

WINTER CARNIVAL!

Varied Activities Make Ski Carnival One Of Best Events In Many Years

Despite predictions of a threatening snow storm, the Winter Carnival will be held as scheduled over the weekend of February 22-24, said Willard Esplin, Winter Carnival chairman.

Sorority open houses tonight will start the activities.

A skier's banquet will be held in the Trocadero room of El Cortez hotel tomorrow, February 23, from 7 to 9. John Cowley will handle the banquet.

Governor Charles Russell, President Malcolm A. Love and Mayor Francis Smith will speak at the banquet and welcome the competing teams.

Also attending will be representatives of the Auburn ski club, including their president, and representatives of the Plumas county ski club.

Visiting dignitaries, including Frank Ferguson, president of the Far West Ski Association and former president of the Nevada-California interscholastic ski union will be present.

At least 150 people are expected to attend, said Esplin.

The Snow Ball will be held tomorrow night from 9 to 12 in the Fable room of the Mapes hotel. Frank Shadrack is in charge.

A carnival queen to be chosen by the Nevada ski team from representatives of competing schools, will be introduced at the skiers' banquet and crowned at the Snow Ball, said Esplin.

Trophies

Trophies for the best interior decorations of sorority houses and best exterior decorations of fraternity houses will be awarded.

Judges for the decorations will be Harold Helwig of the Penn furniture shop; Edith Palmer, interior designer from Rand and House, and Professor Craig Sheppard from the university's art department.

Workmanship, ingenuity, planning and theme will be the bases for the judging.

Financial limits for decorating were set by the student senate, and also rules for judging.

Carol Oldham will handle lunches for the competing ski teams with the help of volunteers from the different organizations.

Brightly-colored ski sweaters set the scene for the carnival yesterday on the annual Ski Sweater Day. Students wore all types and colors of sweaters to their classes.

Lincoln Hallites Move Next Week

Residents of Lincoln hall will begin moving into their new quarters in Manzanita hall sometime early next week, according to Dean Robert S. Griffin.

This afternoon and tomorrow morning the rooms in Manzanita will be open to inspection by their new tenants.

Monday, following the inspection, the men will hold a room drawing. At this time those men with the most seniority will receive first choice. Seniority is based on the number of semesters that each resident has lived in a university dormitory. Two or more persons living in a room combine their points and the total determines their standing in the drawing.

The extensive plans for remodeling Lincoln hall have made it necessary to move the men out and into other quarters. Hartman hall, the other men's dormitory, is too small to accommodate the large number of men that will be evicted from Lincoln.

GERMAN CLUB

A German club meeting set for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Snack bar, will feature Clayton Hurt as speaker.

"A trip through Switzerland" will be the theme of Mr. Hurt's talks. He will illustrate with picture slides taken during his travels through Switzerland.

UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1952

Now, Show Your Stuff

By Frank Johnson
'Brush Editor

The University of Nevada this afternoon kicked off what should, by all rights, be the biggest, most sensational Winter Carnival in its history. Ten of the top ski teams in the country have accepted invitations to the meet, which has been made especially attractive because of the close cooperation between the university and downtown ski enthusiasts.

Willard Esplin, carnival chairman; Brent Aiken, tourney director; Bill Berry, Nevada State Journal winter sports editor, and many others have put long hours of work and thought into making the carnival a real success.

Partly through their efforts and partly because the carnival is one of the top attractions in the skiing world, a flood of publicity—the type Nevada needs badly—will be given to the events.

Reporters and cameramen from the San Francisco Examiner, the Sacramento Bee, the Oakland Tribune, the Salt Lake Desert News and the Portola Reporter have said they will be on hand to bolster the efforts of Reno's own newsmen in covering the events.

In addition, movie producer Hobart Brownell will bring Standard Oil's movie and sound crew to Reno to film the carnival. The resulting film, in color, will complete Standard's movie "Nevada." It will be shot at Mount Rose bowl and Galena creek during the carnival activities.

And, of course, each of the ten competing teams will probably bring along a representative of their student newspapers.

It doesn't take much of an imagination to see what this kind of news coverage will do for Reno and for the University of Nevada. If everything goes smoothly, the benefits will be long lasting.

BUT—there is, or may be, a hitch. The Reno weatherman, who is an unusually accurate member of his profession, has predicted a storm for this weekend that may equal—or even surpass—that of last January.

Of course the storm, which at latest reports is heading right down 'storm alley,' may veer off or dissipate itself. If that happens the carnival's success is insured. Esplin, Aiken, Berry and the rest of the persons involved are gambling on that possibility.

They are also gambling on another possibility. In the event the storm hits this weekend as scheduled, only full cooperation of Nevada students can make this second gamble pay off.

It is strictly dependent on the entire student body of the University of Nevada turning out en masse at Mount Rose and Galena to fight back in the event of a bad snowfall.

If the snow begins falling during—or before—the events, Esplin estimates that the entire able-bodied student body will not be too many to keep the courses in skiable shape. At least one hundred will be needed to tramp down the downhill course tomorrow (Saturday) morning no matter what the conditions are. Ten times that number may be needed if things are bad.

Special buses will be run to take the volunteer trampers 'up the hill' on Saturday and Sunday, and the tournament directors need them filled to capacity if they are to expect success.

That, then, is the story. The university and the townspeople have taken a big chance on the school spirit that has blossomed on campus during the last two months after years of hiding.

If it wasn't for their reliance on the student's new-found ability to work and play together for the sake of the school, they might have cancelled the Winter Carnival until later in the spring.

Many tournament directors far more experienced than the ones we have would have lost courage in the face of the storm obstacle that was thrust on Esplin and Aiken.

But, without faltering one minute, they said in effect, "The students are behind us—we'll go ahead."

DON'T LET THEM DOWN. THERE IS TOO MUCH AT STAKE TO MAKE THEIR GAMBLE ANY LESS THAN 'A SURE THING.'

Varsity Hoopsters Split A Pair With Portland In Action Games

By ROLLAN MELTON

Wolf Pack hoopsters, after lacing a Portland University five, 74-61 with an all-around display of power Friday, had the tables turned on them the following evening when Portland grabbed an early lead, then stalled out the fading moments, to win 67-75. The games, bitterly contested, were played on the local floor.

Coach Jake Lawlor's battling quintet climaxing its season this week, still has one of the finest records in the nation with 17 wins and just three losses. The series split Portland with 16 wins, six losses.

The Wolf Pack's win Friday was the result of an amazing display of field goal accuracy, plus impressive floor work on the part of the regulars and reserves. After a nip and tuck scoring duel during the first half, Nevada pulled away in the third period by setting up plays, screening, and hitting accurately. Mert Baxter paced Nevada's scoring with 18; Reg DePaoli, the Pack's only sophomore starter, was great on the backboards, grabbing rebounds out of the hands of taller Portland players. Guards Bert Larkins and Dan Vidovich played their usual stellar brand of ball, as did Ed Hancock, versatile forward.

Lose DePaoli

Loss of DePaoli in the second quarter of the Saturday game virtually wiped out height on the Wolf Pack team. The Nevada center was banished after a short fistic flurry with the Pilots' Handy Andy Johnson.

It was an uphill fight all the way for the Wolves who were behind as much as 10-0 in the first quarter. Portland had a 36-34 edge at half-time, but increased that lead to 54-45 as the Pack went cold in the third frame. Loss of Larkins and Wynes in the same quarter via foul route were tough breaks for the Nevadans.

Nevertheless Lawlor's club spurted dramatically in the closing quarter coming to within two points of the Oregon club with three minutes left. The Pilots, however, led by little Jim Winters, froze the ball, and though Nevada had many shots in the last moments, they failed to find the mark.

Dan Vidovich and Ed Hancock were scoring leaders for the Wolf Pack, each collecting 18 points. Baxter hit for 10 markers bringing his total for the two games to 28.

College Record Set By Nevada Donors In Blood Campaign

Nearly half of the student population at the University of Nevada donated whole blood last week to give the school a national collegiate record for percentage of donors.

The university's mark of 44.93 percent of a registration total of 1006, broke the former record of 43.1, held by Cal Poly.

Last December 125 students and faculty members contributed blood at the Charles O. Sweetwood blood donation car. Last week 452 pints of blood were given.

Fine Response

"The way the students and faculty responded to the recent blood donor campaign," said President Malcolm Love, "is one of the finest things I have ever seen on any campus."

"Congratulations to the committee and to all others who had any part in the program," he continued.

Epidemic Of Colds Overruns Campus, Infirmary Reports

How do you feel? If you can answer "fine" to this question, you are one of the few lucky students on campus.

An epidemic of colds has swept the campus in the last week. Although most of them have not been serious enough to keep the students from attending classes, they have caused a great deal of discomfort.

The nurses at the infirmary report that there has not been much of an increase in hospitalized cases, but they have had a great number of students coming in for treatment.

The nurses urge the students to come to the infirmary at the first sign of a cold. If students wait for several days or a week, they say, it is harder to get rid of the cold.

The doctor's hours are 9-10 a.m. and 5-6 p.m., with only morning hours on Wednesdays and Saturdays. The nurses are on duty at all times.

Farm and Home Day To Be Held By Ags

A "Farm and Home day," first program of its kind to be held at the university, is being planned for the latter part of April, Jim Hettlinger of the Aggie club said today. The program will be designed to display the facilities offered in the Agriculture department. It is to be staged through the combined efforts of the various departments in the College of Agriculture and the experiment and extension agencies in Reno.

Aggie club members choose new officers when they meet Tuesday, at 7:30 in the Ag building.

Plan Combined Mackay-Engineer Day To Be Known As Benefactor's Day

Plans for student approval of a motion for all colleges to sponsor a combined Mackay and Engineer's day to be called Benefactor's day were put into action at a senate meeting held Wednesday night in the ASUN building.

The plan to be presented by the senators to all the houses and organizations would incorporate the two days into one big event. All departments on campus would also have exhibits or contests of some kind. This would make Benefactor's day an entire university function.

Proposed Last Year

Last year a proposal was made to unite the two events because they were so close together, but it died for lack of student interest. This year the question was raised again by the executive board of the Associated Engineers in the form of a resolution.

All different departments will have the opportunity to present exhibits in an effort to make it an all university function.

The name Benefactor's day was suggested in an attempt to honor all the donors to the university.

Spring Elections

Malcolm Short, election committee chairman, reported to the senate on the spring elections to be held March 21 and March 27. A rally to introduce the candidates will be held during assembly hour on March 27.

Release Grad List, Enrollment Totals

Fall semester graduates and final enrollment figures were both released by the University of Nevada this week.

Enrollment figures as of February 16 stood at 1084 fully enrolled for course work. Another eight are non-matriculated students not working for a degree at the local university. In addition, 25 regularly enrolled students are taking university work at the Las Vegas branch.

As usual the coeds are the favored lot with men students outnumbering them nearly two-to-one. Last fall semester the girls could expect no more than 1.87 men each, however, the odds are slightly better this semester with 1.93 men per university coed. Enrolled are 715 men and 369 women as regular students.

The graduation list approved by the faculty this week totalled 33. Sixteen mid-year graduates are from Nevada while ten are from California and seven from other states.

The college of arts and science lists 23 graduates; the college of agriculture, 3; the college of engineering, 5; Mackay School of Mines, 1; and one graduate student in zoology.

Glen C. Christensen, Reno, will receive a master of science degree in zoology.

John M. Barry, Elko, will receive a bachelor of arts degree after having completed the 3-year pre-legal course at Nevada plus an additional year of approved work at an accepted law school.

Bachelor of arts degrees will be awarded Frederick Conelly, Hawthorne; Francis Couch, Calif.; Ruth Fyfe, Iowa; John Gonda, Pennsylvania; Virginia Carlyle Grafton, Reno; David D. Hanna, Canada; Portia Hawley, Calif.; Malcolm G. Matteucci, Las Vegas; Blanche Mary Ann McClure, Kimberley; Gail

"Macbeth" Play To Star Students

Thirteen University of Nevada students and one professor will take part in the forthcoming production of Shakespeare's "Macbeth," slated for March 7, 8 and 9 at the Reno Little Theater.

Main roles of Lady Macbeth and Macbeth will be played by members of the Reno Little Theater but all the supporting roles will be portrayed by students.

Named as Lady Macbeth is Mrs. Eve Loomis, well known thespian of the Reno stage. Mr. Randall Ross, also an experienced actor portrays the dramatic role of Macbeth.

Five students will depict two or more characters. James Hulse will characterize the drunken porter and Seyton. Mary Ann Norlen and Joan Miller will play Lady MacDuff and the gentlewoman who first hears Lady Macbeth's terrible secret. These two, plus Pat Welty, will also impersonate the three witches whose prophecies set off the chain of events leading to Macbeth's downfall.

Bob Glass is a captain. Don Petroni is Donaldbain, another murderer, and Young Siward.

Bob Moran is cast as MacDuff and William James as Lennox. Robert Debold is Ross and Frank Knebel is cast as Fleance. Myron Leavitt is Malcolm, heir to the throne of Scotland. Bruce Anderson is Angus, and Don Harris is the servant.

John Iacovelli fresh from his role in "High Ground" is the doctor of Lady Macbeth.

Professor John Morrison of the English department is the lone professor in the play. He will depict Banquo, Macbeth's friend, who is later killed by Macbeth.

Mr. Edwin Semenza, director of the Reno Little Theater, and Dr. William Miller, professor of English and drama director on campus, will direct Macbeth. This is the first time the two groups have collaborated in this manner.

Students will be admitted to the play on their student body cards. It will begin at 8:30 p.m. on March 7, 8 and 9 at the Reno Little Theater.

UN Band May Not Go To Helldorado

The rumor circulating on campus that the University of Nevada band will go to the Las Vegas' Helldorado are unconfirmed at present, according to Felton D. Hickman, university band instructor.

There is a possibility that an invitation might be received sometime in the future, but even in such an event the band might be unable to make the trip because of financial reasons.

Plans are being made for a spring concert to be held in the State building around March or April. In addition, the band will hold several lawn concerts similar to the one held last fall in front of Lincoln hall. Director Hickman is well pleased with this year's group, and he says they are much stronger than last year's organization.

Many Students Bookless As Bookstore Gets Short End Of Publishers' Stick

Many students have been unable to get text books for classes, but there has been good reason for this, according to James McNabney, manager of the ASUN bookstore.

The first and most important reason is that several of the publishers have not filled their orders or have only partially filled them, McNabney explained.

The publisher with whom the bookstore placed its second largest order—almost 800 books—failed to send any books at all for several weeks and is still a little short.

Five publishers only partially filled their orders and three sent the wrong books, McNabney continued.

"It seems to be the same every year," he said, "and it also seems to be the same publisher."

McNabney stressed the fact that very good service was received from other publishers. Several orders were filled immediately, some in as short a time as three days.

Possible Explanation

Offered as a possible explanation for the confusion, he said publishers fill their large orders from places like the University of California first. When they run out of text books, they short the small orders first.

New Cash System

The bookstore is now using a new system for cash control. McNabney said he was a little worried over the extra time required to make out cash slips for each sale during the new semester rush of buying, but that the system is working satisfactorily. Although it means more work, it gives the store a closer check, breaking the sales down into particular items.

Sheppard Speaks At San Francisco

J. Craig Sheppard, assistant professor of art, recently returned from a committee meeting of the college art association held at San Francisco state college.

On February 9, he lectured and gave an exhibition of paintings and sculptures to the American association of university women in Ely.

He also lectured to the Reno Soroptimists club on February 13 at Hotel El Cortez.

Blue Key Initiation Held For Five New Members

Three juniors and two seniors were initiated into Blue Key, honorary service organization, at a formal dinner held at the Santa Fe restaurant last week. Jerry Cardiff, Fred Lee and Joe Bugica are juniors. Jim Eliades and Elmo D. Oxborrow are seniors.

Principal speaker of the evening was Dr. Robert S. Griffin, dean of men and faculty adviser to the Blue Key. President Dave Collings presided over the dinner. After the dinner a formal initiation was held.

FROM THE SIDELINES

by Covington

The engineers have presented a plan to the senate which, if approved, will combine Engineer's day, Mackay day, and about every other day of the spring semester. The pro's, naturally, are in favor of the plan, because it will cut down on some of the weekends in which there are extra activities. Some of the old-timers don't care for the idea much; it changes the name of old Mackay day. However strong tradition may be, there is always a need for progress, and through the reports of a large contribution for a new student union building, the students are finding out that there are more benefactors to the university than Mackay.

The Engineering college is no longer the uninterested, staid part of the campus where arts and science students fear to tread, but now is turning into one of the strong segments of the student body. The reason for the success is organization, and the contributions are the new type Mackay day and a lot of work on student union plans. Carl Forbes, head of the Associated Engineers has gotten a great deal accomplished on the tentative drawings for the building itself.

SIGNS OF SPRING: Frosty Freeze (free plug) has finished washing windows and is open for business. The birds don't know it's spring yet; the trees don't know it's time, but, by gosh, Frosty knows.

Last Saturday, people plowed through the mire and bog-like parking lot to witness one of the most hair-raising basketball games the gym has seen in a good while. After taking the Portlanders in the Friday duel of skill, brawn and referees, the Wolfpackers tried to do it again. This time the three factors gave edge to the invaders. Considering the fact that four men, three regulars and one substitute, were out of the game, the boys did pretty well. The only really dampened things about the crowd were their feet.

Proc Hug thinks the reason the southern states do not want Hawaii and Alaska admitted as states is that it will make the flag lop-sided. Anyway, that was the answer he gave Mr. Shelley in his business law class.

If you didn't watch Jake Lawlor during the basketball games this year, you missed out on some of your student body fees. Half the game is looking for Jake's antics.

After a badly stumbling start, this school year is beginning to turn out pretty well. Football may be back; boxing is flourishing as a major sport; the blood drive broke records; the men to women ratio is down; the new student union is looking as if it may become a reality, and the number of men to every woman is only two. And what's more, there are only two men to every woman on campus. What's the difference? It still takes money.

At a book stand glancing through Peek or peeking through Glimpse was one of the English professors... The writing may not have been good, but the pictures were excellent. Speaking of pictures, try to buy a pocket book without getting full-flushed from the artistic work on the front cover. After they put uncovered beauties on the front of a pocket dictionary, the only thing left is Roget's International Thesaurus.

Keeping up on all of the magazines through the book store rack has been standard practice for several years, but it can go to far. It is rumored that big Wayne Chapman got through an entire pocket book at one standing. Then there are those who do not get past the photo.

This year's Ski Carnival is blossoming into something out of the ordinary. The ten teams representing, strangely enough, ten schools are of the better ones in the West. Red Esplin and Brent Aikin have come up with what may prove to be the biggest ski event on the coast. The Reno ski club has played a great part in the pushing of this activity, and with a little cooperation in the next few years, the Ski Carnival can become one of the very bright lights of western winter sports.

One of last year's frosh asking about the year book: Is the Manzanita paid for in our institution?

PLUG: Nevada basketball outfit having the best win-lose percentage of all of the coast independents, as reported by the San Francisco Examiner.

SLUG: The quagmire of a parking lot. There must be more ways of fighting mud than adding dirt to it. It'll just rain. Then where does the dirt come from?

Students Hear Noted Traveler

Dr. Charles B. Hoffman, noted traveler and lecturer, spoke last Tuesday evening before a group of thirty students and Renoites.

The speaker, who was sponsored by the Chemistry club, was introduced to the audience in Mackay

Science Hall auditorium by the club's president, Don Peterson.

Dr. Hoffman's talk, the result of 11,000 miles travel in Europe recently, dwelt in main upon his personal impressions there, and views on current European economy.

In the discussion following the talk, exchange students and the speaker discussed different aspects of Europe's economy and future.

Letter to Editor---

Dear Editor:

In answer to the letter to the editor appearing in Sagebrush on February 15, I would like to say:

Mr. O'Neill objects to the closing of the library assuming that it was just for this assembly. As a matter of fact, it has been a university ruling for years that the library should be closed during assemblies.

It is too bad that it had to be closed on this particular one, because Mr. O'Neill is likely to have suffered serious impairment of his scholarship.

Mr. O'Neill charges fanatic publicity and humiliating pressure upon people to donate. It is a peculiar thing that he seems to be so resentful of a vigorous drive in the name of humanity. As a matter of fact, the drive on the campus was singularly restrained and dignified. Right up to the last, donors were urged to donate only if they were physically able, and if their own consciences dictated it. Can it be possible that Mr. O'Neill's conscience is doing a little lagging?

Mr. O'Neill also takes an indirect dig at the Red Cross, blaming them for the drive and the assembly. This attack on the Red Cross is another manifestation of either poor logic or else of a desire to defeat the great humanitarian effort to save lives of American soldiers. It is an obvious fact that our enemies would like nothing better than to have all of us so dull-witted that we would refuse to save our soldiers' lives, because we had a personal animosity toward the collecting agency.

One could not fail to question the motives of those who engage in such attacks.

Being a foreigner, I asked myself, "Is the American democracy threatened only by Communism beyond the Atlantic or by the fifth column in her own ranks?"

Mr. O'Neill, however, is right on one thing: we should give more thought to these things.

M-Men To Enter National Tourney

Having won the Division 12 championship in San Francisco last weekend, local Mormon "M-Men" basketball squad will participate in the national tournament in Salt Lake City next week.

Twelve Nevada students, who make up the local "M-Men" squad, will leave for Salt Lake next Monday. The tournament will last five days, being completed on March 1.

Starting with 200 teams, the field has now been trimmed down to the top 20 teams.

Nevada's team won the Division 12 championship last weekend in San Francisco. So far, they have won against Sacramento, 80-29, Oakland, 54-51, and Palo Alto, 46-36.

Send-Off Dance

Tonight the Mormons will hold a send-off dance and party for their boys. The party will be held in an attempt to raise money for new uniforms for the team.

This is the largest basketball tournament in the world, with 200 teams from all over the country participating.

Members on Nevada's team include: Grant Truman, Duane Gardner, Clair Earl, Glen Hardy, Chuck Ryerse, Reilly Jensen, Elbert Gardner, Myron Leavitt, Bob Lindsay, Richard Wilcox, Stan Jones, and manager Frank Peterson.

We know these are lousy fillers, but only fools and book worms ever read them.

ATHLETIC EVENTS

All intercollegiate athletic events at the university slated in the evenings will begin promptly at 8:15 p.m., Jake Lawlor, director of athletics, said last week.

His announcement ended much of the confusion as to starting time for campus sports.

If you don't like these fillers, try to write some yourself while under extreme pressure.

Second In A Row Goal For Boxers In Bouts Tonight

Aiming for their second straight win, the Wolf Pack boxers meet San Francisco State, a perennial rival tonight in the new gym.

The two squads figure to be closely matched. Nevada, after showing tremendous improvement during the season, finally copped its first victory last week. The Golden Gators from San Francisco have been impressive in meetings with Alameda naval air station and Cal Poly.

Coach Jimmy Olivas plans to start his regulars tonight against the Staters. That will include Sammy Duane Moore, 132; Pat Drecher, Macias, 119; Elwood Haggerty, 125; 139; Doug Byington, 147; Vince Reagor, 155; Bob DeRuff, 165; Bill Cockrell, 179; and Gordon Surber, heavyweight. Other Pack members who may see action in extra bouts include Don Eckles, 190; Jerry Shreve, 192; and Ed Stevens, 165.

UN Basketballers To Play At Vegas

Closing out one of the most successful basketball seasons in the history of the university this weekend, the Wolf Pack hoop team will travel to Las Vegas for a two game series with Arizona State of Flagstaff. The games will be played Friday and Saturday.

Boasting a fine record of 17 wins and three losses, the Pack will be playing its second and third games of the season against the Arizona five. Nevada rolled up its highest score of the year against the same Staters early in December, winning 76-64.

As its splendid record indicates, the university quint has come a long way since that first meeting, whipping such teams as Sacramento State, Chico State, Cal Poly, Portland, YMI of San Francisco, Utah State, and the Cal Aggies.

Chet Scranton of the men's physical education department is recovering now in the Veterans hospital after suffering a heart attack early this week.

UN Rifle Squad Gains 186 Points Over 1951 Score

Nevada's varsity rifle team, competing in the yearly Sixth army rifle matches, has gained 186 points over its mark in the same event last year.

The team's total, based on four positions fired in four stages, has been sent to the commanding general of the Sixth army to be compared with the scores of 31 other universities in the zone. Results are expected to be returned within a few days.

Coached by Sgt. Cesar Brunetti, the team placed eighth in the annual match last year.

Head of the military department, Lt. Col. James D. Loewus, in commenting on the success of the team said: "The results shown indicate that the rifle team is wholeheartedly supporting the program and their improvement merits our heartiest congratulations on a task well done."

Kinnear Trophy, Long-Missing Cup, To Be Replaced

The Kinnear trophy, long-lost, much discussed and long sought-after copper drinking mug awarded annually to the campus organization with the highest total of points in intra-mural competition may soon be replaced, announced Dr. Robert S. Griffin, dean of men, this week.

Relatives of John C. Kinnear, donor of the trophy, have indicated to university authorities that they would be willing to replace the cup. The university must furnish them a photo of the prized award however, so that an exact replica of the mug can be made.

The late John C. Kinnear, vice-president and a director of the Kennecott Copper Corporation of Ely was the donor of the trophy, which was made from copper mined in Ely.

In 1949 the trophy disappeared while in the possession of Sigma Nu. At first it was considered the work of a prankster, but it soon developed that the trophy was definitely not going to be returned.

Efforts were made to recover the prized cup, even dredging Manzanita lake was thought of and done, but to no avail. Recently, John C. Kinnear, jr. was contacted and expressed his concern over the matter and indicated he would replace the lost trophy.

The main problem now facing Dean Griffin is securing a photo of the eighteen-year-old trophy, from which trophy-makers may produce an exact replica.

The history of the trophy has been controlled mainly by ATO, with Sigma Nu and Lambda Chi squeezing in for brief wins. ATO won it in 1934 and continued to capture the bronze-colored mug until 1941. In that year Lambda Chi won it by a slim margin, but ATO quickly got it back in 1942.

In the next three years no trophy was awarded due to the shortage of men during the war. Lambda Chi came back and recaptured the mug in 1946. Sigma Nu followed them in 1947 and continued to possess the award until 1950. ATO won that year and started another streak of wins by copping the trophy again in 1951.

Tennis, Golf Players Should Attend Meet

Tennis and golf players, who are interested in the university's varsity teams this year, are urged to attend a meeting next Tuesday at 4 p.m. in the new gymnasium's athletic office.

Jake Lawlor, director of athletics, announced the meeting will be held to determine material available, name a coach for both sports and set up a training schedule.

Noted sportsman, raconteur, and world-traveller, Joseph I. Abbott, can be seen on the campus from time to time.

by Viola Neill.

Each team will probably get a chance to play three or four games but a time limit may prevent the completion of some contests, Miss Rulifson said Wednesday.

The KAT house went south for the winter. Mimi Smith, Elise Valentine, Donna Burton and Sharon Thompson break out their gear for the trip.

Women's Bowling Team Challenges Penn State

A student bowling team comprised of eight university women, will knock down pins during the month of April. Its weekly scores will be sent to Pennsylvania State college for comparison with marks of other schools.

The student keglers meet Thursdays at the Downtown Bowl from 4 to 5 p.m.

Mary Rulifson, group advisor, said last week that the five top totals for two-game series are sent to the Pennsylvania college where they are judged on both an individual and team basis.

Top score last week was credited to Beth Miller. She had a series total of 357 with games of 178 and 179. Other team members include Betty Kling, Norine Lartey, Betty Butterworth, Jackie McGowan, Janet Holland, Viola Neill and Margaret Sewell.

Reappoint Palmer

Dr. Stanley Palmer, dean of the College of Engineering, was reappointed to the state board of registered professional engineers for a two-year term by Gov. Charles H. Russell.

He was also recently appointed Nevada state chairman of the guidance committee of the engineers council for professional development.

European Tours Offered Students

Would you like to be on the top of the Jungfrau where the snow is 50 feet deep in July, or spend luxurious days on the beach at Capri and Majorca this summer?

Tours through Europe and the Mediterranean can be arranged by college students through American Student Tours, a California organization. The tours are priced between $1660 and $1990, with the most expensive tour lasting for 76 days, and the least expensive for 54 days.

Military Ball Set For March 22

Tickets for the Military Ball, to be held March 22, will go on sale this week announced John Harris, chairman of ticket sales.

The price is $1.50 per couple and tickets can be bought from any Scabbard and Blade member.

Something new for the fraternities has been added this year. An engraved scabbard will be used as a revolving trophy for the best fraternity dance attendance.

Rotary Scholarship To Marnie Miller

Marnie Miller, a '51 Nevada grad, is one of 109 students throughout the world to be awarded a Rotary scholarship for study abroad this year.

The award entitles the former vic-president of the student body to a year's study at Cambridge university in England. She will study European history and literature. She leaves in August.

Upon her return Miss Miller will speak at Rotary meetings throughout the Nevada area.

Miss Miller, who teaches the sixth grade at Central school in Reno, was president of the Associated Women Students, Gothic N, and Fine Arts. She is a Tri-Delt alumna.

Five Home Ecers Travel To Frisco

Five members from the Home Economics club travelled to Mills college in Oakland last weekend for an annual convention.

Nancy Swope of Nevada was elected president of the province for next year. Next fall, the annual meeting will be held at Nevada, with Nancy acting as hostess to the visiting clubs.

Each year, the clubs belonging to the province send representatives to a chosen college for a convention. At the meetings, the girls compare their clubs to the others attending in an attempt to get new ideas for the coming year.

The theme of this year's meeting was Our Tomorrow. The three day meeting was spent mostly in discussion of four main topics: club programs, membership, finances, and future projects of the clubs.

Attending the convention were Joyce Ko, president of Nevada's club, Eva Lin Hackett, Tomasine Roundtree, Mary Getto, and Nancy Swope and Miss Mildred Swift, head of the home economics department.

Painting Exhibit Held This Week

An exhibition of paintings by Willis Church, eldest son of Prof. James Edward Church, the well known snow researcher of the university, was featured this week by the art department.

A graduate of the University of Nevada, he studied a while in Pennsylvania, travelled around the world in 1929 and spent some time at the American academy in Rome, Italy.

Mr. Church is an architect by profession and regards painting as a hobby.

The show includes water colors, crayon and pastels and presents mostly Nevada, Texas and New Mexico scenes. All 34 of them are for sale and range in price from 15 to 50 dollars.

After the showing in the art department the exhibit will be seen in the Nevada Art Gallery and in downtown art shops.

Signet Club Holds Alumni Dinner

A buffet dinner was given recently by the Signet club of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity for alumni and college members, and their wives and mothers.

At a joint meeting of alumni and college members following the dinner, plans were made for a Founders day celebration on March 15. Ted Wise, president of the alumni chapter will be in charge.

Signet club members also discussed activities for the next semester. The first will be a luncheon and meeting at the Diamond F ranch home of Mrs. Harry J. Frost on March 24.

The Gamma Phis started late. Here Marge Terry, Pat Welty, Gail Johnson and Janet Regnell go to work on an undisclosed theme.

Sliderulers Hold Engineer's Week

National Engineer's week was celebrated from coast to coast last week by 300 chapters and state societies of the national society of professional engineers, including the local chapter at Nevada.

The Associated Engineers, who include all civil, electrical, and mechanical engineers, function as a chapter on the University of Nevada campus.

Carlton Forbes, president of the group, said that the local chapter was not notified in time to make any elaborate plans, but that they were attempting to have some displays in downtown store windows.

Howard B. Blodgett, professor of civil engineering and advisor to the group, said that he hoped next year they could commemorate the occasion more actively.

The week is designed to pay tribute to the engineering profession and its accomplishments in the fields of food and clothing, environment, transportation, communication, health, security and man's future.

Computers Subject Of Sigma Xi Talk

Computers, from the primitive Chinese wooden abacus to the very complex, "magic brain" electronic calculating machines of today, were described by Dr. Charles V. L. Smith at a Sigma Xi club meeting on February 12.

Dr. Smith, who is now with the office of naval research at Washington, D. C., and the U. S. bureau of standards, said the modern computers can multiply a million numbers together in approximately one second.

"A slide rule is the simplest example of an analogue computer," said Dr. Smith. Engineering students at the university use the slide rule in their everyday calculations.

Sigma Xi club is composed of graduates in engineering and science, including local scientists and faculty members.

Pershing Rifles May March In Vegas Helderado

The Pershing Rifle group may have an opportunity to march in the Las Vegas Helderado for the second straight year, Jim Lee, president of the organization, announced this week.

Last year's Pershing outfit flew to the southern city in a C-47, and stayed at Nellis air base for three days. Transportation was furnished through the courtesy of the United States air force. If current plans are successful, the same arrangements will be made this spring.

A meeting of the Pershing Rifles last Tuesday resulted in the formation of a new office, that of historian. Elwood Haggerty was elected to the post.

Pershing's first drill of the semester is set for March 4.

SAE'S DECORATE

The SAE's started work early this week on their house decoration for the Winter Carnival. Outlined plans for a power driven display, and a view of the framework set up at press time, give promise of a strong bid for the decoration award.

Coed Phys Ed Majors Acting As Referees Lambdas Ahead In Pledge Race

Women from the physical education department are now acting as referees and umpires in basketball games around the state.

These women have received their ratings through a clinic in official basketball here. Three schools have set a standard that they will not play games without a woman official. These schools are Hawthorne, Fallon, and Manogue.

This weekend, Miss Jean MacIntosh and Beth Miller will go to Hawthorne to act as officials in a game between Hawthorne and Fallon.

Having a national rating is Miss Mary Rulefson; associated national rating, Marjorie Titus; and local ratings, Beth Miller and Miss Jean MacIntosh.

Working on their ratings now and also acting as umpires at the games are Joyce Hancock, Betty Butterworth and Janice Foster.

Lambda Chi Alpha leads the race for pledges this spring with seven men. Tying for second place are Alpha Tau Omega and Theta Chi with three apiece. Bringing up the rear are Sigma Nu with one, Sigma Alpha Epsilon with two "live ones," and Phi Sigma Kappa with none.

Those pledging Lambda Chi are: Skip Ormsby, Reno; John Ullom, Las Vegas; Jerry Martin, Las Vegas; Pete Hess, Las Vegas; Dallas SeEVERS, Reno; Jim Willoughby, Reno; Don Wooden, Eureka, California.

The Taus claim Johnny Legarza, Winnemucca; Don Young, Sparks; Jerry Reynolds, Elko; while the Theta Chi's name Bill Bulkeley, Red Bluff, Calif.; Frank Nieble, Pomona, Calif.; and Hans Moore, Canaby, Calif. The lone Sigma Nu pledge is Chris Benbow from San Leandro, Calif. SAE didn't name their "live ones."

Nine Universities Try For Prizes In Ski Carnival

Winter Carnival competition started off today with a cross-country race at Galena Creek at 2 p.m.

The downhill race will be run at Galena Creek at 9:30 a.m., with the alumni race at 11 a.m. The first run of the slalom will be run at Galena Creek at 2 p.m. on Saturday.

At the Mt. Rose bowl on Sunday the second run of the slalom race will be held at 10 a.m. followed by the coed powder puff derby at 12 noon. Jumping competition at Galena Creek at 2 p.m. will conclude Sunday's contests and the carnival.

Presentation of the trophies and medals will be held at the Mt. Rose chalet, Sky Tavern, at 4:30 p.m. All individual point winners and winning teams will be given their awards at that time.

Coeds from all the schools competing in the carnival have been invited to participate in the slalom.

Nevada Grads Compete
Nevada grads will have their chance to compete in the alumni race, to be run on the collegiate downhill course.

Twenty-one sterling silver buckles will be awarded to winners of first, second and third place in the races and other activities.

Silver buckles with gold inlay will be awarded to firsts. Seconds will be given straight silver buckles, and thirds will be given silver buckles with bronze inlay.

All participants in an event will be awarded one of the 100 participant medals.

The highest individual total point winner will be awarded a gold-inlaid buckle, and second and third individual point winners will be awarded silver buckles.

All last week the silver buckles and medals were on display in the downtown store windows.

Nine college teams out of the fifteen invited to compete will be out for awards. They are the University of California, Stanford University, University of Oregon, Portland University, College of Pacific, Placer College, UCLA, University of Denver, and the University of Utah.

Coed Entrants
Coed entrants from Stanford and College of Pacific along with the women's ski teams from the University of Utah and the University of California will also compete in the carnival.

University of Nevada coeds desiring to enter must either have had racing experience or be qualified skiers, said Red Esplin, chairman of the carnival.

Names of coeds entering must be turned over to tournament director Brent Aikin.

Portland University will be the defending champion of the carnival. Portland defeated Nevada in last year's carnival by five tenths of a point.

Three individual defending champions in 1951's carnival will compete again in the meet. Roger Wickman, College of Pacific, won last year's cross-country race; Alan Ramsey of Nevada placed first in last year's slalom race, and Karin Lee, University of California, won the coed race of last year.

Alan Ramsey of Nevada won three firsts in the interfraternity ski meet last week. It was the first time in the history of interfraternity skiing that a skier managed to win all three events in the meet.

A plea for help from everyone constituted the main part of the assembly yesterday. Students were asked to come up to the ski hill this afternoon, and Saturday and Sunday, to help tamp down the race courses.

"The carnival will only be as good as the courses the men and women ski on, and the condition of the courses depends entirely on the number of students who are going to work on them," announced Red Esplin.

Buses will leave the ASUN building at 8 a.m. Saturday and Sunday mornings to take students to work on the courses.

Lunches will be provided for the gatekeepers, said Esplin.

Summer Session Offered In Vienna

The University of Vienna will have an international summer session this year at Schloss Traunsee, in Salzkammergut, Austria.

The summer school, held in a 19th century castle, is in the Alpine lake region, near the festival town of Salzburg. The purpose of the school is to promote European-American cultural relations.

Courses, conducted in English, will be offered in law and political science, liberal arts and German literature and language. Tours and excursions to the Salzburg festivals, to Vienna, and to other places of interest are offered together with the program of study.

The inclusive cost for three weeks at Schloss Traunsee will be $100, and for six weeks $185. The school is on the list of European institutions approved by the Veterans Administration.

Interested students in the U.S.A. should write for further information and application blanks to the Institute of International Education, 2 West 45th street, New York 36, New York. (After March 1, write to 857 Fifth avenue, New York 21, New York.)

Hackett, second vice president; Alice Facha, secretary; Irene Marshall, treasurer; and Evelyn Nelson, publicity chairman.

Biggest job faced by the new president will be the Mackay day luncheon. The club's president is traditionally in charge of the event and serves as hostess and mistress of ceremonies.

Elect Nancy Swope New Home Ec Prexy

Nancy Swope, sophomore home economics student, was installed as president of the Home Economics club Wednesday evening. She replaced Joyce Ko, who served as president last semester.

Other officers installed at the same time were Thomasine Rowntree, first vice president; Eva Lin

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 35..

THE LARGEMOUTH BASS

Always a sucker for attractive bait, our aquatic brother went off the deep end and got caught on the quick-trick cigarette hook! But he wormed his way out when he suddenly realized that cigarette mildness can't be tossed off reel lightly. Millions of smokers have found, too, there's only one true test of cigarette mildness.

It's the sensible test—the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

Campaign To Aid Foreign Students To Be Sponsored By Nevada WSSF

A campaign to aid foreign students through the World Student Service will begin next week.

Vanna Grant, chairman of the WSSF drive, announced today that the annual WSSF carnival is set for March 15, as a climax to a week of activities intended to build enthusiasm for the program.

The Carnival will be entirely different from anything we've ever had on the campus before, she said.

WSSF is an organization of students in colleges and universities all over the free world, whose purpose is to contribute jointly to the needs of student centers.

Dick Thomas, regional secretary of WSSF, spoke to representatives from groups on campus and YWCA members about a program, and also of the importance of WSSF.

Soviet Russia, he said, has a large and active organization similar to WSSF and is hard at work trying to win students to communism. WSSF, which is competing with the Soviets for students, depends almost entirely on voluntary help and donations, while the Soviet organization is government subsidized.

"WSSF is trying to meet the needs of foreign students in foreign universities. The funds will go to students to help them help themselves," said Mr. Thomas.

Organized first in 1937 for relief work for students in China, WSSF now includes 36 countries, many of which, through the help of WSSF, are giving money to other and more needy universities in the several countries, added Mr. Thomas.

Student Enlightenment

Mr. Thomas said the university could enlighten all the students on campus as to the importance of WSSF, and prevail upon them to give up a few small luxuries in order that some foreign student might benefit from contributions given in place of having these luxuries ourselves.

Communication by correspondence between University of Nevada students and students of foreign colleges was suggested by Mr. Thomas. He said that a book of letters from students could be compiled and sent to these foreign students, and that it would lend a great deal of moral support and encouragement.

Americans Contribute

While American students are contributing the bulk of money to WSSF, the other countries do their part as best they can.

Finnish students, for example, give tons of paper each year for needed textbooks, Mr. Thomas pointed out.

British students contribute approximately $5 per student yearly.

Germany, India and Pakistan, which have only very recently been able to be on their own, will contribute several hundred dollars

Five Coeds Vie For AWS Prexy

Five co-eds are in the race for Associated Women Students presidency. Candidates were announced Monday.

Ruth Moore, junior from Winnemucca, is Tri Delta's candidate. Miss Moore is ASUN secretary, member of Chi Delta Phi, women's honorary English society, Phi Alpha Theta, history honorary, Press Club, Saddle and Spurs, Women's Recreation Association, house manager of Delta Delta Delta, and student senator from Tri-Delta.

Gamma Phi Beta is sponsoring Joan Foster as their candidate. A speech major from Sparks, Miss Foster is a member of Delta Sigma Rho, honorary speech society, Sagens, women's service organization, YWCA, Chi Delta Phi, member of Panhellenic.

Arline Cave, a transfer student from the University of Oregon at Eugene at the beginning of her sophomore year, is the Theta aspirant. Miss Cave is a business major and a member of the YWCA cabinet and will be treasurer of her sorority next year.

Pi Phi is running Betty Kling from Carlin. A physical education major, Miss Kling is president of PEMS, organization for women physical education majors and minors, member of Women's Recreation Association and treasurer of Pi Beta Phi.

Manzanita - Artemisia halls are sponsoring Phyllis Carpenter, a commercial education major from Ely. An honor student, Miss Carpenter is secretary of Manzanita hall, and an officer in the Newman club.

Elections will be held March 13 and 14.

To Hold Forum

A forum analyzing the qualifications of candidates for presidential nomination has been scheduled for the next meeting of Phi Alpha Theta, honorary history society.

The meeting will probably take place in April, the group decided at their meeting Tuesday night. Plans call for each member to take a candidate and discuss him for ten minutes, according to Claude Nichols, president of the organization.

Tuesday's program was a round-table discussion on the techniques of teaching history in secondary schools, led by Marvin Moss.

Business meetings of the group are held before the program, so that all students may attend the discussions starting at 7:30 p.m.

Four Frats Elect Spring Officers

Four fraternities elected officers for the spring semester last Monday night. Theta Chi and Sigma Nu hold elections later in the semester.

The new Alpha Tau Omega roster includes Jack Peterson, president; Jack Crowell, vice president; Carl Herrera, treasurer; Floyd Vice, secretary and Jim Lee, house manager.

John Bruce Harris is the new Lambda Chi president. Selected to help him were: Jack McAuliffe, vice president; Remo Fratini, secretary; Don Eccles, treasurer; Neil Romero, house manager.

Phi Sigs selected Wayne Ashley as president; Bill Brown, vice president; Herb Haher, secretary; Dick Dixon, house manager.

Robert DeRuff is now president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, with Gene Brown as vice president; Jack Allen as secretary; Wally Burnett as treasurer; and Walt McKenzie as house manager.

Poetry Contest For Hi Schools

Nevada high schools have been invited to enter the annual poetry contest sponsored by Chi Delta Phi, women's honorary English society. Lura Ward, chairman of the contest, announced that high school students throughout the state are eligible to enter.

Entries must be in by April 14 when judging will be started by the Reno Pen Women, a group of women writers and artists.

Cash prizes will be awarded the first and second place winners. Girl winners will also receive one-year honorary memberships in Chi Delta Phi.

Four To Compete For Military Queen

Four campus lovelies have been selected to vie for the honor of being Military Ball queen on March 22.

Candidates are Nadine Coleman, Delta Delta Delta; Shirley Flagg, Gamma Phi Beta; Mildred Cordes, Kappa Alpha Theta; Jean Brunetti, Pi Beta Phi.

Selection of a queen by the members of the ROTC will be made later in the month.
