UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA, RENO, NEVADA, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1950

Here they are! The six candidates for Homecoming queen sitting pretty on the rail of the tram. Left to right they are Nancy West, Tri-Delt; Pat Warburton, Pi Phi; Mickey Hastings, Manzanita Hall, Alice Melendy, Gamma Phi; Cecilia Schmitt, Artemisia Hall; and Elice Valentine, Theta. One of these pretties will reign over all the Homecoming festivities, starting with the Pajamboree, Thursday night, October 26, and ending with the Homecoming dance, Saturday night.

Dave Collings (center) head of the upperclassmen committee, is pictured with two of the "boys," Tom Barton and Bill Jager. The "boys" are detailed to handle all erring frosh males by handing out "swats" for various offenses. Fifth offense, incidentally, is a head shave. Sixth offense (censored)!

Five offenses and that's all!!

Things are tough all over, and one of the things due to get toughest of all is the men's upperclass committee, according to Dave Collings, chairman of the group.

Collings says that beginning Monday his committee will bear down on freshmen who forget to wear their dinks, carry their frosh bibles, cut campus, or who happen to sit on the senior benches.

- First offense—three swats.
- Second offense—six swats.
- Third offense—10 swats.
- Fourth offense—laking in Manzanita lake.
- Fifth offense—head shave.

These penalties may be worked off by frosh, who are physically unable to take them, at the rate of 20 minutes work per swat.

Frosh are also warned that failure to paint the N on Peavine mountain will also be considered an offense by the committee, and will bear similar punishment.

Male members of the frosh class may be able to throw away their dinks, however, if they can emerge victorious from a tug of war with the sophs, possibly at Homecoming.

Collings has called for a meeting of the upperclass committee Thursday at 12:30 p.m. in the ASUN building.

Four changes in athletic policy on ASUN ballot October 19

By Bob Clark

Four ASUN constitutional amendments, one of which will give the university president and the board of regents final say in athletic policies and appointments, will be presented to the students of the university, Thursday, October 19.

The amendment concerning athletic control also asks an increase in the number of members on the board of athletic control to seven, including under the amendment, the comptroller and an additional alumni member.

This amendment was suggested by the athletic policy and recommendation committee which presented its report on the Nevada athletic situation to the regents last May 17. It was later approved by the board of regents.

Two Alternatives

The second amendment, which has two alternatives, was voted on last semester, but since there was no clear cut majority, it is being presented again. The first alternative gives complete control of inter-collegiate athletic funds to the board of athletic control.

There are conflicting statements in the constitution regarding control of these funds.

The second alternative provides for dual control of funds allotted to intercollegiate athletics, by the board of athletic control and the board of finance control.

Ted Klimaszewski, ASUN president, stated that the first choice will provide less cumbersome control of intercollegiate athletic funds.

The third amendment offered students allows an associate Block N representative to be elected by the student body in the fall. He will serve on the board of athletic control as a non-voting member for the rest of the school year and become a voting member of the board the following year. The object intended is to insure an experienced student representative on the board.

Boxing Amendment

The fourth amendment will make boxing a major sport. The 1949-50 Nevada boxing schedule was terminated early last year because Nevada lacked enough fighters to fill the weight classes. This caused the forfeiture of two cards. Klimaszewski said he felt sure that general sentiment was in favor of making boxing a major sport.

Homecoming plans rolling; candidates for queen chosen

Plans for the University of Nevada's 1950 Homecoming have been formed, according to Al McFadden, Homecoming committee chairman.

Candidates for queen have been selected. They are Pat Warburton, Phi Beta Phi; Nancy West, Tri-Delt; Elice Valentine, Theta; Alice Melendy, Gamma Phi Beta; Mickey Hastings, Manzanita Hall; and Cecilia Schmitt, Artemisia Hall.

Homecoming weekend will begin at 8 p.m. Thursday, October 28, with the traditional Phi Sigma Kappa street dance on Lake street.

Friday evening there will be a pajamboree parade at 6:30, followed by a pre-game rally and bonfire at 7:30. The Homecoming queen will be announced at the rally.

Wolves Frolic

The Wolves Frolic will be held at 9:00. This year it will follow a musical theme, with the sororities not in competition for trophies. Instead, they will work together on a single performance.

Festivities Saturday begin at 9:00 a.m. with the interfraternity cross country race from Sparks high school to Mackay Stadium, the Homecoming parade at 10:30 a.m. and a reception at the home of President Malcolm A. Love at noon.

The Homecoming football game with Loyola will be played Saturday afternoon, with kickoff time at 2:00.

All fraternities will hold open house for alumni following the football game.

The alumni get-together is tentatively scheduled for 8:00 Saturday evening, and the Homecoming dance at 9:00.

Finance board oks fall budgets, frolic expenses

The budget for this year's Wolves Frolic was the principal order of business at the first meeting of the finance control board held Wednesday afternoon. A total budget of $1734.00 was approved by the board for the annual extravaganza, an increase of over $300.

The show will be presented under the direction of Dr. William Miller and is tentatively scheduled for the State Building. Dr. Miller stated that he plans to have a chorus line and novelty number and that the entire show will not exceed two and a half hours.

Last year's budget was $1505 and the total profit returned to the ASUN was $953.91. The student body could have realized a greater profit

Coed Capers dinner set for Oct. 11

Coed Capers, the annual all-women's dinner, is scheduled for Wednesday, October 11, at 7 p.m., in the university dining hall, Associated Women Students President Marnie Miller said Wednesday.

The dinner begins AWS activities of the year by bringing coeds together to get acquainted.

All women students of the University of Nevada were invited. Entertainment and the awarding of the scholarship cup to the sorority that made the best academic average during the spring semester of last year will take place. An achievement plaque will be awarded the sorority that made the best scholarship achievement during the spring semester.

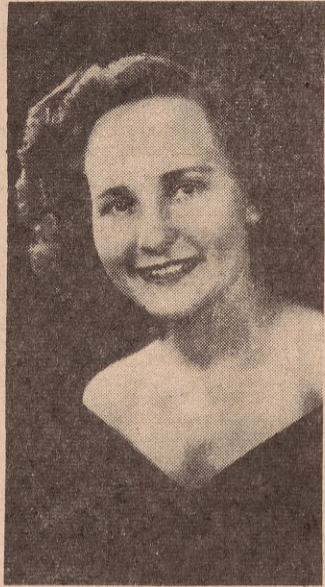

Cost of the dinner for those not eating in the university dining hall will be 75 cents. There is no charge for those women students boarding in the dining hall.

Elaine Powell is ticket manager. Tickets for resident women students wishing to attend the Coed Caper will be distributed in the dining hall and dinner tickets are available at the YWCA room.

AWS Vice President Lois Bates is in charge of entertainment, and Bobbie Cummins and Louanna Tietje are to handle posters.

Carol Oldman was elected secretary for the semester at the AWS meeting held on October 2 and Bobbie Moore was elected to handle all publicity for AWS affairs for the college year.

Marnie Miller, AWS president, starts 1950's AWS program with Coed Capers.

The year started out big at Nevada, even before registration, when the Activities Parade drew one of its best crowds in years. New students came to checkout the many activities at the university, old students came to see the new students, and dancing climaxed the evening.

Finance board

If the damages from the fire had not been so great. Repairs to the gym totaled $370.

A rally committee budget of $197 was passed, the budget to include some of the expenses of Willie the Wolf, yell leader's sweaters and travel expenses.

The University of Nevada band was allotted $320 for expenses and music during the semester. In addition to this sum, certain fees are given the band by the military department for martial music and specific expenses of band members who are exempt from military drill.

Livestock Team Expenses

Nevada's livestock judging team will travel to San Francisco late this month to represent the university at the Grand National Livestock Exposition. Expenses for the trip which is expected to include 12 students, were approved by the finance board at a total of $252.

"Hello on the Hill" which is scheduled to run through next week culminating in a dance next Saturday night was budgeted by the board at $147.

A budget for the Coed Capers all women's dinner next Wednesday night was approved at $30.

The finance board is entirely new this year with the exception of Col. Smee and consists of Dr. Ernest Inwood, chairman, Col. James Smee, faculty representative, Tel Klimaszewski, student body president, and Mardelle Kornmayer and Jim Eliades, student representatives. One of the two student members will be replaced by a senator at large to be elected October 19.

OPEN LETTER TO STUDENTS

The university committee on counselling, orientation, testing and guidance wishes to express its great appreciation for the cooperation of student organizations and individuals in the recent orientation program for new students. The number of contributors to the program was so great as to make individual letters and thanks a major task, so we take this means of saying "Thank you."

We were especially pleased with the student "Activities Parade," the YWCA "ice breaker" and the inter-faith dinner. The booth decorations were excellent and showed a lot of work. The fashion show put on by AWS and the other events in the program were fine. The committee considers this "parade" one of the most colorful and useful events of the year.

Sincerely yours,
Ralph A. Irwin,
Committee Chairman.

Library handbook due this month

A new library handbook, distributed to students free of charge, will be printed sometime this month. The handbook will contain information as to the location of different rooms in the library, how to check out a book, and the rules and regulations to be maintained.

The browsing room will be open to all students and staff members this year. The room displays all the new books first. Then all new books that are of special value or interest will be kept there. The books may be checked out for a period of two weeks.

Among the new books now in the browsing room are: "Last Chance in Africa," by Farson; "Pleasant Dome," by Frankenberg; "The Town," by Richter; and "Snowslide," by Carl Jones. Also being displayed is Mr. Charles Cutts' collection of rare and fine print editions, which was recently given the university.

Clean your own tables

That is the request of Mrs. Marjorie Dickinson, manager of the snack bar in the basement of Stewart Hall. Mrs. Dickinson announces that the snack bar will be open from 7:30 until 3:00 in the afternoon.

Sandwiches and salads will be served from 11:00 to 3:00.

The bar now employs a full time helper and one student helper, but is in need of one girl to work from 9:00 to 12:00 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Those interested in the job should contact Mrs. Dickinson in the YWCA office.

There have been several changes in both the personnel and the decoration of the snack bar. Mrs. Marion Billings is the business manager in charge of purchasing and Mrs. Dickinson is in charge of operation.

The women of the YWCA are responsible for the sunshine yellow and kelly green color scheme.

New frat house for Sigma Nus

A new fraternity house was added to campus when the Sigma Nu, now located at 826 University Avenue, bought the estate of Ludovica D. Graham at 1075 Ralston Street.

The agreement includes transfer of the present Sigma Nu house and a lot on University Terrace which the Sigma Nu's have owned since 1928. The amount of money was not disclosed.

The Graham home was built in 1932 and is constructed of steel and white brick. The lot, which is elaborately landscaped, is 200 feet wide in front, 140 feet deep, and 300 feet in the back where a greenhouse is located. The building consists of two stories of living space. Attached to the main building is a north wing for dining and kitchen facilities.

Social calendar due Monday to list all semester social events

The Social Calendar, a listing of all social events scheduled for the semester at the University of Nevada, will be ready for circulation today or Monday, October 9, it was announced today by Dean Elaine Mobley.

Copies of the Social Calendar are sent to all social committee chairmen of the sororities, fraternities, and any other organization with a scheduled social event for the coming semester.

Thanksgiving vacation for the University of Nevada students will start on November 22 and end on November 27. The dates of the vacation stated in the University Bulletin are incorrect as printed.

One thing the Russians may claim to have really discovered is how to wage war in peace.

This is Sigma Nu's new fraternity house, located at 826 University Avenue. The frat hasn't made definite plans to move from their present location. Built in 1932, the house is constructed of white brick and steel.

A New Student Union Building—When?

President Malcolm love told the board of regents the other day, the need for a new student union building. It would cost an estimated $500,000 and would be included in long range construction plans—maybe, if the legislature saw fit.

This is a great idea as it has always been. However, unless some miracle occurs, this idea will probably always end up in "long range construction programs."

It is significant that Dr. Love mentions this almost with his first breath on the hill. The need stands out very clearly. But it needs some quick, if temporary relief.

We have a student union building, such as it is. Approximately 20 per cent of it is wasted floor space—an unnecessarily wide hall, from front to back. Another 20 per cent is just space. The second floor, in other words, hangs around the edges, with a big hole in the middle.

A little remodeling, then, would add almost half again the amount of floor space now available for the service group offices and student meeting place.

At a cost far below $500,000, the building could be made to look very modern with a few remodeling tricks. A little paint, some new partitioning, and the ASUN could have a building that would at least make the long wait for the $500,000 job, a much more comfortable and pleasant one.

Campus Community Chest starts Monday

The Community Chest campaign on campus will begin Monday night when Gale Richards, assistant professor of English, sends members of his speech classes to explain the purpose of the drive to all organizations meeting on that night.

Community Chest funds support 15 independent organizations, and eliminate individual solicitations by each of them.

The only campus organization to receive funds from the campaign will be the YWCA. The snack bar, however, is under the management of the YWCA, and Marjory Dickinson, executive director, pointed out that the continuance of the snack bar depends on funds received from this drive.

Irving Sandorf, electrical engineering professor and co-ordinator for the university's fund drive, spoke Tuesday to a group of student representatives who will be responsible for contacting campus groups.

Dorothy Coates is student co-ordinator and director for the drive. Working with her are Willard Esplin, general chairman for fraternities; Robyn Forsyth, general chairman for sororities; Mary Lou Brunton, chairman women's dormitories; and Bob Leonard, chairman for the men's dormitories.

Residents of Victory Heights are donating candy and cookies which will be sold at the COP game here the Saturday following the opening of the drive. All money gained from these sales will be turned over to the campaign.

A barometer, showing the day-to-day progress of the drive towards its goal, will be posted in front of the snack bar throughout the campaign.

Sigma Nu Elects

Bill Briner, senior, was elected president of the Sigma Nu house, in the fraternity's annual elections last week.

Other officers are: vice president, Joe Ward, of Providence, Rhode Island; recorder, Bill Shephard, of Henderson, Nevada; treasurer, Wayne Pearson, of McGill; and house manager, Eyer Boies, of Wells, Nevada.

Senate discusses plans for building

Construction of a student union building to begin two or three years hence, was discussed at the weekly meeting of the ASUN senate last Wednesday evening. The building will probably be constructed in sections as the erecting of a complete ASUN structure would entail too many initial costs.

Members of the senate were asked for suggestions on the new building.

Senators heard John Gianotti, Block N representative, report on the board of athletic control.

Since Gianotti believes that the senate should be informed of the workings of the BAC he plans to report to the school legislature on the meetings held by the athletic board.

Other topics discussed at the meeting of the senators were elections, a charter train to the Santa Clara game in Sacramento, a letter from a university in Manila and Willy the Wolf.

An election rally will be held on Tuesday, October 10, at 7:30 in the new gymnasium, according to Ted Klimaszewski, presiding officer of the senate. The purpose of the meeting will be to give the students a chance to meet the candidates and hear them speak.

An open forum will be held and a panel of executive committee and the Block N representative will answer questions pertaining to the four proposed amendments to the ASUN constitution.

A letter from Legarda Memorial College in Manila, Philippine Islands, was read to the group by Klimaszewski. The letter appealed to the students on the campus for textbooks to be used in classes at the college. It was voted by the senators to turn the project over to the Blue Key service organization.

Mardelle Koramayer gave a report on the finance control board and the revised Sager constitution was approved by the senate.

University Singers will prepare several numbers for the Wolves Frolic during the Homecoming celebration and will soon begin work on Handel's Oratorio Messiah, given in conjunction with the Reno Civic Chorus and Orchestra in December.

Judge Medina says 'Oath' Unjust

LOS ANGELES—Federal Judge Harold Medina, jurist at the recent trial of United States communist party leaders, say college professors have been submitted to a grave injustice in the matter of loyalty oaths.

Medina made the statement in Los Angeles to a meeting of the California Conference of Judges.

He told the meeting, "I regret to say it is most unfortunate there has not been a more sympathetic understanding on the part of the public on what is meant by academic freedom."

And he added, "I don't think people have been careful or patient enough to get to the bottom of this problem."

Medina said the loyalty oath controversy couldn't happen if there was a meeting of minds, but that unfortunately, the citizenry has been worked up in regard to the matter.

Freshmanual: "It is safer to know too little than too much"—Samuel Butler. "Colleges hate geniuses just as convents hate saints."—Emerson. "Universities are full of knowledge; the freshmen bring a little in and the seniors take none away, and the knowledge accumulates."—Abbot Lawrence Lowell. "The college graduate is presented with a sheepskin to cover his intellectual nakedness."—Robert M. Hutchins. "Whenever the cause of the people is entrusted to professors it is lost."—Lenin. UNDERBRUSH: Reno turned inside out for Nevada grad Tosca Masini, wining and dining her before her send-off to the Miss America contest. But she didn't do too well by Reno's standards. Only seventh place in a field of 52; just a $1000 scholarship, and a million bucks worth of publicity for this town that doesn't need it; and some nice radio and movie offers. But, Tosca decided to return "home." And there was good ole Reno to greet her at the depot—two publicity men, a photographer, a friend and a girl who knew that this was exactly how it would be. The biggest little city with the littlest big heart. . . . Nancy Hecker, picked by Esquire's editors as Mackay Day queen last April, caused the editors to reflect in September's issue. They thought one of their nicest jobs was passing judgement on such confection, and they ran her picture on their editorial page just to prove it. . . . Walt MacKenzie made TIME mag because he was the first student, as far as we know, who ever ran for regent in his own university. Dead serious in his intent, he still laughs about the day he filed for the election. He walked in and tossed the form on the secretary of state's desk just before the deadline. There was no immediate surprise. They thought he was a messenger boy. . . . In Pioche, Nevada, Sheketski withdrew too late for them to take the regent race off the ballots. (When Joe dropped out, that threw the election into the general only.) So, some of the voters checked off their choices for regent as long as it was still on the ballot. And as far as one precinct in Pioche is concerned, Walt MacKenzie would make a good regent. John Cahlan, incumbent candidate for the post, says Walt hasn't got a chance.

The U. S., in the critical stages of World War II, found it cost $89,000,000,000 to wage a full scale war. If pressed into another world-wide conflict it will now cost $124,000,000,000, or an increase of 39.3 per cent. Korea is termed a "little war," and "only" costs $4,000,000,000. You think the cost of living is outrageous? Not like the cost of dying! . . . Last year's student proxy, P. O. Reimer, was on campus last week on short leave from the United States Coast Geodetic Survey. A few weeks ago he was in the Bering Strait, looking right in the ears of Russia—radar on the coast of Siberia. So quiet down a little.

BRUSHPILE: First social-slip of the year was made by Lowell Miller. In charge of the rifle club's booth at the activities parade, he used some obsolete posters for backdrops. Captioned, "Today, the target—tomorrow the enemy," the illustration showed a German soldier through the outline of a bullseye. Curious onlookers that night—two German students, sent here by the state department to study journalism. . . . Texas A&M needed little spurring on Saturday night for their stampede through Nevada territory. However, a band recruited by Sacramento to give the Aggies moral support, may have been responsible for their big victory. In fact—it probably made 'em fightin' mad. You see, they played Rice University's school song all night long. . . . Follow this closely: A veteran on the hill gets a compensation check. But not really, because before he gets it, the government takes it back in G.I. insurance payments. However, not quite. They give it back to him in insurance dividends. That is, almost. They get it back because he borrowed on his insurance. Got it? . . . Appalled by the acute man shortage on campus, coeds Mae Gregory and Terry Alauzet have figured out their share, mathematically. 1.00 per cent each. However, that was before they seriously considered the freshman crop of women. New estimate. About 30 per cent of a male each. There'll be a lot of cuttin' up this year.

ADD NOISE: Without a single report for almost the entire summer, a favorite subject pops up again this month in a new book, "Flying Saucers" (Henry Holt & Co.) The result of three years study by Frank Scully, it will either go down in history as the most bald-faced lie, or the first fact for fact report on "Men from outer space." If it's a hoax, Scully should be demagnetized—which is a little trick the saucers are supposed to have, with a kick that would make the H-Bomb seem like a strawberry phosphate. Scully even describes the "Men found in them" (34 to date—all dead—in three different ships). The ships and the men, Scully says, are being dissected by the government. . . . A red-head is making a main event out of the intermission at the Golden. Jimmy Dodd, leader of an energetic combo (4) wrings the most extraordinary things out of the most ordinary numbers. You may have the feeling you've seen Dodd before. He does straight dramatics in such things as "Convicted," and he's Mickey Rooney's pal in "Whirlpool," coming up. If he doesn't get another studio call, he'll be around for awhile. And that's lucky for you. . . . Mark Curtis

Tickets on sale for Homecoming prize contest

Jerry Wyness, SAE senior, has been appointed campus sales representative of the 1950 Homecoming contest, Max Dodge, sales chairman, announced this week.

The money raising affair, which features the presentation of a 1950 Buick Riviera, will have the support of campus organizations, as fraternities, sororities, and other groups compete in selling tickets.

This year the selling organizations retain 10 per cent of the sales. Each book contains ten tickets, and the fraternity and sorority selling the largest number of tickets win a permanent trophy in addition to the per centage of sales.

The individual selling the largest number of ducats will receive, as an added prize, an all-expense paid weekend in San Francisco to see the Nevada-St. Mary's football game.

Blue Key, campus service organization, will handle all the downtown sales with a ten man crew under the direction of sales chairman, Eyer Boles. Hours worked in the selling of tickets will count toward initiation hours for Blue Key tryees.

Laughton program features great works

A cub Sagebrush reporter interviewed actor Charles Laughton on Monday night.

When he was introduced to Mr. Laughton the "Brushling" discovered that he had neglected to choose some questions for the interview. Mr. Laughton, weary from the long trip to Reno, nervously asked the dumbfounded cub what he wanted to know. The now reporter stammered and fumbled for a question. Mr. Laughton in an impatient but fatherly tone suggested that he write a story on just what took place back stage at the attempted interview. And this is it.

Bly of "Mutiny on the Bounty," the Gettysburg Address, Charles Dickens, Andrew Marvel, Thomas Wolfe, the introduction to Shakespeare's Henry V, and the Bible.

Laughton is touring American cities with his program of dramatic readings. His appearance here was sponsored by the Washoe Ministerial Association.

Crusade for Freedom on campus next week

University of Nevada students will have an opportunity to sign the famous Freedom Scroll on the Nevada campus next week.

General Lucius Clay, national chairman of the crusade, in a special statement asked all university people to join the Crusade.

"I am confident that college men and women will want to take an active part in the Crusade for Freedom, that they will want to stand up and be counted in the roll call for world freedom; and that they will welcome the opportunity to help pierce the iron curtain by helping Radio Free Europe to broadcast the "big truth" to an ever widening audience of people behind the iron curtain."

Blue Key, service organization, is setting up a booth in front of Stewart Hall on Monday and it will remain there until Friday, so all may sign.

On Friday, October 13, the scrolls will be collected and sent to Berlin, Germany, where the names of all the Nevada students and faculty will be enshrined in the base of the Freedom Bell, as part of the ceremonies dedicating the bell.

The bell will ring from the Rathaus Tower in the western sector of Berlin for the first time on that day. It will continue to ring daily as a symbol of freedom.

Students who have already signed at registration, or the activities parade, were asked to sign again by the campus committee so an accurate tabulation of student signatures can be obtained.

President Malcolm Love was chairman of the Crusade for Freedom in Denver and has pledged the wholehearted support of the university administration.

ASUN President Ted Klimaszewski encouraged the entire student body to support the movement, and he feels that all who come in contact with it will sign.

Students signing the Freedom Scroll are not required to contribute any money to the Crusade for Freedom cause, but will be given buttons with the Freedom Bell emblem to show that they have signed the scroll.

Dr. Jensen to lecture for history society

All the coffee you can drink

How would you like to win 500 cups of coffee? A contest for the best poster which will encourage students and faculty to keep the snack bar clean, was announced by the YWCA today. Prize will be 500 cups of coffee or $2.50 in credit. Joan Foster and Bobbie Barrot of the poster committee, said the contest will open October 16 and close October 20. The poster will be judged on originality and effectiveness. All posters become the property of the YWCA when submitted. Contestants will supply their own material for the posters; posters to be no larger than 24 by 18 and no smaller than 9 by 12. A faculty committee to judge the posters will be chosen and announced next week.

Football trips by special train?

If guaranteed a minimum crowd of 175 students, the Southern Pacific railroad company will offer the services of a special university "game train" for transportation to and from the Nevada-Santa Clara game, which will be played in Sacramento on October 22.

In a letter to ASUN president Ted Klimaszewski, the railroad, which supplied game trains years ago, offered students a special fare of $7.99 for the round trip to Sacramento, which would take about five hours each way.

Southern Pacific has offered as many coach cars as needed and in addition, the railroad offers the following extras: an observation car for lounging and playing cards; an all-day lunch car, a baggage car with refrigeration units to store and sell soft drinks, and a stripped down baggage car to be used for dancing.

The last train of this type carried university students to San Francisco in October of 1946 for the Nevada-St. Marys game, and was planned by a group of students headed by Gene Mastroianni, who now holds the office of graduate manager.

Both Klimaszewski and Mastroianni gave their full support to the plan, saying that it would give more students a safer and less expensive way to get to Nevada's games away from home. Also, it would make a more pleasant trip, for instead of having many small groups on the road at different times, students would be able to go as a group.

Planning of the trip has been turned over to rally committee chairman, Willard Espin, who plans to organize a special committee to work on the details involved.

Nevada grid foes show fire in first contest of season

Nevada's future football opponents for 1950 participated in some high scoring gridiron affairs this past weekend and when the shouting was over two of them, Montana and Wichita, had won their games, while USF, COP, Santa Clara, and North Texas State all took it on the chin.

Perhaps the most noteworthy performance went to underdog St. Mary's who held 30 point favorite Georgia, to a 7-7 tie.

All four defeated teams that appear on the local schedule bowed before strong opponents. In San Francisco, USF really took a thumping, when they dropped a 55-7 game to the Indians from Stanford, who many believe are Rose Bowl bound.

College of Pacific took their step into big-time football, and dropped a hard fought game to powerful Louisiana State, 19-0.

In a game in Houston, Texas, Santa Clara and Rice, two of last year's bowl participants, put on a good battle before the Santa Clara Broncos were set back by Rice, 27-7. Another game in the lone star state found the Razorbacks from Arkansas thumping North Texas State, 56-0. Of the two winning Pack opponents, Montana beat Idaho, 28-27, and Wichita carved out a surprising 46-20 win over Utah State, a team that beat the Pack 7-6.

From the Lamar, Mo., Daily Democrat: "The bride was entrancingly gowned in a sheer, soft blue net gown which fell to the floor as she swept down the aisle."

Pershing rifle men have first meeting; eighty-one men join

Hoping to be activated by national headquarters, Nevada's Pershing Rifle squad met for the first time this year last week.

The squad, commanded by senior ROTC student Paul Stimac, is the advanced marching unit of the Nevada Reserve Officers Training Corps. Eighty-one men, almost twice as many as in previous years, have been accepted into the organization this year.

Last year, the group, which numbered slightly over 40, was near activated by national headquarters, when a change in membership dues and other problems delayed the move. The school year ended before the Nevada group was activated.

Applications are being accepted by the military department. The squad drills at each regular ROTC drill period.

Courses for army air base studied by university

Dr. Harold N. Brown, director of extension courses at the university, has been working with officers at Nellis Air Bas in Las Vegas to find a workable means for the university to extend educational opportunities to the field.

University instructors would have to live and teach at the field, a problem yet to be solved.

Military bases in other parts of the country which offer their personnel similar instruction from nearby colleges, pay for it at the rate of $10 per man per credit hour.

One solution to the problem, according to Dr. Brown, would be for Nellis air base to provide the full salary of one or more university instructors, who would live at, or near, the base.

If such a guarantee could be arranged, he said, it would be possible for the university to carry out a minimum program, which might include such college courses as English, history, mathematics, and foreign languages.

Underdog Pack takes on tough USF Dons Sunday in Kezar

The Wolf Pack fresh from its week layoff will leave at 8:30 tomorrow morning for San Francisco to take on the Dons of USF, Sunday in Kezar Stadium. Game time has been set at 2:30.

The Dons lost a rough tilt last week to Stanford, 55-7. Burl Toler, the Dons top line-backer and candidate for all-American honors, suffered a sprained ankle in the game and isn't expected to play much this week. Other minor injuries were inflicted on the Dons, but they are expected to be in full strength for the game Sunday, and out to win back some of their lost prestige.

Pack Works on Defense

The Pack has been hard at work the last two weeks on blocking and tackling, two weak links that showed up badly against Texas A&M two weeks ago.

Herman Fisher, work horse of last year's team, has been working out at the left-half and fullback spots, and may get the starting nod this week.

The Pack's hope of pulling an upset against the USF Dons were somewhat dimmer this week, when star end Wally Graf required eight stitches in his right hand. Wally received the injury in Wednesday practice, when a ball thrown by quarterback Pat Brady, forced itself between two of his fingers and tore the tissue around his knuckles. Graf is expected to handle his offensive duties only this week.

Lawrence "Junjab" Hairston is also reported on the injury list. "Junjab" strained his back while working this week, and is expected to see little, if any, action this week.

week. Fisher, who thus far this season has played only on defense, is a capable ball carrier.

Don Moretini, speedy guard, is another man who will see a lot of action this week on both offense and defense.

Joe Sheeketski, head coach, has shifted Dean Westgaard to one of the line-backer positions on defense to replace Dennis Dunlop, who broke his ankle against Texas A&M. Everyone else came out of the Texas A&M game unhurt, but Gordon Surber, Lawrence "Junjab" Hairston, and Ray Gonzales are all suffering from sore shoulders received last week in tackling practice. Howard Hartsfield, end, is recovering from a tooth extraction, but all are expected to be ready for the Sunday tilt.

The Dons are expected to rely mostly on the running of Ollie Matson and Joe Scudero, and the passing of Ed Brown. Merrill Peacock, Brown's chief target, missed the Tulsa game and most of the Stanford game because of a tender knee, but will be on the receiving end of Brown's passes this Sunday according to latest reports.

Nevada COP to revive tradition

Negotiations between University of Nevada and College of Pacific are underway to renew a forgotten tradition. A steel bell, a symbol of victory, used to revolve between the two colleges in annual football contests.

During the past few years the bell has been forgotten, but Ted Klimaszewski, ASUN president, and Bill Wirt, COP president, have been trying to locate the lost bell in time to revive the tradition in the forthcoming game between Nevada and COP on October 14.

Pack Tracks

By Myron Leavitt

The new University of Nevada budget for 1951-53 is now in the hands of the director of budget in Carson City awaiting the action of the state legislature at its next session.

The budget has in it a request for $60,000 for the support of intramural and intercollegiate athletics. Plans are also being made to include the athletic department in the regular university setup (the department is now independent of the unievrsity).

If the budget is approved by the state legislature, there will be numerous advantages derived from it. With more money there is the possibility of boxing, which proved so successful two years ago, being revived and put on a major scale with football, basketball, and track.

Basketball would benefit by the new budget. Instead of being limited to two or three scholarships a year, the coaching staff would be able to attract top talent from Nevada and California schools.

Track, one sport that suffered badly last year due to lack of funds, could be bolstered by the new money, and given more meets.

Football, of course, would benefit greatest by the new budget. If given more money for scholarships it could be put on a money making basis and support the minor sports, when the budget funds run low. With more scholarships for football, Nevada could once again gain a high place in the national ratings.

The advantages of the new budget are innumerable, for example, baseball, a sport which could become very popular here, could be renewed (the last baseball team Nevada had was in 1946).

The intramural sports program could be enlarged and new sports offered to men who are not interested or capable of participating in intercollegiate athletics.

In 1923, the University of Buffalo raised an endowment fund of five million dollars in just ten days.

from San Bernardino JC. Showing a liking for defensive play in spring practice, Joe was placed on one of the wing spots to give Nevada ample protection on its flanks. Will return next year along with Hartsfield, Jones, Barnard and Graf.

Wayne Seacrest, 6, 175 pounds, 19 years old. Wayne has had very little football experience, and is out for the Nevada varsity for the first time. Although he is not expected to do much this year, he may see considerable action next season.

Jerry "Rah Rah" Wyness, 6, 165 pounds, 21 years old. This is Jerry's first year of college football and he has done remarkably well. Jerry has a "sure" pair of hands that make him a fine receiver. What Jerry lacks in size he makes up for in determination and spirit. Too light for defensive work, Jerry is strictly an offensive man.

Hoopsters begin preliminary workouts

Workout times have been set for all those interested in varsity basketball, and will begin next week, Coach Jake Lawlor announced. The workouts are not regularly scheduled practices, but merely will provide an opportunity for prospects who want to get in preliminary workouts before the regular season begins.

Regular practices will not begin until November, with frosh basketball scheduled to begin November 24.

The workout will be under the supervision of former varsity players, and will be held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 4:00 p.m.

Equipment will be issued to former varsity players only.

'Hello on the Hill'; youngest tradition begins Monday

"Hello on the Hill Week," youngest of Nevada's traditional celebrations, will begin Monday with the sale of blue and white identification cards saying "My name is — what is yours."

The event, third of its kind, will close with an all-school dance in the old gymnasium on Saturday, October 14, according to Art Wigg, chairman of the planning committee.

An assembly, featuring campus talent, will start the week off at 11:30 Monday, in the old gymnasium. The "Hello on the Hill" song will be sung by Bill Jager and Don Thompson. Arthur "Skip" Wigg, chairman of the "Hello" committee, will outline the student body events for the coming semester, according to Jerry Wyness, assembly chairman.

Members of the committee for "Hello on the Hill" are Skip Wigg, chairman, Homer Haines, Beverly Harris, Joan Steadman, Jim Lee, Dan Durbin and Ann Parish.

President Malcolm Love, seeing the young tradition taking form for the first time, said, "There is nothing that will impress a visitor to the campus more than the friendly attitude of the students. The slogan for the week impresses me greatly, and I plan to be a sincere booster of "Hello on the Hill."

It Began Like This

"Hello Week" was instigated three years ago to promote a more friendly atmosphere on "the hill." The tram across the southern shore of Manzanita lake was christened "Hello Lane," and painted with friendly greetings, most of which are still visible.

During the christening, a trio of Sagers in Roman togs made the following proclamation:

"When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for man to meet man and to assume their stations according to the laws of nature, a decent respect for the opinion of mankind requires that they should declare the causes for them to unite.

"We hold these truths to be self evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed with certain unalienable rights; among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. To secure these rights, we, the students of the University of Nevada, in order to establish friendly relations, insure romances, and thus promote the human race, do establish this Hello Lane."

Tradition stipulates that anyone crossing the tram give a cheery "hello" to whomever he meets.

YWCA plans big year on hill

Tentative plans made by the YWCA members for the year 1950-51 include a campus fashion show; the annual Christmas party for the children living in Victory Heights; the sponsoring of two YWCA members to attend the Young Men, Young Women convention in Chicago; and methods by which to raise money in order to carry out these activities.

These plans were made at last Tuesday's meeting when the YWCA started off its year of activities.

The new president, Joan McCabe, presided at the meeting and introduced the cabinet officers. Explanations were given to the new members concerning the purposes and functions of the Y.

The new members were initiated the following Thursday in an impressive candlelight ceremony.

Infirmary hours

New hours at the university infirmary were announced by Head Nurse Mary Rotter today.

The hours 8:00 to 9:00 in the morning and from 6:00 to 7:00 in the evening, are only temporary and permanent hours will be announced at a later date.

At present, Robert E. Campbell is the only student confined to the infirmary.

Concert tour ticket sale to end soon, Post says

Sale of Community Concert tickets will end next week, Professor Theodore Post, head of the music department, said today. All students wishing to buy the series tickets may still purchase them at the music office. They are priced at $3.50 each.

There will be four concerts in the series to be held at the Civic Auditorium. The October concert will feature the London String Quartet, and the November concert will present pianist, Gyorgy Sandor.

In January, James Pease, baritone, will be the guest. Singer Vivian Della Chiesa will appear to conclude the concert tour in February.
