Plans Made for Early Homecoming Featuring Grid Game With Sacto State

Early plans are being laid in preparation for Nevada's annual homecoming ceremonies. This year's festivities will include the usual parades, dances, game, and the traditional crowning of the Homecoming Queen.

Homecoming will get off to an early start November 3 with the sororities opening their doors to students for dancing. Each house will present their candidate for the annual queen running, and offer music and refreshments in return for support of their candidate.

Burn Dinks

Another Nevada tradition, the bonfire, will follow the evening of Nov. 4th. At the fire, frosh will have a chance to burn their distinctive dinks and ribbons, should they prove themselves victors over the sophomores at the Frosh-Soph Field Day Oct. 9th.

Following the fire in front of the stadium, students are invited to work off their exuberance at the snake dance, another Nevada tradition. Staged in downtown Reno, the snake dance is planned to wend its way throughout the streets and eventually wind up back at the campus.

Student Talent

The Wolve's Frolic will continue the festive weekend on the night of Nov. 5th. Tentatively scheduled to be held in the State Building, the Frolic will give the various living groups on the hill a chance to display their creative and acting talents. As usual, the Frolic will feature skits written and produced by every fraternity and sorority.

Themes and ideas for the skits were turned into Dr. Lauren Brink of the English department for official approval.

The frolic will also offer the student body its first chance to view the queen who will be introduced at that time.

The morning of the sixth is planned for the traditional parade. This year, as in the past, organizations will parade their floats through the streets of Reno. Each float

Frosh To Keep Dinks One Month

Freshmen dinks and ribbons are not to be immediately discarded, even if the frosh triumph in the coming tug o' war, Saturday, October 9th.

The celebrated frosh-soph tug o' war, part of the field day activities during the Hello-on-the-Hill program, will not end freshman dink and ribbon worries right away, announced Clair Earl, ASUN president.

Keep Them On

"Freshmen must continue to wear their dinks and ribbons until the annual homecoming celebration no matter who wins the tug o' war," he said. "However," Earl added, "if the freshmen win the tug o' war they won't be required to wear the dinks for the remainder of the semester after homecoming."

Last year the freshman class won the tug o' war and immediately discarded their dinks and ribbons. Remembering this, the student body president wished to make it emphatically clear this year that the traditional head gear is to be retained until the homecoming celebration is over.

PHI SIG ATTENDS MEET OF MIDDLE-EAST STUDENTS

About 250 foreign exchange students of Middle Eastern countries convened at Estes Park, Colorado, just before school started in the interests of strengthening U. S. Arab relations.

Gregory Jeanbart, Phi Sigma Kappa attended the meet from the University of Nevada. Jeanbart is a junior, majoring in electrical engineering.

Originally from Aleppo, Syria, Jeanbart hopes to obtain a position with an American oil company upon his graduation, and subsequent naturalization as a U. S. citizen.

Pack Boards Bus for Chico Journey And Second Game of Grid Season

Thirty-two Nevada gridders board a Greyhound bus tomorrow morning at eight for the journey to Chico, California to play the Chico State Wildcats.

In preparation for this second game of the 1954 season, coaches Jake Lawlor and Hugh Smithwick have been putting the Wolfmen through extensive aerial defensive and offensive drills this past week after they suffered a 20-point setback at the hands of the San Francisco Gators last Saturday.

The Chico eleven, eager to avenge their last year's only conference defeat of 6-27 given them by the Wolf Pack, will also have a game under their belts. Last week they downed the powerful Hellcats of Alameda Naval Air Station 19-13, shortly after the Navy birdmen had met the Stanford Braves.

With 20 lettermen returning from last season's conference-winning Wildcat squad, coupled with 10 junior college transfers, former

Great Plague Belts Deltas

The Tri Delt house was converted to an infirmary Wednesday as fifteen women, the cook, the house mother and the house boys became the victims of acute food poisoning.

Groans and moans were heard from the house at 835 Sierra st., as the doctor visited. Medicine was given and two women were transferred to the hospital.

The actual cause of the illness was not determined. The luncheon menu consisted of tomato soup, beef and ham sandwiches and fresh peaches.

Pink Stuff

Acting nurses were Janet Van Valey and Dodie Black, who had not been present for the mid-day meal. They forced pink medicine down the ailing ones, only after the doctor had examined all of them.

Sigma Nus Ted Contri, Tom Alter and Bill Priestly, house boys, who were in the midst of fraternity hell week, were forced to keep their complaints to themselves. They pleaded not ill. But Nurses Van Valey and Black backed them into a corner and forced the pink cure upon them.

Two More

Late in the evening when most of the women were finally asleep, two others were badly ailing. Dixie Sturges and Janice Palludan were wrapped in blankets and transported to Saint Mary's hospital to recuperate.

Throughout the night the patients were awakened at three-hour intervals to be fed the medicine.

CAMPUS DIRECTORY PUBLICATION PENDING

The campus directory will be published again this year as usual. Information regarding changes or corrections in listings and telephone numbers will be appreciated.

The directory includes the names, addresses and phone numbers of the faculty and staff, the student body, including the student officers and publications, the non-matriculated students, the Las Vegas students and the various campus buildings.

The changes should be reported to the registrar's office as soon as possible. The directory will be published when all new listings have been recorded.

Watch this space for casualty report from Lake Tahoe Student Leader's Conference.

players returning from the service, and a host of newcomers, 'Cat mentor Gus Manolis had 74 turn-outs from which to choose for his annual game with the men in Silver and Blue.

NCAA Rules on Schroder

This week also saw Joe Leal, halfback letterman on the '53 squad, rejoin the Pack for another season, as well as a NCAA ruling on Lee Schroder. Chico State had the same luck however, when their '53 All-Far Western Conference fullback Carroll Campbell showed up for practice.

In addition to Campbell, Coach Manolis is expected to use starter Ernie Matlock as well as Mickey Risberg in the fullback slot. Risberg reportedly did exceptionally fine offensive work against the Alameda eleven. Alternating out of the Nevada fullback position will be frosh Frank Sullivan, a proven performer in last week's game, and reliable veteran Don Jones. Jones doubles at full when he is not at his end post to receive passes from Q-back Ed Jesse.

Line Up

The tentative starting lineup as the Wolf Pack goes through a light workout today is:

Ends—Joe Lash and Buddy Piazzo; Tackles—Mike Leslie and Ron Einstoss; Guards—Boyce Ford and Joe Viana; Center—Walt Ryals; Quarterback—Ed Jesse; Halfbacks—Frank Garcia and Bob Litton; Fullback—Don Jones.

For the wildcats it will be: Ends—George Maderos and Mose Masletolo; Tackles—Pete Seiber and Gene van der Leun; Guards—Willie Misquez and Fred George; Center—Bill Bishop; Quarterback—Hal Higgins; Halfbacks—Frank Ferraiulo and Ron Temple; and Fullback—Ernie Matlock.

It will be an evening game, scheduled to start at 8 p. m. The Nevadans will stay in Chico tomorrow night and return Sunday.

CO-ED P. E. CLASS OFFERS FOUR SPORTS

A co-educational class is being offered by the Physical Education Department for the first time at Nevada.

The class will feature instructions in golf, archery, badminton and bowling. The instructors for the course are Mr. George A. Broten and Dr. Ruth I. Russell with the assistance of Glen Lawlor in the golf instruction.

Seventeen men and eight women are registered in the course this semester. If the new section proves successful it will be offered again next semester.

MINERS RETURN FROM FRISCO TREK

Juniors and seniors from the Mackay School of Mines returned early last week from the American Mining Congress Show of 1954.

At the show, held in San Francisco's Civic Auditorium September 20th to 24th, the students beheld a symposium of exhibits and movies and listened to various lectures dealing with the mining profession.

Founded in 1898, the American Mining Congress represents all branches of the mining industry, meals, nonmetallic minerals, coal and mining manufacturers.

It was formed for the protection of the mining industry and also for the diffusion of general information pertaining to the American mining industry.

New Prof Named In Ed. Department

Dr. Norma Baker has been named assistant professor of elementary education for the U. of N.'s new College of Education. Dr. Baker has been recognized for her research findings in children's reading.

The new professor will be in charge of kindergarten-primary curriculum and courses including supervised teaching of students majoring in that field.

Dr. Baker received her M. A. from Stanford, and her Ph. D. from the University of California. She was previously a member of the San Jose State college faculty and a research assistant in reading in the education department of the University of California. She taught courses there in reading and kindergarten procedures. At one time, Dr. Baker was connected with Chico State college.

UN Authors to Attend Gathering

Three persons connected with the University of Nevada, Dr. Charlton G. Laird, Dr. Robert A. Hume and Robert P. Laxalt, are planning to attend an open house for local authors in Sparks, Sunday, October 3rd.

Dr. Laird has written several books dealing with language and grammar as well as historical novels. Dr. Hume wrote "Runaway Star, an Appreciation of Henry Adams" and a number of articles on American and modern literature. Many articles and short stories by Robert Laxalt, UN News Editor, have appeared in national magazines and periodicals and he is at present working on a novel.

The meeting, open to the public, will be held in the Sparks library Sunday, October 3 from 3 to 6 p. m. Mrs. Ruby McLeod, librarian in charge, stated that the following authors intend to be present.

Mrs. Helene Laird, Dr. Nathan B. Joseph, Rodger Joseph, Lucius Beebe, Charles Clegg, Harold Witt, Mrs. Willis Caffrey, Mrs. Katherine Best, Miss Beulah Singleton, Miss Idel Anderson, Mrs. Byrd Sawyer, Russell W. McDonald, Mrs. Walter E. Clark representing her son, Walter Van Tilburg Clark, and Mrs. Stillman Vaughan.

Students Warned To Register Cars

Student automobiles not registered and minus yellow windshield stickers will be fined one dollar.

Carl Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds, stated that few students have bothered as yet to register their cars at his office. The ten day deadline ends Monday, he added. Until that time, registration is free.

Student drivers not fully acquainted with campus driving regulations are warned that after the first offense an increase of one dollar is added to the fine. The third offense warrants a five dollar fine, with the fourth offense resulting in loss of driving privileges on the campus.

Rules Enforced

It was also announced that a previous practice of deducting traffic fines from university registration fees is discontinued. Violators must now pay their fines at the comptroller's office within one week or lose driving privileges.

Campus automobiles registration blanks are available in the office of superintendent of building and grounds, Morrill Hall, together with adequate information on campus traffic regulations.

Most common offenses that incur fines are exceeding the 15 miles speed limit and parking in unauthorized areas. Students are advised to learn the existing traffic laws on the campus.

Frosh Choose Class Manager

Primary elections for the office of freshman class manager are being held today from 8 a. m. until 4 p. m. in the snack bar. Only freshmen are allowed to vote. The two candidates who receive the top number of votes will be run in the general election to be held Tuesday, October 5th.

Four candidates were introduced at the assembly Thursday morning by student body president Clair Earl, and their campaign managers. Each gave a short talk.

List of Candidates

The four men running are Bob Faiss, Independent; Steve Dollinger, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; John Flynn, Sigma Nu; and Doug Parry, Lamba Chi Alpha. All have been campaigning for the last few days.

The new freshman class manager will be installed Thursday, October 7, at the Hello-on-the-Hill assembly.

Reason for such an early election this year is to give the new manager time to pick his class committee, and to get organized in time for "Hello-on-the-Hill, and the frosh-soph field day.

All Freshmen are requested to report to the infirmary for rabies shots.

Who Needs It?

Last fall, the loyal Wolf Pack rooters who traveled to Fresno for the football game left their mark on that town with a vengeance. These Nevada students cut loose in a Fresno hotel and busted up fixtures and furniture to the tune of several hundred dollars.

Two years ago, some rabid Nevada supporters pulverized another hotel when Nevada was playing Chico State. Tomorrow night, the Pack goes to Chico again.

Win, lose or draw, Mr. Lawlor's men will turn in a good, clean, hard-driving performance on the field. Won't it be nice if the members of the cheering section can do the same wherever they hang their hats after the battle?

Shout your lungs out for the ball players, burn up all your energy where it will do some good, so that you won't have to punt pillows, lateral vases through windows and tackle ash stands until you are exhausted enough to sleep. People will like us better, really.

I Saw You

This is intended for the guy with the black Chevrolet who nearly cut me in half in the parking lot on Monday. Let me live, buddy. I promise I won't eat much.

That parking lot is admittedly not the best thing of its kind. It's dusty and windy and rather far from any people, but it is all we have. The loose gravel surfacing offers very little in the way of tire traction. That's the point.

All that is required to park your car, is to drive in and find a spot and place the car in it and go away. No need to roar in there like Captain Video, throwing rocks and dust and trying to ram the poor editor in his vintage auto with the fringe on top.

Unless you can see around corners, please do not try to crash the sound barrier on that loose gravel because you can't stop. When I die, I want to die gloriously, not pinned upside down under my four-wheeled fossil with all that dirty oil running on my shirt.

Letter TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

We've only been back in school three weeks and already some people have begun griping about homework and having too many activities. Only Tuesday, while I was down in the snack bar waiting for someone to set up a round, I overheard a group of students complaining. Too much homework. I listened but did not join them because I had no homework that day and was afraid they might stone me.

Sometimes I have homework to do and I spread books and papers all over my desk and I smoke too much and I get mad. But I generally get it done. Sometimes I even get it done right. There are times when I would like to drink four fingers of Manzanita Lake and do myself in, but I never do.

I like it up here. I have never been happier, in fact I can safely say that before I came here, I was just miserable all the time. Especially when the straps were too tight or the nurse turned out the lights in the ward.

For years, I dreamed about college. When the other fellows were out pursuing the somewhat microcephalic girls of our set, I was at home—pouring over college catalogues. It took two years, but I finally found a school that would accept my high school grades (along with an evaluation fee of $108) and did not ask for an accompanying photograph. I was gleeful. I sang.

When I told my father about my plans, he smiled and twisted one of my ears in a 360 degree arc. He said, "Listen to me. You are 17 years old. Last week you learned to tie your shoes. Why college?" I squirmed a little under this praise, but replied, "Education is the coming thing, father. I want some." He drove his fist through the wall and smiled at me. "I was never educated and look at me!" I looked at him and then got my college catalogue and showed it to him. I showed him all the swell courses like Basketweaving 101 and Bead-stringing 352, but he was not impressed. I said, "Father, I must." He said, "How much loot you got?" I showed him my collection of Aztec coins. He shook his head and said, "Uncle Sam wants YOU!" I went down and enlisted.

That was many years ago and my father is dead now. He died during my first furlough, in fact it was at the train when he saw my in my uniform. Anyhow—all that is behind me. I have been to the war, serving nobly in the capacity of Third Assistant Supply Clerk in charge of trousers. I have grown up. I know what I want.

I have written this letter because I want my fellow students to know that they never had it so good—partly because they did not know my father, but mostly because they are going to college. College is great.

Sincerely,
(Name withheld by request)

Intramural Sports See First Action

Nevada's Intramural program for 1954-55 got underway last Wednesday with softball and horseshoes, both singles and doubles leading the way, according to G. R. Broten, director of athletics.

Competing for this year's intramural trophy will be ATO, Sigma Nu, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Theta Chi, Lambda Chi, Phi Sigs and the Independents, a team composed of men not connected with a fraternity. Two new teams, Sigma Rho and Lambda Delta Sigma, have been added and should increase the competition over last year's schedule.

ATO finished first last year and acquired a grand total of 606 points. Sigma Nu was second with 517 and Sigma Alpha Epsilon third.

The following schedule has been set up, however it is only tentative and may be subject to change.

Horseshoes (singles)—Sept. 22-Oct. 4.

Horseshoes (doubles) — Oct. 5-15.

Softball—Sept. 22-Oct. 15.

Cross Country—Oct. 22-Nov. 6.

Bowling—To be voted on.

Riflery—Oct. 26-Nov. 10.

Volleyball—Oct. 26-Dec. 1.

Basketball—Dec. 1-Jan. 21.

Skiiing—Feb. 1-Feb. 28.

Track—March 1-March 27.

Handball (singles) — April 1-April 30.

Handball (doubles)—May 1-Apr. 30.

Tennis (singles)—Apr. 1-Apr. 30.

Tennis (doubles) — May 1-May 30.

Baseball—April 1-May 27.

Co-recreational badminton and volleyball will be added to this year's schedule, however no points will be given toward the intramural trophy.

Broten announced that the intramural program is wide open for adding new activities if the call arises and that any ideas on the subject brought to him would be thought over and considered.

Faculty Invited

It was also believed that in order to add more strength to the program a faculty team, made up of members of university faculty, might wish to enter in the intramural program; if so Professor C. M. Scranton, associate professor of Physical Education, should be contacted as soon as possible.

The schedules with the time and date for softball and horseshoe (singles and doubles) have been handed out to fraternities and independent organizations on the campus. Teams failing to show within ten minutes after their scheduled time will forfeit the game. Two defaults eliminate a team from the schedule.

No games may be postponed without sufficient cause and without first getting agreement from the athletic managers of both teams and the Intramural Supervisor.

WRA TO PLAY DAY

Women's Recreation Association of the University of Nevada is sponsoring a Play Day at Modesto, California this weekend. The teams consist of Linda Long, archery; Bonnie Woods and Annette

What's wrong with this picture?

You probably have a snapshot like it in your own photograph album.

It happens when you get too close to your subject, and the camera can't handle the perspective.

In another sense, you can get an equally distorted picture of the modern corporation. For viewed too close-up, it frequently looks bigger than it is.

Take Union Oil. In 1910—when we did but a $12,000,000 volume—we seemed much smaller. Yet at the time this was 23% of the total petroleum business in the western states.

In 1953 we looked much bigger because we did a whopping $325,000,000 volume. But this was only 13% of the petroleum business in the West.

Certainly we've grown. We've had to grow to serve a bigger market, to meet increased competition and to satisfy more consumer needs. But in proportion to the total business, we aren't as big as we were 44 years ago.

Seen in perspective, the picture is clear: the Union Oil Company, like so many so-called "big" companies, is really getting smaller all the time!

Summer School Interest Grows

"The record number of students enrolled in this year's summer session showed an increased interest in the courses that were offered this summer," stated Dr. Harold N. Brown, Director of Summer Sessions.

The enrollment for the first session was 544 students, and for the second session 260. The increase over last summer totaled over 20 per cent.

One hundred forty four of the five hundred forty four students attended coaching school and clinic under the direction of Prof. J. E. Martie.

Professor James M. Tatum, head football coach at the University of Maryland, and Dr. Forest C. Allen, head basketball coach at the University of Kansas, were in charge of the coaching school. Dr. Allan also offered instruction in the treatment of athletic injuries.

An elementary school curriculum workshop with the cooperation of the state department of education attracted 10 students from all parts of the United States. Dr. Hilda Taba, San Francisco State College, was one of the visiting lecturers.

Courses in driver training and guidance were offered, directed by Mr. Sam Basta, state supervisor of guidance services.

A student from Littlefield, Arizona, traveled 220 miles daily only to attend the summer sessions in Las Vegas, reports Dr. William Wood, dean of state wide development. This, he points out, shows the interest in the summer session of "Nevada Southern." One hundred students instead of the expected 40 enrolled in the sessions. These students were mainly residents of Clark county.

Dr. Emma Birkmaier, professor of education, University of Minnesota, and Miss Vivienne Worley, principal of Ashbury Elementary school, Denver, were the visiting lecturers.

According to Dean Wood, the summer session will be continued and probably expanded. If enough interest is shown a similar project will be set up in Elko, Ely and Winnemucca.

New Commander At Nevada ROTC

Lieutenant Colonel Robert L. Bereuter has assumed command of the University of Nevada department of military science and tactics. Lt. Col. Bereuter, decorated combat infantry veteran, relieved Lt. Col. James Loewus as military department head prior to the opening of the fall semester.

The new commanding officer was assigned to the university following two years of service in Izmir, Turkey, where he was attached to NATO headquarters for allied land forces of Southeastern Europe.

Lt. Col. Bereuter was a member of the first group of American officers to activate the NATO headquarters for integrating Greek and Turkish forces.

ROTC Graduate

Commissioned from the University of Nebraska ROTC, the new commander is 36 years old. He was stationed in Hawaii when Pearl Harbor was bombed and later served with the 25th division at Guadalcanal, the Solomons and New Georgia. Returning to the United States in 1943, he again saw action with the 63rd division in Europe. He holds the Purple Heart and the Bronze Star with three clusters.

Lt. Col. Bereuter is married and has one daughter. The University of Nevada military department is his first ROTC assignment.

ATO MOTHER'S TEA

Agriculture Labs Rank With Best

Nevada's newly equipped and re-modeled laboratories of animal husbandry department are among the best in the country. Dr. Verle R. Bohman, nutritionist, who earned a Ph. D. at Cornell in 1952, says that the animal nutrition laboratory is as good as that of Cornell's. Dr. James F. Kidwell, head of the department, states that the physiology lab is now functionally the equivalent of the one at Davis.

Approximately $5,000 worth of modern equipment has been installed in the animal nutrition laboratory including a new centrifuge to be used in blood analysis. Complete feed analysis is also possible.

Works With AEC

Among the major interests of Dr. Bohman and his associates is research in range nutrition in cooperation with the Atomic Energy Commission.

Other aspects of research consist of winter feeding of beef cattle, antibiotics in lamb rations, and alfalfa in swine rations. A comparatively new interest is the research connected with the use of animal fat in swine and beef rations.

Several publications concerning this research are due for release in the future. The general outcome of this research would lead to more efficient feeding and more and better use of range land.

In the physiology laboratory, Dr. Howard Weeth, animal physiologist, is interested in reproductive-ness, blood, and bloat quantities in animals. This lab is for the use of the students as well as for research.

Rat Colonies

A modern rat colony, housed in new, modern cages, is also being used in experiments ranging from such elementary steps as pregnancy diagnosis to biological assays of hormones and searches for new hormones.

A major project in this laboratory will deal with the fertility of dairy cows in Nevada. This will be in connection with a method of producing milk more efficiently.

At a near future date, equipment to be used in operations and autopsies of large animals, such as cows, is to be installed in the physiology lab.

Agriculture Dean Named by Regents

President Minard Stout outlined plans for Nevada's College of Agriculture at a recent meeting of the board of regents.

Stout announced plans while recommending the appointment of Dr. John R. Bertrand of Texas

A & M as dean of the future college.

"We hope that in the not too distant future, the University of Nevada will have a nationally-recognized College of Agriculture. We are already planning toward that end," said the president as he described the 40-year-old Dr. Bertrand as " * * * the man of aggressiveness and vision who can be instrumental in bringing this about."

High Commendations

In recommending Dr. Bertrand, President Stout said "He comes to us with high commendations of leading agriculturists for his remarkable record of advancement in the field of administration."

Approved unanimously by the regents, the new dean fills the vacancy created by the recent resignation of Dean C. B. Hutchison, former head of agriculture and vice president of the University of California. Dean Hutchison was named to the Nevada post following his retirement from the California system. He served at Nevada two years, coordinating the services of the College of Agriculture, extension division and experiment station under a general reorganization plan ordered by the board of regents.

The new dean comes from his former post at Texas A & M after serving in a similar capacity for four years.

IRWIN REPLACES WOOD AS DEAN

Dr. Ralph A. Irwin will serve as acting Dean of Arts and Science in the absence of Dean Frederick Wood, who will begin a three-month vacation today.

Dean Wood plans a trip to the east, with a stop-over in Chicago to visit his son, and will return in January. Dean Wood is retiring next July 1, at which time Dr. Irwin will take over the Dean of Arts and Science post permanently.

Dr. Irwin, who heads the psychology department, will continue to teach his classes as usual.

Luck Turned Back On Harried Pack

THIRD QUARTER SPURT LEFT NEVADA HURT

Lady Luck left a tiring Nevada eleven last Saturday night after she allowed them to run up a 13-0 lead over the San Francisco State Gators. She took her leave about halftime, to glance back at the Wolf Pack only once more before the final gun sounded, leaving the Silver and Blue with only 19 points on hand to match the fast-accumulated 39 of the Californians.

The veteran duo of Quarterback Ed Jesse and end Don Jones drew the first Gator blood, while frosh halfback Frank Garcia, filling in the backfield gap left by absent Lee Schroder, rambled around right end for another Nevada tally. In an attempt to close the barn doors left open to the Gators in the third quarter when they chalked up four touchdowns, Jesse connected with Buddy Piazio in the end zone to break the bad luck spell that hung on the Pack after halftime, and give them their hard earned 19 total points.

Little Fujii

A fairly large crowd that turned out to see the season's opener also saw freshman Ken Fujii relieve Jesse for a spell in which the Reno high product completed six out of seven passes in a scoreless third quarter for the gridders.

Although the Golden-helmeted S. F. Staters managed to avenge their halftime deficit in a third quarter spurt, they still met with a strong Nevada forward wall as well as many pass interceptions. With a season's game under their belts the two teams will meet again October 29th in San Francisco.

Union Committee Meets Wednesday

Members of the Student Union Committee will meet next week for the first time this term to discuss campaign methods to prepare students for final approval on the new-student union measure.

Meeting at the electrical engineering building, the campus group listened to a talk entitled "public Utilities."

Plan Trip

After the lecture, the club crystallized plans for a field trip to San Francisco which is scheduled for October 15 and 16th.

Newly elected officers Robert Martin, chairman; Hans Mohr, secretary; and Arthur Ingare, treasurer, will lead other AIEE members through the Westinghouse plant at Sunnyville, Calif., and the radiation laboratories at the University of California.

Survey Points Out School for Nurses Needed in State

Nevada needs a nursing school. An official survey, requested last spring by University of Nevada President Minard Stout, was conducted by the U. S. Department of Health. The survey shows a need for nursing education to meet present and anticipated shortages throughout the state.

Nevada is the only state in the nation that does not have a nursing school, the survey showed. From 50 to 75 high school graduates leave the state each year to attend nursing schools, and the majority of them do not return to follow their nursing careers.

The survey shows that although Nevada has a small shortage of nurses in comparison with the state's permanent population, the constant traffic of tourists and transient residents—numbering up to millions of persons each year—points up an individual problem. In addition, Nevada's population is growing rapidly and will create a definite future need for nurses, especially in the hospital and public health areas.

Too Few Registered

There are now 637 full-time registered nurses in Nevada, a shortage of 146 from the established standard of 783 for the state's permanent population. Of this 637 total, 112 professional nurses from other states were licensed in 1935 alone. Disadvantages to drawing nurses from out-of-state were cited by the report as high turnover, which lowers efficiency of nursing care and raises its costs, and inability to plan adequately to meet supply and demand. Number of non-registered nurses in Nevada is 407, a shortage of 64 from the 471 standard.

The U. S. Department of Health made recommendations to meet the situation. A school of nursing could be established in Nevada, possibly under the direction of the University of Nevada, and using hospital and community facilities for clinical experience.

A second recommendation was that Nevada might join the Western Regional Corporation in Education, by which prospective nurses could take their first year at the University of Nevada and their remaining years at an accredited out-of-state school.

Training Course

Under the first recommendation, a degree program covering the full training course for the nurse would be established at the University under a director. The State Nurses Association would also plan with the University for courses, institutes, and workshops for administrative positions. The association would also organize a state-wide recruitment committee for prospective nurses.

The survey reported, however, that because of the acute scarcity of qualified teaching personnel, staff members would probably have to be sent out-of-state for advanced preparation, a process that would take three years.

Under the second recommendation, membership in the Western Regional Cooperation in Higher Education would cost between $5,000 and $10,000 each year. In addition, the state sending a student to an out-of-state school for completion of her training would have to pay an allocated annual cost to that school for academic services.

The report said that although this plan would be less expensive than establishing a school of nursing, its major disadvantage is that not all of the students will return to Nevada to practice their profession. However, the report suggested that contracts with students would provide a means of insuring that nurses return to Nevada.

Delegates Needed For Student UN

Plans are being formed for a second delegation to the student United Nations conference to be held at the University of California sometime in March.

Only two representatives from the University of Nevada went to the conference held at UCLA last year.

This year a larger representation is hoped for, because the larger the delegation the larger a counting to be simulated by the student representatives.

Last year's two man delegation of John Valone, Phi Sigma Kappa, and Joan Sawle conducted the affairs of Australia in the model student meeting of the United Nations.

Promotes Understanding

Appointed by Claire Earl, ASUN president, John Valone stated that the purpose of the conference was to further the student understanding of the functioning of the United Nations Organization. It is also an exercise in parliamentary procedure.

ed Nations Organization. It is also an exercise in parliamentary procedure.

Valone hopes to increase the delegation this year to fourteen.

Students who wish to participate may sign up at the snack bar or contact John Valone. After the signup, plans will be made for a future meeting at which the organization will choose the country it wishes to represent.

Sports Awards Must End, Says Senate

By Hazel Johnson

Student body funds will be over a thousand dollars richer if a resolution passed in senate Wednesday night holds water.

Senators definitely recommended that the payment of athletic awards by the ASUN cease at the end of this year. Finance control members will present this resolution to President Minard Stout next week.

Athletic awards and the student body's obligation towards them has been the subject of much controversy since the revision of the constitution last year. At that time the administration strongly advocated throwing out a scholastic clause that limited awards to those men who were passing in eleven and a half hours. Coach Jake Lawlor believed that this was not important and also stated that the coaches of the respective sports should be the ones to recommend lettermen.

Money Conscious

Almost all minor sports were made major sports in this constitution revision. Senators were generally friendly towards this move but a few money conscious representatives were not so sure. They declared that these changes would up the awards bill until it became the largest single expense that the student body must pay. These dissenters believed the payment of awards should come from the $6 each student must pay for athletics and not from the remaining $8. Their doubts were removed when the administration led them to believe that it would include the expense in the administrative budget.

This year's awards bill therefore came as a mild shock to the few senators who remembered the proposition.

Further explanation by Graduate manager James McNabney disclosed the fact that this obligation was not a part of the constitution but rather a "custom." And the "custom" was dropped as of Wednesday night.

Yearbook Smaller

Physical size of the 1955 Artemisia will be smaller, it was disclosed in Senator Otto Schulz's publications report. Finances and time element problems were set forth as reasons for the change.

Republican members of the senate painfully approved the constitution of the Young Democrats on campus. One GOP senator alone dissented.

ORCHESIS ELECTS. PLANS INITIATION

Lillis Hatch was elected secretary-treasurer and Bev Griggs publicity chairman of the Orchesis club, a modern dance group, at a meeting held last Wednesday, Sept. 29, in the new gym.

The group made tentative plans for the initiation of senior members for this semester.

June Hannon, president of the club, states that they will be working on a basic program of activities for the coming year in future meetings of the club.

All male students are invited to the Sundowners' picnic which will be held this coming Sunday afternoon, October 10, at Virginia Lake, states Homer Haines, member of the club. Any upperclassman is welcome to try out for membership to the club, and it will be appreciated if the "enterprising" new member would get in contact with a member of the club before coming out to the picnic.

Upperclassmen, only are, allowed to join the club, but lowerclassmen are invited to the picnic. Refreshments and food will be served at the occasion.

Officers elected last spring are Doug Byington, president, and Don Wilkerson, secretary-treasurer.

Field Day Will Decide Fate of Dinks During Annual 'Hello on Hill' Tussle

Hello-on-the-hill festivities were opened yesterday with an assembly featuring freshmen talent.

The annual three day celebration will be climaxed tomorrow afternoon when the freshmen meet the sophomores in a variety of field events to determine whether frosh ribbons, dinks and bibles will be shed at Homecoming, or be worn until the end of the semester.

Paint N

Freshmen will convene at the gym hall at 9:00 a. m. and will go to the top of Peavine Mountain to paint the Nevada "N."

At 10:00 the sophomores will gather at the old gym to decorate for the "Hello-on-the-hill" dance scheduled for 9:00 p. m.

At noon the two groups will meet on the practice field near the tennis court for a picnic luncheon. The cost of the packed lunches will be fifty cents each.

Immediately following the feast, the groups will adjourn to Mackay stadium for the competitive field events. The highlight of the occasion is the famed tug-o-war.

The university cheerleaders will be present to aid in keeping up the spirits of the participants and the spectators.

At the dance tomorrow night, Mr. Hello and Miss Hi, king and queen of the festivities, will be announced. Don Thompson's band will play for the evening, with admission priced at one dollar per couple and 75 cents stag.

Overall chairman of the event is Marge Titus, aided by Marge Andrews, Lynn Scott, Mike Marfisi, John Jepsen, Evalyn Titus, Evelyn Nelson and Gail Johnson.

The painting of the "N" will be under the supervision of the men's and women's upperclass committees, with the field day supervised by the Block N.

Sigma Nu, ATO Tie for Ball Title

As the softball season draws to a close, Sigma Nu and ATO lead in a heated neck and neck race for first place.

Sigma Nu leads the league mathematically with a 4-0 record, while ATO has won three and lost none, the one game difference being in the fact that Sigma Nu has played more games prior to press time.

In the games played during the week Sigma Nu held on to its first place lead by easily downing SAE 19 to 8. ATO, on the other hand, had a little harder time beating Theta Chi 6 to 5. In the only other game played Sigma Rho also beat Theta Chi, 4 to 2.

The defaulted game which Sigma Nu won over Lambda Chi will be rescheduled and played at a later date.

ALUM BANQUET SCHEDULED

A banquet and dance are scheduled for Nevada alumni on Nov. 6th during the Homecoming celebration. Adele MacLean, Nevada alumni secretary, announced that no admission will be charged for the fete, which is to be held in the Fable Room of the Mapes hotel. Tickets will not be necessary.

Further details of the banquet will be reported in the Nevada Alumnus, due to be published in approximately two weeks.

Preceding the Homecoming activities will be a meeting of the alumni executive committee in room 106 at the university library. The gathering is slated for Tuesday, Oct. 12 at 8:00 p. m., when additional projects for the annual Homecoming will be discussed.

Wanted: Woman to cook, sew, change tires, mix drinks and feed cats. Phone 2-3681, ask for editor.

HORSHOE TRIALS END WITH PHI SIGS WINNERS

Intramural horseshoes, for singles, came to a close Tuesday afternoon with the Phi Sigs and Sigma Nu in a deadlock for first place.

Both teams ended the regular season play with four wins and one loss, thus making it necessary for a play-off to be held Oct. 11th.

ATO edged out SAE for third spot, winning three and losing two, while the SAEs were able to come up only with two victories against three losses. Sigma Rho and Theta Chi tied for the cellar, each winning one and dropping four.

Lambda Delta Sigma, the Independents, and Lambda Chi, all defaulted earlier in the season, and were not included in the schedule.

Moonlight becomes you—covers your scars.

Regents Agree On Housing Loan For Victory Hts.

Victory Heights housing problems will be relieved if the University's proposed budget is approved by the 1955 legislature, stated President Minard Stout. A total of $750,000 for new housing has been approved by the regents as one item to be included in the new budget.

Still pending is the new classroom building request. The board of regents will discuss this at its next meeting.

Other budget items call for faculty salary increases as well as funds for additional faculty personnel.

"The budget has been carefully prepared and studied by the board of regents and is a sound request for necessary development of the university," stated President Stout.

Legislative approval would see Manzanita hall remodeled, the watering system replaced and the present agriculture and University extension buildings re-built to house classrooms.

Special attention is given to programs supplementing the regular university programs.

Ski Coach Named NCAA Chairman

Honors of chairman of the National Intercollegiate Ski committee were bestowed on Nevada's ski coach, Chelton Leonard, this week as was announced by Al Sigal, president of National Ski Association.

Last March the Nevada graduate and ski coach handled the first NCAA collegiate ski tourney in history, held here in the Reno area.

As chairman of the National Intercollegiate Ski committee, Leonard will head a panel of prominent ski officials from all parts of the United States. His duties will primarily be concerned with reviews of policies and rules for national competitive skiing on the intercollegiate level.

Leonard said that he will be striving "for closer cooperation from the eastern colleges with those in the Northwest and the Rocky Mountain regions." He expects the nationals in Vermont to keep him busy this year, while his big project will be "a parallel between open competition racing rules and those used in intercollegiate meets."

"Shelly," a native of Reno, was an outstanding member of the Nevada ski team, competing in many regional, national and international meets. During the war, Leonard was a ski instructor in the U. S. Army ski troops in the 10th Mountain division. In 1952, he became ski coach at the university.

BUY BOOKS

The book store requests that all students who have not yet bought books for their classes do so this week. Those texts not sold will be returned to the publisher as overstock the following week.
