

Student Leaders Killed In Wreck

At 10:45 p.m. last Sunday, a 1937 Ford sedan bore three University of Nevada students west on highway 40 toward Reno. They were returning to the university after the long Thanksgiving weekend.

The car passed Painted Rock and started downgrade on the frosted pavement. Too little traction was offered by the slick surface and the Ford slid across the dividing line into the path of a heavy sedan.

Both drivers made frantic efforts to avoid a collision, but the vehicles met head-on.

Donna Delores Batt, student, was killed in the accident.

Raymond E. Marks, Jr., student, died in the hospital on Thursday morning from injuries received in the crash.

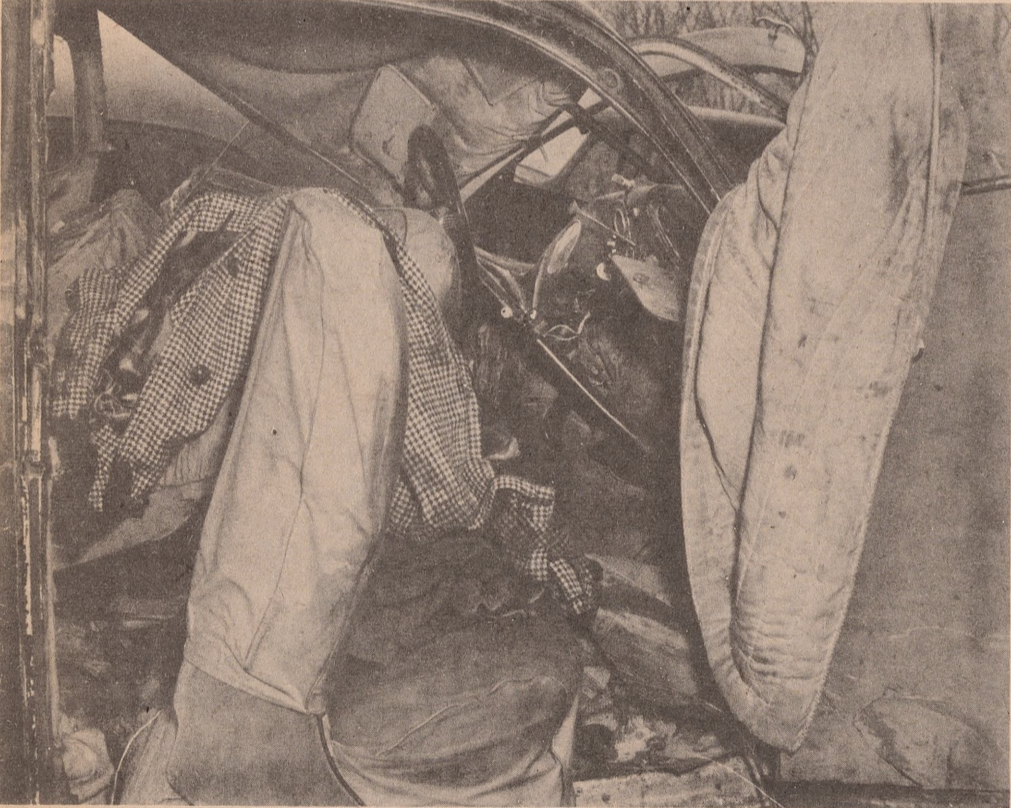

George L. Bower, student, and Nelson C. Brusa and Francis Bender, travelers from California, are still in hospital for treatment of their injuries.

"Buzzy" Marks and Donna had announced their engagement just a few weeks ago. Both students were active leaders in campus life.

Donna was president of Pi Beta Phi, treasurer of Cap and Scroll, and a member of Pan-Hellenic council, Ski Club, Sagebrush staff, AWS council, Psi Chi and Sagens. She was majoring in education and engaged in practice teaching courses in Reno schools.

"Buzzy" was president of the Interfraternity council and a member of the Student Life committee and Sigma Nu fraternity. He played Frosh basketball, and had served as student body president while attending Reno High school.

They will be buried side by side in Carlin, Nevada.

Editor's note: This picture, the story over it, and the editorial opposite it are strong material. Nevertheless they are used in the hope that such a graphic presentation of the great tragedy we have suffered will so impress the student body that it will never have to be repeated.

Kids Endangered In Victory Heights

Speeding cars are endangering the lives of children living in Victory Heights, the married students housing project, according to complaints from residents in the area.

"We have complained to the university officials repeatedly," said Mrs. Mark Curtis, mother of two young boys.

Students living in Hartman hall are the worst offenders, according to Mrs. Curtis.

Special danger seems to exist at the intersection in the northern part of the housing project. Many complaints have been received that speeding cars whip around the corner without regard for the children playing there.

Captain Louis Spitz of the Reno police department says, "precautions are being taken every day and a number of violators of the speed law have been apprehended and fined in traffic court."

Parents of children in the project have suggested a removable barricade to be used on the road leading to Hartman hall.

ANOTHER ONE! Students Shaken In Auto Mishap

Archie Wood, Jr., 19-year-old freshman student, and Lee Davis, a 22-year-old senior, were shaken up but apparently not seriously injured in a two-car collision Monday night.

The accident occurred on Highway 395, just outside Reno's South Virginia street limits, when a car driven by Robert Cox, 18, of Reno, collided with the rear of Davis' car as he was making a U-turn, Washoe county sheriff's office reported.

Cox was treated at Washoe medical center for bruises and a head laceration. The students were not hospitalized.

A DEDICATION

Death takes no holiday.

In the past three weeks, the University of Nevada has lost three persons—one graduate and two students—as a result of fatal holiday accidents.

The first happened over the Armistice day weekend. It took the life of Colleen Gilbert, 1951 graduate.

The second occurred less than a week ago, tragically climaxing a four-day Thanksgiving vacation. Raymond E. (Buzzy) Marks and Donna Batt are dead as a result.

The student body cannot help but deeply feel its great loss. Colleen, student body secretary in her senior year, was known by almost everyone. She was to have been married to former U. of N. athlete Carl Robinson, and was on her way home to announce the engagement.

Donna and Buzzy, too, were to have been married. They had spent the holiday in Carlin with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Batt.

There is no activity on campus that will not suffer because they are gone. No student will escape without a feeling of deep personal loss.

Yet, out of the tragedy, there is a lesson to learn.

Buzzy's father, Raymond E. Marks, Sr., expressed that lesson on the morning of his son's death.

"If what has happened to these two great kids," he said, "will make other students slow down—will save other lives—the price is not too great to pay."

THE PRICE IS NOT TOO GREAT TO PAY!

Can any person ignore or forget this unselfish statement—the hardest one a father has ever had to utter?

Mr. Marks knows—perhaps some of you know—how deeply such a tragedy can strike.

"Last week Mrs. Marks and I were counting our grandchildren," he said, "this week we are counting our dead."

"One moment of speed or lack of vigilance, and a family is left with only memories."

Even these words from an unhappy and bewildered father cannot describe the grief that follows in the wake of a fatal accident.

Mr. Marks made them with one objective in mind—to help prevent the necessity of any other parent being forced to suffer the loss that he has.

For three years he was chairman of the Washoe county Governor's Highway Safety Committee. In this post he studied methods by which such tragedies could be avoided.

Now, personally affected, he is even more eager that there be no repeat performances.

So that Donna and Buzzy will not have died in vain, he asks one favor of the student body of the University of Nevada. The favor, "... that the students rededicate themselves to safety on the highways in memory of those two great people, Donna and Buzzy."

Remember this dedication during the Christmas season so death can truly 'take a holiday.'

Press Club Hears McCarran's Aide

"The power of newspapermen in Washington depends largely on their popularity with Congressmen and other officials," Miss Eva Adams, office manager for Senator Pat McCarran told Press club members and guests at a meeting Wednesday night at the Theta house.

Miss Adams, a graduate of the University of Nevada, received her master's degree at Columbia university and a law degree from Washington college. As a Nevada student, she served as assistant to the dean of women, Dr. Margaret Mack. She was also women's editor of the Sagebrush.

Miss Adams stressed the tremendous influence of the press in Washington and urged Press club members to use the power wisely.

Leila Rowson was named chairman of a committee to plan the Press club's annual Christmas party to be held during the week before Christmas vacation.

The deadline for entries in the Press club and journalism department's high school publications contest was set at December 15, since it is impossible for some of the schools to send in complete entries by the original deadline, December 1. Three high schools have sent in entries so far, Shirley Kershner, chairman of the contest, reported.

Two New Mining Courses Approved By Engineering And Mining Colleges

Two new courses in mining were approved at a meeting of the faculties of the Mackay School of Mines and the College of Engineering.

Meeting in joint session on November 5, the two faculties approved a course in Mine Surveying to be known as Mining 476 and a course in Mine Sampling and Valuation to be known as Mining 478.

Doctor Vernon E. Scheid, Dean of the Mackay School of Mines, said today that the approval precedes the action of the midyear meeting of the general faculty, which will be called sometime in January or February at the convenience of the president.

These courses have not been offered before as far as Dr. Scheid has been able to determine during his time at the university. There was a course numbered Mining 103 which included mining and sampling in conjunction with other aspects of advanced mining. In the past, mine surveying was confined to a summer course known as Civil Engineering 58 which included topographical and mining engineering. The new courses would supplant and replace those previous courses adds Dr. Scheid.

Opportunities for advancement in the Army and Air Force are better now than they ever have been.

AT LAST Student Directory Hits The Streets

The new student directory is now on sale at the YMCA.

Similar to last year's directory, the new publication lists the names and addresses of both faculty and students. It also gives the class status of the students and lists the various campus organizations together with their memberships.

The price of the new directory is twenty-five cents.

Nevada Will Host Engineer Conclave

The University of Nevada will be the 1951 host to the annual meeting of the American Association for Engineering Education, Pacific southwest section, according to an announcement by Dean Stanley G. Palmer of the college of engineering.

Scheduled for Dec. 27 and 28, the meeting is expected to attract at least a hundred educators from western colleges.

Principal speaker at the two-day affair will be Dr. J. E. Church, professor emeritus of the University of Nevada, who will lecture on "Science and Adventure." The lecture will be based on his experiences in conducting snow surveys, which have received world-wide recognition.

Dean Fred W. Trainer of the education department will lead a discussion group, and Hugh Stamberger, Nevada state engineer, will be one of the speakers on water problems.

The local committee in charge of such problems as housing, banquets and luncheons, meetings and special trips will be comprised of Dean Palmer, Harold J. Hendrix, associate professor of electrical engineering; Howard B. Blodgett, professor of civil engineering and William I. Smyth, professor of metallurgy and mining.

Last year's meeting of the association was held at the University of Southern California at Los Angeles.

Women who enlist in the WAC and WAF are offered the same opportunities available to men.

Top-Rated Movies Of Past 20 Years Shown On Campus

"Some of the best movies of the past twenty years are being shown on Sunday nights in the Education building auditorium," says Bob Debold of the Campus Players, sponsoring organization for the shows.

According to Debold, you can't beat twenty-five cents for admission to such shows as "Lydia" and "Pygmalion." Both of these features will be presented in the near future.

The last offering, "It Happened One Night," starring Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert, drew a small crowd but was well received.

Blood Donation Campaign Starts

University of Nevada Day has been set for December 11 by the Red Cross in its current campaign for blood donations for the Korean front, Elaine Mobley, dean of women, announced this week. The day is scheduled for students who wish to donate.

The blood bank being used is a special railroad car outfitted by Western Pacific in memory of Charles O. Sweetwood, a former employee of the railroad, killed in Korea. The Sweetwood car is designed and equipped to handle all operations of receiving donations, and is staffed with four nurses. Local doctors are volunteering their services.

While it may be a simple process to take the blood from the donor, any student who wishes to donate must be over 18 and those who are between 18 and 20 must have a parental release in writing. Dean Mobley stated that these are Red Cross requirements and that mimeographed release blanks have been forwarded to all fraternities and sororities.

The students will be taken by bus to the Sweetwood car and will undergo blood count and blood pressure examinations.

The car can handle a hundred donors a day. Dean Mobley stated that if 150 students pledge to be donors, the campaign should be a success. The extra fifty are wanted because several probably will not pass their examinations, or may be sick on that day.

The Blood Bank will be open from 1:00 'til 6:30 p.m.

Students Selected To Attend Meet

Representing the University of Nevada at the 56th American Industry Congress in New York City next week will be Ivan Eisenberg, a senior student in business administration.

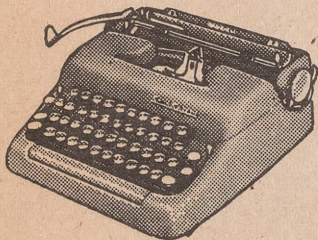

Eisenberg, whose home is in Las Vegas, will be a guest of the National Association of Manufacturers.

The 49 students attending the meet were nominated as outstanding students from among 600 candidates by their respective college presidents.

Career jobs for women in the WAC and WAF are offered in approximately 725 fields.

Faculty Looks At Student Plans For Their Evaluation

By WM. VAN DER LEY

University of Nevada faculty as a whole welcome the kind of criticism which might aid them in improving their methods of instruction, but look with disfavor upon systems of faculty evaluation introduced at some of the larger colleges.

The faculty evaluation program was discussed at a panel meeting of the American Association of University Professors last Wednesday night at their monthly meeting. Leading the discussion were Dean Fred W. Trainer, head of the department of education; Dr. Harold Richardson, assistant professor of psychology; and student representatives Ted Scripps and Gene Brown.

Termed 'Red Tape'

Principal objection to any manner of student evaluation of their instructors came from Dean Vernon E. Scheid, head of the Mackay School of Mines.

"A sign of the times," he said. "In my opinion it is another manifestation of red tape. I question the ability of certain 'A' students to make a fair evaluation of their instructors. I certainly question the ability of a 'D' student."

A few professors expressed dubiety about a system which calls for a comparative grading of one instructor against another. In this way, fifty per cent of the faculty would at all times find themselves falling below the median.

Others felt that "We have been grading the students against one another; perhaps this is their chance of getting back at us."

Dr. Richardson emphasized that the proposal, as it stands, would make the results of the evaluation poll available only to the faculty member concerned. No one else would have access to the information.

"If the poll is conducted in such a way that no one else knows how he stands," he said, "there's a lot to be gained. Some instructors may feel that they have been helped."

Dr. C. W. Meltz, associate professor of foreign languages, and Dr. Loring R. Williams of the chemistry department both agreed to some kind of criticism, on principle.

"I like concrete examples," Dr. Meltz said. "I like to help students in a specific case."

Dr. Williams said, "How I can improve is more important than what students think of me. That's what we should think of."

Ted Scripps, senior journalism major, traced the history of the faculty evaluation movement and passed around forms used at some of the universities. He also gave an outline of the proposed system, explaining it merely consisted of a number of tentative suggestions.

In most of the colleges having evaluation systems, the results are favorably received. Most ratings serve to substantiate an instructor's pre-conceived notions about his own particular shortcomings and abilities.

Traits commonly rated are: knowledge of the subject; attitude toward the subject; attitude toward the students; personality; speaking ability; ability to explain; tolerance to disagreement; fairness in examinations; and stimulation of thought.

Journalism Prof To Judge Contest

Professor A. L. Higginbotham, head of the department of journalism, will be one of the judges of a newspaper contest sponsored by the Wyoming State Press Association.

He was chosen as one of three judges who will judge daily and weekly newspapers throughout Wyoming. The other two judges have not yet been selected.

Griffin Joins Navy; Hoist The Mains' Full Speed Ahead

Doctor Robert S. Griffin, dean of men, "joined" the Navy last Sunday.

Dean Griffin with five other men is participating in a one-week cruise as civilian guest of Rear Admiral B. J. Rodgers, commandant of the twelfth naval district.

Admiral Rodgers issued the invitation in behalf of the secretary of the navy. In navy jargon, the excursion is listed as a "VIP" cruise. Inviting civilians to participate in an actual training cruise is a practice instituted by the late secretary of navy, James F. Forrestal.

The Nevada group and approximately 15 other civilians, assembled in San Francisco, Sunday, and were flown to San Diego. There the party boarded the aircraft carrier, Philippine Sea.

Actual battle conditions are to be simulated from November 26, till the end of the month. Upon completion of the cruise, the civilians will be returned to San Francisco by a navy plane.

Mayor Francis R. Smith of Reno; Edward H. Madsen, local businessman; Thomas O. Craven, local attorney; David S. Traitel, retired rancher of Minden; and Richard B. Day, Smith Valley rancher are the other members of the group from Nevada.

XMAS PARTY

Chem Club's annual Christmas party will be held tonight at 7:15 in the basement of Stewart Hall in the Y rooms. All members are invited to attend the party and those planning to be there are asked to bring an inexpensive novelty gift for exchange during the evening.

- What is your opinion on the type of architecture for the new Student Union Building? (Modern, University or College style, etc.)
- Would you consider eating facilities in the building or continuing with the present "gow hall" set-up?

The Student Union Building Committee stresses the importance of filling out this questionnaire accurately and promptly as the new Union Building will be constructed according to the answers received.

Return to Sagebrush office or place in ballot box in YWCA Snack Bar.

LETTER TO EDITOR—

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to stress the importance of the questionnaire drawn up by the Student Union Building committee concerning the future Student Union. The committee worked very hard in collecting material from other colleges about their union buildings, and we considered the time appropriate to find out what the students here at Nevada want. Through these questionnaires we hope to contact every student here at the university. For those who have not filled out a questionnaire, we would appreciate it if they would do so now and turn it in to the Sagebrush or drop it in the ballot box in the snack bar.

I can't stress enough the importance of getting these questionnaires back to the committee. Think about your answers and fill out the questionnaire in a serious manner. The building is going to be yours and we want it built the way you want it.

Sincerely,

Len Savage,

Chairman Student Union Building Committee

Dear Editor:

For the last two Sundays it has been my pleasure to listen to Bill Cunningham of the Boston Herald over the radio. He has brought forth an idea which I deem of interest to the student-body of this campus. He has started a nationwide poll of the major newspapers throughout the United States to see if the actual voting public wants to see General Dwight Eisenhower nominated for the presidency. It is, I believe, an impartial, non-political idea, and should, of course, remain so.

I think it might be of interest to those of us on the campus to find out how we as a group of supposedly intelligent voters and future voters, would stand on the issue. I have a particular interest, since I am turning 21 and would like my first vote to be cast for Eisenhower, as I believe many others do.

Sincerely,

David S. Pratt

Language Clubs Choose Officers For New Year

Three clubs elected officers at recent meetings. The Spanish club, a group of students taking Spanish courses, elected Harry F. Hess, president; Carl Herrera, vice-president; and Beverly Hess, secretary-treasurer.

Circle Francais, the French club, elected Norma Walsh, president; Hazel Beard, vice-president; and Priscilla Miller, secretary-treasurer.

Chris Nolan, president; Hans Mohr, vice-president; and Carol Normandy, secretary-treasurer, were elected as the new officers of the German club at a meeting November 20. After the meeting, a program of skits, songs and games were presented.

Student Union Building Questionnaire Given To Students For Suggestions

Questionnaires asking student opinion on the structure and facilities of a new student union building were passed out to the university student body Monday.

Replies to the questions will be used to determine what type the building should be and what facilities should be included, said Len Savage, chairman of the student union building committee.

More than a hundred replies have been received to questionnaires mailed out to colleges with student building problems similar to Nevada's.

Purpose of the questionnaires is to acquire as much information as possible on structures of this kind with a view of incorporating the best features of utility and design.

Compilation of the final data is scheduled for Tuesday night. Following this, the material will be forwarded to the engineering department where tentative blueprints for the structure will be drawn. Savage stated that they hoped to have the complete plans ready by June 1952.

When the plans have progressed sufficiently, they will be submitted to the administrative council and the student body for approval.

Money

Money for the new building is expected to come from the state legislature, a private donor, or the profits, if any, of the ASUN bookstore.

Savage stated that each student should consider the questions being circulated seriously and return the completed questionnaire to him by December 2.

Professor Howard Blodgett of the civil engineering department and Carl Forbes will start the floor plans of the building under the suggestions of the committee and with the aid of the questionnaires.

Four major questions included are: Should eating facilities be included in the new building? Where should the new structure be located? What type of architecture is preferred? What facilities should the building contain?

The student union building committee was appointed by Jim Eliades for the purpose of planning the new building in collaboration with the student body.

Faculty Club To Hear Student Musicians

A student musical program under the direction of Prof. Theodore Post, head of the music department, will be presented at Tuesday's meeting of the Faculty club. The meeting will be held at 7:30 in the Agricultural building.

Hosts and hostesses for the gathering will be Mr. and Mrs. Perry Hayden, Mr. and Mrs. A. Stuart Daley, Mr. and Mrs. Arno Glimm and Mr. and Mrs. Alden Plumley.

Press-Government Dinner Slated By SDX Fraternity

Senator George W. Malone will be the principal speaker at Sigma Delta Chi's annual press and government dinner scheduled for December 1 in the Nevada room of the Mapes hotel.

Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, each year holds a dinner meeting which features a prominent speaker on government and administrative subjects.

Nevada's junior senator, a former student here, will speak on the national political picture. The talk and the open question and answer period following it will be "off the record" in accordance with established custom.

Guest speakers in previous years have been President Malcolm A. Love, Governor Charles R. Russell, former acting President Gilbert Parker and former Governor Vail Pittman.

Newspaper and radio men from Reno, Sparks and other communities throughout the state have been invited to attend.

UN SDX Chapter Wins Fourth Place At National Parley

Nevada's chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, was awarded fourth place in the Beckman chapter efficiency contest during the recent national convention in Detroit.

Ted Scripps, president of the local chapter, represented Nevada at the convention. He was one of five students honored with a seat on the executive committee, and was on an undergraduate committee instrumental in stopping an increase in initiation fees.

Scripps reports that Nevada took twentieth place in the Holgate achievement contest which is judged upon the number of graduates in the professional journalism field.

Neal Van Sooy, editor of the Lakewood, Calif., News-Times, was awarded the Well's Memorial Key on nomination by the Nevada chapter.

Next year's convention is scheduled to be held in Denver, Colo.

Chapels are established at every U. S. Army post and U. S. Air Force Base.

Student Court Question Tops List Of Topics Before Student Senate

The senate continued discussion last week on the student court question. Student body president Jim Eliades said three out of eight colleges have answered a query he sent asking whether or not they had student court organizations, and if so, how they operated.

College of the Pacific, Santa Barbara college and Chico State college replied that they have no such organizations.

Most of the senators are privately sounding-out student reaction to the idea.

A first draft of the student court proposal has already been drawn up, outlining the powers such a court might have. It would be composed of ten members from the men's and women's upperclass committees, and have the right to summon any student before it to answer charges of misconduct when such charges are made.

Appointment of four Senate members to work on the Faculty Eligibility committee was made by the senate last week. These members will work with the committee to draw up eligibility rules in an effort to achieve a satisfactory over-all policy of activity eligibility. This will help in nominating students for student offices and committees.

Senators appointed to serve on the committee are Knight Beauchamp, chairman; Martha Oviatt, Ruth Moore and Mike Belongie. Dr. John Morrison of the chemistry department is heading the committee which is determining the eligibility of athletes.

Women Students Speak At Schools

A group of women students and Miss Ruth Russell, physical education instructor, lectured to 30 girls in Lovelock high school on rules and techniques of officiating girls' basketball last week.

Later in the afternoon, the women demonstrated the methods and actions of officiating with the high school students. The women, all physical education majors, were Beth Miller, Betty Munley, Jackie McGowan and Viola Neill.

Jobs Available With US Navy

Employment opportunities with the Navy bureau of ordnance will again be open to qualified students in the spring, according to a recent Navy department bulletin.

The Navy periodically needs chemical, electronic, electrical, industrial and mechanical engineers, chemists, physicists and other specialists for positions with the bureau of ordnance.

Graduates at all degree levels are in demand as well as experienced alumni.

A representative will be on the campus on April 7 who will discuss overall employment possibilities and conduct interviews.

BR-R-R-R Class Managers Get Chilly Laking

By WILLIAM VAN DER LAY

"Laking" of the managers of the frosh-sophomore tug-of-war teams opposing each other at Mackay stadium on Homecoming day was duly accomplished a week ago Monday at noon.

The double laking this year was the result of a default ruling which nullified the efforts of the successful sophomore team. It was charged by director of half-time activities Willard Esplin that Bert Munson, soph manager, had used an ineligible man.

Manager of the losing team was Otto Schultz. He joined his rival for a congenial, although hardly voluntary, plunge in the chilly waters of Manzanita Lake.

Why we have to anticipate your needs

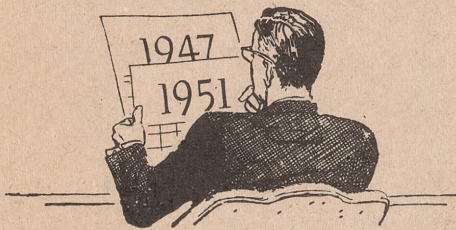

1. 21 months after the end of World War II, the research scientists at Union Oil came up with an entirely new type of motor oil for passenger cars. They had developed it to give the greatest possible protection for the new higher-compressor engines then being built. The new oil was purple and was classed as a heavy-duty lubricant.

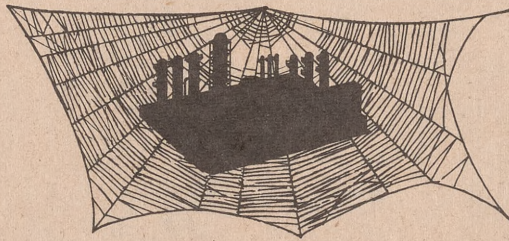

2. To demonstrate what the new oil would do, they put it in four new cars and drove them 30,000 continuous miles up and down the Pacific Coast. The oil was never drained! At the end of the run they opened up the engines and showed us the results: engines showed no measurable wear. The oil was in excellent condition.

3. Consequently, we put this remarkable new purple oil on the market immediately. We called it Royal Triton. 3½ years later, leading car manufacturers specified heavy-duty type oils for use in their new models. Royal Triton easily exceeded the most rigid of these heavy-duty specifications. As a result, leading car dealers from coast to coast now recommend Royal Triton to their new car buyers.

4. Naturally, we're glad we put a heavy-duty oil on the market 3½ years before the car makers' specifications were issued. But most important, we believe, is the economic system that gave us the incentive to anticipate the need for a heavy-duty oil. Under this system we are constantly striving to beat our competition to the punch.

5. If the oil business had been a government monopoly, not only would we not have a heavy-duty oil; we wouldn't have all the other petroleum products and services we have today. For there's no incentive to go after more customers when you already have them all. But because we didn't have all the customers, we had a very good reason for introducing an improved product.

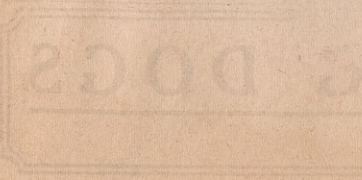

6. All of which goes to prove, we think, that the only way you can guarantee maximum progress in an industry is to have an economic system that guarantees maximum incentives. Our American system, with its free competition, provides these to a degree no other system has ever approached.

Hoopsters Open Season Tonight; First Home Game Played Wednesday

Tonight, the Wolf-Pack basketball team opens the 1951-52 season at Chico State. This is the initial intercollegiate game of the year for the Pack. Tomorrow night, the teams will again play Chico, and a return match is scheduled here January 4 and 5 in Reno.

Wednesday will be the first home basketball game of the season, when the Wolf Pack will play the Arizona State hoopsters from Flagstaff. The game is in the new gym and will start at 8:15 p.m.

The Wolf-Pack's probable starting lineup in this game will be four-fifths homegrown with four of the five coming from Nevada high schools. The lineup: forwards, Mert Baxter, high scoring veteran from Carson City; and Ed Hancock, former Reno high school standout and currently a varsity boxer; at center position, Roy Larralde, 6 ft., 5 in. sophomore; and guards, Dan Vidovich of Reno, who lettered last year; and Bert Larkins, Pack scoring leader last season with 199 points. Larkins is the only senior among the starting five.

Lawlor, expecting a tough game from Arizona State, a new opponent on the schedule this year, can also rely on guards Jerry Wyness, Dick Wilcox, Earl Jarrett, George Assuras and John Borda, only freshman on the varsity; and forwards Dave Storm, Reggie Depoali, Doug Douglass, Buddy Piazzo and Ray Hunter; and center Don Petroni.

Frosh Hoopsters

Preliminary game for Wednesday night will feature Frosh basketball coach, Hugh Smithwick's team playing Lassen J. C. at 6:45 p.m. They will play Manogue and Portola high schools in Friday and Saturday night preliminary games, announced Smithwick.

Second home game for the varsity will be played this weekend when they play host to Sacramento

State in a two game series.

Booster Enthusiasm

Enthusiasm over the season's home opener has been stimulated by many campus organizations and downtown merchants.

Fraternity and sorority members have been selling game and seasonal tickets, and the Blue Key organization has distributed schedule posters and is working on half-time activities for the coming season.

Full window displays have been featured by downtown business places. They display pictures of the team and their schedule.

Season tickets this year entitle the holder to admission to 12 home games and sell for $10. Regular game admission will be $1 for the general public, fifty cents for high school students, and free admission for children under 12 and university students with student body cards.

Pack Hits For 109 To Down Marines

A barrage of baskets by the Wolfpack reserves in the final moments of a practice tussle with the Marines from Hawthorne pushed the Pack score over the hundred mark, in fact up to 109. The game was played last Tuesday evening in the Nevada gymnasium. The Marines, who showed battle fatigue near the end of the game, could only find the basket for 43 points. This game was a prelude to the coming basketball season.

Big Roy Larralde, sophomore student and ex-Reno all-stater, hit for 18 points to lead the pack scorers. Reggie Depoali who fills in at center for Larralde was second high with 15 points. Larralde used his 6 ft., 5 in. frame to good advantage as he took them off the backboards and hit with a pivot hook shot.

Mert Baxter, Bert Larkins, Dan

Vidovich and Ed Hancock, all veterans from last year's pack, along with newcomer Larralde started for the Wolfpack, but before the game was over coach Jake Lawlor emptied his bench of 19 players. Jerry Wyness, a member of last year's squad, George Assuras and Bob Wilcox also turned in some snappy ball.

Dick Drake, marine and former Iowa State Teachers college basketball player, was high for the evening with 21 points.

Volley-Ball Bouts

SAEs are leading in the volleyball tournament, with Lambda Chi Alpha second. The tournament reached the mid-way mark last week as the SAEs defeated ATO and the Lambda Chi men downed the Sigma Nu's.

Phi Sigs and Theta Chis postponed their scheduled match until a later date.

Pack Tracks

By DAVE MATHIS

For an athlete who many times sparked his team to victory in interfraternity athletics the tracks have run out. Raymond Marks, better known as "Buzz" to those who played with him and against him in interfraternity athletics here on the hill, will be remembered as not only a good athlete but also a good sport. With "Buzz," a smile was more important than a harsh word in an athletic contest. Fellows like myself, who have been around here for two or three years, will miss him when the Sigma Nu's take the floor in basketball, hit their stride in track or when the "ump" hollers play ball on the diamond.

Olivas Teaches Boxing

Pointing out the finer points of boxing to the wolfpack sluggers this year is Jim Olivas. This is Jim's second year as boxing coach at Nevada. Last year he was only able to obtain two bouts for the team because of lack of interest in boxing and also because of the general athletic situation at Nevada. This year, however, he has a good turnout and has six bouts scheduled for his charges.

"Boxing proved itself once at Nevada. The matches were jam-packed with spectators and I believe that it can again become popular," stated Jim the other day. "One thing about the boxing team that I want understood is this, any boy can come out for boxing and he will not be required to don a glove in competition if he doesn't desire to," continued Olivas. "I want to teach the fundamentals of boxing, and a fellow can come out, learn these and get in shape, but if he doesn't want to fight he won't have to."

Jim is well qualified for the job he has. He was born in Los Angeles in 1909 and by the time he was in junior high school he was fighting in the 112-pound class for the Hollywood athletic club. During high school he branched out and battled for the Los Angeles athletic club also.

In 1929, he came to the University of Nevada and entered intercollegiate boxing. While in college he won every match he fought and on top of this tried out for the Olympic team. He won the west coast division in his weight in the tryouts and went back east for the finals. While playing football at the University he had received a knee injury and was barred from competition in the finals because of this.

After college he went back to Los Angeles and there gained a job as coach of the 106th Infantry boxing and football teams.

When the war broke out Jim entered the Navy and for three years was an athletic instructor. After the Navy he came to Reno and last year was appointed as boxing coach.

"The team looks good so far but we need some more 135 pounders" said Jim when asked what he thought of his team. "There is plenty of chance for a boy to earn a letter in this division since it is comparatively open" added coach Olivas.

To date the boys from Sigma Alpha Epsilon are leading the competition in interfraternity volley ball. Dick Naninni, Bill Jager, Ed Hancock, Ray Hunter, Don Petroni and Jerry Wyness are spiking them over for the S.A.E.'s.

Ariz. State Team Tough Pack Foes

Arizona State's Lumberjacks, the Wolf Pack's first home opponent, will start an experienced and fairly tall quintet in the Wednesday night basketball curtain raiser.

A member of the Border States conference, the team from Flagstaff will open against the Jake Lawlor-coached university team with four lettermen and a freshman. The average height of the Arizonan is 6 ft., 11 inches.

Listed as starters are Elmer Garcia, 5 ft., 10 in., fastest man on the squad and top point maker last year, and Jim Topp, 6 ft., 3 in., at forwards; freshman Lupe Acevedo, 5 ft., 10 in., who made 56 points in a single high school game last year and Bob Madole, 6 ft., 2 in., a good rebounder and second highest scorer on the team last year at guards; and Bill Criman, 6 ft., 4 in., a veteran of two seasons of junior college ball, at center.

Coached by Herb Gregg, the 16-man squad opens its season this weekend against a Marine five from Camp Pendleton. Following a mediocre season last year, the Arizona Staters, bolstered by added height and an experienced nucleus, are expecting a good year.

Over 200 specialties are taught by the U. S. Air Force.
