

TRACK TEAM LEAVES FOR FAR WESTERN MEET WITH THREE CONFERENCE HIGH SPOT HOLDERS

Golfers; Tennis Meet in Competition In Athletic Field Day at Sacramento

The university track team is on its way and the first Far Western conference track meet since 1938. Traveling by bus the tracksters left the campus this morning accompanied by the tennis and golf teams who will also wind up their season's competition.

Maybe Close

Track coach Hugh Smithwick prophesies that the meet would be "very close and a difference of four or five points will tell the tale." The coach remarked that while Frisco and Chico are the favored teams the edge is so light that a qualified estimate over the outcome is impossible to make.

The Wolf Pack will take the field with some very competent personnel. The team is reported to be in good shape as far as practice and enthusiasm are concerned and in the words of the coach, "That might very well make the difference."

Most of the Nevada men have faced tomorrow's opponents and have come out with credit in the field trials already held this season.

Bell Tops

Charlie Bell, Nevada's miler, has beaten everyone he will run against at Sacramento tomorrow. His best time of the year stands at 4:42 which has been beaten by other milers from competing schools but none of them have beaten his time against him.

In the 880 yard run, Harold Timmons has turned in a timing of 2:04 and is expected to bring points to the Wolf Pack in his event.

Best Mark

Big Reg DePaoli will be tossing the shot for the Nevadans and has turned in a creditable heave over.

Tennis Ending Along With Golf

Nevada's tennis team will wind up its season in Sacramento's courts tomorrow while other Packsters are busy with the track meet and on Haggin golf links.

The tennis players will meet teams from five other schools. The three man Nevada team will face Humboldt, Chico state, the Cal Aggies, San Francisco State and Sacramento state for Far Western conference titles.

Championship

Coach Jaks Lawlor stated Wednesday that with both individual and doubles championship at stake he expects the Nevada tennismen to "really get in the game."

While the tennis players will be busy facing their opponents, the university golf team will take to the links to face teams from the same five schools for their titles.

Nevada is sending at least five men to the course and possibly more. Wayne Adams, Dick Morrill, John Jepson, Pat North, and Bill Cottinger will definitely tee off for Nevada.

Alternates

Coach Lawlor said that he hopes to see the team re-enforced with Ron Einstoss and Bernie Thomason as alternates should they be needed.

The winning team will be judged by the aggregate score accrued by the entire team. However, Coach Lawlor stated that an individual medal would be awarded to the best individual.

Tahoe Again Site For Leaders Meet

The third university leadership conference will last three days at the 4-H camp at Lake Tahoe just prior to the opening of the fall semester it was decided Wednesday night at the Senate.

Clair Earle, ASUN president-elect, said that two representatives from each sorority and fraternity will be asked. Delegates from Lincoln hall, Artemesia, service and honorary groups are also expected.

The conference will discuss a six point program, student union building, assemblies, rallies, high school relations, publicity, parliamentary procedure, and campus improvement.

Earle said that every group should send a representative even if the leader cannot make the trip to Lake Tahoe. All members of the new senate are scheduled to attend the summer conference also.

Junior Sneak Starts Today With New Name

The annual Junior Sneak starts at noon today and it isn't so sneaky.

The name has been changed to Junior Luau and the time and place, Bower's Mansion at noon, is being publicized.

In the past juniors cut classes at an unannounced date to attend the picnic. The class feels that some did not attend last year because they did not know the time and place.

Luau is Hawaiian for feast and the reason for the name change was not given.

Clair Earl, class president, says that the date was set to require the least amount of cutting.

At 5:00 p.m. the juniors will return to Reno for dancing at a cabaret.

LIBRARY DEADLINE FOR BOOKS IS MAY 21

Students who have material charged from the University library must clear their record by May 21st in order to avoid being reported to the registrar and paying a fine.

This applies to all students. A fine of five cents per day will be assessed against material not returned prior to May 21st.

Clark's 'Track of the Cat' Is Local Hit

The "Track of the Cat" received an enthusiastic review from Dr. Robert Hume, professor of English, in the Sunday Nevada State Journal.

Hume praised the dramatization of Walter Van Tilburg Clark's book by the Cirlet theatre saying that "George Bennett has done more than steal a march on Hollywood." A cinema version of the book is now in preparation.

Dr. Hume gave credit to the human actors, technicians, playwright and the novelist, but asserted that the most imposing character in this drama is the cat. The audience "discovered a vast, brooding implacability—suggestive not only of the biggest panther that ever killed a cow or a man, but of nature herself, bringing to their apt destiny those human beings who spurn the Paiute's and the poet's awareness of her strength and her demand for reverence.

Mundley is Prexy As Sagens Initiate 19 New Members

Betty Mundley, independent, was elected president of Sagens at an initiation meeting held Wednesday night at the Santa Fe.

Nineteen women were initiated into the honorary women's organization which ushers Wolves Frolic and other student functions during the school year.

Carol Dickerson, Pi Phi, was elected vice-president, while Carol McGilvray, another Pi Phi, was named secretary-treasurer.

The organization is composed of junior and senior women, five from each sorority and five independents

New Members

The newly elected members are: Tri Delt, Sue Casey, Marge Titus, Peggy Jackson, Romaine Roth and Sandra Mitts; Gamma Phi: Martha Fee, Gail Johnson and Eleanor Long; Independents: Rhea Leavitt, Marsha Towner and Lillis Hatch; Theta: Georgia Meyers, Phyllis Crowder, Adamae Grey and Charlyne Olsen; Pi Phi: Marge Andrews, Carole McGilvray, Carol Dickerson and Julie Stavros.

Outgoing officers are Annette Caprio, president; Jackie McGowan, vice-president, and Nancy West, secretary-treasurer.

Spring Formals

Three fraternity houses and one sorority and Artemesia-Manzanita will hold spring formals tonight and Saturday night.

Tonight the Tri-Delts, Artemesia-Manzanita, and Phi Sigma Kappa will take to the floor.

Tri-Delt

The Tri-Delts will go to the Mapes for dinner and dance from 8:30 p.m. to 12:00 p.m. Sally McKissick is in charge of the planning.

Artemesia-Manzanita

Barbara Humphreys, social chairman for Artemesia-Manzanita, said they would hold their spring formal in the Trocadero. The dance will begin at 8:30 p.m. and end at 12:00 p.m.

Phi-Sig

Phi Sigma Kappa will dance at Lawton's from 9:00 p.m. until 12:00 p.m.

SAE

Sigma Alpha Epsilon will perpetuate the activities at Lawton's tomorrow night when their dinner-dance begins at 9:00 p.m. Bob Lewis is the social chairman.

ATO

Alpha Tau Omega will also dance Saturday night at the Half-Way House from 8:00 p.m. to 12:00 p.m.

Track Meet

(Continued from Page One) ering 43 feet seven inches. De-Paoli's mighty effort stands as the best shot put mark in the conference at this time, and Coach Smithwick expects him to score points for the team in his field.

Also on the track throwing the 16lb. shot for the Pack will be George Moss who has thrown the shot a distance of 42 feet three inches which should put him in a class to meet anyone in the conference.

Another conference best is Leo Quilici in the discus throw. His season's best of 138 feet plus stands as the best in the Far West.

Stan Drakulich's 165 foot javelin throw would indicate more points for the Nevada team, but a stitched thumb may hamper his efforts at the conference.

Another Nevadan who may very well score high is John Meder, whose 12 foot pole vault and 168 foot javelin toss are both potential winners.

High hurdler Jerry Longero is expected to give some stiff competition to his opponents. Longero has taken the course in as little as 15.5 seconds. Coach Smithwick states that this should be good enough to score for the Pack in that event.

Other Nevadans who have proved themselves on the track and making the trip to Sacramento are Lee Schroder, 100, 200, and broad jump; Bob Jones, 100 yd. and low hurdles; John Mayerhoff, 440 yd.; Milt Sharp, two mile run; Gail Munk, two miler; John Calder, pole vault and Bob Burns, broad jump and low hurdles.

The team will be accompanied on their journey to the meet by track team Coach Smithwick as well as Coach Jack Lawlor, tennis team Coach Hutch Menzel and Harold Bailey, coach of the Nevada golf team. Chairman of the Nevada athletic department Art Broten will also be on hand during the contest, as will professor Robert Morris of the chemistry department who will act as faculty representative for the Wolf Pack team.

Nevada Students Judging Speakers

Six high schools will be on campus May 13th and 14th for the invitational high school forensic tournament.

Events for the tournament are: debate, dramatic interpretation, one act plays, Shakespearean scenes, oratory, and extemporaneous speaking. Judging will be done by junior and senior university students.

High schools attending and the events they will enter are: Hawthorne, Mineral county, oratorical and one act plays; Yerington two debate teams; Carlin, debate, dramatic interpretation, one act plays, and shakespearean scenes; Lovelock, two debate teams and oratorical; Sparks, debate, extemporaneous speaking, dramatic interpretation, Shakespearean scenes and one act plays; Reno, debate

NORMANDY WINS FULBRIGHT

Carol Normandy, senior student in arts and science, was recently named recipient of a Fulbright scholarship for graduate study in Austria.

Carol will attend the University of Innsbruck and the University of Austria. The scholarship is for one year of study. Recently elected to Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary society, Carol is majoring in foreign languages.

She is a member of Cap and Scroll, honorary society for women leaders, Saddle and Spurs, fine arts, and Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Wanted: Concrete house. Must be in suburban area, five miles from ground zero of city by actual measurement. Lead shingles and doors a must. Address offers care of Sagebrush.

TODAY'S QUIZ

WHAT MAKES A LUCKY TASTE BETTER?

"IT'S TOASTED"
to taste better!

A Lucky tastes better for two important reasons: 1. Lucky Strike means fine tobacco...light, mild, good-tasting tobacco.

2. That tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"--the famous Lucky Strike process--tones up Luckies' fine tobacco... makes it taste even better--cleaner, fresher, smoother.

That's why a Lucky tastes better. And naturally, better taste is why thousands of college students prefer Luckies to all other brands.

So, enjoy better taste. Be Happy--Go Lucky!

Long Shot

We have to be born and we have to live and we have to die. We do this by eating food and trying to pay for it, having a name to use and being called others, working at a job which we may or not like and never being satisfied with the money we get for it, . . . and paying taxes on the whole business.

We exist. This is aided immeasurably by the fact that we happen to live where we are free. Periodically, we go to war so that we can stay free. This completes the balance. You can't keep things clean unless you get all dirty sweeping and scrubbing.

We love. This, because it is like sunlight and plants . . . we have no control over it and without it we die . . . sometimes on our feet. We often love the wrong things and we get bruised and scarred and very unhappy. At this point some of us give up loving and go around carrying our scars and trying to be proud of them like the people in novels. Others of us do not quit . . . because we are ashamed to, or get too angry to, or simply like the idea of loving so well that we refuse to. We try again . . . and maybe again, and again. When we get to the end of the whole scheme, we find that only in the trying and the wanting did we get any excitement and satisfaction.

We get scared. Sometimes to the point where we freeze in our tracks and the rest of the world goes blundering by us. Then we are lonely—and more scared. Or, on the other hand, we do not freeze in our tracks and we grab our fear in two hands and beat it. By doing this, we suddenly acquire some real values. We learn what every champion has to learn . . . that we must be whipped good, once. After that, if he is to be champion, he knows how hard he must try and what the price of failure is, and that he can never let up. You cannot appreciate the Top, until you have hit the bottom.

We cry. This crying, ranging from loud complaining to real screaming misery, threads through and above the whole of our years like a descendant of agony. This, because there are so many of us wanting so much . . . and falling over each other trying to get all of it.

And so, in the existing, the loving, the being scared, the crying . . . and the endless wanting, from desperation we finally reach a leveling-off place within ourselves. Sometimes this is real . . . so that what we decide to settle for is 14 karat and is happiness. Here, we touch a star. Or else we kid ourselves that we believe in something second-rate, . . . and if our luck holds, we live with it and never really know the difference.

The alternative is courage. Enough of it to hate any sort of leveling-off, and shooting everything to get hold of that star. For this, there is no definition, except within the act and from the act. And in shooting everything and maybe falling on our face—or maybe not, the goodness lies in the fact that there is no second place. This is what makes the first place so really good.

Again?

Two anonymous letters this week. One for Rollan Melton and one for William Eaton. Melton and I didn't think we had such an avid audience. Melton laughed harder than I did though, because he's bigger and has stronger lungs.

I think my letter was better than the one Melton got. Longer and dirtier. And this person can't spell either. The word is spelled F-I-L-T-H-Y. Filthy. With an H. The word sty is spelled with a Y.

The only way I'm going to find the person who wrote this last letter is to look around for somebody with a busted blood-vessel. I hope Melton doesn't find the one that wrote to him because his sense of humor, though durable, is not a sponge.

It's been a good year. I know, because we get more letters than the paper did last year.

Thanks Given

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Grice wish to express their deepest gratitude and appreciation to the following people whose blood was used to help Tom Grice in his last illness. A pint of blood is a little thing . . . until someone needs it. Then it becomes as big as a mountain. Almost as big as the hearts that gave it.

Student Art Work To Be Displayed

The annual student art show will open Monday, May 17, and run for 11 days, closing May 28. The exhibit will be on display in the art department located in the temporary building.

The works of the students from all classes will be shown. Water colors, drawings, oil paintings and paintings in a variety of other media will be on display. Ceramic wares and sculpture will also be featured.

This will be the first time various types of ceramic wares will be placed on exhibit. Some of the ceramic objects will be also "hot" when put on display, having been only recently taken from the furnace in which they are baked.

In an effort to make the exhibit more attractive and show the works of the students in the best possible way, different methods of hanging the pictures will be introduced. A folding screen will be placed in the middle of the room making it possible to hang a more impressive display.

Among the students whose works will be shown are: Barbara Irwin, Sylvia Santina, Faith Davis, Deane Cafferata, Virginia Coleman, Dave Mathis, Bob Gerring, and Gloria Royson.

The exhibit will be open to the public every afternoon except Saturday, from May 11 to May 28 from 1:00 to 4:00.

Donna Fisher Military Queen

About two hundred people saw Donna Fisher, Gamma Phi Beta, sophomore, crowned queen of the military ball last Saturday night in the Fable room of the Mapes hotel.

Donna was crowned by General Holmes E. Dages, United States Army, retired, after going through an arch of crossed sabers in true military fashion. Scabbard and Blade members and their dates attended a dinner in the Nevada room before the dancing began.

The military ball was sponsored by Scabbard and Blade, national military society. The dance was under the direction of Richard Wiseman, president of Scabbard and Blade.

The rank of major was conferred on Donna by the R.O.T.C. battalion at their Tuesday drill period. Jack Cherry, acting battalion commander, presented the award to the queen.

Aggie Horseshow Brings Good Profit

The eighth annual Aggie horse-show came to a close last Sunday showing a profit of approximately four hundred dollars.

Largest profit in the show's history, it will be put into a fund to be used to kick-off next year's show.

Enthusiastic crowds of as many as five-hundred persons attended the three-day performance, May 7th through 9th. The 321 entries—competing for $3000 in cash awards—participated in several events such as open cutting horse, Western pleasure class, Jaquima, and stock horse.

University Winner

Only university winner, Dolores Castello, placed second in the college and high school girls' stake race. Reno high school student Mickey Wallace placed first.

Rex Cleary, horseshow manager, expressed appreciation for the help given him by students, faculty, and townspeople. It was the most successful show ever held, according to Cleary.

Next year's manager will be Frank Stewart, junior Ag student.

SOPHOMORE PICNIC

Nevada beach at Lake Tahoe will be the site of a sophomore picnic and get-together on Sunday, May 16th, at 12 noon.

Final preparations were being made this week as John Jepsen, class manager, encouraged sophomores to pay a fee of 25 cents to him or a member of the committee and join the throng at the beach.

The sophomore class ordinarily has only one function a year—the frosh-soph hop. With the change in modern trends, the second year students have made a change that promises to be an annual one.

John P. Reed and Robert L. James, instructors in economics, business and sociology, and their families will be guests at the picnic.

Members of the sophomore class committee are Carole McGilvray, Marcia Thomas, Marsha Towner, Sandra Mitts and Phil Collins.

Former President Will Give Address At Commencement

Dr. Malcolm A. Love, former president of the University of Nevada, and the Most Rev. Robert J. Dwyer, Roman Catholic bishop of Reno, will be the speakers at the commencement exercises on June 6-7.

The university will graduate 212 students at the commencement exercises in the new gymnasium. Of the number, 154 will complete their studies this semester; thirty finished in February, and 28 in August, 1953.

Dr. Minard W. Stout, president of the university, announced that Dr. Love will present the main commencement speech at 10 a.m. on June 7.

Bishop Dwyer will deliver the baccalaureat address at 11 a.m. on June 6.

Dr. Love is president of the San Diego state college in California. He headed the University of Nevada for two years before he resigned to accept his present position in San Diego.

Before coming to Nevada, Dr. Love was dean of the college of arts and science at Denver university in Colorado.

Bishop Dwyer heads the diocese of Reno, which includes the entire state of Nevada. He assumed that office in August, 1952. Before coming a bishop, he served for seven years as pastor of the Cathedral of the Madeleine in Salt Lake city, Utah.

Dr. Love's daughter, Joan, will graduate from the university this year. She will receive a bachelor of arts degree in arts and science.

PHI SIGS ELECT PAPPY PRESIDENT AGAIN

William Dennett was re-elected president of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity house last Wednesday afternoon.

Other newly elected officers were: Phil Collins, vice-president; Phil Larrabee, secretary; Pete Moore, treasurer; George Moore, inductor; and Charles Harper, sentinel.

What Others Do

The old student argument that many college professors know the theories of their respective fields, but don't do so well when they try to practice them, won another point at Yale recently. An economics instructor there gave his class a hot tip on some stock and offered to invest some money. The students immediately bought 16,000 shares. The instructor is now out $800. The stock fell and he must reimburse his students at five cents a share.

Oysters?

A real note of interest comes from the university of Wyoming. Spring has also come to their campus. As proof, they offer this bit of information, "The oysters have stopped spawning in the biology hot houses and lie dormant."

A winning candidate in a Casanova contest at the University of California at Los Angeles says "I owe my victory to the many people who allowed me to purchase their votes."

It costs a small fortune to go to college for said purposes of getting an education, yet when two psychology students at San Diego State were asked what they considered their most valuable asset, they answered "intelligence" and both misspelled it.

Fund

Another incident that could cause many to express doubt as to exactly what goes on in the brain of a college student comes from the University of Rhode Island. It seems that two dollars was contributed to a "Piggery Reclamation fund" by students dropping money in a piggy bank in the student canteen before anyone found out there isn't and never has been any such fund.

Still another example of what goes on in our higher educational institutions was the short lived fad of wearing green lipstick by the coeds at Maritime university in Halifax, Nova Scotia. The males weren't particularly enthused over the whole idea though, so they went back to the more socially accepted colors.

Campus Gets First Calendar

University of Nevada calendars, featuring scenic views of the campus, may be issued for the first time this summer, it was announced this week by President Minard W. Stout.

The calendar will include the period from September, 1954, to September, 1955, showing the campus during different seasons of the year. The various colleges will be illustrated.

High schools and student centers throughout the state will be the recipients of the calendars.

The calendars will be printed through the cooperation of Dr. William D. Wood, dean of state-wide affairs Dr. Minard W. Stout, president of the university, and Robert Laxalt, director of the university news service.

Summer Session Stresses Teaching

Education courses are being stressed in the 1954 summer session at the university. The first session opens June 12th and closes July 16th. The second session lasts from July 17th until August 20th. Unless a student expects to do work leading to a degree from the University of Nevada, no formal admission, matriculation, or transcript from previous schools is required.

A Nevada law requires all teachers to have either university credit or pass an examination in United States and Nevada constitution. Both courses are offered in the summer session.

Dean William D. Carlson, dean of student affairs is in charge of the residence halls that will be open during the summer.

SDX INITIATES

Guest speakers at a Sigma Delta Chi dinner tonight will be William Loeb, New England publisher, and Robert C. Miller, United Press correspondent and Pulitzer prize winner.

Ron Einstoss, Ted Scott and Paul Finch, all undergraduates, will be initiated into the national professional journalistic fraternity at the meeting.

Among the members of the Nevada chapter attending will be Jock Taylor, editor emeritus of the Reese River Reveille.

Miller, a roving correspondent, recently returned from a tour of the North Pacific. Loeb owns three dailies in Vermont and three in New Hampshire.

The initiations will take place in the campus journalism building and the dinner at the Santa Fe hotel.

Saddle and Spurs will elect officers May 18th. A Supper Ride is also planned for that same afternoon.

Election booths will be open from 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. with the horseback ride beginning at 3:30 p.m. and ending at 7:30 p.m.

Those planning on the afternoon activity should sign up before 5:00 p.m. May 17th. The cost is $3.50.

Nevada Southern Name of Branch Starting in Vegas

Establishment of an expanded regional branch in Las Vegas known tentatively as "Nevada Southern" has been announced.

Arrangements are now being made to develop a full-scale regional division in Las Vegas, said Dr. William R. Wood, dean of the statewide development program.

The new college will be housed in the new Las Vegas union high school until the finding of a suitable campus site. Classes begin this autumn. The front portion of the high school will be used as a temporary administrative offices and college classrooms. Additional classrooms may be located in other facilities of Clark county public schools as the need arises.

Frosh Program

In addition to the beginning freshman program, plans are being made to offer such educational facilities as an in-service program for elementary and secondary school teachers and administrators, and an extensive schedule of continuing education for adults, said Dr. Wood.

Plans also call for a program of student activities, ranging from sports and social events to publications and dramatics.

Full programs of transfer courses in the colleges of agriculture, arts and science, education, engineering, and mining will be offered. The elective schedule will include courses in such technical fields as accounting, geology, stenography and typing.

The tuition and fees in effect at the university will be required at Nevada Southern.

Dr. Wood said the new college will serve both as a transfer unit for students wishing to go on to a four-year university degree, and as a short-term school for students wanting training in the technical fields of study.

One of the primary purposes of the expanded college, said Dr. Wood, is to satisfy the needs of students who do not want to attend a four-year university or go out of state for a higher education or training.

Now we got birds and flowers. Who needs 'em?

HOME EC FAREWELL TEA
