High School Relations Board Plans To Inform High School Grads of UN

Students at the University of Nevada are urged to submit the names and addresses of high school seniors whom they would like to recommend for enrollment at the University of Nevada next fall. Dean Garold D. Holstine, chairman of the High School Relations committee, made this announcement and stated that the lists should be turned into his office in the Education building.

The purpose of the High School Relations committee is the formulation of plans to inform graduating seniors of Nevada on the opportunities at the University of Nevada.

The program of the committee consists of securing the names, addresses, and special interests of graduating seniors from each high school in the state, mailing publications of the programs of the colleges and departments of the University of Nevada, visits to the high school by faculty representatives and students of the University of Nevada.

Invitations

Occasionally, graduating seniors will be invited to visit the campus as guests of the University of Nevada. A specific program of acquainting all high school seniors through the state with the opportunities and facilities of the University of Nevada is now being formulated by the committee.

Members of the committee are: Prof. Burton C. Newbry, Prof. Theodore H. Post, Asst. Coach Hugh Smithwick, Prof. William Van Tassel, Prof. Eldon E. Wittwer, Dean Stanley G. Palmer, and Dean William R. Wood.

SNAKE MANAGER GETS SURGERY

Bob Jones, Sigma Nu house manager, underwent surgery at St. Mary's hospital last Tuesday at 9 a. m. to correct an injury suffered during basketball practice.

SAE's Smoke Annual Peacpipe At Indian Dance

Indians, music and a tepee set the scene at Echo's last Saturday night as the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity held its yearly Indian dance. A four-piece band played for the dance.

Two of the members were Bill Hunt, independent, and Ken Haines, Phi Sigma Kappa.

Decorations for the dance were a big tepee in the middle of the dance floor, painted by Bob Lewis, and Indian blankets spread around the floor.

Best Dressed

An Indian doll prize for the best costume was given to Jean, Joan and June Garner, Kappa Alpha Theta triplets. The triplets were dressed identical in white leather costumes.

Ken Haines won the first prize for the best men's costume.

Guests at the dance were Mr. and Mrs. John P. Reed, Prof. Keiste Janulis, Miss Carol Oldham and Mrs. P. G. Auchampaugh, Social director of the SAEs.

MAD SKIERS RUSH SEASON

Two university men inaugurated the ski season Saturday, November 13, when they did a little skiing in three inches of snow at the sand dunes in Myth valley near the Mt. Rose area.

Gardner Smith and Tom Jordan said the "skiing was great, only you had to turn real easy, as the snow wasn't very deep."

"Our Dave" Back From National Journalist Meet

Journalism student David Traitel returned Sunday from Columbus, Ohio, where he attended the annual Sigma Delta Chi convention as the official delegate of the Nevada chapter.

While present at the convention, the 21-year old Nevadan served on the executive committee of the national journalistic fraternity aiding executive secretary Victory Bluedorn of Chicago.

Mr. Traitel, a senior journalism student from Douglas county, returned with the report that the Nevada chapter had ranked eighth in the Beckman Chapter efficiency contest among fifty universities throughout the United States. Nevada ranked second only to Stanford on the west coast.

... Right to Know

Highlight speakers at the four day convention were: Frank Bartholomew, first vice president of the United Press; Milton Caniff, creator of the Steve Canyon comic strip; and Dr. Frank Stanton, president of Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc.

Military Leaps Tomorrow Nite

By Cadet Scott

Tomorrow night is the night of the annual University of Nevada Military Ball. Sponsored by the Military Department, the Ball will be the first formal social event of the 1954 season.

Pershing Rifles and Scabbard and Blade went to work in the Fable room of the Mapes hotel today to complete decorations for tomorrow's Ball.

Plead to Heed Infirmary Hours

Visitors of patients confined to the University hospital are requested to abide by the infirmary visiting hours—2-4 p. m. and 7-9 p. m.

Miss Mary E. Johnson, head nurse, said that many students have been abusing the privilege of visiting patients by wandering in to see their friends whenever they please. This is upsetting the infirmary routine.

Several pairs of crutches loaned out to students have not been returned. Miss Johnson stated she would like them brought back to the hospital as the skiing season is starting soon and there may be a need for them.

At present there are two patients confined to the infirmary: Robert Jones, injured during basketball practice, and Frank Way, who received a neck injury in PE. According to Miss Johnson their injuries are more painful than serious.

Attention skiers: Please try to be a bit more careful.

ASUN President Gives Thanks

I wish to take this opportunity to thank those that have done good work towards ASUN during the football season.

I thank Coach Jake Lawlor, his coaching staff and each member of the football squad for putting in a great deal of time and hard work. Their school year started three weeks before registration and each day for them, during the season, was a few hours longer.

I thank Prof. Felton Hickman and members of the University Band for their participation at games and rallies. Also I thank them for their patience and cooperation with Ambrose Brodie.

I thank the entire student body for its spirit and enthusiasm and special thanks goes to Carole McGilvary, Bev Griggs, Evelyn Titus and Hollist Manning, who untiringly lead cheers for others.

I wish each of you a pleasant Thanksgiving holiday.

Military Leaps

others have been busy pasting up posters, selling tickets and advertising the Ball.

Meanwhile, the five queen candidates have had a week of dinner engagements at fraternity houses, television and radio shows. The candidates were on TV Monday night, and radio Wednesday.

Recovered

Candidate Janice Chiatovich from Gamma Phi Beta was temporarily hampered in the week by a minor operation on her eye. She was not hospitalized, however, and is completely recovered.

Other queen candidates are Beverly Ricketts, Pi Beta Phi; Jane Wadsworth, Artemesia-Manzanita; Yvonne Lartley, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Louise Harrison, Delta Delta Delta.

Brass

The five were commissioned honorary captains of the ROTC companies they represent in the contest at a recent ceremony held in Mackay stadium. The winner will be promoted to the rank of Honorary Lieutenant Colonel at the time of her presentation at the Ball. The winner's sorority will then assign another woman to represent the company left without a candidate due to her election.

Tickets to the Military Ball may be purchased from any upperclass military student, or may be obtained at the door the night of the Ball.

Columbia Offers Painless Courses

By Manfred Nikoley

How would you like to have a painless college education, beat time instead of taking notes, have a lot of fun playing and hearing modern music, and go on field trips involving visits to music places?

If you wander along the Columbia university campus, you might hear strange sounds coming from the direction of the Journalism building. Upon entering the building, the sounds become stronger and wilder. You suddenly feel as if you were in the middle of the jungle, hearing the drum-beat of jungle drums.

You open the door to room 603; you see sixty hipsters disguised as students around the profs desk, facing a piano and a blackboard, overprinted with musical bars. Chalked above this, from the morning class, is "G. F. Handel, 1685-1759."

Crazy Records

London born Professor Sidney Gross began the lecture by placing a record on a phonograph. It spins crazily, and he remarks, "Remarkable the effects you get by playing a 33 on a 78 speed." Comments like "crazy" and "it's the most" are heard from students, who are, for the largest part, journalism students.

The journalism group at Columbia counts itself the hardest working group on the campus. To get some relaxation from story hunting and the nagging of their city editor, they enroll in this course just to have some fun outside of their hard work and to prove that journalists are able to hold their own when it comes to modern music.

The prof asks, "Why are all boogie-woogie players broad of beam?" He does not get an answer, in fact, no answer is expected.

Modern Jazz

If you have not guessed it by now, you are in a modern jazz class at Columbia University, which celebrated the bicentennial with the theme song "Man's right to knowledge and the free use thereof."

After two hundred years of long-hair courses, Columbia has come up with the happiest class of its history, as the large enrollment proves.

Thus, if you want a painless course, go to Columbia and study jazz.

BEEF BREEDING STUDIED AT UN

The University of Nevada agriculture department is participating in a new beef cattle breeding experiment.

The purpose of the project is to develop new criteria for the selection of beef cattle.

The university is cooperating with approximately 36 western, southern and north central states, and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The agriculture department has brought 45 purebred Hereford heifers, making the Nevada portion of the project one of the most complete in the group.

WHO ARE INDUSTRY'S TOP YOUNG SCIENTISTS?

Ten men between the ages of 26 and 40 were featured in a recent national magazine article which presented a portrait of the young scientist in America today. These particular men are a sample of the most brilliant young scientific minds in industry.

It's interesting to note that three of the ten are with Bell Telephone Laboratories, three with General Electric and one each with four other companies.

The variety of opportunity in research and other phases of telephone work has always attracted an unusually high percentage of the nation's best young men.

Consult your Placement Officer about opportunities with Bell Laboratories . . . also with the Bell Telephone Companies, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. Your Placement Officer will be glad to give you details.

THREE OF THE TEN ARE AT BELL TELEPHONE LABORATORIES—

Mathematician Claude Shannon won fame for his Communication Theory

Physical Chemist William Baker introduced new concepts that have improved synthetic rubber and fibers

Physicist Herring is known for his understanding of the quantum mechanics of the solid state

Marine Corps to Seek Reserve Officer Material on Campus Soon

A Marine Corps Officer Procurement team will be on the campus December 2nd and 3rd from 8:30 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. They will be located in the basement of Stewart hall for the purpose of interviewing freshmen, sophomores, and juniors interested in applying for Platoon Leaders Class Program, which program leads to a commission in the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve upon graduation from college.

The PLC Program is a draft desirable program that requires no drills nor does it require that a uniform be worn during the school year. A PLC attends two six-week summer training sessions at the Marine Corps schools, Quantico, Virginia, during the time that he is in college, and upon graduation from college he is commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the Marine Corps reserve.

An Officer Candidate Course Program is open for college seniors and graduates. The next OCC class is scheduled to convene at Quantico, Virginia on March 15, 1955.

SHEEP CROSSING EXPERIMENT TRIED

An experiment in crossing sheep is the most recent project of the University of Nevada Department of Agriculture.

The department has received a flock of Utah sheep composed of three sets. Each set consists of a ewe and twin lambs. The flock will be used for the purpose of establishing three inbred lines which will be crossed to produce a superior hybrid lamb.

The purpose of the experiment is to develop better sheep for western ranges.

VACANCIES IN ROTC

There are six vacancies left in the upper division advanced ROTC courses. Any student qualified who wishes to enroll in the upper division ROTC may do so by submitting his application to the military department before Wednesday, Nov. 24th.

Quotas are set by defense department upon each military department in all universities offering military training. The quotas apply only to upper division classes, and fluctuate from year to year.

Veterans and other persons, exempt from taking basic military may be eligible for advanced training under certain circumstances.

Any student applying to fill one of the six vacancies will begin training during the spring semester, according to the military department.

Alumni Choose New President

Samuel B. Francovich, Reno city attorney, was elected during Homecoming to succeed Mrs. Roy Bankofier as president of the Nevada Alumni Association.

Others officers elected were William Parrish, first vice president, and Lee DeLauer, second vice president.

Frankovich graduated in 1942 as a major in economics and history.

He was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and active in the Press club and on the Sagebrush staff.

Fernley Rancher

Mrs. Bankofier graduated in 1934 and is presently engaged in ranching with her husband at Fernley.

She was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Parrish was a member of the 1945 class and belonged to Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

DeLauer, a 1950 graduate, was a member of the Highlanders while attending the university.

The Highlanders was a local organization, now extinct, founded on campus in 1947.

The elections were held at the Alumni organizations annual dinner dance held on November 6 at the Riverside hotel in Reno.

JOURNALISM PROF. JUDGES CONTEST

Professor A. L. Higginbotham, professor of Journalism, will participate in administering a "better newspaper" contest for 1955.

Sponsored by the National Editorial association, the contest will be conducted by a 40-member committee.

Professor Higginbotham is one of two journalism school representatives in the nation to serve on the committee.

HOW TO GROW UP WHILE YOU ARE YOUNG

A couple of weeks ago, the Sagebrush ran an editorial boosting young people—giving them credit for being pretty fine folk in spite of what older people say. For the most part, they ARE pretty fine folk, too.

But every now and then, some monster has to crop up and goof the plot.

The type of young monster referred to here is the person who TALKS OUT OF TURN. This is the type that can't resist getting the last word—with no thought to whether they are old enough, wise enough or otherwise qualified to shoot off their mouths.

This is an outstanding symbol of youth—found most often among freshmen, but occasionally among upperclassmen too. If this type of person belongs to an organization, their lip often reflects on the group. It reflects on the individual in any case.

Now, the snappy comeback is okay in its place. It is the stock in trade of comedians, politicians and editors of campus newspapers who earn their living with it. But, good taste is vital to the use of the comeback. Tact and diplomacy are the tools that make the comeback sharp. There is a time and a place for it too, and indiscriminate use of the comeback can result in censure of various kinds—social ostracism or just a good old-fashioned punch in the chops.

Living and working and going to school with others is a mighty hard row to hoe. When you live close to people for any length of time, you often get careless in your consideration of them. You tend to forget that they have feelings, too. You get so buddy-buddy with them that you overlook the fact that they may have been in circulation longer than you, or that they may out-rank you or that they may be OLDER than you and entitled to more respect.

This last—the matter of respect for older folk, is the saddest case of all. Disrespect for older people is something that is all too common with youth. When the Sagebrush spoke about youth's burden a few weeks ago, it did not intend to condone the degrading of the older generation. Though youth has a rugged job ahead of it, it cannot proceed without dignity. There is nothing dignified about ripping into its elders. You don't have to humiliate people to disagree with them.

Growing up hurts. Learning how to live in a troubled world is rugged going—especially when you are still too young to have learned how to cope with it. But by getting hurt—we learn. This, still, does not excuse us from being considerate of the older people who have certainly had their share of hurting for a lot longer than we have.

So try a little harder. Try adopting a positive attitude. Instead of swinging back at every bit of advice or criticism, try to use a little more patience. You'll live longer, learn a lot more—and have many more friends along the way.

ASME Meet Open to Public

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers will hold a meeting December 8, at 7:30 p. m. in room 101 of the Engineering building. The program will feature a guest speaker, motion pictures and refreshments.

Herb Manuccia, chairman of programs for the ASME stressed that the meetings are open to the public and all students are invited to attend.

Guest at the November meeting was Art Wigg, ME graduate in 1952. He lectured on mechanical engineering as applied to the Anacosta Copper company plant at Yerington.

Also featured in the last meeting was a film on the theory and operation of air compressors, as well as one on the economic aspects of the railroad industry in relation to the nation's economy.

Out Of The Brush

By P. FINCH

Hollywood used the University of Nevada campus again last week as a location for a motion picture, "Five Against the House." Earlier pictures shot here were "Margie," "Mr. Belvedere Goes to College," and "Mother Was a Freshman."

One of the moguls filming "Margie" in 1946 explained the Hollywood preference for the Nevada campus. He said it was probably the picture conjured by the average movie-goer when he envisioned what he thought a small American campus ought to look like. The University of Nevada campus is not typical but ideal.

Of course, to those who entertain a low opinion of the average movie audience intellect, the motion picture tribute to the campus is a dubious one.

Faculty salaries at the University of Nevada range from $825 a month for some of those high placed to a low of $300-$400 for some instructors and assistant professors. Agriculture, mining, and engineering professors seem to make out a little better than their colleagues in the arts and science college.

Lili St. Cyr, a night club stripper, earns $100,000 in a good year. The inference is that an ecdysiast makes more than a pedagogue.

Bruce Thompson made it. When asked by a Sagebrush reporter some months ago why he had entered the election for regent he candidly replied, "Because I want to be elected."

The Associated Engineers has requested that Engineers Day, merged with Mackay Day some time ago, be a separate function again, an admirable assertion of individualism. If the move is successful perhaps the other campus groups could do likewise. We could have an Agriculture Day, an Arts and Science Day, and so-on until the university would have more exhibits than a zoo and more holidays than the Russian army.

Dr. Caradine R. Hooten, executive secretary of the National Temperance league, estimates at least 25,000,000 American live in dry areas where liquor cannot be sold. He feels that his outfit and ideas are gaining success.

The rest of the country, the free world, should emulate the CARE program for the underprivileged overseas and send packages to the downtrodden behind the Whiskey Curtain.

Applications for the University of Oslo summer school are now being taken. The Norwegian institution is accredited by the Veterans Administration and one can acquire six credits. Students will leave in June, 1955, on the SS Stavangerfjord from New York. Spend your summer in Norway.

Editorial

We're Free

Last week, the Sagebrush published a letter from a member of the student body who had something to say about a certain type of fellow-student. This week, the Sagebrush got word that the letter writer had been threatened with mayhem.

One of the fundamental principles of our constitution mentions something about freedom of speech. This means that we can still express ourselves, but with the same and logical reservation that we keep within the bounds of decency, laws and human dignity. It also means that those who disagree with a speaker are free to express their criticism and to voice their rebuttal with equal dignity and decency.

One of the tragic happenings in America in the past few years has been the indiscriminate tampering with this freedom of speech and with the dignity of the individual. The tragedy lies in the false idea that, in pursuit of those who disagree with you—politically, ideologically, personally, or in matters of religion, ethics or values—that you can attack them in any way you see fit. You can crucify them mentally, spiritually, physically or socially as long as you GET THEM. But you must GET THEM—because if they are not 100% FOR YOU, then they must be evil and criminal and un-American.

This kind of thinking is murder. It is murder of the human higher conscience, that intangible "something" involving the brain and God that have allowed us to THINK and to UNDERSTAND and to climb up out of the swamps and take the world away from the reptiles. Now, after thousands of years of thinking our way up to a world of automobiles, television, cinemascope, penicillin, super-sonic flight, mass-production and social security, we are trying to murder the one thing that gave us all this. We are trying to murder the God-given right of all men to THINK as they please.

You may counter this with the assertion that some men think only of enslaving us and destroying our right to be free. That's true. You cannot, however, hope to stay free by turning inward upon your own kind. Those who would enslave us have scared us—so that we, ourselves, have become the very tools of those who would enslave us. We do this by smearing every single, vocal personality that does not follow our own standards meticulously. You cannot fight a common enemy, either from within or without, if you are so consumed by fear and lack of reason that EVERYONE becomes your enemy.

The writer of last week's letter to the editor might be wrong in his assumptions—and he might be right. Tearing him to pieces will not prove either, but will only prove that he is not quite as strong as those who took issue with him. We are not animals. We can TALK.

Many folks feel that talking is too slow and too weak to prove any single point. They advocate ACTION. Action is fine but the trouble is that it always leads to wars and wars don't prove anything. Win or lose, you bury your dead and then write up another string of figures in the deficit-spending column.

Stop and think. If someone points the finger of disagreement at you, what can you hope to accomplish by breaking his finger? That seems rather primitive doesn't it? Well then, what else can you do? If you are a college student (one of the fortunate few who get the chance to expose themselves to a little mental exercise beyond a weekly confession magazine and a trip to the movies) you might try the following system:

1. Who said that? Is your critic really a critic, or is he only a professional finger-pointer?
2. What did he say? Were his criticisms valid? Did they make sense?
3. Did he mean you? If you are a social counter-puncher, an open sore who takes issue with everything that is ever said, you can discount yourself immediately. If, on the other hand, the criticism seems to fit you, the critic might have something after all. See if you are actually out of line or not.
4. Could he be right? Could you be wrong? Should you tear him to bits, or should you stand up like a CIVILIZED man and see if you can't out-THINK him?

Lastly, the Sagebrush is a student paper published by the students and for the students of the University of Nevada. It's pages are open to any thoughtful criticism or rejection of criticism that you want to make. THINK.

Thompson, Litton Win Dress Prize

Sigma Nu fraternity held its annual Comic Strip dance Saturday night at the Sigma Nu house at 1075 Ralston st. The dance featured unusual costumes and decorations. Eddy Gomes' band played.

Joy Thompson as "Moonbeam McSwine," and Bob Litton as "Hairless Joe" won the gold cup for the best costumes. Judges were Master Sergeant and Mrs. Howard C. Heil and Sergeant and Mrs. James E. Putnam.

Indirect lighting created by a false ceiling of brown paper with painted footprints was stretched across the room and lighted cartoon cutouts were on the walls. The cartoon characters were painted by Bill Eddleman and Frank Phelps.

Alumni present at the dance were Coe Swobe, '53-54 Sigma Nu president and Jim Brooke, also graduated last spring. Both men are now attending Hastings Law School in San Francisco.

Students Invited To Sunday Dinner By Newman Club

All students are invited to a social and dinner Sunday night, sponsored by the University Newman club.

The affair will be held in the Knights of Columbus hall, across the alley from the university book store. Dancing and dinner will begin at 6 p. m.

The purpose of the gathering, which is scheduled to become a weekly event, is to give students in the greek houses and the residence halls a place to get their Sunday evening meals. Fifty cents will be charged for a dinner plate, consisting of sandwiches, potato salad, coffee and a dessert.

For the Catholic students, the Newman club is sponsoring a series of conferences, led by Father Willis Egan of the University of San Francisco. Problems confronting the average college student will be discussed. Non-Catholic students are also welcome to attend.

Schedule

The conference schedule is as follows:

9:00 a. m.—Mass and Communion at St. Albert's church, across the street from Artemisia hall.

EARLY DEADLINE SET

The staff of the 1955 Artemisia yearbook has set "an early deadline" this year so that they may have the books out before the end of the school year.

Students who wish to work on ads this year are to contact Lorraine Meunier, business manager of the Artemisia, at the Tri Delt house before the Christmas holidays.

Those who sign up to work with the business end of the book will get ten per cent of every new ad they bring in. Miss Meunier stresses the fact that ads are welcome from cities other than Reno.

10:00 a. m.—Breakfast at the Knights of Columbus hall. Reservations for breakfast may be made by calling Ann Cronin at 2-4468, or Lorraine Meunier at 3-0781. The price is fifty cents. The first conference will begin at the hall, immediately following the meal.

11:30 a. m.—Conferences convene until 1:30.

MONSON SPEAKS AT Y.W.C.A. MEET

Oriental religions were discussed by Dr. Charles Monson Jr., assistant professor of philosophy at a YWCA meeting devoted to Comparative Religions yesterday.

Mrs. Albert E. Harris, director of the YWCA, said the Comparative Religions theme proved to be of popular interest last year and will be repeated.

Meetings will be held on the first and third Thursday of each month from 12 noon to 1 p. m. in the YWCA room of Stewart hall.

Mrs. Harris stated that anyone on campus may attend the meetings.

Featured speakers will be chosen from the University faculty and from the local churches.

Grandfather never had it this good

Most people today work only two-thirds as many hours as their grandfather did. Yet they earn at least three times as much each day.

If, for example, your grandfather had been on Union Oil's payroll in 1890, he'd have put in an average week of at least 60 hours. For which he'd have received about $2.25 a day.

If — for comparison — you had been with us last year, you'd have averaged $2.25 also. But for an hour's work, not a day's! And you'd have worked only 40 hours a week.

How can Union Oil, or any company, pay more money for less time on the job? Because new and better tools and engineering have radically increased a man's capacity to produce as they shortened his work week.

For every worker at Union Oil there is now available an average of $77,000 worth of these improved tools — trucks, pipelines, wells, refineries. This gives each employee 340% more to work with than in 1890.

For the most part these tools have been purchased with money the shareholder-owners have plowed back into the business out of profits.

Who profits from profits? Everyone does! That's why you get so much more out of life than your grandfather did.

Benefit Ball Game Raises $4,000 For Survivors of Two UN Alumni

A community effort proved successful here last Sunday afternoon as upwards of 4,000 persons turned out for the Reno-Sparks-Manogue high school benefit football game. This was the second benefit game in as many days for Eugene Mastroianni and Alf Sorensen, two well known men in the Western part of Nevada who were involved in a tragic automobile accident on October 30th.

Eugene C. Mastroianni, 33, and Alf Sorensen, 38, both University of Nevada alumni plunged off Highway 40 while returning to Reno from refereeing a football game at Winnemucca. Mastroianni was killed and Sorensen severely injured.

Both men were reportedly thrown from the vehicle after it had gone over an embankment. It was thought by Sheriff George Wilkins of Churchill county at that time that the driver of the car had gone to sleep, awakening to find the car out of control. While he was attempting to regain control, the car went off the road.

Played Sports

Both men were active on the local sports scene. Mastroianni was president of the Western Nevada Conference Officials' association. Both officiated at many sports events.

It has been stated that an excess of $4,000 has been made available for the two families from the two football games and the various contributions that have been sent into the Mastroianni and Sorensen trust fund since the accident.

Credited with making the Sunday game possible were the University of Nevada, the North Reno Lions and WNCOA, the officials' organization.

But it was Coach Duke Drakulich at Bishop Manogue high school and the Rev. Maurice Welsh, athletic director at the same institution, that conceived the idea.

Prior to this, another game for the same fund was played at Truckee on Saturday. It involved the South Tahoe Vikings and the Tahoe-Truckee Wolverines. Walt Powers, coach of the Vikings, had been a football teammate of Sorensen's at Sparks high.

Mastroianni, a native of Elko, attended Reno high school in his senior year and entered the University of Nevada in 1939. On the campus he was active, being president of the Associated Students and a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. He lettered in track and basketball, graduating with the class of 1943. He went in the army and came back to take over the graduate managership in 1948 and later became athletic manager and Alumni Association secretary until August of 1951. Since that time he has been an insurance salesman, continuing his interest in athletics as the president of the Western Nevada Conference Officials' association.

Sorensen attended the University of Nevada in 1940 and recently returned for the 1952 summer session.

Many of the high schools in Western Nevada plan to add to the trust fund by sponsoring benefit games.

Some have suggested that the Reno-Sparks-Manogue game become an annual affair with the proceeds going to a current worthwhile charity.

GEORGIA MEYERS SADDLE AND SPURS PRES.

Georgia Meyers was elected vice president of Saddle and Spurs, a women's horseback riding society, at the November 9 meeting.

Saddle and Spurs will hold an initiation dinner around December 1, President Lois DeRuchia said.

About 15 prospective members were at the tryouts November 11 and 12, she said.

The club has finished its riding until spring.

LISTEN TO "SPORTS TODAY" WITH BILL STERN ABC RADIO NETWORK MONDAY THRU FRIDAY

DIRTY BITS

By SANDRA MITTS

Just three more school days until Thanksgiving vacation.

(This announcement has been requested by university instructors for the benefit of those students who had planned to go home today).—Too bad!

Kathy Hill announced her pinning to Lynn Johnson at the Pi Phi house on Monday night. The announcement was made with a white rose, representing Sigma Nu and a gold Pi Phi arrow.

At the Theta house, Jean Garner, one of the famous Reno triplets, announced her pinning to SAE Forest (Frosty) Cahlan of Las Vegas.

Judy Adams, also a KAT pledge, revealed her pinning to Sigma Nu Anderson.

Inflation note: Two can't live as cheaply as one anymore. They can live as cheaply as 1.6, states Prof. A. H. Jacobson, of the sociology department.

Janice Chiatovich, Gamma Phi candidate for military ball queen, had a minor operation on her eye Monday.

Speaking of operations, Kathy Hill had an operation of sorts. She tangled with her dentist this week.

The Tri Delt and ATO pledges pulled their annual sneaks this week. Planned for Monday night, the shindig was postponed until Wednesday, when weather conditions had improved.

The Tau men took the food for both their Wednesday and Thursday night meals, including 24 fine big steaks.

The active members of both houses trailed them to Virginia City, where all ill feelings were drowned.

As usual, a few underclassmen got the raw end of the deal. Rose Lasovich, Alice Wilson and ring leader Mardelle Capriotti spent the afternoon in the Reno city jail. They busied themselves for three hours with typing and other minor jobs.

Tom Davis was unsuccessful in making a getaway from the Tau house. He was caught and roped by irate and hungry active members.

Bop has certainly become the fad at the U. of N., especially at the Theta Chi house. Four men have been enlisted to take lessons at the Arthur Murray studios, and then pass their training on to the rest of the men.

The bop instructors are Bob Thomason, Bill Bulkeley, Ken Server and Eugene Kiliani.

These men displayed their teachings at a social held at the house on Wednesday night. Pi Phi women were guests.

On the same evening, the Phi Sigs entertained the Gamma Phis at a social in the marine headquarters on Lake street.

The Gamma Phi's recently celebrated their 80th anniversary. The dinner in commemoration of the event was held at the Santa Fe, on Thursday, November 10th.

The Tri Delt's will celebrate their founders day on Monday evening. The alumni and the Mothers club will be guests at a dessert to be held at the chapter house. Two additional pinnings were announced recently. Sandra (long-play) Records, Tri Delt displayed SAE pin belonging to Ron Logar, and Gloria Haynes, independent, revealed her pinnig to Danny Sullivan, SAE.

Put a copy of the Sagebrush under your pillow each night. Restful.

School is odd.

Sigma Rho, Phi Sig Up Standings

Sigma Rho Delta gained one full game in the Intramural Bowling league by edging out Sigma Alpha Epsilon this week.

The "Cherry Pickers" had little trouble in downing the luckless SAEs in the first game, but lost the second. The third went as the first and Sigma Rho ended up with a 2-1 series edge. Bruce Packard led the way for the victorious "Cherry Pickers" with a 437 series. Ron Logar was high for the SAEs with a 437.

Sigma Nu turned on a helpless Lambda Chi team by sweeping the series, 3-0. In doing so the 'Snakes' set a new league record for total pins, with 1793 and tied the previous record of 644 for high team game. Jim Anderson rolled his team to victory with a 461 count.

Independents

The Independents moved into a second place tie with the SAEs by easily downing the slumping ATO, 3-0. Chuck Rozanas was the power in the Independents line-up with the high series of 492. Bob Vice added what he could do to the Tau's hopes by rolling a 417 series.

Phi Sig Kappa continued to move up in the league standings by edging out Theta Chi, 2-0. Bruce Jones helped his teammates to victory with a 429 series. Ken Server was high man for Theta Chi with a 477.

The league standings are as follows:

Teams	W.	L.	GB
Sigma Rho Delta	12	6	-
Sigma Alpha Ep.	11	7	-
Independents ...	11	7	1
Phi Sigma Kappa	9	9	3
Sigma Nu	8½	9½	3½
Alpha Tau Omega	7½	10½	4½
Lambda Chi Alpha	7	11	5
Theta Chi	6	12	6

STUDENT TEACHER DEADLINE POSTED

University of Nevada students who plan to qualify for admission to supervised teaching for the spring semester must sign up within one week.

In order that plans can be made for practice teaching, it is necessary that all interested students check with their advisors concerning their qualifications to do supervised teaching in the affiliated schools through the College of Education, Dean Holstine announced.

At the present time 36 University of Nevada students are practicing teaching in the Reno and Sparks schools.

SKIING TO BE ENJOYED THIS WEEKEND AT BOWL

Clear roads and snowy slopes are the report for the weekend in the Reno Ski Bowl.

The Manager of the Snow Shoe lodge told of the skiing forecast in the Ski Bowl this weekend.

Roads to the Bowl are clear and skiers may drive up to the area.

The rope tow in the bowl will be in operation to help skiers to the eighteen inches of snow on the slopes.

Authorities stated that following another storm like the one this last weekend, the tows on Mount Rose would begin operating. The ski season will open officially on December 18 if snow conditions continue to improve.
