Homecoming Dance Rated Excellent; Sagen Flock Adds Prize Presentation Highlights Evening Six Peppy Chicks

"There was a wonderful turnout, and it was perhaps the best Homecoming dance we have ever had," said Joan Foster, chairman of the dance committee.

Presentation of awards and introduction of the queen, Miss Leona Hickey, highlighted the dance held in the Fable Room of the Hotel Mapes.

Trophies for the best fraternity and sorority skits went to Lambda Chi Alpha and Pi Beta Phi, respectively. Gamma Phi Beta was awarded the cup for the best sorority float, and the Lambda Chis scored again by taking the trophy for best fraternity float.

Kappa Alpha Theta and Lambda Chi Alpha were awarded $25 prizes for selling the most tickets on the Buick.

Free Flowers

Ray Hunter, Jean Wilton, Joan Foster, and Joanne Menu of the dance committee decorated the Fable room. The bandstand was adorned with blue and white pom-poms and a banner with the 1951 Homecoming motto, "Black For Fun in '51."

Chrysanthemum corsages were given away at the door to all the women.

The Pi Beta Phi's nearly made a clean sweep of awards when they took the attendance cup along with Phi Sigma Kappa.

Winning Stunts

Pi Beta Phi, in the winning sorority skit, sang a parody recalling the days when Nevada had a football team. Half of the members were dressed in plaid shorts and sweaters, representing the football team, and the other half in plaid skirts and sweaters.

The Lambda Chi's presented as a winning skit a pantomime synchronized with recordings of a number of popular songs.

The winning float of Gamma Phi Beta was a pair of large pink ballet shoes, with the theme "On Your Toes For Homecoming."

Six new members were elected into Sagens, women's honorary pep organization, at their meeting held Wednesday, October 24.

The initiates are Marge Terry, Gamma Phi Beta; Marilyn Humphries, Kappa Alpha Theta; Joanne Rich, Harriett Parke, Joan Pederman, Pi Beta Phi; and Bobbie Jean Cummings, Independent. These girls were chosen for their activity in campus affairs. Maximum membership in this organization is five girls from each sorority house and five girls from Independents.

Women, dressed in white flare-out skirts and ballet shoes, assumed dancing poses on the float.

Lambda Chi's float was winner with the theme "Stick With Us, Grads." The float was in two sections, the first a jet airplane and the second an old-time biplane, both built to scale.

Activity-Filled Homecoming Weekend Leaves Student Body Weak At End

It's all over for another year!

The big dance Saturday night brought to a close a weekend of furious activity that left students exhausted but happy. Nevada undergrads staged a play, put on a parade with bands, floats, a queen, and VIP's, met the alumni in a football game, and considered themselves to be having a good time in general.

Thursday night's Phi Sig street dance had to be cancelled because of rain and cold weather, but other events of the big weekend went according to schedule.

Friday's parade, "was one of the most colorful in the past few years," said parade chairman Norman Minola. It featured the university band, corps of sponsors and ROTC units, bands from Reno and Sparks high schools, 11 fraternity and sorority floats, and several cars full of such dignitaries as Dr. Love, Mayor Smith, Jake Lawlor, Dean Griffin, Dean Mobley, Queen Leona Hickey, chairman Lou Eccles and many others.

Football Game

The traditional football game, played before an estimated crowd of 3,000 in Mackay stadium, was well received by students and alumni alike. Numerous half-time activities, including the frosh-soph tug of war, the cross-country race, and introduction of the queen, kept spectators entertained.

Results of the tug of war are somewhat doubtful because although the sophomores won, they did so with the aid of a man who was later declared ineligible.

Winning the cross-country race was Bill Hutchison of Theta Chi. The winning team, Jake Carpenter, Bob Glaich and Bert Munson, was fielded by Lambda Chi Alpha. After the game, Queen Leona drew the winning ticket for the Buick. The winner, Harold's Club of Reno, turned the car over to the alumni association treasury.

David Goldwater was elected to succeed John Benson as president of the alumni association at the annual alumni dinner dance held at Lawton's Hot Springs.

Trophies Awarded

Awards for outstanding performances during the weekend were presented during the dance in the Fable room of the Hotel Mapes.

Lambda Chi Alpha swept all but one of the fraternity awards. They received trophies for the best skit in the Wolves' Frolic, the best float, the highest ticket sales and the cross-country race. Delta Sigma Phi and Phi Sigma Kappa tied for the best fraternity attendance at the dance.

Pi Beta Phi won the best sorority skit trophy and the attendance cup. Kappa Alpha Theta took the sorority ticket sales award and Gamma Phi Beta was honored for best sorority float.

University To Reimburse Veterans For Fees Charged Them Last Year

The university is going to pay back to veteran students under the G. I. bill a total of $4,658.24, which was charged to them last year for fees in excess of $500.

Veterans Administration officials have ruled that the university cannot charge a veteran more than $500 a year.

Last year approximately 140 veteran students were told that they would have to pay the university for all fees and costs over the $500 limit set by the G. I. bill. Some students elected to pay by having the Veterans Administration deduct an equivalent amount from their eligibility time under the G. I. bill. Other veterans, who had no eligibility time left, had to pay out of their own pockets.

Veterans were charged by the university on a per unit cost basis. The unit cost is determined by the number of students attending classes.

The charge last year was $12 per credit hour. Since the total for many veterans exceeded the $500 limit, they had to pay for the excess.

Files To Be Checked

With the new ruling in effect, Perry Hayden, university comptroller, is looking through the files to determine which students are entitled to the refund. If the original payment was in the form of a loan from the university, the loan will be cancelled and money already repaid will be returned.

Those veterans who paid the excess charges by deducting them from eligibility time will have the eligibility time returned to them. In this case the university will have to reimburse the Veterans Administration.

Since veterans' fees this year are set at a flat $500, a recurrence is not possible.

University To Buy Liability Insurance

Liability insurance to cover the university for damages up to $300,000 will be bought by the university, the board of regents decided at a meeting last week.

Apprehensive of the possibility of injuries to spectators at campus events, the regents voted to purchase a three-year policy from the Travelers Insurance Co. The maximum payments that the policy will allow are $10,000 for one person and $25,000 for two or more for property damage and $100,000 for one person and $300,000 for two or more for public liability.

Covered by the policy will be all students and visitors on university property except employees, who are already insured with the Nevada industrial commission.

Although some possibility exists that the university, as a tax-supported institution, cannot be sued, the regents stressed that no clear-cut ruling has been made.

Even if the university itself were exempt from damage suits, the officials of the university might be subject to lawsuits resulting from injuries to students or visitors.

Engineering Dean Expect New Lead Travels To Boston In Long Search To Attend Meeting For Aggie Dean

Dean Stanley G. Palmer of the College of Engineering has just returned from Boston, where he attended the annual meeting of the National Council of State Boards of Engineering Examiners. The meeting was held October 21 to 24.

Much of the discussion centered about the practical examining of engineers for professional registration.

The National Council is composed of state boards of examiners. Forty-two states were represented at the recent meeting and the purposes of the organization were furthered greatly by the exchange of ideas.

Exam Requirements

Requirements of the written and oral examination of candidates for registration and similar matters of qualifications of professional registrants are among the most important functions of this body. Another is the support of the Engineers Council for professional development, the group which accredits all of the engineering colleges in the United States.

Representatives of this body, which is made up of memberships of all of the national engineering societies, will visit this campus sometime in the near future. They will reinspect and survey the curricula and procedures for continued certification of the College of Engineering on this campus.

The continued approval of the council will give weight to the certification issued to professional engineers by the local board.

Board Member

Dean Palmer is a member of the board of directors of the Engineers Council for Professional Development and Director of the Western Zone which comprises thirteen states and the territory of Alaska.

The next meeting of the National Council for State Boards of Engineering Examiners which is the parent body will be held in September 1952, at Colorado Springs, Colorado. Dean Palmer expects to attend that also.

Three ME Profs To Attend Confab

Three University of Nevada mechanical engineering professors will take an active part in an education symposium conducted by the diesel engine manufacturing association of Chicago.

Professors James Van Dyke, William Van Tasse and Dr. Everett Harris will act as panel members in a discussion of industrial-educational relationships.

The purpose of the meeting is to provide educators with up-to-date information and to bring them into contact with the industry.

New leads for a dean for the University of Nevada college of agriculture are expected by President Malcolm A. Love when he attends the annual meeting of the association of land grant colleges in Houston, Texas, November 12 to 15.

"At present," Dr. Love said in a board of regents meeting Saturday, "we have no candidates for that position. We are seeking a top man, and so far the numerous men inquiring have not been qualified."

It is proving difficult to interest recognized leaders at the $7,500 yearly salary, he admitted, but he expressed confidence that the search will be successful.

Good Opportunity

The agriculture dean will have "unlimited opportunity to build a program" which will compensate somewhat for the modest salary.

The president said the agriculture program is making big strides even now, and he praised the work of Eldon E. Wittwer, director of residence teaching in agriculture and the work of Cecil W. Creel, extension director, and Charles E. Fleming, experiment station director.

Fleming and Creel will accompany Dr. Love to Houston as official representatives of the university to discuss with other school officials the matter of obtaining a dean.

Almost, But Not Quite

Several months ago, the regents decided on a candidate from North Dakota, but he withdrew, reportedly because he received a more attractive offer to remain where he was.

The proposed new agriculture building came up again during the meeting. Construction of the agriculture building still has first priority in the regents plans for improvement, but it was held in abeyance by the last session of the state legislature.

Pre-Med Society Holds Initiation

A formal initiation was held last Wednesday evening by the Nevada chapter of Alpha Epsilon Delta, honorary pre-medical society.

Doug Douglass, Stanley Jones, Carl Herrera and Alice Welch were initiated.

Officers for this year are George MacLean, president; Joe Bugica, vice president; Emi Kito, secretary; Jim Stubbins, treasurer; Barbara Hendrickson, historian; and Bill Harper, Scalpel reporter.

Dr. Frank Richardson and Dr. L. L. Jones act as advisors.

In memory of his wife, Rose Sigler Mathews, Mr. Isaac R. Mathews of Reno established a scholarship fund of $10,200.

University Salutes Maj. Fleischmann At Burial Service

Major Max C. Fleischmann's request for cremation and burial in Nevada soil was granted Monday afternoon.

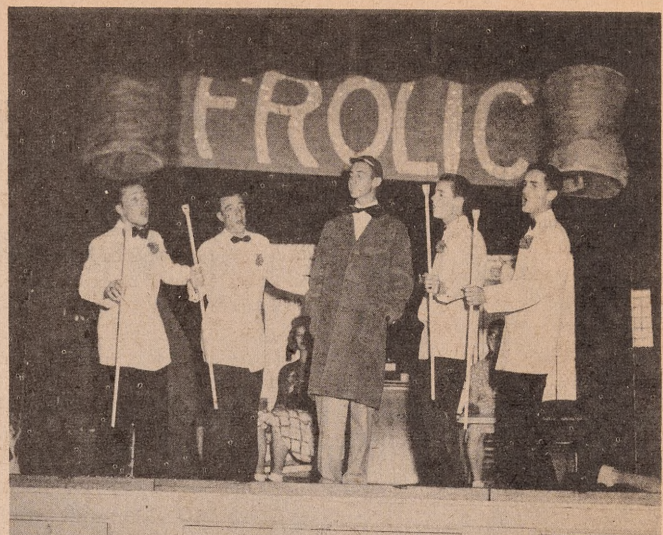

The Pershing rifle unit from the University of Nevada's ROTC gave final military honors to one of Nevada's greatest benefactors.

Governor Charles Russell, Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm A. Love, Jim Eliades and other friends and officials represented the state, university and student body at the final rites.

Simple committal services were read by the Rev. John T. Ledger, clergyman at the Trinity Episcopal church.

Major Fleischmann was buried in the Masonic section of the Mountain View cemetery.

Regents Discuss Cash Settlement For Sheeketski

Ex-Coach Joe Sheeketski's contract came under discussion at a special meeting of the board of regents last week.

A cash settlement for the three unexpired years remaining on the contract was demanded by Attorney John D. Furrh, representing the former coach.

Sheeketski, who is now coaching for the New York Yanks football club, was still under a five-year contract when the board of regents voted out inter-collegiate football last summer. Since the contract called for a yearly salary of $12,000 through June, 1952, and $12,500 thereafter, Furrh is asking for a settlement in behalf of Sheeketski.

The attorney suggested that the regents agree to pay the ex-coach his stipulated salary minus whatever he earns from other sources.

Action on the suggestion was delayed, since two of the regents, Newton Crumley of Elko and Samuel Arentz of Pioche, were absent. Silas Ross of Reno, chairman of the university regents, recommended that Mr. Furrh write out his suggestions and submit them to all the members of the board.

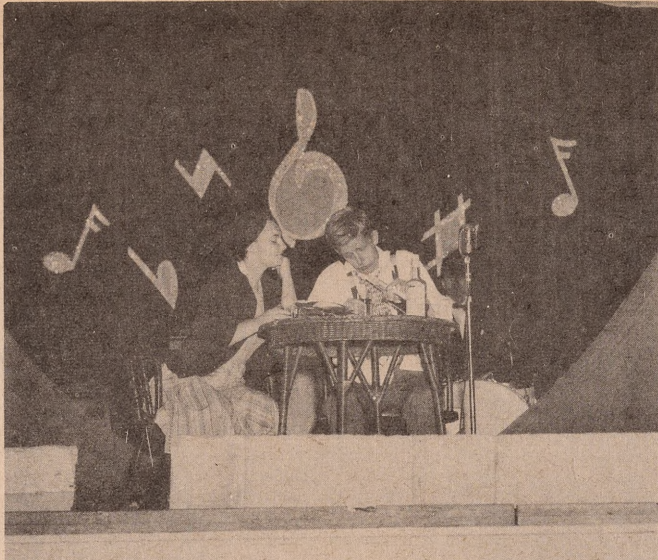

Another special meeting is expected to be called in the near future, when all regents have been informed of the proposed settlement.

Astronomy Group Orders Mounting For Observatory

The mount for the new six inch telescope has been ordered erected in the observatory by the Nevada astronomical society. Members have paid for it from their own funds. The $750 precision mechanism is being made by the Haynes company of New Jersey, specialists in such precision mountings.

When the mount is ready, the concrete base can be poured and the mount placed. The precision designed roof actuating mechanism is now in the hands of Dr. Everett W. Harris, professor of mechanical engineering.

Doctor Harris says the observatory will be ready for use sometime in the spring. Delays due to the exacting demands of mechanisms within the telescope mount and the roof mechanism are gradually coming to an end.

New Las Vegas College Program Almost Complete

Registration in the new junior college program at Las Vegas has been virtually completed, according to an announcement this week by Dr. Harold N. Brown, director of summer sessions and extension.

Twenty-seven students have enrolled so far in a number of elementary college courses which will count toward credit at the University of Nevada.

Resident in charge of the program in Las Vegas is James R. Dickinson of the university English department.

Mr. Dickinson teaches composition and rhetoric, appreciation of literature and U. S. history. He is assisted by Arthur J. Palmer, Jr., of Henderson, who has a class in freshman geography, and Mrs. Lee Pivornik of Las Vegas, instructor in elementary French.

The classes are held in the Las Vegas high school building.

Cows, Dollars, Fossils Given To University

Several gifts and contributions to the university were acknowledged by the board of regents at a meeting Friday.

Four purebred Aberdeen Angus heifers were donated to the university experimental farm by Graham Hollister of Genoa, Lloyd Springmeyer of Gardnerville, Ed Biaggini of Gayucua, Calif., and William Volkman of Selma, Calif.

Another $50 dollar scholarship was given by the Frederick O. Herz family, which previously offered one scholarship each year.

A collection of invertebrate fossils was contributed to the Mackay School of Mines by Mrs. Agnes Train Janssen of Laytonville, Calif. The Mackay mining school is forming a collection of fossils and soft rock geological materials.

Geology classes will also have the use of a petrographic microscope, donated to the university in memory of Charles Haseman, former professor of mathematics.

Library Receives Special Editions

A valuable addition was made to the University of Nevada library recently with the donation of a set of 51 beautifully printed books by the Peter Pauper Press of Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

The books were sent to the university in the course of a campaign to acquaint the public with some of the "better samples of bookbinding and printing." Several colleges and universities throughout the country were selected to receive copies of the special Peter Pauper editions.

The books are at present on display in the browsing room on the main floor of the library.

Titles of some of the books in the collection are "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam," "The Spectator Papers" by Addison and Steele, and Gray's "Elegy."

The browsing room is open Monday through Friday from 2 to 5 p.m.

Nevada Student Wins Studebaker

Jack Penman, university journalism student, was the winner of a new Studebaker given away by a local gas station on Thursday of last week.

"I have always been skeptical of such affairs," said Penman, "but after winning this one I guess they are pretty honest."

He now plans to sell his old car and to keep the new one.

THANKS, MAX

The 1951 Homecoming was beyond doubt the finest ever put on by the University of Nevada. Oddly enough, it shouldn't have been, and, without the spirit and initiative of one alumnus, it might not have been.

That alumnus is Max Dodge.

When football was dropped as an intercollegiate sport last summer, one of the chief problems facing the university and the Alumni association was Homecoming. All sides felt, and probably correctly, that, without a gridiron attraction, Homecoming would have little attraction.

A meeting was held to iron out the solution. Suggestions ranged from the dropping of the annual event for a year to holding it in conjunction with the Ski Carnival.

Then Dodge came up with the idea of an Alumni-Student game. It was a natural, involving participation by both of the groups most interested in Homecoming. While not immediately accepted, Max was told to go ahead and see what kind of an alumni team he could work up.

Frankly, Dodge did not have the type of cooperation he might have expected. At the beginning, nobody thought he could get enough graduates interested in the match. They felt that few men would be able or willing to take time off from their jobs to practice and prepare themselves for a single football game.

Then, when Max did get a team together, the field reversed on him. The team he organized was too professional, too big. The Sagebrush shamefacedly admits that it was among the detractors, advocating at one time that the Eleven Old Men' play a service team and leave the smaller university team alone.

Max, nevertheless, went ahead. He had a lot to lose by doing so—if the grads played too hard and hurt a student they would be put in an embarrassing position. If they held back they would be considered 'chicken.' He had absolutely nothing to gain from fielding a team.

That he was completely unselfish is proven by the fact that when Homecoming finally rolled around, practically no one remembered just WHO was back of the game. Several, in fact, seemed to think that it was THEIR idea.

Belatedly, but sincerely, the Sagebrush offers Max Dodge its heartiest congratulations for all the time and effort and SPIRIT he put into making this one of the outstanding Homecomings in Nevada history.

Tri-Delts Honored At Capers Dinner

The senior Pan-Hellenic award cup was presented to Delta Delta Delta last night at the Coed Capers, a semi-annual dinner given at the university dining hall for all campus women.

The junior Pan-Hellenic cup was given to the pledge class of Gamma Phi Beta. The cups mark the highest grade average for the sorority over a period of one semester. The scholarship improvement plaque was awarded to Kappa Alpha Theta.

AWS Award

The Associated Women Students scholarship of $50 was given to Andre Anchart, Kappa Alpha Theta. This is awarded on the basis of personality, scholarship and outstanding achievements.

After dinner, Mardelle Kornmayer introduced Dean Elaine Mobley. Dean Mobley said that she felt the morale on campus was excellent this year, and that the recent Homecoming was one of the best she had ever seen.

Joan Miller and Sharon Mulcahy of Pi Beta Phi presented a pantomime to the tune of the hill-billy version of "Temptation."

Following the introduction of guests, Hazel Johnson sang and played the guitar; Janice Rosasco played the piano and sang; Joanne Trigerio did a tap number and Peggy Bell sang "I Can't Say No."

LETTER TO EDITOR

October 19, 1951

To the Editor of the Sagebrush:

The Homecoming celebration just past was one of the very finest I have ever experienced on any campus at any time. The spirit, the cooperation, the success of each event was simply wonderful.

This accomplishment could not have possibly come about without the help of everyone—students, alumni, faculty, and townspeople. A tremendous amount of planning and good hard work went into making this achievement of top performance.

The floats were beautiful and won admiration from all who saw them—everyone expressing the one thought, that they seemed better than ever before.

The frolic skits were all excellent. The show was one of the finest college skit programs I have ever seen. The quality was high and clearly showed that all who took part did so with a spirit of cooperation and a desire to make this a really fine Homecoming event.

Of course, this was an alumni occasion and everything was done with the alumni in mind; but they, too, entered into the program with a spirit and enthusiasm that would assure success for their own Homecoming. The alumni football team was splendid and fielded a good team. Their willingness to take time to practice and to participate in the game was a real contribution. It made this Homecoming truly a student-alumni occasion.

Those who came in contact with the program as well as those who participated experienced something of the spirit which made this an outstanding Homecoming. This was truly a University of Nevada occasion, celebrated in the fine Nevada spirit of friendliness and cooperation. The faculty who participated have had a happy experience and have spoken of it as one of the most successful they have ever known.

The administration of the university takes this means of expressing appreciation. This was one of the finest, one of the very best things that has happened or could happen to the University of Nevada.

My personal and sincere thanks to everyone.

Sincerely,

Malcolm A. Love
President

Thank you, Dr. Love. Without a doubt this year's Homecoming will rank among the best ever to be held on the University of Nevada campus. As you say, all the teamwork was not on the football field.—Editor.

Gamma Phi Hold Dance Tomorrow

Gamma Phi Beta will hold its fall pledge dance Saturday night, November 3, at the chapter house.

Norma Walsh, the social chairman, is in charge of the dance. Joan Love and Mary Kay Irwin are handling the program. The trio band, which played for the "Hello on the Hill" dance, will provide the music.

Pack Tracks

By DAVE MATHIS

Jim Eliades, ASUN president, came to me the other day with what I thought was a good suggestion. Jim believed that a column on interfraternity sports should be run in the "Brush." It was Jim's contention that the varsity athletes not only get plenty of play from the campus publication but also in the downtown papers. Naturally interfraternity athletes like to see their names in print as well as any one else, so a column of this type is forthcoming.

Sidelights on the homecoming football game—On one play in which they needed a few yards for a first down the "eleven old men" lined up, and the center motioned with his hands but didn't center the ball. The ruse worked and players sprang offside. Immediately red handkerchiefs filled the air. Bob Corley, center for the grads, stood up, wagged his finger at an opposing line man and snickered "What's the matter, buddy, going someplace?" The laugh came later, however, when the penalty was assessed against the grads. One of their own men had got his wires crossed.

Question to Dick Trachok, coach of the Reno High School Huskies and halfback for the Alumni football team—"Coach, just what was your opinion of the student tackling?" (This might have been the student gridders slogan last Saturday "for tackling pleasure it's HOMECOMING . . . Whew!!! What a weekend, or was it week. It all started with Homecoming, and a fine Homecoming it was too. Congrats to Lou Eccles and his Homecoming committee. Congrats, too, to the sororities and the fraternities and all the other organizations who contributed their bit. To Prof. Miller for the fine Wolves' Frolic, and to whoever stole that poor guy's car.

The Wolfpack came through in fine style, you couldn't of asked for a better game. It really looked good through my dark glasses. It was good to see last year's head cheer leader, John Gianotti, leading yells again. He was ably assisted by Frank Schadrack and Bill Jager, who were ably assisted by some guiding spirits?

The finale Saturday night. A fine dance it was, too. I don't think I've been to a better campus dance. And of course the presentation of awards, Lambda Chi, Lambda Chi, Lambda Chi. All kidding aside, all the winners deserve a big hand. And to our queen, Leona Hickey, a big kiss (I'm still trying) for a fine job, and a fine party. Not only is she a beautiful girl, but a fine hostess. I am still wondering how she got all those people in her house.

ADMISSION DAY . . . You'd think homecoming would be enough, but no sooner did I recover from that, then Admission Day was here. The crowds were small, everybody went home early to avoid the traffic, and I've never seen so much traffic, but those that stayed had a great time. Carson City was the usual good host, the Lambda Chis, as if Homecoming wasn't enough, put their float in the parade there, and it made a fine showing.

I et at a great little place called the Kountry Kafe, a little place just this side of Carson, and the food is really great.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO YOU . . . Verlita Johnson, Sagens Prexy, turned 21 last Tuesday night. A fine party it was, too.

PHOTO'S DELIGHT . . . The Reno Road Races held a couple of weeks ago, proved to be quite profitable for some of our local photographers. Both Walt MacKenzie, Artemisia editor, and Frank Johnson, Sagebrush editor, sold pictures to various publications. Frank got three on the front page of the Leisure section of Sunday's San Francisco Chronicle.

DEAR HARRY . . . Our friend in the White House is at it again. He has just signed a bill to do away with the last thing in our great country that you can get for a penny, a penny post card. Of course, it is only logical; a short while ago he was asking everybody to turn in their pennies.

WHO STOLE MY PANTS . . . With the cold weather coming on, the Thetas are a bit worried. Somebody did away with their washing the other day, and things are a bit chilly over there.

WOLF WOLF . . . Somebody in the Gamma Phi house must like firemen. Their trash barrel caught fire last week. Everybody thought fast and called the fire department. The result, two alarms were sounded and fire trucks showed up from everywhere. The fire, that took two minutes and a bucket of water to douse.

THEY DOOD IT AGAIN . . . Delta Delta Delta can't be beat. Once more—and even the Tri Deltas don't seem to know how many times this makes—they copped the senior Pan-Hellenic cup for the highest grade average for one semester. Congrats girls. The junior Pan-Hellenic cup went this year to the Gamma Phi Beta pledge class.

The awards were presented last night at the annual Coed Capers. Andre Anchart, Kappa Alpha Theta, received the Associated Women Students scholarship, so another congrats to her.

The Coed-Capers was attended by all campus women, and two others, sex uncertain. The two rather hefty strangers fared better than most of the gals. They got escorts home.

BEHIND THE BROOM With THE MORRILL HALL MORALIST

Oscar the Morrill hall mouse insists he is a native of the Scandinavian Peninsula. Claims he come over here in a boatload of lutefisk and wall board and then woke up one morning in a carton of the wall board in a Reno warehouse. The surroundings didn't suit his fancy so he moved up on the hill in time to say hello.

A pretty sharp character, Oscar. Tother day he scrambles up a newel post an squeeks in my ear that there's a patch of pieplant growing somewhere hereabout. Now pieplant pie is one of my favorites even if he did call it rhubarb, and I 'lowed it would be right nice to pluck some before the frost ruined it. Then the little cus liked to of squeeked his head off. Said this was some of that figurative rhubarb and no good for pie. Seems like when somebody has a beef about something an' they're too elevated to call it a beef, it becomes rhubarb up here on the hill.

No exams during Homecoming Week was popular with the students. From what you hear 'round the Hall they'd even tolerate it for the rest of the year without making too many complaints. Maybe the faculty meeting should consider it next session.

Hear tell the campus officer is on the job like mustard ona hot dawg. Peers like some of his warnings get misplaced a little. Students can't help it if them pretty little permits slide off before the day is over on account of the goo being kinda low grade.

These last few mornings weren't too well suited to the scant apparel some of the gals affects. The antics 'round the Hall, shiverin and shakin, kinda remind a feller of when Gilda Gray was showing us how to do the Shimmy 'way back when.

If you hadn't noticed; one of the regular features on the campus is Doc Irwin parkin his car down in front of Education building every morning. When he takes off across the street it's time to ring the first bell.

Oscar the Mickey of Morrill says he is goin to look over Lincoln hall when they get through spending the 80 G's. But he doubts the wisdom of moving from where there's ample lunch crumbs and taking a chance on gettin his income tax raised on account of having someone catch him living too high. Besides where's the fun of being a mouse when there aint no women to scare. To which I'd add fervently, man or mouse aint no question in that case.

Just got a squeek from Oscar which sounded somewhat like this: "Ay yust heard a good yoke." So here it is. Seems one of the fraternity houses down on Lake street put an ad in the paper about a room and didn't specify. Then last Friday or Saturday a very comely young lady asked to see the room and they wouldn't let her in. Don't sound like any of the fraternities I know about.

The campus Players movies on Sunday nights livens things up on a quiet night. Sorta gives them as haint got nothing to do, a good place to spend a couple of hours from 7 to 9:30 or so. Then, too, it must be kind of diverting to see the pictures that made mom and dad OH and AH when you was a pup.

Which reminds me that Hank the gentleman Hog down on the University farm thinks he could fill one of the chairs in the Ag department. He probably could, too. Specially the flat part which sustains most of the weight and takes the shine.

Oscar says that them that eat their lunches in the Hall drops mor crumbs on rainy days than on fair days. It seems that they wave their hands more during the group lunches than when the weather permits a more general dispersal for lunch.

Campus Scenes Were Displayed

Slides of various campus scenes were on display downtown in the front window of Morrill and Machabee, Inc., last week.

The display was organized by Mr. Gene Empey of the agriculture extension service, with the aid of his secretary, Mae Gregory. Jack Ryan, superintendent of shops, did the carpentry work on the project, with Craig Sheppard, assistant professor of art, doing the art work.

The display was composed of slides from Empey's own collection and contributions from others on campus.

David Goldwater Elected President Of Nevada Alumni

David Goldwater, class of 1939, was elected president of the Alumni association last weekend, replacing John Benson, outgoing president. Frank McCulloch, class of 1941, was elected vice-president.

As an undergraduate Mr. Goldwater was ASUN president during his senior year. He was a member of Sigma Nu. Mr. Goldwater is now a law partner in the firm of Goldwater and Goldwater.

Mr. McCulloch was editor of the Sagebrush in 1940-41 and was president of Sigma Nu. He is now on the staff of the Reno Evening Gazette. Mr. McCulloch was initiated two weeks ago into the Nevada chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity.

The executive committee for the Alumni association has not yet been appointed.

Tri-Delts To Hold Fall Pledge Dance

Delta Delta Delta will hold its fall pledge dance tomorrow at the Echos.

In charge of the dance are Nancy West, Sally Bassemier and Jean Flynn. The band which had played for the Homecoming dance will provide the music.

Harry Spencer, journalism graduate of 1951, was reappointed as Reno basketball commissioner last week. Spencer is now associate editor of the Nevada Register.

'Bring Back Football' Parade Theme As Thousands View Colorful Floats

Colorful floats and bands highlighted Nevada's 30th Homecoming parade, watched by thousands Saturday morning. The parade, scheduled for 11 a.m. did not appear until 11:30, but the downtown streets were still lined with people who did not seem to mind the delay.

Thirteen fraternity and sorority floats were entered in the parade. The unwritten theme of this Homecoming seemed to be "bring back football."

"It was clearly evident from the various floats that students desire the resumption of the intercollegiate sport at Nevada at the earliest possible date," remarked the Reno Evening Gazette.

Winning sorority float was entered by Gamma Phi Beta, who used the theme, "On Our Toes For Homecoming" and featured a large pair of toe shoes, surrounded by ballet dancers.

"Strike Up A Warm Welcome," by Delta Delta Delta; "Home Is Where The Heart Is," by Kappa Alpha Theta; and "Let's Rock the Old Men" by Pi Beta Phi were the other themes used by the sororities.

Football Graveyard

Lambda Chi Alpha's winning float was in two sections. The first was a jet airplane followed by an old model bi-plane with "Stick With Us" on the jet, and "Grads" on the old plane. Sigma Alpha Epsilon's float summarized the rest of the themes by showing a graveyard for football with a tombstone reading, "Football, 1895-1951," and following was a cradle with "Reborn, Football, 19—"

Judges for the float entries were Craig Sheppard, professor of art at the university; Mrs. Maurice Beesley, wife of D. B. Beesley, professor of mathematics; and Vern O. Cline of the Reno high school.

Several Bands

The floats were flanked by the university and the Reno and Sparks high school bands. In between, the girls' pep organizations from both high schools marched. Leading the parade was the university ROTC battalion.

Riding in the parade were university and city dignitaries. President and Mrs. Malcolm A. Love, Mayor F. R. Smith; members of the board of regents, Silas Ross, Louis Lombardi and Roy Hardy; ASUN president, Jim Eliades; AWS president, Mardelle Kornmayer; Homecoming Sweetheart Leona Hickey; Hugh Smithwick; the Homecoming chairman, Lou Eccles; Deans Robert S. Griffen and Elaine Mobley; YWCA president, Mae Gregory and YWCA secretary, Pat Barrett.

Dr. Irwin Speaks

Dr. Ralph Irwin, chairman of the psychology department, was the speaker at a recent Soroptimist club meeting in Reno.

Sepaking on what knowledge of practical psychology can do to improve mental, emotional and physical condition, Dr. Irwin outlined methods of control of anger, fear and anxiety.

Military Funeral For Francovich

Full military funeral services were held October 24 for Lt. Eugene B. Francovich, 1943 University of Nevada graduate and first Reno soldier to be killed in the Korean conflict.

The Nevada ROTC provided a ten-man firing squad and Pershing Rifles, the ROTC underclass honor unit, 30 man rifle unit at the burial held at Mountain View cemetery.

In charge of the firing squad was Cadet Capt. Jim Lee. Cadet Capt. Len Savage led the Pershing Rifle unit.

Lt. Francovich was killed in Korea June 10, 1951, less than two months after arriving in Korea. At the time of his death he was commanding an infantry company on reconnaissance and patrol duty.

As an ROTC graduate in 1943, Francovich entered the army in 1943. He served in numerous campaigns in the European theater including the Battle of the Bulge.

Remaining in the army after the war, Francovich was assigned to various overseas posts until his assignment to Korea.

While a student at the university, he was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, Scabbard and Blade and chairman of the Glee club.

ROTC men taking part in the funeral were: Brenton Aiken, Kenneth Austin, Allen Barham, Robert Barrett, Gene Bass, Ervin Billman, Stephen Bourne, Kenton Brown, Howard Byars, Ernest Carl, Kim Choy, Edward Covington, John Cowley, Charles Egans, Gordon Foote, Arthur Giddens, Elwood Haggerty, Vance Hansen, James Hardy, Evan House, John Ingram, Robert Jonasen, Robert Jones, Jack Keen, James Kjeldsen, William Landry, William Law, James L. Lee, Olaf Leifson, Kurt Lobaugh, William Maher, Albert Matteucci, Rollan Melton, Dennis Metz, Lowell Miller, Hans Mohr, Marvin Moss, Patrick Norton, Lionel Perez, Charles O'Berg, Edward O'Connor, Robert Petrini, Leland Roberson, Leonard Savage, George Schindler, Milton Sharp, Lloyd Skinner, Reed Stewart, Stephen Stewart, Paul Trinaystich, Vernon Walker, Thomas Whalen, James Williams, Warren Young.

Board of Regents Honor Benefactors

Dean R. C. Thompson and Max Fleischmann were honored by the University of Nevada Board of Regents, at their meeting held Friday, October 26.

The board passed resolutions honoring the school's greatest financial and spiritual benefactors. Dean Thompson died Sept. 10 and Maj. Fleischmann died Oct. 16.

Dr. Reuben Cyril Thompson, who before his death was dean of philosophy, devoted 40 years of his life to the university.

"The brief outline of the various positions he held does not begin to tell the story of his vast service to students, faculty and townspeople . . . and the University of Nevada is a better university because Dean Thompson spent the greater part of his adult life here."

Copies of the resolution were sent to Mrs. Thompson and other members of the family.

The board noted that Max C. Fleischmann was a benefactor of mankind . . . and because "he passed this way, he touched the university in a way to leave a lasting benefit."

The resolution further stated that "the University of Nevada has lost a real and valued friend . . . and the college is grateful for his many gifts and the countless hours he spent with the student and faculty groups, his personal friendship and his special gifts and scholarships to help where assistance was needed."

Copies were sent to Maj. Fleischmann's widow and members of the family.

Paniwallis Plan Spring Aquacade

The annual spring aquacade will headline the year's list of activities for the Paniwallis, swimming group on the campus.

The club met for the first time Thursday, 7:00 p.m. in the new gym to discuss a suitable meeting time. As in the past, the group will swim at Moana.

Spring swimming and diving exhibitions are include in the schedule.

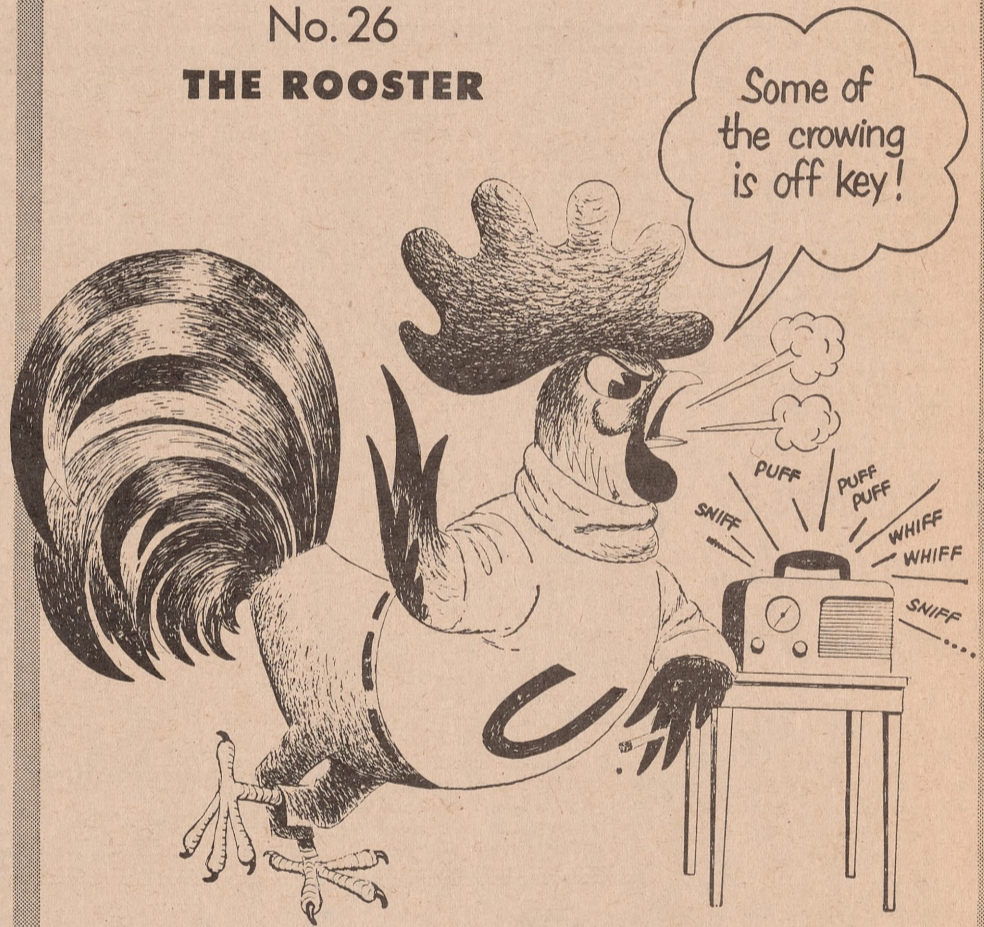

Both men and women students are invited to participate in the club's program.

An important addition to the university plant was the gift of William A. Clark, Jr., the $250,000 Clark Memorial library, which was presented to the university on October 21, 1927.

Defensive Playing Ends In Tied-Up Homecoming Game

Hard blocking and tackling coupled with all around good defensive play marked the traditional homecoming tilt as the "eleven old men" (Alumni team) held the student footballers to a 0-0 tie.

The game, which took the place of a regular intercollegiate contest, provided plenty of action and good football for a Homecoming crowd of better than 3,000.

The students who took to the air via the passing of Gonsalves and the receiving of Wyness threatened three times. The first half ended with the Students failing to score from one foot out.

The oldsters pulled to within nine yards of the pay area but lacked the punch to drive over for the score.

Passing by Ray Gonsalves and Neil Garret coupled with the running of Leavitt and Garrett who alternated at fullback, provided the offensive punch for the students while Al Nocciola shined in the alumni backfield.

Late in the second half Leavitt blocked a punt by Scott Beasley of the grads and the students took possession on their own 40-yard line. Leavitt carried twice to a first down and then a potential touchdown pass was dropped by Wyness, who was in the clear on the nine yard line.

Garrett plunged through the middle for a first down to the grad 45 yard line and then Gonsalves hit Wyness for a pass which advanced the students down to the alumni nine. Leavitt then carried through the line for 5 yards followed by a quarterback sneak by Gonsalves which put the ball on the one yard line.

Garrett was stopped on the next play just inches short of the goal line. With 50 seconds remaining in the half, the students took their fourth and last try at the heavy line of the alumni but the going was just too tough and the half ended without a score.

Bob Kerns and Mickey Cuff turned in stellar performances on defense while Floyd Vice got off some good punts. In the line for the students veterans Al Matteucci and John Gonda were standouts.

Kappa Alpha Theta Holds Pledge Dance

Kappa Alpha Theta will hold a dance honoring the new pledges tonight at the chapter house.

The committee in charge of the dance and programs, Elise Valentine, Andre Anchart, and Blanche Picci plan a pledge theme for the dance.

Refreshments will be served. A five-piece band will provide music for the dance.

Class Teams Vie On Field Saturday

Which class has more spirit on campus? Just who are the toughest footballers, the seniors, juniors, sophomores or freshmen?

This coming Saturday will answer at least one of these questions. The student football team which held the "eleven old men" to a 0-0 tie are going to split up for an intersquad contest. The division will be made according to class. The freshmen and juniors will tackle the sophomores and the seniors. According to coach Hugh Smithwick there is a great deal of spirit being built up among the gridders for the game.

Ray Gonsalves will quarterback the sophomores and seniors while Neil Garrett will call plays for the freshmen and juniors. The quarterbacks who didn't see any action in the homecoming game will handle most of the game, however.

Coaches for the intersquad game will be Jerry Wyness, John Gonda, Myron Leavitt and Al Matteucci.

Dean Mobley Talks On 'Campus Cues'

"Campus Cues" was the topic of Dean Elaine Mobley's talk at the Tri-Delt house during an open meeting on Monday evening.

The book, "Campus Cues," was written by the students and faculty of Indiana University and covers proper conduct "from engagements to beer-busts!" Miss Mobley expressed the hope that every social organization on campus would buy a copy of this book. If there is a demand, separate copies may be ordered through the A.S.U.N. Book Store.

Theta Chis Lead In Kinnear Cup Fraternity Race

Theta Chi took an official lead in the race for the Kinnear Trophy at the close of two events. With their wins in both the horseshoe singles and doubles events, they have amassed a total of 60 points. Last year's champs, the ATO's, are running second. They have 21.17 points earned by second place in doubles and by placing in singles.

The others run as follows: SAE's 10, Sigma Nu 5, Sigma Rho Delta and Lambda Chi 1.17 each.

Softball has been completed with the Sigma Nus coming out ahead, but because of the new playoff system there is some discussion in the distribution of points between the next three teams: ATO, Lamb-

Boxing To Start; Tourney Planned

Facilities in the boxing room at the new gymnasium will be open for use to aspiring pugilists Monday, November 5.

Jake Lawlor, head of the department of athletics, announced that Jimmy Olivas, boxing coach, will be on hand Monday to help the fighters learn the fundamentals of the sport.

An interclass boxing tournament will be held sometime in December and all those who wish to participate are urged to get out early.

Beverly Poe, Kappa Alpha Theta, announced her pinning to Ned Johnson, Sigma Nu, on Monday night.

da Chi and SAE. This has caused a delay in the official recognition of softball points.

Lambda Chis Win Distance Honors

Bill Hutchison, Theta Chi, led the field in the cross country but Lambda Chi Alpha took team honors placing fifth, seventh and eighth.

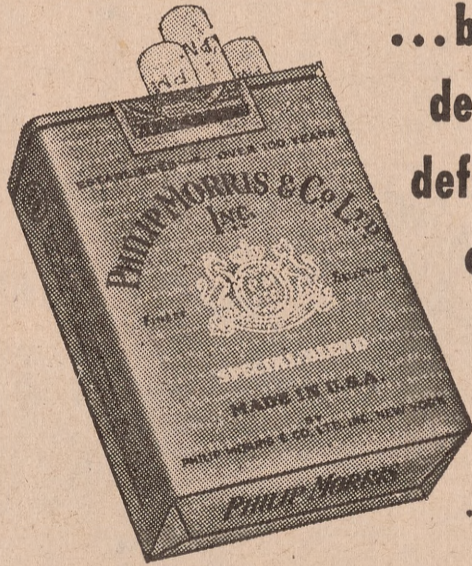

Hutchison completed the rugged course in 23 minutes and 19 seconds. The ex-Eureka high school athlete was almost a lap ahead of Milton Sharp, Sigma Nu, when he crossed the finish line.

Lambda Chi runners who aided in getting team honors were Jake Carpenter, fifth place; Bob Klaich, seventh place; and Burt Munson, eighth place.

Bands Bust Backs But Boys Bemoan Balky Bystanders

By PAUL KING

Old grads and undergrads cautiously fumbled their way to a scoreless tie in Saturday's Homecoming game in Mackay stadium.

As Nevada has abandoned intercollegiate football, alumni from the university's "collegiate" teams of the past few years were recruited to fill the shoes of a rival school team for the traditional big game.

They adequately filled the shoes and rather overfilled the uniforms. Lack of conditioning of the old-timers and lack of experience for most of the undergrads combined to make a closely matched contest.

Periodic Spirit

Spirited cheering for the student team issued periodically from the bleachers on the east side of the stadium where the rooters were being spurred on by several lovely young cheer leaders.

Cheering for the old grads was decidedly less spirited in the west-side rooting section where four leaders shivered through their routines in the cold shadows of the grandstand.

Some noise was finally generated for the "eleven old men" when three members of the Sun-downers took over the leading chore and stirred up some interest in shouting and foot-stamping.

Quixotic Quintet

Shortly before the game started, a small group of musicians had marched with unsteady determination into the alumni rooting section.

They were a much smaller group than the university band in the opposing stand, and they wore no uniforms. Their selection of material and devotion to duty, however, made them a much more attractive unit.

During the entertainment period between the halves, the university band got some exercise and the spectators got hot dogs and pop. It was a colorful and well-used interval.

Where - O Where Are Men To Live

"Tents on the football field, rooms at the Mapes Hotel, or use of the girls' dormitory," were suggestions offered by Dr. Robert S. Griffin, dean of men, as solutions to the expected housing problem on campus.

Lincoln hall, men's dormitory, is scheduled for a remodeling job next spring, and when this occurs the residents will have to move somewhere.

The solution is actually a choice between two suggestions, said Dr. Griffin. One possibility is using the veterans' housing dormitories and Manzanita hall, the girls' dormitory, is the other solution. In the latter suggestion there would be certain problems to deal with.

Men have lived in Manzanita and Artemisia halls before, so there will be no breaking of a tradition in that respect.

During the war, some 125 men of the army air force college training detachment were housed in Manzanita hall and an additional 125 army engineering students were housed in Artemisia hall, according to Dr. Griffin.

Perry Hayden, university comptroller, said as far as he knew, the entire situation is still in the talk and suggestion stage.

"Materials and contractor bids are necessary before work could even begin on the remodeling job," was the statement given by Carl Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds. He also said if work could start in February of next year it might be completed by September, thereby keeping the men in temporary quarters for only one semester.

Changes Noticed In Wolves' Frolic Over The Years

Times have changed since 1934, and so has the Wolves' Frolic. Do you remember way back when the show was held in the Granada Theater? When each department presented skits instead of the Greek letter organizations?

In fact, in 1934 the Gamma Phi's were the only social group to have a skit. All totaled there were 27 acts and 150 people participating in the Frolic of '34.

Jumping to 1937 we find "Life Goes To College" as the theme.

Edwin Semenza, English instructor and director for that year, initiated the use of several different sets instead of one only.

For the first time fraternities and sororities worked together and presented mixed choruses. Besides the Greek letter skits, the Campus Players, University Singers, and the Associated Engineers, participated to present 25 skits.

Shortened Version

In the war year, 1944, a shortened version called the Skit Parade was assembled by Mrs. Margaret Von Flues, director. Each campus organization contributed to the musical comedy.

Quite a change isn't it?

"Things To Come" with Raymond Massey will be shown at the Education auditorium Sunday at 7:30.
