Senate Meeting

By Hazel Johnson

Problems beset the Senate two-fold Wednesday evening at its first meeting. Still undecided is the problem of eliminating, altering, amending or forgetting provisions made for the board of athletic control. This involves an entire article including seven sections of the ASUN constitution.

During former university president Malcom Love's administration and as subsequently adopted by President Stout, this board was dropped. In its place a Committee of Athletics and Eligibility was established to make recommendations to the President. Student representation on this committee consists of an invitation to the Block N representative. Last year the Block N representative declined this invitation.

The Streamer

Another problem was resolved by a blue streamer. Senators will pick up faculty bulletins for their houses when they see it unfurled on the water tower adjacent to the quonset huts. By this procedure they will know a bulletin is available.

Less controversial subjects included the approval of the following committee chairmen: Men's upper class, Bill Bulkley; Women's upper class, Eleanor Long; election board, Don Lane; Hello-on-the-Hill, Marge Titus; Homecoming, Don Wilkerson; assemblies, Bob Cooper.

Election dates for Freshmen Class manager were approved as follows: filing candidacy deadline, September 28, 3 p. m.; election assembly, September 30; primary election, October 1; General election, October 5.

Finance Control board members nominated and approved include Dr. Walter Palmer, chairman; Dr. John Morrison, Clair Earl, Sue Casey, John Jepson and Jim McNabney, graduate manager and non-voting member.

Named to head the Publication board as chairman is Dr. Walter Palmer. Committee members include Bill Eaton, Janet Van Valey, Clair Earl, Otto Schulz, Virginia Coleman, Len Harrison, and Lorraine Meunier.

SOCIAL CALENDAR PLANNED

The social calendar for the coming semester will be outlined at a meeting tentatively scheduled for September 29 in the journalism building at 4 p. m.

Elaine Mobley, dean of women, announced that letters will go out this week to the social chairmen of all sororities, fraternities, dormitory associations, as well as Blue Key, the YWCA and student body officers, but social chairmen of other groups are welcome to attend.

Dates will be set at this meeting for Homecoming Day activities and the Christmas and pledge dances.

Young Democrats Begin on Campus

Bill MacDonald, Lambda Chi, was elected president of the Young Democrats at the first meeting of the group on the Nevada campus since 1950.

Twenty-five students attended the meeting in the Knights of Columbus hall Sunday night to hear Walter Baring, candidate for reelection to the House of Representatives, speak. In his talk, Baring traced the history of the Young Democrats to its beginning in the early 30's.

New Officers

Other officers elected at the meeting are John Valone, Phi Sig, vice president; Judy Dempsey, Pi Phi, secretary; George Evans, Phi Sig, treasurer; and Annette Dickson, Theta, chairman of the constitution committee.

Prominent Nevada Democrats were also present. Among them were Keith Lee, state chairman of the Democratic party; Wayne (Red) McCloud, candidate for state senator from Washoe county; Ken Bovard, president of the Washoe county Democratic club, and Joe Ward, president of the Washoe county Young Democrats. Louisiana congressman Hal Boggs, sponsor of the anti-narcotics bills, was introduced also.

Long Lapse

The young group was reorganized after a three years lapse by a committee of three, appointed by the Washoe county Young Democrats. Dave Mathis, Bill Flangas and Bill McDonald promoted the U. of N. reorganization.

Among the immediate plans of the campus Democrats is the participation in the pre-election campaigns which began with a parade and rally Wednesday night.

On Sunday, September 26, the group will meet to study constitutional revisions. All interested students are invited to attend the 3 p. m. gathering at the KC hall.

One hundred years ago, the Nevada campus was a Buffalo wallow. Manzanita Lake still is.

Far West Conference Opener Here With Pack Versus Gators Tomorrow

Mackay stadium will be the scene for the Far Western Conference opener tomorrow night when the U. of N. Wolfpack meets the San Francisco State Golden Gators. The Pack will trot onto the field for its first game in the '54 schedule, fresh from prep daily workouts under head coach Jake Lawlor, while the Gators already have one win under their belt after downing San Quentin 26-13 last Friday.

With returning lettermen Ed Jesse, Ron Einstoss, Don Jones, Joe Lash, Mike Leslie and Joe Vianni in regular slots, the Pack will also look toward newcomers Frank Sullivan and Lee Schroder to avenge last year's Homecoming loss to the Gators. With Jones punting and Jesse kicking the extra points this year, this game promises to be an even tougher tilt for the Gators than the 28-27 tiff a year ago when a last second Nevada touchdown pass was called back on a penalty. With the usual command of the air exhibited by the Nevadans in the past, they will again face the strong running attack of Coach Joe Verducci's State team.

Trophy Bid

This will be the first Nevada bid since 1939 for a circuit trophy in the conference of six teams. It will also be the first of two 1954 tilts with the Golden Gators.

Working out of the T formation as opposed to SF's split flanker, backs Jesse, Sullivan, Garcia and Schroder will have plenty of help from regular linemen Viani, Wright, Einstoss, Ford, Baker and Lash, along with reserve guards Thornton and Chapman.

Standouts on the California team will be three-year veteran halfback Harry Bremmond and George Graham back from the '52 State team.

A great deal of Nevada's success in the season's opener will depend upon the reliable passing arm of quarterback Ed Jesse who will be

Wolf Pack to Field 15 Grid Veterans; Host of Newcomers Tomorrow Night

Thirty-five Nevada gridsters will be ready for action tomorrow night against San Francisco State. With 15 returning men with varsity experience to lead the hopefuls, Coaches Jake Lawlor and Hugh Smithwick will turn to a roster of high school and junior college stars eager to get their first real taste of college football. Frosh from Reno, Hawthorne, Susanville, Sparks and other high schools as distant as Mark Tree, Arkansas and Shoshone, Indiana will make their college debut, some as starters.

Six Footers

Statistically powerful, the Wolf Pack boasts 18 men to tower above the six-foot mark, 9 to tip the scales in excess of the 190-to-200 and above class. Only six seniors are on the 1954 Nevada 'Pack. Tomorrow night's roster will include:

pitted against SF's Gibson. Gibson replaced the Gator's conference leading passer, Maury Duncan, now with the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Practice sessions in the afternoon and those under the lights have revealed that, although few in number, the Wolves pack a potential top team with an air of confidence and anticipation of this initial conference tilt.

The probable starting lineup will include Don Jones and Joe Lash at the end posts, Mike Leslie and Ron Einstoss at tackles, with Boyce Ford and Joe Viani at the guard slots, and Walt Ryals in the center position to round out the forward wall. To complete this offensive unit, in the backfield will be Ed Jesse, play-calling from the quarterback slot covered by the halves Lee Shroder and Bob Litton, with the assistance of frosh fullback Frank Sullivan.

Missing from the Silver and Blue roster this year are the well-remembered ends Mert Baxter, Giles Altenburg and Wayne Seacrist, as well as Fullback Buddy Brooks, Half Joe Leal and Center Rollan Melton.

This will be Nevada's first return to a nearly complete schedule since the school dropped its big-time football program, and the first crack at the circuit trophy in the conference since '39.

TWO FROSH STUDENTS SPRUNG FROM INFIRMARY

Two freshmen students, Kaleo Brandt and Marlene Gregory, were recently discharged from the infirmary after recovering from slight illness. Both Kaleo and Marlene were confined to the infirmary the first week of school.

Band Looks Ahead To Busy Schedule

The university band made its first appearance of the season at the Thursday assembly in the old gym. On Saturday, September 25, it will play at the dedication of the new bureau of mines building at 10:0 a. m., and at the first home football game of the year that evening.

The 1954 edition of the band will be one of the best in recent years, bandleader Felton Hickman said. Many appearances are scheduled, including concerts and football games.

"Our first rehearsal was the most promising in five years," Professor Hickman stated. "Nearly all sections are very strong," he continued, "with the 28 new members and 17 returnees making the band larger than last year."

Help Welcome

The only two weak areas are the trombone and baritone sections. Professor Hickman stated help would be welcomed in these sections.

Tryouts for majorettes and flag-twirlers will be held next week, at which time three majorettes and two flag-twirlers will be chosen to supplement the hold-overs from last year.

Two local concerts are planned for this year, one in the spring and one in the fall, in addition to the usual appearances at outlying schools. There is also a possibility of a weeks tour through the state if the band proves good enough, Professor Hickman said.

This year's officers are: Bob Pearson, president; Jim Dunseath, manager, and Shirley Allen, secretary and historian.

STUDENTS DANCE ON COURT

Sigma Alpha Epsilon's annual tennis court dance held last Saturday night started off the social season with a bang. The all school dance, held on the tennis court next to the SAE house, had about one hundred couples in attendance.

Don Thompson and his SAE Serenaders provided the music for the dance. Soft drinks were served throughout the evening.

Dr. Richardson Again

A news story in the September 16th Las Vegas Sun stated that "Supporters of Dr. Frank Richardson" claim that the University of Nevada has discriminated against Dr. Richardson in matters of salary increase and working hours. The story cites pay raises granted to numerous other faculty members for the new school year.

Facts of the matter are this: Salary increases are drawn up by the department heads and not by the administration. The administration and the regents do, however, approve or disapprove increases. When Dr. Richardson was reinstated at the University by the State Supreme Court, no pay increase was included in the court's decision.

As for the nine hour load work carried by Dr. Richardson, one of the points he brought out in the hearings on campus in 1953 was that he did not have sufficient time to carry on research in his field.

Dr. Richardson is a fine teacher and it is good to have him back. When he was reinstated, it was hoped that the issue was closed. Now, it seems that his "supporters" are trying to open it all over again. This is unfortunate. It would be much more desirable for all concerned if these "supporters" would stop knocking and conniving so that this university can make progress instead of being dragged back into another fiasco like the 1953 hearings. There has been enough bickering. The case is closed. Let's get back to work.

Hello

Summer was pretty much as expected—long, hot and dull. Spent my days slaving over a hot truck engine and my evenings reading novels at my cat ranch on West street. Washed that stack of hard-used T-shirts left over from last year.

Now, school again, and it's good to be back. Everything is in full swing on campus—I know this because I have to park my car somewhere east of Suez in the morning and walk in to class. (The one morning that I parked close to the campus, I found a member of the Biology department examining the summer's accumulation of trash in the back seat. He wanted to make up some slides from it).

And everything is as it should be—the sights and sounds and smells. There's the thud of well-conditioned gristle from Mackay Stadium, the slam-bang of the 8 o'clock carillon on Morrill Hall and the whinnying and card-slapping of the coffee-guzzling proletariat in the snack bar. It's so fine.

Mr. Horn still insists on putting those sprinklers on the sidewalks but I'm learning to jump them, and Mr. Williams is still putting parking tickets on my windshield and I'm still reading them.

Rushing is proceeding in its usual tea-drinking, beer-guzzling pace, and the process of selection continues to the tune of house songs with heart-rending lyrics. Would-be-sorority women being herded from house to house and would-be fraternity men getting up in the morning and looking in the college bulletin for some explanation for the way their heads feel.

A lot of the old faces are back, too. They look—well—they look older. Many of them were seen at the Leadership Conference at Lake Tahoe and wear a surprised look because they didn't freeze. The conference was a success—assistant editor Ted Scott cried and rolled on the ground when I told him we had to go home. He drove non-stop from Topeka, Kansas, to attend the conference. That shows real leadership spirit no matter what they say.

And so—back to reality. Many new plans are afoot and this looks like a big year. I am taking a course in editorial writing, so be of good cheer.

ASUN President Greets Students

I want to welcome the entire student body to the campus for another school year. I encourage your participation in A.S.U.N. activities, because it will make your years more enjoyable and our events will turn out better. I especially encourage freshmen and transfers to take part in those activities on the campus which you enjoy most.

The leadership conference at Lake Tahoe gave us a good start this year. I want to thank everyone that helped make the conference successful. Special thanks goes to the leadership conference committee: Hollist Manning, Joy Thompson, and Betty Munley, also Mrs. Rathbone's help cannot be forgotten.

Now our job is to carry out the ideas and suggestions which were made. We know that to carry these things out we will need the help of everyone.

I encourage you to make suggestions to me or to the student leaders during the year when you have ideas which will help the student government.

Welcome again to the campus and may your year at the U. of N. in 1954-55 be successful.

CLAIR EARL,
A.S.U.N. President.

Now Hear This

Newest proposal put forth by the ASUN Senate concerns the distribution of faculty bulletins. It seems that these bulletins haven't been getting around as well as they should.

To remedy this, the senate proposes to put new bulletins in big stacks in the offices of the deans. At a given signal, senators will pick up the bulletins and distribute them.

The signal? A blue streamer attached to the top of the campus water tower.

Why not fire both cannon in front of Stewart Hall too?

Women Wanted For Sports Play

Individual Sports playday is scheduled for October 2 at the Modesto Junior College. The University of Nevada physical education department will be sending contestants in golf, archery, tennis and badminton, according to Dr. Ruth Russell, director.

All women students of the university are eligible to participate in the Playday. Tryouts will be held before October 2 at the convenience of the students interested. Students wanting more information about tryouts may contact Miss Jackie Wilson, W.R.A. Advisor in the Physical Education Department.

The U. of N. women's physical education department is a member of the Sacramento Valley extramural league. This league sponsors eight individual sport Playdays during the year. The U. of N. was host to one of the playdays, held on the campus, last April.

Pack Tracks

By ROLLAN MELTON

Nevada's Wolves, starved for a football avenging shot at San Francisco State, will get a chance to sink a fang or two in the Gators when the two small-college teams meet on Mackay Field Saturday night, 8 p. m.

Nevada's spirited Pack is reportedly "up" for this one but if advance reports on the Bay area eleven are factual, it'll be a rough night for Jake Lawlor's T-Formation outfit.

Coach Joe Verducci, a modest chap who usually places his own Gators in an underdog role, then watches them lace the opposition, has again noted Nevada strength, saying "the city boys will probably be outclassed by the Pack."

But Mr. Verducci, of course, is aware that behind Nevada's starters, there is little experienced depth. He knows that a few serious injuries can virtually wreck the winning hopes of any smaller club which lacks reserve talent.

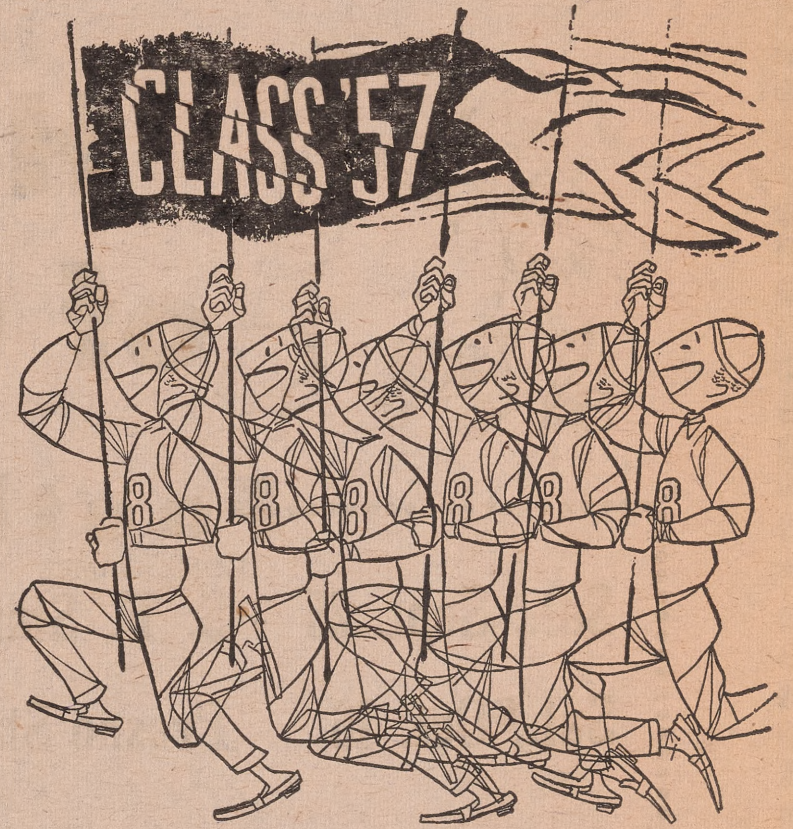

San Francisco State's club is headed by Mr. Harry Bremond, a 5'5" scatback who's a deluxe broken field artist. Bremond is remembered as the boy who contributed the most to Nevada's hair-raising 28-27 Homecoming game defeat last fall. He later appeared here in a losing middleweight boxing role against the Pack's Carl Looney.

Nevada, on paper, looks formidable through the starters, but the Pack coaching staff—Lawlor and Hugh Smithwick aren't paper guys. They place team success on what eleven men can do in action, not on hypothetical instances.

Lawlor, a hard-driving, fiery individual, always goes for the win. He expects to know more about the starting combination he's got in there after the initial '54 game tomorrow. Freshmen candidates, for the first time, will be finding out that the Pack coach plays it close . . . if it's a crucial ball game, he won't be jerking veteran leaders out and replacing them with untried subs.

That is, unless the vets don't come through.

But, anyway, barring key injuries or unexpected eligibility losses, Nevada ought to be a mighty aggressive club this season and will own a respectable record come November.

Stewart to Lead Cadet Battalion

University of Nevada's ROTC department has announced the selection of Stephen C. Stewart of Pomona, Calif., as cadet Lt. Col. and commanding officer of the ROTC cadet battalion.

Lt. Col. Robert L. Bereuter, professor of military science and tactics, said that Stewart will head the Nevada cadets for the school year 1954-55. A graduate of Pomona high school in Southern California, Stewart is a pre-legal senior. He is a member of Scabard and Blade military society, Pershing Rifles, Theta Chi fraternity, and the Nevada debate squad. He was selected to the post of battalion commander on the basis of leadership, character, military bearing and scholastic achievements.

Staff Officers

Other staff and company grade cadet officers named to posts were Major Donald Wilkerson of Reno, battalion executive officer; Major Terry R. Bastian of Reno, training officer; Capt. Jerome H. Markoski of Reno, personnel officer; Capt. George P. Young of Reno, intelligence officer; Capt. Arthur I. Imagine of Reno, supply officer; and the following named captains and company officers: Olaf S. Leifson, Gerald J. Lyons, Jake Carpenter, Frank S. Stewart and Clair F. Earl.

Students named company executive officers include First Lieutenants Warren C. Young, Robert T. Cooper, John M. Staunton, Rulon H. Manning and Kenneth C. Duck.

Second Lieutenants named to lead platoons are Leonard J. Sperling, Edmund F. Baroch, Charles E. Hanna, John J. Hanifan, Raymond L. Ferrari, James I. Botsford, James J. Carlson, George L. Bower, Otto R. Schulz, Robert C. Wilson.

Included on the rolls of battalion student officers for the year were Second Lieutenants: Edward G. Davis, Ray G. Pastorino, George R. Coffill, Lelan A. Ceccarelli, Glen N. Dory, John L. Hall, Gerald J. Svob, Ronald Munk, Gerald F. Crowe, John C. Valone and Duane B. Urban.

All officers were chosen from upperclassmen enrolled in military on the basis of their conduct and scholastic records while underclassmen. All have enrolled in the advanced sections to complete their military educations in preparation for their eventual commissioning after graduation.

ASUN PRESIDENT WINS CHEM CONTEST

A biography of Clair Earl, president of the Associated Students of the University of Nevada, will be published in the California section of the national chemistry publication, "The Vortex," sometime this fall. Clair won over other contestants from Nevada and Northern California in a speaking contest held at San Jose State college last April, where he represented the University of Nevada Chemistry department.

According to Clair the title of his winning speech was "Filter Paper Electrophoresis," which dealt with the movement of charged particles along filtered paper in an electrical field.

AT TAHOE MEETING

Union Committee Proposes Article

Meeting during the Leadership Conference at Lake Tahoe, just prior to the present school term, the Student Union Committee decided to add an article to the A.S.U.N constitution instead of continuing to proceed with the five dollar amendment which caused so much controversy last spring.

Under acting Chairman Bill McDonald, the committee of fourteen members decided on a three-point program to make clear to the students the benefits of the proposed building.

Chairman McDonald said that he did not think the students knew exactly the issue at hand when the five dollar amendment was voted down twice by the student body last year.

Separate Committee

The program includes the formation of a constitution to govern the proposal, i. e., a committee separate from the A.S.U.N. which will be controlled by a student supervisor who will be responsible to the president of the University.

Means of furnishing the building will be studied. This will entail interior decorations, chairs, tapestries, etc., which at a later date will be displayed for the approval and hoped-for support of the students.

The third step is that of familiarizing the students and people of the state with the facts of the issue.

Funds for the building were made available from the Jot Travis Memorial Fund, a fund which was left to the school at the death of Mr. Wesley Travis. The sum, $300,000 was slated for the specific purpose of a Jot Travis Memorial Student Union Building.

After taxes and fees, approximately $180,000 was left for the building purposes. The legislature consented to match the fund at the students' approval and the public's disposition.

That approval, not granted as yet, led to the program decided upon at Lake Tahoe; a slow and careful presentation of the beneficial aspects of a new student union building.

Brink to Replace Miller in Drama

Dramatic coaching chores, including the Wolves Frolic, formerly handled by Dr. William C. Miller, will fall on the shoulders of newly-appointed Dr. Lauren L. Brink, professor of English. Dr. Miller is still recovering from a heart ailment suffered last July.

Dr. Brink was formerly assistant professor of English and director of dramatic arts at San Francisco State college. At the 1953 commencement exercises he was honored by the student body as the faculty member who had made the most outstanding contribution to the student activities program during the '52-'53 school year.

The new coach did his undergraduate study at the University of Minnesota, where he also earned his M. A. and Ph. D. degrees.

...AND HOW IT STARTED

DOUGLAS LEIGH says: "After leaving the University of Florida (where I'd sold yearbook ads), I had big, crazy ideas about making new kinds of spectacular displays. So I bought a Brownie and went to New York to photograph rooftops. My first sign was a huge, steaming coffee cup on Broadway. At age 23 I was starting to learn an exciting business!"
