no small team the Rangers will bring to Reno. Of the 16 on the roster, only one is shorter than an even six feet. He is guard Bob Wallace, who stands 5-11.

For those interested in statistics, the tallest man on the squad is 6-8. Next comes 6-7, 6-5, 6-4, then two men at 6-3, two at 6-2, and three men at 6-1. The remaining four men are relative shorties, at an even six feet.

Cubs Again

The Wolf Cubs will again play the preliminary to the varsity game, this time against McCaughey Motors of the Reno City League. McCaughey is the team that last Monday beat Roy's Clothiers, for two years city champions. In beating the big guns of the town league, McCaughey overcame a 25-9 halftime deficit, and won the game, 49-43.

Ted Johnson New Leader In Pack Scoring

Trailing the first place position in the varsity scoring by six points, big Ted Johnson racked up 15 and 12 points during the COP series to take the lead, with 132 points.

Dropping to second place with 129, is forward Joe Libke, who led last week.

Here are the scoring standings:

Pack Wins Two To Run Record To Eight-Four

University of Nevada Wolf Pack continued its winning ways last weekend at the expense of the Bengals of College of the Pacific. The Pack ran its season record to eight wins and four losses by trimming the host Tigers in both ends of the two-game series, 69-44 and 55-51.

The first night of play found the Nevadans running the Tigers into submission. So fast a game did the Pack play, and so accurate was its shooting, that Nevada held a 35-17 halftime lead.

Sophomore center Ted Johnson led the offense in the Friday evening contest, racking up 15 points, while adding a fine defensive game. Before the game had ended, Coach Jake Lawlor had played the entire travelling squad. Nevada scoring was further aided by sophomore forward Mert Baxter, who collected 10 points, and senior forward Joe Libke and Hal Hayes, who got eight each.

Saturday night the Tigers roared long and loud, pressing the Pack for its close win. Nevada held a 35-20 halftime lead, but midway during the second half Libke and Hayes were lost by way of the foul route. Pacific took full advantage of the loss to pull a 44-48 deficit, but could get no closer, as the Pack snapped out of its temporary fog to control the ball during the closing moments.

Pacific center, Howie Pearce, took scoring honors for the night with 18 points, while for Nevada Les Ray tanked 13 and Johnson added 12 more to move to first place in the scoring race for the season.

HARLEM GLOBETROTTERS HERE NEXT THURSDAY AND FRIDAY

One of the greatest professional basketball teams in the nation will appear at the University of Nevada gymnasium next Thursday and Friday evenings, when the Harlem Globetrotters come to town with a two night stand of a pair of doubleheaders.

Accompanying the Trotters are the Indiana Clark Twins, the New York Celtics, and the Philadelphia Spas. The Spas won seven titles in 16 years, as members of the American League of the Eastern Professional Basketball Association. The Celtics are rated a fine pro team, while the Clark Twins will provide something seldom seen in professional athletic circles, a team comprised entirely of sets of twins.

Nat "Sweetwater" Clifton, rated by many as the nation's top player, will lead the Globetrotters. Clifton is a six foot six inch center noted for his outstanding ball handling abilities.

Reese "Goose" Tatum will play at one of the forward spots, while other team members include "Babe" Pressley, Elmer Robinson, and Marques Haynes. Haynes adds to the shows with a fine exhibition of dribbling. The troupe is known not only for its fine basketball, but also for its outstanding displays of comedy on the court. In addition to the team named, there are several newcomers with the team this year.

Reserved seat tickets are on sale at Southworth's and Skee's drug store, at $1.80. General admission tickets may be purchased at the gymnasium.

Last year the Globetrotters played to a packed house in Reno, then continued to play before more than 60,000 fans in 11 nights in California. In San Francisco alone they drew a gate of 11,000.

Nevada Frosh Win Tournament During Vacation

Led by high-scoring forward Dan Sullivan, who racked up 40 points in the three games, the University of Nevada frosh took top honors in the Manogue invitational basketball tournament, held December 28, 29, 30.

Seven Reno members of the team gave up three days and nights of the Christmas recess to enter the meet, and made the time worthwhile. In addition to Sullivan, Ed Spoon, Ray Hunter, Ray Marks, Gary Morrison, Larry Bangert, and Dallas SeEVERS donned the Silver and Blue for the tourney.

The frosh treated the hos Manogue Miners rather rudely in their first game, dumping the high school team to the consolation round with a 38-18 pasting. The next night the yearlings took on the rugged Senators from Carson City and handed them a 40-28 setback.

Sparks high's Railroaders provided the final competition for the champs, but bowed, 49-30. In the final game, the frosh ran up 21 points before the Sparks team could enter the scoring column. In addition, they hit six of their first seven shots from the floor, winding up with a 37 per cent field goal average.

Placer College Takes Tourney

Placer College, only team to beat the Nevada frosh so far this season, easily won the Modesto Invitational Basketball Tournament January 7, by dropping the pre-tourney favorite, Menlo JC.

The Modesto affair is usually considered to represent the California Junior College cage title, since it is the only play-off involving representatives of all the major jaycee conferences in the state.

Earlier in the season, the Nevada frosh travelled to Auburn and came out on the very short end of a 76-37 score when they tangled with the Placer crew. Perhaps now this score means something more than it did at the time.

Placer won its way into the finals by winning over a good Visalia JC team, 61-50, then dropped the favored Menlo 63-35, for the crown. Menlo, meanwhile, had reached the finals through a 77-50 win over Pasadena.
