

UN STUDY VOTE LARGE

A bill providing for an investigation of the University of Nevada administration and academic operation was passed last Tuesday despite heated opposition encountered in the assembly.

The bill allows $25,000 for the investigation. The Nevada legislative commission now must find an agency. As a result of the 37-3 passage in the assembly, the fate of the bill now rests in the hands of Governor Charles Russell.

In its first assembly appearance, the bill was strongly criticized by Assemblyman James Wood of Washoe county. In his opinion, the $25,000 appropriated for the investigation would be "thrown to the birds."

The regents have said they will abide by the results of the investigation and opposition slacked to permit passage of the bill by a large majority vote. The bill originated in the Senate last week.

It is the result of a recent letter by Dr. Allvar Jacobson, sociology professor, criticizing the university administration.

Netmen Meet U. of Montana

The University of Nevada's 1955 tennis squad will open its season this weekend when it meets the University of Montana netmen in Reno.

The Nevada squad warmed up against the Reno Tennis club last Sunday with an impressive 7-2 win over the city players.

Bill Van Wagoner took a 3-6, 11-9, 6-4 match from former Reno city champion Bob Fairman. He then teamed with Bill Barrett to win a marathon doubles match against a good Reno pair.

Straight set victories were won by Dick McClintic and Jim Anderson over their Reno singles opponents, and by the same two when they teamed up in the doubles.

Another Nevada winner was Steve Stewart, who has moved to the number three spot on the team.

Pass the pizza, Pietro.

Machine Age Marches On

ENGINEERS' DAY TOMORROW

Contests and exhibits will fill the thirty-seventh annual Engineers' Day tomorrow, starting at 10 a. m.

Until noon the engineers will fight it out in riveting, slide ruling, surveying and drilling. The contests are open and free to all spectators.

From 1 until 5 a variety of exhibits will be displayed, such as a ham radio station, a sexometer, an electronic babysitter, electronic bagpipes, and a lie detector.

Dean Vernon E. Scheid declined an invitation to the Mackay School of Mines to participate in Engineers' Day this year. He said that the college had been expecting the event in connection with Mackay

Day and had earlier made arrangements for upperclassmen and professors to attend a professional meeting in Ely tomorrow.

On the lower campus earth-moving equipment will be in action. Also on show will be various makes of old cars, diesel, steam and jet engines, and such civil engineering projects as timber bridges.

Student committee heads of the Engineer's Day celebration include George Samstad, Jr., president of Associated Engineers; Robert Martin, president of electrical engineers; Edward Evarts, president of mechanical engineers; and Henry Martin, president of civil engineers.

Old and new cars will be on the quadrangle. The projects and machinery will be explained to the public by student guides.

The civil engineer's will also present projects on surveying, hydrolic laboratory, metal testing laboratory, soil testing, and the exhibit of heavy construction equipment.

The event started in 1920 and lasted until 1925 when it was incorporated into Homecoming. The Associated engineers revived it in 1936 and that time it lasted as a separate entity until 1943. Started again after the war it was then consolidated with Mackay Day in 1952. Again, it is separate.

LETTER SENT TO SOLONS

An appeal to every member of the Nevada state legislature has been made in a last-ditch effort to set the Victory Heights out of committee.

The appeal, in letter form, was made as a result of a recent meeting between President Minard W. Stout and an unofficial Victory Heights committee consisting of Boyce Ford, Walter Ryals, Kenneth Robbins and Paul Finch.

Dr. Stout and members of the committee met to review the opposition views towards the bill which was presented by Senator Forest Lovelock at a meeting last week with students in Carson.

His two major points of opposition are that low-cost housing serves as an inducement for young people to get married and still continue their education, and the danger and impracticality of a 40-year debt.

In answer to the first point, the mimeographed letter stated that through selective service young men will be starting their education at an age when they would ordinarily be graduating and considering marriage, and that recent extension of G. I. Bill benefits encourages these young men to continue their education.

Four plans were suggested to the legislature concerning the $750,000 loan. Two plans provided a method of repaying the loan and the interest plus the cost of upkeep and utilities over a 40-year period. The other two dealt with methods pertaining to a 20 year period.

All four plans supported the view that the proposed units could be self-supporting, and still be at the low-cost housing level.

Carnival Earns More Than $400

Over four hundred dollars was earned for the World University Service at the annual carnival sponsored by the YWCA last Saturday night.

Although exact figures were not available at press time, Lambda Chi Alpha was officially named winner of the trophy for the organization earning the most money for WUS. Shirley Allen and LaVerne Eikelberger, co-chairmen, estimated that the men took in approximately thirty-five dollars on their car-washing project.

Pi Beta Phi was runner-up in the money-earning race, with a total of $27.10. In their booth, a coded was dunked in water when a target was hit with a baseball.

Music

Jack Reimers' band played at the gathering in which twenty organizations participated.

Carol Tollefson was publicity chairman for the event, with her brother, John, supervising booth construction.

Guests at the Carnival were Mrs. Catherine Harris, YWCA director; Dean Elaine Mobley, Pres. and Mrs. Minard Stout, Dean and Mrs. William D. Carlson, Dr. and Mrs. Ira LaRivers, and Prof. and Mrs. Fred Ryser.

If the legislature decides to regulate comic books, some of its bills will be affected.

Mitts, Dickson To Be on Ballot Following AWS Primary Win

Sandra Mitts and Annette Dickson went into the general elections for president of the Associated Women Students today.

The two women got the highest number of votes in the Wednesday primary elections in which Dixie Sturges and Lola Honey were eliminated.

The president-elect named today will represent the University of Nevada at an AWS convention in Lawrence, Kansas, during the spring vacation. The runner-up will be named vice president of the women students.

Over two hundred women voted in the primaries with 78 votes going to Sandra Mitts, the independent candidate; 64 to Annette Dickson, Kappa Alpha Theta; 47 to Dixie Sturges, Delta Delta Delta, and 26 to Lola Honey, Gamma Phi Beta.

Final results of the general elections will be announced at 4:30

p. m. today, Jackie McGowen, AWS president, said.

The four candidates spoke at an assembly of the associated women students on Thursday. The assembly was held in place of the Co-Ed Capers, formerly held for the purpose of introducing candidates and presenting sorority scholarship awards.

Kappa Alpha Theta walked off with top honors for scholastic achievements during the past year. Elaine Mobley, dean of women, made the awards for both fall and spring semesters.

For the spring semesters, 1953, Kappa Alpha Theta won the trophy for the greatest scholastic achievement over the previous spring. Delta Delta Delta won the cup for the highest active member average, for the ninth consecutive semester. Gamma Phi Beta was named winner of the pledge grade trophy.

Hartman Petitions For Government

Provisions for a student governing committee for Hartman hall will be voted on by hall residents in the near future. The provisions are now being considered by a committee of six.

The committee met this week to discuss the first draft, drawn up by secretary Robert Callju. Other committee members are John Riva, Morris Friberg, Jack Scott, Terry Katzer and Dennis Smith.

Rules and Fines

"We feel that a disciplinary and governing committee should be organized to enforce rules and regulations together with a system of fines," the petition stated.

Two alternate proposals were suggested. They were:

1. That an executive committee be elected by the hall residents.
2. That an executive committee of upperclassmen be appointed by the Dean of Student Affairs.

Spring is glandular.

WITHDRAWALS

Withdrawal deadline for this year is March 30. They will not be permitted after this except for illness, accident, or similar emergencies. An "F" is the alternative.

Procedure for withdrawing is: secure withdrawal slip from registrar; take slip to instructor, take to advisor, take to college dean, take to registrar again.

ELECT NEW OFFICERS TO GAMMA PHI BETA

Gamma Phi Beta sorority recently elected nine new officers for the spring term. They are:

President, Sue Humphrey; vice president, Paula Gray; social chairman, Janice Chiatovich; house manager, Barbara Erb; treasurer, Francine Mannix; recording secretary, Francine Luwe; standards chairman, Marcia Thomas; corresponding secretary, Mary Sheehan, and rush chairman, Donna Fisher.

Marines vs. UN In Benefit Card

Nevada's boxing team will take on the Marines April 1 in a special card arranged by the Nevada Alumni association. All proceeds go to aid Alf Sorensen.

Former Nevada athletic star and more recently coach and referee, Sorensen was gravely injured in an automobile accident last October which claimed the life of Gene Mastroianni, another former Nevada athletic great.

The entire varsity team will appear in the match, except Ted Contri, who will be competing in the N.C.A.A. tourney that weekend.

The Marines will come from the Pickel Meadow Cold Weather Battalion, stationed near Bridgeport, California. They will be carefully screened to insure no overmatching or possible amateur-professional mixups.

CHICKENWEED FOUGHT

The digging in front of the Aggie building is to result in a beautiful lawn if the weather stays good for a month. Carl Horn and his boys are trying to get rid of the chickenweed, a fearsome thing and are to bring in new dirt and seed it with bluegrass and clover.

Seeding is only a small part of what the building and grounds department plans to do in the future. The entire campus is to be reseeded by sections.

For a man indeed ought not to cover his head, forasmuch as he is the image and glory of God: but the woman is the glory of the man. (Corinthians 1:17).

The Nevada squad will include Don Kitts, 119; Roger Iveson, 132; Chet Hines, 135; Keith Ernst, 139; Bill Priest, 145; Don O'Day, 152; Larry Damon, 161; John Hawkins, 172; Bill Griggs, 190; Bob Genasci, 200, and possibly others.

Rifles Fire Third In Berkeley Match

Nevada riflemen shot their way to third place in their section of the National interscholastic indoor rifle meet last weekend in Berkeley. Although final tabulations for the national meet have not been received, Nevada was topped only by the University of California's first and second teams in the northern California section. Other sections throughout the nation fired simultaneous meets.

Two Nevada sharpshooters placed sixth and seventh in the individual section matches, Terry Katzer and Chuck Taylor. Katzer was seventeenth in the nation in the individual department last year, while as a team the Nevada marksmen were 17th in national standings.

Beef Research Done by Aggies

Aggie students are doing research in the animal husbandry department to develop better beef for the consumer.

"Gene" Austin, Sparks; Richard Christensen, Reno, and Gary Hafen, Mesquite, are working on research at the Virginia Farm of the university. Austin handles the feeding; Christensen and Hafen have helped with the chemical analysis. The entire class in genetics is closely following the work.

Dr. James F. Kidwell, associate professor of animal husbandry, said the students measure the amount of glutathione found in the blood of the beef cattle before testing. Research is being conducted to determine if there is a correlation between the amount of glutathione found in the blood and the animal's ability to produce meat in a shorter period of time and on less feed.

SCULPTURED FILMS SHOWN MONDAY

Three films dealing with sculpture and one with the process of lithography will be shown Monday afternoon at 4:15 p. m. in the Education auditorium.

The films, presented for the first time last night were "Henry Moore," "Lithography," "Pueblo Arts," "Uncommon Clay," and "Dry Paper Modeling."

Scenes of Henry Moore, British sculptor, were taken while at work, while several close up shots portray much of his work in general.

The lithographer process is demonstrated in film by Marion Witt Wexler, lithographer and teacher of design at the Art Institute of Chicago. The step by step process of the art is shown.

Color Film

The only color film of the group "Pueblo Arts" is a presentation of the arts and crafts of the Pueblo Indians.

Six American sculptors are portrayed working in their studios in "Uncommon Clay." Sculptors are Donald De Lue, Wheeler Williams, Paul Manship, Cecil Howard, James Earl Fraser, and Laura Gardin Fraser.

The last film, "Dry Paper Modeling," demonstrates paper modeling as another sculptural medium.

OR HOW TO BE INDEPENDENT AT 46 ON A $350 INVESTMENT

“WHENEVER I hear anyone claiming that big business is bad for small business, I think of my own case.

“Back in 1932 I leased this Union Oil service station in Venice, California, with $350 my wife and I had saved the hard way. Now at 46 I’m financially independent. But I’d never have made it so soon without the Union Oil Company.

“They taught me how to buy. How to sell. How to service. Even how to hire and train help, and keep my books.

“They’d spend thousands of dollars perfecting new service ideas, then pass ’em on to me for nothing.

“Best of all, people practically took Union’s gasoline and motor oil away from me. They were always the finest in the West.

“Well, business was so good I had the station paid for by 1939. Then I started buying real estate around it. Today my net worth’s in the six figures. The children are through college and on their own. Marjorie and I are going to

if I hadn’t been in business with big business!”

Henry McNeil, it seems to us, is the kind of man who would have succeeded with or without our help. But his point is well taken. Big business does help small business.

Union Oil is a typical example. We’re the 45th largest manufacturing company in the country, with over $350,000,000 volume in 1954.

But of this $350,000,000, the lion’s share—or 75%—is spent with the more than 15,000 small businesses and individuals like Henry McNeil with whom we do business.

Jobs

That Stead Air Force base personnel compete with University of Nevada students for jobs in Reno is indisputable. Whether military competition with civilians is justifiable or necessary is, however, a moot question.

Some time ago a now defunct Sagebrush column posed the problem and criticized the situation as a handicap to college educations and to the government. Apparently this prompted a student to write to Stead for an explanation. A survey was conducted by the authorities at the air base and it found: an airman first class with a wife and child has expenses amounting from $269.08 to $245.88 monthly, depending on the possession of a car. His income, together with his family allowance, is $245 a month.

From these figures we (Mark Twain said editors and persons with worms could call themselves "we." We fall into the latter category) concede that an airman first class with two dependents and a car, or even without a car, has a rough go economically unless he takes a job downtown.

But Reno is a two-horse town, large enough to support a few but not large enough to offer jobs to absorb all the demand. An ordinary work force goes elsewhere when it cannot find employment but college students and military personnel are anchored. Then the question is who needs work the most. We (ah, those worms) favor the students and think the government is not getting its due when its men have time to work as civilians. And the Congress is packed with tight-fisted blockheads for not paying all the troops enough to live on. A new pay raise is now pending but it would only give the airman first class $18.10 more monthly. The Stead survey indicates that this will still not cover his expenses. The armed forces' salaries may be adequate in more normal communities but Reno, although civic groups may dispute it, is a rich man's town with a cost of living outrageous in contrast to thers. It would be unrealistic to insist on low pay grades staying single.

Yet, there must be a way to compromise and divide with equity the available downtown money. While men in the lower and middle pay grades with dependents at the base have to earn outside wages, there is little to be said for the many rated and single men who are employed by civilians. With poor means for conducting a survey, (the worms are otherwise occupied) we cannot say exactly how many are in this group but from personal observations it would seem there are many.

This group takes jobs that could be used by unsubsidized civilians (who after all may join the air force eventually) to get a college education. And some of these civilians have a couple of dependents themselves.

Commerce Club Comes to Life

The first meeting of the Commerce club in years will be held next Thursday, March 31, at 11 a. m. in room 200 in the Education Building.

All students who have or are taking a course in business, sociology, or economics are eligible for membership in the club.

The purpose of the first meeting will be to discuss reactivation of the club and to nominate of-icers. In future meetings of the Commerce club, leading businessmen from Nevada will speak to the members to familiarize them on the problems and practices in all fields related to business, sociology, and economics.

Frank Randall, Cal Mead, and Prof. James M. Hoyt have been working to reactive the club, inactive since 1948.

DIRTY BITS

By SANDRA MITTS

Real glad to hear that some of you miss Dirty Bits when I get too lazy to write it every week. But regardless of how long I tary between writings, DIRTY BITS IS HERE TO STAY!

"Wedding bells are breaking up that old gang of mine" is the current theme song at the Pi Phi house as Marg Andrews plans to walk down the aisle in three weeks. Her sorority sisters gave Marg a shower Wednesday night in preparation for her April 19 wedding to Bill Eaton, boy editor. Marg is the eighth Pi Phi to marry this year.

April 17 is also the date chosen by Sally Rogers for her marriage to Bill Long. Sally is a Gamma Phi senior. Her fiance was recently discharged from the Air Force.

Bev Sue Hug surprised her Tri Delt sisters this week with the announcement of April 24 as her wedding date. Former ASUN president Milt Sharp is the bridegroom-to-be. He is in the Army, and will be sent to Germany for a two year period some time in May. Bev plans to join him there.

April seems to be the bridal month this year, with a fourth U of N woman to be married on the 29th. Sandra Records, Tri Delt, will marry Columbus "Brownie" Brown on that day.

Recent engagement announcements, though now not so recent, are those of: Jay Powell, Theta, to Joe "Breezie" Howard; Billie Holmes, Artemisia, to Jerry Hunt, Theta Chi; and Carol McGilvray, Pi Phi to Jim Brook, Sigma Nu, now at law school in San Francisco.

Many plans have been passed since the last appearance also. Among them: Bev Griggs, Pi Phi, to Dick Wiseman, Phi Sig; Georgia Myers, Theta, to Jake Carpenter, Lambda Chi; Annette Dickson, Theta, to Hans Mohr, Theta Chi; Dixie Sturgess, Tri Delt, to Roland Westergard, ATO; and Helen Argeres, Tri Delta, to Harry Karzas, TK from Chicago.

Bridge lessons are now being taught by the YWCA. The group has taken this over as a project for the spring semester (probably to counteract spring fever, becoming prevalent). Mrs. Catherine Harris, director, will be the teacher, and has invited interested students to see her between 9 and 1 p. m., in the Snack Bar.

That's the story for this week, but next week I promise to have an almost-exclusive for you.

MANN TO BE ON BALLOT; NAME DEADLINE ON 31st

March 31 at noon is the deadline for the nomination of candidates as officers of the Associated Students of the University of Nevada.

The primary elections will be held April 15 and the general elections are scheduled for April 22.

Officers to be elected are ASUN president, a man and a woman to act as senators at large, and the senior, junior, and sophomore class manager.

An election assembly will be held April 14 at which time each candidate will speak.

The Mackay Day queen election is also being held at this time to meet the April 15 deadline of the Artemisia. The winner of the contest will not be officially announced until later.

ASUN president Clair Earl has expressed the hope that all nominations will be registered by 4:00 p. m. Wednesday, March 30, at which time there will a nominations committee meeting. In the event that less than three candidates are nominated for each office, the committee will nominate the additional candidates.

If just the required three are nominated, the primary elections will be held solely for the purpose of voting on the proposed Student Union constitution and the Mackay Day queen.

If four or more candidates are nominated for each office, they will be placed on the primary ballot, and the top two for each office will be voted on April 22.

Also appearing on the general elections ballot will be the following amendments: (1) that the title of class manager be changed to class president. (2) that riflery and tennis be instituted as major sports, and (3) that the Board of Athletic Control clause be omitted from the constitution. The latter, according to president Earl, is outdated.

When the university dropped out of big time football, the Board of Athletic Control became pointless. Athletic control was again placed under university administration.

The primary election will be held in the basement of Stewart hall from 8:00 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.; the general election, April 22 from 8:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m.; also in the basement of Stewart hall.

WRA INITIATES FOUR, SWEARS IN OFFICERS

Four officers were sworn in by the Women's Recreational Association and four women initiated recently.

The new officers are: Dorothy Hill, president; Helen Meader, vice president; Marsha Towner, secretary, and Lucille Nelson, treasurer.

Virginia Coleman, Joanne Backer, Gail Sullivan and Ida Tout were initiated.

Miners to Talk On Uranium

Talks on uranium prospecting and production, on the atomic bomb testing in Nevada, and on the production of oil will be heard by 15 university mining students Saturday, March 26 in Ely.

The mining students will attend the Nevada section of the American Institute of Mining Engineers at their annual session.

Field trips on Saturday include a trip to Nevada's first producing oil well and the copper mines of the Kennecott and Consolidated companies.

The mill and smelter of the Kennecott Copper company also will be visited by the students.

Besides going on field trips, they also will attend a dinner and cocktail party held at the Nevada hotel in Ely on Friday and Saturday.

William Wallace Mein jr., of San Francisco, a vice president and director of A.I.M.E., will be the speaker at the dinner.

Contri Enters NCAA Tourney

Ted Contri will be the first boxer to represent the University of Nevada in an N.C.A.A. tournament when he travels to Pocatello, Idaho next week.

The smooth working Elko welterweight became the second Nevada man to win a Pacific Coast Intercollegiate title as he pounded out a clean decision over Jim Robertson of Washington State university last Saturday night. He defeated defending P.C.I. champ Al White the night before, duplicating his win over White in the San Jose match held in Reno several weeks ago.

The other Nevadan who won a P.C.I. title is Sammy Macias, who took the 119 pound crown in 1953, but was prevented from going to the national tourney because Nevada was not then a member of the N.C.A.A., and not eligible to compete. Sammy has since served a Korean tour in the army, and expects to return to the Nevada ring wars next season.

Contri and Coach Jimmy Olivas will probably leave Reno next Tuesday and will stop over in Elko for a workout there.

"Ted has the straight-punching, stand-up style which is important in intercollegiate and Olympic Games competition," Olivas told Sierra Nevada Sports Writers and Broadcasters last week. Early in the season, Olivas stated that Contri was of championship material and a possible contender for the 1956 Olympics.

Make enemies. Anybody can have friends.

An old wives' tale is not as interesting as a young wives' tale.

BROAD PROGRAM FOR SUMMER STUDY

Summer session of the university for 1955 will have a broader program to offer. This is possible because of the increased interest and the expected large attendance, based on inquiries and requests of interested students.

At least one professor from each department of the college of Arts and Science and the College of Education will be on the faculty. Basic training will be offered to those students who wish to continue their studies through the summer months.

The ten weeks summer session will be divided as follows: First session, June 13-24; main session, June 27-August 5; post session, August 8-19; eight weeks session, June 13 to August 5; ten weeks session, June 13-August 19. Special conferences and workshops are to be arranged with the director of the summer sessions.

The flexibility of the 1955 summer session will make it easier for the student to arrange his class schedule. The student may also arrange his classes to earn two, six, eight or ten credits, depending on the amount of time he attends the session. Registration will be on at Saturday preceding each session.

Ten-week courses are being offered in sciences, mathematics and languages. Provisions are being made for students to secure both board and room on the campus in both dormitories and the university dining hall. Students who wish to make reservations should write as soon as possible to William D. Carlson, dean of student affairs.

The master of education degree has been added to the curriculum of graduate program for teachers and administrators. This was recently approved by the board of regents.

Coaching Clinic Features Sanders

"Red" Sanders of UCLA and Hank Iba of Oklahoma A&M will be on hand this summer at the second annual University of Nevada coaching school and clinic. Sanders, voted "coach of the year for '54" with his undefeated Bruins, will teach theory and practice in football, while Iba, director of athletics and head basketball coach of the "Aggies" at Oklahoma will take on the teaching duties in basketball.

Last year 160 coaches from western colleges and universities attended the summer session, and an equal turnout is expected again this year, according to Art Broten, director of athletics.

The session is slated to run Monday thru Saturday, from June 20 to the 25th. Coaches attending the week-long session will stay at the university dorm, and eat their meals at downtown restaurants.

Kickapoo

"Kickapoo" Logan, a nationally known trainer, is scheduled to teach treatment of athletic injuries, and taping. He is currently in Los Angeles in a private business, selling training equipment and supplies. He has served as athletic trainer for the Army at West Point and has also been a pro-football trainer.

It is anticipated that Sanders will emphasize the single wing—for which he is widely known—and review offensive systems and fundamentals.

Last year's coach-teachers in the program were Jim Tatum of Maryland, whose football team was the National champions for '54, and "Phog" Allen, "Mr. Basketball," the veteran mentor of Kansas.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

He keeps up with 440,000 customers

"I used to think accountants wore green eye shades and sat on high stools," John Merrick will tell you. "That's before I started working in a modern accounting department."

"I trained for about a year and a half in different phases of telephone accounting. Then I was placed in charge of the section which maintains telephone service records. I have more than 60 people in my group with four supervisors reporting to me. Our job is to keep a running record of monthly charges for 140 exchanges in Central Massachusetts. That comes to 440,000 different customers.

"Customers expect their bills on time and they want their charges to be right. So on my job my primary concern is to maintain constant and rapid production and at the same time keep our work accurate and reliable. One of the best ways to do this is to be sure that 'the right person is on the right job at the right time,' an old cliché. But I found it works and it gives me a chance to use my Sociology training since it means handling all sorts of personnel situations."

John finished Bates College in 1952 with a degree in Sociology, and started with the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company. His work is typical of many assignments in the Bell telephone companies. The opportunities open for college graduates with other operating companies of the Bell Telephone System are many and varied—also with Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. ## Faculty, Administration May OK New Business Curriculum Soon

A new curriculum for business majors will be inaugurated soon, subject to faculty and administrative approval.

Aiming at specialization in different fields of business, the proposed change, still in the planning stage, will enable students to earn bachelor of arts degrees in accounting, marketing, personnel, finance, management, or general business. Formerly, only a general business administration course has been available.

Dr. Walter S. Palmer, chairman of the business economics and sociology department, stressed the tentative nature of the proposed curriculum overhaul. It is still subject to university approval, he pointed out, and is still in the revision stage.

Blue Key to Host Campus Leaders

University of Nevada Blue Key chapter will play host next weekend to 25 student leaders from thirteen western campuses in a Pacific Coast Blue Key convention.

The convention will include talks on student leadership, service to the university, and campus-town relations. They will set up shop on Thursday, March 30, at the education auditorium.

The business sessions will last until Saturday noon, when the delegates will take a trip to Virginia City.

The main convention banquet is set for Friday night at the El Cortez hotel. Jerry Mann and Bill Dennett will line up the speakers for the evening.

CONTEST ANNOUNCED BY SIGMA DELTA CHI

A sportswriting contest for senior high school boys has been announced by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity. Sigma Delta Chi will give the winner a one hundred dollar journalism scholarship to the University of Nevada.

Entrants in the contest will receive a set of facts about a basketball game. The writing of the sports story will be supervised through local high schools.

An alternate will also be chosen, if the winner decides not to pursue journalism at the University of Nevada, or if he receives another scholarship.

Contest chairmen are Roland Melton and Bruce Bledsoe.

Middle of the readers get side-swiped on both sides.

MONEY GIVEN FOR NURSING

A gift of $100,000 has been accepted by the University of Nevada from Arthur E. Orvis, retired financier, to be used toward developing a school of nursing on the Reno campus.

According to President Minard Stout, Orvis informed him that he was making arrangements for deposit of securities which will enable the University to withdraw $20,000 per year over a five-year period.

An appropriation request for $71,912 to finance creation and operation of the nursing school for the biennium was presented the Nevada legislature.

President's Fund

Orvis, a benefactor to various charitable and religious organizations, previously established the president's discretionary fund in 1945 at the University. The fund, administered at the discretion of the president, is used to finance special school projects.

The school of nursing was proposed last year following a survey by the U. S. Department of Health into Nevada's nursing needs.

"We are still revising the revisions," he remarked.

Basic arts and science background requirements will probably remain unchanged. If the proposal is accepted, most changes in the business curriculum will be concentrated primarily on the major field of interest.

The proposed change is designed to accommodate the rapid growth of Nevada and the West in general and the resultant increase in the demand for professionally trained business people. Based upon the recommendations of various business professional societies, the proposal hinges on the success of the budget proposal for additional personnel now in the legislature.

FOUR JOURNALISM MEN TO BE INITIATED IN SDX

Four Nevada journalism students will be initiated into Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity on Sunday.

Those to be initiated are: Bruce Bledsoe, Reno; Dwight Dyer, Redding, California; Ken Robbins, Ely, and Hank Rilling, Las Vegas. All are sophomores.

President of the undergraduate chapter of SDX, Ron Einstoss, announced that there will be a speaker at the initiation banquet, but who it will be has not been determined yet.

A Little Late But Greenhouse Here

(Editor's Note: Traditionally, the Sagebrush runs a story on the greenhouse each year. This year's story was written by Dwight Dyer, under protest, during the winter.

Most of the University of Nevada campus is a frozen, barren winter scene right now. Trees stand bleak and naked without their leaves. The deep rich green of the campus turf emerges brown and dull from under a frigid covering of snow. The wind whips cold over a frozen Manzanita lake. Carl Horn and his building and grounds crew shovel the persistent snow and ice and chop away at the unyielding frozen earth, attempting to locate power cable break.

Meanwhile, a gentleman named Herbert Preuss, attired in a light summer shirt, moves methodically about in a warm, moist, slightly oppressive tropical atmosphere, surrounded by lush vegetation that ranges from desert cactus to banana trees, alfalfa to pineapple plants.

Pr. Preuss, in charge of the university greenhouse, is, in effect, custodian and controller of nature as he oversees a crop of growing plant life that one would normally find in the steep, scenic mountains of the Hawaiian islands, or perhaps in the dank forests of Northern California — or the arid plains of southern Nevada. Herbert Preuss is a custodian of nature in his greenhouse, and you might call him an efficiency expert of nature. For not only does he create a synthetic climate, he speeds up the natural processes of growth.

In one corner of the greenhouse, one may observe tall cacti grown to maturity often in one tenth the time a similar plant would in its natural environment. In another section one finds alfalfa flourishing out of season, growing under artificial stimuli, day and night, maturing in a fraction of the time it would take under natural circumstances.

Practical or not, it cannot help but be a unique experience to step from the monotony of a Nevada winter into the tropical atmosphere floral variety of the greenhouse.

Browse around the coffee and pineapple plants, the banana trees and ferns, the cacti and alfalfa, and the myriad other varieties; one usually forgets, temporarily, the harsh winter scene outside the thin glass panels of the greenhouse.

AUSTRALIAN IDEAS OF EDUCATION DIFFER FROM US

The difference between higher education in Australia and that in the United States were described in a talk this week by Dr. Robert M. Gorrell, English department. He spoke to the local chapter of American Association of University Professors.

In Australia, as is the practice in most schools following the European theory of education, the emphasis is upon education for a small number of highly gifted students. The philosophy of education in the United States places emphasis upon educating a greater number of people.

Education in the United States has lost the traditional scholarly attitude of higher education, but at the same time it has gained by providing more education for more people, Dr. Gorrell stated.

POSTMASTER HAS SLIGHT COMPLAINT IN 6 YEARS AT UN POST OFFICE

By Bob Guinn

R. F. (Ray) Briggs, postmaster of the university post office, has had 43 years experience handling mail.

After all these years he has only one complaint about the students — they won't call for their mail before 2 p. m.

Ray has intercepted no bombs intended for presidents, nor has he had any particularly thrilling experience. He did recall confiscating a few fifths of giggle-soup that some amateur smugglers had tried to send.

Questioned about his opinion of students today he replied that they are much quieter and well-mannered than the students of 50 years ago.

Ray, born in Anderson, Indiana in 1891, was brought west in 1894. His first mail-job was with the old Virginia & Truckee Railroad in 1911 as a mail clerk. Soon after he took a job at the Reno post office, and remained there until 1949 when he came to work at the university. When he left the downtown post office he was boss of the night shift.

Ray successfully dodged the women until 1942, when he married. He has no children and resides at 541 University Terrace.

If, as Dr. Johnson said, patriotism was the last refuge of a scoundrel then the armed forces would not have to rely on the draft.
