UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA, RENO, NEVADA, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1950

Regents OK five million dollar budget

Total enrollment down 14 per cent as reserve and draft call manpower

End of GI allotments also a factor; ratio of men and women becomes more even Total enrollment for the fall semester at the University of Nevada shows an approximate 15 per cent decrease since last year. Latest reports from the registrar's office indicate that 930 men and 447 women have registered, totaling 1,387 students.

Last year the total enrollment was 1,646, of which 479 were women and 1,167 were men. A slight increase in current enrollment is expected, however, when all late applicants are registered.

President Malcolm Love explained the decrease by citing the recent draft law passed by congress and the new restrictions on graduates of the Nevada high schools. Hitherto, it has been the policy of the university to accept any student who had graduated from a Nevada high school. Last year, however, the board of regents passed a resolution which compelled these students to meet the same requirements as out-of-state students.

Again the male students outnumber the female students at a ratio of more than two to one. This ratio is smaller than last year's ratio of more than three to one, and the ratio in 1948 of almost four to one. This decrease is due partially to the fact that most veterans of the last war have graduated and the calling of men into military service.

Social calendar to be released next week

The social calendar for University of Nevada students is being printed today and will be out during the middle of next week, it was announced by Dean Mobley's office.

The calendar will be sent to all sorority and fraternity social committee chairmen.

A misprint concerning Thanksgiving vacation has been found in the catalogue of the University of Nevada. Instead of the vacation starting on November 29 and ending on December 4, the correct Thanksgiving recess will start on Wednesday, November 22 and end on November 27.

The deadline for any changes in scheduling of social events for all sororities, fraternities, and all other organizations having social activities will be October 4.

The weekend of December 1 and 2 is open as far as social functions are concerned and if any organizations wish to schedule an event for the weekend they are to notify the dean of women's office before October 4.

$60,000 requested for athletic program

The 1941-53 University of Nevada budget of $5,000,000 was adopted Saturday by the board of regents.

Emphasis in the budget was placed on the repair of existing campus facilities, although a separate request was made for $500,000 for a new college of agriculture building.

The overall total of the new budget, excluding the amount requested for a new agriculture building, was $5,073,498. The budget for the period ending June 30 called for $4,443,683.

A request for $60,000 for the support of intramural and intercollegiate athletics was included in the budget approved by the board of regents. Plans are to include the athletic department in the regular university set-up, according to Dr. Malcolm A. Love, president of the University of Nevada, and such a program would provide more support for minor sports which, in the past, have relied on football proceeds for their income.

Also proposed in the budget is a one story wing on the new engineering building to house the electrical engineering lab, and the conversion of the present electrical engineering building into classroom space.

It was also requested that the U. S. Bureau of Mines building be remodeled into classroom space to be used by the Mackay School of Mines.

Money was requested to make necessary repairs to Lincoln Hall.

Dr. Love said that discussions will be held with legislative representatives as to the inclusion of a new student union building in a long range plan of university construction. Cost of the first unit of the building has been estimated at $500,000.

Money was also requested for the university public service divisions.

The budget, as approved by the regents, has been filed with the director of the budget in Carson City for action by the legislature at its next session.

Of the total budget, $2,499,499 would come from federal funds, student fees and other state sources. The legislature will be asked to appropriate the other $2,573,999.

Draft deferments agency to be handled by dean

Perplexing deferment question given to Griffin; students can be deferred for academic year

An agency has been established to handle requests of all students and faculty for deferment in calls by Selective Service or reserve units, it was announced today by Dean Robert S. Griffin, at the University of Nevada.

President Malcolm Love has appointed Dean Griffin to serve as overall advisor and director in deferments for university students and faculty members.

From an extensive study made during the past two weeks on policies and procedures of deferments, Griffin said that the picture is "both confused and confusing because of lack of clarity and uniformity in policies and procedures of the various armed forces." The Selective Service has not decided on which of two policies to use for granting deferments. Under one policy, if the student has been in school one year and is in the upper one-half of his class, and has announced his intention of returning to school prior to August 1, 1950, for the academic year ending in the spring of 1950, he may be deferred.

Under the second policy, any person, who while satisfactorily pursuing a full time course of studies is ordered to report for induction, he may have his induction postponed until the end of the academic year.

As to being called into active service by an Army Reserve unit or the National Guard, except for the Army Air Force, a man may be deferred by the headquarters of the Nevada military district for three months. This may be extended to six months if the Department of Defense concurs in the request for deferment. Neither student or university acting alone could get the deferment.

Air Force

The Army Air Force will have its own procedure for deferments. Applications must be made to the headquarters of the numbered Air Force concerned. The university again will have to back up the request.

The Naval Reserve requires that the request for deferment be submitted within 48 hours after receipt of Regents thank Colonel Parker for service

The University of Nevada board of regents, in a statement this week, expressed their gratitude for the spirit of unselfishness that prompted Colonel Gilbert E. Parker to accept the position of acting president of the university "at a time when his services were most needed, even though that acceptance meant putting aside plans of his own."

He was lauded by the board for his devotion to duty during his term from June, 1949 through August, 1950, and for his "thorough and painstaking study of university problems and needs, and the impartial presentation of his findings."

Colonel Parker's handling of university contacts, the regents feel, won many new friends for the school.

Colonel Parker was asked to become acting president of the university in June, 1949, upon the resignation of President John O. Moseley. At that time Parker was head of the university military department.

He accepted the post for a one-year period, and, at the request of the board of regents, continued in his duties until Malcolm A. Love was selected to assume the presidency.

Colonel Parker has had a distinguished military career as a teacher and military administrator, and has once again offered his services to the army.

Meetings and events

On Campus:

Tuesday, Oct. 3, 4 p.m.—Upperclass committee.

Oct. 3, 8 p.m.: Debate Club, room 20, temporary building.

Wednesday, Oct. 4, 4 p.m.: Finance control board.

6:30: Executive committee meeting.

7 p.m.: Senate meeting.

Thursday, Oct. 5: Football rally, Education auditorium.

Friday, Oct. 6, 6 to 8 p.m.: Sorority preferential dinner.

Saturday, Oct. 7: Sorority pledging.

In Town:

Sunday, Oct. 1: Dog show, Reno Kennel Club, Moana Park.

Monday, Oct. 2, 8 p.m.: Charles Laughton recital, State building.

(For students, matinee 2:30 p.m., tickets available at YWCA, Student Center.)

Students should register

All students of voting age are urged by Jack Berry, president of the Young Democrats, to register for the Nevada general election by October 7.

Plans are underway for two meetings of the Young Democrats to be held during October. One meeting will be for all students who wish to become active in party politics, and a later meeting will be a rally with a public official speaking.

The time and place of these meetings will be announced later.

Tar boils, chief cool

An over heated tar pot near exploding point brought Reno Fire Department to Lincoln Hall on the university campus at 3:35 Wednesday afternoon.

"Nothing really serious," stated the fire chief, "just good precaution."

U of N publicity to be discussed in future meeting

A meeting for the student publicity committee has been scheduled for the near future, chairman Ted Covington announced.

Covington stated that the committee, whose purpose is to gain the cooperation of the student body in publicizing the university, has been unable to meet because of the rush of registration and organization of new classes.

Plans were made last year for a tour of the Nevada high schools to attract their graduating seniors to the University of Nevada but because of the lack of funds the plans had to be abandoned.

Nominating board selects committees

The list of candidates for the University of Nevada's major appointive offices were announced last week by the nominating committee, headed by Bill Engel.

The list was approved by the student senate.

Dr. Ernest Inwood was nominated as chairman of the finance control board, a position which he held for five years prior to his trip to Burma last year. During Inwood's absence the post was held by Professor William C. Miller.

Jim Elaides and Mordelle Kornmayer were nominated as temporary student members on the finance control board. One of them will be relieved later on in the year when two senators at large will be elected.

With senate confirmation, the student officers for the year are as follows:

Executive committee: Chairman Ted Klimaszewski, Marnie Miller, Elaine Powell, John Barry and Jim Morrison.

Named to the senate investigating committee were: Mary Lou Brunton, Bill Flangas, Proctor Hug, and Darlene Stucki.

Only one class manager, Tom Gaffey, was named in the list. Both junior and sophomore class managers were called into service by the Marine Corps, and the freshman class manager has not been elected yet.

By appointment, Mark Curtis, Stanley Miller, Jim Morrison, Ted Lokke, Reilley Jensen, Gloria Eddy, and Eyer Boies will take positions on the publicity board.

Named to the two top student secretarial posts were Rose Oyarbide, who will take charge in the student senate, and Colleen Gilbert, who will assist ASUN president Ted Klimaszewski.

Mary Micheo will take over the task of collecting and assembling any and all pictures or articles concerning the university in her capacity as historian.

Named as committee heads for the year were: Buck Wells, election board; Willard Esplin, rallies; Dave Collings, men's upperclass; Judy Morrison, women's upperclass; and Jerry Wyness, assemblies.

Student Senators

Student senators for the year, who approved the above are: Luana Tietje, Artemisia Hall; Mary Lou Brunton, Manzanita Hall; Bebe Moore, Women Independents; Bill Engle, Men Independents; Marnie Miller, Delta Delta Delta; Elaine Powell, Gamma Phi Beta; Carol Oldham, Kappa Alpha Theta. Natalie Curtis, Pi Beta Phi; Lowell Miller, Alpha Tau Omega; John Barry, Phi Sigma Kappa; Willard Esplin, Theta Chi; Gene Brown, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Jim Morrison, Sigma Nu; Silvano Pacini, Sigma Pi; Whity Lund, Sigma Rho Delta; and Bill Flangas, Highlanders.

Air force officers to interview students about air careers

An Air Force officer team will interview college men and women interested in careers as officers in the United States Air Force, October 9, 10 and 11.

The visit to the University of Nevada is part of a nationwide program being conducted by the Air Force to build up an officer corps composed in large part of college graduates, said Major Vance H. Larrabee, here to make advance arrangements.

The team members, with local headquarters in room 101 on the west side of the new gym, will explain three types of training:

1. Aviation Cadet Pilot Training. Young men selected as aviation cadets receive one year of flying, academic, and military training. Graduates are commissioned as second lieutenants in the Air Force Reserve and awarded the silver wings of a pilot.

Outstanding graduates receive regular commissions. All others, who receive reserve commissions while on three years of active duty in flying assignments with the Air Force.

To be eligible for pilot training, men must be single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, citizens, must have completed two years or more of college, and meet high physical and moral qualifications. Classes begin every six weeks.

2. Aviation Cadet Navigator Training. To meet an increasing need for navigators, the Air Force has opened an aviation cadet navigator school at Ellington Air Force Base, Houston, Texas. Qualified young men are trained for one year in the latest techniques of radar navigation. Classes begin every month.

Graduates receive reserve commissions as second lieutenants, with aeronautical rating as navigator. After a 30-day leave with pay, they are assigned to navigation duty on the new long range bombers and transports of the Air Force.

Opportunities for regular commissions are the same as for Aviation Cadets taking pilot training. The eligibility requirements also are the same, except for the physical examination which is less stringent for those seeking careers as navigators.

3. Air Force Officer Candidate School. Young men and women seeking non-flying careers in the Air Force receive military leadership training at Lackland Air Force Base near San Antonio, Texas. Classes begin in January, April, July, and October.

Graduates receive reserve commissions as second lieutenants and are assigned to three years of active duty in junior executive positions in administrative and technical fields. While on active duty they have opportunity to compete for regular commissions.

Eligibility

To be eligible, men and women must be between the ages of 20½ and 26½, either married or single, citizens, must have completed two years of college, must be in good physical condition, and meet high moral and personal qualifications.

In any of the training programs, the Air Force officer said, students who for any reason fail to complete the work are returned to civilian life.

Former instructor in auto accident

Former journalism instructor at the University of Nevada, Mrs. Katherine Mergen, is in the Reno county hospital suffering from minor injuries incurred in an automobile accident last week.

Mrs. Mergen taught on the campus from 1945 to 1947, and is now society editor for the Reno Evening Gazette.

Mrs. Mergen will be well enough to leave the hospital next week. Her injuries consisted of broken ribs and the loss of several teeth.

An amber light is something the other fellow is supposed to wait for while you drive through.

Alumni groups hold meetings

Nevada alumni in San Francisco and Sacramento held gatherings last weekend at which a more unified and closer knit alumni association was discussed at length.

The San Francisco affair was held on Friday, September 22, and was attended by over 100 alumni members of the bay area chapter. Its purpose was to organize events of the coming year. Short addresses were given by Max Dodge, on the organization and goal of the association, and Gene Mastroianni, on the financial structure of the association.

It was announced that the bay area chapter plans to have a rally and dance larger than the one last year which was attended by over 400 guests. That preceded the Nevada-St. Mary's football contest in Kezar Stadium. This year the dance will be held on Saturday, November 4. Joe Radetich was elected president of the chapter for the coming years.

In Sacramento, the newly formed Sacramento alumni association held a gathering for all students and friends of the university before the Nevada-Texas A&M football game. About 250 attended the affair during the afternoon for a rally and refreshments.

New building for mining dept.

Space needed for the expansion of the Mackay School of Mines will be available when a $750,000 U. S. Bureau of Mines rare and precious metals experiment station building is erected on the University of Nevada campus.

The station is now housed in a university structure behind the Mackay school building.

Plans for the construction of the building were made possible in 1949, through a bill introduced by Nevada representative Walter S. Baring.

Although the bill, as an enabling act, carries no appropriation of funds, it does provide for a future appropriation of $750,000 for construction and equipment, and $250,000 annually for operation and maintenance.

A law appropriating the money must be passed by congress and signed by the president before work can begin.

The University of Nevada board of regents deeded 2.24 acres of university property north of the Victory Heights veterans' apartments for construction of the building.

From the Vancouver Sun: "During the storm on Saturday, Mrs. Timothy McPherson slipped on the ice and her her somewhat."

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

You may think this "bird" is funny — but he's no

odder than many of the cigarette tests you're asked to make these days.

One puff of this brand — one sniff of that. A quick inhale — a fast exhale — and you're supposed to know what cigarette to smoke from then on. The sensible test doesn't have to rely on tricks and short cuts. It's a day-after-day, pack-after-pack tryout — for 30 days. That's the test Camel asks you to make! Smoke Camels regularly for 30 days. Your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste) is the best possible proving ground for any cigarette. First assembly introduces Dr. Love, grid team, Willie

President asserts desire to get acquainted

Dr. Malcolm Love, new University of Nevada president, was introduced to the student body at the first assembly of the school year Friday.

Dr. Love was presented by Ted Klimaszewski, ASUN president, who gave a short review of Dr. Love's family and life before he came to Nevada. Dr. Love said in his address that he has been favorably received throughout the state, and that he wants to know every student personally if possible.

Pack Introduced

Introduction of football coach Joe Sheeketski was the main feature of the second part of the assembly. Introduced by assembly chairman Jerry Wyness, Sheeketski told how much he appreciated the reception accorded his football squad by the student body.

Members of the Nevada Wolf Pack were presented to the audience by Sheeketski, along with assistant coaches Jack Lawlor, Dick Evans and Hugh Smithwick.

Other speakers at the assembly were: Marnie Miller, AWS president; Tom Gaffey, senior class manager; and Willard Esplin, rally chairman.

Willie the Wolf, Nevada's mascot, and cheerleaders Jim Morrison and John Gianotti, were introduced to the student body.

Red feather drive to get under way on October 9

Community chest drive on campus will start on October 9, Marjorie Dickinson, YWCA director, announced today.

Fifteen Reno organizations, among them is the campus YWCA, are to benefit from this drive. Budgets are submitted by each group, and if approved, allotments are made from the funds collected.

Mrs. Dickinson stresses, that although the snack bar is self sufficient, the management is supported by the Community chest. The continuance of the snack bar therefore depends upon those funds received from the coming drive.

University goal this year has been set at $700. A 40 cent contribution from each of the 1370 students enrolled at the University would realize this goal.

Gale Richardson, assistant professor of English will send members of his speech classes to each fraternity and sorority on October 9, opening day of the drive. These students are to explain the purpose of the Community chest campaign.

Representatives from each campus fraternity and from independent organizations will be appointed to collect funds during the week.

Donations to the drive will be acknowledged by small "red feathers" given to each donor. "Put a feather in your cap," is the slogan for the campaign.

Headline from Chicago, Ill., Daily Calumet: "Lions will have women for dinner at east side feast."

Artemisia staff sets schedule for photography

Photographing of fraternity and sorority members for the 1951 Artemisia, the University of Nevada yearbook, will begin on October 9 with Delta Delta Delta sorority, Jim Morrison, editor, announced Monday.

All women students will wear white peter pan blouses and the men students will wear sports coats and long ties for the photographs.

Pictures will be taken at the Camera Studios, 129 North Virginia St. The price will be 50 cents for two proofs and one dollar for four, to be paid when taken. All honorary pictures will be taken at the same time as fraternity pictures.

Fraternity and sorority presidents are to turn in complete member and pledge lists immediately to the Artemisia editor at the ASUN building.

An editorial staff meeting has been announced by Jim Morrison to be held October 2 at the ASUN building, and all those interested in signing up are invited to attend.

A plea for a student representative from Las Vegas to sell ads for the annual on a commission basis has been sent out by Ted Lokke, business manager.

Schedule for Photos

Schedule for the pictures will be posted on the two campus bulletin boards. Students are urged to comply. The following schedule is subject to changes:

October 9 and 10: Tri-Delta.

October 11 and 12: Kappa Alpha Theta.

October 13 and 16: Gamma Phi.

October 19 and 20: Alpha Tau Omega.

October 23 and 24: Theta Chi.

October 25 and 26: Lambda Chi.

October 27: Make up day.

October 30 and 31: Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

November 2 and 3: Sigma Nu.

November 6 and 7: Sigma Rho Delta.

November 8 and 9: Phi Sigma Kappa.

November 10 and 13: Delta Sig and Sigma Pi.

From the report of a council meeting in Ottawa, Ill., Daily Republican Times: "Moved by Commissioner Doherty that the report of E. T. Burke, Fire Chief, be approved and placed on fire."

Sororities host fall rushees

Nevada sororities played host to 107 prospective pledges this week under the formal rushing program carried on at the university. Teas, parties and get-togethers were the social highlights.

Rush week is for the specific purpose of introducing rushees to the members of Nevada's four sororities and allowing sorority members to choose their new pledges. During the week all sorority women are on silence and are not allowed to converse with any of the rushees because of the danger of influencing a girl's decision.

A national officer of one of the sororities on the Nevada campus recently praised Nevada's system of rushing for its smooth handling and excellent conduct.

Very few of the girls rushed this week were from out of state, in contrast to past years when most of the rushees were not Nevadans.

Car registration high on university campus

One out of every three students has a car registered on the campus.

Art Cox, campus traffic policeman, said this week that 475 students and 205 staff members have registered their cars, and approximately 25 per cent of the cars are from out-of-state.

October 6 is the deadline for registration, Cox said. All cars that park at any time on the campus must be registered.

The 1950-51 parking permits are about two inches square with a red border for the students and a blue border for the faculty. They should be placed on the inside lower right-hand corner of the windshield.

Late-comers for parking permits should go to the buildings and grounds office in the basement of Morrill Hall. Cox plans to be in the office between classes. There will be no charge for parking permits.

Band director pleased with first meetings; more members needed

Band director Felton Hickman expressed satisfaction with the band "thrown together" for last Friday's assembly and the Nevada-Texas A&M game at Sacramento Saturday night.

Professor Felton Hickman stated that although the band is not as large as he would like it to be, it has strength and is going forward fast. Hickman is new to the staff of the music department this semester.

He plans to propose a concert tour of the state this spring in addition to the usual spring concert. He also plans to change the color and style of the slacks of the band uniforms from the white pants to a more trimly tailored slack in a color not yet selected.

Blue Key dance clears $100

About one hundred dollars was cleared on the annual Blue Key mixer dance on Friday, Sept. 22.

Buck Wells, chairman of the dance committee, commenting on the success of the dance, said that the Blue Key would follow its standard procedure of turning eighty percent of all profits over to the student fund. Wells gave much of the credit for the success of the dance to Ray Alzola and Garold Hyde for their work in advertising and to other men trying out for the Blue Key.

The dance started at 8:30 p. m.

The Loyalty Oath

The proximity of this campus to the Loyalty Oath is closer than the six hour drive from here to Berkeley. It can happen here. One does not have to think very hard to realize what effect the adoption of the oath at California will have on other universities.

To the oath advocates, this is preventive measure against Communism. But to the non-signers, it is purely and perhaps not too simply, a case concerning academic freedom. It would be difficult for most advocates to tell you why professors have been singled out with the ultimatum, "sign or be fired." And, it would be difficult to convince the professors, if they must sign this "one" oath today, what will prevent another "one" tomorrow.

During the year and few months this crisis has partially damaged a great university, not one communist has been turned up. And, if there are any, they certainly were the first to sign, in accordance with their scruples.

It is a cause for despair among the rabid oath fans, that men will object to one little signature, swearing that they are not what they are not. They cannot see that this will only be the beginning of many more little signatures, and that sooner or later, one must walk a narrow path bordered by oaths and pledges.

The controversy at California has done great damage. It has split the faculty into many groups and varying degrees of signers and non-signers. The result, it has been shown, has caused some professors to leave (others will drift away), and some professors will never join the faculty.

Some men signed because of economic reasons. The possibility that their reputations might be so ruined that they would not hold decent teaching positions again, helped swing some. But, the non-signers, with even more reason to hate Communism than the framers of the Loyalty Oath, are holding out. They value freedom more than momentary security.

Dr. Love honored at reception

Dr. Malcolm A. Love, new president of the University of Nevada, and his wife and daughter were honored last Friday at a reception sponsored by the board of regents.

The reception, open to the public, was attended by about 500 students, faculty members and townspeople, said Dean Stanley G. Palmer, chairman of the reception committee.

Other members of the reception committee were Dr. Fredrick Wood, president of the Faculty Club; Mrs. J. E. Martie, president of the Women's Faculty Club; and Theodore H. Post, chairman of the department of music at the university.

In the receiving line of the reception which was held at the Twentieth Century Club were Regent and Mrs. Silas Ross, Dr. and Mrs. Love, Regent and Mrs. Albert Hilliard, and Regent John Cahlan of Las Vegas and his mother.

Music was furnished throughout the evening by Miss Verlita Johnson, pianist, and Miss Katherine Myer, violinist.

Nevada admission methods compared with 400 schools

Registration and admission practices at the University of Nevada were compared recently with those of other colleges and universities in the United States, said Clarence E. Byrd, director of admissions at Nevada.

The comparison was based on a report made last spring at a national meeting of the American Admission Officers in San Francisco.

Of the 400 universities and colleges included in the study, 300 or more, like Nevada, have enrollments of 2,000 or less.

As most other institutions of like size, University of Nevada permits the substitution of college credit work for entrance deficiencies, admits Nevada residents by entrance examinations when their previous academic records do not appear to justify unqualified admission, accepts credits from other accredited institutions at the grade received there, and uses regular faculty members as advisors or counselors during the registration periods.

Unlike most other institutions studied, however, full or part-time counselors are not employed by the University of Nevada.

Students who have completed high school work through correspondence schools are required to take entrance examinations, and no student is admitted by the university for the term or semester after he has been dropped for academic reasons from other institutions.

Veteran students admitted by special tests are required to make up specific entrance units they lack.

High School Credits

Unlike the majority of other colleges and universities, the University of Nevada does not accept high school credits as they appear on a college transcript from another institution. The university requires students transferring from other institutions to make up entrance deficiencies.

The university, differing from other institutions studied, does not permit registration before the arrival of complete credentials, which include high school and college transcripts.

Byrd said that, while one to seven days are used for registration at colleges and universities of comparable size, the University of Nevada devotes only one day to this purpose.

Veteran's dorms get new paint

The veteran's dormitories over in Highland Terrace are receiving a brand new coat of paint on the outside front this fall. In the past four years, since the University has taken them over, the day rooms of these buildings have received no less than two coats of paint. This gives them the distinction of being the most painted buildings on the campus.

Inasmuch as the buildings belong to the Federal Government, and the university is only the lessee, the cost of the painting will be paid by the government.

Univ. women to hear Dr. Gorrell on drama

The first meeting of the 1950-51 book section of the AAUW will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in the children's room of the Washoe County library.

Dr. Robert Gorrell of the University of Nevada English department, will discuss drama of fifth century Greece and the origins of Greek tragedy. Among the dramatic works to be considered will be the plays of Aeschylus, Sophocles and Euripides.

All students and faculty members are invited to attend and the year's program of the book section will be announced at this meeting.

Homecoming plans underway

Plans for the University of Nevada Homecoming, October 28, are underway as a result of the initial meeting of the Homecoming committee Tuesday.

During the meeting, committees were announced to handle the many phases of the celebration.

A theme for the day has not yet been selected though some discussion was held regarding the flapper era of some 25 years ago.

Professor William Miller has been chosen to direct the "Wolves Frolic" this year and tentative plans call for the elimination of competition, at least among the sororities. This suggestion was approved by the Pan-Hellenic council.

Under this plan, sororities would contribute the talent available in their houses for use in a single skit instead of the usual competitive participation.

Committees Announced

Al McFadden, Homecoming chairman, announced the following committees: dance, Pat Zahm, Pat Welter, Marla Mason, Joan Revetti; Phi Sig street dance, Al Benditto; pajamboree, Will Esplin; cross country, Bob Ramsey; parade, Norm Minolla, Lou Eccles; awards, Drew Thircof, Hal Fields; publicity, Frank Johnson; and sweetheart contest, Glo Eddy and Jim Lee.

Committee for the "Wolves Frolic" will include Professor Miller, Norma Walsh and several others not yet chosen.

Many of the floats used in the parade are expected to be shipped to Carson City for use in the Admission day parade later in the week.

Vets housing applications being accepted by dean

The office of the dean of men announces that applications are now being accepted for apartments in the veterans' housing at Victory Heights. At present there are no units available but the waiting list is being compiled and will be issued October 20. In order for a veteran to get an apartment his name must be on the waiting list.

Units are now available for rent at the university trailer court on Second street. Any veteran desiring one of these should consult the office of the dean of men.

Other living quarters available for immediate rent are listed on the bulletin board in the office of the dean of men for both married and single students.

Senate elects Collings upperclass committee head

At a meeting of the student senate Wednesday evening David Collings, Theta Chi, was elected president of the men's upperclass committee.

The committee will meet next week to determine the penalties to be imposed upon all freshmen men caught without the "bible" or not wearing the "dink," a blue and white cap exclusive with freshmen men. Violating any campus tradition will also merit punishment.

Debate club

The first meeting of the University of Nevada Debate Club will be held on Tuesday, October 3, at 8 p.m. Anyone interested in any phase of forensic activity are urged to attend. The meeting will be held in room 20, temporary building.

The debate squad will attend three tournaments this year. The first will be the Western Speech Conference in November, and the Pi Kappa Delta Provincial and the Pacific Coast Forensic League tournaments in the spring.

From a speech by the mayor of Fairfield, Ala., as reported in Birmingham News: "Our morality rate in Fairfield is low while our birth rate is high."

Pinnings

Shirley Hodge, UN military ball queen of 1950, announced her pinning by Rusty Mills, president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, on Monday night, September 25, at the Kappa Alpha Theta house.

Matthew Piccini, Sigma Nu, announced that his pin was being worn by Mary Kay LaCourte, who is a student at Georgian Court College in New Jersey.

Joanie Metzger, Phi Beta Phi, announced her pinning by Jim Morrison, Sigma Nu.

Elaine Powell, Gamma Phi Beta, was pinned by Bob Gallagher, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, on August 31.

Norma Walsh, Gamma Phi Beta, revealed her pinning by Bill Shephard, Eigma Nu, on September 16.

From the Bridgewater, Nova Scotia, Bulletin: "Last evening the Tennis Club ball was held at the Community Hall. Seldom has there been so splendid a display of beaux and belles.

From a note to parents sent by Onekama, Mich., Consolidated School: "Please examine, sigh, and have your children return their report cards promptly."

Spirited pack squad bows to Texas gridgers 48-18

Rising to the occasion, Nevada's Wolf Pack fought, on even ground, the burley Cadets from Texas A&M for two quarters before falling to the larger squad 48-18. The game was played last Saturday night at Hughes Stadium in Sacramento.

The undermanned Pack showed plenty of class at times during the contest and Nevada rooters, judging by after game comment, were well satisfied with the local team's performance.

Unheralded Neil Garrett, a reserve quarterback, coolly completed seven straight passes to lead the Pack to its final touchdown late in the last quarter. Garrett's performance gave promise of better things to come for the Pack.

Passing Attack

While Nevada's ground game bogged down in the heavy going through the Texas line, the Wolf Pack passing accounted for much yardage. Quarterbacks Brady, Gonsalves and Garrett found Barber, Graf and Jones capable receivers.

The Aggies fielded a host of hard-running backs, chief of which were Bobby Smith, Billy Tidwell and Glenn Lippman. Smith kept popping up in the Nevada secondary all evening and managed to lope over for three touchdowns during the fray.

A major factor in the Texas victory was its big, fast line which broke through time and again to smother the Nevada backs or to knock down an intended pass. Two of the Texan's touchdowns were the results of deflected passes. Top man in the Aggie forward wall was giant Russ Hudeck, 6 foot 5 inch, 235-pound tackle.

From the Dallas Daily Times Herald: "Whether the millionaires were most interested in stocks or blondes he declined to say."

Pre-game dance for USF game

Students and fans who plan to journey to San Francisco for the USF-Nevada game, October 8, will be provided extra entertainment in the form of a pre-game dance.

In a letter to ASUN president Ted Kimaszewski, the invitation was made by the dance's sponsors, American Legion Post No. 814, which is the USF post.

The dance will be held in the War Memorial building from 9 to 1 October 7.

Music for the evening will be furnished by Larry Cannon and his orchestra. Admission will be $1.50 per couple and the dance will be informal.

From the San Francisco Chronicle: "It is Miss Lillie's first appearance in San Francisco since 1927, and we should be grateful."

Bob St. Clair, end, are all expected to play a lot of ball this year. In the game against Tulsa last week, Scudero made several long runs and played good ball throughout the game.

If the Don's are able to hold the Indian machine to a standstill tomorrow, it will definitely be a feather in their cap.

USF Dons meet mighty Stanford as Pack rests

The Wolf Pack will take a much needed rest this weekend, while their next opponent, University of San Francisco, takes on a Rose Bowl bound Stanford eleven.

The Dons aren't expected to trouble the Indians too much tomorrow, but with the Don's much-heralded Ollie Matson in the lineup they are capable of scoring one of the major upsets of the year.

The Hilltoppers will not rely on Matson alone this year. Ed Brown, quarterback, who played left half last year, will be called upon to do most of the passing. Last year Brown completed 18 of 35 passes for 423 yards, an average of 23.5 yards per completion. Brown will also be out to better his 42.7 punting average of last season.

Merrill Peacock, one of the better pass receivers on the Pacific coast last year, is back for another season, and will probably be on the receiving end of most of Brown's passes.

Three members of the Don's undefeated frosh team of last year (the same team that ran roughshod over Nevada's frosh) Joe Scudero, half-back; John Calkins, line backer, and

Lawlor begins seventh year as Nevada coach

Glenn Jake Lawlor, head basketball coach and line coach of the football team, will begin his seventh season as basketball coach this year.

His teams have consistently shown fight and scrap that only a mentor like Jake can give them. 1946 was without a doubt his greatest year as a coach, for during that year his team received a bid to the NAIR tourney in Kansas City and reached the quarter-finals before being beat out by Southern Illinois Normal, the ultimate winners of the tournament. Also during the year his team dumped a favorite St. John's quintet in Madison Square Garden by a close score.

Lawlor was born on July 27, 1907, in Victor, Iowa. He attended the St. Ambrose Academy in Davenport, Iowa. While there he lettered in baseball, basketball, and football getting two letters in each. Upon graduation he entered the St. Ambrose College, and lettered in the same three sports for one year.

Then, in 1926, he came to Nevada, where he became a multiple sport star. He captained both the football and basketball squads and won all-conference honors in both sports, when Nevada was a member of the Far Western Conference. After graduation in 1930, he played professional baseball with the Sacramento Solons and San Francisco Seals for one season.

He began his coaching career at Virginia City, Nevada, and later moved to Delano, California, before joining the University of Nevada sport staff in 1942. When the coaching staff was curtailed during the war, he returned to Delano for the 1944-45 season, but returned to Nevada in 1946 to produce one of the university's finest hoop squads.

Ken Fox, Phi Sigma Kappa's house manager, was married this summer to Nola Rogers.

Pack Tracks

By Myron Leavitt

An editorial which appeared in the Reno Evening Gazette recently went like this: "The spirit of the Wolf Pack was excellent. Despite the score, the team battled all the way through the game against a team which was its superior in manpower and reserves."

"There is an enthusiasm and determination about this current Nevada squad which few university teams on the hill have equalled in recent years."

The reason for this spirit appears to be that this year's Pack has more desire to play football, and as a result takes the pigskin sport more seriously than have teams of recent years.

The squad this year is young and green for the most part, but for what it lacks in experience and age, it has in spirit and determination.

After the game with Texas A&M last week, a tall, rangy Texan walked up to Carmel Caruso, Nevada center, and said, "don't you fellas evah giv up." That sentence just about sums up the Aggies' opinion of the Pack.

An interesting note about this year's team is that of the first 22 men only three, Carmel Caruso, Herman Fisher, and Jerry Wyness, will be lost next year through graduation.

How the Pack stacks

QUARTERBACKS

Pat Brady, 6 foot 3 inches, 23 years old.

Brady is the Pack's number one quarterback this year. He came to Nevada from Seattle, Washington, where he led Everett J. C. to an undefeated season. The tall Irishman has a whiplash arm and delivers his passes with the same baseball style, throwing as Stan Heath. Pat's bombing punts placed him high in the nation in punting last year, and he is kicking better than ever this season. Doubtless we'll all be seeing a great deal of Pat this fall. He's the kind of a player that could make the difference between a winning and losing season.

Ray Gonsalves, 5 foot 10 inches, 200 pounds, 20 years old.

A barrel chested quarterback who looks more like a guard than a back. Appearances however are deceptive, for Gonsalves is truly a magician with the pigskin. A real "now you see it, now you don't" trickster. He is now a finished quarterback. He comes to us from Menlo J. C. where his team established a fine record. Ray's home is Hilo, Hawaii. "Gonsie" will really go when he gets his chance.

Neil Garrett, 5 foot 9 inches, 165 pounds, 21 years old.

This husky lad has tremendous passing potentialities, which he showed against Texas A&M last week. Neil hasn't completely adapted himself to the Wolf Pack "T" yet, but when his ball handling equals his passing he may be the greatest of them all. He comes from Los Angeles where he master-minded East L.A.J.C. to ten straight victories. He was born in Dallas, Texas, and as all things from Texas are either "the biggest or the best" it will pay to keep an eye on Neil Garrett.

Ticket deadline

Wednesday has been set as the deadline for students to apply for reserve seats for the Nevada-USF football game.

Only students who sign up for reserve seats with Gene Mastroianni, graduate manager, will be allowed to sit in the rooting section. Students who do not apply may still gain admittance to the stadium, upon presentation of their student body cards, but will not be able to sit in the reserved section.

No applications will be honored after 5:00 p.m. Wednesday. Application blanks can be obtained at the office of the graduate manager in the ASUN building.

USF football rally in education auditorium

Tentative arrangements are being made for a rally to be held in the education auditorium Oct.

5 for the USF and Nevada football game, which will be played at an Francisco on Oct. 8.

Rally Chairman Willard Esplin, announces that he hopes to use entertainers from the campus and downtown. Members of the team will be present at the rally.

Yell leaders needed rally committee plans card tricks

Head yell leader John Giannotti at the University of Nevada announced that further tryouts will be held Monday at 4 p.m. in Mackay Stadium for men to fill the two assistant yell leader positions. Giannotti also announced that he hopes to present to the student body, this year, many new yells in addition to the old favorites.

At the same time, rally committee chairman Willard Esplin announced tentative plans for having card tricks at, at least two of Nevada's three home games.

"Of course, it depends on the committee's budget and the student body's cooperation," he said.

He urged that anyone interested in working on the committee, especially lowerclassmen, contact him at the Theta Chi fraternity house.

Budget meeting set for Oct. 4

Organizations which plan to use ASUN funds during the fall semester at the University of Nevada, must submit their budgets to the graduate manager's office by October 4, it was announced today.

Budget forms are available at the graduate manager's office, and should be returned before the finance control board meeting on Wednesday, October 4.

The budgets will be discussed at this meeting. Anyone wanting to sit in on this meeting to explain a budget should inform the office in advance.

Draft deferments

notice to report for physical examination. According to the best sources available, and this includes unofficial information from naval sources, a large number of Naval Reservists are likely to be called before the end of the school year.

Not much information is available on the policies and procedures of the Marines except that most of those eligible for recall have already been taken. The Department of Defense is now giving consideration to a general policy and procedure governing deferments in all branches of the armed forces.

Procedure of Deferments

At the University of Nevada it is proposed that reserve members likely to be called and who desire to be deferred will file applications in the office of Dean Griffin, if a student, or with President Love, if a faculty member. Requests for deferment or faculty members will require evidence of indispensability at the institution. If a deferment will be requested, the university will be prepared in advance. When the reservist receives notice to report, the application for deferment will be processed immediately. It is expected that applications for deferment will be made available in a short time. In the meantime, anyone receiving a notice to report for active duty should confer with Dean Griffin for help in filing application for deferment.

As far as Selective Service is now concerned, students receiving notice to report may apply for and receive letters of information to their draft boards.

Must Be in Good Standing

The grade medians to be used in judging the upper half of the class, for matters of deferment have already been established for all classes in all colleges at the university.

Dean Griffin reported that as soon as definite policies and procedures have been established for all branches of the armed service, mimeographed copies will be made and distributed to the students.

Demonstration

There will be a demonstration on evaporated milk in room 108 of the agricultural building on October 3 from 10 to 12 a.m.

The public is invited to the demonstration which is being presented by the home economics department. Miss Kathryn Sandmeyer of the Evaporated Milk Association will give the demonstration.

Freshman regulations to be enforced

"Enforcement of University of Nevada campus traditions and freshmen regulations will begin in earnest next Monday," Judy Morrison, president of the women's upperclass committee, said today. "Few penalties have been inflicted since the beginning of the school term because of the strenuous activities of registration and rush week," Miss Morrison explained, "and several sororities have not yet elected their representatives." Only the 13 members of the upperclass committee are entitled to penalize freshman women. From then on she increases the size of either the hair ribbon or "bible" (freshman handbook) with each penalty. With the first offense the ribbon changes from blue and white to a large, bright plaid ribbon and the "bible" is exchanged for a suit box with a duplicate of the handbook drawn on it.

Freshmen will abide by these regulations until the end of the fall semester.

If you find a lost child don't move'm—leave'm

Suzie, age six, told students passing the University of Nevada Agricultural building yesterday, that she had lost both her mother and father.

When questioned, Suzie could remember only three things: her name, her mother's first name, and that she was six years old. Half an hour later she decided that she could find her way home. Helpful students took Suzie home.

In the meantime Suzie's mother also decided that Suzie was lost. For three hours students and motser worked in opposite directions. At four o'clock yesterday Arthur Cox, campus policeman, and Marjory Dickson, the Reno Police Department, and university officials request that hereafter students leave lost children where they are found.

UN students construct sets

Sets for "Born Yesterday," a three act comedy which played for two seasons on Broadway, are being constructed by six university students enrolled in a course in theater practice.

The class, conducted by Professor Edwin Semenza, includes Bobbie Lee Conant, Margie Foote, Carl Haas, Gordon Hayes, Donna Sollars and Pat Welty.

This is the first play to be presented this year by the Reno Little Theater. Performances will be held at 8:30 p.m. each evening beginning October 9 and continuing through October 15. A matinee will be held at 1 p.m. Sunday, October 15.

Dr. Love enthusiastic about university's future; 'small size is an asset'

Enthusiastic about the future of the university as well as its present assets, Dr. Love is currently considering the budget for the next two years.

The small size of the university is an asset to the students, he said, because of the closer student-faculty relationship it allows and because of the friendly spirit it encourages.

Dr. Love was formerly Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Denver University. He was a naval officer during World War II.

Only when they have grown taller than their parents, do some children begin to look up to them.

No more warnings

"Citations will take the place of the usual warnings for traffic violations starting Monday," Arthur C. Cox, campus policeman, said.

Cox said that so far the warnings have been ignored and he will have to use more strict measures. He is particularly concerned over students parking in front of fire hydrants.

"All students were given parking instructions when they registered their cars and there is no excuse for the violation of these rules," Cox said.

In further comment he said that the speed limit on campus is 15 miles per hour, and drivers exceeding this speed will be given citations.
