

XMAS SPIRIT RULES CAMPUS

Santa Claus, the traditional king of the Christmas season, will reign over nearly twenty parties on the campus during the next two weeks.

The social flurry started a week ago with the Chemistry club's party on November 30. A gift exchange started off the evening with dancing and refreshments following.

Department Parties

Tonight, members of the Math club and their guests will get together at Dean Fredrick Wood's home. This will take the place of the regular monthly meeting of the group, so the next business meeting will be held January 22.

Other student groups whose get-togethers are scheduled for next week include the journalism department-Press club party, the Home Economics-Aggie club taffy pull, and a caroling party planned by Lambda Delta Sigma.

The Press club party, an annual affair, is being held December 11 at the Snack Bar, with Leila Rowson in charge of arrangements. All journalism students and their guests are invited to attend.

Members of the Home Economics club are inviting Aggie club members to a taffy pull and dance at the home economics room in the Agriculture building, December 13, following the home economics department's annual tea.

Caroling will start a party for Lambda Delta Sigma members December 11. A dance and candy pull after the caroling will be held at the LDS church.

Greeks Entertain

Saturday night, December 15, Sigma Nu actives and alumni will attend their annual Christmas dinner at the chapter house. Newton Crumley, a Nevada alum, will furnish the dinner.

Sunday, two parties are scheduled. The Newman club will play host to about twenty underprivileged children at the American Legion hall. Gifts, Santa Claus and a tree will be provided for the kids.

Sunday night the Artemisia hall women residents will hold their Christmas party. This year the co-eds have decided to buy a ping-pong table for the hall instead of exchanging individual gifts.

Dr. Christian Melz' home will be the scene of the German club party on December 18. Members will sing Christmas carols in German.

Manzanita hall residents are planning a party for underprivileged children sometime during that week. They will present the children with gifts which will be distributed by Santa.

Nearly every Greek-letter organization on campus has parties scheduled for the week before Christmas vacation starts.

Kids Get Break

Gamma Phi Beta members will give two parties Monday. Ten underprivileged children will be invited for dinner at the house, with gifts presented later. Marlene Nyberg is arranging for Santa Claus to be present. Later, members of the chapter will exchange gifts.

Tri-Delta will hold a party for their mothers the following night. It will be held at the chapter house from 8 to 10 p.m.

Pi Beta Phi will also have a chapter party that night, beginning with caroling and winding up with a slumber party.

On December 19, children will be entertained by the SAE's at the chapter house. About ten underprivileged children will have ice cream and cake at the house and will receive gifts from the chapter.

Three parties at which children will be honored guests, are scheduled for December 20. Kappa Alpha Theta is holding a dinner for six orphans from a home in Sparks. Members of the alumnae group and mothers' club will also attend the dinner at the chapter house.

Ten underprivileged children will receive dinner and gifts at the Lambda Chi Alpha house. Other children will be guests of the ATO's for dinner at the house, followed by gifts under the tree.

The next two weeks promise to be busy ones for students as well as Santa, since social groups and religious organizations are joining other campus groups in planning Christmas activities.

500 Brave Rain To Hear Band

About 500 people attended the University of Nevada band concert Tuesday night.

The storm probably diminished the number of people attending, but it didn't dampen their enthusiasm, said Felton D. Hickman, bandmaster.

Several Solos

Featuring several solo numbers and a varied program of instrumental and novelty selections, Mr. Hickman directed the 39-piece band in an hour long program.

Jack Bastian played the trombone solo, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," and James Butler played "Capricious Aloysius" as his clarinet solo. "Estilian Caprice," a saxophone solo, was played by Loring Chapman.

Mr. Thaddeus Hess, formerly of the United States Marine Band and Jack Bastian, formerly with the First Army in New York, played the French horn and a trombone duet, "Nortena."

Novelty Tunes

Among the novelty tunes were "The Syncopated Clock" and "Dry Bones."

Mr. Hickman commented that he was pleased with the performance of the band and their appearance. He also added his pleasure in seeing so many university students attending the concert.

This was the first time a concert has been given in the fall, and he hoped that they would be continued.

Flag Twirlers

Four majorettes and six flag twirlers were an added attraction, performing while the band played the National Emblem march.

Other music on the program was as follows: "Star Spangled Banner," "Scenes From the Sierras," a tone poem suggesting the moods of the mountains; "Petite Suite," including "March of the Wooden Soldiers," "Old French Melody," "In Church" and "Waltz"; "A Night at the Ballet," featuring themes from Scheherazade, "Prince Igor," "Les Millions d'Arlequin," "Faust Ballet," "Swan Lake," "Chopin Prelude," "Sylvia" and "Red Poppy"; "The French Quarter," featuring the "Patio," the "French Market," "St. Louis Cathedral" and "Congo Square."

Winter Carnival Plans Released

Tentative plans for the thirteenth annual University of Nevada Winter Carnival have been announced by Willard "Red" Esplin, chairman of the carnival. February 22, 23 and 24 are the tentative dates set.

Invitations to participate are to be sent to fourteen colleges and universities. Those schools are: University of California, Stanford, UCLA, Portland, Denver, University of Washington, University of Idaho, Idaho State College, Oregon State, University of Oregon, Placerville J.C., Montana, Utah State College and College of the Pacific.

"This carnival will be the biggest on the Pacific Coast, and the trophies that will be given to the winning schools will be the best," stated Esplin.

Downtown Help

The Reno Ski Club is giving its support to the carnival plans. The annual Silver Dollar Derby, sponsored by the Reno Ski Club, has been cancelled, so they are lending full help to the university plans.

The social part of the carnival has also been tentatively planned. Ski Sweater Day, on which all students wear ski sweaters, has been planned for Thursday, Feb. 22. An all-school assembly will be held that morning. On Friday fraternity houses will be judged for outside decorations, and the sororities will hold open houses and be judged on the interior decorations of their houses.

A banquet in honor of the competing ski teams will be held Saturday evening, and will be followed by the annual Snow Ball, an all school dance.

Girls' Race, Top

Skating events will start on Friday with a cross country race. Saturday morning, a downhill race will be run, and that afternoon will mark the first run of the slalom. Sunday morning will be the second run of the slalom, and in the afternoon a co-ed slalom and jumping events will take place.

The co-ed slalom this year will be expanded, and an entry from each school is hoped for.

Members of the Winter Carnival committee are: Willard "Red" Esplin, chairman; Brent Aiken and John Cowley, tournament co-directors; Bob Ramsey, Ski Club president; James McNabney, graduate manager; and Bill Berry and Jerry Wetzel, representatives from the Reno Ski Club.

Publication Board Grants Darkroom

University photographers may have a darkroom in which to develop pictures for campus publications.

At the last publication board meeting a committee was formed to begin action on obtaining the darkroom. A possible location of the room upstairs in the A.S.U.N. building was suggested by Frank Johnson, editor of the Sagebrush.

Advancement of funds to the Sagebrush to facilitate bookkeeping and accounting was made possible by a unanimously carried motion at the meeting. The "Brush" now operates on a small income for the first few months of operation, until some of the accounts receivable come in.

Walt McKenzie, Artemisia editor, said that the dummy sheets are laid out for the Artemisia with the exception of athletics and activities. So far there are 224 pages in the dummy. McKenzie hopes to have the Artemisia completed by March 15 except for preceding activities.

Stop Sign Gift Of Reno Police

The big new yellow stop sign at the main gate at the southern entrance of the campus is a Christmas present to the campus from the Reno Police department.

Southbound cars going through the main gate on University Avenue must now come to a complete stop before crossing Ninth street. Traffic coming up University avenue does not need to stop.

East-west traffic on Ninth Street must still stop for the signs that have always been there.

Robert S. Griffin, dean of men, said that he asked the cooperation of the Reno Police department in view of the hazards at that intersection.

Referring to speeding and carelessness in general, Dean Griffin also said, "we have talked and issued pleas to the students to exercise caution, but the pleas have carried no weight with a certain small element on campus."

The Reno Police department may be given jurisdiction over the university campus by the administration so that safety measures can be enforced.

The university is a state institution and, as such, is now out of the jurisdiction of the Reno police.

All speeders will be subject to the customary $1 per mile over the speed limit penalty if Reno police take over on the campus, said Dean Griffin.

Ray Williams, the campus policeman, said "There would be no problem at all if the students would only cooperate."

Carl Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds, said he felt the problem was the student's "inability to adjust themselves to campus laws."

He also said that he intends to "soak them all" from now on for "any violation whatsoever."

Jim Eliades, student body president, said that "students in general are not too bad, but the worst and most frequent violations occur after the games at the gymnasium and the football field where large crowds gather."

Historical Society Hears Speech by Shepperson

Dr. Wilbur S. Shepperson, instructor in history and political science, will address the American Historical society's western branch on December 28.

Dr. Shepperson will speak on the subject "Emigration and the British Labor Movement, 1815-1860." The meeting of history professors from along the Pacific Coast will take place at Stanford university for three days, December 27, 28 and 29.

Nineteen Nevada Students Nabbed For Active Duty

Nineteen Nevada students last week were given notice of active duty orders for the Navy, according to the local Naval Reserve Organized Surface Division 12-49.

Among those notified were Jim Baker, Bob Ballard, Bill Bauer, Jack Callahan, Don Cutler, James Dalbey, John Harden, Herb Heher, James Jackson, Wilfred Jensen, Norman Martin, Jack Mortenson, Lee Mortimer, Bert Munson, Ed Stratton, Jerry Towner, Ken Triggro, Kay Vassar and D. C. Walker.

These notifications are not final and are subject to change. Naval officials said notifications are being sent out daily and the list will probably grow for some time.

The men being called will take physical examinations and receive their final orders in December or January. They will leave in February.

Lab Jobs Open For Aeronautical Research Interns

Examinations for Aeronautical Research Interns for positions in laboratories of the national advisory committee for aeronautics have been announced by the Civil Service Commission this week.

To qualify for positions, applicants must have completed a full four-year college course leading to a bachelor's degree with major study in physics, chemistry, electronics, metallurgy, engineering physics, or an appropriate branch of engineering. Applications will be accepted from senior students who expect to complete the required courses within nine months of the date of filing application. Intern positions carry a salary of $3,410 a year.

Application forms and further information may be obtained from the U. S. Civil Service commission, Washington 25, D. C.

Stewart Hall Takes On Barbershop Appearance

By JACK PENMAN

Giving Stewart hall a barbershop appearance wasn't such a good idea since "someone is going to pay for it," according to Carl Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds.

Mr. Horn said the cost of repainting the posts, which were striped with red paint, would be billed to the comptroller's office.

Someone Will Pay

Perry Hayden, university comptroller, said that his office has instituted an investigation as to the identity of the perpetrators. He also said that when the person or organization responsible was found that he or it would be billed for the cost of repainting the posts.

Dr. R. S. Griffin, dean of men, said, "fun is fun, but this has gone far enough. Now it would be something if the guilty party could dodge the night-watchman long enough to paint out the red stripes"

Other Damage

The return of the clapper from the bell in the Morrill Hall bell tower is also asked.

The clapper was removed by vandals a month ago and as yet no trace of it has been found.

Mr. Hayden said that the bell is just as old as anything else on campus and that it is a shame that someone has to destroy it for the sake of a souvenir. Otherwise it will be necessary to have a new one made.

Not "Horseplay"

"Common horseplay and fun is excusable but the destruction of property and causing of serious damage isn't," said Mr. Hayden.

He reported that last Saturday night a group of individuals was giving the night-watchman a rough time.

They entered the basement of Morrill Hall and threw two master switches that control the electricity for the campus. When these switches were "shut off" they stopped the electric clocks on campus, stopped the automatic bell ringing mechanism, and caused serious damage.

University And Townspeople Combine To Present "Messiah" This Month

One hundred seventy student and professional voices and musicians will be combined this year in the 17th annual presentation of the Messiah in Reno. Professor Theodore H. Post will direct the program in the new gymnasium on December 17.

Groups Combine

University singers have combined with the Reno civic chorus and orchestra to put on the Messiah. Professor Post, head of the university music department will again direct the production.

Appearing in the Messiah for the first time this season will be Mrs. Ella Caldwell and Mrs. La Verne Varne, sopranos. The new contralto will be Mrs. Margaret Bruns-Hawk from San Francisco.

Soloists

Male soloists will be Robert Herz, tenor, and Manfred Hardesty, baritone. Mr. Herz has just returned from Columbia University where he studied music.

Mr. Hardesty will sing, "Why Does the Nation So Furiously Rage Together."

For more than two hundred years, Christian people have been listening to George Fredrick Handel's Messiah which was first brought out in Dublin, Ireland, in 1742. Handel composed this work in the amazingly short time of 23 days.

Professor Post, who has been with the university music department since 1927, has conducted every presentation of the Messiah in Reno.

High school graduates may select one of 23 Army technical schools before enlisting.

Students Healthy, Infirmary Reports

Student health on the Nevada campus is unusually good for the winter months, it was reported by the university health service.

"At present there are no patients in the infirmary and few students have been in to receive treatment recently," stated Miss Mary Rotter, head nurse at the university hospital.

Miss Rotter added that the need for students to "come in at the first sign of a cold or other sickness" can't be stressed too much, and that the low rate of sickness for the winter season is remarkable.

Last year during the wet, snowy months, the infirmary was frequently filled to its capacity of 16 patients, in addition to the many students who came in for minor ills.

Today, soldiers and airmen are taught to be efficient and better citizens.

Carruth-Hurst

Norma Carruth, 1945 Homecoming queen at the University of Nevada, was married to Clayton Riley Hurst in St. George, Utah, November 23, 1951.

Mrs. Hurst was graduated from the university in 1949. She was a member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority, of which her sister, Barbara, is now president.

Prior to her marriage Mrs. Hurst taught in the Las Vegas schools.

The U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force offers a wonderful lifetime career.

Scholastic Honors Go To Instructor And Seven Seniors

Seven students and one faculty member were elected to Phi Kappa Phi announced Prof. J. H. Robertson, secretary of the organization.

Chosen for membership in the scholastic honor society were Carlyle Grafton, Barbara Carruth, Harrie Hess, James Hulse, Lide Dearing, Suzanne Winer and James Eliades. Dr. E. A. Davis, assistant professor of mathematics, is the only faculty member selected for membership this year.

Initiation Set

Initiation has been set for Sunday morning, December 9, in Artemisia hall, followed by a breakfast.

Phi Kappa Phi is an honorary scholastic society composed of senior students and faculty members. Undergraduate members are chosen three times a year from seniors whose grade point averages and credit hours are highest in their class.

More May Be Added
Ten per cent of the senior class may be eligible for membership each year. This year, the maximum number would be 22. The seven chosen this fall will help select other undergraduates later in the year, Dr. Robertson explained.

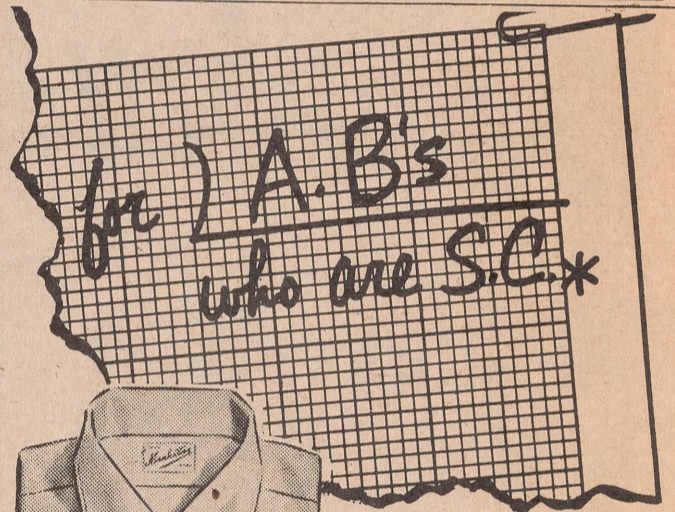

Margaret Sewell, Delta Delta Delta, announced her engagement to Raymond Dohr by presenting a cake to her sorority sisters. Ray, a former student at the university, was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Snow Troubles Hit UN Campus For Tidy Sums

Snow may be a very nice characteristic of nature to some people, but to Carl Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds, it is a headache.

Leaky roofs, blocked sidewalks and increased cost of maintenance are all results of the snow.

Dribble, Dribble

Leaks were reported in the ceilings of the Mining building library and in the big laboratory in the Electrical Engineering building, Mr. Horn said.

Approximate cost of fixing the leaks was five dollars apiece. Repairs were made on the roofs, but none was needed on the interior. No classes were interrupted.

Removal of snow from sidewalks and steps requires the efforts of five men and the use of the "snow-plow" for one day. The snow plow is a recent addition to the equipment used by the buildings and grounds department.

Expensive Job

Carl Horn estimated the cost for removal of the snow and spreading of salt on the icy spots to be seventy-five dollars. He added that no damage to flowers would result from the storm, since pansies seem to do alright in cold weather and no other flowers have been planted as yet.

Heating also presented no problem since the buildings are insulated well enough to stand the present weather, said Horn.

Love Is Honored By Alma Mater

An honorary degree of Doctor of Laws will be conferred on University of Nevada president Malcolm A. Love this June.

It will be presented by Simpson College, Indianola, Iowa, Dr. Love's alma mater, as a part of the college's commencement program.

Edwin Edgar Voigt, president of the college, informed Dr. Love of the honor in a letter a short time ago. In part, it read:

"It gives me greatest pleasure to say that last night the executive committee approved the recommendation of the faculty that the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws be conferred upon you at our Spring Commencement, which will be held Sunday, June 1."

Natural skills and aptitudes determine the type of training given to members of the Army and Air Force.

Sigma Nus Lead In Kinnear Race With 145 Points

Sigma Nu's athletes continue to lead six other competing fraternities in the annual fight for the Kinnear trophy, with a total of 145 points.

In second place is ATO with 86.17 points, followed by Theta Chi, 85; Lambda Chi, 81.17; SAE, 65; Phi Sig, 15; and Sigma Rho Delta, 1.17.

Almost All Sports

Points cover horseshoe singles and doubles, softball and the cross country run. Left on the year's schedule is volley ball, basketball, skiing, track, baseball, rifle marksmanship, tennis and handball.

In the 18-year history of the trophy, the ATO's have walked off with the cup ten times, Sigma Nu three times and Lambda Chi twice.

Co-ed Featured In Home Ec Mag

Anna Bee Wallace, University of Nevada student from Battle Mountain, was recently featured in "Whats New," national home economics magazine.

Miss Wallace was chosen for the honor by Miss Mildred Swift, head of the Home Economics department, and the home economics teaching staff.

Termed Outstanding

The magazine named Miss Wallace as an outstanding home economics student.

"I was awfully thrilled and very surprised at being selected," said Miss Wallace. She added that she was quite happy that she had chosen home economics for her field. She intends to teach it after graduation.

Active in university activities, she has been treasurer and president of the Nevada Home Economics club, is a member of the YWCA, a member of the university singers group, vice president of the Fine Arts club, and a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

'Both Your Houses' New Student Play For Dec. 18-20

December 18, 19 and 20 will be the dates for the presentation of this semester's student play, "Both Your Houses," by Maxwell Anderson. No admission will be charged for the production, which will be put on at the old gym, Dr. William Miller, director of the play, announced.

Satires Washington

A satire on Washington life and legislators, the play concerns a school teacher-turned-congressman, who is left to flounder among party caucuses, lobbyists and pork barrellers.

Veteran student performers Jim Hulse, Mary Ann Norlen, Clinton Wooster, Joan Miller and Bob Debold lead the cast of eighteen.

Other members of the cast include Pat Welty, Bob Glass, Maurice Sanders, Bob Moran, Loring Chapman, Don Harris, Bill James, Rick Ahlsweed, Gail Harris, George Schwartz, Frank Knebel, Myron Leavitt and Vince Reagor.

Adventure, travel, recreation and sports are all part of the daily life in the Army and Air Force.

Student Injured By Switch Engine

Injured by a railroad switch engine Tuesday night was Brent Tyler, junior pre-legal student from Glendale, Calif. The mishap occurred in the Southern Pacific Company yards in Sparks, where he works part time.

Tyler stated that he was hit by the switch engine while it was pushing a car. He added that he sustained back injuries but no broken bones. He will be confined to Washoe Medical Center for about ten days.

Southern Pacific officials had no comment to make.

Tyler is a junior student in the college of arts and sciences, and has been active in campus affairs.

Art Students Paint Theatre Scenery

Backdrop scenery for "The Curious Savage," a current production at the Reno Little Theatre, was designed by students of Professor Craig Sheppard's class in art structure and pictorial composition.

The scenery for the play was painted directly on the back wall of the theatre.

"The Curious Savage" is opening on Monday, December 10.

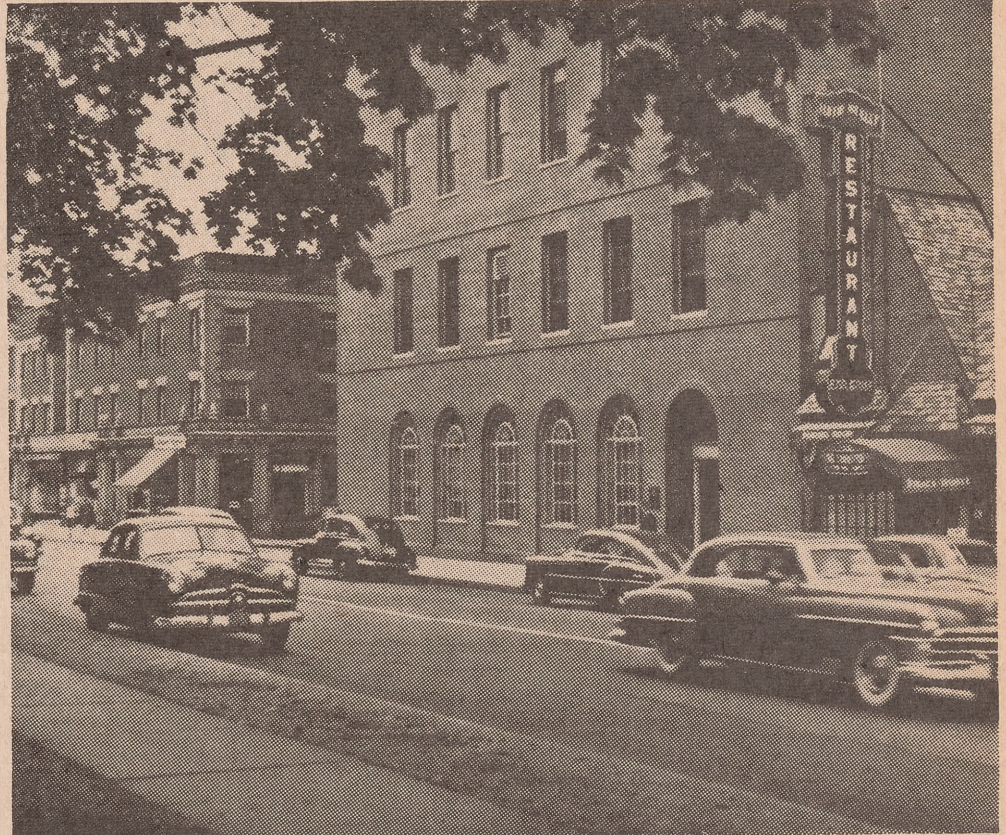

He participated in track last spring and is a member of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity.

WHAT'S SO DIFFERENT ABOUT ENGLEWOOD, N. J.?

In Englewood, the local telephone exchange looks pretty much like the telephone building in any other town.

And Englewood's telephones seem just the same as the twenty-seven million other dial telephones in the country.

But there's a difference . . .

You can pick up a telephone in Englewood and dial San Francisco telephone numbers direct!

In fact, you can dial any one of eleven million telephone numbers in thirteen widely scattered areas from coast to coast.

That's what makes Englewood different — the new kind of Long Distance telephone service on trial there by the Bell System.

Long Distance dialing is another example of the Bell System's constant search for ways to provide you with ever-better telephone service.

TOO Conservative

Security—personal security, not national—is the biggest bugaboo of college age persons today. According to a TIME survey the desire for a comfortable, secure future typifies the present generation.

In other words, Joe College today isn't looking for any worlds to conquer, and he doesn't particularly want any empires to build.

He just wants a pleasant job with a comfortable wage, an office health plan, social security and a gold watch at the end of forty years of faithful and uneventful employment.

In business for himself? Not if he can help it. The big concerns, the ones that offer average wages and comfortable anonymity, are his target. He's afraid any personal business venture might not do well—might take a little extra work, a little extra worry.

Does he worry about the government's steady, day by day taking over of the functions of his state, his city, even himself? No sir. Not Joe College. This kind of a trend looks good to him. It means that he has less to bother with. The more the government takes over, the more chance he has of going about his mediocre job with its mediocre salary in the same mediocre way. No problems left.

And that is security. Live and let live, and die and no one remembers that you have even been around.

That is the kind of security that seems to be wining its way around the world these days.

The Russian people had the same idea in March of 1917 when they tossed out the Tsarist government and stepped into the bright new world of the Soviet.

No problems here. The only party was the Communist party and, in practical application, the only candidate was the Communist candidate.

Consequently, the only plan turned out to be the Communist plan, the only course of action was the Communist course and the only ideas were Communist ideas.

Any poor, feeble-minded Russian who decided to think for himself was, of course, given ample opportunity to do it—and given a free vacation to the Siberian resort area for the duration of his unauthorized mental gymnastics.

How did the situation work out? Fine! The Russians are now the most secure people on earth. It is an unhappy Russian who doesn't now know what he is expected to do with his life. And he does it—or else.

It's simple: No decisions to make, no thoughts to think, no worries to worry. Unless, of course, the worry is about when the next purge comes.

Joe College, naturally, doesn't want anything like that. Not at all, and where did you ever get that idea? But just the same, he doesn't want to take any risks, or do anything over and above what he can possibly squeeze by with. Just the nice steady job with the nice steady income with the nice retirement pay—that's all.

BUT, THAT'S NOT ALL. Joe had better look a little farther—find out who is running things around here anyhow. Before he settles down into his complacent and unseeing life, maybe he had better get a little radical and see if he mightn't possibly want to do some of the running himself.

Perhaps, like his forefathers, he will decide that complacency isn't the golden road to security, and that security isn't synonymous with happiness and well being.

Pack Tracks

By DAVE MATHIS

Basketballs weren't all that the Wolf Pack tossed around while they were in Chico. Rather sketchy reports from a few of the guys who made the trip state that oranges make fine throwing material. At any rate there were quite a few oranges growing on trees which happened to be in reach of the ball players and after one had been heaved at a companion a little tournament of the oranges ensued. No names mentioned here—the guys involved can't pay off Sunkist. Aim was bad or at best erring, and no one received combat wounds. Here's hoping the team doesn't go someplace where something big and heavy like watermelons are grown.

Hats off to Mert Baxter who consistently plays fine basketball. Mert is big and smooth and always steady. In his first year with the Pack, the season of '49-'50, Mert played second string but still scored enough times to be third high for the team in points scored during the season. Ted Johnson and Joe Libke, who was putting in his third year for the Pack, preceded Mert on the list but not by many digits. That year Mert scored 251 points for an 11 point game average. He is from Carson City and was an all stater for the Senators two years running. Last Wednesday he was high for the Pack against Arizona, and in the Chico series he made 31 points in two games. His style of play seems effortless probably because you very seldom see the guy looking awkward or making a clumsy move.

It hardly seems safe anymore for students to leave their humble abodes. The Lassen junior college basketball team which was to have played the local frosh team in a preliminary to the Arizona State game banged into a house trailer on their way over for the contest. No one was seriously injured except that the coach was so upset over what occurred that he left a couple of team members in Reno when he returned home.

Bob Ramsy, Nevada varsity skier, copped a second in the men's "B" division in the first annual Turkey Trophy ski races at Squaw Valley. Looks like Bob is pointing for the intercollegiate season. Apparently the Turkey in the name of the races has something to do with Thanksgiving.

Doug Douglass, Tonopah's contribution to the Wolf Pack basketball team, is putting in his last year on the hardwood courts. Doug always makes me think of the first time I met him. That was some 10 or 11 years ago at a Boy Scout camp. I remember at that time he seemed a little more red-headed and certainly a little more chubby. Nevertheless he was a great guy even as a kid and I found, upon renewing acquaintances with him when I came to college, that he hadn't changed. Doug plays guard on the team and will see a lot of action this year.

Jimmy Olivas has been having many of his fighters sparring lately and despite the occasional bleeding of a nose things seem to be progressing smoothly.

Diminutive Sammy Madas is looking mighty professional as he bobs and weaves, feints and jabs during sparring sessions up at the old gymnasium. Sammy has just one draw back and that is his reach isn't overly long.

A year's time hasn't taken the edge off either Burt Larkins or Dan Vidovich, veteran guards on the basketball team. They still show plenty of fire and drive as

Petition Will Ask Football Schedule

Student opinion regarding resumption of inter-collegiate football, but on a more moderate scale than has been the case in the past, will shortly be solicited in a campus-wide poll.

Formal adoption of a move to conduct such a poll constituted the principal new business at the last meeting of the ASUN Senate. Individual ballots will be circulated by members of the student body as soon as they can be printed.

"Brushfire" Minus Business Manager

A quest for a business manager for the "Brushfire" is at the moment occupying the attention of the policy committee, according to Dr. Charlton G. Laird, faculty advisor of the publication. The "Brushfire" is the campus literary magazine.

The remaining staff of the publication will be appointed at a later meeting.

Dr. Laird revealed that at present there is a need for copy. Students are requested by him to send in their literary contributions.

By ED SCRIPPS

After a somewhat extended vacation, my editor has finally prevailed on me to write another column.

MONKEY SUIT TIME, MEN . . . Well, it's here again, Christmas formal season, and as usual, everybody is giving dances at the same time. At least, so it would seem. For those few unfortunate popular gentlemen on campus, Christmas formal season is a time when they hardly have a chance to get out of their fancy dress attire. After the next two weeks, nobody will want to hear the word tux until next spring when the ordeal repeats itself.

BATS IN THE BELFRY or CLAPPER CAPERS . . . For those of us who are unfortunate enough to have an eight o'clock once in a while, and have been wondering what has happened to the bell in Morrill hall which used to ring promptly at ten to and again at eight, well, it isn't the bats. The clapper is missing! I wouldn't know where it is, but it's going to be interesting to see what happens next time we have an assembly schedule.

HAIRCUT AND A SHAVE, SIX BITS . . . Looks like somebody is going into the barbershop business in Stewart hall. Somebody on campus must think he is an artist.

DRIVES, DRIVES, DRIVES . . . As usual, Christmas brings on drives for one thing and another. Most of them very worthy. Tuberculosis Christmas Seals are already a common sight in campus mail, sometimes along side the Father Flanagan's Boys' Town seal. And everybody seems to have their license tag key chain identification from the Disabled American Veterans.

These are fine and worthy causes, and those that have added their bit know it, but there are a couple of other drives going on a little closer to home that we should remember. Down in the YWCA there is a small basket placed there by the Sagens. Your donations placed in it will go for Christmas dinners for underprivileged children.

Speaking of the "Y," it is hard to get a foot in the door nowadays without being conscious of the drive to keep it clean. A good idea, too. And then don't forget the "Blood for Korea" drive. The Charles O. Sweetwood car will be in town next week, and they need your blood.

BOB'S NEVADA LOUNGE . . . almost looked like old times a couple of weeks ago during Thanksgiving. Quite a few Nevada students travelled to the city by the Golden Gate, if for no other reason than to see a college football game, and "The Biggest Little Bar in San Francisco" again became a meeting place for Nevada students and alumni alike.

A few of you might remember, that was the week end of the big game between STANFORD and California. Wha' hopin'?

N-E-V-A-D-A . . . Here on the hill, Nevada students, their voices a little out of practise, are once more getting a chance to cheer on the "Wolf Pack." The basketball team opened its season with two games against Chico State last week, winning them both. They tallied a third victory Wednesday night against Arizona State, and play again tonight.

Speaking of basketball, every Nevada game I've been to, I've always noticed an elderly couple sitting in the same seats, first row in the middle of the southeast section. Wednesday night they were back at their old stand, and I got curious. Now I'm a little embarrassed. . . the gent is none other than PRESIDENT EMERITUS WALTER E. CLARK, who served as president of the University of Nevada from 1917 to 1938. I don't think they have missed a game yet.

BEANS . . . Fraternity men will gather in the University Dining hall Wednesday night for the annual bean feed at which athletic awards will be made for last year. Nobody seems to know what the menu is going to be this year men. I wonder when they had beans last.

AH, THAT WHITE STUFF . . . The only man on Mt. Rose who isn't happy about all the snow we have been getting is ace skier BUDDY ADAMS, ex U. of N. student. Seems Buddy had just completed his rope tow on the Sand Dunes when it got snowed in. We'll see you next spring Buddy. Looks like a good year on the hill, too. There is more there now than there has been in the last two years.

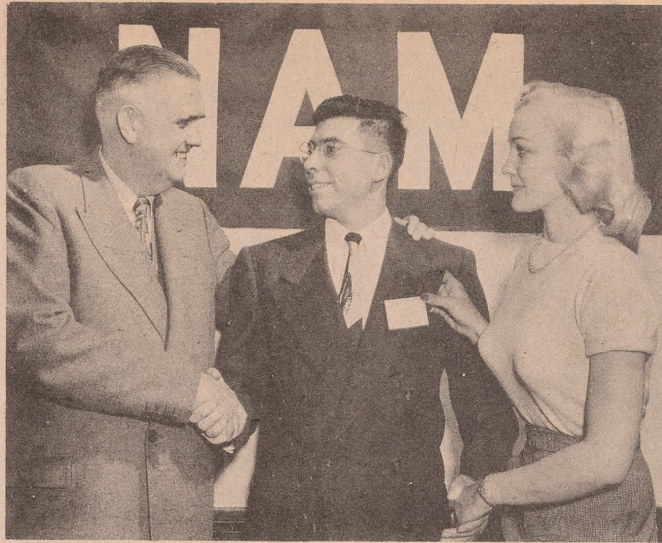

COURT GETS VETO IN SENATE VOTE

Plans for a student court to deal with traffic violations, and other matters pertaining to student law enforcement were formally dropped at the last meeting of the ASUN senate.

Reason for the move was the lack of enthusiasm for a student court at this time. It was felt, moreover, that the court, as proposed, did not have any real authority to enforce its decisions.

Other business transacted at the Wednesday night meeting included approval of a committee to draw up a permanent set of rules governing Homecoming and the annual ski carnival. Chairmen of the respective activities will be asked to sit in.

Today's soldier and airman receives a pay raise at least every two years.

Ivan L. Eisenberg, senior business administration student, is greeted by Earl Bunting, managing director of the National Association of Manufacturers, at the 56th annual Congress of American Industry in New York. The girl is unidentified, but decorative.

No One Knows It; Everybody's Quiet; Let's Keep STILL

By ALFRED CONTI

While it may not be exactly a campus secret, it certainly isn't known to most students. And for good reason, too . . . at least the metallurgy students think so.

Locked behind a strong door and a huge Yale lock in the musty basement of the Mackay School of Mines building is a weird contraption of copper coils, five gallon jugs, bubbling liquids and all the whatnot of making a—STILL.

Now you know why the prospective metallurgy engineers are making like a mummy about it to the rest of the campus.

Yet, despite all the secrecy, the still is quite legitimate, and its product is not for internal consumption. It is capable of producing five quarts of 170 proof alcohol a day.

Senior metallurgy student William Lytle is in charge of the still. It's operated only twice a week and the alcohol is used in chemical metallurgical tests.

Whether its spirits are for experimental purposes or not, the professors are taking no chances . . . that Yale lock is pretty tough to open . . . darn it!

The Army and Air Force offers free food, clothing, lodging, medical and dental care, and legal assistance.

Properly qualified civilian volunteers may apply for Army OCS.

John Paul Arnot Was UN Student; Edited Artemisia

Famed cartoonist and former University of Nevada student John Paul Arnot died last Friday in San Francisco after a long illness.

Arnot was born in Markleeville, California, and his family later moved to Placerville when his father was made a judge in that district.

He came to Reno and attended the University of Nevada. While in school he was editor of the 1908 Artemisia, a general science major, a member of THPO fraternity, now known as Sigma Alpha Epsilon, a member of his class football team, the Student Record staff, and the Press Club.

Arnot left the University in 1907. The class of 1907 did not publish the Artemisia that year, so Arnot published it for two years in the 1908 Artemisia. He and Silas Ross, now chairman of the Board of Regents, put out the yearbook together.

Upon leaving the University of Nevada, Arnot went to San Francisco, where he joined the Hearst papers. He later joined a feature syndicate. In 1913, he was the San Francisco Chronicle's sports cartoonist. He later rejoined the Hearst and King Syndicate in the east.

He returned west in 1933 and was the San Francisco News's cartoonist. Later he was affiliated with the Eastman Kodak Company.

Arnot's brothers and sisters also attended the U. of N. His sister, May, graduated in 1900; his brother, Edward, graduated from the school of mining in 1902, and Laura Levitt, another sister, graduated in 1904. His other brother, Percy, received a California degree, and is now a prominent physician and obstetrician in San Francisco.

Private funeral services were held Sunday, December 7, in San Francisco.

Fellowships Open In Science Field

Opportunities for predoctoral fellowships will be offered for the first time this year in a large national program sponsored by the Science Foundation. This announcement was made by the National Research Council this week. The fellowships are open to anyone eligible to begin or continue graduate study during the 1952-53 academic year.

The aim of these awards is to promote the progress of science. The awards offer opportunities for further study to large numbers of students of outstanding ability in the sciences who might not otherwise be able to fulfill their desires for advanced training.

Tenure of a fellowship is for one year, and can be arranged to begin at any time after July 1, 1952. Applications for fellowships for the academic year must be received in the Fellowship office of the National Research Council by January 7, 1952.

Surveys show that security is one of the most powerful reasons for a career in the Army and Air Force.

Money And Food Sought By Sagens

A collection of money and canned goods for underprivileged families this Christmas will be started next week in the YWCA by Sagens, women's honorary pep organization.

A brightly colored basket will be placed in the Snack Bar on Monday.

Enough money to supply full Christmas dinners is expected. Sagens will supply a turkey and the necessary trimmings for one basket.

A five or ten cent contribution from every student will supply many homes with a full Christmas meal.

Varsity Dumps Arizona 76-64 In First Game

By TOM GRICE

Nevada's varsity made it three in a row on Wednesday night with a 76-64 victory over a barnstorming Arizona State quintet.

Jake Lawlor's charges started out fast and had an 18-11 lead at the end of the first quarter. Burt Larkins, hard-driving senior guard, started the Pack off with a 20-foot set shot and added four more points before the first period ended.

Mert Baxter, the evening's high scorer, started the second period with a free throw. Ed Hancock, junior forward, took personal charge of the affair for the next few minutes and poured in a set shot from the deep corner, three gift throws and a crank shot to put the Nevadans ahead 26-12.

Douglass, Depoali and Baxter kept the Pack well in front throughout the quarter, and Earl Jarrett ended the half with a close-in jump shot off Dave Storm's bull's eye pass.

Arizona State returned to action in the second half with an excellent fast break attack and with just two minutes gone they started pressing the Nevada guards as they brought the ball down the floor, tactics usually reserved for the end of a game.

The Lumberjack attack was led by speedy Elmer Garcia, who made 12 of his 18 points in the third quarter. He hit three times on fast-break lay-ups, once on a close-in jump shot, and once on a long set.

Roy Larralde and Mert Baxter kept the Pack out front with six points apiece in the third quarter but Garcia and Buddy Islas whittled the Nevada 20-point lead to a relatively small 11 points.

The Pack started the last period with a 58-47 lead. The men from the southwest started where they left off in the third quarter. Garcia again hit on a fast break and slim Fito Trujillo did the same, but this was as close as the Arizona boys got.

Nevada then got together a rally with Hancock and Larkins getting a brace of fast break buckets. Just after this Larkins fouled-out as did his runing-mate, Dan Vidovich.

The Woodchoppers got hot again, but Nevada, led by Baxter's two close ones, Jarrett's lay-up and Bob Wilcox's set from the corner, matched Islas' long set shots and went on to win 76-64.

Fourth Win Sought By Pack; Hornets On Tonight's List

Can a pack of Hornets bother a Wolf Pack enough to keep them from dragging down their prey?

Tonight will answer this question as Nevada's basketballers try for their fourth straight win of the season by dumping the "Hornets" from Sacramento State College.

The game will be played in the Nevada gymnasium.

A preliminary game featuring the Frosh against Manogue high school will precede the eight o'clock main event. Portola high from California will meet the Frosh in the Saturday preliminary as the second game of the Sacramento series opens.

Warren Conrad, coach of the Hornets, has seven lettermen on his squad this year plus newcomer Herb Jotter who was a junior college All-American last year.

Have Advantage

Chief among the lettermen to bolster the Sacramentans are Frank Perez, leading scorer for the team last year; Carl Youngstrom, a junior college All-American; Jack Sarvis, Dick Galvin and Irv Schwall.

Average height of the Hornets is 6 ft., 1 in., which will give them a slight advantage over the Wolf Pack.

Last weekend the Californians won over USF but lost to Santa Clara. The Pack on the other hand has defeated Chico State twice and Arizona State once in their first three games.

Frosh coach Hugh Smithwick announced that the following men will probably get the call to action over the weekend in the preliminary games: Leland Ceccarelli, Otto Schulz, Ron Monk, Ray Pastorino, George Gadda, Tommy Hardester, Maurice Petre, Dave Mentaberry, Clair Earl, Larry Oxborough, Gordon Cutler, Jerry Swobe and Paul Rutherford.

Probable starting lineups for the varsity game:

| Nevada   | Sacramento |
|----------|------------|
| Baxter   | F. Perez   |
| Hancock  | F. Steen   |
| Larralde | C. Brian   |
| Larkins  | G. Galvitt |
| Vidovich | G. Schwall |

Four Professors Take Geology Trip

Art Exhibit Stars U. of N. Artists

A husband-wife art exhibit was featured recently at the Reno Art Gallery by Professor J. Craig Sheppard, head of the university art department, and his wife, Yolande.

Mrs. Sheppard exhibited a number of sculptures and lectured on them. Prof. Sheppard displayed some of his water colors based on local Nevada scenes.

The exhibit was held at the Charles F. Cutts Foundation, 643 Ralston St., Sunday, Nov. 25.

along with the others, will explore the geological elements of the Ubehebe Quadrangle in the Panamint Range on the west side of Death Valley.

The party will lodge in the Stove Pipe Wells hotel.

Wolf Pack Opens Season At Chico Takes Two Game Series With Ease

Nevada's Wolf Pack basketballers opened the current season last weekend with two wins over Chico State college at Chico, California. Last Friday's game was copped by the Pack 58-45 while the following night the Nevadan's repeated with a 67-51 win.

Leading the Wolf Pack scorers in both games was Roy Larralde in his first crack at college competition. On the first night Larralde scored 15 points. The second night he hit nine field goals and three gift tosses for 21 points. The tall, 6 ft., 5 inch center took passes from guards Burt Larkins and Dan Vidovich and laid them in from the key.

Veteran forward Mert Baxter took second high point honors for both nights with 14 and 17 points.

At halftime in Friday's game the Nevadans had a 35-20 lead but Chico fire cut the lead down to six points in the third quarter. The Pack hit their stride again in the fourth and won the game going away.

After a nip and tuck first quarter in Saturday's game the Pack led 49-35 at the half. Baskets by Larralde, Baxter and Larkins maintained the Wolf lead through the second half.

Reggie Depoali, center; Georges Assuras, guard; and Bob Wilcox, forward, handled their first college competition in capable fashion.

Game Cancelled By Auto Accident

An icy road 12 miles north of Reno on highway 395 caused an accident involving the Lassen Junior College basketball team. The team was traveling to Reno to play the University of Nevada freshmen Wednesday evening.

Kenneth Dill of Westwood, the driver of the car, was taken to Washoe Medical Center as was Don Rider of Susanville. Rider was treated for a cut on the ankle, and both were released later

Wednesday evening.

The Frosh staged an inter-squad game when word was received of their opponents' accident.

Diane Fairfield announced her pinning by Bill Bauer, Lambda Chi Alpha.

Donna Keller, Pi Beta Phi pledge, announced her pinning Monday night by Lew Mitchell, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.
