DR. McHENRY NAMES TWO INVESTIGATORS

"THE SKIN OF OUR TEETH," comedy play by Thornton Wilder, will be presented for the second and last time tonight at 8 p. m. in the Education auditorium. University students are shown above during one of their rehearsals earlier this week. They are Betty Lougaris (left), Bob Faiss, Sandra Newell, Coraleta Feary, and Trudy Caddel.

Two members of the survey team which will investigate the University of Nevada have been named by Dr. Dean E. McHenry, survey director.

Dr. Peter H. Odegard, former president of Reed College, and Dr. Richard G. Lillard, an author and teacher of English, have accepted posts on the team, it has been announced by McHenry in a news release to the Sagebrush.

McHenry is reported to have said of Odegard, department chairman of history at U. C. at Berkeley: "no man in this country has such a unique combination of abilities and experience in both administration and politics. He fits precisely the requirement for a team member able to see the problems of the presidency in perspective, and to understand and evaluate the pressures on the University and public officials from individuals and groups.

Lillard

Lillard, the other appointment named, is described by McHenry thus: "Dr. Lillard's great talent as a writer and his remarkable knowledge of Nevada will make him an invaluable member of the group." He is author of "Desert Challenge: An Interpretation of Nevada," co-author of "America in Fiction," and "Americans at First Hand," to be published by the Stanford Press this year.

Odegard

The former president of Reed, Odegard, was born in Montana, received his undergraduate training at the University of Washington, and his doctorate from Columbia. His teaching has been divided between private and land grant institutions: Columbia, Williams College, Ohio State University, Amherst and University of California, where he has been since 1948.

Dr. Odegard's principal scholarly contributions, according to McHenry, are in the fields of public opinion, pressure groups, and party politics. His doctoral dissertation was "Pressure Politics: The Study of the Anti-Saloon League" (1928). He was president of the American Political Science Association in 1951.

He is chairman of the department of history and political science at the University of California at Berkeley.

During WWII and after Odegard was called to serve the federal government as assistant to the secretary of the treasury, a consultant to the Atomic Energy commission, and member of the President's commission on Migratory Labor. He is a member of committees of both the Ford Foundation and the American Council on Education.

Book

Dr. Lillard's book, "Desert Challenge: An Interpretation of Nevada," has been described as an adequate interpretation of the state by faculty members at the University of Nevada.

Lillard is a teacher of English and American literature. He has taught in Montana, Wyoming, In-

Campus Parking "Rotten Mess"

"This mess is rotten," says Carl Horn, superintendent of grounds, in reference to the present parking situation.

This week complaints were received by Mr. Horn from the men who pick up the garbage. They were unable to take it away because of the obstruction created by illegally parked cars.

Several cars were towed from no parking areas on the campus to the student parking lot. Members who were in class at the agricultural building were asked to move their cars that were illegally parked in the rear of the building.

Parking is provided for students in the student parking lots north of Lincoln hall, the infirmary, and the old gymnasium.

473 Tell Blue Key "Get Money"

Limit Wins In Senate Fight

A one hundred dollar limit has been officially set for Winter Carnival decorations for 1956.

A one hour controversy at the Wednesday night senate meeting ended with a vote that reconfirmed a similar poll on December 14.

The controversy arose when senators from Pi Beta Phi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon questioned the earlier vote. They said that senators did not remember the vote having been taken, and that student opinion seemed to favor a one hundred dollar limit plus anything the organizations are able to beg, borrow or steal.

SAE senator Steve Dollinger moved that the latter policy be adopted, and the motion was seconded by Sigma Nu senator Mike Marfisi. However, in order for such a motion to carry, it had to get two-thirds vote to nullify the earlier polling.

The final vote was five ayes, and eight negatives, with four senators absent. Those dissenting were Pi Beta Phi, Sigma Nu, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Delta Delta Delta, and Senator-at-Large Margie Orr.

Beg and Borrow

The question arose after a subcommittee composed of alternate senators delivered a recommendation that the open policy be adopted. That group, headed by Sandra Mitts and Earl Hawley, had considered three alternatives, the two above-mentioned, and a wide open policy with no limit at all.

The committee was appointed shortly after homecoming when questions rose as to the legality of accepting large donations.

Senators pointed out this week that in order for the smaller organizations, including the dormitory groups, to compete a line must be drawn someplace. They said that these groups could not compete with gifts given by sorority and fraternity alumni.

Used Materials

The hundred dollar budget, however, will not include labor, mechanical devices, lighting, and the like. It will include all materials such as lumber, chicken wire, etc., even though such equipment has been formerly used.

A three man adjudicating board will be appointed to evaluate decorations at two stages in their construction. Such a board will consist of two men familiar with construction prices, and a member of the engineering faculty. Leroy Wilcox, Winter Carnival chairman, will serve ex-officio on the committee.

Les Brown

President Jerry Mann told the group that he has received a letter from a California booking agency informing him that Les Brown and his orchestra will be available for a University of Nevada dance on either Friday night, March 9, or Saturday night, March 10. Mann said that he had written a reply in preference of March 10, but that a final decision would depend upon what terms could be made with the group concerning finance.

Jim Taylor was introduced as the man to replace Chris Cufflin as senator from Theta Chi. Cufflin said that he is forced to resign because of other obligations.

Leadership workshop, planned as a follow-up to the September leadership conference at Lake Tahoe, will be held on Thursday, March 26. There will be three meetings on that day, the first of Nearly all of some 473 students questioned this week by Blue Key, felt that the university needs more money.

The poll was conducted on Monday and Tuesday in the form of questionnaires distributed in living quarters and in the campus snack bar. Students were questioned on a "yes and no" basis.

A total of 426 felt that not enough money was available to the university for growth and expansion. Nineteen thought there was.

Asked if they thought the university had enough money for present operating needs, 372 said no, 49 said yes.

Some 383 felt that there was not enough money for the university to meet their classroom needs. A total of 64 took the opposite view.

A fourth question asked students if they thought enough money was available for "the following facilities?"

Varsity sports—108 yes; 313 no.
Library—175 yes; 251 no.
Teaching aids—87 yes; 336 no.
Laboratories—64 yes; 332 no.
Student Housing (dormitories, married students)—46 yes; 339 no.
Dining Hall—145 yes; 262 no.
Classrooms (space, lighting, desks)—67 yes; 380 no.
Parking—82 yes; 330 no.

Needs Suggested to Blue Key

Physical Education — 211 yes; 202 no.

Pay scales to draw and keep adequate professors—41 yes; 396 no.

A space for suggestions was provided on the questionnaire form. Comments ranged from thoughtful to violent. Some of the more interesting suggestions follow:

"A better dining hall."

"... lack of specific vocational training and opportunities within general academic departments; advertising, personnel and social work, specific therapy training... the general education is there."

"Let's have some long term planning whereby developments can be organized with a definite idea of finances and need."

"New board of regents."

"Black top the large parking area."

"Find out where the present money is being spent."

"Engineering laboratories are especially short on modern machines and apparatus."

"Why build a southern branch when we're still going to English classes in temporary buildings? Gambling is a legal profession in this state, why can't the university accept offered contributions?"

"Contrary to the opinion of some legislators, people are going to get married. Without adequate housing, potential students will go somewhere else that offers housing for married students."

"Give the E. E. department... money to buy... a calculator, also new desks."

"Higher out-of-state tuition."

"Without money for needed expansion a university stagnates. The construction of one new building would be the first... in 14 years. The regents are not fulfilling the duties of their offices. Two regents are coming up for election, the election of competent men to these positions could further augment the inadequate money appropriated by the state legislature."

"... the board of regents should go to the legislature. Better chance than president."

"Added library facilities... a full-scale campaign to get more funds from the legislature."

"Raise the salaries of the profs."

"Cadavers needed for pre-med and P. E. students in anatomy and physiology."

"Need better dining hall feed without raising the board bill."

"Better caliber of professors—higher salaries to attract them."

"In high rent area like Reno, adequate student and married student housing is a must."

"Keep the problem before the state governor until action is taken..."

"Start a course in nuclear physics."

"... offer scholarships for athletes... to obtain and keep good athletes."

"Lower tuition for out-of-state students."

"... engineering departments are cramped for space."

"... give the speech department more funds."

"I think that our state legislators and board of regents have done a sadly inadequate job in the progress of higher education in the State of Nevada."

"Unfortunately, emphasis at the University of Nevada has been placed on social activities..."

"... Zoology department... we lack the proper classes for good training in major fields because of the lack of funds..."

"Business department needs complete revision..."

"Varsity basketball and track teams have had no new suits for four years... all too small... inadequate training rooms both in the gym and the field house."

"Need more professors... in political science and history."

"... tape recorders are badly needed in the speech department."

"... as a student I have no idea what kind of financial problems the university has."

"Money!"

"Lighting is poor in many classrooms."

"More money!"

"... more alumni contributions."

"Arts and Science needs a boost such as in occurring in the newly organized education college."

"Money... to clean the library roof."

"... at least one varsity team of national prominence."

"... our library is not as fully equipped a sit should be."

"Let some of the gambling institutions donate money..."

"The legislators of Nevada should wake up and realize that they must raise funds for the university immediately. Student housing is very important and there is no excuse for the legislature to ignore this issue..."

"Vds. necesitan mas dinero."

"The money they do have seems to be used very poorly."

"... pressure on the legislators through public opinion."

"Impeach Pres. Stout."

"... dining hall food... almost impossible to eat."

"... get a swimming pool."

"... more adding machines, I.B.M. machines for training."

"... more equal apportionment of money among the various departments."

Grades will be withheld from all of those students who have University of Nevada library books checked out after today. Reserve books must also be in today or strict fines will be imposed.

After today, lists of students holding overdue books will be compiled. If books are checked in later than the deadline, special permission must be granted by the library for the issuing of these student's grades.

If certain books are needed from the library during final week, special permission will be granted by members of the staff.

Rifle Team Wins 16 of 18 Matches

University of Nevada rifle team fired 16 wins out of 18 matches during the 1955-1956 season.

The only losses were to the University of Florida, 1930 to 1898, and the Dartmouth college by one point, 1415 to 1414.

Matches are conducted at the team's college range and the results are mailed to the opponent's coaches, thus the name postal matches.

Nevada's rifle team had a 1905.29 average for the 18 matches out of a possible 2000.

BARS STILL THERE

Advanced course ROTC students are still assured of commissions despite slight reductions in officers in the Army, Lt. Col. Robert Bereuter has indicated.

He spoke in response to a report last week which alarmed several students in line for commissions. The quota reduction will not affect those under the ROTC program.

Since this is Friday, the 13th, the Sagebrush is using black ink.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:
This past week the student body was asked to answer a questionnaire prepared by "students" for "use in obtaining more funds for growth and improvement of the University of Nevada." This, unquestionably, is a commendable goal.

But I find I must take issue with the implied assumptions, made by putting every question in terms of money, that the student has (1) an adequate knowledge of the University's budget, and (2) sufficient information to judge the administration of the current budget.

Of more significance to a State Legislator member might be a question like, "In your opinion what facilities at the University of Nevada appear to be inadequate and why?" thus showing that the students have actually analyzed their needs, instead of flippantly marking a check in a Yes or No column.

One last suggestion would be for the sponsoring organizations to include their names upon the questionnaire. Such an inclusion would have made this indirect communication unnecessary.

Sincerely,
FRED YOUNG,
Engineering.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

"One open door after another"

"That's how I feel about the telephone company," says Walter D. Walker, B.E.E., University of Minnesota, '51. "When I joined the company I felt that I could go in any direction. And that's the way it's been."

"For the first six months I was given on-the-job training in the fundamentals of the telephone business—how lines are put up and equipment installed. Learning those fundamentals has really paid off for me."

"Then I had the opportunity to go to the Bell Laboratories in New Jersey. I worked on memory crystals—ferroelectric crystals—for use in digital computers. I learned how important research is to the telephone business."

"After two years I came back to Minnesota, to St. Cloud, to work in the District Plant Engineer's Office. There I made field studies of proposed construction projects and drew up plans to guide the construction crews. This combination of inside and outside work gave me invaluable experience."

"In July, 1955, I came to Minneapolis as an Engineer in the Exchange Plant Extension Engineer's Office. We do forecasting—not of the weather, but of future service needs. Using estimates of growth and economic studies, we make our plans for the years ahead. We figure out where and when new facilities will be needed to meet future growth."

"All this has been preparing me for a real future. You see, the telephone company is expanding by leaps and bounds. That's why it offers a young man so many open doors."

Wally Walker's career is with Northwestern Bell Telephone Company. Similar career opportunities exist in other Bell Telephone Companies, and in Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. Your placement officer has more information regarding Bell System companies.

Editorial

Adios

With this issue the present editor is retiring and custom requires some explanatory remarks in passing.

Running the Sagebrush for the yast year has been a pleasure, taking all for all, and in many ways I regret leaving it. Inevitably, I have made several enemies in calling the plays as I saw them as well as a few friends whose cause I happened to defend. Neither the friends nor the enemies were made deliberately but were by-products of conclusions drawn from available evidence.

The editorial page never asked to be liked... it asked to be read. It did not try to command, only to stimulate. Admittedly it lacked dignity, literary merit, and was often troubled with grammar and punctuation errors. But it tried to be, above all, interesting and fair.

Criticism leveled at college editors is too often justifiably boiled down to the exercise of freedom without regard to the important noncomitant—responsibility. Freedom of the press is sacred, as far as I'm concerned, but it was not designed to destroy capriciously. If an editor does not use his freedom without fear or favor it should be taken away from him, and it will be. If he does use it, it should be used for the benefit of his readers and not for prejudiced ax-grinding.

Although at various times I argued with Dr. Jacobson, and Dr. Stout, deans, professors, the men's upperclass committee, veterans, language majors, a state senator, a city councilman, and a host of good people, I did not do so for personal reasons. And the letter to the editor column was always open to those who would sign their name. To be presumptuous at times is in line with an editor's duty.

As for the news policy, it tried to be exactly that. If a story was news, there was room, and if we had it straight by the deadline, it was printed. Simple. "That screwball will print anything" is a remark I'm proud of. Friendship came second, and only the rules of decency balanced against news values ever stopped a story deliberately.

This past semester students have had one of the largest Sagebrushes they have had for some years, largely because of the efforts of its present business manager, Hank Rilling. If you liked your paper then thank him for the space he gave the editorial staff. If you didn't it was not his fault.

The paper is left in good hands, those of Ken Robbins, whom you have met through his column, "Sideline Glances." He is industrious, talented, and, like all his predecessors in the editor's chair, has the ability to withstand a kick or an insult or two and get the paper out anyhow.

To dash the joy of readers at my departure, I hope to toss in an occasional "Out of the Brush" from time to time.

There is an old adage to the effect that every American considers himself competent to manage a baseball team and run a newspaper. This may or may not be true. But such a spirit is healthy and desirable found in any American... and particularly healthy in a college student.

As a final editorial admonishment, I trust that all Sagebrush readers will continue to be skeptical of college newspaper editors, of professors, of university presidents, of baseball managers or of anyone else who is supposed to be looking out for their best interests.

They don't like it but it is good for them.

Good bye. Working for you was a labor of love.

Dirty Bits

By SANDRA MITTS

I am sitting in my dreary room at the Tri Delt house, thinking of things that might be going on on the "outside." I have been sitting here since Monday night, and while you're reading this, I'm still sitting in that same dismal place, thinking about next Monday night, when the doors will open.

It's been a terribly exciting week! Thirty-five of us have sat here and looked at each other. We have nothing to say. We said it all during the first two days of the campus. Now we just look.

And while we look, we try each other.

"Is she the one who left the dirty dishes in the kitchen sink last Sunday?"

Have you ever been locked in a building for seven consecutive night regressing to the good old days when you could come in at ten rather than eight? Oh, it's delightful!

All of us have had plenty of time to examine our consciences. And I say this deliberately, for not only have we examined our own, we have examined everyone else's as well. And, boy, what we found out! If only Dean Mobley knew.

No doubt the only reason you have read this far into this column is to see whose name you will see this week. It's always such a surprise, isn't it?

Pi Beta Phi

Jane Richardson, Phi Phi pledge, recently announced her engagement to Darryl Pastrell of Reno. Darryl is a member of the varsity basketball squad at the University of Utah.

Letter TO THE EDITOR

Dear Patrons of the Arts

Bob Pearson

Paul Finch

Franz Schubert:

Sirs:

Received yours of the 6th via the editorial page of the 'Brush.' We welcome all such criticism as yours, as destructive and as shallow as it may be. Letters of the sort which you have sent us point up one striking contrast between the vain in which something is written and the light in which it is received.

At the outset, the article or column in question was humor. Its initial attempt failed if letters such as yours are any indication of the way it was taken. To accuse its author of an "abysmal lack of information" and hold it up as "an example of the many flaws in our educational system" was a gross error on your part. Below is a reprint of the statement at which you took needless offense:

"Beethoven never finished his unfinished symphony and the people were troubled."

There is no mention of a "Symphony No. 8, B Minor," as you so mistakenly pre-supposed. On the contrary, if you knew a little more about the field in which you have set yourself up as tin gods, you might realize it could have referred to Beethoven's 10th. This symphony, after his death, was supposedly finished from the notes left behind, by a certain Mr. Bach (of whom you have probably heard nothing) and labeled his 1st.

Had the column appeared like this:

"Brubeck cut out on his session and the cats flipped, and were bugged."

It is very doubtful that it would have been met with such condemnation, and you probably would not have heralded it as "an example of the widespread ignorance of the more aesthetic aspects of life." No, because it was about a classical piece in the original article it had immediate repercussions.

If you would use that smattering of knowledge and interest in the classics to advantage like Ted Foster, U. of Colorado, in drooling instead of ridiculous letter writing (see lucky doodle, page two), you might be looked upon other than with utter contempt. Using your talents thusly, we might use less space in the 'Brush' and you might be less eager to write letters about subjects you obviously are vague on, showing little more than your total ignorance.

TWO MORE ACCIDENTS AT 9TH AND VIRGINIA

Two more accidents at the controversial intersection of 9th and Virginia took place during the week, one involving two students.

A proposal to regulate the intersection with an addition stop-sign for southbound traffic and a warning sign on the reverse slope of the hill was referred to the state highway department Monday by the city council. The council also decided that a traffic count run by the city would be feasible.

Donna Burgess, 19-year-old education major, drove into the rear of an auto operated by Leonard Sperling, junior, when he stopped for a car in front of him Friday. Miss Burgess said the pavement was icy. Damage was confined to the rear of Sperling's car and no citations were issued. The cars were headed north.

Dell Smith of Black Springs stopped for a left turn and her car was struck by another southbound vehicle.

PANIWALLIS MET WED., WATER SHOW PLANNED

Paniwallis held its third meeting last Wednesday in the new gym. It is a new organization working towards synchronized swimming for a water show next semester.

Dr. Ruth Russell and Ed Curnow are heading the swimming club until officers are elected. Paniwallis is open to all students who are interested in performing in the swimming pageant.

Paniwallis, the name of an Hawaiian fish, holds its regular meetings every other Wednesday at Moana Hot Springs at 5 p. m.

45 Co-Eds Campused

Wild 2 Hours: Three Nights

Ten women were campused for three nights last weekend following two hours of noise and horseplay in Artemisia hall.

They were quoted as saying, "We don't care; we came to school to get our M.R.S. degrees, nothing more."

Hall President Patsy Terry refused comment Monday night.

The "party" began between 10:30 and 11 p. m. on Thursday, January 5. Women reported to be living on second and third floors were believed to be the instigators, according to hall officers.

Tin cans were rolled down the steps; fire extinguishers were removed from the walls and placed in doorways where unsuspecting women fell over them; roller skating in the hall ways awakened the officers, most of whom are residents of the first floor.

The climax was reached at about twelve thirty a. m., however, when the fire alarm was rung, and aroused most of the women who had thus far slept.

Welcome

Fire escape doors at the north end of the dormitory were opened and men were invited to enter the building. The men, according to reports, had flashing lights into the windows.

The first results of the escapades were posted on Friday morning when hall president Patsy Terry declared all women on the second and third floors were campused, effective immediately.

Rebuttals from innocent women on the accused floors caused the order to be changed so that the entire dormitory was then ordered campused.

Elaine Mobley, dean of women, voiced her disapproval of the action of the executive committee, and requested that the guilty ones confess.

Confess

Ten women appeared before the officers at 8 p. m., Friday night to declare their guilt. Their punishment was set at three days of campus, to include Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights.

Dean Mobley has written a letter to residents of the dorm, asking them to cooperate with their officers, especially in the coming weeks, when, she said, women will be attempting to study for final examinations.

SUNDAY SOCIAL

Tri-Delts were Sigma Nu's guests at a social Sunday night.

Volleyball was played at the new gym, after which the group returned to the Sigma Nu house for dancing and refreshments.

Pantomimes to the records "Sixteen Tons," and "Seventeen Tons" were done by Louis Porta, Ed Dollard and Don Sharp.

Bill Sprow, social chairman, was in charge of arrangements.

HOLSTINE SPEAKS

Dean of Education Garold Holstine spoke to the Minden Rotary club Wednesday concerning his recent Nevada school survey.

After the speech Dean Holstine visited the high schools of both Minden and Gardnerville. He returned to Reno Wednesday night by automobile.

Dirty Dishes: One Week

Monday night will be a wild one for the 35 women living in the Tri Delt sorority house.

The women have been campused since last Monday night, and have not been allowed to leave the house after 8 p. m.

The action was taken on Sunday, January 8, when house manager Patty Samon called a meeting at 11 p. m., and reported that dirty dishes had been left in the kitchen.

According to house rulings, the women fix their own meals on Sundays, and must clean up the kitchen when they have finished eating.

Warning

Patty warned the women that unless those responsible admitted leaving the dishes, the entire house would be campused.

Coraleta Feary, Jan Phelps, and Judy Hollister told the group that the dishes were theirs. However, upperclasswomen believed others had left dishes also, and said that unless all of the guilty ones confessed, the entire group would take the campus.

Silence

The women were silent.

A second meeting was called on Monday at noon in hopes that those who had formerly been quiet would now speak their piece. Each woman was asked to state at what time she had eaten Sunday, and with whom.

Still, there were no further confessions.

So, the earlier ruling stood.

The campus included seven days, with excuses given only to those women who were working in the evening.

Manzanita Bids Exceed Limit

Remodeling of Manzanita hall will be delayed further because bids were well in excess of the $178,000 available for construction.

The state planning board has turned down bids submitted by Frank Capriotti, W. H. Wine Construction company, and the Service Station Engineering company, both of Reno.

The board decided to refer the problem to a special committee composed of A. J. Lemon and Irving Sandorf, professor of electrical engineering, Reno members of the agency; George Bissell, the board's manager-engineer, and the Architectural firm of De Longchamps & O'Brien of Reno, which drew up the plans.

The group will attempt to find a way to reduce the plans so that remodeling can be completed with the funds available. The 1955 legislature appropriated $200,000 for the project, but $22,000 was spent in preliminary work.

If the committee is unable to come up with a solution, the board may decide to hold the construction in abeyance until the next session of the state legislature when an effort will be made to get additional funds.

BLOOD TYPING PROGRAM POSTPONED UNTIL FEB.

Campus blood typing announced through bulletins for Jan. 10, was postponed, according to Mrs. Norma Spaulding, secretary of the Washoe Blood Bank.

Representatives from the Washoe County Blood Bank were to type the blood of those who might want to become blood donors in the future.

Mrs. Spaulding said that a temporary shortage of technicians at the hospital forced postponement of the program to some time in February.

Fox Studio Silent On Shooting Date

The snow which covered the campus Saturday night caused no comment from Twentieth-Century Fox studios which was reported to be waiting for snow as background for a forthcoming movie. The movie, "Hilda Crane," was to have been shot on campus with university students as extras.

Studio officials contacted William D. Carlson, dean of men, last week asking for aid in securing 150 extras from the student

SIX LYON STUDENTS BACK AFTER SHORT LEAVE

Students attending the university who were in Yerington during the polio siege are again attending classes.

Last week six students who had direct contact with polio victims were sent home in order to prevent a possible outbreak of polio. Other Yerington students were under observation, but allowed to remain in classes.

The six students who were sent home and are now again in school were Harry Colliver, Roy Dohoney, Walter Looney, William Young, Marie Lommari, and Janet Mathews.

body. Recommendations of students for two minor speaking parts were asked of dramatics instructor, Dr. Asher B. Wilson.

This done, the movie men returned to Hollywood after informing Dean Carlson that the entire company would return after the first heavy snow. Carlson states that he has received no word since, though the men promised "to keep in touch."

Mrs. Adelaide Steiner, who took extra applications, states that the list is complete and all who have registered will be notified when shooting starts.

Jean Simmons and Jean Pierre Aumont will star in the movie, a story of a woman who returns to a college campus.

the First Beer Bust

OR

Why Plymouth Rocked and Rolled

1. NOTE: This is the first known use of the term "beer bust."

Once upon a time there was a group of cats who really went far out on a one way excursion canoe called the Mayflower. Now they were a mighty cool combo, but they had to go on tour because a square from Goonville who billed himself as King James I gave them the heel and they had to cut out on merry old England.

Anyway, they finally got a booking on the New World circuit in a spot called Virginia, named in honor of Elizabeth I for some reason or other.

This particular day some of the boys were cooling it on deck, quaffing a few tankards of brew when it was John Alden's turn to go for refills.

When he got below none other than a screen-tester named Priscilla Mullins was running the spigot.

"Make with the suds for Myles Standish," says John.

"I'll clue you, Dad," says Priscilla. "There's exactly one tankard left. Speak for yourself, John."

They split the tankard and John returned topside.

"Sires, I wish to report the beer is gone."

"Nutty, man!" they replied. "That beer is real gone. Give us another chorus on it!"

"But, you don't dig me, Sires" said J. A., "the barrels are empty. This bit is over!"

"WHAT?" shouted the elders. "OUR BEER IS BUST!! Turn this raft around and make it to Plymouth Rock. We're cuttin' out on this date as of now!"

And that's the story of how the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock instead of Virginia. And if you don't believe it you can take it up with our agent.

MORAL: You're missing the boat if you haven't tried the greatest. Next time you order beer, speak for yourself and specify Budweiser. Man, it's the most!

Phil Hannifan Reveals Delay in Stu. Union Progress

Phil Hannifan, chairman of the Student Union Board of Directors, revealed that the progress of the proposed Jot Travis student union building is being held up until further word from the State Planning Board and from the architects.

The building is to be constructed on the north edge of Manzanita lake. A total of $200,000 was made available for this building by W. E. Travis, a former transportation leader, and a like amount appropriated by the 1953 state legislature.

When bids were opened, all exceeded the amount of $500,-

000 making it necessary to trim the original plans.

Hannifan stated that little action is expected from the planners and architects until February.

Ferris and Erskine of Reno are the architects.

Compliment Paid To Guardsmen

"The best R.O.T.C. honor guard I have seen," is the compliment Maj. Gen. Riley F. Ennis, deputy commanding general of the sixth army, paid the Sierra Guardsmen.

The Sierra Guardsmen, honor company of the university ROTC unit, formed the honor guard for General Ennis at the Reno Municipal airport on Jan. 4.

General Ennis, who replaced Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor in Korea, as deputy commander, visited with President Minard Stout and toured the University of Nevada campus.

Military

The military department was also inspected by General Ennis, who found facilities "highly satisfactory."

The tour is part of the sixth army inspection of the military installation of the sixth army area

Model UN Group Said Enthusiastic

By Steve Dollinger

Assignments and a tentative study schedule have been given to a very enthusiastic group working on the Model United Nations.

One of the big problems, due to limited ASUN funds, is the raising of six hundred dollars to support the delegates on the trip, stated Earl Hawley, Model United Nations chairman.

Study Gina

The four topics given out for study were: geography, (economic limitations imposed and special limitations on land and climate); people and culture; government (character, politics, policy formation); foreign relations of Italy (foreign trade and foreign policy).

The A.A.U.N., a county and statewide United Nations group, will possibly donate from one-hundred to two-hundred dollars toward the raising of the necessary six-hundred.

Ethel

Mrs. Ethel McAllister, a representative of the A.A.U.N., told the committee that her group would send speakers to the committee and aid the students in their Model United Nations work.

She suggested that the students form a C.C.U.N., the college level United Nations organization that works in close cooperation with the A.A.U.N. However, the students felt that they wanted to work on the Model United Nations on their own as much as possible.

Gay Hanson and Earl Hawley, the heads of the student committee would like all interested students to come to the next meeting on January 31 in the senate room of the ASUN building.

Competition Held For Scholarships Given by Tri-Delts

Competition is now being held for one of two annual Tri-Delta sorority scholarships, with the competition ending on Feb. 25.

Applications for the national Tri-Delta scholarship are now available at the office of the dean of women.

All women students are eligible to apply for the national scholarship. No sorority affiliation is necessary, but candidates should be well-qualified students showing promise of being valuable citizens in their future communities.

Local Awards

The second scholarship, a local award, will be awarded at the graduation exercises in June. Mrs. Evalyn La Gasse and Charlotte Gleason, both unaffiliated, are the two previous winners.

Last year Tri-Delta, through the combined efforts of 99 local funds and the general sorority scholarship fund, assisted 173 women students. Awards totaled over twenty thousand dollars in 1955.

Since the beginning of the scholarship program thirteen years ago, over two hundred thousand dollars has been granted to 1,567 women students.

Winner of the national award will be notified by May 15, 1956, and the scholarship will be forwarded for use at the beginning.

He followed his heart and found his world

“You’ve heard it said that there’s more opportunity in America than in any other country?

“It’s true. But it’s hard to realize how true unless you come here from abroad. As I did, from Scotland.

“Now I cherish my homeland. But as in so many of the older countries, your life is pretty well laid out for you at birth. The odds are you’ll follow this path whether you want to or not.

“Well, I didn’t like what my future seemed to be in Scotland, so I quit my job and followed the girl I had fallen in love with to California. I got a job with Union Oil as a clerk in the Field department, and we were married shortly after.

“When I started with the company in 1925 we seldom drilled a well deeper than 4,000 feet. Today it’s not uncommon to go down 12,000 feet. Even drill under water!

“Better tools have made this possible. And created new opportunities. I’m now an Administrator in the Field department.

ANDERSON: “EVERY ONE OF THESE 30 YEARS I’VE BEEN DOING WHAT I WANTED TO DO.”

“But the important point is—every one of these 30 years I’ve been doing what I wanted to do. Our children have enjoyed the same privilege. Our boy’s a graduate engineer, now on active duty as an Ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve. Our daughter is a college teacher.

“That, I think, is the miracle of America: the chance it gives you to be what you want to be. And to live happier because of it.”

* * * *

Anderson is far too modest. His own hard work is obviously the first reason for his success.

But tools did help, and in the 30 years since Anderson joined us our investment in tools made available to our employees has increased from $22,000 to over $83,000 per employee.

So long as business competes for your favor it will continue to improve its tools. Which is another reason why there should always be more opportunity in America than in any other country in the world.

NEVADA DROPS 2 TO TOUGH SF

After leading for the first halves of two tough games last weekend with the San Francisco State hoopmen, the Wolf Pack was nosed out in both contests, 81-72 the first night and 75-69 the second evening, on the home court of the Gators.

With these two losses, Nevada takes on their toughest series of the season here tonight against the Olympic Club of San Francisco. One of the largest teams on the coast, heightwise, the AAU team from the coast is shooting for the national AAU title this spring. Last year they took the Pacific Association championship and third place in the nationals. Their season record is eight wins and no losses against Nevada's four wins and seven losses.

80 Point Average

The team's averaging over six foot, three inches, has scored an average of 80 points per game for a total of 640 tallies against their opponents' 442. Missing from the roster are last year's starters Ken-ny Sears, Ron Tomisic, Russ Lawlor and Jim Luscutoff.

Starting lineup for the Wolf Pack will be Hal Plummer at center, Roger Trounday and Jim Lyon at forwards, and Dan Sullivan and Ken Longero at guards.

During the series with San Francisco State, Jim Lyon led the scoring for both teams with 23 points the first game and led Nevada tallies with 18 counters in the second contest.

Last week's wins over Nevada gave the coast club their 14th and 15th straight wins in Far Western Conference play. The Gators have now taken the Wolf Pack in three straight conference contests this season.

Snakes, Taus Lead Race

New Record Set In Rifle League

A new record was set by Terry Katzer when he fired a 386 out of a possible 400 to lead the University of Nevada rifle team to its second victory in the Sagebrush league.

The other members of the rifle league follow leaders as follows: Fallon, 2893, Independents, 2872, and Reno number two, 2744.

Four Left

The league has four meetings left this season which makes picking a probable winner difficult at this time.

Bill Rusk of the university team is leading the league's individual average with 95.25 out of a possible 100 followed closely by Terry Katzer with 95.12.

Ted Contri Named Athlete of Year

Ted Contri, veteran Nevada welterweight fighter, was selected as Athlete of the Year by members of the Sierra Nevada Sportswriters and Broadcasters association in a meeting Wednesday noon.

Representatives of most of the sports departments of both papers and radio stations in this area picked the 20-year-old boxer from Elko over a field of five other nationally known sports figures from this region.

Ted, one of the outstanding fighters in the university ring history, was Pacific Coast conference champ in his weight and runner-up in the national matches held in Pocatello, Idaho, last spring. He will be presented with a framed certificate commemorating his award of athlete of the year of 1955.

Runners-up in the poll for the award included: Katy Rodolph, of Reno, member of the U. S. Women's Olympic Ski team; Barbara Bradley, Reno, holder of the Pacific Coast championship for the mixed doubles title; Dan Orlich, Reno, ex-Nevada football star who made the 1955 All-American Trapshooting team; Jimmy Metrovich, Reno, holder of the National Lefthanders golf title which he won in a tournament in Reno last summer, and Alex Cushing, Squaw Valley, whose efforts brought the 1960 Winter Olympics to Squaw Valley, Calif.

ATHLETE of the Year . . . Ted Contri.

GAME CANCELLED
The Fort Ord Warriors basketball team will not appear here as scheduled, Monday night, January 16. The game has been cancelled at the request of the Fort Ord athletic department, and, according to Nevada Coach Jake Lawlor, no explanation was given.

Dick Hughes Qualifies For Athletic Society

Freshman Dick Hughes recently qualified for the university chapter of Sigma Delta Psi, national athletic honorary society, according to the group's faculty advisor, Art Broten, head of the physical education department.

The former Reno high school track star took his place alongside the 22 men who have been members in this honorary since its inception in 1948. At the present time there are six athletes at the university who have qualified: Claude Mayberry, Albert Cooper, John Meter, Louis Hutchison, Bill Bowser and Dick Hughes. This membership is the largest in-school group in the local history of the organization advisor Broten pointed out.

One of Few

One of the few freshman to ever qualify for the fraternity, Dick completed 13 events in the required times to be eligible for membership, and had the grade standing to be eligible for varsity athletics. The qualifying events include: 100 yard dash in 11.6 seconds, broad jump of 17 feet, high jump of five feet, mile run in six minutes, 120 yard low hurdles in 16 seconds, football kick for 40 yards, baseball throw of 250 feet, 16 pound shot put of 30 feet, 100 yard swim in 105 seconds, a handstand and handspring, a fence vault at chin height, and a 20 foot rope climb in 12 seconds.

Qualifications may be passed at any time during undergraduate work, Broten explained, and each event may be passed on separate occasions. The three hardest tests for the tryees to pass seem to be the rope climb, the swim, and high jump, according to the records. A record is kept of each man that tries out for Sigma Delta Psi and of each event he tries for or qualifies in.

First UN Member

First member at the university was Ted Ensslin, Wolk Pack footballer and trackman, in the late forties. He was one of the first of 800 to tryout for the society since 1948. Those events, aside from swimming, that can be passed inside, include the handstand, handspring, rope climb, and fence vault.

Qualifications for these events are held every Thursday from 4-5:30 p.m., in the new gym.

Nevada May Play New Air Academy

Football fans may have an opportunity to see one of the nation's future gridiron powers in Nevada's Homecoming game next October.

At the present time, Athletic Director Art Broten and Colonel Whitlow of the Air Force Academy are trying to tie up a contract calling for one game to be played between the Wolf Pack and the new "West Point of the Air."

"They want a guarantee that amounts to about three times as much as our budget will allow us to make," stated Broten, "but they want very much to come out here and there is a possibility that we can work out a deal."

Five Home Games

The Pack plays five of its eight game schedule at home next season. The possible game with the Air Force Academy would be the third game.

The new academy, coached by former Nevada and San Francisco '49er mentor, Buck Shaw, played a seven game schedule last season against junior colleges and freshman teams. Strictly a sophomore club this season, the school is scheduling junior colleges and colleges who have de-emphasized football. National sportswriters have forecast that the Falcons will be among the major powers by 1960.

The game, if arranged, will be quite a homecoming for opposing coach Shaw. He came to Nevada in 1922 as line coach and his line was a principal factor in holding California's great team of 1923 to a scoreless tie. Shaw moved to North Carolina State in 1924 but was back with the Pack the following year as head coach. He held the top job here through the 1929 football season.

Schedule

The schedule for the 1956 season is listed below:

September 22—Idaho State at Pocatello.

11 Ski Teams Accept Invite To Carnival

Eleven of thirty-one ski teams have accepted invitations to attend the U. of N. Winter Carnival to be held February 8 to 12.

Acceptances to date are: University of Colorado, University of Denver, University of California at Berkeley, University of California at Los Angeles, University of Utah, and Oregon State college.

Others are: University of Michigan, Washington State college, University of Idaho, Whitman college, and Arizona State college.

LeRoy Wilcox, Winter Carnival chairman, expects to have about 17 visiting ski teams.

Chevs Purchased For Aggie Staff

John R. Bertrand, dean of the College of Agriculture, said that the state recently bought five 1956 Chevrolets for the use of his staff, but that he still prefers to ride in his powerful straight-8 1930 Studebaker.

In the past years cars had been bought and assigned to members of the staff but starting July 1, 1956, all the old cars traded in for new ones will be kept in what is to be called a College of Agriculture car pool.

By this method any member of the staff will be able to check out a car whenever it is needed for official business.

Dean Bertrand says that the pool method has been successfully tried by several Western universities.

Ceramics, Hobbies Club Meet Feature

A talk on ceramics by Edward Yates, acting chairman of the university art department, and a 24-piece hobby exhibit were the features of a recent Women's Faculty club meeting.

Professor Yates illustrated his speech by showing the various types of clay, the temperatures needed to glaze the clay, and the properties of the different types of clay.

He pointed out that a ceramics hobby may be taken up at a reasonable price. A glazing kiln costs $25 and the cost of clay is comparatively low.

Second part of the program displayed the various hobbies of the women faculty club members.

New AG Quarterly Out This Month

The first issue of "Science in Nevada Ranching," a new quarterly published by the Max C. Fleischmann College of Agriculture, will be circulated this week.

The new magazine will present by-line articles by members of the faculty and specialist staff of the College of Agriculture, including all four branches, the Max C. Fleischmann College of Agriculture, the Sarah Hamilton School of Home Economics, the Agriculture Experiment Station, and the Agricultural Extension Service.

Article by Bertrand

The first issue of "Science in Nevada Ranching" includes an article by John R. Bertrand, dean and director of the Max C. Fleischmann College of Agriculture. In this article he states that the quarterly has been designed in the nature of a progress report to keep the Nevada rancher and homemaker informed on new methods and practices coming out of research.

"Al lthe teaching of the college of agriculture and beneficial developments of research are of no practical value until placed in effect upon the land," said Dean Bertrand. "We hope this magazine, to be used in the hands of Nevada's ranchers, will serve as one of the effective communication tools to such a practical end."

SCHOOL DANCE TONIGHT

"Friday the 13th," said to be unlucky, will prove just the opposite for some lucky pair who will be chosen Mr. and Miss Fortune at the Frosh-Soph sponsored All-School dance tonight.

Dancing will begin at 10 o'clock. Admission will be 25c for couples and 50c stag. Lawrence Brunetti's orchestra will play.

The dance is billed as "reverse" dance in that women will invite the men to it. It was not made clear who would pay for tickets and other expenses.

Compound Spread On Icy Walks

Eighty dollars worth of ice-melting compound was used this week to keep students from slipping on the icy areas on campus.

After a snow, the ground crew spreads the compound as early as possible on various areas until the snow can be cleared. Seven ground-crew men worked Monday to make walking safe after the week-end of snow.

No injuries due to falls on ice or snow were reported to the infirmary.
