

LET'S LOOK AGAIN

The ASUN senate, in taking up the matter of Homecoming and the tentatively scheduled Alumni-Student football game, has turned up some of the pitfalls in such a match that were no more than vaguely touched upon in the preliminary planning.

For one thing, the alumni team presents a pretty formidable front to a group of fellows that have had little or no football experience. Three or four of the alums have taken cuts at pro ball. Almost to a man they have had rugged collegiate gridiron training. And, to top it off, they have an estimated team average of 220 pounds.

Of course, some of the students now out for inter-class ball held key positions on last year's Pack, but the majority are new at the game or, at best, have had only a high school introduction to the sport. With only a few weeks left until Homecoming, these fellows would have a rough time getting into good physical shape—or even learning the fundamentals of the game.

The Senate felt, and wisely so, that the prospects of a game with men of the calibre of the alumni eleven in such a short time might hinder the present program of interclass football by discouraging the turnout.

In addition, the Senate reasoned that, without adequate time to prepare, an aggregation of inter-class players would not be able to put on a first rate game against the alums. If this were the case, the proposed game would hurt rather than help the Homecoming celebration.

On the other hand, the Alumni could pick up those students with grid experience and put up a top notch battle with a service team that would be on a par with their ability. Such a game would be more of a drawing card than a possible mismatch.

Later in the year, perhaps around Thanksgiving when the interclass players have had more time to show their stuff, the Alumni could come back to give the newcomers a crack at them.

And, as a kickoff to the interclass program and a boost to the Homecoming celebration, it might be a fine idea to hold the first intramural game on Homecoming Friday. Possibly classes could be dismissed (they used to be in the past) so that the student body could attend the Friday meet en masse. Such a plan would also give the harassed undergrads a few free hours to prepare for what should be the most gala weekend in the university year.

Frats Pledge 85; Sigma Nu Leads Membership Race

A total of 85 pledges from five active campus fraternities have been filed so far with the university, according to the latest information from the office of the Dean of Men.

To date, Sigma Nu, with 27 pledges, leads in the number of prospective fraternity members. S. A. E. follows close behind with 23, while Alpha Tau Omega sponsors 18, Theta Chi 16, and Phi Sigma Kappa 1.

Names of the men who have signed pledges filed with dean of men are:

Sororities Finish Rush Activities

Nevada sororities played host to 85 prospective pledges this week during the formal rushing program traditionally held in the fall semester.

Rush week is held in order for the new women and the sorority women to get acquainted, thus allowing sorority members to choose their new pledges.

A new system of rushing was initiated this year. Silence, formerly observed between sorority women and freshmen women, was still observed off campus, but conversation was allowed on campus. Sorority jewelry of any kind was forbidden this year.

"Rushing this year was very smoothly handled," commented Dean Elaine Mobley, dean of women.

"I feel that the workshop last spring, and the meeting held with both active and rushees this fall has improved the whole Pan-Hellenic spirit of 1951," Dean Mobley added.

Rushing ends tonight, with the final parties, and pledging held by all four sororities. If the pledges make a 2.2 grade point average for this semester, they will be initiated this coming spring semester.

Queen Candidates

Selection of candidates for a sweetheart to reign over Homecoming celebration will get under way on Monday, October 15, according to Ruth Eachus, chairman of the Homecoming Sweetheart committee.

At that time the sororities and various women's campus organizations will indicate their choice of a representative from their groups. Final choice will be made in a school-wide election the following Wednesday, October 18.

Phi Sigma Kappa—Alfred Conti.

Names of women signed up with the various sororities are not yet available, pending completion of the rush week programs.

Plans For Student Union Near Reality

The new Associated Students of University of Nevada building is no longer in the dream stage. It is now a reality.

According to Len Savage, chairman of the student union committee, the committee will start gathering facts and vital information from other colleges concerning the cost, location, facilities of the building and other such points that they think are important in the construction of the building. Savage said that it might be possible to start work on the building next year, if the state legislature would match $250,000, which will be given to the university by an anonymous donor.

Preliminary plans for the building have already been completed by the architects.

A new building has long been discussed but the legislature has been unable to award sufficient funds for the project.

The committee consists of six members, appointed by the nominating committee of the student senate. Len Savage acting as chairman has a five person committee: Ted Covington, Sue Heyman, Marilyn Humphreys, Vince Reagor, Diane Fairfield and Frank Marfisi. If the members miss two meetings without proper excuses they will be dropped from the committee, Savage stated.

Savage said that before any work was started on the building the students would be questioned as to what facilities they would like, and what location would be preferred.

MAX DODGE, former University of Nevada gridiron luminary, is sized up by pert Mary Ann Burke as Bob Corley and Scott Beasley look on Corley and Beasley, who were also stellar performers on past Wolf Pack elevens, are now training again for spots on the Alumni football team. Initially the Alums were to play students as a Homecoming attraction but recent ASUN senate discussions may alter plans. The Senate feel interclass teams may not be prepared for such a tilt until later in the semester, and suggested an Alumni-Service team match in its stead. (Sagebrush photo)

"Hello On Hill" Week To Kick Off Monday

"Hello on the Hill Week" gets off to a start Monday with the student assembly at 11:20 and the sale of blue and white identification cards.

Designed to promote more friendships on the campus, the event will close Friday evening with a dance at the old gym. This is the fourth "Hello Week" held on the campus.

Name cards will be sold starting Monday by "Hello" chairman Jim Lee. The cards bear the inscription, "My name is..... What is yours?"

The student assembly Monday will feature both the school band and a jazz orchestra. Campus talent will provide added entertainment. Chairman Lee will outline the student events coming up during the week.

"Hello Week" was started four years ago and has now become a welcome tradition to university life. One tradition states that anyone meeting another while crossing the tram over Manzanita lake should say "hello."

The words to the "Hello on the Hill" song which will be sung at the assembly Monday appear on page four.

PLENTY OF ROOM

Housing Shortage No Longer Exists For UN Students

Nevada's post-war housing shortage is nearing an end this year as the supply is catching up with the demand, according to university officials.

The women's dormitories are at present operating at a below capacity level with Manzanita Hall listing 48 residents and Artemesia Hall 77, according to the Dean of Women's office.

Dean of Men Robert Griffin announced that the veterans dormitories will not be opened this fall as other facilities are sufficient to handle the university men. Lincoln Hall is operating at its normal capacity, 81 men, while Hartman Hall has 56 residents with several vacancies still remaining.

Victory Heights, the university housing project for married students, has a few vacancies. However, these have been tentatively committed to students planning to get married in the next few weeks. The waiting list, handled by Dean Griffin, was considerably diminished by the drop in enrollment this fall.

Senior Engineers Eligible For Jobs In Civil Service

Engineering students who will have a bachelor's degree within six months or who have four years of technical engineering experience are eligible to fill positions with the U. S. Civil Service Commission, according to an announcement from that office.

Positions in all branches of engineering are open, with salaries ranging from $3100 to $10,000 a year. The available jobs are located in Washington, D. C., and vicinity. Sanitary engineer positions with the public health service located throughout the country are also open.

Students must be within six months of qualifying for the minimum requirements in order to apply for the $3100 positions, with the maximum age limit being 35. For the higher grades, additional experience or graduate work is needed, and there is no maximum age limit.

Further information and application forms may be obtained at the post office.

Two New Teachers On Physical Ed. Staff

The Women's Physical Education Department has announced two teachers on the staff. They are Miss Mary Rulifson, who will handle the individual sports and be advisor of the W. R. A. and Panwallis, and Miss Jean McIntosh. Miss McIntosh will be the faculty advisor to the dance club, Orchestis, and will probably teach dance.

Miss Rulifson did undergraduate work at Hamlin university in St. Paul, Minnesota. She has taught two years at Roseberg, Oregon, and two years at Gallup, New Mexico. She is now working for her Master's degree in psychology.

Miss McIntosh did undergraduate work at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, and has been teaching for the last three years in the high school in Cedar City, Utah. She is working for her Master's degree in dance at Columbia university.

Higginbotham ASJA President

Prof. A. L. Higginbotham, chairman of the University of Nevada journalism department, was recently elected president of the American Society of Journalism Administrators at a national convention held at the University of Illinois.

As president of the organization, Higginbotham assumes membership on the Executive Committee of the Association for Education in Journalism, which is the organization for teachers.

Professor Higginbotham was the organization's first secretary and served in that capacity four years. He is a charter member.

He will begin his executive duties January 1, 1952.

Fellowships Open South of Border

Nineteen fellowships for graduate and undergraduate study in Mexico are being offered to students from the United States by the Mexican government. According to Mr. Kenneth Holland, president of the Institute of International Education, these grants are offered as a gesture of good will toward the United States.

Fields in which awards are available during the academic year beginning February, 1952, include, for undergraduates: physical anthropology, archeology, ethnology, Mexican history, architecture, philosophy and letters; for graduates: physical anthropology, archaeology, ethnology, Mexican history, mu-seography, painting, biological sciences, pediatrics, tropical medicine and cardiology.

Included in the grants are tuition plus a monthly living allowance, and, in a few cases, round-trip air travel between the Texas border and Mexico City.

Students interested in any of the fellowships and having United States citizenship, a knowledge of Spanish, a good academic record, good health, and knowledge of the culture of the United States, should apply not later than October 15, 1951, to the Institute of International Education, 2 West 45th St., New York.

UN Traffic Laws To Be Enforced More Rigorously

Strict enforcement of traffic regulations will begin on Monday, October 1st, according to Carl Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds of the university.

Traffic regulations must be carefully observed if all those entitled to use the streets, parking spaces and other facilities for movement about the campus are to enjoy a fair share of the usage to which they are entitled.

A new campus policeman, Mr. Ray Williams, has been warning students, staff and faculty members of violations, negligences and willful disobediences of the regulations. Beginning Monday, Oct. 1, citations will be issued which will carry stiff penalties for those who choose to ignore the rights of others.

Mr. Horn and Mr. Williams hope that it will not be necessary to use progressively severe penalties to get cooperation on the regulations. The regulations are similar to those of the past year. They state that they will be extremely grateful to those who cooperate willingly with them in their efforts to make the facilities available equally to all who must use them.

The new stickers are available at the office in the basement of Morrill hall to the right of the entrance to the post office and must be on all cars by Monday.

Fines are scheduled at $1.00 for the first offense, $3.00 for the second, and $5.00 for the third. Ten days grace only will be allowed for the payment of the assessed fines. Failure to comply with the requirements will result in more drastic measures than have been enforced in the past.

Mr. Horn warns that these regulations apply to all students as well as to all faculty and staff members, and will be enforced wherever it is necessary.

Students are especially warned

Colonel Loewus Takes New Post As ROTC Head

Lieutenant Colonel James D. Loewus, who was recently appointed professor of military science and tactics in the military department, replaces Lieutenant Colonel James E. Smee. Colonel Smee, who was reassigned to overseas duty, is presently stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., on temporary duty, attending an intensified refresher course designed to acquaint combat officers with the latest developments in weapons and tactics.

The new ROTC head is not yet ready to announce any changes that he might be contemplating in the military department.

Colonel Loewus is a native of Minnesota, having graduated from the United States Military Academy at West Point with the class of 1940.

During the last eleven years of service he was on active duty in the southwest Pacific with the 11th Airborne division.

After his return to the United States he instructed at the Infantry School at Fort Benning. He was later transferred to Italy. There he served as a member of the Special Attache's office for three years.

He holds the Silver Star decoration and the Purple Heart with palm cluster.

Two other military department instructors have also left the university. Master Sergeant Sherman Jones was transferred overseas, and Master Sergeant John Elliot was retired this summer. As replacement, Master Sergeant Edward McFeaters has been assigned to the university ROTC.

There are more than half a million acres under cultivation in New Mexico.

Male Enrollment Drops This Year

For every woman student there are 1.88 men on the University of Nevada campus. Seven hundred fifty-six men and 405 women students have been enrolled as of September 24, 1951, according to the president's office.

Registration, however, does not officially close until Sept. 29. As there are students who have not as yet completed registration, a definite total cannot be determined.

Fifteen more students have registered since the figures were compiled, but no breakdown as to whether they are men or women. This brings the present total enrollment up to 1176.

The last unofficial figures on the number of veterans attending the university for the fall semester of 1951 is 232. This figure includes five women students.

The figure of 1,176 is in contrast to last year's enrollment figure of 1,387. Out of this there were 930 men and 447 women. This is a ratio of 2.11 men to every woman on campus.

The 1951 figure is somewhat above the estimates of Mr. Clarence Byrd, director of admissions. It was thought that there would be approximately 1000 students enrolled. The obvious drop in enrollment from 1950 to 1951 may be due as much to the inflation of our economic system as to the war and draft, and the fact that good paying jobs are available to young men and women who might otherwise be students, according to

Some of the different departments show an increase of enrollment. The college of engineering has 156 students this year as compared with 152 last year: the college of agriculture shows a drop—from 94 to 92 students. The Mackay School of Mines dropped from 167 to 66 students. The college of arts and science this year has 862 students enrolled.

No Delay Seen In GI Checks To Vet Students

Subsistence checks will be in the hands of all veterans attending the University of Nevada under Public Law No. 346 not later than Thursday, November 1, 1951. This information, issued by the Reno office of the Veterans Administration, refutes the rumor started last week by a radio network newscaster that Los Angeles area veterans may not receive their first checks until after Christmas.

According to the local office of the Veterans Administration, students attending school under Public Law No. 16 should receive their first subsistence checks and their regular compensation checks on October 1.

Letter To Editor

Editor, the Sagebrush:

There's one problem existing on the University of Nevada campus that I would like to bring to your attention. That's the problem brought about by the dozens of clubs, organizations, and other groups which meet regularly here.

There just isn't enough nights in a week for all of them to meet without causing a conflict with some other group.

Now don't get me wrong. I'm NOT saying that Nevada is over "clubbified." I'm just pointing out that there is no coordination between groups' activities so that conflicts can be avoided.

Most of the students have different affiliations, but there always seems to be "that" night which is taken up with two or three meetings at the same time. I think much of this could be avoided by setting up a meeting schedule for all A.S.U.N. approved groups.

My idea is something like this: Monday nights for the fraternities and sororities, Tuesday nights for the various religious groups, Wednesday nights for the many school departments' sponsored clubs (such as Math club, Chem club, etc.), and Thursday nights for the remaining organizations.

It's possible that there would be conflicts in my suggestion also, but certainly there would be fewer. More importantly, however, an organized schedule would promote additional inter-club cooperation.

Other colleges and universities have what they call "inter-club committees," composed of representatives of the various campus groups. Such a committee not only helps eliminate meeting conflicts, but provides a central group which can do much towards pushing worthwhile projects.

These are my suggestions. I, for one, am affected by meeting conflicts, and there are many others who have the same problem. If something can be done about it, a lot more will be accomplished by the respective groups.

Very truly yours,
BOB PETRINI.

HELP WANTED

Would you like to take an active part in making your college annual and newspaper the best yet—have a chance to become the next editor or business manager of the Artemesia or Sagebrush—perhaps make a little extra money as well? The two student publications, through positions on the editorial and business staff, offer opportunities to students who would like to do themselves, and the university, a service.

The first joint staff meeting of the Sagebrush and Artemesia will be held Wednesday, October 3, in the Artemesia office on the second floor of the ASUN building, at 4 p.m. Editors and business managers of the Artemesia and Sagebrush will be on hand to talk to interested students about possibilities for joining the staffs.

Experience in the editorial or business field will not be stressed as highly as interest and willingness.

For further information before the meeting, students may contact Walt Mackenzie at 2-8803 or Frank Johnson at 5078.

SAE Sponsoring All School Dance

The All School dance, sponsored by Sigma Alpha Epsilon, will take place Saturday evening. The dance will be held in the open on the tennis courts adjacent to the SAE house. It will begin at 8:00.

Joe Moose, social chairman, has extended an invitation to all members of the student body to attend. There will be no admission charge.

When on your way to classes,
Don't think you've got friends to burn.

But there's more than one lesson to learn.

Students Urged To Play Football

J. E. "Doc" Martie, men's P. E. director, wants as many men as possible out for the new inter-class football program. This is now taking shape as a well coordinated plan. Everyone interested in playing will get a chance and can obtain further information from the P. E. department. Freshmen and sophomore students can substitute this for their P. E. requirement.

Everyone out for the sport will work out together for the first six weeks and after that they will be split into class groups in order to form a league. Each class will choose their own system and there will not be the pressure there is in the big-time.

Classes will be held four afternoons a week for one hour. Classes in football theory will aid the instructors from the athletic department.

Interfrat Softball Changes Playoffs

Interfraternity softball has been changed from a round robin affair to a double elimination tournament this year in order to give those men who wish to play interclass football a chance to participate without hurting their fraternity teams.

This tournament will speed up the softball competition. The old system of round robin play consumed a month's time but with the new set up softball will be over by October 6th.

Pairings for the first round of play which began Wednesday were as follows: Sigma Nu vs. Sigma Rho Delta, Lambda Chi and Theta Chi, Alpha Tau Omega against the organized Independents and S. A. E. vs. Phi Sigs. The winners of these contests will play each other and the losers will battle among themselves until a winner of the upper and lower division in the tourney has been decided. The winners will contest for the championship.

Pack Tracks

By DAVE MATHIS

The title of this column may seem a little inappropriate since the Pack will leave nary a track this year. That is not until basketball season rolls around. In a sense the tread of the wolf tribe will be felt through the interclass football competition which will be inaugurated this fall on campus. While this tread will not replace the tracks made by the Pack against St. Mary's, USF and Loyola, those traditional football rivals, it will keep the football spirit alive on campus.

Beside the fact that an interest in football will be maintained through interclass ball it will also tend to promote class spirit. Generally the tendency, lately, has been toward fraternal spirit; that is to say the Taus, etc., have their own spirit which is apart from the school. One of the objects, then, of interclass rivalry will be to foster a class 'oneism' which will in turn promote school spirit. This program which is being set up for competition among the classes promises to be great fun if the students of the university will push it. Not only should the male student who can spare the time turn out, but the student body as a whole should be on hand to cheer their respective classes to victory.

In following the Pack tracks we find that some of the varsity grid-ders from last year's squad have taken residence in other climes where football is still alive on an intercollegiate basis.

Tom Massey and George Graham will be working in the backfield of Florida State University at Tallahassee this fall while Lee Schroeder will not be far away when he dons the uniform of Kentucky U.

Bradley University's football team will be bolstered this year by the fine punting and passing of Pat Brady and the swift running of Dick Nightingale.

Brawny Bill Afflis migrated from Nevada to a guard's position on the Green Bay Packers professional football team. Texas claims two ex-Nevada gridders when Andy Kalminer and Bob Martin enrolled at Trinity college in San Antonio.

Frosh Candidates Must Sign Up Soon

Deadline for candidates for the office of Freshman Class Manager and associate Block N representative will be Monday, October 8, at 6 p.m.

The associate Block N representative is a new idea primarily to educate the candidate in the operations of the board of athletic control. Each year a new associate will be elected as the former one takes over the position as Block N representative.

The six dollars of the ASUN fee usually earmarked for athletics will now be put in a separate fund under the board of athletic control. The fund will be used to promote and foster intra-mural sports and to encourage student participation.

Rifle Club Meet

A meeting of the Rifle Club will take place at the indoor rifle range Tuesday, Oct. 2, at 4 p.m., according to an announcement by Sergeant Caesar Brunetti of the military department.

The purpose of the meeting is to decide upon a schedule for rifle practice for the coming fall semester.

Considering the large number of screwballs at large these days, we can only conclude that the booby-hatches have greatly stiffened their entrance requirements.

Freshman Dinks To Arrive Soon

Although a hitch developed when the University Bookstore failed to deliver freshmen dinks in time for the opening of the fall semester, freshmen are cautioned that the traditional customs of the University of Nevada campus will be rigorously enforced as soon as the headgear in question becomes available.

The dinks are on the way, according to Bob Ramsey, chairman of the Men's Upper Class Committee which met last Thursday to discuss ways and means of combating freshmen indiscretions.

Incoming freshmen are further cautioned that being caught on the campus without an official A. S. U. N. Frosh Handbook during daylight hours is another besetting sin against Nevada traditions.

Still another "crime" is the wearing of corduroy or moleskin trousers. Custom decrees that only men who have attended a recognized institution of higher learning for at least four semesters are entitled to array themselves in such garments.

While male frosh wear dinks for a stipulated period of time, women neophytes are usually required to sport a regulation silver and blue hair ribbon during their entire first semester.

Women violators are dealt with by the Women's Upper Class Committee. The penalties imposed by the two committees take a variety of forms and, in the extreme cases of continued violation, may result in the suspension of student body privileges.

It is expected that vigilantes will be on the job in the near future to impress upon delinquent freshmen the errors of their ways.

Sagebrush Invites Letter Writers

In line with its belief that editorial columns should be open to the student body at large, the Sagebrush is again opening its 'Letters to the Editor' department for those who would like to make suggestions or complaints, or who would just like to 'get something off their chest.'

As an added inducement to letter writers this year, Len Savage, campus representative of Chesterfield cigarettes, has offered a free carton of smokes each week to the letter judged best by the Sagebrush editors.

SAE's Trounce Phi Sigs 26-7

The SAE's yesterday soundly thumped the Phi Sigs 26-7 on Clark Field. The boys from the park showed strength in all departments, and established themselves as definite contenders. The individual star of the game was SAE pitcher Dick Nanini.

Nanini's battery mate was Bill Mayer, and the rest of the line up was as follows: Hunter, first base; Wyness, second; John Sandorf, third; Ed Hancock, short; outfielders were Etcheto, Bell and Hardister.

Agency Handles Jobs Available

Interviews for part-time employment will be held on the campus by representatives of the Nevada state employment service Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 3 and 4, it was announced this week by Dr. Robert S. Griffin, dean of men and Miss Elaine Mobley, dean of women.

Between the hours of 1:00 p.m. and 4:00 p.m., two representatives of the employment service will be stationed at the student lounge in the Y. W. C. A. in Stewart Hall. Miss Janice Young and Mr. Frank

Naef will represent the service. Since this will be on the only opportunity for on-the-campus interviews, Dean Griffin has especially urged students who desire part-time positions to take full advantage of this free service. The interviews will determine the individual's work background, his educational training, and his time available to work. Mr. Art Lucas, district supervisor of the Reno branch of the employment service stated that a separate file will be kept for students, and wherever possible jobs will be furnished according to vocational interests. The general type of employment to be expected falls mainly in the restaurant, hotel and store categories, with some possibilities for factory employment. What may develop into an excellent source of employment is the construction of the Nevada Air Products Corporation in the northeastern part of town.

How to tax ourselves into a gasoline shortage

1. If this country continues to grow in the next 10 years as it has since 1940, the American people are going to require 6 gallons of petroleum products in 1960 for every 5 gallons they use today.

	1950	+23%	1960
Gasoline	40%		46%	Gasoline
Stove oil	14%		15%	Stove oil
Diesel				Diesel
Fuel oil	34%		26%	Fuel oil
Asphalts				Asphalts
Lube oils, etc.	12%		13%	Lube oils, etc.

WEST COAST PETROLEUM PRODUCTS REQUIREMENTS

2. In addition to this 23% increase in the amount of petroleum products, the people in Union Oil's marketing territory will need a different proportion of petroleum products in 1960 — principally less fuel oil and more gasoline. That means Union Oil is going to have to build additional refining facilities.

3. With our present facilities, we can't get a 46% yield of gasoline from each barrel of crude we process (see chart). If we were forced to process enough crude today to meet the public's 1960 need for gasoline, we'd have a tremendous surplus of fuel oil.

4. The reason for this is that you can't turn the products of a refinery on and off with a spigot. For every barrel of gasoline you make with a given set of facilities, you get a certain amount of fuel oil and other products along with it.

5. Consequently, we have laid out a $60,000,000 refinery improvement program that will increase our yield of gasoline to a point where it will meet your 1960 requirements. Construction on the first stage began in March. Hopefully, we'll have the new facilities completed by 1955. But whether we can or not depends on how much money we can retain after paying taxes.

6. Traditionally, about 80% of our American oil companies' expansion has been financed out of profits. As long as corporation taxes don't get completely confiscatory this expansion can continue. But if we tax away substantially all profits it will have to stop. That's why we say it is literally possible for this country to tax itself into a gasoline shortage.

Scholarships Open To UN Students For Study Abroad

Applications for scholarships for study abroad are again open to upper classmen. Both the Rhodes scholarships for study at Oxford University and the Fulbright scholarships for study in any foreign university are available to Nevada students.

From applicants throughout the United States 32 students will be selected to study in England under the terms of the Rhodes Scholarships. Fulbright scholarships to be awarded this year will total 1800. Nevada is assured of at least two awards.

Eligibility for the Fulbright scholarships is limited to seniors and graduate students. Those who are accepted will be chosen primarily on their qualifications both as well-rounded students and as representatives of this country.

Transportation, living expenses, and incidental expenses are provided for the student by the state department. The cash value of the award is about $1400 depending on the foreign university attended. The winners of the scholarships will be given their choice of countries or areas in which they wish to study.

Deadline for applications is Oct. 15. Students interested should contact Dr. William Miller of the English department.

Applicants for the Rhodes scholarships will be selected on the basis of moral character, scholastic ability, and physical vigor. The student must also be under 25, unmarried, and have at least junior standing.

Cash value of this scholarship is 500 pounds (equivalent to $1400). The scholarship will be awarded for a period of two years, unless further study is approved.

Dr. William Loring of the chemistry department is handling applications for the Rhodes scholarships. All applications must be submitted by Nov. 3.

"Ice Breaker" Most Successful In Recent Years

Friday night's "Ice Breaker" dance at the Old Gym proved a highly successful inaugural to the new semester's social calendar, according to Len Savage, chairman of the entertainment committee. Paid attendance was 195, including 49 couples. A number of 'stags,' however, entered after the close of ticket sales to swell the unofficial total still further. With the crowd increasing steadily after the nine o'clock start, the affair was reported to have been one of the most successful early season events in recent years.

Sponsored jointly by the men of the Blue Key and the Sagens, the dance had as its theme the welcoming of new students to the campus. Music was provided by the Nello Confiantini Four, with refreshments handled by Earl Dempsey.

Presidents who will guide their organizations through campus service activities during the current semester are Verlita Johnson of the Sagens and Dave Collins of the Blue Key.

Offer Free Trip For Best Review

A grand prize of an all-expense trip to New York or Hollywood and cash prizes totaling $300 will be awarded to the students who write the best reviews of the recent movie, "A Place in the Sun," according to the publicity department of Paramount studios.

The only qualifications for the prizes are that the review be published in a regular issue of the college paper. Prizes consisting of an electric typewriter, a Graflex camera and an unabridged dictionary will be given to the student papers publishing the winning reviews.

Those interested in entering the contest should contact the editor of the Sagebrush. A special advance showing may be put on for the contestants.

Another bit of evidence that people are highly unreliable: a defeated candidate declares that more people asked him to run for office than voted for him.

Engineers Plan Meeting Series For Coming Year

Five meetings have been announced by the engineers from the many activities planned for the coming year. The American Society of Civil Engineers will meet October 10, in the engineering building. vice president; David Naylor, secretary; Bob Ramsey, treasurer; and Dean Stanley Palmer, advisor and dean of the College of Engineering.

The American Institute of Electrical Engineers under the direction of Bruce Belnap, student director; Hassel De Pree, assistant director; Floyd Yates, program chairman; and Professor Harold Hendriks, advisor; plan a beginning get-together picnic at Geiger Grade. On October 17, Mr. H. J. Soubielle, from the Sylvania Electric Company, will give a public talk on "Illuminating Engineering." In November, Mr. Beichley from the Westinghouse Corporation will speak about diesel electric locomotives.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers have as their officers Professor E. Everett Harris, honorary chairman; Tom Carlson, chairman; Art Wigg, co-chairman; Lee Hansen, secretary; Charles Lambrooke, treasurer. Professor Howard Blodgett will be the speaker at their meeting on Oct. 3. His talk on bridges will be supplemented by colored slides. The M. E. seniors are tentatively planning a field trip to the San Francisco Bay region next spring.

After all the tests...

This classy campus caper-cutter got his snootful of cute cigarette tests. It didn't take him long to dig out the fact that cigarette mildness can't be determined by a mere single puff or quick-sniff experiment! Millions of smokers, on and off the campus, have discovered there's only one true test of cigarette mildness.

IT'S THE SENSIBLE TEST... the 30-day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke — on a day-after-day basis. No snap judgments. Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

Committee Slates Celebration For October 25 Through 28

Tentative plans for the 1951 Homecoming have been completed and promise a well-rounded celebration. The affair will get underway on Thursday, October 25, with the annual Phi Sig street dance, according to Lou Eccles, Homecoming chairman.

The Wolves Frolic, under the direction of Dr. William Miller, will be held Friday night. The familiar bonfire and Pajamboree have been dropped this year because of the lack of student interest in the affair in recent years.

Saturday will see the Homecoming Parade wind its way through downtown Reno in the morning. The floats this year will be judged mainly on originality.

In the afternoon the Homecoming game will be played at Mackay Stadium. A team composed of Alumni may meet a student team which should attract much interest on campus and throughout the state.

As a new innovation, the annual cross-country race from Sparks high school to Mackay Stadium will be timed so that the finish will occur during halftime of the football game. The celebration will wind up with the president's annual open house in the afternoon followed by the Homecoming dance in the evening.

Members of the Homecoming sub-committees include: dance, Joan Foster, Ray Hunter, Joanne Menu and Jeanne Wilton; sweetheart, Ruth Eachus and Jack Keen; street dance, Earl Dempsey; parade, Norman Minola and Knight Beauchamp; publicity, Myron Leavitt and Bill Macdonald; awards, Vince Reagor and Red Espin; cross country, Mary Byars; representative to alumni, Proc Hug; and secretaries, Carol Oldham and Connie Lee.

Chairman Eccles stressed the need for greater cooperation by the alumni and students in order to help make this year's Homecoming an outstanding success.

New Alumni Club To Hold Meeting

Washoe county alumni will be initiated as charter members of the newly organized Washoe county chapter of the alumni association of the University of Nevada at a buffet supper to be held at Lawton Hot Springs on Saturday, September 29th at 7 p.m.

The university alumni association in a recent announcement said that a strong alumni association is essential to a strong university. Also a strong Washoe county chapter will help insure both. The association urges all alumni of Washoe county to attend.

A buffet supper is planned at $1.50 per person. A film of the Los Angeles Rams football team in "Highlights of 1950" will be shown. There will be a minimum speeches.

Brushfire Staff To Elect Officers

Editor and staff for the Brushfire, campus literary magazine, will be elected at a meeting on Monday, September 31 at 3 p.m. in room 17 T in the temporary buildings. Persons interested in the publication are encouraged to attend.

Frolic Tryouts Start Tuesday

The 1951 edition of the Wolves Frolic is set for Friday, October 26, at the State Auditorium.

Dr. W. C. Miller of the English department once again is director of the annual Homecoming show. On his staff are Ruth Ryan, of the downtown Ruth Ryan Dance Studio, who is handling the kick-chorus routine, and Earle Hultberg, prominent Reno musician, who is in charge of musical accompaniment. Miss Ryan and Mr. Miller have worked on ten past Wolves Frolic productions.

Tryouts for the kick chorus were originally scheduled for this week, but because of the conflicting sorority rushing program, the auditions have been set for 7:30 a.m., Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in the auditorium of the Education building. Twelve girls and 12 boys are needed in this act. Despite rumors to the contrary, freshman women are eligible to compete for spots in the chorus.

Auditions for specialty acts will be held Monday at 4:00 in the Education building.

Sorority skits are to be resumed this year after a season's discontinuance. Fraternity presentations are once again slated.

Business and stage managers are Jim Hulse and Robert Debold.

Library Exhibits Book Collection

An exhibition of new books is on display in the browsing room of the university library. The collection may be seen between two and five every week day afternoon. The exhibit is sponsored by Peter and Edna Beilenson, owners of the Peter-Pauper Press.

Mr. James Hill, university librarian, said the show is one "every booklover should be interested in."
