New Senior Bench For Miners To Be Built This Spring

A senior bench to be placed at the entrance of Mackay school of mines will be constructed this spring. The bench will be similar to the revered seat of the college of engineering, bearing plaques of the name of graduates.

Ed Tempinski, head of the Crucible club, said a committee headed by Jim Gallagher has been appointed to draw plans for the project. The members are Ralph Granning, David Robbins and Mike Ezasovic.

The bench has been in the embryonic stage since the Mackay school of mines was separated from the college of engineering. Following precedence, no one may use the bench except seniors.

The bench project is sponsored by the Crucible club, an affiliated student society of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

Selective Service is adding a new classification lower than 4-F. It is 2-X: Chicken.

SDX Has First Banquet Tonight

The local chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, journalistic fraternity, will hold its first banquet of the fall semester at the Santa Fe hotel tonight, with Arthur D. Peterson, president of the Nevada chapter, presiding as toastmaster.

Professional and student members will attend. The speaker of the evening, Harry Huey, manager of KZTV, Reno's television station, will speak on the subject "Pioneering TV Stations."

A television set will be available, and the journalists can see and discuss television as a news medium while it is being broadcast after the dinner.

Junior Committee

Junior class manager, Clair Earl, has announced his committee. He chose Adamae Gray, Theta; Sally Rogers, Gamma Phi; Carol Dickerson, Pi Phi; Janet Van Valey, Tri Delta; Ron Munk, ATO; Rob Jackson, Sigma Nu; Jerry Markoski, SAE; Roger Pettinger, Phi Sig; Ray Pestereno, Lambda Chi; Rhea Levitt and Dan Hulst, Independents.

Messiah Practice To Begin Sunday

Rehearsals for the 19th annual performance of Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," will commence on Sunday afternoon.

The first rehearsal will be held in the band room of the new gym Sunday, Nov. 1 at 2:30 p. m. Subsequent rehearsals will be held each Sunday and Wednesday night until the performance date. Anyone who sings and is interested in joining the chorus is invited to attend rehearsal.

A Tradition

During the past 18 performances, "The Messiah" has become a pre-Christmas tradition in Reno. This year's performance will feature soloists Holly Mertel, bass; Joseph Battaglia, tenor; Margaret Burns-Hawk, contralto, and Jeanne Determann, soprano.

Questionnaire to Check Students

A student union questionnaire will be given to all students in classrooms Monday, November 9, if the amendment asking for a five dollar assessment is passed by the student body on Nov. 5.

Bob Winkle, chairman of the student union building committee, said the questionnaire to be filled out by the students will include a list of the functional units usually built into a student union building.

Three offices must be included in the plans because of certain specifications in the Travis will: offices for the ASUN, alumni and graduate manager.

Other functions suggested by the questionnaire will be compiled and the student body's top preferences will eventually be drawn into the blueprints. Secondary choices will be eliminated due to fund limitations.

At some later date, random interviews will be held with students to get opinions on the building design.

Hungry Geese Help Save UN Work

"The geese on Manzanita lake are doing their bit to help make the campus ready for winter," said Carl Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds. The geese eat the green weeds floating in the lake and thereby relieve the workmen of the chilly task of dredging them out.

Also in the line of winter preparations was the job of reeling and stowing 4,150 feet of hose which has been sprinkling the lawns throughout the warm weather.

Other preparations for winter include spading the flower beds, and rearranging the rocks for next year's spring flower beds.

In view of the decrease in work possible during the winter, six groundsmen will be temporarily laid off. Their jobs will be activated again next spring.

MODERN DANCERS WILL PAN MILLER, WOLVES DANCE

A dance caricature of Homecoming will be presented by Orchestris, the modern dance group, for its Wolves Frolic skit.

There will be pantomime impressions of Dr. William C. Miller and the kick chorus, sorority and fraternity skits, the football game and the Sundowners.

Everything Is Ready For Big Homecoming

By KAREN PHILLIPS

Homecoming activities begin with the sorority open houses this Wednesday evening from 8-11 p. m. when each sorority will present its candidate for Homecoming Queen. All students and alumni are invited to the open houses, according to Annette Caprio, who is in charge of the activity. Voting for queen is scheduled for Thursday, November 5 in the booths in the basement of Stewart hall from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m.

"I have hopes for the Homecoming assembly to be the best of the year," said Jim Costa, ATO and chairman of Homecoming. Jerry Mann, head of assemblies, is getting professional entertainment from the downtown hotels. Between pep songs, comments on the team by the coaches, and the entertainment, Costa will introduce the queen candidates: Cris Wiley, Gamma Phi Beta; Beverly Ricketts, Artemisia; Karen Wayman, Kappa Alpha Theta; Carol Piazza, Delta Delta Delta; and Barbara Moore, Pi Beta Phi.

Costa said he would then "thank my hard-working committee members."

The bonfire will be used for more than an incinerator for Frosh dinks, ribbons and handbooks on Thursday night when beginning at 6 p. m. students will hold a wiener roast in the stadium. This will work into a pep rally with the band and cheerleaders trying to work up a "Beat San Francisco State" spirit. The torch light parade will wend its way down Virginia street and across the river where the marchers will divide, half coming up Center street and half up Sierra to meet again at the intersection of Virginia and Second. There the cheerleaders will lead yells and singing. In order to have a large turnout Wolves Frolic rehearsal is canceled that night.

Friday morning dress rehearsals for the Frolic are planned. The Wolves Frolic will be presented in the State Building that night at 8 p. m. Monday tickets for the Frolic will go on sale at Wilson's Drug store. Bob Winkle, who is in charge of ticket sales, said that after the first two days that tickets went on sale about 200 were sold.

Winding up the activities Saturday will be the parade, game, and dances for the alumni and students. The parade will begin at 11 a. m. There will be four sorority floats, six fraternity floats, a hearse filled with Sundowners, and eight bands of which seven are from western Nevada high schools. At the game the queen will be crowned and the Alumni tickets

Parade, Pageant Dance, Ponies in 89th Nevada Day

The historical parade, Indian pageant and the 1864 costume dance will be three of the outstanding events at Nevada day in Carson City tomorrow. The celebration will commemorate Nevada's admission to the union 89 years ago.

Band, Rifles

University students participating in the celebration will include approximately forty members of Pershing Rifles, national military marching society and the university band. Both these groups will march in the parade.

Grand marshal of the four-mile parade will be Rex Bell of Las Vegas.

Another feature of the day will be the longest pony express ride since pony express was abolished. The last lapse of the 160-mile ride will be ridden by Nevada Robert Carson, grand-nephew of Kit Carson.

A large number of university students plan to be among the 50,000 expected to attend.

CAMPUS DIRECTORY ON SALE IN YWCA

This year's campus directory is now on sale at the campus YWCA quarters in the basement of Stewart hall at 25 cents a copy.

for the prizes will be drawn. Mrs. Roy Bankofier is in charge of the Alumni dance at the Fable room. This dance is free to all alumni. The student dance will be held in the State Building, where the admission will be 75c stag and $1.25 per couple.

Life is bleak and lonely.

Phi Alpha Theta Elects Eleven New Members

Eleven students were elected to Phi Alpha Theta, history honorary, last Friday. Members are chosen from those students who have at least 12 hours of history credits with a 3.0 average in them, and a 2.5 overall average.

The newly elected are James Butler, Ray Chandler, Norma Etchegoyhen, Corinne Vieta, Annette Caprio, Rosemary Cochran, Stewart Russell, Florence Lyons, Jocelyn Lord, Andree Anchart and Edith King.

At the same time the announcement was made that Dr. W. S. Shepperson will take over the job as advisor for the group.

A banquet and initiation will be given in honor of the new members on November 19. Dr. Shepperson, Joan Love, president; Raynor Kjeldsen, vice president; Ann Boero, secretary, and Leah Gregory, treasurer make up the banquet committee.

Band, 44 Strong, Plays at Davis

Forty-four members of the university band made the trip to Davis, Calif., last week-end to play at the Cal-Aggie, Nevada football game. Majorettes and flag-twirlers went with the band.

Two buses were used to transport the band members and their equipment. The contingent left Reno Saturday noon and returned Sunday afternoon. They stayed at the Sacramento hotel in Davis.

Prof Felton E. Hickman, director of the band, said he was pleased with the beautiful job the band did, especially during half-time. Nevada's band and the Davis band together played and marched in the opening service before the game. During the half Nevada's band marched on the field and did several formations.

This week-end the band will go to Carson City to march in the Admission day parade.

WRA Will Ride To Three Picnics

Three picnic rides are planned by WRA and Saddle and Spurs, the campus riding group. The first ride is today from 12 to 3 p. m. The second is planned for Sunday from 2 to 5 p. m. The last will be Nov. 10 from 4 to 7 p. m. These picnic rides will end the season for the group.

Tryouts for Saddle and Spurs will be held during these outings. Rosy Strachwitz, president; Charlene Olsen, and Marvella Chandler are the student managers of the group. Mrs. Mary Frye and Miss Lois Fitzgibbons are the faculty advisors.

ETA EPSILON

Eta Epsilon, the Home Ec club, will hold its initiation November 9. To date fourteen women have been chosen for the group.

Irene Marshall, president of Eta Epsilon, said more will be chosen and their names will be listed later. The following women will be initiated: Beverly Gross, Thelma Honeychurch, Dorothy Hooper, Jacquelyn Hunt, Louella Mathews, Susan Lemon, Beverlee Read, Beverly Ricketts, Joan Sowle, Carolyn Smith, Sharon Long, Doris Ames, Donna Ames and Deane Dereleth.

LATEST COLLEGE SURVEY SHOWS LUCKIES LEAD AGAIN!

Last year a survey of leading colleges throughout the country showed that smokers in those colleges preferred Luckies to any other cigarette.

This year another nation-wide survey — based on thousands of actual student interviews, and representative of all students in regular colleges — shows that Luckies lead again over all brands, regular or king size...and by a wide margin! The No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better.

Smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste, and the fact of the matter is Luckies taste better — for 2 reasons. L.S./M.F.T. — Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. And Luckies are made better to taste better. So, Be Happy—Go Lucky!

The Vanishing American I. Q.

We are all proud of the football team's 13-0 win at Davis. We are proud of the band's' halftime showing and we would like to give credit to the loyal UN rooters who screamed and shouted and cheered. But in all this applause, we have neglected the real heroes of last Saturday night.

Let us now extend our recognition to the select crew of social orangutangs who busted up the Sacramento hotel. These clever, sub-normal citizens ripped out bannisters, broke windows, stole the hands off a clock (the hands are worth $125 each) and shouted at hotel guests. They wound up their sport by running up and down the hotel hallways until all hours of the night.

Read that paragraph again. Got it? Something similar to this happened in Chico's Hotel Oaks last fall too. This kind of thing is no accident apparently. And it is not merely a bunch of high-spirited folks cutting loose. Horseplay is one thing, but vandalism and downright stupidity is quite another.

Though it is doubtful in view of their Saturday night performance, someday these comedians may be fortunate enough to have a business of their own. And perhaps a bunch of mentally undeveloped youth will tear up THEIR establishment, so that they too will know how it feels to pay a bill.

If these funny-folk want to earn themselves a reputation, that's quite all right. But it would be nice if they would enlist, or get lost or just get out of town so they won't hang a bad name on the university and the students who know HOW to live. We've got plans underway for a new student union building which we will build with money donated by private citizens. How can we expect these people to donate money for a new building when a handful of morons go out and smash up someone else's property?

Let me repeat: If this self-appointed wrecking crew wants to acquire fame, will they please get out of here so the university and the innocent won't have to share it with them?

—W. E.

Miracle of Language

Dr. Laird has produced a book entitled the "Miracle of Language," which should prove to be both interesting and worthwhile reading. It deals with the much neglected and often forgotten subject of our spoken language. Volumes and volumes have been turned out on every phase of English, as far as composition is concerned.

Until this book, however, no extensive study has been made of our conversation. This topic has been a pet project of his for some 25 years, as he explained to a special class he teaches on the English language, its origin and phonetics.

As he points out, and as he teaches, the English language . . . spoken language . . . has undergone considerable change through the preceding generations. Written English, the textbooks on grammar and correct usage, have not kept up with conversation, excluding, of course, slang and colloquialisms. As a result, practically two separate languages have been developed . . . that which we speak and that which we write.

This book is an effort to compile, describe and explain some of these changes.

The Turks have the answer to nose and throat irritation due to smoking. They smoke water pipes in which the smoke passes through water filled hoses. The Turks never get lung cancer, but many of them drown.

New Department Heads Appointed

Four new department chairmen were announced last week by the office of the president.

Prof. Ira La Rivers has replaced Prof. Frank Richardson as chairman of the Biology department. Richardson was dismissed last year for insubordination although the legality of the dismissal proceedings is still to be reviewed by the state supreme court.

Chairman of the Departments of Economics, Business and Sociology this year is Prof. Alden J. Plumley. Prof. Plumley replaces Prof. Milan J. Webster, who retired from academic life last year.

At his own request, Prof. Irving Sandorf gave up the chairmanship of the Electrical Engineering department and was succeeded by Prof. Stanley G. Palmer. Sandorf is still a teaching member of the department, however.

New chairman of the English department is Prof. Robert S. Griffitt who replaces Prof. Robert M. Gorrell. No reason was given for the change.

On The Hill

By DAVID TRAITEL

The Place Jumped: As expected the Davis game turned out to be a ball, or rather post game activities did. The Sacramento hotel was the scene of the merrymaking, and no doubt the old structure thought the end was near. Probably if the manager had his way the end would have been near for a few people. The hands vanished off the large wall clock overlooking the lobby, and part of a banner went crashing down a stair well. One gay rooster spent a goodly portion of the early hours in a foot race with the management through the hotel corridors. Seems the proprietor wanted the kid to go to bed, and junior just wasn't sleepy. Incidentally junior won the contest, although in an interview a short while later he admitted he was in awfully poor shape.

It Wasn't a Happy Homecoming. The Aggie rooters spent a not so joyous Homecoming, as they watched the Wolf Pack score twice within three minutes to put the game on ice. However, Nevada certainly looked far from impressive in the win, and appeared nowhere near as effective as they did against Chico two weeks before. Again it was the sharp passing of Ed Jesse and the excellent receiving of Mert Baxter that kept the Pack in the game. The Nevada forward wall on occasions looked great and at other times not so sharp. Two of the teams' most dependable backs saw little action. Joe Leal never entered the fray because of an ankle injury suffered in the Fresno fray, and Ed Stephens, though used sparingly, left the game in the fourth quarter with a broken foot. This means Stephens will be out for the remainder of the season, and certainly won't make things any easier for Coach Jake Lawlor in the backfield. However, with a rest this week-end, the locals should be in pretty good shape to go against S. F. State on Homecoming. The San Francisco team, incidentally, lost to Chico last Saturday.

What's This? For quite some time now I've heard various students on campus state that they would like to see Nevada go back to big time football. The other night at the Davis game I heard one person say he'd rather see Nevada play Notre Dame and lose a hundred to nothing than play Davis and win. This is one side of the story. What's the other? Just what type of football team would the student body like to see this university have? Why not drop a line to the Sagebrush with your ideas and reasons. The results might prove interesting.

Editor's Note: We wish the manager had "caught" junior.

BOOKS DUE FRIDAY

The University library has introduced a new check-out system for books this year. All books are now due on Friday.

Books checked out before Friday are due two weeks from that Friday. This system has been in effect since the first of the year, but the library personnel has asked that this be brought to the attention of the students. The plan was introduced to avoid confusion.

LOVE CAN BE BEAUTIFUL

By DEBORAH DESIRE

Dear Miss Desire:
I have a complaint. I am a college freshman and I admit that it is pretty low but I try to do the right thing like washing all the senior girl's socks. Now I am in love with a boy. He is very suave, sophisticated and debonair. He is just too much. Recently he has begun driving up in front of my sorority house and blowing his horn. I tried to teach him a lesson by ignoring him. He got angry and drove up on the lawn and ran his car into the front steps and wrecked them. My house mother, dear darling, came out and punched him in the mouth. What can I do? His name is Clement.

—Frantic Frosh.

Dear "Frantic Frosh"
Though I am not quite clear as to what you want me to answer, I will take a flyer. If MY house-mother hit my boy friend in the mouth, I would pour acid on her.

Dear Miss Desire:
This is a personal question. What ever happened to your second husband, Edmund Haunch? Wasn't he a presidential candidate?

—Curious

Dear "Curious"
Edmund and I separated in 1916. He ran on the lottery ticket against Teddy Roosevelt in 1914. He got 12 votes and these from people whom he sold tickets to. Edmund was very discouraged after that and became quite sullen and morose. One morning I awoke to find that he had taken his collection of owl eggs and run off to the north. I filed for divorce on grounds of desertion in 1917. The last I heard of Edmund, he was working as a sandhog in Duluth. He was a good man, but inclined to be a dreamer.

Dear Miss Desire:
My husband is the compatible type. He likes me and I like him. We make out pretty good when he ain't breaking up stuff like furniture and stuff. He drinks some but knocks it off for church sometimes. Lately, though, he has been getting sarcastic. Like the other night, at this party see, everything I said he would reply "You tell 'em goldfish, you been around the globe." And like that. This galls me. What for instance?

—Sensitive Wife

Dear "Sensitive Wife"
I too was a sensitive wife. Eight times. So I speak from experience when I tell you it is no good. You got to get callous. Meet his wit with your own wit. Answer him in kind. Like saying "Drop Dead," or "So What" and witty things like that. Marriage is blow for blow and you must learn to counterpunch.

Dear Miss Desire:
My wife, Dixie, is the most. She is lovely and gay, charming and sweet. She is devoted to me and me to her likewise. Now, someone has started a subversive campaign against our marriage. People keep coming to me, people I don't even know, and saying: "Is it true what they say about Dixie?" It is terrible. I am half mad with worry and frustration. What shall I do?

—Innocent until proven Guilty

Dear "I u p G"
A slander campaign can be a terrible thing unless it is checked. Why don't you hire a private eye to investigate. May I recommend the man who shadowed my third husband? The detective's name is George Revolver and he taught Mickey Spillane all he knows about the detective game. (The rest of that stuff, Spillane thought up on his own). Or, you might just ask Dixie if it's true.

HOMECOMING CLASH WITH S. F. WILL BE TOUGHEST GAME YET

San Francisco State will be a rough team to beat in the annual Homecoming game here on November 7. The Gators have a good deal more class than either Chico or the Cal Aggies. Coached by Joe Verducci, former head coach at St. Mary's, San Francisco runs from a straight T with a flanker and has Maury Duncan, one of the coast's best passers.

Trouble Expected

Nevada coach Jake Lawlor expects trouble from SF's Harry Bremond and George Wehner. Bremond, is a 155 pound scatback and Wehner is a standout at right end. The Gators and the Wolf Pack are about even in the weights.

Though the San Francisco outfit was beaten by Chico, Lawlor believes the Gators will not be napping again. He hopes that UN quarterback Ed Jesse can match the passing of Duncan. At present, Jesse's completion and yardage gained percentages give him a statistical ranking near the top of the coast's best.

Pause That Refreshes

An open Saturday this week will help Nevada's chances, allowing time to heal injuries and whip the team into top trim. The two-week breather won't do much for half-back Ed Stephens, who broke a bone in his instep at Davis.

Lawlor commended the showing of line-backers Boyce Ford and Buddy Brooks against the Aggies last Saturday and lauded Brooks' running on the trap plays. The Aggies were considerably impressed by Brooks' line ripping. Seeing him in street clothes after the game at Sacramento, several of them did not believe that he weighs 220 pounds. They guessed 170.

Coach Lawlor was impressed by Giles Altenburg in his new half-back chores. The Davis game was Giles' first trip as a back and he never got his assignments for the job until the Tuesday before the game. The Pack will count heavily on Mert Baxter, whom Lawlor rates as one of the best ends on the coast. For a mere 170-pounder, Baxter's performances are phenomenal. He has elusiveness, durability and a pair of fine pass-catching hands.

NEVADA ALUMNUS

The "Nevada Alumnus," a magazine for the University of Nevada Alumni association, was published for the fifth consecutive quarter with the October issue. Never before in the history of the university has the magazine been this consistent.

The current issue is eight pages, and will reach alumni before Homecoming. Rollan Melton is the editor, Dave Traitel is business manager, and Bill Eaton and Art Peterson are on the staff of the quarterly magazine.

There's something about the taste of Budweiser that always earns a big, broad smile of welcome. Pack Sinks Aggies Nevada's Wolf Pack footballers scored two quick touchdowns in the third quarter of a grid game at Davis Saturday to whip the Cal Aggies, 13-0 in the Aggies' homecoming tilt.

The Nevada scores came on a pass from quarterback Ed Jesse to end Mert Baxter in the end zone, and a drive from the five yard line by halfback Don Jones.

The win, Nevada's second of the year out of three starts, was gained after the Wolf Pack had threatened throughout the initial half.

The only strong Aggie threat came in the third period when the host team drove to the Nevada two yard stripe, where the Pack defensive forwards finally stalled the Davis running game.

Ragged Tackling

The Davis eleven surprised the visiting Nevadans early in the first period, hanging on to the ball doggedly and capitalizing on ragged Nevada tackling.

Coach Jake Lawlor's Pack came to life with the start of the third period, with line blocking on offense improving quite a lot, and the running of Jones, Buddy Brooks and Giles Altenburg, and the pass catching of Mert Baxter contributing heavily to the Pack marches.

Single Wing

As the game drew to a close Jesse, Nevada's lone quarterback, left the ball game—the first time he'd been on the sidelines all season—and Nevada swung into its single wing formation, with Jones and Baxter working in at the tail-back slot.

Giles Altenburg, who was running from a backfield spot for the first time, got away on some nice twisting runs up the middle, with help from the Pack forwards. Jesse handled the team well as usual, and in the line it was Boyce Ford, Baxter, Stan Drakulich, Mike Leslie, Ron Einstoss and Wayne Seacrist who held up well. Rollan Melton at center was in on nearly every tackle in the Pack's two last-half stands on their own five.

Laird Has Fifth Book Published

Twenty-five years of study and research on the part of Dr. Charlton G. Laird, professor of English, culminated in the publication this week of "The Miracle of Language." Published by the World Publishing company of New York, the book deals with the uses and habits of language.

Essentially, "The Miracle of Language" is not a textbook, although Dr. Laird stated that certain elements of it have been considered in English classes. His sixth book, "The Miracle of Language" is aimed at the general reader interested in the phenomena of language and its growth.

Changing Language

Says Dr. Laird, "The book is on the nature of language, which is the ability to communicate." The book gives particular attention to spoken, rather than written language, since Dr. Laird felt that there had been too little attention given "to the changes in our concept of language as it has evolved through generations of use."

Dr. Laird has written or edited five books prior to the publishing of "The Miracle of Language: two novels, "West of the River" and "Thunder on the River." He has edited the English textbooks, "The World Through Literature," and "Laird's Promptory," as well as having been special editor on "Webster's New World Dictionary." At present he is working on a guide to compare literature, and the third novel of a series.

Journalism $800 Award Holders Press Club Guests

Three journalism students returned from a banquet in their honor in Las Vegas yesterday.

Romaine Roth, Sandra Mitts and Henry Rilling went to the southern city Wednesday to attend the Las Vegas Press club's annual Branding Iron dinner and revue that night. The three are holders of the club's annual scholarship.

Raised in 1952

When the award was originated in 1951, the winner was given $500, but last spring the members of the club voted to raise the amount to $800.

The scholarship is awarded annually to a graduate of the Las Vegas high school whose intent it is to study journalism at the University of Nevada.

The Branding Iron is patterned after the Grid Iron dinner in Washington, D. C. In the revue the news of the past year is acted out in humorous skits by members of the Press club.

3 Nevada Profs Speak to Teachers

Three members of the university staff were guest speakers at the Nevada Teachers Institutes held in Elko, Winnemucca, Reno and Las Vegas between October 13 and 23.

Dr. Minard W. Stout, president of the university, spoke to the group about the teacher, while Mr. William Carlson, dean of student affairs, discussed the pupil. Dr. Robert Griffin addressed the speech teachers of the state.

The institute is held annually. The state is divided into four districts, Elko, Winnemucca, Reno and Las Vegas. All teachers are required to attend.

The last of the meetings were held in Las Vegas last Thursday and Friday. Mr. Perry Hayden, comptroller, accompanied the other three on this trip.

One of the students in the Engineering department has invented an electric car. He almost got downtown with it last week, but the cord was too short.
