Evidence Shows University Dining Hall Food Contaminated

Editor's Note: For a complete account of the following story, see the Letter to the Editor on the editorial page of this issue.

Claims that the university dining hall food is contaminated on occasions was substantiated and revealed today. A specimen of food from Monday, May 8, examined under low and high power microscopes, revealed an abundance of aphids, their molted skins, and small spiders.

The evidence was corroborated by Dr. Ira LaRivers, assistant professor of biology.

The food specimen has been preserved and is now in the biology department.

Emil Ott, senior biology student, and regular diner at the university dining hall, made the examination on some brussel sprouts after noticing a few suspicious spots on the food. He asked Dr. LaRivers to examine the food and to verify his findings.

"The contamination found on the sprouts results from a lack of washing," Dr. LaRivers said today.

"Bacteria such as this are usually found on all greens before washing, but any sort of processing through water will remove them," he pointed out.

Five Students Lose Hartman Hall Privileges

Five men students of the University of Nevada have been deprived of dormitory privileges for the rest of the year as a result of infringements on house rules at Hartman Hall.

"The administration acted only after the situation had been carefully examined and the evidence and testimony of the parties concerned had been duly considered," said Gilbert E. Parker, acting president of the university.

Complaints against the five men, all members of the football team, were lodged by a student committee in charge of Hartman Hall. It was alleged that these students were often disorderly and that they annoyed other men in the dormitory.

In denying further dormitory privileges to the five men, President Parker said he acted on three factors. First, the evidence of disorderliness in the dormitory; second, complaints from the parents of men in the hall; and third, a report after an investigation by the dean of men.

President Parker stated that before a decision was made, he personally carried on an investigation of the situation. He heard the testimony of a dozen men living in the hall and also the testimony of the five men involved.

Joe Sheeketski, director of athletics, said some of the evidence seemed inconclusive, and the penalty too stiff under the circumstances.

The five men involved readily admitted some of the charges but denied that they were guilty of all the charges.

Press Club Plans To Initiate Sunday

The annual initiation breakfast of the Press Club of the University of Nevada will be held at the Trocadero Sunday morning at 9 o'clock, according to June Holmes, chairman of the committee.

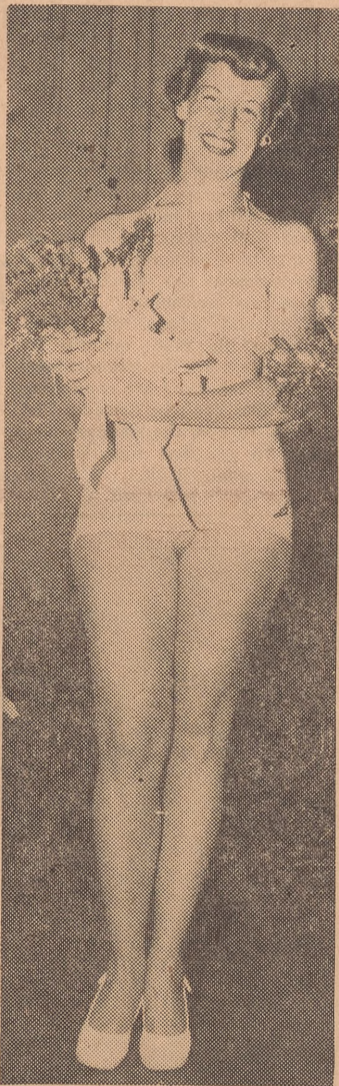

Speakers for the occasion will be Joe McDonald, editor of the Nevada State Journal and Graham Dean, editor of the Reno Evening Gazette.

Members of the committee are June Holmes, chairman, and Pat DeWalt and Rose Marie Faul, assistants.

Purpose of the breakfast is to initiate new members into the Press Club and give them a background on its activities.

All members of the Press Club and guests are invited and must contact Miss Holmes for reservations.

Engineers Day Set; Big Exhibit, Contests

Joey Miles Chosen Queen for 32nd Event; New Car Display, Barbeque

By RODLIN GOFF

Tomorrow is the 32nd annual Engineers Day at the university, and engineering students have chosen Joey Miles as queen to reign over the event.

All engineering buildings and exhibits will be open from 9 am until 5 pm and during the day contests in surveying, riveting, calculating with the slide rule, drilling and mucking will be held. Trophies for these events have been donated by downtown merchants.

Election of the Engineers Day queen was held last Tuesday. All engineering students were eligible to vote, with a field of six candidates: Corrine Jorgenson, Gamma Phi Beta; Joan Melner; Kappa Alpha Theta; Roberta Lundy, Pi Beta Phi, and Barbara Russel, Artemisia Hall.

Engineers Day, sponsored by the Associated Engineers, a group representing the different departments. The department which wins the exhibits of interest throughout the various buildings of the engineering school.

There will be no charge for anything other than refreshments. In all contests, revolving trophies will be awarded to the teams representing the different departments. The department which wins the trophy for two years will be awarded permanent possession of it, and a new one will replace it.

QUEEN JOEY

Joey Miles, Manzanita Hall, was selected from a field of six to reign over the 32nd annual Engineers Day here tomorrow.

Joey, now completing her second year at Nevada, is a 21 year old psychology major from Carson City. Miss Miles will receive the queen's trophy from Emory Branch, Reno city manager, tomorrow night at the engineers barbeque.

NOTICE

Bids on printing, photography, engraving, etc., will be accepted by the graduate manager's office for the 1950-51 University of Nevada Sagebrush and Artemisia up until 4 pm on May 24, 1950.

Electrical engineering program for Engineers Day includes approximately 22 exhibits ranging from a public operated radar screen to hamburgers cooked by running current directly through the meat.

The entire department, both staff and students, have been preparing their displays for the past two weeks.

Plans include a "roving reporter" who will broadcast interviews with persons attending the exhibit over the public address system throughout the day.

Among the many exhibits to be operated by the public, there will be a radar screen set up in the quadrangle, a telescript device, with which one may write on a pad and the writing will appear on a screen, micro wave equipment and an electric train controlled by a flashlight.

Other exhibits include the "lazy miner," a pick swinging back and forth at a ledge with no visible source of power, magnetic induction displays, an electric welding exhibit, and several demonstrations of stroboscopic light.

A historical radio display featuring old receivers and the evolution of the modern radio, and a smoke precipitator are included in the EE department program.

Mackay School of Mines

Bill Flangas and Val Larson, co-chairmen of the mining exhibit, said plans include such exhibits as the 100 pound an hour test mill in operation, and including demonstrations of flotation, crushing, gravity stamps, and a Wilfley table. Lead ore will be used for the demonstrations.

Assaying of gold and silver will be going on throughout the day.

GIANOTTI WINS BLOCK "N" POST; GAFFEY, MARFISI, SULLIVAN ELECTED

John Gianotti, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, was elected Block N representative in the final elections held yesterday. Gianotti is from Scotia, California, a junior student. He won by a plurality of 270 votes.

Other candidates, Arthur Wigg and Herman Fisher, received 184 and 215 votes respectively. Wigg was nominated by Phi Sigma Kappa and Fisher by Alpha Tau Omega.

Tom Gaffey won the race for senior class manager. Gaffey received 77 votes and Alzola 59. Alzola was nominated by Alpha Tau Omega.

Frank Marfisi, Sigma Nu, was elected junior class manager by 107 votes cast in his favor. Fred Lee received 61 votes.

Dan Sullivan, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, is sophomore class manager. He received 171 votes and Bob Gallagher received 119.

All amendments received an affirmative vote. The amendment on finance control missed by such a narrow margin, however, it will be necessary for it to go before the ASUN senate. The senate will decide whether or not it will be accepted.

All amendments except III were received by a large majority of the votes. Votes cast were as follows: I, 582 yes, 40 no; II, 534 yes, 92 no; IV, 588 yes, 45 no; V 430 yes, 199 no. Alternative 1 of amendment III received 390 votes, alternative 2 received 328.

FEEL LIKE PAINTING?

Whether they were vandals or just election-happy campusites, some university people committed an act very unbecoming to them last Thursday evening.

The morning after the student elections, the Mackay statue was found heavily dobed with yellow paint over the head and the base.

Great care had to be used in taking off the paint, as scrubbing would remove the patina of the statute from under the paint, giving a mottled appearance.

Luckily the paint was not an oil base and was removed by careful soaking as it is similar to the paint placed on autos by students in the past election campaign.

Our suggestion to those students who have nothing better to do than slap the Mackay statue with paint, is to take their equipment up that big hill to our northwest and sling some whitewash over the "N". If you feel like painting here's your big opportunity.

But let's keep our campus somewhat decent.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

May 14, 1950

Dear Editor:

After being penned in the north end of the student parking lot for the umpteenth time, I've come to the conclusion that our sheriff has not much on the ball.

Now that the snow is gone, the parking lines are seemingly obvious—however, there are almost as many cars in the driveways as there are within the parking lanes.

The sheriff has devoted most of his time to the faculty parking lot—thereby ignoring the student situation that was so closely depicted in a cartoon in a recent edition of your paper.

A few years back, only upper classmen and the faculty could park on the campus and in my opinion, it would be better to revert to this situation than to pay for traffic supervision that we are not getting.

If the sheriff would spend a little more time on the job and a little less time in the snack bar this situation might be corrected—at any rate it wouldn't be inanced.

Seriously yours,
R. BARBASH.

Letter to Editor

To the Editors:

Everybody yells about the food at the dining hall. I realize that no matter where you eat or what you eat there is usually at least one thing wrong with the chow. This is not a gripe about the taste, quantity, or service.

However, students, remember the brussel sprouts you ate for lunch on Monday the eighth? Well, I've got news for you. They were contaminated with filth ranging from aphids and spiders to just plain dirt. Having a normal instinct for self-preservation, I usually take a quick glance over what I am going to stick in my mouth.

Monday I noted some suspicious spots that appeared to be pepper or seasoning, so I was told anyway. After getting the usual razzberry from my fellow colleagues, I decided to take the evidence over to the lab and have a good look at it. My suspicions that all was not well were confirmed, and you will no doubt be interested in the results.

Under careful low and high power microscopic examination there was revealed an abundance of aphids, their molted skins, and small spiders, not to mention particles of mud. The evidence was corroborated by Dr. Ira LaRivers, and is now preserved in the biology department for anyone who is interested.

The significance of these findings lies not in the fact that brussel sprouts were purchased with insects on them, because all vegetables have them, but the fact that they were allowed to be served in that condition. This shows that this food was either improperly cleansed or not cleaned at all. The presence of the molted skin, especially, substantiates this.

Immediately the implication spreads to other items on the menu on other days. The evidence does not lie, and levels an accusing finger at person or persons employed, or otherwise involved in the university dining hall.

Conditions there have been investigated before, but the improvement was minimum and short lived. What we need is permanent

Campus Vandalism Costs University $1000 This Year, Says Supt. Horn

Mackay statue was painted yellow, and $75 worth of windows were broken last week as the toll of destruction by vandals on the campus continues to mount, according to Carl Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds.

Mr. Horn said that some time Sunday night unknown persons started to paint the Mackay statue, in front of the Mackay School of Mines, and apparently were frightened away, dropping their buckets of paint before they had the statue half painted.

The windows were apparently broken by students, since Mr. Horn said it is doubtful children could throw as high as the highest window broken. Stones were found inside the building.

Mr. Horn said a bill has been sent to the graduate manager for $10 to cover the labor involved in removing the paint from the statue.

Fortunately, the paint was not a permanent oil base type, but Mr. Horn said the removal was very difficult since the finish on the statue is very delicate.

The statue would have had to be removed and shipped to Los Angeles if the green finish had been marred.

The finish was renewed 15 or 20 years ago and the statue was shipped at that time to Los Angeles.

Wanton destruction on the campus is estimated for the year at more than $1,000.

The latest wave of destruction included stealing of a clothes dryer from Hartman Hall valued at $250, which Mr. Horn said will not be replaced, in view of lack of funds.

Give to the YWCA clothing drive. It's a good cause.

Art Department To Hold Annual Exhibit Monday

The university art gallery will be the scene next Monday of the department's annual art exhibit.

Student's work done throughout the year in oils, water colors, sculpturing, drawing, and educational art projects will be featured at the showing that will run until June 2. The works will be taken from the various beginning and advanced art classes and from the engineer groups. Some of the best works on display will be kept by the art department and sent on a state high school tour the next school year.

The display will be open from 1 to 4 daily except Saturday, and will be the public's only chance to see the art work done by the university's art students. Quality of the works displayed is shown by the great interest and response of students and the public in past exhibits.

"Sage in Bloom" Poetry Anthology Is by Nevadans

The Nevada Federation of Women's Clubs has published the second edition of "Sage in Bloom," an anthology of poetry written by citizens of the state of Nevada. The first edition was published more than 40 years ago under the direction of Addie Wood Hallock.

Dr. Paul Eldridge, professor of English at the University of Nevada, headed the committee on preparation which consisted of Katherine Mergen, editor, of Nevada Press Women and former member of the faculty in the school of journalism at the University of Nevada; Maude Taylor, chairman, American Association of University Women; Viola Ginocchio, secretary, Reno Business and Professional Women's Club; Bertha Eaton Raffetta, publicity, National League of American Pen Women, Reno branch; Laura Bulmer, Reno Poetry Workshop; and Irene Bruce, also of National League of American Pen Women.

Much of the poetry in the book was written about the state of Nevada. Among them was a poem written of Pyramid Lake by Mrs. Mergen, now society editor of the Reno Evening Gazette. Dr. Eldridge also contributed to the book which is now on sale at Compton's book store in the Arcade building in downtown Reno. Copies will also be available at the university library. Retail price of the paper bound edition is $2 per copy.

No Staples, Please!

Campaigners for Herman Fisher and Ray Alzola in the Thursday elections used a stapler to post the campaign material and failed to get the consent of the department of buildings and grounds, to post such material, Mr. Horn, head of the department, said.

Horn said the staples are nearly impossible to remove and have made wood railings dangerous.

U of N Professor Will Lecture At Writers Conference

Dr. Charlton G. Laird, professor of English at the University of Nevada, will be one of the lecturers at the first writers' conference at Idaho State College at Pocatello, Idaho, June 26 to 30.

Dr. Laird will have for his topic, "Language—the Medium of the Writer."

The principal objective of the conference is to afford expert assistance to those writers who wish to improve their techniques, to develop a more professional approach to their craft, or to assemble practical information on the varied problems arising in the field.

The administrative director of the conference is W. F. Jacobs, who taught two summers at the University of Nevada. He is now professor of English at Idaho State College.

Dr. Laird, a linguist and lexicographer of national reputation, has written many articles on various aspects of language.

This most notable achievement in lexicography is his recently published thesaurus, "Laird's Promptory: A Modern Dictionary of Cynonyms and Antonyms."

He is consulting editor to "American Speech," and chairman of the present day English section of the Modern Language Association. In addition, he is general editor of the "Guide to Comparative Literature and International Relations."

Last year, Dr. Laird's historical novel, "Thunder on the River," was published.

At present he is editing a symposium on world literature, the chapters of which are written by specialists in the various national literatures.

NEW ADDITION

Proud father of a new 7 pound son is Prof. Willard Williams of the department of agricultural economics. The second addition to the family has been named Gary Wayne Williams. Both mother and son are reported doing well.

Art Exhibit Opens Monday

The first off-campus exhibit of student art will begin with the opening night on Monday of the forthcoming Reno Little Theater play, "Light Up the Sky." The exhibit will continue during the entire week of the play.

Oils, watercolors, and drawings done by students of the university art department will be on display in the downstairs lounge of the theater.

J. Craig Sheppard, assistant professor of art, arranged the exhibit.

"This exhibit gives us an excellent opportunity to let the people of the community see what is being produced in the art department of the university," he said. "It will run concurrently with a similar show here on the campus. With the two shows, we have a chance to exhibit more work and to let more people see the work we have produced."

Four Organizations Plan Sunday Outing

If good weather permits, at least four picnics will be held by campus organizations Sunday.

Planning social functions for Sunday were Alpha au Omega, Sigma Alpha psilon, Kappa Alpha Theta, and the Newman Club.

Two of the organizations promise to make Incline Beach at Lake Tahoe a busy place Sunday. Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and Alpha Tau Omega fraternity members have scheduled their picnics for the same location and less than two hours apart. The ATO's are set for 9 am and the Thetas for 10:30 am.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon will hold their picnic at Bowers Mansion at 1 pm.

Newman Club will have its outing at Virginia City. Morning mass will precede the breakfast.

Give to the YWCA clothing drive. It's a good cause.

For travel, adventure, education, it's the United States Marines.

YWCA to Sponsor H. S. Senior Picnic

The annual picnic for high school graduating seniors, sponsored by members of the YWCA, will be held May 24 at 4 pm at the barbecue pit at the University of Nevada.

The program for the afternoon will consist of skits, singing and recreational events. Highlighting the program will be the introduction of the incoming YWCA officers. Refreshments will follow.

Sheppard Wins Two Awards at Exhibit

J. Craig Sheppard, assistant professor of art, was awarded both first and second place for two of his entries in the annual Southwest Oklahoma art exhibit held recently.

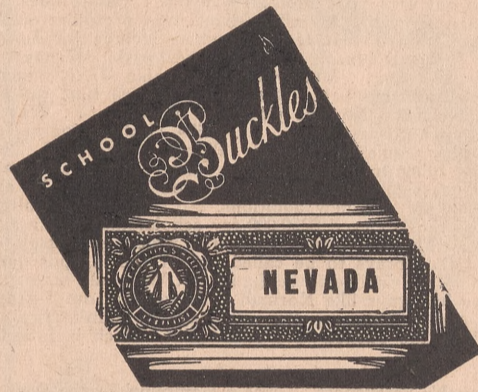

Mr. Sheppard's work was submitted in the professional division of the show. He was awarded first place for a water color depicting horses drinking at a pool and second place for a scene entitled "Duck Hunting."

Brush Strokes

By MARK CURTIS

BRUSHPILE: Dr. M. J. Webster observed this week, "A man wouldn't choose a horse in the moonlight, but that's the way he picks his wife" . . . Which reminds of the instructor last summer who said, "She's pure as the driven snow, and twice as cold." Prof Pflug asked Andy Kalmanir the meaning of "ambiguous." "It's a statement that can be INTERRUPTED in two or more ways." . . . Don't interpret me—There's more. Edith Ruebsam, associate prof of education, suggested to her class, "Let's now look at another virgin (of the facts)." . . . Here's an oddity. American history is not required in 78 per cent of the nation's colleges and universities. Nevada is one of 'em . . . But —BUT, campuses may turn out to be the main production centers for new operas which major companies can't afford to risk. Indiana U. just produced Luka Foss' "The Jumping Frog" and Roger's "The Veil."

A men's magazine, looking for female readers and general circulation increase, released this preview of an article which they will publish in July. Title: "College Men Are Sexually Inferior." Their explanation is that men decrease their sexual adequacy in ratio to the amount of education received. Says the concoction, ". . . it's probably because of some indefinable quality in his makeup, a quality that is not distilled out by an overabundance of refined campus sex conversation, and too little action." . . . and, ". . . collegians do more petting and talking . . . but when it comes to actual activity . . ." It is not immediately clear what they're trying to get across, unless they have suddenly discovered that civilization is setting in, in which case, their magazine will probably go out of business . . . George Bernard Shaw announced this week that "College residence, common meals, and cap and gown give a price-less social training in good manners which is shared with sailors only. The incidental scholarship counts for nothing except a delusive qualification for professional jobs." Oh.

SPORT STROKES: Steubenville, Ohio, produces coal and football players. About 1500 pounds is due in Reno from that area sometime soon. We ain't gonna burn it all up at once, either. Used conservatively, it should last out next fall's football schedule. (Make tales out of that) . . . Sherman Howard, '48 fullback, was president of the Negro Athletic Association in that year. Members include Joe Lewis, Buddy Young and Jackie Robinson. . . . Ed Toczowski, '47 quarterback, is a scout for UCLA . . . Morley Bochman, also '47, is remembered in both football and baseball. But he had a hard time making an outfield spot at Nevada. Now he plays pro baseball. . . . Was in the Sunset League up until last year. . . . Mike Graben, journalism instructor, used to play tennis for Ohio U. Picked up the S. E. Ohio championship among other trophies. . . . Big Buster Tilton, a Nevada guard of past glory, has signed with the Washington Redskins. He and Little Eddie Labaron are the new additions. . . . Columbia College students (it's part of the U.) need $250,000 for scholarships and a new athletic field house. They've formed an outfit which gets itself on quiz programs, and then prays to be called on for the jackpot questions. "First payoff: $2155 on Break the Bank. . . . We could do something like that if we had guys like Norman Ellis working out systems for the downtown clubs. Ellis, by the way, says he didn't drop his $1200 winning back in the bucket. He still has it, which is a better item yet.

The article in last week's Satevepost, "I was a Gambling House Dealer" was written by the wife of a former Nevada instructor. Trina Mascott dealt "21" downtown while her husband taught the refinements of English. She defined the chill which hangs over the town by summing up her article thusly—the occupation, gambling, is a "supposedly glamorous occupation. But . . . she (any gambling house worker) has lost her tenderness, her compassion, her heart." That's why she quit.

"Evie," graduated in 1943 from the U. of N. She was one of the most active young women ever engaged in campus affairs. Kappa Alpha Theta, Pan Hellenic president, Chi Delta Phi, Sagebrush, "Who's Who" and many more. She was vivacious and pretty and the navy made her "Miss Nevada" in a beauty contest in '43. Evie was married last fall, even though she and her husband knew the marriage wouldn't last long. A few weeks ago, she stopped seeing most of her friends. She disliked sympathy. Ask her how she felt and she'd dodge by asking you the same. Tuesday morning she died of cancer. Age, 27.

Sigma Delta Chi Holds Initiation

Ten University of Nevada students and four alumni were initiated into Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalistic fraternity, in ceremonies in the journalism building last Friday afternoon.

The new undergraduate members are Ted Covington, Robert Hunt, Robert Petrini, Rodlin Goff, Edward Scripps, Myron Leavitt, Stanley Miller, Walter Mackenzie, Jim Hulse and Donald Swanson.

Taffy Rule Named "Miss Reno" In "Miss Nevada" Preliminary

Taffy Rule, "Miss Optimist" and member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority, was judged "Miss Reno" last night in the Miss Reno pageant held in the new gym and presented by the Reno Jaycees and AWS.

Winning over nine other worthy contestants, Taffy stole the show to be crowned victor by Mayor Francis "Tank" Smith. The smiling University of Nevada beauty was so excited she could do nothing except murmur her thanks to all those who had helped her.

The contest consisted of three parts. The contestants modelled evening gowns; displayed their various talents, and finally modelled bathing suits. From these three trials five finalists were chosen and were judged on their personality.

The finalists were Merrilyn Byrd, "Miss Kappa Alpha Theta"; Pat Bull, "Miss Exchange"; Pat Goodale, "Miss Corps of Sponsors"; Florence Maestrejuan, "Miss 20-30 Club"; and the winner, Taffy Rule, "Miss Optimist." Eight of the ten girls were from the University of Nevada.

The evening's program was begun with an introduction of the Cinderella theme by Mistress and Master of Ceremonies Roz Smith and Bill Cashill. Odile Frost, contestant in last year's "Miss Nevada" contest, furthered the theme by delighting the audience with "The Cinderella Work Song" from the Walt Disney production, and two other numbers.

Members of the Lambda Chi Alpha song team sang their prize winning Mackay Day numbers as did the songstresses from Pi Beta Phi. The "Sierra-naders," a quartet from the university, presented three numbers.

Last night's pageant was but one of the elimination contests held throughout the state to bring the finalists to Reno June 3 for the final "Miss Nevada" selection. The winner will vie for "Miss America" honors at Atlantic City this summer.

Miss Rule, a senior at the University of Nevada, is 20 years old, stands five feet six inches tall, weighs 125 pounds, and has the unusual combination of honey blonde hair and green eyes. She demonstrated exceptional vocal talent by singing a medley of numbers entitled "It's So Nice to Have a Man Around the House."

The contestants were not judged in order, as only the winner was announced. There was no placing of the other four finalists.

Ann Richardson, "Miss Kiwanis," dropped out in advance of the pageant. Others who competed last night were Francis Batt, "Miss Pi Beta Phi"; Mickey Francis, "Miss Lions Club"; Ardis Manferd, "Miss Footprinter"; Mona Perry, "Miss Tri-Delt," and Margie Yetter, "Miss Artemisia."

The judges were Helen Joslyn, Gail Richards, Lois Dickerson, Mrs. Ray Rott, Peggy Hamilton, Bill Gryar, Charles Mapes, Bob Tower and John Lindsay.

ASCE Election

Last Wednesday, the student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers held election for student officers.

They are William Nagle, president; John Smales, vice-president; Earnest Gregory, secretary; Robert Hammel, treasurer.

Former professors of the university listed are J. E. Church, economics; James R. Young, psychology; and George W. Sears, chemistry.

Erickson, philosophy; Vincent P. Gianella, geology; C. R. Hicks, history and political science; A. L. Higginbotham, journalism; Sigmund W. Leifson, physics, and E. W. Sheets, animal husbandry.

Of the present faculty named is the new edition four are academic deans or directors. Included are Dean Frederick Wood, of the college of arts and sciences; Dean Stanley Palmer, of the college of engineering; Dean F. W. Tramer, of the school of education, and Director Jay A. Carpenter of the Mackay School of Mines.

Three public service division directors with the university are listed: Cecil W. Creel, of the agricultural extension service; Walter S. Palmer, of the state analytical laboratory, and professor of metallurgy; and Edward Records, of the veterinary control service.

The university teachers, administrators and researchers aforementioned are among 47,000 Americans included in the biographical dictionary of notable men and women.

EDITORS, BUSINESS MANAGERS CHOSEN FOR ARTEMISIA, 'BRUSH

New editors and business managers for both ASUN publications were chosen yesterday by the publications board. Mark Curtis, Brushstrokes columnist, was chosen editor of the Sagebrush, with Lowell Miller, business manager.

Jim Morrison will head the Artemisia staff next year, with Ted Lokke as business manager.

It was recommended by the board after considerable discussion that provision be made in the ASUN constitution so that future publication officers may be chosen one month earlier than the present May date. This would allow those who are to take over the offices next year more time to become acquainted with their duties.

This board meeting, perhaps the most important of the year, was almost cancelled for lack of a quorum. Until the ASUN secretary had done considerable last minute phoning no quorum was available.

It was decided at this meeting that all bids for next year's publications, for printing, engraving and photography must be submitted to the graduate manager's office by 4:00 Wednesday, May 24. The two lowest bids for each job will be submitted to the finance control board for final approval.

United Airlines Is Looking for Stewardesses

Applications will be accepted by United Airlines from all girls interested in being airline stewardesses, the graduate manager's office has announced.

The girls applying must be between the ages of 21 and 27 and between five foot two inches and five foot seven inches in height.

ASSEMBLY

An award assembly will be held at 11:20 Wednesday, May 24, said Pat O'Brien, assembly chairman, today.

FCB Approves Budgets for Publicity, Reimer-Klimaszewski Convention Trip

Members of the Finance Control Board met Wednesday night to approve budgets for the high school presidents' convention, the ASUN publicity committee, and a trip to a college presidents' convention for Nevada's incoming and outgoing student body presidents.

The board approved $168.30 to the underwriting of the high school presidents' convention, May 19 and 20 on the Nevada campus. Sororities and fraternities will play host to the future university students. Each delegate attending the convention will be charged $7.00 to cover expenses.

Although the trip planned by the ASUN to interest high school graduates in attending Nevada must be put off until next year because of lack of time, the Finance Board voted $35.60 to cover purchasing of pictures of the campus taken this year for the trip. The pictures will be used for the same trip which is planned for April of next year. Nevada's chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, is printing a newsletter of the university to be sent to all the high schools in the state, and the board voted part of the funds for purchase of the paper for the publication.

Permission was granted by the board to the Wolf Den to continue the selling of freshman dinks through their store. Before the book store took over the selling of dinks, the office of the ASUN bought and sold them.

Unanimous approval was given by the board to the trip for Paul Reimer and Ted Klimaszewski to the Pacific Student Presidents Association May 24-26, at Yosemite Park, California. The board approved -150 to send the outgoing president, Reimer, and the incoming president Klimaszewski to the three day convention of all the western colleges and universities. Paul Reimer has been asked to lead one of the larger colleges group discussions.

The board requested, after discussion on the matter, that a notice of bids opening on contracts for servicing of the school's publications be placed in the Sagebrush, and that those parties interested could turn in their applications to the graduate manager's office by Wednesday, May 24. Applications from various printing concerns will be considered and approved for next year after that date. In the past, the publications committee has asked the different concerns if they wished to do the work on Nevada's publications, and those accepting were approved by the finance board.

Also discussed was the awards which might be approved for minor athletics. According to Mastrianni, minor athletics may get awards of a blue jacket with the emblem of the sport, and the school name on it, instead of the traditional sweater. Mastrianni is working on this possibility.

First Sigma Delta Psi Day Set For May 25 at Mackay Stadium

What is planned to be an annual event, the first Sigma Delta Psi day will be held Thursday, May 25, on Mackay Field, and in the old and new gymnasiums. Time for the event is between 4 and 6 pm.

The purpose of the special day is to give University of Nevada male students a chance to pass the entrance tests for entrance into Sigma Delta Psi.

The organization is a national honorary athletic fraternity, open only to male students in four-year colleges and universities in the United States.

G. A. Broten, advisor to the Nevada chapter, said this week that individual tests passed on May 25 will be credited towards admission in the fraternity.

In order to qualify as a member, a student must pass the following tests: (1) run the 100 yard dash in 11 3/5 seconds or better, (2) run the 120 yard low hurdles in 16 seconds, (3) broad jump 17 feet, (4) high jump five feet, (5) shot put 30 feet (this is scaled down for smaller individuals), (6) throw a baseball 250 feet, (7) kick a football 120 feet, (8) run a mile in six minutes, (9) climb 20 feet of rope in 12 seconds, (10) fence vault chin high, (11) do a front hand spring, (12) do a hand stand, and (13) swim 100 yards in one minute 45 seconds.

Each of the above events, with the exception of swimming, the hand stand and the front hand spring, will be run off Thursday. Individuals may try as many events as they wish, Broten said.

He pointed out, however, that since Sigma Delta Psi was founded in 1912, only one person has ever been able to pass all of the events in one day.

No trophies or awards will be presented to contestants, Broten announced, but the best individual time will be posted in the gymnasium. They will remain there until they are broken.

Broten said that anyone interested in participating in Sigma Delta Psi day should contact him in the physical education office in the new gymnasium.

'Isle of Beauty' Aquacade theme

The "Isle of Beauty" is the theme for the aquacade to be presented by Paniwallis, the campus swimming club, on the 25th and 25th of May.

The aquacade will be held at the Moana Springs pool starting at 8 o'clock on both nights. Admission is 60 cents per person.

Carol Thomas, president of Paniwallis, is the director of the aquacade, and king and queen for the Hawaiian theme will be Walt Coughlin and Helene Warner.

The aquacade will consist of 14 different numbers including diving, clowns, and mixed swimming groups.

Tickets for the program can be obtained from Paniwallis members or from Southworth's Cigar Store in Reno.

Boy Scout Pageant

Reno and Sparks Cub Scouts of the Boy Scouts of America will present their annual Pan-O-Ram, a colorful pageant, in Mackay Stadium on the evening of May 20 at 7:15.

Turkish-America Club to Meet

In order to "foster friendship between Turkish and American students," the Turkish-American Friendship Club will hold the first of its annual dinners Sunday at 7 pm.

Dr. Paul Jensen, assistant professor of education, will be the guest speaker and will talk on "Turkey's Place in Today's World."

Featured during the evening will be Turkish food, films and music. The dinner will be in the university hall.

YWCA is Collecting

Campus YWCA has distributed boxes to all housing units on the campus for the purpose of collecting clothing for distribution in Europe.

YWCA asks that all students donate old clothing. There is only one requirement, that the clothing be clean.

SAE Adventurers To "Shoot Rapids" Of Tricky Truckee

The high muddy waters of the Truckee mean poor fishing to the outdoorsman, but to Ed Scripps and Frank Schadrack it spells adventure. At 5 am tomorrow these two university students will take off down the river from the Lake Tahoe dam in an aluminum canoe. The swift water of the swollen Truckee offer a challenge to the sportsman, says Scripps.

Since the water is at nearly peak level, little difficulty should be encountered during the trip, according to Scripps. Several dams and obstacles in the river call for them to portage.

If all goes well the two adventurers should arrive at the Virginia street bridge about 5 pm and pull into "the island next to the Mapes Hotel, that was recently occupied by "Prospector" Chacon.

Whether the students will continue downstream to Pyramid Lake depends on the conditions resulting from the first day's travel.

Schadrack is a sophomore student in the college of agriculture and Scripps is a transfer student from Stanford, majoring in journalism. Both are members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

The canoe is all aluminum, of the latest design, and is equipped with air tanks fore and aft to keep it afloat should it capsize. Both men are experienced swimmers but they claim that they will have no use for swimming during the course of their trip.

Young ladies, you too can travel and complete your education. Be a lady Leatherneck in the United States Marine Corps.

State Track Meet Set for Tomorrow

Last week's meet in Elko established White Pine as a contender in the state track meet in Mackay Stadium tomorrow.

Early season track meets have established the Boulder City Eagles as the favorites, with White Pine and Reno giving them plenty of competition in vying for second place honors.

Boulder City has shown well in a recent meet with Las Vegas and will be gunning for their second state title in as many years.

Reno took the annual Yerington relays with Carson taking second and Elko third. The White Pine Bobcats, in defeating Elko, have attracted considerable attention and should prove tough in the meet here tomorrow.

The track meet will be sponsored by the University of Nevada Block N Society and will begin at 1 pm with the trial heats being run off in the morning.

Alumni Luncheon

The annual alumni luncheon, originally scheduled for June 12, will not be held, the president's office announced today.

33 Students to Leave June 14 On Two Month Tour of Europe

On June 14, at 6 am, 33 students will leave the University of Nevada campus by bus for Niagara Falls. This will be the first lap of a journey that will take the students on a tour of the major points of interest in western Europe.

The tour, under the direction of Dr. Paul H. Jensen, of the University of Nevada, will last over two months.

The student tour will leave Niagara Falls by bus and continue to Quebec, Canada, where they will board the S. S. Samaria on June 20 for London. After a five day tour of London they will go to Oxford, Stratford, Harwich, and then cross the North Sea to Esbjerg, Denmark.

The students will spend three weeks in study at the American Graduate School of the University of Copenhagen and will receive three credit hours for attending classes and passing examinations given at the end of the three weeks. The lectures will be given by English speaking professors on the education, culture, history, literature, and philosophy of western Europe. Additional credit hours will be given to students doing research work in Europe.

Mr. E. Hambro will act as host while the tour is at The Hague, the site of the International Court of Justice. Mr. Hambro is a personal friend of Dr. Jensen and the secretary of the World Court.

Obermergau, Bavaria, scene of the world-famous Passion Play, will be the highlight of the trip. The members of the tour are fortunate to be able to attend the play because it is produced only a few times each century.

The tour will leave Luxembourg by TWA plane near the end of August for its return to the United States. They will land at Idlewild Airport in New York and continue from there to Washington, D. C. From Washington they will travel to Reno by bus.

Dr. Jensen announces that the Rotary Club of Reno has offered to print an itinerary of the tour, in keeping with its interest in local civic affairs.

Press Club To Initiate

Prospective members of the Press Club, journalism organization, will be initiated at the club's annual breakfast at 9:30 am on Sunday. The breakfast will be held at the Trocadero.

Journalism students were also honored at a picnic given by the Press Club last Sunday at Bowers Mansion.

Two Students Injured On Hill

Warren Novak, freshman student on the hill, was the victim of a freak accident this week. As he was about to enter the front door of his barracks home, he lives in Dorm 30, he stumbled and fell forward, falling partly through the glassed-in portion of the door, sustaining severe cuts on his right arm and upper part of his body.

Thirty stitches were taken in four gashes: one on his right arm; one on his chest; and two more on his hip. There were smaller cuts about his face.

Novak, however, claims to feel "pretty good" and is attending classes, as usual.

Vale Myles, Theta Chi, suffered a broken leg while he was practicing ball Wednesday on the University of Nevada campus. Myles, a sophomore, is now at the Washoe Medical Center.

Attend the Engineers Day festivities. The EE's, ME's and CE's have a great show. Don't miss it. Saturday, May 20.

Sigma Delta Chi, And Press Club Elect Officers

Two campus journalistic organizations elected new officers in meetings held Wednesday night.

Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalistic fraternity, elected Mark Curtis as their new president, replacing Jon Milburn, and Pat DeWalt was elected the new president of the Press Club, replacing Barbara Smith.

Other new officers in Sigma Delta Chi are: vice-president, Edward W. Scripps, replacing Bill McFarland; secretary, Jim Hulse, replacing Bob Long; and treasurer, Walt MacKenzie, replacing Gene McKenna.

The new Press Club officers are: vice-president, Dave Mathis, replacing Neal Corbett; and Suzanne Leake, who will continue as secretary and treasurer.

How to put out a pocket fire — for GOOD!

Do you wish every pay day that your pockets were lined with asbestos?

So your dough wouldn't burn holes in them—and slip right through, leaving nothing much to show for your hard work?

If you do, don't despair. There's an automatic way to hold onto the money that's getting away from you!

Sign up for U. S. Savings Bonds before next pay day, through your firm's Payroll Savings Plan—or, if this plan isn't available to you, your bank's Bond-A-Month Plan.

That way you'll put out those pocket fires for GOOD.

Yes, two ways GOOD. You'll be diverting combustible coin into a GOOD investment, that'll pay you in 10 years four dollars for every three you put in. And you'll be accumulating the money you're going to need for GOOD things 10 years from now—travel, an education for your children, a retirement (you finish the list)!

But don't delay! Almost any pay day you can expect those pocket fires to break out again.

An interesting attraction will be the Mackay Mining Museum, which, according to Bill Flangas, will be open throughout the day. Guides will be on duty at the mining building to conduct tours for the public.

Civil Engineering

The civil engineers have collected a display of pictures, models and actual equipment in operation.

Tests on oils, soil samples, and concrete specimens will be run in the non-metallic lab, while the metallic lab will feature tests on metals and a new electric straining gauge.

Fluid mechanics lab operations

Mechanical vibration demonstrations, evolution of planetary gears, compressed air exhibits, an opposed piston type Diesel engine and various other engines and boilers will be found in the mechanical engineering display.

Several old time automobiles, are included in the display located at the new mechanical engineering laboratories.

At the old ME lab, miniature gold pans will be manufactured and given away. A model steam engine and various shop equipment will also be displayed there.

New automobiles will be exhibited in the quadrangle by Reno automobile dealers.

Barbeque

At the end of Engineers Day, a barbeque for the Associated Engineers of the University of Nevada will be held, with members and guests attending. The barbeque will be held on the campus at 5:30 pm at the campus barbeque pit, and will include presentation of the various awards.

Committee

The men responsible for this Engineers Day include the chairman of the general committee, William Hooper, a Reno EE student.

Art Krieger is in charge of concessions, while Stew Dawson is in charge of the barbeque. T. L. Jones and Bill Phillip handle correspondence and programs.

LAST V & T SHIPMENT FILMED

The historic last shipment of gold ore over the ancient yet glorious Virginia & Truckee railroad will be shown in a film at the last assembly of the semester the date of which is as yet tentative.

Publicity chairman Gerald McBride announced that he hopes the films will be through the processing by the time of the assembly.

The film is a 300 foot length movie which will depict the entire trip from Virginia City to the middle of downtown Reno. It is a A SUN production. For the slow minded, that is an ASUN production. Get it?
