

Eliades wins ASUN election in landslide

Jim Eliades, newly elected student body president. He is an honor student in the College of Engineering, a member of Lambda Chi Alpha, and an ASUN student senator.

Jim Eliades was elected student body president in an election which drew more voters than any other election in the history of the university. Eliades won the office with more votes than the other two candidates combined. Jerry Wyness, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, was second, and Buck Wells, Alpha Tau Omega, placed third in the race.

Eliades was nominated by Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

Class Managers

Wayne Ashley, Phi Sigma Kappa candidate, the senior class manager position over Bill Jager, SAE. Junior class manager post was won by Willard "Red" Esplin, Theta Chi candidate, over Jennilee Gibson, Tri-Delt, and Frank Schadrack, SAE.

Bert Munson, Lambda Chi Alpha, defeated Floyd Vice, Alpha Tau Omega, for the office of sophomore class manager.

Senators-at-Large

Artemisia Hall's candidate, Bobbie Jean Cummins, was elected woman senator-at-large over Joan Foster, Gamma Pni, and Leila Rowson, Tri-Delt.

Man senator-at-large is Jim Brooke, Sigma Nu, who emerged victorious in the closest election results of the election. The other candidates were Vince Reager, Delta Sigma Phi, and George Williams, SAE.

Block N

Al Matteucci took the Block N representative from Ed Hancock, SAE. Matteucci was nominated by Lambda Chi Alpha.

The revised ASUN constitution was adopted 732-67.

The New Prexy

Jim Eliades was student body president of White Pine High School. He made the all state football and basketball team as a high school student.

He is an honor roll student at the university and is the holder of a Harold Smith scholarship. He is a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, and of Nu Eta Epsilon, the honorary engineering fraternity.

During this semester he was student senator from the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. While a senator, he was chairman of the high school relations committee, and was on the Finance Control Board. He is an advanced ROTC student.

"I want to thank my supporters, and I will do all in my power to aid and support the university student body and administration," he said following his election.

ASUN senate approves program of unofficial SCUA committee

The ASUN senate approved, with one dissenting vote, the adoption of the general program of the unofficial Student Committee on University Affairs, this week, and gave two of its members seats on the seven man board of the Student Improvement Committee, an official organ of the ASUN.

Jim Godbey, chairman of the Student Improvement Committee, asked the senate to approve the re-definition of purpose of the SIC, so as to include the SCUA's program and some of its members.

The membership of the newly formed SIC includes Jim Godbey, chairman, Willard Esplin, Len Savage, Mark Curtis, Peggy Schultz, and two members of the SCUA, Jim Smith and Ted Scripps.

"The purpose will be to raise any questions and investigate into the merits of any controversial issue of any nature whatsoever effecting the University of Nevada," said Godbey. The findings will be submitted to the senate for discussion and designation of action.

The SCUA has been the subject of controversy for three weeks, making its bow with a six point indictment against past administration. Dubbed a "wild cat" group, and "unrepresentative," some students and faculty disapproved of its initial moves. Key members of the original group are Barbara Brown, Jim Smith, Dorothy McGuire, John Marvel and Ted Scripps.

Aggie horse show termed success

Through handicapped by wind, rain and snow flurries the Aggie horse show was a success, according to Ray Alzola, manager.

The last day of the show was highlighted by the crowning of Nancy Rolph, Kappa Alpha Theta, as queen by President Malcolm Love. She was selected as queen by the spectators as they entered the grounds Sunday afternoon.

Buzz Bomb Champ

Buzz Bomb, owned by Harry Frost of Reno, was named Grand Champion Quarter Horse stallion and took top honors in the show. The double Diamond Ranch of Reno had a champion in each of the rest of the quarter horse classes.

Vets must pay more this year

Ninety-six veterans are receiving bills from the university varying in amount from six to one hundred fourteen dollars.

Included with the bill is a form letter explaining to the veteran why he must either pay the added amount or have the charge taken off his GI eligibility at the rate of $2.10 per day.

Each veteran, instead of paying a regular tuition fee, is charged at the rate of $11.96 per unit taken. When the cost of the number of units taken, books, laboratory fees, and other fees run over $500 a year that difference must be made up by the veteran either by personal funds or loss of eligibility.

Whether a veteran is a resident or non-resident of the state does not change the amount that he pays per unit. For each veteran taking the minimum number of hours possible and still getting full subsistence, the Veteran Administration pays $143.82. The non-resident, non-veteran pays $100 tuition fee.

Price Raised This Year

For the year 1949-50 the price per unit was $8.08. For the year 1950-51 it was raised to $11.96, which is why people who have not had any trouble with running over the maximum have to pay it now. The majority of veterans affected are those carrying more than the normal load of subjects and those with high-laboratory fees. Approximately 500 veterans are enrolled and 96 have run a bill in excess of the maximum $500 allowed by the VA.

At the senate meeting held Wednesday it was decided that the senate investigating committee should look into the matter.

Any student wishing to have the Veterans Administration pay the excess can do so by checking item 6 on VA form 7-1909 and filling it with the VA. If this was not done at the time of registration it may still be done by filling out a new form in the office of the dean of men.

Special events of the show were trick riding and roping by Chet and Juanita Howell and square dancing on horseback by the Churchill County Junior Riders.

Fulbright award to coed senior

Patricia Kirksey, University of Nevada senior, has been awarded a Fulbright scholarship which will enable her to study English literature at the University of St. Andrews in Scotland.

The Fulbright scholarship, which Miss Kirksey applied for on the spur of a moment, allows nine months of study in a foreign country with expenses paid.

Miss Kirksey was born in San Francisco, California, and attended Oregon State College for one year. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta and plans to graduate from the University of Nevada this June.

All students are selected by the board of foreign scholarships from recommendations made by campus Fulbright committee and the Institute of International Education.

Taylor speaks at SDX dinner

Members and pledges of Sigma Delta Chi, national honorary journalistic fraternity, attended a dinner Wednesday honoring Jock Taylor, editor and publisher of the Reese River Reveille.

Mr. Taylor was one of the first to be initiated into the national fraternity. He was made a member in 1910, a year after the organization was formed.

Speaks on Founding

In a speech after the dinner, Mr. Taylor spoke of the early days of the fraternity at DePauw University in Indiana, where it was founded. He also related many of his experiences in the field of journalism.

Speaking of his paper, the Reese River Reveille, he mentioned that it is the oldest Nevada weekly of continuous publication. It has been published since 1863.

His paper, Mr. Taylor pointed out, has newspaper files dating back to the territorial days of Nevada.

Following the talk, the guests questioned Mr. Taylor on some of the experiences and tribulations of running his paper in Austin.

The dinner was held at the Santa Fe Hotel.

Aggie college to have dean

A new dean of the College of Agriculture at the University of Nevada may be appointed before the commencement of the fall term, according to Dr. Malcolm A. Love, President.

"We are looking for a dean who will be able to serve as overall administrator of resident teaching, experiment, and extension," Dr. Love said.

Applications for the position are now being accepted and Dr. Love is sending letters of inquiry to men who might be able to qualify. Also open at present is the position of head of the division of animal industries in the agricultural college.

College Now Divided

At the present time the College of Agriculture is divided into three parts with a director in charge of each division. It is expected that the directors will serve as assistant directors under the new dean who will be director of each part. This according to Dr. Love will unify the college so that it will work more efficiently.

"We are particularly interested in obtaining an agricultural administrator who has experience in animal husbandry since that is one of the leading industries in Nevada," Dr. Love said.

This is the first time that there will be a dean of the college since 1949, when Dr. Cecil W. Creel was dean. Dr. Creel is now director of agricultural experiment station.

Carlson elected head of engineering society

Thomas Carlson was elected chairman of the student branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, at the meeting Wednesday night. Other new men elected to office for the coming year were: Arthur Wigg, vice-chairman; Edward Hansen, secretary, and Charles Lambrecht, treasurer.

Three films were shown at the meeting. One of them, taken by Ken Olinghouse on the recent senior field trip to the bay area, showed points of interest on the trip.

Senate approves number of credits for class standing

A definite standard for the classification of student class standings was approved by the ASUN senate on the recommendation of the Administrative Council.

A regular student is classified by the registrar as a sophomore, junior or senior if he has completed the number of credits indicated below:

College	Soph.	Jr.	Jr.
A & S	28	59	91
Engineering	30	66	102
Mines	30	66	102
Agriculture	29	62	95

A student on scholastic probation, however, may not be classified as a senior.

A student who has completed all the requirements for graduation shall be ineligible for undergraduate activities regardless of whether or not he has received the diploma. This stipulation is applicable to eligibility for athletics and elections.

Officers to Get Oriented

An orientation course for new student body officers May 17, 18 and 21 was announced.

Engineer-Mackay Day Merge

The Engineers-Mackay Day vote was tabled until the next senate meeting at the request of the engineers. A meeting of the Associated Engineers and Miners will discuss the problem with the Mackay Day committee to decide whether a suitable schedule of events can be drawn up.

Campus Speeders

Speeding in the Victory Heights section was also discussed by the senate. Fraternities speeding to and from inter-fraternity games was classed as the main cause. Restrictions on the drivers are to be handled through the individual fraternity houses and through the Interfraternity Council, it was said. Posters and signs throughout the campus were also proposed.

The first football game of the season, set for September 16, is before the opening of the fall semester, so the senators were told to warn students to keep their spring student body cards.

The annual senate picnic was set for May 30, Memorial Day, and will be held at Incline Beach, Lake Tahoe.

UN Press club

An initiation breakfast for seventeen new members of the University of Nevada Press club will be held Sunday morning, May 20, at the Trocadero restaurant in the El Cortez Hotel.

Ed Olson, Associated Press correspondent, will be the guest speaker.

SEE PAGE FOUR FOR BRUSH SOLUTION TO WORLD AFFAIRS

Who owns big business anyway?

1. Many people, including the Russian delegates to the United Nations, don't seem to understand who owns America's corporations. They continually talk about "Big Business" and "Wall Street Capitalists" as if our big companies were owned and run by a handful of "economic royalists."

2. As a matter of fact, practically all large American corporations are owned and run by the American people. Union Oil Company, for example, has more than 36,000 stockholder-owners. 33,613 of our common stockholders are individuals—15,528 women and 18,085 men. The remainder consist of some 2,500 educational, religious and charitable institutions, labor unions, insurance and trust companies.

3. Approximately half of Union Oil's common stock is owned by stockholders who have 500 shares or less. Average shares per stockholder is 146. Naturally there are many larger holdings than this and many smaller, but our largest stockholder owns only 2 1/4% of the total stock. Our directors and officers combined own 2 1/2%.

4. In other words, Union Oil Company is owned not by a few dozen millionaires but by many thousands of ordinary Americans. And this is true of practically every large U.S. corporation.* So when the Communists argue that their system would allow the American "people" to "own" their industries, they're whistling up the wrong drainpipe. The American people own their industries already.

5. The big difference is that our system provides the incentives to the individual, the competition and the efficiency that go with private ownership. Consequently, our industries are able to outproduce, outprogress and outdo the Communists' by a country mile. And our people are free to spend their money, put it in the bank, invest it in stocks or bury it in the back yard—whichever they darn well please.

*More than 15 million Americans own stock in some U. S. corporation. In addition to these, everyone who has a life insurance policy will find some of his "cash value" invested in corporations. So, altogether, probably 8 out of 10 American families have a direct or indirect stake in U.S. corporations.

Draftable men have week more to apply for test

University of Nevada students who have not yet applied for their selective service college aptitude tests will have until May 25 to do so, according to a report from Major General Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, the Associate Press reported this week.

"The results of these tests plus a student's overall average are likely to be our only basis for college students deferments in the future." This was the statement from the Reno local draft board No. 16.

A draft board official here said the number of a college students who have requested application cards have been much fewer than was anticipated. Last Friday, Monday and Tuesday saw the largest number of students request the application forms.

Dates on which the tests will be given are May 26, June 16, and June 30. Those filing after May 15, however will not be allowed to take the examination of May 26 because the date is already filled.

Reno author to talk here

Walter Van Tilburg Clark, well known Nevada author, will give a talk on one of his books, "The Ox-bow Incident," before Mr. Raymond J. Pflug's English class next Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock.

"The Ox-bow Incident," a novel of the old west, was published in 1940 and was made into a movie by 20th Century Fox.

Among other works by Walter Van Tilburg Clark are "The City of Trembling Leaves," published in 1945, "The Watchful Gods and Other Stories" (1950) and "The Track of the Cat" (1950). The author has also contributed to such periodicals as the Atlantic Monthly, Accent, the New Yorker, the Nation, Saturday Evening Post, and Yale Review.

Born in Maine, Mr. Clark was graduated from the University of Nevada where his father, Dr. Walter E. Clark, was president from 1917 to 1938.

He received his master's degree from the university in 1932.

At present Mr. Clark makes his home in Washoe Valley.

Gregory Peck will be at the Riverside Hotel to receive the Silver Spurs award May 18 and 19. The award is given each year for the best western actor.

Leila Rowson, Tri-Delt sophomore and candidate for the title of Miss Reno. She is being sponsored in the contest by the Soroptimists, and will play the piano as a demonstration of her talent. She is 19 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, and has hazel eyes and brown hair.

NSA delegate to be chosen

A delegate to represent the University of Nevada at the National Student Association convention in Minnesota is being sought by Ted Klimaszewski, student body president.

The convention is to be held at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis, August 20-29.

Since Nevada is not a member of the NSA by senate vote, the delegate will be on an unofficial status.

Anyone who will be in the vicinity of Minneapolis and who plans to return to college in the fall will be considered for the position. The delegate must pay all expenses.

Those interested should contact Klimaszewski at his office in the ASUN building.

DRAFT BOARD TO DEFER COED

Last Monday the Army offered Leila Rowson, campus candidate for Miss Reno, a chance for draft deferment by sending her the information concerning college aptitude tests for deferments.

The information received by Miss Rowson concerning the draft deferment consisted of a sample questionnaire which is given to all male students of colleges who wish draft deferment. Miss Rowson said the circular had her correct name and address on it.

"This will be a new experience for me," said Miss Rowson concerning her possibility of being drafted.

Army calls Marks; three UN grads

Lieutenant Jerome E. Marks, senior at the University of Nevada, has been called to active duty under the Nevada reserve officers fourth recall program.

Marks hopes to be able to graduate this June before reporting to active duty. He will be assigned to the 6012 ASU at Camp Stoneman, California.

Grads Called Too

Three graduates of the class of '50 who have also been called up under the program include: Lieutenant Bruno L. Coli, of Verdi, who has been assigned to the Seventh Armed Division at Camp Roberts.

Lieutenant Kenneth E. Cusic, of Reno, who has been assigned to the 6013th ASU, at Fort Lawton, Washington.

Lieutenant James C. Davis, of Fallon, who has been assigned to the Sixth Infantry Division at Fort Ord, California.

EVER HOLD HANDS LIKE THESE?

They're not soft and warm, these hands. They're hard and cold — and mechanical. They work at the Oak Ridge atomic energy plant, preparing radioactive isotopes for shipment to Bell Telephone Laboratories and to other research centers.

These isotopes — which serve as tracers — are used by Bell scientists to study the materials that go into the telephone system. Our research men, working with Geiger counters, are able to detect wear in relay contacts, impurities in metals, the penetration of preservatives in wood.

This new research tool helps us to learn more in less time, helps us to make telephone equipment even more rugged and dependable. That's especially important right now when the Nation relies on the telephone to help get things done.

A Plan for Peace

The staff of the Sagebrush, worried about survival in the atomic age, heard what it thinks is at least a temporary safeguard against all-out atomic war, this week.

The Sagebrush therefore advocates what it calls—the Government Exchange Plan.

There is no doubt that if this plan could be brought into effect, the chances for atomic attack would be greatly decreased. So certain is the Sagebrush that this will allow us all to see the end of the century, it is undertaking to present the idea to Washington and Moscow.

The idea is to have Washington and Moscow change places. Truman and the law makers of the United States would control us from their offices in the Kremlin. Stalin and the Politburo would supervise Russia from Washington.

We can almost guarantee that such an arrange ment would assure us that Stalin would never allow Russia to bomb the U. S. And we'd bet this week's pay that Truman would never suggest that Russia be blasted—not while he's in the Kremlin.

The safety of both governments is assured even though they would be in hostile territory. In fact, the Russians may show more friendliness to the present administration than the Americans. We think the Russians would take pains to make our government officials comfy since they wouldn't want us to treat Stalin and the boys harshly.

If anybody has a better idea, please bring it up to the Brush office and we'll toss it around.

Meanwhile, we'll work on the Government Exchange Plan and let you know if anything comes of it.

Keep it tuned in.

Congratulations

The Sagebrush extends congratulations this week to Jim Elaides, the new president of the ASUN. As the main student voice and promoter of student welfare, Jim is assured of the complete cooperation of the student newspaper in his tough job. And his overwhelming win in the election leaves no doubt as to the cooperation he can expect from the student body next year.

The Brush also congratulates the student senate on their approval of the plan to absorb the unrecognized SCUA into the official Student Improvement Committee. After the great controversy which developed over the SCUA, student leaders have shown a fair-mindedness which the student body can be proud of. Their willingness to listen to the SCUA's program despite their initial distrust of the student moters or the plan itself, indicates their respect for student complaints. Although the senate now controls the program, it has recognized the efforts of the SCUA by allowing two SCUA members of the Improvement Committee, and by incorporating some of the SCUA's main points into the Improvement Committee.

Congratulations also go to President Malcolm Love who has recognized still further the need of student advice and help in administrative matters. It was Dr. Love's idea that students be made members of such faculty committees as the Library Committee, the Curriculum and Improvement of Instruction Committee, and the Student Welfare Committee.

This is Good Business?

Ninety-six veterans in this university have just been tapped for "excess fees" amounting, in some cases, to as high as $114. We are not questioning the legality of such a charge, we simply call it about the unfairest trick of the year.

Each semester during registration, veterans sign a form agreeing to either pay all fees in excess of $500, or asking the Veterans Administration to absorb the excess amount for them. Of course, if the V Atakes care of the excess for the vet, the amount is knocked off his remaining eligibility. Some veterans, therefore, with only limited eligibility, must watch this pretty close since it would be unfortunate to work up to the last few semesters in college only to find their eligibility exhausted by excess fees. This arrangement between the vets and the VA is certainly fair. Few vets every went over $500 in tuition and fees.

This year, however, the "cost per unit of schooling" was raised from $8.08 to $11.96. (This per unit cost thing is something few veterans ever knew existed.) But nobody evidently thought this little 30 per cent raise important enough to mention to the veterans. The veterans have been paying four bucks more per unit since last September and are just now being told about it.

The result is that some graduating seniors and juniors who have been using their eligibility time as economically as possible, have been socked with this surprise raise at the very end of the school year. Needless to say, the hardship it will work on a man just out of college will be great.

Veterans who have been attending the university for four and six semesters, never having been billed before, could only assume they were within the limits of the $500 allowed by the VA for each semester's schooling. On registering for the last two semester, 1950-51, they also assumed they would be using approximately the same amounts as before. At neither registration did anyone mention to them that their fees were being raised four dollars for each credit hour they were registered in.

If a man agrees to buy something, uses it completely, then gets his bill, he expects to pay it on the agreed terms. In the business world, however, we believe that a practice which would raise the cost without the buyer's knowledge, then hitting him with a bigger bill than expected after he had used the product, would be referred to the Better Business Bureau or the courts.

The University of Nevada library was presented to the university by William A. Clark, Jr., in honor of his wife, Alice McManus Clark. It cost nearly $250,000.

Student poll favors combination of Mackay Day-Engineers' Day

By Bob Smith

Student opinion polled this week favored combining of Mackay Day and Engineers' Day. The combination was proposed at the last meeting of the ASUN senate by senator of Highlanders, Bill Flangas.

Looking into the program that is followed for Engineers' Day at other schools it was found that the program follows the pattern of Mackay Day closer than it does the present Engineers' Day.

Shirl Hodge, queen of both Mackay and Engineers' Day, answered the question by saying, "I think that combining Mackay Day and Engineers' Day is a wonderful idea. At present they are too close together; combining them would make a bigger and better event for both of them. A larger crowd would be drawn to observe the interesting and educational displays which the engineers put on and it would fill up the 'extra hours' during the Mackay Day weekend. More townspeople would be able to see and enjoy Mackay Day and Engineers' Day, and that is what we want, the interest and approval of the townspeople. Mackay Day is not doing too good a job in gaining their approval."

Dr. E. W. Harris, professor of mechanical engineering, said, "Both should be eliminated unless the character of both are improved." His suggestion for improvement was to have a program that tactually commemorated Mackay.

Sheila Murray. "I think that Engineers' and Mackay Day should be combined in order to make a bigger and better celebration. I think that it would draw more people from town and arouse more interest. It might help to keep students from spending all day in the 'Little Wal'." Skipp Wigg said, "No, because I think that if they are combined Engineers' Day will turn into a celebration rather than an exhibit.

Dave Cochran thought the events "would aid one another and it would bring the two sides of the campus closer together."

Tom Carlson. "I believe there is too much to do to combine the two, no person could take it all in. I think it would kill Mackay Day."

Connie Malcolm said she liked the idea of combining Mackay Day and Engineers' Day, "because I believe there are too many breaks in the Mackay Day program, and by incorporating Engineers' Day into the same program it would provide a fuller weekend and probably cut down on drinking that goes on."

"I'm again it," said Jim Howard. "Mackay Day is too traditional. The school as a whole does not appreciate Engineers' Day as they do Mackay Day and the engineers only make up about 30 per cent of the school." Joe Abbott. "It is a good idea. There would be a lot less 'helling' around on Mackay Day if there was a full program for the weekend."

Willard Esplin said, "I think that it would be a pretty good idea. Either that or go back to the old original workday for Mackay Day."

Martha Oviatt liked the combination "if we could cut classes all day Friday. Have the two days split up so that part of each day falls on both Friday and Saturday. That way it would make a good full weekend."

Lester Brownell said he didn't approve. "It would appear from past events that the arts and science students would want to control the whole show."

Ken Olinghouse. "It is a good idea but it would have to be so arranged so that there would not be a lot

Band presents first concert to 500 persons

The first annual concert by the University of Nevada band was presented to the public Wednesday, May 2, in the university gymnasium.

Under the direction of Professor Felton Hickman, the band played for an audience of about five hundred people.

The band has been occupied most of the year with duties at public functions such as military, athletic and civic events. This was the first formal appearance of the band in concert.

The program was varied in nature and featured several soloists including Alice Dulton, cornetist; Verlita Johnson, pianist; James Butler, clarinetist; Jack Bastian, James Carter and Ken Bradley, trombonists.

Selections by the band were: "Marcho Poco" by Donald I. Moore; "From the Delta" by William Grant Still; "Begin the Bugine" and "Night and Day" by Cole Porter; "Romany Life" by Victor Herbert; "Marche Fantastique" by Thomas F. Darcy, Jr.

Themes from "First Roumanian Rhapsody," by Johnson-Enesco; "An American Weekend," from John J. Morrissey; "Little March" by Clare E. Grundman; and "Joshua," a novelty tune arranged by Paul Yoder.

Newspaper reviews of the concert said the band had "the fine interpretation, good intonation and fine spirit for a college band," and that the conductor, Professor Felton Hickman, "deserves credit for his excellent work and his choice of selections."

of confusion. One good program would be better than a lot of little ones." He also asked a question, "Why not combine Mackay Day and Homecoming?"

Benefit show off by request

Plans to hold "Lundergreen Appreciation Night," May 23 were canceled at a meeting of the planning committee Monday, by request of John Lundergreen's parents.

The show was planned to express appreciation of the students for John's part in capturing Thos. Truman Collins, convicted criminal who was caught robbing the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity house two weeks ago.

In the struggle, Lundergreen was stabbed eight times in the chest by the robber, the wounds collapsing both of his lungs. After four days in Washoe hospital, he was transferred to the University infirmary, where he is recuperating.

Although only members of his immediate family are being allowed to visit him, John is reported to be well on his way to recovery. The ban of student visitors was clamped on, so that he might enjoy complete rest and quiet.

NO BOOKS, NO GRADES

No grades will be given to students who fail to return books borrowed from the library, or who failed to pay their fines for overdue books, says Mrs. F. M. Stephen, reference librarian.

New flag fund started last week

Aroused by the ragged edges of the university's present flag, John Culnan of Carson City walked into the president's office last week, laid down five dollars and said he wanted to start a fund for the purchase of a new flag.

Small flags, used at present, are bought in quantity and, because of the wind, last only about a semester, according to Carl Horn, superintendent of grounds and buildings.

Whether Culnan wanted a big flag or more small ones, no one seems to know.

Culnan is connected with the State Board of Health.

Students to join faculty committees

President Malcolm A. Love suggested and the ASUN senate adopted a resolution placing student body representatives on a number of faculty committees, and faculty members on several student body committees.

"To increase faculty-student understanding and cooperation, I recommend that the ASUN senate appoint members to the following faculty committees, and that the administrative council add such students to committees for consideration of all problems that are in jurisdiction of such committees."

Dr. Love suggested that the students on the Public Relations Committee and the High School Relations Committee be increased to two members. Also that two representatives of the student body be placed on the following committees: Curriculum and improvement of Instruction; Student Welfare, Counseling, Orientation, Testing, and Guidance; and Library.

Dr. Love also suggested that faculty advisors be placed on the following student committees: Publicity, Improvement, Rally, High School Presidents Committee, Men and Women's Upperclass Committee, Homecoming, Ski Carnival, and Mackay Day.

It was pointed out that student representatives are on the Assembly and Lectures Committee, the Board of Athletic Control, Ceremonials Committee, Health Committee, and the Student Activities Committee.

UN art exhibit

A public art exhibit is being held this week by the University of Nevada art department in the classrooms at the temporary buildings.

Eighteen paintings of contemporary artists are included in the display. The exhibit is being circulated by the American Federation of Arts and is composed of pictures loaned from four private collections.

Three local records were broken at the annual Silma Delta Psi Day tryouts. Sigma Delta Psi is an honorary athletic fraternity.

Proctor Hug and Robert DeRuff completed all requirements for initiation and were elected to membership in the fraternity.

Joe says short spring practice OK next season's team still looks good

"This has been the shortest spring practice since I came to Nevada," said Joseph L. Sheeketski, director of athletics and head football coach. "Military classes ran late quite a bit of the time and this held up some boys from turning out daily, but the overall picture looks pretty good, the boys shaped up fine."

Sheeketski explained that he had no serious grievance concerning the boys missing as much practice as they did. He said that he meant to give the team a chance to bring up their academic standings. In regards to this subject Sheeketski said that all of his team was passing in their studies and that he had had no serious complaints.

Punjab Return Slated

"Punjab" Hairston withdrew from his courses in the fall mid-semester with passing grades to enter the veterans hospital in Reno for treatment of the back and leg injuries that he suffered in an automobile accident during Christmas vacation," said Coach Sheeketski.

According to the coach, Punjab plans to enroll in summer sessions and make up the desired units for eligibility to enroll next fall.

Sheeketski stated that he would have two teams this next football season, offensive and defensive.

The offensive team this year is a much stronger aggregate of men than all of the combined players on last year's lineup," reported the coach. "The defensive team is powerful but is not the caliber of the offensive team."

Lineup Released

Here is the lineup for next year's football team issued by coach Sheeketski:

Centers, first string, West Kilgore; second string, Rollan Melton; third string, John Cowley.

Guards, first string, Bob Martin, Don Morettini; second string, Wesley Ebel, Stuart Keller.

Tackles, first string, Bill Afflis, John Gonda; second string, Wayne Chapman, Ronn Einstoss.

Fifty-nine make advanced ROTC

Fifty-nine sophomore ROTC students have been chosen by the military department because of their leadership ability, for advanced military training which will begin next September. Fourteen of the students have been tentatively accepted as advanced cadets, but their appointment art not definite and they will be given a two-month trial period in which to prove themselves acceptable.

These men, Lt. Col. James A. Smee pointed out, have been selected by the department because they have leadership ability. Smee, head of the military department, said they were selected not only by evaluation of their grades in the first two years of ROTC, but by their overall grades while in college and upon recommendation of the deans of their respective colleges.

Some of those who will be given the two-month trial period will be given the chance to improve their overall grades. It is believed, however, that all of the men have definite leadership ability which will be brought out by the military courses.

The men underwent physical examinations Wednesday and Thursday nights. Their applications and records must be approved by the headquarters of the Sixth Army.

It is doubtful that all 59 men will be accepted since some may not pass their physical exams and others may not return to school, the number of men taking advanced military courses next year will be 111.

Advanced military students are awarded commissions as second lieutenants in the reserve corps upon being graduated and are given an opportunity to try for regular army commissions.

Frosh to plaster "N" on Peavine

The N will get its annual spring coat of whitewash on May 26, according to Burt Larkins, acting president of the Block N Association.

All freshman men and women are required to make this spring trip up Peavine mountain for the whitewashing. They will meet in front of the ASUN building at 9 a.m. Saturday morning.

Excuses for not attending should be given to Burt Larkins, who is in charge of the painting.

Spring pinnings--coeds a-twitter

Spring announced itself last Monday night with numerous engagements and pinnings being announced on sorority row.

Mary Street, Pi Beta Phi, passed candy to announce her pinning to Don Raker, Theta Chi.

Jane Kernan, Tri-Delt, announced her engagement to Paul Vietto, former student at the university, who was affiliated with Alpha Tau Omega.

Margaret Sewell passed candy April 17 at the Tri-Delt house to announce her pinning to Raymond Dohr, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Marlene Berman announced her pinning to Wade Porter, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Julia Connelly, Tri-Delt, announced her engagement to Jack Lawrence, who lives in San Francisco, California.

YWCA presents opera and ballet

The campus YWCA will present an evening of opera and ballet Thursday, May 24, at eight o'clock in the education auditorium.

Marjorie Dickinson and Joseph Battaglia will perform the first act of "La Boheme" by Puccini.

Also appearing on the program will be the Reno Ballet School under the direction of Rene Jean deBray. They will perform "Bachanale Basque," "Harlequinade," "Les Etudes," by Chopin, and many short-selections.

The program is being presented as a benefit for the YWCA's project of sponsoring a Latvian displaced person, Vija Bergs, at the University of Nevada. Admission will be free and a collection will be taken after the performance.

Violins made of metal may soon be on the market, according to a trade paper item. Suitable, no doubt, for the play of Tin Pan Alley tunes.

Five societies elect officers

Five clubs on campus chose their leaders for the coming year during the last few weeks. Organizations which held their elections were Fine Arts club, Manzanita Hall Association, Chi Delta Phi, women's honorary English sorority, Artemisia Hall Association, and Lambda Delta Sigma, organization of Mormon university students.

Fine Arts

Lura Ward, Tri-Delt sophomore, is the newly elected president of Fine Arts club. Other officers chosen at elections held April 30 were Jennie Gibson, vice president; Nancy West, secretary; Beverly Poe, treasurer; Marie Nielsen, publicity; and Mae Gregory, program chairman.

At the same meeting that elections were held, nine new members were initiated into the group. Those initiated were Deane Cafferata, Jennie Gibson, Barbara Kemp, Marie Nielsen, Carol Normandy, Bev Poe, Janie Thomas, Lura Ward and Nancy West.

Manzanita Hall

Residents of Manzanita Hall elected officers for the coming year last week. The new officers include Mary Getto, president; Martha Oviatt, vice president; and Phyllis Carpenter, secretary-treasurer.

Lambda Delta Sigma

Members of Lambda Delta Sigma, organization of Mormon students on campus, chose their new officers last week. Elected as officers of the men's group were Stanley Schank, president; Murray Harper, vice president; and Jack Peterson, secretary-treasurer. Officers of the women's group are Shirley Kershner, president; Barbara Carruth, vice president; and Marilyn Mills, secretary-treasurer.

Chi Delta Phi

Mona Perry, Tri-Delt junior, was elected president of Chi Delta Phi, honorary women's English sorority, on May 2. Other officers were Berlien McCrae, vice president; Ruth Moore, secretary; and Lelia Rowson, treasurer.

Artemisia Hall

At elections held May 2, Artemisia Hall residents chose Evelyn Rhodhamel as president of the coming year. As vice president the women elected Roberta Jean Cummins, and Edith Currie as secretary-treasurer.

Hi school prexies meet on campus

A convention of Nevada high school student body presidents is being held on the campus. The convention started Thursday and will end tomorrow evening with dinner in the Sky Room of the Hotel Mapes.

The convention is being held so that the high school presidents can get together and discuss their mutual problems. One of the highlights of the program was a talk given today by Lt. Col. James C. Smee, professor of military science and tactics, "Elements of Leadership."

The men delegates are being housed at the various fraternity houses on the campus. Women delegates are being housed at Manzanita Hall. They will eat at the different fraternity and sorority houses on the hill.

Kappa Alpha Theta's candidate for Miss Reno is Mary Jane Zunino. Miss Zunino is majoring in education, and is a freshman. For the talent contest she will play the piano. Statistics: 5 foot 3 inches, 19 years old, 115 pounds, brown hair and brown eyes.

Hi school track meet tomorrow

The top high school talent from throughout the state will emerge in Mackay Stadium tomorrow, when the annual state high school meet gets underway (weather permitting, of course). The preliminary heats in the dashes and hurdles will be held in the morning beginning at 10 a.m., while the main event will go on at 1 p.m.

This year's meet as in the past will be under the supervision of the Block N Society, with Burt Larkins and Paul Stimac the official heads of the meet.

Carson City high school, winners of the Western Conference meet last week, will be the favorites this year, by virtue of the fact they have two of the top performers of the state in Bob Quilan, 440, who may set a new state record in that event (he broke the existing record last week when he ran the oval in 51.7) and Ed Walker, an all-around boy who throws the discus and shot, high jumps, and runs the high hurdles.

Last year's champion, Boulder City, will more or less have a one man squad in Joe Kine, a lad who runs the 100, 440, 220 and broad jumps. The hopes of Boulder City to make it three in a row rests on his performances.

The 100 yard dash should prove an interesting affair, with Reno's Ron Engle and Joe Kine the favorites.

White Pine and Winnemucca will represent the eastern part of the state, while Las Vegas along with Boulder City will represent the southern zone. Las Vegas' star is their captain, Dick Wells, a hurdler and high jumper.

It has been said World War II will start when Joe Stalin criticizes Margaret's voice.

Senior banquet plans announced

Plans for the annual senior class banquet have been announced by Tom Gaffey, senior class manager. The banquet is to be held at the Trocadero, Saturday, June 2.

Tickets for the banquet will be on sale at the YWCA from eight to twelve Monday through Friday. The price of the tickets is $2.20.

If senior class announcements have arrived, they will be given out when the tickets are sold, according to Gaffey.

Members of the committee responsible for planning the banquet are: Gloria Eddy, Ray Alzola and Rose Oyarbide.
