

Board of regents meet to discuss spending of five million dollar budget

Plans for spending more than five million dollars in the University of Nevada budget for 1953-1955 will be made by members of the board of regents this afternoon.

Salary

The $5,079,632 appropriation granted to the university by the state legislature last month provides for merit salary increases ranging up to 15 percent for faculty and university employees.

Today

During this afternoon's meeting the regents will recommend faculty and university employees for the salary increase.

Cut

The university's proposed budget for the fiscal years 1953-1955 was $5,240,429, but was cut by $160,797. The new budget includes $300,000 which is to be added to the $300,000 bequest of Wesley Travis for construction of the student union building.

Approved

Approved budget for the university during 1951-1953 was $4,574,208. Members of the board of regents are Silas E. Ross, Sam S. Arentz, Roy A. Hardy, Dr. Louis E. Lombardi, and Newton H. Crumley.

Campus drivers bang up fenders

For the second time this year a collision has occurred at the intersection near the old gym.

Last Wednesday at 3 p.m. two late-model cars, one driven by university student Jim Butler, and one driven by a Stead air force man, banged fenders, crumpling the fenders into the tires of the cars. No one was hurt. The cars had to be towed away.

Last semester two cars driven by university students collided in the same spot.

Careless

Ray Williams, campus policeman, stated that accidents of this sort shouldn't happen.

There is too much disregard for speed limits and not enough attention paid to careful driving, he said.

Five faculty members have received letters from Pres Stout requesting that they appear today before the president and the board of regents. In response to the legislative committee's report that a minority group of dissenters exists within the faculty, the president has requested that the five profs show reason why they should be kept on the university staff.

Te letters to the faculty members, sent with the consent of the board of regents, set forth six statements as listed.

The five faculty members engaged in:

1. The attempt to develop friction between departments on the campus.
2. The attempt to develop friction between the university and the public schools of the state.
3. The spreading of false information to infer the abolishment of many faculty committees.
4. The spreading of false information to infer the lowering of academic standards at the university.
5. The spreading of false information to infer the maltreatment of faculty members by the administration.
6. The alarming of faculty, townspeople, and legislators without first presenting the matter to the administration directly or to the faculty welfare committee which is elected by the faculty members to handle such matters with the administration.

Response

In response to these statements, the five faculty members, Drs Laird, Hume and Gorrell of the English department and biology profs Richardson and Little, replied that they were shocked and surprised by the six statements. They said that they had no knowledge that they were members of the inferred minority group and that they had not at any time discussed together, matters in the vein of the statements.

Innocent

One of the accused, when asked if he intended to retain an attorney, replied to the negative. When told that two of the others were going to do so he stated, I am innocent and have nothing to fear, therefore I feel that I have no need of a counselor. Drs Richardson and Little have retained attorneys as counsel in the matter. They stated that their only defense would be that they were completely oblivious of the charges as set forth in Pres Stout's letter. Dr Richardson and Dr Hume felt that the president's policies were in defiance of academic freedom and that a dissenting faction within any system is vital and healthy for all concerned. Three of the profs have sent letters to Pres Stout to request that he define the six statements to them.

Senate

Appearing before a special meeting of the student senate on April 9, Pres Stout set forth his views on administration. He said that the decisions of the board of regents in any matters pertaining to the general good of the university would be final and binding. To define the position of the minority faculty group, the president compared efficient university management to an athletic team wherein all members were required to work together under single leadership.

Freedom

The president did not feel that the principles of academic freedom had been violated in this case. His opinion is that the freedom of individual faculty members should be confined to their own specialized fields. Grievances should be expressed through the deans of individual colleges or to the faculty welfare committee.

Channels

Pres Stout stated that the five profs had gone out of administrative channels, and that by presenting grievances to the legislature, they had endangered the university's appropriations. These funds include the 15 percent salary increase and the new student union.

Lower

Countering the charge that he has lowered university standards, the president set forth his belief that the admission requirements are such that a student can not enter unless he has conformed to a certain pattern of high school subjects. Pres Stout has taken action to remove undue admission requirements.

Brief

The president declared that the charge that former Pres Love stayed behind to brief him on the minority group is absolutely false, and that he had not kept a little black book of names of the dissenters. He said that he and Dr Love worked on the problem of the budget and the proposed salary increase.

Voice

Defining the charge that he removed the faculty's voice in matters of university policy, the president explained that he had abolished the academic council because it exercised too great a hold over the individual colleges in matters that should be determined by the colleges themselves. The council had been made up of 23 members. Four deans on the council did not exercise a vote. The president removed the council on the grounds that it curbed the lower committees in many cases that should be reported directly to the deans.

Dictator

The five profs claim that, in removing the academic council, the president has assumed the position of a dictator and is pushing the faculty around so that many are afraid of their jobs.

Pres Stout said that in the job of administration, it is impossible to please everybody. He knew when he came to Nevada, that the minority group existed within the faculty but he hoped that this internal trouble could be ironed out. He does not want the university to become a battleground for personal enmities.

Monson to speak on arts at Fine Arts club meet

Prof Charles Monson, philosophy department, will be guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Fine Arts club to be held Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock in the snack bar. Philosophy and the Fine Arts will be the topic of Prof Monson's speech.

All students are invited to attend the meeting, Marie Nielsen, club president, announced.

ILL

Three university students are in bed in the infirmary this week. Duane Moore has been ill with an allergy. Karen Heem and Barbara Peterson have been confined with colds and sore throats.

Proposed intercollegiate athletic group would help work out good program

The new proposed intercollegiate athletic conference is well on its way to becoming an operating organization. To date it looks very much like it will be composed of six schools, all of whom have had various athletic problems to solve in the past few years, some more, some less, but all in complete agreement that a well-balanced conference can do a great deal toward helping each member school in working out its athletic program.

Independently, several of the schools have found themselves groping around for something to tie on to. This newly proposed conference seems to be unanimously accepted as a way to real stability.

All of the member schools proposed are comparative in size both in student body numbers, and in breadth of athletic activities.

Place
All are agreed that all athletic sports common to American colleges should be given their rightful place in the over-all picture. This of course does not mean that all sports should be given equal time in man hours, both from a coaching standpoint and participation, for the very nature of particular sports would be overbalanced.

It does mean, however, that students of the respective schools will be given the opportunity to participate in the sport or sports of their interest and abilities on a comparatively competitive basis.

Rules
On July 1, 1953, regulations do with past abuses in athletic activities throughout the country, and are the result of conscientious study and thorough consideration.

It is expected that the conference will be in operation for the 1953-54 basketball season. Football schedules already set will not allow for a championship in the fall of 1953.

It is hoped that the name, Far Western conference, can be retained. This conference has existed for over twenty-five years, although its membership has had many changes. The University of Nevada belonged to the conference from its beginning until 1940. San Francisco state withdrew from the present conference two years ago. Cal Aggies, Chico state, and Humboldt state are at present regular members. Sacramento state only came into existence four years ago, and have been operating independently.

It is agreed by the proposed membership that each school definitely compete in six sports: football, basketball, baseball, track & field, golf and tennis. Difficulties that can often be encountered in such sports as boxing and skiing, due to facilities and lack of man-power, etc., are not expected to be a must in conference competition, but as mentioned will be encouraged enthusiastically.

Championships in football will be necessarily decided in the season competition. It has been proposed that a conference tournament can decide a basketball championship, although at the present time it also results from the season play. In track and field there would be a conference track meet staged at one of the member schools field, to determine the championship. The same for golf and tennis. In baseball the possibilities of a conference championship tournament has been proposed. Boxing and ski tournaments to decide championships would be very attractive.

An April 20th another meeting is planned by the representatives of the proposed members. It is expected at that meeting to complete the work of rules and regulations so they can be presented to the respective presidents and athletic boards of the member schools for approval.

adopted by the California state college presidents will be put into effect in all of their state colleges. Four members of the proposed conference, namely, Chico state, Humboldt state, Sacramento state, and San Francisco state must adhere to those rules.

The other two members, Cal Aggies and the University of Nevada, are in complete agreement with these regulations, and it is almost certain that these will be incorporated in the constitution and by-laws of the proposed conference.

Most of these regulations have to

Engineers inspect plant at Gerlach

By KEN AUSTIN

The civil engineering construction material class journeyed to Gerlach recently to inspect the US gypsum plant. The 200-mile round-trip began early one morning, and the class was accompanied by the instructor, Prof Poolman, and Prof Blodgett.

Products

The gypsum plant produces wall-board, pearlite, plasters, ready-mix plasters, agricultural and other gypsum products. Virtually located on a mountain of the raw material, this plant has been in operation since 1924 and has been growing continually.

Operations

The entire quarry operations were viewed from the aerial tramway which transports the gypsum from quarry to mill. The class inspected the mill itself and the testing lab where quality and other properties of gypsum and its products are controlled.

Visit

Seven high school seniors from Modoc Union school at Alturas, California, visited the university recently and were introduced to the various departments. Making the trip were Lee Holland, Dick Bertram, Gene Austin, John Partridge, Lee McGorra, Don Pollard and Ken Keeney. The students were primarily interested in agriculture and engineering.

Draft

The ROTC system, its advantages over being drafted and the opportunities the student would have if he decided to undertake the four-year military course were explained by Colonel Loewus.

Intro

Prof Sandorf introduced the seniors to the electrical engineering department by demonstrating nearly every piece of equipment in the EE lab.

The civil engineers demonstrated their testing machines, fluids laboratory and surveying equipment.

Joann Whitehead married during Easter vacation

Engagement

Joann recently announced her engagement. She graduated from Sparks high school and is a sophomore student at the university, majoring in education. Her sorority is Tri-Delt.

Neil

Neil is also a sophomore at the university, majoring in agriculture. He is a member of ATO fraternity.

Later

After the ceremony, the couple went to the Mesa for a wedding dinner and then honeymooned at Donner lake.

36 ROTC grads assigned to posts

Thirty-six University of Nevada ROTC cadets have been assigned to the units they will occupy for their tour of duty in the service. This announcement was made by Col James D. Loewus, professor of military science and tactics early this week.

Infantry

Of the thirty-six men, fifteen were assigned to the infantry, seven to the engineers, four to armor, four artillery, and one each to military police, signal corps, ordnance, transportation and chemical warfare.

Assigns

The ROTC unit at the University of Nevada, which this year became a branch general unit, can assign men to any branch of the army for which they feel the cadet is qualified.

Colonel Loewus explained that these assignments are made by reviewing the percentile scores gained through interviews with the cadet.

Board

On this year's interviewing board were Colonel Loewus, Capt Leslie C. McNair, and William D. Carlson, dean of student affairs.

Rated

Campus activities, scholastic standing, and personal interests were all rated in this interview. Percentile results were sent to the department of the army in Washington, D. C., for final approval, and to be compared with scores received from other units.

Places

Men who have been selected for the infantry will be sent to Ft Lewis, Washington, for the engineers; Camp Carson, Colorado, for the field artillery; Ft Sill, Oklahoma, for armor.

Also

Ft Knox, Kentucky, for chemical engineers; Ft McCulloch, Alabama, engineers. Others will go to Camp Gordon, Georgia, for ordnance; Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Maryland, for quartermasters and for transportation, Ft Hunter, Virginia.

UN Aggie horse show scheduled for May 10 at Reno rodeo grounds

Top competition will be offered in the 1953 University of Nevada Aggie horse show, May 9-10 in the Reno rodeo grounds, show manager Bill Cockrell stated recently. Plans are almost completed and most of the show's sponsors have been contacted, Cockrell said.

Money

More than five hundred dollars in prizes, 18 trophies and many other awards will be given to the winners, Cockrell said.

Twenty-three different classes are scheduled, including halter classes for Arabian, Palomino, and quarter horses, fine harness and gaited classes, cutting and stock horse classes and junior and senior trail horse classes.

Special features, such as a women's stake race and a specialty event on Saturday and the grand entry and the Reno Rodeo queen contest on Sunday, will be presented. Contestants for the queen contest will be chosen from university coeds. The various women's houses and organizations should contact Bill Cockrell to enter candidates.

The horse show is competitive in that the winners of the classes are recognized by the National Cutting Horse association, Cockrell said. Anyone wishing to obtain the NCHA rules should write to the National Cutting Horse association, route 8, box 184a, Fort Worth, Texas.

Those wishing to contact Bill Cockrell may write to Bill Cockrell, manager, Aggie Club Horse Show, Box 9073, University station, Reno, Nevada.

Bill Cockrell recently completed a tour of northern Nevada with four other aggie students to get sponsors and advertisers for the horse show.

Also on the two-day trip were Dale O'Neal, assistant manager, Dick Reed, Jim Hettinger and Rex Cleary.

Chess tournament starts this week

The annual Lincoln hall association chess tournament started this week with eleven students competing for the title of Lincoln hall chess champion.

Intellectual

To promote chess as an intellectual game among college students and to give chess amateurs an opportunity to practice is the purpose of the tournament, stated Charles Booth, one of the organizers.

The tournament, open to every Manzanita hall resident, is carried out in a single round robin. Each participant meets another participant only in one game. The player with the highest score at the end of the tournament will be the champion.

Aims

Playing chess teams from other organizations on campus is one of the aims of the organizers. The Lincoln hall association chess team will be formed according to the results of the tournament.

May 20 is the deadline for the matches so there will be no interference with finals. Charles Booth and Sherman Tresca are in charge of the tournament organization.

The Lincoln hall association chess tournament took place for the first time last year. Champion Bob Adams' only defeat was in the game against his own brother Jim Adams.

Last year's traffic toll of deaths and injuries was the heaviest in history.

Among the important things that greeted students returning from Easter holidays were elections. Everyone was all excited about primaries, campaigns, speeches, etc., and except for the fact that a certain deal concerning the administration was the height of conversation, the election chatter was next in importance. Good luck to all aspiring politicians. Here's hoping the best man wins!

Hearts and flowers dept: Pinned over vacation were Diane Kridler and Lyle Joy, SAE, and Dorothy Burns and George Morris, Sigma Nu. Both gals are Gamma Phi. Also on the pinned list is Don Lane, Phi Sig, who hung his pin on Barbara Coop of Burlingame.

Newly engaged is Jeanette Ferrari, KAT and Daryl Johnson. Both are from Reno.

Joining the newly married set over the Easter recess were Harriet Parke, Pi Phi., and Harry Bangachea, Sigma Nu and U of N alumni. Surprising everyone was the news of the marriage of Joanne Whitehead, Tri-Delt, and Neill West, ATO.

Three national officers visited fraternities this week. Mrs Brown came to the Tri-Delt house, Mrs Alford visited the Pi Phis, and Mr Fetterly came to look over the Lambda Chis. Their visits were no doubt good for some spring house cleaning.

Red carnations on lapels of Theta Chis today are in honor of Founder's day which is being celebrated tonight. Tomorrow night the Theta Chis are holding their fools' ball which, to quote one of the members, is to give guests a chance to exercise the right to free dress. Any costume goes, I understand.

Also on the social agenda this weekend are the costume dances being thrown by the Sigma Nus and ATOs. The Sigma Nus are giving their Jailbird dance at their house and the Taus are going South Sea Island with their coconut shindig. Both dances are annual affairs. (What flavor is the Sigma Nu punch going to be this time, boys?)

Burt Munson, the boy that does those fantastic tricks on the wires, attended the Lambda Chi conclave in Salt Lake City last week and had a great time. Which reminds me, the Lambda Chi mother's club is having a free dinner Sunday night for members and alums alike at the chapter house.

Taking a load off her shoulders now that WUS week is over and gone was Marilyn Royle, who had her hair cut. The reverse action has been taken by the men on campus who are growing beards. It's amazing how those woolly chins change the looks of some of the campus

masculinity. —O—
There's no business like snow business dept: Not to be outdone by Tuesday's change in weather were Bill Brown and Bill Dennet, who braved the storm and took to the tennis courts. Tennis is their

raquet, I guess. —O—
That's all this week. Be sittin' with Sutton next Friday.
