UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA, RENO, NEVADA, FRIDAY, JANUARY 28, 1951

Mills Bros., other talent appear on campus Sunday

Polio benefit to feature pros, amateurs

The Mills Brothers, Reno Browne, and other professional artists will appear with University of Nevada students in a show to be held Sunday night in the university gymnasium for the March of Dimes campaign.

Out of each dollar collected from the sale of tickets, fifty-two cents will go to the March of Dimes fund. Tickets are now on sale at the YWCA office in Stewart hall and at the ASUN president's office.

"Fashions and Fun in '51" will be a combined fashion show and talent program. The list of participants includes amateur as well as professional talent now appearing at local clubs. A fashion show, scattered throughout the program, is being sponsored by Reno merchants.

Mrs. W. A. Edwards, chairman of the committee in charge, has arranged a quartet composed of Keith Roberts, Val Smith, Bill Law, and Lynn Evans.

Local Talent

Other acts scheduled for the program include an impersonation of Hildegarde by Ann Young; a duet by Ellen Stillman and Joseph Battaglia; a solo by Mrs. Marjorie Dickinson, and a duet by Mrs. Dickinson and Bud Hardesty. Other Nevada students will compose a chorus.

Tosca Masini, a university graduate and Miss Nevada of 1950, will appear in a skit of bathing beauties.

Reno Browne, Reno born star of western films, will offer a gun specialty act which she has done on the screen. Miss Browne, a former University of Nevada student, will fly from Hollywood to take part in the March of Dimes show.

The Mills Brothers, recording artists, will be among the professional acts to be seen at the show. Other professional talent currently appearing at the Riverside hotel will appear with the Mills Brothers.

Additional numbers are expected to be added to the list of artists who are donating their time and talent to the program. Reno merchants have contributed door prizes to be awarded at the show.

University students singing in the program are Alva Denton, Pat Brooks, Jean Zelayeta, Jennielee Gibson, Jean Pardi, Joan Menu, and Joan Lundy.

Juniors toss a big one for last "all-out" Prom

Highlight of the annual Junior Prom held last Saturday evening in the Mapes ballroom was the crowning of queen Connie Malcolm, Tri-Delt, and king Malcolm Short, ATO, by President Malcolm Love of the University of Nevada. Approximately 125 couples attended the Prom.

Interesting coincidence of the evening was the crowning of the two Malcolms by a third, President Malcolm Love.

The winning candidates were presented with gift certificates from downtown stores. Miniature cups were awarded to the king and queen from the Junior class.

The Prom was under the direction of Len Savage, junior class manager, who termed the Prom as "a great success, including financial." Assisting Savage were the members of the junior class committee including Joan Melner, Joanne Rich, Connie Malcolm, Berlien McCray, Jim Lee, Fred Lee, Gene Garriott, Don

Bennyhoff returns after reporting Korea 6 months

Front line correspondent Robert Bennyhoff, head of the Reno bureau of the United Press, has returned to his home after six months in Korea covering the war.

An alumnus of the University of Nevada, Bennyhoff has resumed his duties as head of the United Press office, and is covering the activities of the legislature in Carson City.

Bennyhoff was with front line troops most of the time he was in Korea. He was with them most of the way to the Chosin reservoir and part of the way back. He was the first war correspondent to cross the thirty-eighth parallel.

During one of his "time-out" periods he was injured in a plane crash in Japan, but made a quick recovery.

No drop in prices seen in bookstore

"Don't expect a reduction in prices because quite to the contrary, prices have gone up," said Hamilton Prugh, student manager of the University bookstore, in an effort to quell any ideas that University ownership of the campus bookstore will result in lower book prices for students.

The contract of sale of the University Book Store to the ASUN has been signed by the Finance Control Board and Ralph Jordan, former owner. The ASUN has also received an assignment of the lease from Mr. Jordan.

The Finance Control Board will release a financial statement on the deal in the near future. The FCB is waiting for Jordan to furnish a list of creditors and proof that he has paid them before any money will be exchanged.

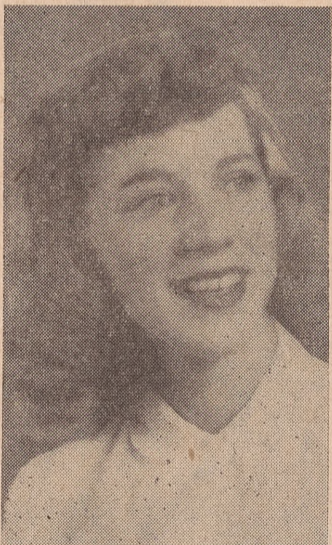

Defense secretary attempts to stop 'panic enlistments'

Defense Secretary George Marshall took steps this week to stop what he called "panic enlistments among students."

In a telegram received by President Malcolm Love, secretary Marshall said students need not leave college to enlist in a branch of service of their choice fearing that induction would leave them no choice.

As it stands now, any student with induction postponed or who has received a draft notice may finish out the college year and still volunteer for the service he prefers, providing, of course, openings are available in that service.

Marshall also strongly urged ROTC students to stay in college. He said "panic enlistments are a waste to the nation and damage to educational system."

Queen of the prom, Connie Malcolm, Tri-Delt junior. She won over five other candidates to share royalty honors with ATO Malcolm Short at the Junior Prom Saturday night.

Eunice Hood, James Hulse, and Bob Debold as they appeared in the last Campus Players production of the fall semester, "An Inspector Calls."

University loses 42 in air guard call

Report to base Feb 5; Georgia in March

Forty-two University of Nevada men, members of the Air National Guard, will report to the Stead Air National Guard base for training purposes on February 5. From there they will proceed in March to Turner field at Columbus, Georgia, for active duty.

During their stay at the base the men will be on duty regularly, with evening and Sundays free to remain with their families.

Advanced Military Offered

Students now enrolled in advanced military courses have been given discharges from the guard in order to finish their courses at the university. Guardsmen taking basic military courses will not receive deferments through the military department.

Men at the university who have received discharges from the guard because of their advance standing in the ROTC are: arts and science students Edwin Lewis Billman, junior; Harry Donald Rovetti, sophomore; George Monte Pendleton, sophomore; and Robert Edwin Wengert, senior, student in the College of Engineering.

Twenty-nine men will be called from the college of arts and science while 11 will be taken from the College of Engineering. The remaining students are enrolled in the college of Agriculture and there is one special student.

Sigma Nus Hardest Hit

Alpha Tau Omega reports three men in the guard: Edgard A. Hollingsworth, junior; Robert W. Korb, Hardest hit of the fraternity houses man.

Sigma Rho is losing four of its members: Don Maestretti, junior; Bruce A. Packard, senior; Everett I. Hackett, senior; and William F. Wennhold, freshman.

One man from the Delta Sigma Phi house will be called, Hans R. Jepson, Jr., junior.

Senior Ball set for April 14; may be formal

The Senior Ball has been set for April 14.

Under co-chairmen Ray Alzola and Rose Oyarbide, a committee is being selected to choose the site and type of dance to be held.

Tentative plans have already been made to switch procedure and have a formal dance. In the past, the ball has always been semi-formal. These plans also call for a buffet dinner, and a system whereby each graduating senior would be given a bid to the ball, in addition to his own, which he would be able to give to a friend.

Carson Rotary hears Dr. Love

President Malcolm A. Love spoke on university affairs at a Carson City Rotary club meeting Tuesday, January 23.

Dr. Love, a member of the Reno Rotary club, was invited by Mr. Hugh Shamburger, program chairman for the Carson Rotary club. Mr. Shamburger is assistant state engineer.

Mr. Perry W. Hayden, comptroller of the University of Nevada, was also present. The meeting was held at Carson Hot Springs.

Chinese UN delegate writes professor he opposes seating of Chinese Reds

Reasons why the Chinese delegation refuse to allow the Chinese Communists a seat in the United Nations were given in a personal letter to Professor A. L. Higginbotham, Chairman of the journalism department. The letter was a reply to a letter of Professor Higginbotham's in which he told the Chinese delegate that the journalism class in "Interpreting the Day's News" was interested in the problem of the admission of the Chinese Communist regime into the United Nations.

Professor Higginbotham and Tingfu F. Tsiang, the Chinese delegate, were classmates in Oberlin College in Ohio; both of the class of 1919.

Tingfu, Tsiang, gave four main reasons why his delegation was opposed to the admission of Communist Chinese to the United Nation:

(1) He stated that "... the Mao regime is the product of Soviet intervention in China. Without the help of the Soviet Union in military equipment and in military staff work, the Mao regime could not have won its position in China."

(2) Tsiang said that the Mao regime is totally un-Chinese and that it serves the purpose of world Communism. He uses the Korean war as proof that it does not serve the interests in China, because the Chinese can use the free and United Korea as security against the Manchurian frontier.

(3) Tsiang states that the United Nations was organized to promote peace and security in the world, and if it gives Chinese Communists a seat in the UN, it is not punishing an aggressor.

(4) The National government is waiting in Formosa, Tsiang states, and has an army totalling 1,600,000. Tsiang states that the Chinese people look to the Nationalist government for the recovery of their independence and individual freedom.

Frats elect new officers for spring

Elections for new house officers were held for the majority of the fraternities of the university last week for the spring semester.

New house president for Alpha Tau Omega is Gerry Hyde, vice-president is Edward Arciniega and the new treasurer and secretary are Richard Almor and Jack Crowell.

Rusty Mills is the new president for Sigma Alpha Epsilon, vice-president is Jerry Schafer, secretary, John Sandorf and Treasurer Gilbert Anderson, who was recently called into the national guard. His place will be taken by Wally Barnett. Rusty Mills, who leaves for the national air guard February 1, will be replaced by Jerry Schafer. The new vice-president will be elected later.

Lambda Chi Alpha's new house president is Bill Ireland, George Waxham vice-president, secretary Jack Luwe and treasurer is Dale Riddle.

Phi Sigma Kappa's new house president has been elected as Dave Kepler, Al Bennedette is new vice-president, Wayne Ashley secretary, and treasurer is Tom Karren.

Elections for Theta Chi and Sigma Nu are held only once a year.

The majority of the new officers took over their new jobs after elections.

Bandsmen knock off; hold party Thursday

Band members and majorettes ended the semester with a "finale" party Thursday afternoon during the band hour.

Bandsmen were entertained by an impromptu musical program. Older and hors doeuvres were served.

Marla Mason, Kappa Alpha Theta, announced her pinning to Eyer Boies, Sigma Nu, last Monday night at the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority house.

Chi Delta Phi plans contest

Chi Delta Phi, national honorary English sorority, will hold its annual poetry contest this spring.

All students attending Nevada high schools will be eligible to participate. Judges will be selected from the University faculty.

Prizes will be awarded to winners of the contest, including a year's honorary membership in Chi Delta Phi to the winning girl.

Defense program boosts demand for engineers

Employment opportunities for engineering graduates have improved greatly since early 1950, according to the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics. The mobilization program has increased the demand for engineers so much that employers are now seeking additional personnel, after absorbing the engineering schools' record 1950 graduating class of 50,000. Hiring of engineers was much heavier in 1950 than in 1949.

As defense production rises over the coming months, and the Armed Forces are expanded, the demand for engineers will increase further.

Mackay Mines willed $1000 by SF doctor

One thousand dollars was recently willed to the Mackay School of Mines by Dr. George D. Lyman, San Francisco baby specialist, who gained equal fame from his avocation, studying early Nevada and California history.

Dr. Lyman, author of the book "Saga of the Comstock Lode," took the pre-medical course at the University of Nevada in the early 1900's, and spent considerable time on the campus doing research for his book at the Mackay School of Mines. He also authored several books on baby care.

respondence Study, $1.00; Summer Sessions fees, $3.00.

Any student failing to complete registration on the day his registration card is issued will pay $1.00 for each day or fraction of a day until his registration is completed.

Sigma Pi pressed by Korean war may go inactive

Because almost forty per cent of its members are entering or planning on entering some branch of the armed services next semester, Sigma Pi fraternity may go inactive indefinitely said Richard Piccinini, Sigma Pi president.

Sigma Pi has been struggling for existence on the University of Nevada campus since 1948, Piccinini said, but it has been unable to become a chapter because of a lack of members. The national requires a membership of 25 before it will grant a charter.

JENSEN SPEAKS ON UN TO WOMEN'S CLUB

Dr. Paul Jensen, assistant professor of education, discussed the scope and work of committees in the United Nations at a regular meeting of the Monday Club, Reno women's organization.

Dr. Jensen is the director for the U. N. Educational activities in Nevada.

SDX hears governor speak off the record

Dr. Love tells newsmen of UN press relations

Members of the Nevada chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity, gathered with newspaper, radio, government and educational leaders last Saturday night for an informal dinner and an "of the record round table."

With the Nevada Room at the Hotel Mapes as the setting, a group of some thirty-five journalism students and local and out of town professional men heard their guests and speakers, Governor Charles H. Russell and university president Malcolm A. Love, address them and answer the press-conference type questions.

Dr. Love spoke about the university's press relations with the public and Governor Russell informed the group of his policy as the state's chief executive, and Nevada's part in the national emergency.

The affair was the second of its kind in the past year, and was part of Sigma Delta Chi's program to advance professional journalism standards of its members.

Recently the fraternity sponsored an address by United Press's roving reporter Bob Miller. His report on the state of affairs in Korea was delivered to an overflowing crowd in the Education building auditorium.

Mark Curtis is the president of the organization and Professor A. L. Higginbotham is faculty advisor.

Physics prof gets large grant for nitrogen study

One of the largest grants-in-aid ever contributed to a member of the University of Nevada faculty was received recently by R. Edwin Worley, physics professor.

The sum of $900 has been contributed by Research Corporation, New York City, in support of Dr. Worley's project on the study of gaseous nitrogen. The project is entitled, "Initial Delay-time and Growth Characteristics of the Lewis-Rayleigh Afterglow."

Nitrogen gas, which constitutes 80 per cent of the atmosphere, if purified can be made to absorb and store energy by passing an electric current through it. Investigations have shown that the activated gas will melt thin metal foil. The gas also gives off a faint yellow light, which may last an hour.

Although this "afterglow" has been known for a half century, no satisfactory explanation has been given, according to Dr. Worley.

"It is hoped the present research may contribute to the understanding of this remarkable phenomenon of nitrogen," Dr. Worley said.

"This is an important grant to the University of Nevada and to a man who has demonstrated his ability to do outstanding research in physics," stated Fredrick Wood, dean of the college of arts and sciences.

Dr. Worley expressed his appreciation for the aid to continue his research with the activities of nitrogen gas, but pointed out that this grant-in-aid stands for more than continuing a research project.

"It is the opinion of the directors of Research Corporation," Dr. Worley said, "that modest research programs at smaller colleges and universities should not only stimulate scientific research, but also encourage students in science and tend to improve teaching as well, especially in the experimental science fields."

WE NEED THAT ATHLETIC APPROPRIATION

Thirty thousand dollars a year for an athletic program isn't much to ask. And as rabid as some people are against such a "fantastic" request, because they haven't seen a winning football team for a couple of seasons, the appropriation still has a chance.

The opposition fails to recognize that the $30,000 request is for an ATHLETIC program and not for football. As with any department, the athletic department needs a budget. The $30,000 would greatly benefit football, however, because for the first time in a long time football would have only to pay ITS way. Football would no longer have to support athletics, which it has done for years.

Football can be healthy if its left to itself. The alumni association wants to handle the scholarships, and all the football program asks is the help it needs to get to and from some games, and some clothes to wear.

It plans to cut corners, ride the rods, and shave some other incidental expenses. It wouldn't take long for football, at that rate, to be on a paying basis.

THAT $50,000 DEBT

The $50,000 debt which accumulated over ten years and made people suspicious of Nevada football was more the fault of a policy than football itself. The University found itself paying the scholarship indebtedness which the Reno Boosters had accrued. But this will never happen again.

The Alumni Association has taken over and while they began the task of financing scholarships in the midst of reorganization, they are now on their way. The alumni have an arrangement now, whereby all athletic scholarship transactions are strictly between them and the athlete. This no longer obligates the university to stand good bills that can't be paid. If the athlete can't pay his tuition and bills, he has to make other arrangements the same as any student at Nevada. The university has cut out the credit business.

So now the alumni will take care of the quality and standards of football teams, and if we get the appropriation, that will take care of the rest as it certainly should. Let's not be so one-way about this as to expect the alumni to take over the whole financing of football.

An appropriation for the athletic department is the demand of several other sports, too. Skiing, tennis, basketball, and track—all need money to operate.

Most states consider this an ordinary enough budget request from their universities. What makes it so ill-favored here, is the misconception that people still have that we are asking for the money to have "big-time" football.

IT ISN'T ALL OR NOTHING

Even if the legislature doesn't come through with the budget request, football and athletics do not fold up and disappear. The alumni are still willing to pay a boy's way through college if the boy can play a good game. No, athletics certainly won't stop dead at Nevada if the legislature doesn't come through. Football will still wade through, year to year, meeting most the expenses of the department and being condemned because it doesn't make a profit.

Nobody is forgetting that we are again at war. The long range plan for helping Nevada regain a healthy athletic program cannot include war among its stipulations or set rules. It can only meet the problems as they arise, being prepared to make any sacrifices to the original plan. It is not necessary to cut athletics during war, and when West Point gets around to it, it will be because the place has blown up.

THE MEN BEHIND THE PROGRAM

The new president, Dr. Love, and three new regents are here because, evidently, we wanted something done! It is their honest conviction that this request will help athletics regain its health. It is not likely that any one of them is going against what he thinks are the wishes of the general public and student body, or what he thinks is best for the university. With all the notoriety, mistakes, and lost games, it is evident that most of us consider athletics a desirable part of the university program. The prospect is brighter than it has been for two years. Even though Governor Russell could not find room for the request within his budget, the legislature can still produce it.

President entertains at informal coffee hours

Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm A. Love entertained the building and grounds staff from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. Thursday afternoon at an informal "coffee hour" at their home. A similar informal "coffee hour" was held for the faculty and staff Friday afternoon.

Strictly business

University Duplicating department has been placed on a business basis and each department and organization will be sent a monthly bill for the work done and supplies used.

The department is requesting that requisitions be submitted for work to be done and for supplies needed.

Marjorie Dickinson, YWCA director, announces that a mimeograph machine is also available for the use of students and organizations in the basement of Stewart hall. Supplies are available and will be charged to the organization using the machine.

Somebody absconded with $40 worth of fish from the aquarium in the basement of the Agricultural building. The fish were donations of Beta Beta Beta, the biological honorary society.

Sharon McPartland, Kappa Alpha Theta, announced her engagement to Jerome Etchegoyen, Jr., Alpha Tau Omega, last Monday night, at the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority house. Miss McPartland and Mr. Etchegoyen, Jr., announced their pinning October 2.

Calendar committee schedules events for spring semester; last full slate?

The lighter side of university life was taken up as official business Monday afternoon as the university Calendar committee met in the Journalism building to draw up a schedule of social events for the spring semester.

Eighteen of the thirty-one invited members attended the meeting. The calendaring of social events covered everything from a Blue Key all-school social, February 7 to graduation on June 11.

The Calendar committee is composed of the officers in charge of social affairs of every organization on campus. The organizations include fraternities, sororities, classes, halls, and clubs.

With fears that this might be the last full social calendar for the duration of the world crisis, the committee scheduled dances, picnics, all-school socials, carnivals, horse shows, and conventions.

Changes in dates will be possible for another week in the Dean of Women's office, and the final calendar will be printed and mailed out within the following week.

Attending the meeting were: Darlene Stucki, Willard Esplin, Dixie Fritz, Marilyn Humphreys, Barbara Kemp, Evelyn Rhodehamel, Norma Walsh, Jackie Wilson, Lew Mitchell, Marian Garrett, Alton Benedetto, Len Savage, Ray Alzola, Joanne Rich, Jacqueline Sirkegian, and Elmo Oxborrow.

NOTICE

Group shots for the Artemisia will be taken during the first two weeks in February, and a schedule notice will be posted on the bulletin boards.

Crucible club hears experiences of mining man

The Crucible club, an affiliated student society of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, will be addressed February 14 by Ken Butler, who will describe his mining experience. He is connected with the B. F. MacDonald Safety Appliance Company.

An alumni directory for the Mackay School of Mines is being compiled for the alumni by the Crucible club. It is expected to be out in April.

Work has been started by the club on the "Mackay Mines," newspaper. The "Mackay Mines" will cover the activities of the school and will be sent to alumni.

U of N Ski club host Reno club

Playing host to the Reno Ski club, the University Ski club held its regular meeting this week. Entertainment was provided by a ski club movie, "Avalanche," and movies of the 1947 and 1949 Silver Dollar Derby and the first annual National Giant Slalom championships on Slide Mountain, filmed by "Doc" Watson, local ski photographer.

During the preceding business meeting, Mary Kay Irwin was elected to replace Corrine Jorgenson as treasurer, since the latter will not return to school next semester. According to Lou Mitchell, night skiing will again be held every Friday night at Sky Tavern while the snow lasts, and there will be a ski club party following for those interested.

Interfrat ski meet slated Feb. 10-11; 7 teams expected

The annual inter-fraternity ski meet will be held Saturday, February 10, and Sunday, February 11. The dates were chosen last week at a meeting of the athletic manager of Nevada's nine fraternities.

The meet, which will be officiated by the university ski team, is being planned by John Gianotti, and will be held at Mount Rose with an expected seven teams competing.

The downhill race will be held at 10 a.m. on Saturday, and that afternoon two runs of the slalom will be held starting at one o'clock.

The cross country race will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

List of entrants will be due in the office of Inter-Fraternity Council sports advisor, Chester M. Scranton, by Friday, February 2.

Each house will be allowed to enter a maximum of five and a minimum of three men in each event, with the best three times being county. Sixty points toward the Kinnear trophy will be awarded the winner.

Engineers go national?

Nu Eta Epsilon, local honor engineering society, may join Sigma Tau, national honorary society for engineers, it has been announced by Valdemar Larsen, president of the organization. The matter has been discussed and some correspondence has been carried on, but no definite decision as yet has been made.

A portion of the display case in the new gymnasium is being donated by Dr. J. F. Martie, to the independents for the showing of trophies they have won in intra-mural sports and homecoming events.

Freshmen o'kayed for deferment if in ROTC

Freshmen can be deferred immediately it was announced by the Army and Air Force in a letter this week.

If freshmen are in ROTC and are approved for advanced ROTC, or are willing to sign agreements to take ROTC, they are eligible for deferment, the letter stated.

"We have 155 freshmen enrolled and deferments for 115," said Lt. Col. James C. Smee, head of Nevada's military department. "Twenty have already been eliminated through volunteering for the service and quitting school, which leaves us with 20."

Students enrolled in ROTC already classified under selective service and ordered for induction at the end of the academic year, may be deferred under the ROTC program.

The circular further stated that it was unlikely the present congress would change the status of students before the end of the college year.

February graduates to get school posts

Four education students have been appointed to begin teaching in Nevada grade schools as soon as they complete their university requirements at the end of this semester, according to Dean F. W. Traner, chairman of the education department. They are Lucille Thompson, who will teach in Hawthorne; Jacque Hickman, in Fallon; Louanna Tietje, in Reno; and Michael Mirabelli, at Las Vegas.

Dick Evans resigns post

Assistant coach wants grid team of his own

Announcement was made last week by the athletic department that assistant football and frosh basketball coach Dick Evans has turned in his resignation and that it will become effective on June 30.

When approached on his reason for leaving Nevada, Evans expressed a desire to enter the coaching field in the capacity of head football coach at some other university. He stated that he made the move in order to make himself available for other job opportunities.

No Direct Offers

Although he has received no direct offers, he has been asked to send letters of recommendations to Utah State. In addition to Utah State and other major schools, Tempe State, Colorado College and Kansas State are also seeking head football coaches.

Joe Sheeketski, athletic director and head football coach, praised Evans for his work at Nevada.

Before coming to Nevada, Evans was a three-year letterman at Iowa from 1937-40, and was chosen to play in the all-star game in his senior year. Immediately following the game, he signed a contract to play end for the Green Bay Packers, and later played with the Chicago Bears of the Pro leagues.

During the war, he coached the famous El Toro Marines and achieved an 8 win 2 loss record (one of these losses being to the University of Nevada).

After the war, he coached at Long Beach City college before he was brought to Nevada by Sheeketski in 1947.

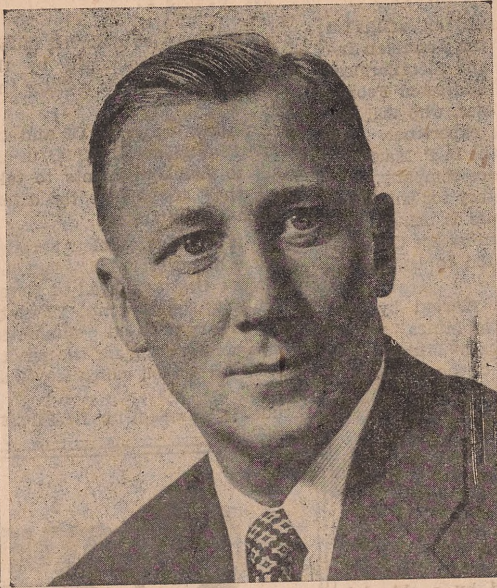

At Nevada he has acted in the capacity of end coach and developed some of Nevada's finest ends. He served as frosh basketball coach and manager for the golf team.

Pack squeezed by last second field goal

The Pack lost a decision to Sacramento State College in Sacramento to last Friday night 52-51, as forward Frank Perez "threw" a mid-court field goal at the gun to give the host a one point victory.

Nevada's season record now stands at seven wins and nine losses, with a dual series against Cal Aggies, Fresno State, Loyola, and St. Mary's coming up.

Leading the Pack were Burt Larkins and Ted Johnson, who shared high point honors with 14 points each. John Buccambuso and Jerry Wyness scored eight points apiece in their first real action of the season.

Dick Evans, assistant football coach at Nevada since 1947, resigned this week in order to make himself available for other job opportunities.

Engineer takes gymnastic meet; illness cancels COP exhibition

Jerry Schafer, junior engineering major, was crowned all-around champ in a school gymnastic meet held last Saturday. The meet was held due to the cancellation of a scheduled exhibition with College of Pacific.

Coach Art Broten of the Nevada team, said the Tiger coach called him the day before the meet to say it would be impossible to bring the COP squad to Reno because his star performer was under observation for polio, and two other team members were out of action with influenza.

Schafer won his title in the three event meet with first place wins in the high and parallel bars. The other blue ribbon was gained by Irving Hackett in tumbling.

Bill Lundby placed behind Schafer in the bar events, while Joe Melcher and Joe Moose finished second and third in tumbling.

Codding named new ski coach; 4 meets scheduled

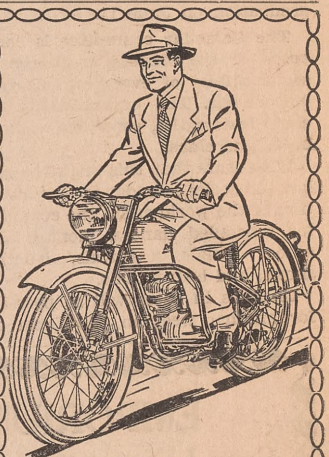

The 1951 ski budget was approved and Hal Codding was named to coach the ski team by the board of athletic control, Joe Sheeketski, athletic director, announced last week.

The new budget includes four meets for the Nevada skiers. Among the meets scheduled, are the Stanford Tresider Memorial meet at Yosemite, the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate championships at Squaw Valley April 6, 7, 8, and the University of Utah winter carnival to be held sometime in April, and the University of California Vanderbilt Memorial races sometime in April.

Codding stated that work-outs have been held and that he would announce the team to represent the university one week before the winter carnival to be held February 17-18.

Among the skiers turning out for practices are: Bob and Alan Ramsey, John Gianotti, Pat Myers, Don Thompson, Bill Briner, Chelton Leonard, Clinton Wooster, Lou Mitchell and Jack Rittner.

The facilities of the Sky Tavern resort will again be offered free, of charge to the university team in order to give the team every advantage of practice.

Winless Cal. Aggies play here tonight-Saturday

Tonight when the Wolf Pack trots out on the hardwood against the Cal Aggies from Davis, California, it will run up against a team that has yet to win a ball game this season.

The Aggies have lost thirteen straight games, despite the fact that they have scored over 60 points in some of them.

The Aggies have dropped games to the College of Pacific 60-47 and 59-39, University of California Blues 76-65 and 73-40, Sacramento State 63-57, Fresno State 69-62, Whittier 69-59, Pomona 43-38, California Poly 74-61, San Francisco State 64-51 and 64-57, Chico State 56-47 and 64-47.

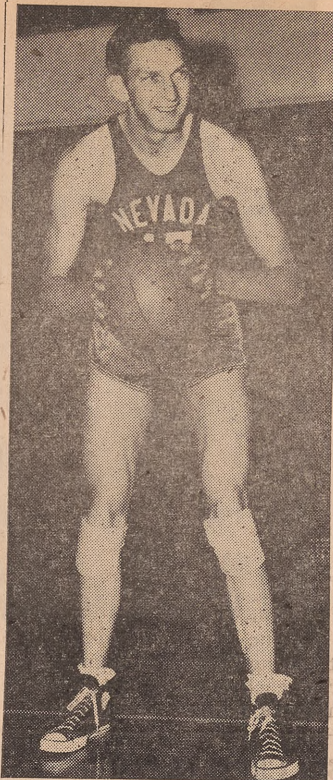

The Pack will be out to take both games of the two-game series, in order to boost their season record to .500. Last week's 52-51 loss to Sacramento State brought the season's record to 7 wins and 9 losses.

In an attempt to replace Bob Knudson, who will graduate in February, Coach Jake Lawlor said that Jerry Wyness and Johnny Buccambuso, recently promoted from the junior varsity, will see more action this weekend. Wyness and Buccambuso both have shown considerable speed in the past games, a quality the Pack has lacked in the past.

Giles Altenburg and Ray Hunter have been brought up from the junior varsity and will suit up for tonight's game.

The usual starters, Ed Hancock, Bob Knudson, Burt Larkins, Ted Johnson and Dan Vidovich will begin tonight's game.

Ted Johnson, rangy center, is leading the Wolf Pack in scoring according to statistics released this week. Johnson will be counted on heavily tonight, when the Pack takes on the Cal Aggies.

Johnson leads Pack cagers in scoring race

Big Ted Johnson continued to lead the Wolf Pack hoopsters in scoring at the end of 16 games, according to unofficial figures released last week.

Johnson has pumped in 64 field goals and made good 61 free throws for a total of 189 points and a 11 plus average. Bob Knudson is second in the scoring with 55 field goals and 35 cherry tosses for 145 points.

Burt Larkins, captain and guard of the Pack, is in the third position with 135 points, followed by Dan Vidovich who has made 106 points in the 16 games played so far this season.

Following Vidovich, the other top men are: Ed Hancock, 51; Jock Michienzi, 45; Earl Jarrett, 32; Jerry Wyness, 29; and Bob Larson, 26.

Volleyball, badminton started by WRA

WRA volleyball and badminton will start in the new gym on Tuesday night, February 13, according to Miss Marjorie Price, physical education instructor.

Volleyball will be held from 7:00 to 7:40 p.m. and badminton will continue from 7:40 to 8:20.

All women interested are invited to participate.

The complete statistics are listed below:

Player	FG	FT	FTM	TP
Ted Johnson	54	61	40	189
Bob Knudson	55	35	20	145
Burt Larkins	52	31	13	135

Awards slated for varsity gridders; fourth for Caruso

Twenty-eight men headed by veteran players Carmel Caruso and Herman Fisher, have been awarded Block N's by coach Joe Sheeketski for their participation on the varsity football team during the 1950 gradiron campaign.

Caruso received his fourth football monogram at the University of Nevada, while Fisher gained his third Block N. Awarded their second letters were Gordon Surber, Lawrence (Punjab) Hairston, Pat Brady, and Wally Fraf.

The following junior men earned their first varsity letter at Nevada: Al Barham, Jerry Wyness, Myron Leavitt, Al Matteucci, John Gonda, and Stan Drakulich.

Westinghouse to interview engineers here Monday

George Lobingier, Westinghouse representative, will be on the campus Monday, January 29, to interview electrical engineering students who are interested in employment with Westinghouse.

Dean C. G. Palmer has interview records in his office to be filled out by those who are interested in being interviewed.

Gorgeous Gussie will wear them here Jan. 31

Continuing their policy of bringing outstanding sports attractions to Nevada, the University of Nevada alumni association will present four of the world's top tennis stars in an appearance in the University of Nevada gymnasium Wednesday, January 31.

Gussie Moran, former United States hard court singles titlist and women's indoor titlist, Pauline Betz, four-time winner of the women's singles championships, Jack Kramer, former national men's singles titleholder, and Pancho Segura, 1950 professional singles champion, are the stars that will appear in Reno.

The Kramer-Segura show matches two of the country's best players who have staged a series of 50 bitterly-contested bouts in a nationwide tour.

Bobby Riggs, promoter of the troupe, was twice national amateur champion and three-time pro king.

Tickets for the match are on sale at Southworth's Cigar store and Hilp's Drug store in Reno. The entire first floor stand of seats and the top half of the balcony in the University of Nevada gymnasium are being sold at the general admission price of $1. The loge section of the balcony is the reserved seat section, on sale at $2. There are 2000 general admission tickets. Box office opens at 6:00 p.m. Proceeds from the appearance of the tennis stars will be used to pay athletic scholarships at the University of Nevada.

25 men begin boxing training

If the turnout at the boxing meeting last week is any indication, the university is well assured that boxing will be revived.

Twenty-five men in all weight divisions signed up and began training last night, with more expected to begin next week.

In previous years, Nevada has been forced to cancel bouts because of lack of men in certain divisions. This year, however, there is a good representation in each weight.

Olivas Is Coach

The coaching chores will be handled by Jim Olivas, former Nevada boxer. Olivas was quick to stress that students wishing to learn a few tricks of self-defense will not be ignored, even though they do not intend to try out for the team.

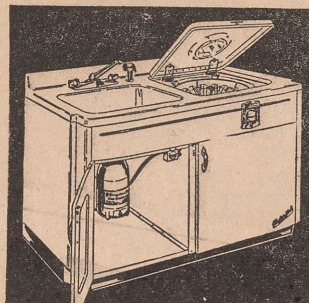

Although late in the season, there is still a strong possibility of scheduling a few matches. The number will depend on the condition of the boxers, and the number of prospects that turn out.

Love completes tour of state to get acquainted

Dr. Malcolm Love, university president, recently completed a tour of the state begun in December of last year. He stated that his principal objective in visiting the Nevada towns was to "get acquainted."

Dr. Love first visited Las Vegas, where he remained for a week. During this time he spoke to the service organizations of the city and attended a tea given by the local AAUW.

Pioche, Ely and Elko also received visits from the University president. Talks given by the president in these towns were to business men and women, service clubs, and University of Nevada alumni.

Coffee 'n cake

A faculty "coffee 'n cake" hour was given by the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority last Tuesday evening. It was held at the Theta house at 863 Sierra street.

Greta Reuter was in charge of the hour, and Mae Gregory and Eleanor Fulstone assisted as her committee. Beverly Poe and Dorothy Dunbar played selections on the piano throughout the evening.

Dr. Love's wife accompanied him to both Las Vegas and Elko.

While in Elko Dr. Love also met with members of the legislature from Elko county. The purpose of this conference was to discuss the budget for the university. Newly elected regents Newton Crumley, Elko, and Dr. Louis Lombardi, Reno, and former regent Chris H. Sheerin, Elko, were present at this meeting.

June Holmes, Gamma Phi journalism major, takes her turn at selling March of Dimes tags in downtown Reno. Women from each sorority are giving their services to help the annual infantile paralysis fund drive.

Color slides of Guatemala shown

Dr. Lawton B. Kline, assistant professor of foreign languages, showed a group of kodachrome slides of Guatemala at the Nevada Art Gallery last Sunday. The slides were taken last summer.

Kline's program was the first of a series of weekly illustrated talks to be given by members of the faculty and townspeople at the Ralston street gallery on Sunday afternoons. The program will continue throughout the spring semester.

All faculty and students interested in the talks are invited to attend. The programs will be held at 3 p.m.

Exams scheduled Monday, January 29, 10:30 a.m. have been changed to Friday, 10:30 a.m. Exams Friday, 10:30, changed to Monday.

Lost and found has quite a collection

Unclaimed articles lost during the last semester will be on display during final week in the YWCA rooms in the basement of Stewart hall.

"All articles become YWCA property after this semester if not claimed by owners," Marjorie Dickinson, executive director of the campus YWCA, announced today.

Articles in the lost and found department that are still unclaimed are 12 fountain pens, three pair of glasses in cases, 10 mechanical pencils, two sets of car and house keys, a pair of earrings, several pair of mittens and gloves, and one gold wrist watch.

Mrs. Dickinson stated that those articles not claimed may be auctioned some time during the next semester.

Bob Clarkes now three

Cigars passed in the journalism lab Wednesday afternoon brought cries of "Congratulations" to a new father, Robert Gene Clarke, journalism major.

Mrs. Daisy Lucille Clarke is the mother of a seven pound boy, born January 23 at 7:45 p.m. at St. Mary's Hospital. The new baby is named Robert Joel Clarke.
