STUDENT SENATE REVOKES FIVE CHARTERS; OK'S SKI SHOW PLANS

By MARY LOU BURG

The ASUN senate, at the regular meeting Wednesday, revoked the charters of five inactive organizations on campus; decided to investigate the Paniwallis organization with the possibility of dropping its charter; approved Block N proposals; accepted the charter of a new group; and approved the report of the nomination committee for the annual ski carnival.

Senator Tom Godbey, Theta Chi, head of the senate investigating committee, read a report stating that five groups haven't adhered to the policies stipulated when their original charter was granted (such as holding regular meeting and keeping up their membership.)

These groups are The Circle, The De Molay, Future Farmers of America, Delta Delta Epsilon, and Forensic Key.

Due to the obstacles faced by Paniwallis, swimming organization, the senate decided to further investigate the case and postponed definite action until a future date.

The senate also approved awarding Block N letters to 26 varsity football men.

Jack Barry, acting president of the Young Democrats of the University of Nevada, submitted the group's constitution to the senate for ratification and acceptance. It was unanimously adopted.

Nevada's annual ski carnival has been set for February 17, 18 and 19. This year a different procedure will be used by the hosts. Instead of one general committee, the nominating body of the senate submitted their plan for two separate councils. One would be the tournament committee and will regulate and set all of the actual skiing program. The other group will take care of the social end of the weekend. The two groups will operate individually. This plan was accepted in its entirety by the senate.

This is the complete list of recognized campus organizations:

Varsity Skiers Suffer Injuries In "Bowl" Race

By JOAN METZGER

Starting off the racing season with gusto, the Sugar Bowl Ski Club sponsored the Wegen Downhill race on Mt. Disney last Sunday. Although snow conditions were excellent, the race proved to be a little more than "early season legs" could stand.

Entered in the race were part of the Nevada ski team who brought home two injured legs and ankles to start the season. Bill Briner, manager of the Nevada skiers, badly twisted and sprained his leg during the first run of the downhill. Hally Berry also suffered a slight sprain of his ankle. Both men got into the deep powder lining the course which was fast and long for a race this early in the year.

Making the first 20 in the men's division in the Wegen race, Les Hawkins tied for eighth after two runs. John Gianotti also entered the race, but failed to place in the first 20 qualifying times for the second run.

Members of the Nevada squad will participate in the Nevada State Championships this weekend at White Hills. Conditions are reported good at the ski area, although both White Hills and Mt. Rose were reported to be icy after the rains. Entry blanks for the States are at the Mt. Rose Sporting Goods downtown. The downhill will start at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and the first run of slalom will be at 1:30 the same afternoon. Second run of slalom will be at 10 o'clock Sunday morning.

Young Democrats Plan Active Role

After a long period of inactivity, the Young Democrats of the University of Nevada, 30 strong, are making plans for the coming campaign and election, according to Jack Barry, acting president of the group.

Wednesday the group had its charter accepted by the ASUN senate.

Aims and purposes of the group are to stimulate thinking on the part of all students and make them take an active part in the structure of the government. One of the prime purposes of the organization is to get people out to register in elections.

First meeting of the group will be held February 8 at which time election of officers for the ensuing year will be held.

Notices for following meetings will be publicly announced and all students are invited to attend, Barry said.

Blue Key Wears Hats On Occasions

No, it isn't golf season yet. Those white golfish looking hats seen around campus are worn by Blue Key members.

Bob Vaughan, president of the honorary service organization, said that from now on Blue Key men will wear their hats on meeting days and ASUN assembly days.

In a meeting Thursday night, Blue Key members discussed plans to help with registration next semester, and made plans for the Blue Key get-together, a dance held at the beginning of every semester to help new students get acquainted. They also approved charters for two new chapters in the west.

3 SHOTS BLAST KAPPA ALPHA THETA SORORITY WINDOW WEDNESDAY

By BEVERLY JONES

Three resounding shots blasted their way into an upstairs window of the Kappa Alpha Theta house Wednesday night.

The shots were fired at 9:50, smashing an upstairs window and shattering glass over the room.

The occupants of the room, Mary Micheo, Terry Alauzet, and Nancy Hecker were not in the room at the time, and the room was darkened.

Two plainclothesmen from the Reno police department, summoned by the housemother, Mrs. Nita Duke, arrived shortly after the shots were fired. They investigat-

'CROOKED CLOTHES SALESMAN' MAY BE HEADED FOR NEVADA

Four New Members Elected to Sagens

Four new members have been elected to Sagens, an honorary women's service organization.

Kay Sterling, president of the organization, disclosed today that the new members elected at the last meeting are Terry Alauzet, Marilyn Neal, Helen Mansfield and Norma Carruth.

Fraternities Warned

By ED SCRIPPS

Nevada fraternity houses should be on the lookout for a garment salesman who is said to be forgetful about fulfilling orders after they are paid for.

In an annual newsletter to Robert S. Griffin, Nevada dean of men, from the National Association of Deans of Men, it was reported that this man has been working in the midwest, and may appear anywhere.

The salesman is said to go under the name of David S. McIntyre or David Skilman, and claims to represent the Interstate Garment Manufacturing Company of Chicago, Illinois, or the John Daniels Company of Knoxville, Tennessee.

He shows samples of excellent suitings at prices in the $20 and $30 range. The orders are either not filled or are filled with inferior merchandise.

The man is wanted by the Interstate Garment Manufacturing Company and the Interfraternity Council at the University of Oklahoma.

The salesman is said to be 40 or 50 years old, about five feet ten inches in height, and weighs about 180 pounds. His hair is dark colored, graying at the temples. He talks with a pronounced southern accent, and wears a University of Kentucky seal ring. He frequently gives an Atlanta, Georgia, address, and possesses a set of letters from deans and college officials.

If such a man turns up he should be reported at once to Dean Griffin's office.

Greeks Settle Down As Finals Approach; Only One Social

A quiet weekend is in store for the members of most of the Greek fraternities because final examinations are coming up soon.

Lambda Chi Alpha will be the only house to hold a social over the weekend. The Lambda Chi's and Pi Phi's are planning a get-together volleyball game at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the gymnasium. The game will be followed by a party at the Lambda Chi chapter house.

Special Meeting

A special Rifle Club meeting will be held on the rifle range at 7 pm Thursday, January 26, according to Tom Macaulay, president of the group.

Monday Is Deadline Literary Magazine Positions Open to Qualified Students

Applications for editorial staff positions on the new student literary magazine must be turned in not later than 2 pm Monday. Applicants must present a brief written statement of their qualifications and interests to the magazine's policy committee. At 3 pm the committee will meet to review applications and to decide who shall be qualified to serve on the editorial staff.

The new magazine is to be sponsored by the English department, and when published, will include only the literary work of university students. Manuscripts from any student will be accepted for consideration.

The policy committee consists of three faculty members, one not a member of the English department, and four students, one not a member of the English department. The faculty members are Charlton Laird, professor in English and chairman of the committee; Stuart Daley, instructor in English; and J. Craig Sheppard, assistant professor of art. Student members include Phillip Payne, George Bennett, and Art Boardman, all English students, and Groce Nooney, a non-English student.

Woodpecker Opens Up On Stewart Hall

A woodpecker, apparently for the fun of it, has been drilling holes through Stewart Hall.

The bird, known as a red shafted flicker, which is a true woodpecker, has already ventilated the west side of the roof with several holes and is now drilling a hole from the attic into the hall at the second floor of the building. The hole by Wednesday was approximately two and one-half inches by three inches in size.

Carl Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds, says that he is going to give the bird one day's grace, and if he is not gone he will have to gas him out with cyanide.

The bird apparently means well, according to Frank Richardson, assistant professor of biology, who explained that the little bird eats ants and insects from the ground and does not generally take to pecking holes in buildings.

"It isn't the bird's nesting season," Professor Richardson said, "and that type of bird generally pecks for the fun of it, anyway. He added that the bird may be sleeping there nights, but usually the species would not associate at such a place.

Crucible Club Hears Mining Talk

"Round Mountain Placer Operations" was the subject of the talk given to the Crucible Club by guest speakers Louis Gordon and Al Silvers Tuesday night in the Mackay School of Mines.

Mr. Gordon, who is chairman of the Nevada section of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, and Mr. Silvers, meteorologist, told about the placer operations going on at Round Mountain.

LETTER TO EDITOR

The time has come to start making plans for the coming football season. The University of Nevada has a very good schedule this year, and every effort should be made to make it a successful one. Every conceivable plan should be considered that will boost student and team spirit, and increase both student, and cash customer attendance at home games.

To aid in accomplishing these ends, I suggest the present rules governing the rooting section (if there are any rules). Only students who attend the rallies will be permitted in the rooting section by special tickets. This will assure us of an organized rooting section composed of students, not a mixed section of half students and half outsiders who never let out a peep. On the day of a game here in Reno, a parade should be held before noon, with all available students participating, on foot or in cars, bearing banners such as: "Let's Beat St. Mary's!" "Let's All Go to the Game" etc. This will aid considerably in boosting school spirit and will aid greatly at the box office.

Perhaps we need a good publicity manager.

Yours very truly,
W. C. CLARK.

Alumni 'Wolfprints' May Be Combined With Sagebrush

An incorporation of the Wolfprints, the Alumni monthly, into the Sagebrush, was discussed at the regular meeting of the publications board recently.

Bob Kent, business manager of the Sagebrush, asked permission of the board to increase the Sagebrush by two pages each week to be used by the alumni secretary for alumni news.

By increasing the size of the Sagebrush with the addition of the alumni section would increase the amount of papers printed by approximately 1000 copies weekly to cover the alumni needs.

Kent stated that an increase of this type would have a larger amount of circulation throughout the state and would play an active role in bringing Nevada's high school students into contact with the activities of the school and would create an interest to these students to continue on at the University of Nevada instead of going to school in some other state.

Kent and Gene McKenna, editor of the Sagebrush, were appointed by the board to attend the next meeting of the alumni board and discuss the possibilities of such a combination.

ANIMAL HUSBANDRY MEMBERS COMPETE IN JUDGING CONTEST

Dr. Earl W. Sheetz, head of the animal husbandry department, today congratulated members of the livestock judging team on their showing at the Western Livestock Show in Denver last Saturday "despite," he said, "the handicap of not having university animals with which to work."

Very few animals are available to classes for practice in livestock judging, but this problem is being partially solved through the purchase of several Hereford beef cattle by the Experiment Station from noted Nevada breeders. These animals are now being fattened out and will soon be available for student use.

In Denver the university team placed fourth in quarter horse judging, tenth in beef cattle, eleventh in hogs and fourteenth in sheep judging.

Ray Alzola amassed the greatest number of points for the Nevada team and placed fourteenth in the individual judging of hogs. Betty Bassett placed eleventh in quarter horse judging. More than 70 individuals competed in the judging contest, which lasted more than ten hours.

Other members of the judging team were Laura Mae Sauer, Gary Hyde, Eyer Boies, and Lester McKenzie.

According to Laura Mae Sauer, the beef cattle which numbered more than 1300, were among the finest she had ever seen. Many of the displays, she said, were animals owned and shown by colleges against which Nevada competed.

Colleges competing in the judging contest were Colorado A&M, Iowa State, Kansas State, Montana State, New Mexico A&M, Nebraska, North Dakota Agricultural, Oklahoma A&M, South Dakota State, Texas Tech, Utah State, Wyoming, and Nevada.

Air Force Medics
Call for Nurses

The Air Force Medical Service is a new branch of the Army Air Force and is recruiting registered nurses for flight nurse training.

Women may serve as flight nurses on completing one year of active duty. After receiving a reserve commission, they may apply for extended active duty for one to three years.

Candidates must be fit for flying and under 30 years of age. Those who complete this course will receive an extra salary in addition to their base pay and allowances while on active flying duty.

Complete information is available by writing to the Surgeon General, USAF, Washington 25, D. C.

Sagers Meeting Set

Next regular meeting of the Sagers, campus service organization, has been announced for Tuesday night at 7 pm in the ASUN building.

Election, discussion of initiation, dues, and presentation of awards, if they are in, will take place.

YWCA TO CLEAR WAY FOR DP TO ATTEND UNIVERSITY IN FALL

Recently, the YWCA of the University of Nevada announced plans to make it possible for a displaced person from Europe to attend the university here next fall.

"The university has agreed to waive tuition fee if the International Relief Organization consents to send a student to Reno," said Mrs. Marjorie Dickinson, executive secretary of the YWCA of the University of Nevada.

Before IRO will consider the application for a student, it must be assured the person has a job, board, room, books and spending money during the one-year stay.

The student's record, at the end of the school year, will be reviewed in order to determine whether he should be allowed to attend the university for another year.

Suzanne Leake, chairman for the committee on World Relativeness, and various members of her committee have approached several organizations and individuals in the hope of getting support for the plan.

Mrs. Dickinson said the group is hopeful that a Reno family will offer to house the student, and that a local organization will guarantee $15 to $25 a month spending money for the year, or at least part-time employment.

Other problems connected with the plan will probably be ironed out right on the campus, it was said.

Just as the university sponsor must meet certain requirements, the IRO which is a unit of the United Nations, requires that prospective students must meet specific standards.

First, they must be displaced persons, either political refugees or persons whose homes were destroyed during the war.

They must be able to speak English to be permitted to this country for university work, and must not be studying for professions which are already over-filled in the United States.

"About 300 displaced persons are now waiting in New York to be placed in universities, but this group will probably be placed before September, 1950, when the University of Nevada considers enrolling a DP.

Dick Tomas, regional secretary for World Student Service Fund, which is assisting in placing students was January 19 and 20. He spoke informally with members of the DP committee and interested faculty members.

Vine Roots Cause Library Damage

The basement of the library was flooded Tuesday when the main sewer serving all of the west side of the campus was blocked up by roots, according to Carl Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds.

A crew of four plumbers worked frantically all day Tuesday and Wednesday to alleviate the obstruction and found the case to be Virginia creeper roots. The vines grow on the walls of the library, and their roots had to penetrate 14 feet to reach the main sewer.

Another sewer in front of Morrill Hall stopped up the same day but was opened with less trouble, Mr. Horn said.

He will have to remove some of the Virginia creepers to prevent a recurrence of the accident, he added.

Damage could not be estimated as yet, but according to Superintendent Horn, the labor alone will cost around $200.

Mr. James J. Hill, the librarian, said that as far as he knew no books or other items were damaged as the water was confined for the most part to the two rest rooms, and did not reach a high enough level in the rest of the basement.

Geology Lecturer To Visit Campus

One of the nation's prominent authorities on geology will visit the campus next week to speak at a meeting of Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific society. The announcement was made Wednesday by the president's office.

Dr. George G. Simpson, of the American Museum of Natural History, will discuss the effect of geology and evolution in the development of the animals of Latin America.

He will address Sigma Xi on January 26 in the Mackay Science Hall lecture room. University personnel and the public have been invited.

Tumblers Plan Stunts for Halftime

During the halftime of the next basketball game the tumbling team will put on an exhibition known as the "elephant," which consists of various antics performed by using the springboard and parallel bars.

Different vaults, dives, and flips will be performed in which all members of the tumbling team will take part. Highlight of the evening will be the attempt to perform a triple past dive with seven of the team members participating.

Members of the tumbling team are Gene Wait, Jack Parke, Jerry Schafer, Dave Cochrane, Irving Hackett, Earle Dempsey, Jim Etcheto, Don Thompson, Bob Caughlin, and Bob Arnesen.

Griffin Announces
New VA Ruling
Concerning Hours

Veterans will not be allowed to count non-credit courses toward the university requirement that students carry a minimum of 12 credit hours.

In previous years, announced Robert S. Griffin, dean of men, in a statement concerning the new ruling, the VA has allowed courses such as English A and math A to count toward determining the minimum study load of 12 hours which is required for full subsistence.

A recent VA ruling specifies that in order to qualify for full subsistence allowance, a man must be carrying 12 hours work for which he receives full university credit. English A, math A, and other such courses will have to be taken in addition to the 12 hours' credit courses. This regulation will be put into effect at the time of registration for next semester.

Grades Withheld
If Library Fines
Are Not Paid

Grades will not be released to any students owing fines at the library at the end of the semester. This warning was issued by the library this week in order that students may pay up fines early.

Adding to the book collection at the library, Mr. Irving DeRoy of Reno donated 49 books from his own collection. Among the volumes contributed are three volumes of "History of Human Marriage," by Edward Westmarck; five volumes of "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," by Edward Gibbon; "Pipes O' Pan," by James Whitcomb Riley; "Chaucer," by Skeat; "Boswell's Life of Johnson," "Keat's Complete Poetical Works," "Works of Robert Burns," "Shelley's Complete Poetical Works," and "At the Sign of the Reine Pedaque," "Thais," and "Jocasta and the Famished Cat," all by Anatole France.

It Wasn't Easy Field Study Class Finds Trouble Due to Snow During Friday Trip

Coping with unexpected snow blizzards on the highway is definitely a man-size job, and seven members of a game management field study group proved that they could handle the situation.

According to Dr. Frank Richardson, associate professor of biology, this is what happened:

The game management group left the Red Rock region north of Reno at 4:00 pm last Friday after observing deer herds in that area.

Fortunately, as it turned out, the group had decided to make the trip in a four-wheel drive army surplus vehicle belonging to Virgil Hart, a member of the group, instead of the university bus.

The class encountered the full force of the 60 mile per hour gale and the ever deepening snow drifts near the old Reno Army Air Base, but were able to proceed without too much difficulty.

Between the air base and the Black Springs settlement, the group came across a long line of parked cars, a bus and a cattle truck. Upon investigation it was found that two northbound cars had skidded and blocked the highway for the southbound traffic.

Instead of waiting for help, the group attached skid chains to Hart's truck and proceeded to tow the two cars from the highway that were blocking the southbound traffic and also three more whose motors had been flooded out by the driving snow. Passengers from the stalled cars found transportation back to Reno by squeezing into Hart's already crowded truck.

Most of the remaining cars followed the game management group into Reno, but others waited for rescue by the national guard.

Dr. Richardson had much praise for Dave Collings, sophomore engineering student, who made the trip as a guest of the game management group. Richardson said that Collings did an outstanding job of directing the traffic and in helping to clear the road of stalled cars.

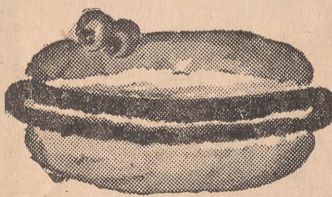

Members of the game management group who made this trip were Virgil and Beth Hart, Kay Johnson, Bob Sumner, Glen Christensen, Dr. Richardson and Dave Collings.

Snow Strands Hill Student

Bob Karrasch, sophomore agriculture student, was stranded overnight southwest of Reno Saturday when his light car was swept off a county road by a gust of wind into a waist deep drift.

Failing in his efforts to remove the car, Karrasch walked several miles into a ranch, where he telephoned the county road crew.

A large diesel caterpillar was sent to the ranch, where Karrasch was found suffering from exposure and possible frost bite.

Little Hatch Act Provisions Suspended Until Regents Meet

Suspension of the provisions of the controversial "Little Hatch Act" until the board of regents meets was announced last week by Acting President Gilbert Parker.

Some of the members of the faculty had criticized the act because of its restriction on their political activity. They have questioned whether political activity is detrimental to the university.

The regents who passed the act last month in an attempt to prevent "undesirable political activity," will meet February 17 and 18.

Foreign Student Life Told To YWCA Group

Student life in other countries was told by 16 University of Nevada international students at an all association meeting of the YWCA Tuesday evening at the Gamma Phi Beta house.

The students were introduced by Hilmi Voskay, of Turkey, who is the president of the International Club on the campus. Requirements for schooling and general conditions of the schools in contrast to American universities and high schools were discussed.

Those participating were Bodil Petersen, of Denmark; Anneliese Fuhrmann, of Germany; Vim Houwink, of the Netherlands; Madhukar Sapre, of India; Hilmi Voskay, of Turkey; Antonia Saborio, of Costa Rica; Tashin Karacabay, of Turkey; Zeki Ma, of Turkey; Anthony Kawerk, of Lebanon; Ayfer Derbil, of Turkey; Gianni Riva, of Italy; Mrs. Yvonne Chamberlin, of France; Mrs. Mary Palmer, of Canada; Fernando Carrol, of South America; Richard Korb, of Brazil, and Otto Krause, of Austria.

Europe Trip Students Waiting Approval

Dr. Paul H. Jensen, assistant professor of education, announced today that the list of proposed members of this summer's European tour has been sent to faculty members for final approval.

Dr. Jensen stated that he expects to have the fully approved, complete list of tour members early next week.

It's all over, including the shouting. The crown has been worn proudly, but now it's back to the routine of being an airline hostess for LaDene Wagoner. Here she's shown while being crowned Orange Bowl Queen. The comely lass doing the honors is actress Colleen Townsend. Oh, yes, the crowning was all for the Miami, Fla., football game between the University of Santa Clara and the University of Kentucky, which the former won, 21-13.

Humanities Group Hears Dr. Poole

The Humanities Group, an informal faculty discussion group, met last Monday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. John Morrison. Dr. Morrison is an instructor of English.

Dr. Robert H. Poole, assistant professor of foreign languages, discussed "The Role of Modern Languages in the Humanities Program."

Tom Bell Elected

Tom Bell heads the ATO's for the coming semester after the election and installation held at the regular house meeting last Monday night. Bell replaces Dave Kinneberg.

UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE

The friendly bookstore on the edge of the campus

We just don't know how it happened? It was on one of our Blue Books too. It was like this — she very legibly dashed off the answers, naturally with an Esterbrook; her info was not only based on a 49 text and accompanying books from our shelves but from class notes neatly kept in a Book Store binder. We don't understand it, but the grade she received was just a "B".

This inconsistency is being investigated...

Brush Strokes

By MARK CURTIS

Rose and Joe, keepers of the Wolf Den, have been invited to the June graduation exercises for the past three years. They've never attended. Why? It takes four years to graduate, doesn't it? This is their fourth year so they'll graduate . . . cum laude. But in just the three years, they've made the Wolf Den a landmark. Mail finds them addressed "Mr. Den Wolf, Reno" or "The Wolf Den, Sparks," and Xmas cards pour in from all parts of the world. More romance begins here than the Cliff House of S. F. Rose could fill a book with the cross-the-counter-heart-to-hearts she's had with the kids. Stan Heath usta worry that some talent scout would whisk Jeanne Garland away.

SHORT SHORT: Two guys were trading idle conversation on the hill the other day when one dropped the remark his grandfather had killed his best friend in a gun fight in eastern Nevada 50 years ago. The other student looked up, slight frown, and asked who the victim was. The guy told him and asked, "Know him?" . . . to which "Knew of him" as the reply. "He was my great-grandfather." . . . In the nursery in the Aggie building there are two tricycles for the kids. A blue one and a red one. If these two-year-olds are any indication of future thinking, Nevada will have to change its school colors. The blue trike is ignored completely . . . but they could sell tickets for a ride on the red job.

ON MANNERS: From the Associated Women Students Social Blue Book . . . "Do not say 'Glad to meet you,' when introduced. 'I am glad to know you' is permissible. In most campus introductions a simple 'Hello John' seems best." (That may seem best for John. What about the rest of us?) . . . "And girls, it's your place to speak first whether Wally or Sam look like they're going to speak or not, but that, fellows, doesn't mean you shouldn't speak until the girl does. Let's keep our campus friendly" (O. K.! O. K.! Just let's not fight over who goes first) . . . "The idea of eating a meal isn't to race through it as fast as you can; on the other hand, don't let everyone else finish long before you. Watch the rate of your tablemates and keep up with them." (Who sets the pace?) . . . ON MORALS: A survey of the nation's campuses reveals that college morals are at a new high . . . despite several campus slayings . . . and drinking tragedies (Like our near-miss). We're more serious today . . . no more swallowing gold fish . . . veterans are the stabilizing factor. Best of all, students won't tolerate intolerance.

Journalism instructor Michael Graben's wife, Margo, is the daughter of a co-founder of the 4-H organization. Every 4-H-er knows the name Erickson. His sister was the originator of the school hot lunch program. . . . E. W. Scripps, one of the outstanding figures in American journalism, one time head of a chain of 34 newspapers, despised schools and colleges. In choosing men for important jobs, he considered a college education a disadvantage. Grandson and namesake, Edward Wyllis is a student in journalism here at Nevada. . . . Isn't it odd that while Nevada's senator Pat McCarran continues his arguments against allowing DP's into this country, Nevada's only institution of higher learning is trying to make it possible for some of these unfortunates to attend the university next fall?

In the second game against Portland Saturday night, a foul was called against a Portland player. The referee wanted to take him out of the game. In the ensuing squabble, Jake Lawlor stepped forward and blew out the flame with "I'd rather lose the game than win it that way." . . . Well he lost by three points . . . and was patten' the guys on the back when they failed to tie the game up in a last desperate try. Now, how you gonna beat a guy like that? . . . Because there maybe won't be a freshman football squad next year (to skim the cream off) Sheeketski made a few scouting stops at junior colleges. . . . The hot dog in the Wayne's Drive In ad of the Brush finally got turned right side up. The olives had been hanging by their pimnos for two months.

ASSEMBLY NOTES: Student reaction to Nevada assemblies . . . something like atomic fission, only the student body breaks up and disperses faster. . . . Apathy, which almost rhymes with naturally—go together on the Hill. . . . Spirit is something you buy in a bottle. . . . Jerry Wyness' jokes can't be blamed. The offended are the only ones who keep showing up for assemblies and rallies. . . . Wayne Osborn's rebuke to the sophomore class should have been addressed to the whole student body . . . only who's ever seen the whole student body together? Don't be surprised if variety show assemblies are kicked out . . . for variety.

Gamma Phis Hold Party, Coke Hour

Although sorority social engagements are being tapered off to allow study time for semester tests, a big and little sister party was given by the Gamma Phi Beta's on Wednesday evening. The little sisters escorted their big sisters to a movie, and then everyone returned to the sorority house, where refreshments were served and the girls played games.

This afternoon, the Gamma Phi Beta's will hold their usual coke hour from 3 to 5 pm. Everyone is invited.

Polkateers Elect

The Polkateers elected new officers for the coming semester last week.

Newly elected office holders are Everett Cutler, president; Nilda Cox, vice-president; and Barbara Hendricksen, secretary. Jo Ann Barbash, Madhu Sapre and Melvin Sharp were elected to the executive council.

The Polkateers held their last meeting of the semester yesterday. Cokes and cookies were on the menu.

Pupil: "I'm pretty sure it was the last one."

Roller Skating Proves Popular

Roller skating, reinstated on the campus three weeks ago, has proved so popular that skating hours will be extended from 7 until 10 every Saturday night. Also, to accommodate the number of skaters who have turned out on previous Saturdays, 20 additional pairs of skates have been ordered, a coke concession is to be sponsored by the PEM's, and new skating records are to be selected.

Roller skating privileges are available only to university students, faculty and members of the secretarial staff or extension service and their husbands or wives. Those who wish to rent skates or use the gym floor for skating are asked to bring their student body cards or some other form of identification.

A 25c rental fee is charged for the use of skates. No fee is charged to those owning their own skates, provided they are regulation rink skates with wooden rollers.

Ski Club Holds Informal Party

Poor visibility last Saturday caused a short-notice transfer of an informal Ski Club party from the Mount Rose Chalet to the Villa Sierra night club.

Approximately 35 persons wearing ski clothes attended the party.

Don Thompson supplied square dance music on his fiddle during the short intermissions taken by the club orchestra.

Brent Aiken, president of the Ski Club, stated that several more informal parties are being planned for this season.

American Sports 'Dangerous,' Says Moscow

Associated Press carried this story on its wire last Monday.

A Moscow newspaper has plenty to say about sports in the United States today, and most of the comment is derogatory.

The newspaper claims that the only people who can afford to engage in sports are the rich and the professionals. According to the Moscow newspaper, farmers and workers have neither money nor time for sports.

Here are other comments from the Russian capital on American sports:

"American boxing has turned into repulsive sadistic spectacles in which criminals and gangsters engage, and in which there are a greater number of fatalities than anywhere else in the world."

"Wrestlers are continually thinking up newer and newer repulsive means of shocking spectators."

"American football, hockey, auto races, bicycle races, motorcycle races and other sports are organized to assure the maximum number of deaths and maimings."

The newspaper ended its comment on American sports by claiming that all physical education classes have been transformed into schools for the preparation of sport instructors for the army. The newspaper added that militarization has penetrated the YMCA and other sport institutions.

The Moscow newspaper said in conclusion that the "ordinary people of America are resisting actively the attempt to militarize sports."

In our relationship with others, there are few things that are wholly right or wholly wrong. Between them lies a vast field of human conduct over which we can say: "It all depends."

PE Instructors Go To Conference

Miss Ruth Russell, chairman of the department of physical education for women, and Miss Marge Price and Miss Faye Briggs, instructors in the department, left today to attend a weekend conference of the Western Society of College Women.

The conference, to be held in the Fairmont Hotel in Berkeley, California, will include representatives from Nevada, California, Oregon, Idaho, Washington, Utah, Arizona and New Mexico.

While there, one of the delegates from Nevada will lead a discussion on the "Standardizing of Techniques in Swimming, Tennis and Badminton." During tomorrow's sessions, Miss Russell will act as chairman of a section meeting on "General Campus Recreation Problems."

Infirmiry Report

Colds, touches of flue, and similar ailments were on the increase this week, said Mary Rotter, head nurse at the university infirmary.

She blames the unusual weather conditions for the number of complaints and illnesses.

Patients confined at the campus sick bay last Wednesday were Harold Dale, Roger Banta, Mabel Turner, and Kathryn Sterling. Several patients were discharged during the week.

Pack Tracks

Nevada's varsity put on one of the finest exhibitions of basketball seen locally for a long time in the second half of last Monday's game against the Regis Rangers. Any team that trails 31-24 at the half, then comes back to tack on 45 points in the remainder of the game, has potential greatness. We don't know what Coach Jake Lawlor told the gang in the locker room during the recess, but it must have been pure dynamite to blast them into that kind of action.

The three games played here by the varsity over the weekend probably produced two members of the season's all-opponent team. Those who saw the Portland series will understand why I, for one, figure that guard Warren Brown will make the grade. The guy plays guard or forward, and makes about any shot in the book. And some spectators think he is re-writing the book.

One of the hottest offensive centers to hit here in many a moon is Bryce Heffley of Regis. The 6-5 pivot man drove Nevada slightly mad in the Monday night game, dropping in 16 points in the first half, although he actually played only about half of that time. He finished the game as high point man, with 24.

As a result of the come-back win, together with the rest of the Pack's record for the year, some of the more enthusiastic fans on the hill seem to think Nevada is headed toward a berth in the NAIB tourney in Kansas City. That's a pretty long haul. I wonder what San Jose State thinks of that?

National basketball and football forecaster, Joe Harris, whose predictions are carried in the Reno Print ad in the Brush, wants to give Nevada two more wins than are physically possible. He predicts a double win for the Pack this weekend over Sacramento. The Pack doesn't play them at all, let alone this week. He figures Nevada to win by 23 and 15 points. I wonder where he gets his schedules.

SULLIVAN FIRST FOR WOLF CUBS

Dan Sullivan of Reno is still holding onto a slim lead in the frosh basketball scoring race. At the completion of eight games on the regular schedule (exclusive of the Manague tourney), Sullivan has 54 points.

Ed Spoon of Reno is second with 50, while third place goes to George Williams of Winnemucca, who has 38 points.

Board Approves Ski Schedule

The board of athletic control recently approved Norman Olsen as tournament director for the Nevada Winter Carnival. Board members also approved the Vanderbilt, Utah Winter Carnival, the Nevada Winter Carnival, and the Pacific Coast Interscholastic Ski Union meets for the Nevada team.

Local meets to be participated in by the Nevada lower squad include the Silver Belt at Donner, the Nevada State Championships, the National Giant Slalom at Donner, the Lake Tahoe Ski Club Four Way Meet, the Snowshoe Thompson Memorial Race and the FWSA Classic Combined at White Hills. The Silver Dollar Derby, and the FWSA Giant Slalom Championships at Squaw Valley.

Decision on the Banff meet was not reached, but final action on whether or not the team will go to Banff will be taken soon, according to Gene Mastroianni, graduate manager.

Pack Record Run To Ten and Five Frosh Win Two, Lose One, To City Teams

University of Nevada's varsity cagers, after meeting last weekend with a record of eight wins and four losses, split a Friday-Saturday series against the Portland Pilots, then dumped a well regarded Regis College five Monday night.

Friday night, the Pack took a win from the Pilots in a sizzling 78-73 game, with Ted Johnson leading the way in the scoring with 20 points. Saturday night, the picture changed, and the Nevadans had trouble buying a basket on occasions, dropping the game, 66-69. This time it was Mert Baxter who showed his heels to the rest of the gang in the basket making department, with 22 points.

Regis College's Rangers held a 31-24 lead at the half in the Monday contest, but Nevada came back with one of the hottest ball clubs seen here in a long time, and racked up 45 points in the second half, to take a 69-50 win.

Strangely enough, Nevada players were not the ones to hold the spotlights in any of the three games.

In the Portland series, a guard named Warren Brown played enough basketball so he will probably wind up on the all-opponent team. Friday evening he tanked 18 points, then followed with 22 on Saturday.

More possible all-opponent material is Bryce Heffley, 6-5 center for the Regis Rangers. Heffley was named All-American after last year's Catholic national tournament. He well showed he earned the award when he played here. In addition to playing a fine defensive game, Heffley tanked 24 points, to lead all scoring during the weekend basketball spree.

Nevada's record now stands at 10-5, with San Jose State next on the list, January 27-28.

Nevada's Wolf Cubs, the university freshman basketball team, opened hostilities against the Reno city league Friday night, then continued it Saturday and Monday. The result was a loss in the first game of the series, then two wins.

Friday evening, the Cubs dropped a I-just-can't-hit-the-basket game to the First National Bank of Reno "A" loop, 37-35. Saturday night, they came back strong against a favored McCaughey Motors team of the "AA" league, to win, 66-52. Not only were the frosh hotter than a two-dollar pistol in their shooting, but one of the top flight high school athletes in Nevada, Earl Dunn of Nixon, missed the game for the motormen. His presence would undoubtedly have made a difference to McCaughey, but whether or not he could have turned the tide far enough is a debatably issue. The frosh were just plain hot that night, and that type ball club is hard to stop.

Monday, the YMCA of the "AA" loop entered the web of the spiders of the court and fell victim of another night of good basketball, 52-47. Although they held a 30-13 half time margin, the frosh allowed the YMCA to take a 38-35 lead before they snapped back to their first half brand of play.

Their record now stands at six wins and two losses.

Press Club Hears UP Correspondent

Robert Bennyhoff, local United Press correspondent, explained the workings of the UP service last night during a Press Club meeting at the Kappa Alpha Theta house. The Press Club is a student journalism organization on campus.

Bennyhoff attended the University of Nevada before he was associated with the United Press. The war interrupted his career, and he saw action overseas with the Army Air Force in the European theater of operations.

After his discharge he was again employed with the United Press and was one of six correspondents chosen from the United Press organization to witness and record the Bikini atomic experiment in the Pacific.

Pansies May Bloom Soon, Florist Says

If the warm weather continues, the pansies that were planted in front of Morrill Hall last fall might begin to bloom soon.

Petunias and snapdragons will be planted in March and the rest of the flowers in April.
