Lundegreen benefit underway

"Lundegreen Appreciation Night" will be held on Wednesday evening, May 23, it was announced yesterday by a committee representing a majority of the organized students on the campus.

Lundegreen was transferred from the Washoe General Hospital to the university infirmary, Wednesday, and is now recuperating from the knife wounds which he received last Friday night while helping to apprehend a burglar in the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity house.

A variety show of university talent will be presented in the new gymnasium to the general public, which will be asked to contribute to a fund to be used to pay the medical bills contracted by John as the result of the wounds he received.

Lundegreen was stabbed eight times while he struggled with Thomas Truman Collins, who had entered the fraternity house at about 4 a.m. Saturday morning. The knife collapsed both his lungs and inflicted a stomach wound, but two days spent under an oxygen tent restored the lungs to nearly normal action.

Members of the committee stated that it is the belief of their respective organizations that everyone gained when the burglar was apprehended.

Those proposed for membership into the club are: Vivian Peterson, Shirley Kershner, Don Loveless, Leila Rowson, Willard Esplin, Ted Covington, Mary Kay Irwin, William Smith, Robert Clarke, Ronald Einstoss, Art Long, Alice Shelly, Bill Ventura, Jack Penman, Ruth Moore, Erich Helfert and Wolfgang Schleich.

Wayne Asley and Bill Jager will be opponents for the office of senior class manager in the general election, Wednesday, May 16.

Today's primary results also place Bert Munson and Floyd Vice in the race for sophomore class manager.

Colored movies of campus slated

University publicity will be made a class project of course in audio-visual aids conducted by Dr. Paul H. Jensen of the education department. Students in the course will take colored movies and slides of the university campus.

SAEs, Pi Phis, Highlanders win Mackay Day cups

Trophies for the winners of the competitive events of Mackay Day were awarded last Saturday night in the old gymnasium, the final event of the 38th annual spring celebration.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and Pi Beta Phi sorority were the double winners of the event, with the Pi Phis and the Highlanders being the repeat winners from the 1950 Mackay Day.

The Pi Phis won Saturday afternoon's women's song team competition, for the second year in a row, and also received a cup for having the greatest sorority attendance at the Mackay Day dance.

The SAE's won honors for the best men's song team and were awarded the Mackay Day revolving trophy. The later is awarded to the fraternity which has the greatest percentage of its membership at beard check, fraternity work day, and the Mackay Day dance.

The Highlanders group was awarded the trophy, for the second straight year, for presenting the best of the men's skits Friday morning in Mackay Stadium. Their skit,

Unrecognized SCUA's program may be adopted by ASUN

The unrecognized Student Committee on University Affairs received its first encouragement and support this week since its inception several weeks ago.

There is a possibility that several members of the SCUA will be invited to join the ASUN recognized Student Improvement Committee.

Jim Godbey, chairman of the Student Improvement Committee, announced plans to put before the senate next Wednesday a program for the reorganization and redefinition of the functions of the Student Improvement Committee.

If the new program meets senate approval, the Student Improvement Committee will undertake a thorough consideration and study of the issues originally raised by the unofficial Student Committee on University Affairs.

The Student Committee on University Affairs was seeking official recognition from the senate last week. The co-chairmen of the SCUA, Dorothy McGuire and Jim Smith, graduate students, stated, however, that the adoption of their program by the Improvement Committee is "perfectly satisfactory."

"The Improvement Committee is already recognized," Godbey said, "and has in the past concerned itself with issues similar to those brought up by the SCUA."

Over 300 seniors to graduate in June

More than three hundred students are expected to receive their bachelor degrees at the commencement exercises on Monday, June 11.

The presentation of the diplomas by President Love will wind up the three day graduation program scheduled from Saturday to Monday, June 9 to 11.

Dr. Love will be inaugurated as the eighth president of the university during the commencement exercises in the new gym on the last day of the program.

A banquet on Saturday night for members of Phi Kappa Phi and their guests will usher in the beginning of the graduation exercises. The banquet will be held in the clubhouse of the Reno Twentieth Century Club at 335 West First St.

Baccalaureate ceremonies will be held in the new gym at 11:00 Sunday morning. President Love will preside. The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. John T. Ledger, rector of the Trinity Episcopal Church in Reno.

A combined commencement and inaugural address will be made by Dr. Harry K. Newburn, president of the University of Oregon. President Newburn was a classmate of Dr. Love at the University of Iowa.

To honor Dr. Love as the new president, representatives from many colleges and universities throughout the country will be present at the inauguration ceremonies.

Other ceremonies at the commencement will be the announcement of academic honors by Dr. Loring R. Williams, chairman of the faculty committee on scholarships and prizes.

The civic oath to the graduating students will be administered by Judge Milton B. Badt, associate justice of the Nevada State Supreme Court.

President Love will confer the degrees and present the diplomas.

Special tribute will be paid to the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of Genoa, the first settlement in Nevada. Descendants of the early settlers will be present in the grand march at commencement.

EE senior will present paper to SF engineers

Dick Victor, senior electrical engineering student, will present a paper in competition with representatives from eleven west coast college tonight at the University of California at Berkeley. The title of his paper is "The Surge Generator for the Small College Laboratory."

Victor got the chance to present his paper by winning a contest for the best paper on the campus. He will talk before representatives of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers from the San Francisco section and others.

Dean Stanley G. Palmer, dean of the school of engineering, and Professor Harold J. Hendricks, professor of electrical engineering, will also make the trip to the bay area as representatives of the AIEE from this district.

They will be present to make an inspection trip of the new electrical engineering building at the University of California, which will have an official opening. Saturday they will inspect the Pacific Gas and Electric generating plant at Antioch, California.

Dr. Robert A. Hume discussed the writing career of James Joyce before the book section of the American Association of University Women at the children's room of the Washoe Library last Monday night.

Reno Rifle club invites students

A special invitation to attend the scheduled shoots of the Reno Rifle club was extended to the students and faculty of the University of Nevada by Chet Piazzo, secretary of the club and one of the proprietors of a Reno sporting goods store.

Mr. Piazzo says that practice shoots will be held at the Reno Rifle and Pistol Club range, eight miles north of Reno on May 20, 27 and on June 10. These will all be 30 caliber matches and will give club members and their guests some practice for the state matches to take place July 27 and 28. The five man team to represent the local club in these matches will be selected from the shooters who turn in the best scores for two out of the three matches.

Research grants open to faculty

Applications for grants-in-aid of research for the six month period ending December 31, 1951, are being accepted from faculty members by the research committee. These grants cannot be made for research which is to be used toward a degree, however.

Deadline for the application to be considered is May 15, according to W. D. Billings, chairman, research committee.

Grad wins Pulitzer Prize

The 1951 Pulitzer Prize for distinguished local reporting in 1950 was awarded to Edward S. Montgomery, University of Nevada graduate. A San Francisco Examiner reporter, Montgomery was given the award for his exclusive series of articles exposing tie-ups between federal income tax officials and the underworld. This work was a factor in the indictment of four persons, including Pat Mooney, former chief field agent for the Bureau of Internal Revenue in Reno.

Grad of 1934

Montgomery received his degree in journalism in 1934. While on campus, he was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, president of the Press Club, Associate editor of the U of N Sagebrush, senator, and a member of the Publications Board. He also participated in the Men's Glee Club, the Wolves Frolic, varsity football, the frosh class committee, and was a member of the Artemisia staff.

After graduation, he worked for the Nevada State Journal and the Reno Evening Gazette and also as a miner. During the war he was in the U. S. Marine Corps and after being discharged, went to work for the San Francisco Examiner.

SDX Pledges

A week before the prizes were to be awarded, the University of Nevada chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional and undergraduate journalism fraternity, voted to pledge Montgomery.

"The corruption by Montgomery in his articles in the Examiner became a major basis for the last State Crime Commission report and the two subsequent investigations here (San Francisco) by the Kefauver Committee of the United States Senate," said the San Francisco Examiner.

Montgomery spent four months investigating the background of the Mountain City Consolidated Copper Company of Nevada, a concern with a name but no copper production. He subsequently wrote a series of articles in the San Francisco Examiner exposing this corporation.

Tax Collector Mooney was revealed by Montgomery as secretary-treasurer of the company and that stock was being sold to underworld figures who were having tax troubles.

Nine contending for Miss Reno

Nine university coeds are now entered in the Miss Reno contest to be held in the university gym June 2.

Salle Jolly, Leila Rowson, Marcia Malcolm and Marvella Chandler are from Delta Delta Delta; Ruth Eachus from Pi Beta Phi; Mary Jane Zunino from Kappa Alpha Theta; Dawn Pershall from Gamma Phi Beta; Norma Simpson from Manzanita Hall, and Bobbie Lee Conant from the YWCA. The winner will receive a $250 scholarship.

Miss Reno will then compete in the statewide Miss Nevada Pageant on June 30, and Miss Nevada will compete in the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, later in the year.

Last year's Miss Nevada was Tosca Masini, a Tri-Delt, in the class of '47. She placed seventh in the finals and received a $1000 scholarship award.

Sailors to pick Miss Comstock

A contest for the selection of "Miss Comstock" to reign over the USS Comstock soon to be initiated, it was announced this week.

The Comstock queen will be chosen by the sailors aboard the Comstock from coeds who are planning to return in the fall.

In a letter from a sailor aboard the USS Comstock, now in Korean waters, a request was made to the ASUN to assist in the search for suitable candidates for the honor of being queen of the ship.

When the ship returns to the United States, a party will be held aboard in honor of the lucky coed. All expenses for the girl and her escort will be borne by the ship, the letter states.

The sailors aboard the Comstock asked also that photographs and biographies be submitted. The pictures will be displayed aboard.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

At the last regular meeting of the ASUN senate, I proposed that Mackay Day and Engineers' Day be combined. There is a lot to be said for and against this proposal, and I would like to state my opinion in its behalf.

There has existed for some time now, an ever increasing indifference between the engineers on one side of the campus and the arts and science and aggies on the other. After much thought and discussion, it is my opinion that this is because we have never worked together on a single project pertinent to us all. With an anticipated decrease in enrollment, the time has come when the campus can no longer be divided and still continue its first class activity. Consequently, the proposal, as neither 'side' is big enough to stand alone.

The Mackay Day program has several 'holes' in it, especially on Saturday when the only attractions offered are the luncheon and the dance. Here the engineers could fill in well. On the other hand, the splendid show put on annually by the engineers, and which this year was especially unique and of the finest calibre ever, is generally witnessed by a pathetic five hundred visitors. The combination of the two days would give the engineers the benefit of better and more capable publicity than that obtained through their own committees. The Mackay Day celebration would benefit by a more complete and thoroughly entertaining day. The university would benefit by the excellent public relations offered, and the ASUN by a more perfect harmony once the existing indifference is removed. At this time when publicity for the university is so important, I can think of a no more perfect way of presenting it to the public more honestly, more completely, and to a better degree, than by a mere display of combined student talent.

There was a time not too long ago when the AED, Chem Club, Physics Club, the Aggies, etc., participated in Engineers' Day. These organizations dropped out because they did not draw the crowd and the attention which their preparations warranted. I would like to see them and all the other campus organizations again invited to participate, remembering that the College of Agriculture won the "best display" awards on Engineers' Day in 1942.

Under the proposal, the day would still be known as Mackay Day, or perhaps, Mackay Day - Engineers' Day for a couple of years then it would be finally known as Mackay Day. The luncheon could be held Friday as a "kickoff," or on Saturday preceding the dance at about 6:00 p.m. The displays of the various departments would be opened immediately following the luncheon on Friday and stay open all day Saturday, as urged by the commercial exhibitors who felt that more display time would be appreciated.

I realize that a more thorough investigation into this possibility is needed, and would welcome discussion along these lines, keeping in mind that we are all a part of the ASUN and that its better interests are best served by its combined talent and effort. I do believe that the organizations now involved in putting over each day could add to and benefit by a combined day without a great change in their present programs.

Thank you.

Yours truly,

Bill Flangas

Dear Ed.:

You have a colossal nerve! Without the approval of the student body, the faculty, the administration, the regents, the legislature, OR the governor, you have changed the nameplate of the Sagebrush. How dare you! YOU didn't even call a meeting; YOU didn't even discuss it; you did it of your own free will. Now is THIS the way things are done around here? NO! Don't you know we never change anything around here? We LIKE our old traditions. We must or we wouldn't have kept them so long.

Now if you get any more ideas about changes I suggest you have several meetings, thoroughly discuss your plan and then you'll find that "things aren't so bad around here," and that the antiquated is, after all, better than the new.

Indignantly,

Pat O'Brien.

UN rifle teams compete in fall

Plans have been made for two rifle teams to practice and compete with each other next term. Attractive prizes will be offered, said Sergeant C. Brunetti, coach of the University of Nevada rifle team.

If there is no change of plan later on, Brunetti said, the older and more experienced team which shot this year will be designated in the open class.

Newcomers who registered for the first time next September will be classified as novice class and trained to compete with the veterans for prizes and higher classifications.

Extensive training and assistance will enable the novices to gain qualification and prizes even against the experience of the open class shooters. Credit and recognition will be given to persistent effort and regular practice.

New ROTC head to arrive in June

Lieutenant Colonel James Lewis will arrive at the University of Nevada about June 15 to take up his new assignment of duty as commandant of the ROTC. Lieutenant Colonel James C. Smee is being relieved and assigned to other duties elsewhere.

Colonel Lewis will graduate from Army General Staff School about June 1 or shortly thereafter. He will report here immediately in order to familiarize himself with the routine and personnel as well as the staff and faculty of the university.

Colonel Smee expressed eagerness to be on his way to his new assignment, which he hopes will be to some overseas theater of operations. He has completed more than five

New officers elected were Bruce Belnap, chairman; Hassel DePree, vice-chairman, and Art Sommers, secretary-treasurer. The talk was on the economic feasibility of using a two-way radio for public utilities.

University road show praised

University President Malcolm A. Love said that the traveling university vaudeville show recently returned from a week's tour of 10 Nevada high schools, had made a favorable impression. "The trip made to southern Nevada by a number of our students was well received in all the high schools."

A group of five students directed by Dr. William C. Miller, associate professor of English, toured southern Nevada high schools last week for the purpose of conveying the importance of this university to high school students.

The following is a letter received from the high school in Hawthorne:

"The troupe of entertainers, accompanied and directed by Dr. William Miller, put on an excellent show for our student body, Monday, April 30. The faculty and students all enjoyed having them here and we hope that such a tour can be arranged again next year.

We don't have a great deal of contact with the university out here and as a result, some of our graduates don't have the incentive I should like to see them have, to attend our state university. Such performances as Dr. Miller's and appearances such as the university girls from Hawthorne, who spoke before the students at Christmas time, help to create this incentive."

Last Christmas university coed Pat DeWalt, a graduate of Hawthorne high school, spoke before a student assembly there on the University of Nevada.

The letter concluded by saying, "We welcome groups or individuals, representing the university, appearing before our students at any time."

"All those who participated should be highly commended for their willingness to serve the university in order to achieve our desired goals, which mean adequate support. It is necessary that every person connected with the university give enthusiastic cooperation to enterprises of this kind," said Dr. Love.

The program included a one-act play, and 1890 skit, musical numbers, tumbling and readings.

Students who took part in the trip are Gene Wait, Jerry Schafer, Mark Tett, Jim Hulse, and Ruth Eachus.

The troupe traveled in the "Albourne car," a touring automobile and trailer given to the university by A. K. Bourne of Reno. The trailer unit caused a great deal of excitement among the high school students, according to Jim Hulse, and was inspected by the high school faculties.

A second trip is planned for the week beginning May 21. This tour under the direction of George Broten, assistant professor of physical education, will cover the high schools in the northern part of the state.

Clarence Mackay, while on the campus dedicating the Mackay Science hall, stated the following reason for his great interest in the Nevada campus: "First, I am the son of a self-made man; second, I am the son of a pioneer in the pioneer state of Nevada, and third, I am moved to turn back to the soil what was taken from the soil, in order that future generations may benefit in degree by what I and mine have inherited from the soil of Nevada."

Until the discovery of the famous Comstock Lode, from which John W. Mackay made his fortune, the inhabitants of Nevada numbered only about 1,000, chiefly Mormons and California gold seekers.

Sigma Del ta Chi to fete old time fraternity member

One of the first members of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, will speak at a dinner May 16 of the university chapter of the fraternity.

Jock Taylor, editor of the Reese River Reveille, was the fifth initiate to the national fraternity, which was founded in 1909.

He will speak on the early days of Sigma Delta Chi and also on his newspaper, the Reese River Reveille. That paper, the oldest newspaper of continuous publication in Nevada, is celebrating its 88th birthday on the same day as the dinner.

Jock Taylor was initiated into Sigma Delta Chi in the spring of 1910. Shortly afterwards, he left college and got a reporter's job with the Springfield, Mass., Republican. Thereafter, he worked and traveled all over the world.

Since his initiation, Jock Taylor has never attended a Sigma Delta Chi meeting. The dinner on May 16 will welcome him back into the activities of the fraternity.

Blue team downs white in intrasquad fracas

Two quick touchdowns in the last half of the fourth quarter enabled a blue squad to outclass a white squad 25-6 in a Worif Pack inter-squad football game held last Sunday. This game, played at Mackay Stadium, climaxes spring practice and previews the team for next year.

The contest, up until the final quarter, was a give and take affair with the white dominating the first stanza of play. About 200 people turned out to see the '51 edition of the Pack in action.

Line play for both the teams was almost on par; however, the blue line composed of Afflis, Gonda, Moretini, Kilgore, Baxter, and Wyness at times seemed the stronger.

The first quarter ended without a score for either team and with the whites down in blue territory. First quarter action was paced by Hartsfield, fullback for the whites, and Nightengale and Leavitt, backs for the blues. Pat Brady handled the ball from the T slot for the blues while Neil Garrett called them for the whites.

Midway into the second period Dick Nightengale, fleet fullback for the blues, intercepted a Garrett pass and ran the ball to the blue 36. Myron Leavitt took over and scampered 64 yards for the first score. The half ended 610 for the blues.

In the third quarter, runs by Leavitt, and Nightengale and a pass to Mert Baxter, end, advanced the ball to the white 26. Lee Schroder, halfback for the blues, advanced the ball to the 121 in three tries and then Brady threw to Wynes, end, for the score. Shortly after this second blue score, the whites got rolling on passes which culminated in a 63 yard scoring pass from Garrett to Howard Barber, fleet back on the white squad.

The final blue scores came late in the fourth and were registered by Brady and Wyness. After a blue drive had gained to the 2 yard line, Brady, after fumbling, recovered the ball and went over for the score. A moment later, a pass from Ray Gonsalves, substituting for Brady at the pivot post for the blues, to Wyness, was good for the final score of the game.

Additional color was added to the game by the announcing of Herm Fisher, fullback from last year's squad.

Marine team may be included in Nevada schedule

Nine games to date have been scheduled for the 1951 Pack football season. A tenth game to be played September 16 at Mackay Stadium has been verbally agreed on by Joe Sheeketski, athletic director and head coach, and the San Diego Marines. The addition of the tough Marine team to the schedule would give local Nevada fans four home games. Besides the tentatively scheduled game with the leathernecks, other home games will be with South Dakota September 29, San Jose November 3, and Utah State November 24.

The remaining games on the schedule are USF September 23, Arizona State (Tempe) October 6, Texas A&M October 13, Loyola October 21, COP October 27, Santa Clara November 11.

Nevada thinclads cancel meet

The third meet in a three meet schedule was cancelled by the University of Nevada track team last week. The meet, which was held in Stockton, California, was a five way affair with such teams as COP and San Jose participating.

Nevada cancelled the meet because word was received from the meet officials that freshmen squad members could not compete. Over half of the Nevada squad were freshmen.

A vote was taken by the remaining squad members who were not freshmen and the decision rendered by the vote was that the team would withdraw from the meet. Hugh Smithwick, track coach, pointed out that without the aid of freshmen standouts such as Burt Munson in the distance, Nevada's team strength would be weakened.

Block N sponsors high school track meet

The University of Nevada Block N society will sponsor the Western Conference high school track and field meet to be held in Mackay Stadium tomorrow. Burt Larkins will be in charge of the meet in the absence of past president Paul Stimac.

Stimac will be in Las Vegas with an ROTC unit over the weekend.

The Block N members will provide judges and be in full charge of the meet.

Carson City is favored in the eight team meet by virtue of its record so far this season. Reno will press the Senators, however, if they are at full strength.

Trials in the sprints and dashes will be held in the morning starting at 10:00 and the regular meet will begin at 1:30 in the afternoon.

Boulder City High football stars enroll in fall

Two football players from Boulder City, Nevada, Joe Kine and Chuck Greenwood, are expected to enroll in the University of Nevada next year. Both Kine and Greenwood were chosen on last year's high school all-American team. Under the new rules for eligibility both boys will be able to compete next fall. Kine has also established an enviable record throughout the state

Sixth army team inspects ROTC

The annual general inspection of the University of Nevada ROTC unit was completed Wednesday, May 8, by Lieutenant Colonel Murray Frazier, First Lieutenants Monroe D. King and Robert Fleming from Sixth Army Headquarters.

Lieutenant Colonel James C. Smee and his staff said they were very pleased with the showing the unit made in the drills and exercises. One of the inspectors said that he had never seen the exercises better done by seasoned regular army units.

Colonel Smee says that they have no official report on the results as yet but with such creditable showing as was made there is nothing to worry about.

"The boys were really sharp," Colonel Smee said.

In 1921 the first state high school tournament was held at the university and has been held here ever since.

Mackay Day luncheon tickets cost only 35 cents in 1924. However, students were asked to bring their own coffee.

Faculty-student committee formed in Aggie club

A faculty-student committee was formed this week among the members of the College of Agriculture.

The purpose of the committee, according to Dick Reid, president of the Aggie Club, is to promote better relationships between the students and faculty of the Agricultural College.

The committee, which plans to meet about once a month, consist of four members from among the aggie students and four faculty members.

Problems the committee appear to be interested in concern the possibility of having a dean of the Agricultural College appointed and the possibility of obtaining a university farm nearer the campus than the present one on South Virginia St.

More cooperation between faculty and students and a higher standard of instruction in the Agricultural College were the aims expressed by the student committeemen.

The student members of the faculty-student committee were elected, one from each class, after the Aggie Club meeting Wednesday night.

The student members of the committee are: Tim Frazier, freshman; Jim Hettinger, sophomore; Dick Reid, junior; and Eyra Boies, senior.

The faculty members have not yet been announced.

There were seven students in the first student body of the University of Nevada. The class was held under the supervision of one teacher, D. R. Sessions.

concerning the new disease of draftitis, was the unanimous choice of a group of skits, some of which were described as "filthy," and "disgraceful."

Individual winners of the spring celebration for the best costumes and beards were: Leo Quilici, best trimmed beard; Bob Jones, reddest beard; Jerry Pico, heaviest beard; and Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis, best costumes.

Mackay Day queen Shirley Hodge awarded cups and trophies to all of the winners at the dance, with the exception of the Mackay Day revolving trophy which was presented by Dr. Malcolm A. Love, president of the university.

In 1930 a campus poll found that men favored long skirts on women. Said one man, "Psychologically they give a better effect, although they can either be a better camouflage or more revealing, as the case or desire of the wearer may be."

hended and that the show and the fund are just a small token of appreciation.

It was pointed out that the criminal had listed the majority of the Greek houses on campus and so had planned to enter and burglarize all of them. In that light, the members stated, it seemed only natural that the students who benefited should show their appreciation. The show and the fund, they decided, were to be the tokens.

Committees have been set up for publicizing the event both locally and throughout the state, especially in Lundergreen's home town, Gardnerville. These committees will handle publicity through local newspapers, radio handbills window posters and by sending group invitations to all of the major local organized groups.

The show, as planned at present, will consist of the outstanding university talent which has been presented during the past year both on and off of the campus, and possibly an act from town.

It has been put under the direction of Leo O'Brien and will have two masters of ceremonies, O'Brien and Jerry Wyness. It is planned that virtually every organization on campus will take part in the show, making it an all-campus event.

The first rehearsal and an audition for any person or groups wishing to lend their talent will be held Tuesday evening, May 15, at the Education Building auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

The next meeting of the committee will be held Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 p.m. at the ASUN building.
