

Student Court Plans Might Be Ratified

A student court with powers to investigate and try violations of student regulations may be formed.

Composed of ten members of the men's and women's upperclass committees, the proposed court will have jurisdiction over all students who are members of the ASUN. It will also have jurisdiction over all non-academic cases of appeal between a student and the university, or a student and the ASUN.

Included in the court's powers would be the power to summon any student for any reason the court feels necessary. Failure of a student to answer the summons would result in punishment by the ASUN senate.

The plan was brought up before the ASUN Senate last week for discussion. The senate referred it to a specially appointed committee to iron out some of the technical difficulties.

Opposition to the parts of the plan relating to jurisdiction was found during a recent discussion of the proposed court at a meeting of the student life committee, made up of members of the upperclass committee, student leaders, and deans of men and women. Frank Johnson, Sagebrush editor, questioned the right of the court to subpoena students and hold closed hearings.

Some members of the committee felt that the court should not have both investigative and trial powers.

ASUN President Jim Eliades has written to eight colleges who have student courts asking for ideas and suggestions.

The purpose of the court, according to a prospectus drawn up by Bob Ramsey, upperclass committee member, is to provide the student government with a judicial department and a fair means of appeal for students.

UN Mothers Day Plans Discussed

Plans for a "Mothers Day" to be held on the campus next spring were discussed at a public relations committee meeting last week.

The idea was also discussed at a lectures and assemblies committee meeting two weeks earlier.

If the plan were adopted, relatives and mothers of the women students would be invited to spend a day on the campus sometime near Mother's Day in May.

Prof. Gale Richards, as chairman of the lectures and assemblies committee, described the plan to the public relations committee.

Electrical Engineers Hear Railroad Talk

The Nevada chapter of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers met last Wednesday night at the electrical engineering building. The session featured a talk by Mr. F. W. Beichley, engineering supervisor for Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Corporation in San Francisco.

Mr. Beichley's subject was "Electrical Engineering Comes of Age in American Railroad." Following the talk, refreshments were served to members and guests.

Student Directory To Be Sold Soon

Student directories were completed by the printers last Wednesday and were delivered to the university for further processing.

Miss Alice Terry, secretary to the president, said that after the printed sheets arrived they had to be gathered, stapled and bound before they could be sold.

Cost of the directory will be 25 or 30 cents per copy, Miss Terry said. The university acutely takes a loss on the cost of printing the directory so the cost to students may be kept low.

The directories will probably be on sale at the Y.W.C.A. next week.

UN Band Concert To Feature Solo On French Horn

"The University of Nevada has one of the best dressed bands in the West, and this concert is bound to be a success," announced Prof. Felton Hickman, who will direct a full-dress band concert on Dec. 4 in the State building.

The program will feature a completely new kind of band music, he said.

Among the highlights of the evening will be a french horn solo performed by our ex-marine first horn player, as well as clarinet, saxophone and trombone solos.

Prof. Hickman invites everybody and especially the student body to attend. Admission is free.

ROTC Battalion To Honor Legion

A formal review of the university ROTC battalion next Tuesday will honor American Legion post 10, it was announced by Lt. Col. James Loewus, professor of military science and tactics.

In their last drill of the semester, the battalion will pay tribute to the American Legion for the sponsorship of Post 10 and for the gift of white drill equipment to the Pershing Rifles.

To Hear Heating Talk

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers will hold a meeting November 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the Engineering building.

A representative from the Johns-Manville Insulation company will speak on "Heating and Insulation." Refreshments are to be served and all those interested are invited to attend.

Weird Characters To Be Materialized At Costume Dances

Pirates, Indians, babies and comic strip characters will make their appearance on the University of Nevada campus this weekend.

Four fraternities are planning costume dances for Friday and Saturday evenings.

Lambda Chi Alpha plans a baby dance at The Branding Iron. All attending must attire themselves in baby clothes. John Harris, social chairman, is in charge of the dance. It will be held Saturday, November 17. Guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bowden, alumni; Professor and Mrs. J. Craig Sheppard and Mr. Jay Carpenter, executive director of the Mackay School of Mines, and his wife.

SAE Pow-Wow
Echo's will be the pow-wow center for the Sigma Alpha Epsilon braves and their squaws on Saturday, November 17. Don Petroni, social chairman, is in charge of decorations and refreshments. The guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Tim Wilson and Professor and Mrs. Keiste Janulis.

Echo's will also be host to the pirates of Theta Chi on Friday, November 16. John Cowley, social chairman, is in charge of the "sand and sea" dance. Gene Garriott is chairman of the committee in charge of decorations. Guests will be Professor J. Craig Sheppard and his wife.

Maggie and Jiggs, Tarzan and Cheetah, and perhaps even the Phantom and Devil, of the Sigma Nu's will assemble at the chapter house on Friday, November 16. Tom Grice, social chairman, is in charge of the affair. Jim Davies and John Meckes are the committee in charge of decorations. Guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Petrides, new instructor in philosophy and psychology.

Poster Contest Still Wide Open

Only four persons have entered the YWCA sponsored poster contest. They are Pat Jefferson, Delta Delta Delta; Vanna Grant, Kappa Alpha Theta; Gene Garriott, Theta Chi and John Harris, Lambda Chi.

November 26 is the deadline for the contest. After this date no entries will be accepted.

"Keep the snack bar clean" is the slogan behind the poster contest. Each poster must be relative to this motto. There are three prizes. First, 100 cups of free coffee, second 50 cups and third 25 cups.

Leah Gregory, chairman of the contest, urges all students to design posters and compete for the prizes.

Funeral Services Held Monday For Colleen Gilbert---1951 Grad

Funeral services for Miss Colleen Gilbert, 21-year-old former University of Nevada student, were held Monday afternoon in her home town of Hawthorne.

A graduate with the class of 1951, she had since been teaching seventh grade in the Sparks junior high school. Miss Gilbert was killed in an automobile accident last Friday night as she was driving to Hawthorne.

COLLEEN GILBERT

Some five hundred friends and relatives attended the last rites, which were held in the Hawthorne high school auditorium because of the large number expected.

Many of her University of Nevada classmates made the trip for the services. While on campus, she was a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, and prominent in many other school activities.

Her Gamma Phi sorority sisters sat in a group during the rites, as did the Hawthorne Rainbow Girls organization of which she was a member.

Classes in the Sparks schools were dismissed Monday afternoon to enable fellow teachers and friends to attend the services.

Miss Gilbert's death was especially tragic in that she had only recently announced her engagement to Carl Robinson, former University of Nevada star athlete and now an air cadet in the U. S. Air Force. At the time of her death she was on her way home to formally announce her engagement and to celebrate her 22nd birthday.

Conducting the services was the Rev. T. H. Kerstetter of St. Stephens Episcopal Chapel of Reno. Music was furnished by Mrs. Nona Lee Baker, who sang "Lead Kindly Light" and "King of Love," accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Brown.

Pallbearers were friends from Hawthorne and the university. They were Richard Harrington, Lee Barlow, Harry White, William Gifford and Stanley Schacht, all of Hawthorne and Babbitt; and Robert Petrini, University of Nevada student from Sparks.

Interment was in the family plot in the Hawthorne cemetery.

Miss Gilbert was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gilbert, long time Nevada residents and prominent Hawthorne business people.

Public Relations File On Faculty

If you're a professor, instructor or what-have-you on the University of Nevada faculty, and if you've made a speech, written a book, taken a trip or held an office, you belong in the university public relations committee's file on faculty extra-curricular activities.

Started a year ago, the file is being brought up to date by questionnaires sent out to all faculty members by Dr. John Morrison, head of the project.

The completed file will be used as publicity material which will be released as an article or a series of articles to all Nevada newspapers, Dr. Morrison stated. It may be used for other incidental purposes by the administration.

Information asked for on the questionnaire covers any activity of any faculty member outside his regular university work.

This includes speeches delivered, conferences attended, books and papers written, membership in organizations—academic and social, offices held, any outstanding honors or achievements and anything else which could be used as good publicity for the university.

If funds are allotted for public relations work, the file may also serve as a source of leadership for such activities as campus-originated radio programs being planned by the committee.

Naval Air Corps

Two Naval Air Corps procurement officers will be in room 101 of the new gymnasium, Monday, to interview eligible students interested in the Naval Air Reserve program.

Air cadets spend 18 months in training and serve a total of four years.

Investing Problems To Be Discussed At Lecture Series

Investment problems of today will be considered in a series of free lectures sponsored by the University of Nevada.

Scheduled for presentation in the Education building auditorium, the series will be held from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m., November 20, 27 and December 4.

Three speakers will come here from the San Francisco office of Dean Witter & Co. These men are actively engaged in the investment business.

"Basic Investment Problems" is the November 20 topic to be covered by Howard C. Tharsing, statistician.

Philip H. Conkle, statistician, will discuss "Knowing Your Investment" on November 27.

"Investing Today" is the subject for the final lecture, December 4, to be delivered by Philip J. Fitzgerald, analyst and partner in Dean Witter & Co.

Dr. Ernest L. Inwood, professor of economics, will be moderator for the series.

All lectures are open to the public, according to Dr. Inwood.

Three-Act Satire Rehearsals Start

Rehearsals for a three-act play, "Both Your Houses," got underway this week with a 17-member cast, Dr. William Miller, the director, announced.

The play is a satire on Washington life and the intricacies of government. It revolves around a school teacher who has just been elected to congress and slashes into the old guard and lobbyists, who regard corruptness and graft as the usual state of affairs.

Playing the teacher will be Clinton Wooster. Robert Glass has the part of Sol, an old-time political boss.

The principal feminine roles will be taken by Mary Ann Norlen and either Joan Miller or Pat Welty.

Other politicians, lobbyists, and political parasites will be played by Robert Debold, Maurice Sanders, Bob Moran, Jim Hulse, Don Harris, Myron Leavitt, Frank Knebel, Gail Harris, George Schwarz, Loring Chapman, Herbert Ahlswede, and Vince Reagor.

"Both Your Houses" will be presented sometime before Christmas vacation, probably in the old gym. The exact date has not been decided.

Faculty Evaluation Discussion Topic At AAUP Meeting

Student evaluation of faculty instruction will be the topic of a panel discussion at a meeting November 28 of the Nevada chapter of the American Association of University Professors.

Ted Scripps and Gene Brown will represent the student point of view at the discussion. Dr. Fred Traner, dean of the Education school, and Dr. Harold Richardson, assistant professor of psychology, will represent the faculty.

A faculty evaluation program has been under discussion since last spring. The purpose of the proposed program is to have on record the students' reactions to the teaching ability of the faculty members.

Pi Phi Mothers

Pi Beta Phi mother's club held a meeting on November 12 at the Pi Beta Phi chapter house.

Members of the sorority entertained by presenting their winning Wolves Frolic skit. They also sang sorority and college songs.

Hallowe'en Social By Lambda Chis

Members of Kappa Alpha Theta were recently guests at a social at the Lambda Chi house. The affair, under the direction of John Harris, followed a rather belated Hallowe'en theme with the women being guided through the cemetery in back of the house and through "a house of horrors." Chains rattled, coffins squeaked, and other strange noises emanated from the house during the evening.

Music was provided by a local three-piece band.

Guests included Miss Elaine Mobley, dean of women, and Mrs. Dita Duke, Kappa Alpha Theta house mother.

Knudson - Robear

Robert Knudson and Sally Robear were married in a simple ceremony Saturday, November 10, at the home of Miss Robear's aunt.

Miss Robear was a Kappa Alpha Theta pledge last year.

Knudson was a member of last year's varsity basketball team. He received his degree from the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Nevada in February, 1951.

Extension Courses Get Good Results

Results of the extension courses given by the university throughout the state seem gratifying according to Dr. Austin E. Hutcheson, associate professor of history.

"Class response seemed especially notable in that most of the students were teachers, who should have been tired out after a long day of teaching," he said.

Dr. Hutcheson accompanied Prof. Russell Elliott on a lecture tour two weeks ago around Southern Nevada. The tour is part of the extension program run by the university to give Nevada residents an opportunity for instruction under university faculty members. "A special delight to me," said

Dr. Hutcheson, "was that my first master's degree student from the university drove all the way in from Round Mountain to Tonopah, 65 miles each way, with a car full."

Education Movie Shown Tuesday

A movie, "Secure the Blessings," was shown in the Education auditorium Tuesday as a part of American Education Week activity.

The film, sponsored by the National Education association, dealt with the responsibilities of every citizen to know how democracy works. The position of the teacher was stressed in the education of Americans in democratic living.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 27...THE LYNX

This sporty student really teed off on a long tirade when he found himself stymied on the "single puff" and "one sniff" cigarette tests. "They're strictly for the birdies!" said he. He realized that cigarette mildness requires more deliberation than a cursory inhale or exhale. Millions of smokers concur — there's only one true test of mildness and flavor in a cigarette.

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

After all the Mildness Tests . . .

Many Scholarship Funds Available To Qualified University Students

By MARIE NIELSEN

If you avoid bad debts, and abstain from intoxicants and tobacco, you are eligible for a scholarship at the University of Nevada, and you are also eligible if you have good scholarship, qualities of leadership, excellent character or proficiency in a particular subject. Seventy-one students at the University of Nevada possessed qualities making them eligible for scholarships last year, and were awarded them at the commencement exercises.

Forty-four scholarships are offered at the University of Nevada and last year 28 were distributed among deserving students.

Sixteen scholarships were not available last year because the interest on the original bequest had not increased enough to grant them, not because there were no students eligible for the prizes.

The scholarships vary widely in type and amount. Perhaps the best known are the Major Max C. Fleischmann and Jewett W. Adams awards, given for good scholarship, good character, and qualities of future leadership. The Fleischmann awards of $250 were given to Ralph Boardman, Carson City; Dorothy Bell, Boulder City; James Costa, Winnemucca; Joy Daniel, Reno; Thela Ennor, Reno; Carlyle Grafton, Reno; Carl Herrera, Eureka; Rayner Kjeldsen, Lovelock; Betty Kling, Carlin; Clarence

Lund, Virginia City; George Maclean, Reno; William Maher, Homer, New York; Barbara Schreiner, Las Vegas; Lura Ward, Reno. 500 Dollars

Fleischmann awards of $500 went to Jennis Gibson, Las Vegas; Harrie Hess, Las Vegas; Stanley Jones, Pioche; Chris Nolan, Jr., Caliente; Suzanne Winer, Yerington.

Jewett W. Adams awards went to Ted Bradbury, Oakland, California; Ethelind Butterfield, Virginia City; Caroline Esser, Reno; John Knezevich, Reno; Bill Law, Reno; Joline McCarthy, Reno; Marie Nielsen, Sparks; Robert Nightingale, Reno; Carol Normandy, Reno; Nancy Swope, Reno; Nancy West, Sparks on the basis of scholarship, character, and the promise of leadership.

No Smoking

Two hundred dollars is given by the Carrie Brooks Layman Memorial scholarship to any sophomore or upperclassman, who while in college, avoids bad debts and abstains from intoxicants and tobacco. Recipient last year was Dat Kim Choy of Reno.

Standard Oil Company of California offers $500 to a member of each of the classes. Rose Sigler Mathews' scholarship gives $100, and the department scholarship winners are selected by the chairmen of the departments.

It is possible for many students to receive scholarships.

Japanese Teacher To Visit Nevada

Fuji Nomiya, from the University of Tokyo in Japan, will visit the Home Economics department Monday and Tuesday. Miss Nomiya is in this country on an American Association of University Women fellowship. She is interested in the teaching of home economics and will visit the University of Nevada this coming Monday and Tuesday.

Men in the outdoor cooking class will entertain Miss Nomiya with lunch at their out-door barbeque pit on Monday. She will be the guest of the home economics faculty that evening for dinner.

On Tuesday she will be the guest of the home economic seniors and for dinner the guest of the Home Economic club.

Miss Nomiya has been traveling in the United States visiting the home economic departments of various colleges and universities.

She will return and put her experience into practice at her own university in Japan.

THE MEETING'S UPSTAIRS

What happens to a high-flying enemy bomber when it meets the newest anti-aircraft guided missile shouldn't happen to a low-flying duck.

Radar "eyes" and electronic "brains" make sure the meeting takes place. They guide the pilotless missile to within lethal range of the plane, then explode it.

This teaming of intricate tracking and computing devices was made possible by teaming of another sort. The electronic control system was developed for Army Ordnance by the Bell Telephone Laboratories and the Western Electric Company, close-working research and manufacturing units of the Bell System.

It's just one of the many important military projects being entrusted to the Bell System.

DON'T LET IT HAPPEN

From time to time it becomes the unhappy duty of the Sagebrush to report that a student or former student has lost his life through an automobile accident.

What makes this kind of story particularly heartbreaking is the fact that, in most cases, it need never appear in print. Almost all accidents are foreseeable a number of seconds before they actually happen.

Yet, in almost all cases, they happen anyway because the driver is not prepared for them. Because he is going too fast, talking, perhaps tuning the radio, the person behind the wheel loses those few seconds in which he might avoid a tragic mishap.

Because cars have become so common and so simple to operate, drivers have lost much of the healthy fear that should go with operating them. Filled with overconfidence, it is easy to rest in the comfortable belief that accidents always happen to the other fellow.

It just isn't true! An accident can happen to anybody that sits behind the wheel of an automobile. There is no sure way of keeping one from happening.

There is, however, an element of common sense that can make accidents less likely. That element is the awareness that they can and do happen. A driver who realizes this fact, and who drives with regard to it, can make the roads safer for himself and for others.

Please remember this, and, especially, please remember it next week on the way home for Thanksgiving vacation.

We never want to write any more headlines like the one carried in this issue.

Women's PE Adds 3 New Activities To Program Year

Three more activities have been added by the women's physical education department to its already varied schedule. The WRA has added two recreation programs that will be held on Tuesdays and an inter-collegiate archery tournament has been entered.

WRA will sponsor badminton and basketball in the Old Gym from 7:30 to 9:30 every Tuesday evening. Basketball is managed by Norma Etchegoyhen and badminton by Frances Schemeling.

In the afternoons there will be WRA roller-skating. Marie Neilson is in charge of this event.

The archery tournament started yesterday. Scores from the various meets are sent to a national governing board and the scores of all participating schools are computed in relation to the other participants.

Girls competing for Nevada are Betty Kling, Marge Sewell, Beth Miller, Karen Hveem, Alice Godbey, Janet Van Valey, Jeanette Melendy, Alice Melendy, Judy Macneil Diane Black and Leah Crabtree.

Any men who have shot before and are interested in competition can contact Miss Rulifson at the P. E. Department. If any turn out there will be competition arranged for the men, and also mixed competition with two men and two women on a team.

Offer Fellowships In Graduate Level

A series of graduate fellowships for college seniors and recent graduates preparing themselves for a career in teaching have recently been inaugurated by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Mo.

Dr. Loring R. Williams, associate professor of chemistry, has been named by President Love to work with the foundation on the selection of candidates.

The fellowships are granted on the basis of need with the amounts varying from $500 to $2400. They apply only to those who intend to teach at college or high school level, and are planning to enter graduate school in the fall.

Among some of the qualifications listed by the foundation are: evidence of superior intellectual ability, good record of health and emotional stability, choice of vocation of teaching as a form of Christian service and deep religious convictions and growing religious perspectives.

William Goodfellow left in his will the sum of $50,000 known as the Goodfellow Loan Fund, the income from which is used for a student loan fund.

Boxing To Regain Long-Lost Place As Six Cards Slated For Winter

The university plans to resume boxing on the active scale at which it operated three years ago. This was indicated by the attractive fight schedule released last week by Jake Lawlor, director of athletics. This year's total of six cards exceeds the one match last year with Nellis Air Base at Las Vegas and four the previous year. Three top-flight college teams have been slated and participation in three major boxing tournaments is also a strong possibility. The varsity's first home appearance will be against U.C.L.A. on February 4. Prior to that it will meet Chico State at Chico on January 12, and also has a possible match at Ely January 18.

Two other home cards feature Chico State on February 12 and San Francisco February 22. The Wolf Pack fights Idaho State at Elko March 1.

A few men are expected to compete in the Pacific Coast intercollegiate bouts in March, and the local team has received an invitation to the sixth annual intermountain tournament at Pocatello March 7 and 8.

NCAA Tourney
Possibility of some entries in the N.C.A.A. tournament was also mentioned by Lawlor.

The intramural boxing program, which is still in the conditioning stage, will wind up with an interclass boxing show just before the Christmas holiday.

Jim Olivas, veteran pro fighter, is handling more than 20 boxers every weekday except Tuesdays at the new gym.

Heading the turnout is Don Eccles, a heavyweight who has two years of varsity experience. Bob DeRuff, a light-heavy, is back, as are Mick Cuff, 135; Ed Hancock, 155, who doubles as a varsity basketball; and Dean Closter, 120, Alturas, California, who has five intercollegiate bouts and three years of varsity experience behind him.

Rifle Club Ready To Shoot Turkey

The annual pre-Thanksgiving turkey shoot has been slated for Tuesday, 7:00 p.m., at the firing range in the old gym.

Sponsored by the university rifle club, the competitive marksmanship is open to everyone. Prices are set at three shots for 25 cents.

Rifle Club president Mel Guerrero announced late this week that guns and ammunition will be provided for participants who don't have them.

Luck and skill targets will be provided.

Morrill Hall was named after Lot Myrick Morrill, U. S. senator from Maine (1860-1876) and author of the land-grant act which prompted the founding of the University of Nevada.

Pack Tracks

By DAVE MATHIS

Intramural sports produce some fine and heated competition along with some very good performances by the athletes on the teams. Often times varsity material is picked because of the ability shown by some athletes while playing for their fraternities. One of the prime purposes of the intrafraternity ski meet is to determine likely candidates for the varsity ski team. Despite these things attendance at intramural competition is usually slight. Generally only the members of the houses that are contesting show up and sometimes even the houses do not support their team's efforts. Here is pretty good sports fare and you don't have to belong to a house to attend them. This is why it is a treat to see the SAE's with a few rooters who aren't male and who haven't attended the game because it was compulsory in their house to do so. More of this would mean more fun for every one—for the spectators a chance to keep in rooting trim for varsity sports and for the participants in the games, a chance to show athletic ability without being a member of a varsity team.

"How is the basketball team coming along coach and what are your opinions as to the prospects of the team?" questioned this reporter.

"I believe that this year I have as good a squad as I have ever had," said Coach Jake Lawlor, "however, I'm not going out on the

"This squad this year has a lot of talent and it is deep," continued Jake. "Sure it lacks the height but if I have a couple of good rebound men that will be enough."

"I have capable, experienced men in Burt Larkins, Mert Baxter, Ed Hancock, Jerry Wyness, Dan Vidovich, Doug Douglas and Earl Jarrett," he concluded.

Jim Olivas, boxing coach, began organized workouts last Wednesday evening. Some 30 men have turned out for the pugilistic warfare and a good interclass card is expected for the coming tournament.

Probably the last chance for football fans in this area to see a game will be the Reno high, Douglas high contest to be held tomorrow row at Mackay stadium. Both teams are sporting undefeated conference records.

Lawrence Exhibit Of Water Colors Attracts Renoites

Public interest in the exhibit of water colors by James A. Lawrence of Carson Valley was termed gratifying by Prof. J. Craig Sheppard, head of the art department. The exhibit is now in its second week.

Sheppard was especially pleased by the fine response shown by the people of Carson Valley and Reno. Student and faculty failure to show a comparable interest was deplorable, he said.

James Lawrence is a former Californian, now living on a ranch in Nevada.

"Beale Street"

Some of the paintings in the present exhibit at the art department have received national recognition. "Beale Street," showing a gaunt old mansion, silently reminiscent of a carefree and bygone age, was first exhibited at the Reed Galleries in New York in 1941.

Other pictures that have been featured in the various exhibits throughout the country include "Ginning Time" and "Pigeon Point."

The subjects of James Lawrence's works range from Tennessee street scenes to waterfront glimpses of the skyline of New York. Chief attraction, however, are his scenes of Carson Valley where he makes his home.

The exhibit will close on Sunday, November 18.

Sigma Nu Mothers Meet For Luncheon

The Sigma Nu mothers' club held a luncheon honoring the mothers of new pledges at the chapter house on November 8.

Hal Fields, Sigma Nu house manager, played selections on his guitar.

Plans for the annual Christmas dinner for pledges, active members and alumni, to be given December 16 at the chapter house, were discussed.

Theta Theta chapter of Delta Delta Delta offers an annual scholarship of $150 to a woman student at the University of Nevada.

SDX President Goes To Detroit To Attend Meet

Edward W. Scripps, University of Nevada delegate to the Sigma Delta Chi convention this week in Detroit, Michigan, was asked to be one of a small group of students who will sit in on the executive council meeting of the professional organization.

Scripps is president of the local Sigma Delta Chi chapter, a national professional journalistic fraternity.

Delegates to the convention will be called upon to take action on measures to strengthen the fraternity and to defend freedom of information.

Held last year at Miami Beach, Florida, this is the 32nd annual convention for the fraternity. Mark Curtis and Scripps were last year's representatives from Nevada.

Scripps is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity on campus, and is a graduating senior in the school of journalism. He has served on various student publications and was the chairman for the 1951 Mackay Day committee.

Varsity Riflemen Hold Dual Meet

Nevada's ten-man varsity rifle team meets a combined Placer high school and college aggregation December 1, in the first match of the year.

The dual meet, to be fired shoulder to shoulder, will be held at 1:00 p.m. on the local firing range in the old gym.

Master Sergeant Ceasar Brunetti has announced probable varsity marksmen as Mel Guerrero, James Etcheto, George Shindler, Kenny Austin, Kim Choy, George Becker, Bill Engel and Roger Iveson. The team will be rounded out by freshmen who have received preliminary firing instruction.

The varsity coach praised Iveson, who last year represented the school in national intercollegiate matches at Berkeley. Brunetti expects the 20-year-old sophomore from Reno to someday acquire national recognition for his talented marksmanship in .22 caliber firing.

Dr. W. O. Roberts of Harvard University lectured on the campus recently and gave us something to worry about. He said that the sun had been dishing out energy to this earth for about two and a half billion years and is showing wear and tear. The fact is, says the learned doc, the sun may wear itself out in another ten billion years.

Costume Dances Add Bright Spots To Long Weekend

Last weekend's costume dances, held by Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Tau Omega, and Phi Sigma Kappa were the bright spots of the social week on campus.

Pi Beta Phi had a "brand name" dance at the chapter house with miniature samples of hand lotion and other bottled products given as favors. An award for best costumed couple went to Joan Peterman and Bill Forman, who wore imitation beer cans.

Grass skirts and sarongs were featured at the ATO's "coconut dance" at Echo's on Saturday night. The coconuts swayed to the rhythm of Milburn Brunetti's High Hats.

Phi Sigma Kappa members and their dates were attired in pajamas and night gowns with careful attention being paid to such appointments as garters at their "record dance" in the chapter house on Saturday.

Dr. William D. Billings, chairman of the biology department, was recently elected editor of Ecology magazine.

Professor Laird Nevada Member Of Name Group

Dr. Charlton G. Laird, professor of English, was named recently as the Nevada representative on the Western Place Name committee. The Western Place Name committee is dedicated to finding out why certain names are used and how they originated. It is composed of scholars from universities of the western states.

"This is the first time an organized study of names has been started in the west," Dr. Laird said. "Before this, there were only individual and sporadic attempts."

This winter the New Mexico Quarterly will publish an article by Mrs. Leigh Gibby, wife of Mr. Leigh Gibby, English instructor, dealing with the recent work done by the committee. The article will be entitled, "Death and Disaster," about how the Nevada town received its name.

The U. of N. Sagebrush offers parents and friends of students a complete coverage of all campus activities. Send in your subscription today. Price: 75 cents per semester.

Four UN Students Attend Inter-Frat Regional Conclave

Four members of the Nevada Inter-fraternity council attended a Western Regional Inter-fraternity council conclave in San Jose, Nov. 8, 9 and 10. Dr. Robert S. Griffin, dean of men at Nevada, accompanied the men.

The western region includes the councils at 33 universities and colleges in British Columbia, Washington, Montana, Wyoming, Oregon, Nevada, California, Arizona, Utah and New Mexico.

Discussions on IFC finance, rushing regulations, pledge training, public relations, fraternity regulations and other matters of interest to the IFC representatives were held at the St. Claire hotel.

On the lighter side, the San Jose State council honored the delegates at a dance, two luncheons and a banquet. While in San Jose, the men were housed at the various fraternity houses.

Members attending were Ray Marks, Sigma Nu and president of the Nevada IFC; Bill Macdonald, Lambda Chi Alpha; Kay Vassar, Sigma Rho Delta; and Bill Jager, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

SAE Minerva Club

Sigma Alpha Epsilon's Minerva club, mothers, wives and sweethearts of fraternity members, held its annual get-together party for fraternity members and guests November 11 at the chapter house.

Buffet dinner was served at 5:30, followed by entertainment.

Go GREYHOUND

1. It takes all kinds of tools to keep America running and all kinds of tools to keep Americans employed. In many jobs the cost of these tools is relatively little. So almost any man can provide them for himself. In others, the cost is great. So in order for a man to put his talents to work, he needs help in the form of capital from others.

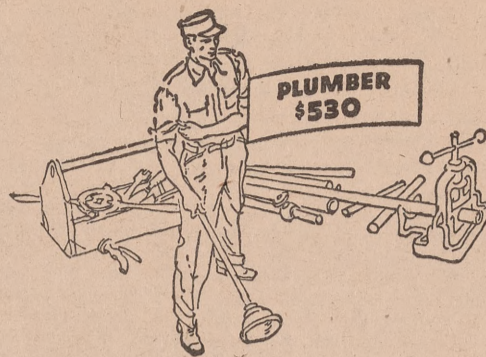

2. This is one of the main reasons why we need all sizes of businesses in America—big, medium and small. The average oil well drilling rig, for example, costs about $200,000. For the 20 men who make up its 4 crews, this represents a tool investment of $10,000 per man.

3. High-cost tools are typical of the oil business. So is the large amount of capital required for raw-material supplies, transportation systems, etc. Our average investment at Union Oil, for example, is $67,000 (in refineries, ships, tools, rigs, oil lands, etc.) for each one of our 7974 employees.

Sources for tool costs: "Selecting and Operating a Business of Your Own," by G. E. Larson in Survey of Current Business; Painters, Decorators & Paperhangers of America District Council, A. F. of L.; Carpenter's District Council of Los Angeles County, A. F. of L.; Union Oil Company of California.

New job?

HERE'S THE COST OF TOOLS FOR 5 TYPICAL U. S. OCCUPATIONS

4. That's why you find many big companies in the oil industry. A rough carpenter can set himself up in business without outside help. But the only way we could have financed the $67,000 worth of tools, equipment and raw-material supplies that are required for each of our employees was by pooling the money of a lot of people.

5. This pooling process resulted in a corporation known as Union Oil Company, owned by 36,012 individual stockholders. (The largest one of our stockholders owns less than 1 1/4% of the total stock of the company.) By some standards Union Oil Company is big. By others it is small.* But big or small, its size is a direct result of the economic functions it has to perform.

*The U. S. government, for example, is so much bigger than Union Oil Company that it takes in and puts out almost as much money every day as Union does in an entire year.
