

Women May Join Shooting Squad

Women students can compete on an equal footing with men with no quarters asked or given, in at least one sport on the campus. The women's rifle team gives this chance, states Sgt. Joel B. Cantrell, assistant instructor of military science and instructor of the rifle teams. The female team is a part of the main Rifle and Pistol club of the University of Nevada.

Fifteen women have already signed up for the team and there are still some openings left. The fifteen are: Janet Barton, Pat Bertrand, Kathy Christensen, Ann Hancock, Francine Luwe, Jan Chism, Molly Brown, Suzanne Schwartz, Marge Stodieck, Sheila Taylor, Nancy Terrell, Shari Reynolds, Joan Sawle and Coraleta Feary.

Richard Mills is president of the main Rifle and Pistol club; Terry Katzer, vice president; Gene Espin, treasurer, and Marge Stodieck, secretary. Dues for membership in the organization are $5 per year. The club supplies the guns and ammunition.

The women's team will be coached by members of the ROTC and also by other members of the club.

The women are working toward eligibility in order to attend shooting matches in Berkeley, and El Paso, Texas, next spring. If enough interest is created in the team, they hope to be able to attend.

In past years the club has been increasingly active. It was organized in 1921, disbanded at the beginning of the war in 1941, and reactivated in 1946. Women students have been successful in the organization and five individual women students in 1948 were entered in the national intercollegiate rifle matches along with three teams from Nevada. In 1949 the teams won the A league championship.

One of the main problems of organizing a woman's team this year is the confliction with social and academic schedules of the students, stated Sgt. Cantrell. The weekly meetings have now been set for Thursday evening from 6:30 to 7:30 p. m. Members may practice any time during the week at the rifle range in the basement of the old gym.

Anyone interested in joining the club may contact either Sgt. Cantrell at the military department or Richard Mills, president, at Lincoln hall.

ROTC Battalion Meets Candidates During Ceremony

The Nevada ROTC battalion lined up in formation at Mackay Stadium Tuesday to meet its five Military Ball queen candidates. The formation was held at 11:00 p. m. to allow the battalion its first look at the five who are trying for the title of queen of the ball which is to be held November 20, in the Fable room of the Mapes hotel.

The candidates for the title were introduced to their respective companies by Steve Stewart, Cadet Lt. Col. Each candidate is sponsored by one of the five companies in the battalion this year as an innovation to the ball.

Another new twist is the commissioning of each candidate with the rank of honorary captain. The winner of the title will receive an appointment to the rank of honorary Lieutenant Colonel. This is a raise of one rank from previous years. In the past Military Ball queens were given the rank of honorary Major.

Each of the five ladies received a small saber, sheathed in a silver scabbard in honor of their nominations. In the past queen candidates received some other memento from the battalion, usually flowers. The pins were presented this year as a keepsake that will last.

Candidate from Pi Beta Phi is Beverly Ricketts representing Company C. Beverly is a sophomore majoring in Elementary Education. She comes from Yerington and is a graduate of Yerington high school. She is a member of the University Singers and the Young Republicans. While in high school she was a candidate for the title of Miss Yerington, and was active in Rainbow Girls, a young Masonic organization.

Community Chest Collects $1214

Contributions to the university Community Chest drive, ranging from one dollar to $75, total $1214, Dean Stanley G. Palmer, head of the campus drive, announced. This is nearly one third of the total contributions for the entire education system in Reno.

The faculty total was $1128; the students gave $86. The university has raised 87 per cent of its $1500 quota.

Most of the collection captains cooperated fully, Dean Palmer said. The university staff, including the secretaries and other workers as well as the faculty, raised slightly more money than last year. The students, however, dropped from their total of $180 last year to $86.

ANYONE FOR MONEY?

Scholarship winners this year are a bit slow in picking up the fruits of their last year's efforts, namely, scholarship checks. Out of seventy-four scholarship holders, twenty-two have yet to walk to Morrill hall and receive their rewards.

MESSIAH UNDERWAY

The twentieth annual performance of the Handel oratorio, "The Messiah," will be given on December 13th at the University of Nevada. The University Singers group, combined with the Reno Civic chorus and aided by the community orchestra will take part. Over one hundred and fifty people will participate.

The soloists for this year are Mrs. Sydney J. Tillim, soprano; Margaret Burns-Hawk, contralto; Joe Battaglia, tenor, and Glen Slight, baritone.

Rehearsals are already in progress and new singers are urged to join the group. Old members are also urged to enroll. Rehearsals are on Wednesday nights at 7:30 and Sunday afternoons at 2:30 in the university band room.

Fraternity Alumni Welcomed Home

Alumni were honored at the fraternity houses during the homecoming celebration last weekend.

The Sigma Nus entertained their alumni at a buffet luncheon at the house after the game Saturday. That evening a section of the dining room of the Riverside hotel was reserved for the men and their dates to see the cocktail show. Over forty couples attended.

Alpha Tau Omega welcomed old members home with a party after the frolic Friday night. Alumni advisor Lew Spit spoke to approximately one hundred men present at the fraternity luncheon on Saturday.

Theta Chi fraternity also entertained their alumni at a luncheon Saturday.

Minerva club, SAE mothers, sponsored a party and buffet dinner after the football game which almost one hundred alumni and wives attended.

State Planning Board Praises Plans To Renovate Old Campus Buildings

University of Nevada Regents are considering a $700,000 building program whereby new wings would be added to two old campus structures, the Hatch building and the agriculture experiment station.

This new plan calls for expenditure of $250,000 for adding wings to both sides of the experiment station, which would provide 16 additional classrooms and $425,000 for wings on the Hatch building which would house 24 classrooms.

Discussion on the plan was held at an informal meeting after the homecoming game. This is an alternative for the previous plan in which the Regents were going to ask the legislature for $900,000 for a new classroom building and repairs to other buildings.

The Regents have asked for exact estimates on costs of the two projects. When these estimates are prepared, the Regents will meet jointly with the State Planning Board to make the final decision. This meeting will probably be held sometime in December.

Dean's Office

Planning board members present said that both old structures were sound. Therefore the addition of the new wings would do away with the cost of building central heating and plumbing facilities. The plans also call for new roofs and brick veneer on the fronts of the buildings.

Extending the agricultural building would probably house the registrar offices, the dean of student affairs and the dean of women. The Hatch building, if remodeled would provide rooms for the art and English departments.

The Hatch building is located North of the new gym. The agriculture experiment station is located across the street from the Education building.

The Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity house is the only MARINE BAR-RACKS in the world with good cooking.

Military Queen

Gamma Phi Beta in the candidacy for queen. She is a graduate of Gabbs high school and is the first woman ever to hold the office of student body president there. She is majoring in education, and is sponsored by Company E.

Candidate from Artemisia-Manzanita is Jane Wadsworth, sophomore. She is sponsored by D Company, and comes from Saint George, Utah. Another education major, Miss Wadsworth is a graduate of Dixie high school where she was drum majorette. She is a graduate of Dixie high school and attended Dixie Junior college and the University of Utah before transferring to the U. of N.

The Tri-Delt candidate is Louise Harrison from Hawthorne, Nevada and represents B Company. Miss Harrison is a graduate of Mineral county high school and a sophomore. She placed second in the 1954 Miss Nevada contest. While in high school Miss Harrison was a cheerleader, Drum Majorette and student body secretary.

Kappa Alpha Theta's candidate is Miss Yvonne Lartey of Reno. A graduate of Reno high school in 1953, Miss Larty was editor of Re-Wa-Ne, Reno's yearbook. At the University, she is an English major and is business manager of the Brushfire. She represents

Engineers Want Own Activity Day Put on Calendar Before Mackay Day

Jim Carlson, student senator from the Associated Engineers, has outlined that organization's request for a separate activity day which would be held in conjunction with the Mackay Day celebration. The men want Engineers day reinstated this year and to be scheduled the day prior to Mackay Day.

During Mackay Day celebration of several years ago it was the custom to have one day allotted to the engineers, one to agriculture, and so on with the rest of the main campus organizations. Through the years these individual days have been abolished and one day has been scheduled to accommodate all organizations.

Conflict

Carlson pointed out that last year while the engineers were holding their contests there was a track meet held on other parts of the campus. The engineers feel that there is too much conflict in the present arrangement.

He said that when the engineers had their own day it was one of the biggest events of the year. It was of interest to the people downtown and of surrounding areas. Last year, according to Carlson, the only people who saw their contests were other engineers.

The Associated Engineers, which was reactivated this year on the Nevada campus, is a nationally accredited organization and the members, as much, feel that they do not receive the publicity suitable to their standing.

The major engineering clubs on campus are responsible to this organization. The policy making body of the engineers is made up of George Samstad, Associated Engineers president; Jim Carlson, senator; and the presidents of the mechanical engineers, civil engineers, electrical engineers, and the Crucible (mining) clubs.

Company A in the queen competition.

ROLLER SKATING

Roller skating will be held in the old gym tonight from 7:30 to 9:30. The affair is sponsored by the PMS and WRA.

The price is 35 cents for students who do not have shoe skates. Others will be admitted free of charge.

UNMOLESTED FEAST FOR ALL BUT ONE

SAEs were caught short on groceries Monday night when their pledges held a sneak.

Active members failed to find the pledges who had taken shelter in the Reno police station, where they devoured the active's dinner. The sneak was followed by a party behind the Mackay school of mines. One unfortunate pledge not taking part in the sneak was deposited 17 miles out on the Pyramid Lake road by a few unhappy actives.

LAMBDA CHI'S BUILD

Preparations for the removal of the old Lambda Chi house on University Terrace are under way. The house must be gone by December 15th and building of the new house will begin on April 20th.

The new house will be built on the same site and will cost approximately $70,000.

Here Don Garland makes noise distribution measurements with a Level Distribution Recorder

W. D. Garland, E.E. '52, Univ. of California, is working for the Pacific Telephone Company. We thought you'd be interested in what Don told us about his first assignment.

(Reading time: 45 seconds)

"My job is to help solve problems of noise and other interference on telephone lines due to power interference. Inductive co-ordination is the technical term for the work.

"First thing the Chief Engineer explained to me was that 'all the answers aren't in the book.' He was right. Most of the problems have required a combination of electrical engineering, a knowledge of costs and generous amount of ingenuity. I like it that way. It's given me an immediate opportunity to put into practice the theory I learned at school.

"In addition to this on-the-job experience, I have attended several special training courses conducted by the company. Now I'm breaking in a new man, just like when I started."

Don Garland's work is typical of many engineering assignments in the Bell Telephone Companies. There are similar opportunities for college graduates with Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. If you'd like to get more details, see your Placement Officer. He will be glad to help you.

Homecoming Ends at Last

Weary students returned to their class rooms Monday, jubilant over the success of the action-packed Homecoming weekend.

The celebration started with a bonfire and pep rally on Thursday followed by the annual student presentation of the Wolves Frolic Friday night.

Queen of the Homecoming festivities was Jean Lagomarsino, Gamma Phi Beta freshman from Reno. She was introduced at the Frolic and was crowned during the halftime activities of the Homecoming day football game. Governor Charles Russell did the honors before a large crowd of homecoming and football enthusiasts who saw the home team defeat Sacramento State 27-14.

Dance

Climax of the homecoming celebration was the student dance held Saturday night in the Redwood Room of Hotel Riverside, at which awards and trophies were presented.

Honors of the best sorority and fraternity skits in the Wolves Frolic went to Delta Delta Delta and to Alpha Tau Omega.

The Tri Deltas copped top awards with their presentation of "Winter Welcome" while the Taus did a take off on old time movies for high humor and honors in "Oh Father, My Father."

Floats in the homecoming parade Saturday morning were acknowledged to be among the finest ever shown in the annual event. Keen competition caused difficulty in selection among the numerous well-planned and skillfully decorated floats. Judges, however, selected Kappa Alpha Theta's "Rocking Horse" to lead the sorority entries, and the Panda Bear replica—blowing balloon bubbles—of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity to head the men's division. Parade chairman was Homer Haines.

Saturday morning Sigma Nu won the individual and team competition in the annual cross-country race. Danny Pease, frosh snake from Tonopah, won the race and his fraternity also had the first three men across the finish line to win the team title. Pease lead the inter-fraternity field from the start in Sparks to be a quarter mile in the lead at the finish at Mackay Stadium.

Prizes Given

Winners of the Alumni at the game last Saturday were announced by the Alumni association as follows: Emmett Day of Smith Valley; Ed Richards, 232 "B" street, Sparks; O. D. McMinn, 750 Hood street, Reno; Mrs. John Dolan, Winnemucca; Tina Davis, Herlong, and E. T. Castanaga, 444 S. Sierra street, Reno.

President of the Alumni association was announced during the Alumni Dance at the Fable Room of the Mapes Saturday night. Sam Francovich, city attorney of Reno, was named to succeed this year's president, Mrs. Roy Bankofier of Fernley.

SAGENS ADMIT NEW MEMBERS

Two new members have been admitted to the Sagens, an honorary women's service and pep organization. They are Gail Altenburg, KAT, and Joy Thompson, Gamma Phi Beta.

HONORS TO HOME EC PROF
Miss Mildred Swift, head of the Home Economics department at the University of Nevada, recently received an honorary membership in the Nevada Association of Future Homemakers.

The Future Homemakers are young people who intend to be household and family managers.

Miss Swift is a professor of home economics. She holds a bachelor of science degree from Russell Sage college, 1927, and a master of science degree from Cornell university, 1930.

He helps teachers in 54,000 classrooms

Radio was barely out of the earphone stage 28 years ago when a new program was beamed from a San Francisco studio. It featured a string trio and was based on the idea that good music, when clearly understood, could entertain and teach, too. Actually, only 72 Western schools had radio sets then, but with that performance the Standard School Broadcast went "on the air," to serve students and teachers of the West with a brand-new idea in educational aids.

Today, when Conductor Carmen Dragon lifts his baton, it's "time for the Standard School Broadcast" in over 54,000 classrooms through the West, Alaska and Hawaii. Counting children, teachers and home listeners, the program reaches a weekly audience of nearly 1 1/2 million. That string trio has grown to a symphonic orchestra with a dramatic cast, choral group and guest vocal and instrumental artists. Selections range the musical alphabet from symphony to jazz. Each year's course follows a carefully planned outline published in a manual supplied to teachers by Standard to serve as a guide in blending music-enjoyment with subjects like art, literature, social studies. Now in its 27th year, the Standard School Broadcast is radio's oldest education program, heard today over more than 100 stations. Its goal is to help Western children gain an absorbing new interest in the world's good music and—through music—a broader knowledge and understanding of the world around them.

Listen to Standard School Broadcast every Thursday. Check your newspaper radio log for time and station.

The Letdown

Homecoming is over. Thank Heaven. It's like an all-night party. A lot of fun at the time, but agony in the morning.

Homecoming was a lot of laughs and a lot of work. It featured some lovely floats, some fine skits, a football victory and a parade. In between all these things was a running fire of temperament, personality clashes, petty jealousies, frustrating rules and regulations and enough nervous tension to give ulcers to an elephant.

Homecoming is a monster. It devours everything, and those that it doesn't may be polished off with mid-terms the following week. For one happy queen—there are four broken hearts. For every smiling, reminiscing alumnus, there are a dozen exhausted students. For every shining trophy, there are four or five tired little groups of people left with a wagon full of crumpled paper.

Life is like this. Always. Every person who gets to the top has to do it by climbing over the back of others. It's the system. For every winner, there are a hundred losers. But this is what makes winning worthwhile—it's hard to do.

This editorial is not intended to congratulate the winners. They have their prizes and have tasted their bit of glory. This is for the losers—the good people who also ran. They got just as tired as the victors and got no trophy to carry home. This is for every little guy and gal who worked with hammer and nails and paint brush or needle and thread, or danced until their legs ached or sang until their lungs ached and got nothing in return—not even a night's sleep.

It takes brains and ability and a good deal of luck to be a chief. But it takes a lot of guts to be an indian, too. For those of you who were only indians, remember that without your efforts the chief would only be one person standing in the middle of nothing.

It was a long week and a hard one, but it was a good Homecoming. That's what we aimed for.

Three New Regents Elected

After a bitter campaign by six candidates for three seats on the University of Nevada board of regents, voters apparently endorsed the "Status Quo" by retaining two members. At the same time, however, they elected an "opposition" candidate.

Maintaining their seats on the board are Dr. Louis Lombardi and Roy A. Hardy, both of Reno and Nevada alumni.

Bruce R. Thompson, also of Reno and a Nevada graduate, ran third in the election and was named to the board. A prominent Reno lawyer, Thompson was an attorney for Dr. Frank Richardson in his legal battle with the university administration in 1953, which led to Dr. Richardson's reinstatement to the faculty by the state supreme court.

Three Beaten

Defeated candidates were Weld Arnold, William Buck, and Ray R. Germain, known to have opposed present administration policies and a purported "atmosphere of fear" created on the campus.

The six way race for regent's posts, unusually bitter, saw intensive campaigning and widely divergent views on how the University of Nevada should be run.

Newly elected member Bruce Thompson, is a son of the late Reuben C. Thompson, who for many years was dean of men at Nevada. He attended Reno high school and graduated from the University of Nevada in 1932. His law degree was earned at Stanford university. As a Reno attorney, he figured prominently in the Richardson case last year.

Thompson fills the vacancy created when Newton Crumley, former member from Elko, refused to run. Crumley chose instead to run for state senator. Holdovers on the board of regents are Archie L. Grant, Las Vegas and Silas E. Ross, board chairman.

The new board will take over next January.

Letter TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

When a student enters college, it is assumed that he is of college mentality and discretion. He is supposed to begin acting like a man and not a high school kid.

Pegged pants, D. A. haircuts and "shades" (colored glasses) may be allright for high school students, but I don't feel they have a place on our campus.

Along with the kid stuff or pegged pants, etc., I don't think the campus should be used as an Indianapolis Speedway. There is nothing more disgusting than to see college students "hot-rodding" through campus and nearly running over students and professors.

This gripe has been building up in me for quite some time. The boiling point came the other day when I saw a typical "pachuko" student (pegged pants, shades, D. A. haircut) speeding through campus on a motorcycle, not going anywhere except around and around the campus, and making a lot of noise.

Can't these people realize that we are college students and are supposed to act like college students?

Most of us know what "D. A." haircut means, and I think we might affix the name of "H. A." to these High School Harrys.

—Doug Byington.

Sigma Rho SAE, Bowling Team Tie

SAE moved into a first place tie in the Intramural bowling standings by downing Sigma Nu, 3-0. Ron Logar led the Sig Alph's to victory with a 506 series. The "Snakes" hopes were kept alive by Lou Heltzel as he rolled a 509 series.

Sigma Rho was able to hang on to a first place tie with the Sig Alphs by winning two of three games from Lambda Chi. Bob Packard was high for the winners with a 426 series.

The Independents moved into second place in the league standings by defeating Theta Chi, 3-0. Buddy Fujii led his teammates to victory by rolling a 465 series. Bob Stewart was high man for the cellar dwelling Theta Chis with a 509.

Phi Sigma Kappa continued its fast pace by dropping ATO, 2-1, thus moving into a fourth place tie with Lambda Chi. Chuck Jones, new addition to the Phi Sigs, paced his team to victory by rolling 518, high individual series of the night. Bob Vice led the way for the Taus with a 437 series.

Team standings:

Team	W.	L.	GB
SAE	10	5	-
Sigma Rho	10	5	-
Independents	8	7	2
ATO	7½	7½	2½
Phi Sig	7	8	3

Out Of The Brush

By P. Finch

An unknown number of students could not vote in the Homecoming queen election because they could not present their student body cards at the polling table. Rather than go home for the card many forfeited their right of suffrage.

Requiring the student to produce his student body card before he is allowed to vote is perfectly legal, constitutional, orthodox and kosher. Notice of the regulation was on the front page of the Sagebrush, a student newspaper.

But some of cannot read well and do not ordinarily carry documentation of our existence around with us. In the national elections we were not required to produce tax receipts to prove we were paying members of society and not impersonators from Mars.

In elections far more important than one deciding who the best-looking doll is, all the identification needed is a statement of name and precinct. This parallels the procedure followed at university elections until the recent bureaucratic enforcement of the constitution. If there is a danger from the unscrupulous, a dishonest attempt to swing the election, why not combat this dire security problem by taking fingerprints and posting a cop at the polls?

It is incongruous to bemoan the political apathy of the student body and simultaneously place obstacles to its voting.

The campus is not a military base and the members of the student body are not soldiers obliged to carry their identification card.

The election was a small thing and probably the number of men denied the vote for not carrying a student body card was small. But if such petty enforcement of the constitution is to continue then let there be no complaints about student indifference, such as there were when students voted (without cards) against paying an additional five dollars assessment.

Combating the competition of color TV, the motion picture industry plans to improve on their past accomplishments in technicolor, tricolor, cinecolor and vivicolor. A coming masterpiece will be entirely in WATERCOLOR.

The production will be adapted from Tolstoy's "War and Peace" and will belittle old records by lasting 24 hours. It will be projected on the ceiling of the theatre on a screen 80 feet square. The audience will watch the show from foam rubber cots.

Editor's Note to P. Finch: In paragraph one, above, you refer to the Sagebrush as "a student newspaper." We're going to miss you around here, boy.

Wolf Pack Basketballers Practice For Coming Season's Competition

With more than 40 candidates seeking positions, the 1954-55 Wolf Pack Basketball squad grinds into its second week of practice. Under the leadership of assistant coach Elmo De Ricco, the hoopsters thus far have only drilled on fundamentals and conditioning.

Seven Vets

Seven lettermen from last season's team are back, including Chuck Handley, Roger Trounday, Terry Bastian, Bob Scott, Bob Jones, George Nelson and Bob Jepson. The frosh crop looks good and the squad will be strengthened considerably at the end of this week when Coach Jake Lawlor and several members of his football squad switch from the gridiron to the hardwood.

Home Game

The season opener is December 3-4 with College of Idaho. Actually a home game, on the home and home basis, the game will be played at Winnemucca. Students and local fans will get their first look at the team on December 10-11 when the Pack plays host to Eastern Oregon in a non-conference clash.

Snakes Dominate Homecoming Race

Led by freshman Danny Pease, the snakes of Sigma Nu grabbed 60 points Saturday to add to their first place total in this year's race for the Kinnear Trophy, presently held by Alpha Tau Omega for their supremacy in last year's intramural athletics.

Pease, Tonopah's high school mile and 880 champion last year, ran the 3.9 mile grind in 23 minutes and 25 seconds, almost two minutes more than the record set in 1928 by Fred Lohse, Reno businessman.

Don Kitts, Fred Gilbert, George Folsom, Tom McClaskey and Larry Damon, all Sigma Nu, followed in second, third, fifth, sixth and ninth places, cinching the team title for the snakes.

Joe Johnson, the lone Phi Sigma Kappa entry, broke up the Sigma Nu domination by placing fourth. Others of the first ten finishers were: Tom Ormsby, Lambda Chi Alpha, seventh; John Mayerhoff, Alpha Tau Omega, eighth, and Frank Zilkey, Lambda Chi Alpha, tenth.

Overdue Book Borrowers Censured For Neglect of Library Regulations

A twenty-five cents an hour fine for overdue books checked from the reserve room at the library has been in effect since the beginning of the semester. Most students don't seem to realize it, states Miss Ann Kenny, reserve room librarian. Books in that room should never be taken out without special permission and are to be checked out just before the library closes for the day.

Reserve room books, which have been placed there upon request of the various professors of the University of Nevada, are there for the convenience and use of all the students.

"If one student keeps a book out for longer than the specified time, he is crippling the other students," explained Miss Kenny. Any book checked from the reserve room is expected to be returned within the first hour after the opening of the library for the next day.

Heavy Fine

A one dollar maximum fine has been set on the reserve room books.

"If the state of events continues as it has been, one professor has threatened to remove all his books from the reserve room and require that in the future, all his students buy their own outside reading material," Miss Kenny remarked.

Warnings Fail

In spite of ample warnings, phone calls, and class announcements, many book borrowers have failed to return urgently needed books. On Monday morning, alone, twenty-one notices were sent out to students who had failed to comply with the rules.

Some books can be taken out on a special loan basis for three or seven days. These books are not requested after the expiration date until there has been a demand for them.

COLLEGE SMOKERS PREFER Luckies—and by a wide margin—according to the largest and latest coast-to-coast college survey. Once again, the No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. ## 75 Students in Movie Sunday

Seventy-five University of Nevada students will work as extras in the movie "Five Against the House" to be filmed on the campus Sunday.

The picture, starring Guy Madison, is based on the fictional exploits of a group of midwestern university students who stage a successful robbery of Harold's Club. The story was adapted for movie use following publication in Good Housekeeping magazine.

The extras, forty men and thirty-five women, will meet in front of the education building at 7:45 a. m. Sunday. Women will wear skirts and sweaters and the men slacks and sweaters. Each will carry a suitcase, "just as if arriving at the opening of school in mid-September." In case of rain, the students will wear raincoats. They will each earn ten dollars.

Gone by Monday

Columbia Pictures has assured the university that movie equipment and personnel will be removed from the campus before classes resume on Monday, and that the university will be protected by insurance for any possible damage to grounds or buildings.

In a meeting of the board of regents Saturday evening, a tentative policy ruling was laid down which would require movie companies in the future to apply for use of the campus only at vacation time. President Stout told the regents that both he and the college deans felt that location crews shooting scenes during schooldays caused too much disruption of class schedules. He said that in

DR. ROBERT HUME SWORN AS LAWYER

Dr. Robert A. Hume, professor of English, was sworn in as member of the Nevada State bar association in ceremonies before the Nevada Supreme Court in Carson last week. He was one of a group of nine lawyers who were issued a certificate by Supreme Clerk Ned A. Turner.

Dr. Hume passed the state bar examination in September. He graduated from Stanford Law School in 1932. He does not plan to practice law.

past instances many classes have come to a standstill when movie companies were on location on the campus.

Other pictures filmed on the University of Nevada in the past include "Mother Was a Freshman" starring Loretta Young, and "Mr. Belvedere Goes to College," with Clifton Young.

Survey Explains Teacher Shortage

This week marks the thirty-fourth annual observation of American Education Week. The University of Nevada has at the present time approximately three hundred and eight students enrolled in the College of Education, both undergraduates and graduates.

According to a recent article from the Reno Evening Gazette, "Nevadans who think they are different than the residents of other states, that their problems are unlike those of other common-wealths and that none except Nevadans can understand them, are in for a rude shock."

This was the attitude of the special committee appointed by Governor Charles H. Russell to study the problems of Nevada schools. The team of educators were brought to Nevada by the George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville, Tenn.

Grave Problem

Dr. Garold D. Holstine, dean of the College of Education, has made addresses to several organizations this week in celebration of Education Week. He spoke before the Reno Rotary club Monday. He said that America's shortage of teachers is a grave problem and one that the people of this country must consider seriously along with the growing problem of providing class rooms in Reno, Las Vegas, and practically every community in the country. He also said that he hoped the college of education at the University of Nevada would go far toward relieving the teacher shortage in this state.

A recent National Issues Committee, Inc., bulletin reported that "there was a gathering catastrophe in education." It went on to explain that the crisis was caused by (1) the fact that very few schools were built during the depression; (2) the unprecedented number of babies born during the war and post war years; (3) the low pay in teaching which has been attracting fewer and fewer teachers each year; (4) the trend to educate a higher proportion of the population; (5) the fact that new classrooms are needed right now for more than 11,000,000 students.

The faculty of the University of Nevada College of Education have been busy this week presenting discussions of the problems of education to the various groups in Reno as well as on television and over the radio. They put on a special broadcast over the radio on Wednesday evening and will present one tonight.

Homecoming is like falling off a building. It's the sudden stop that hurts.

Year's Final Game Sees Wolf Pack Face Humboldt

The final game of the '54 football season will be played tomorrow afternoon at 2 p. m., between the University of Nevada and Humboldt State at Mackay Stadium.

Humboldt State has a record of three wins and four losses. Nevada's record is two wins and four losses. This game will decide which team will hold down third place in the league.

Coach Lawlor will rely on the sharp passing of Ed Jesse, quarterback who connected for a number of passes during last weekend's game against Sacramento State.

Two of the Wolf Pack's starters, Don Jones and Ken Fujii, are expected to see very little action because of injuries.

Humboldt State is heavily favored, but Coach Lawlor says it will be a very tough game and the University of Nevada has a good chance of winning.
