THREE INVESTIGATORS CONFER WITH UN GROUP

Board of Regents Meeting Stops Collection of Student Union Fees

The five dollar fee for the proposed Jot Travis Memorial Student Union was not collected this semester as a result of action by the Board of Regents at a meeting on January 18.

A group of twelve students appeared before the regents and requested that the fee, which they said was collected unconstitutionally last semester, not be assessed again. The students pointed out that according to the union constitution which was approved by ballot last spring, the fee was not to be collected until the semester following the letting of bids.

At the Student Leadership conference held at Lake Tahoe in the early September, the students approved an earlier action of the regents to collect the money. At that time, it was thought that bids would be let in the near future.

The regents voted to allow the funds collected in the fall semester to remain in an operating fund for the union. Collections totaled about six thousands dollars.

Reprimand

Pres. Minard W. Stout read a letter to the regents from the State Planning Board addressed to the architectural firm of Ferris and Erskin in which the board said that current progress on building revisions was "unsatisfactory."

Ferris and Erskin, early this month, guaranteed that final drawings of the proposed union will be ready by the first of March.

The student group also offered their support as lobbyists at the coming special session of the Nevada legislature, and urged that regents attend a special committee hearing January 26 to seek approval of emergency university appropriations.

The board voted to travel as a body to Carson City to outline university needs at a meeting of legislative leaders and the finance committee prior to the opening of the special session on February 6. This action marks the first time in legislative history that the regents have appeared before legislators as a group to request university appropriations.

Journalist Takes Leave of Absence

Prof. A. L. Higginbotham, the chairman of the department of journalism, has taken a leave of absence from his teaching and departmental duties to recuperate from a recent illness. He is expected to resume his duties in the fall.

Two Reno pressmen are now teaching courses in journalism.

Jack Myles, '33 Nevada journalism graduate and owner of the Reno Press Service, is teaching the course in advertising copywriting.

HS Students Tour Univer. Campus

Sixty students from Reno high school were taken on a tour of the University of Nevada Tuesday and Thursday by members of Blue Key and Sagehens.

The students, majoring in education, agriculture, engineering, and arts and science, were given a general tour of the campus after which they visited the deans of the colleges in their interest group. The deans explained the functions and facilities of their respective colleges.

Members of the Sagehens who help in the tour were: Jan Chiatoovich, Helen Meader, Phyllis Crowder, Sue Humphrey, and Maria Anastassatos.

Representing Blue Key were: Dick Morrill, John Ingram, John Jepsen, Stan Draper, Earl Hawley, Chuck Coyle, and Don Lane.

Three members of the team which will investigate the University of Nevada conferred last week with members of the administration, deans, faculty members, and students.

Dr. Dean McHenry, head investigator, Dr. Peter Odegard, former president of Reed College, and Dr. Carlton C. Rodee, University of California faculty member, discussed the probe, which is expected to begin soon with Dr. Minard W. Stout's activities.

McHenry recently reported that the complete roster of investigators has been named. Members of the team are: McHenry, Rodee, Odegard, Dr. G. Homer Durham, academic vice president of the University of Utah; Dr. Arnold E. Joyal, president of Fresno State College; Dr. Richard Lillard, instructor and author, and Dr. Robert Burns, president of the College of the Pacific.

During this semester, the seven-man team is expected to visit the campus at intervals to interview administrators, deans, faculty members, and students. Early visits will be made to interview Dr. William Wood, academic vice president, and Perry Hayden, comptroller, it was announced.

Jacobson's Letter

The $25,000 investigation was ordered by the 1955 legislature following a letter they received from Dr. Alvar Jacobson, at that time a U. of N. sociology professor. The letter said that unless Dr. Stout were dismissed the University was headed for complete deterioration. He said that students and faculty alike were being mistreated.

Earlier uprisings at the University also contributed to the legislators' decisions. The firing of Dr. Frank Richardson, head of the biology department, by the board of regents in 1953 was reported to be one factor. Richardson was reinstated by the Nevada Supreme Court.

Breakdown

Dr. McHenry said last week that the survey team will be broken down, with each member looking into a specific aspect of the university. One of the members will investigate finance, another administration, another faculty, and still another students. He did not give the complete breakdown, however.

The survey is expected to be completed this semester, and the final report released following the November elections. Reasons for this, legislators say, is that they want to keep the university from becoming a political football.

of these fines.

And for the students who are struggling with ice on campus, Mr. Horn offers another bit of advice: "Walk."

TROPHY LOST

A sabre, presented annually by the military department to the woman chosen Military ball queen, disappeared from Artemisia hall last September.

It was described by a spokesman from the military department as having a gold hand guard on top and being encased in a chrome case inscribed with the names of past Military ball queens.

Anyone knowing where the sabre can be located is asked to contact any member of the military department or any advanced ROTC student. The spokesman added that no questions would be asked concerning the sabre's return.

March 1 Deadline Set For Union Plans

Final plans for the Jot Travis Student Union building will be completed by March 1, it was learned from Robert C. Poolman, university engineer, recently.

Bids for the construction of the building are expected to be let sometime in April or May of this year with actual construction beginning late this spring, Poolman said.

Bids were let last fall but the lowest bidder exceeded available funds by one hundred and forty thousand dollars, which necessitated the revision of existing plans and a cut in the building facilities.

Phil Hannifan, chairman of the student union board of directors, has stated that if the plans are not submitted by the March 1 deadline, the student directors will request that another architectural firm be engaged to draw up the plans.

Cuts

Following the first letter of bids, Poolman made a survey of the items that might possibly be cut from the building in order that the ballroom in the structure might be retained. Ferris and Erskine, Reno architects who drew the plans, advocated the elimination of the ballroom entirely.

Poolman met with the student board and presented his ideas of what could be cut in order to save the ballroom and the board voted to retain it. At a meeting of the board in December, this decision to keep the ballroom was reaffirmed.

More Money

At that point the architects asked for more money to redraw the plans. In answer to this, the state planning board sent them a letter in early January informing them that progress on the plans was unsatisfactory, and directing them to complete the work in the immediate future.

Parking Solution Becomes Violent

"I have reached the end of my rope," stated Carl Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds. "The parking situation has now reached the point that the only means of enforcement the students will recognize is that of a shotgun."

Horn suggested dryly that the university should set up drive-in classrooms.

Last semester more than two hundred parking tickets were issued to students, with student payments at an all time low. Mr. Horn emphasized that a student cannot graduate without payment

BEV RICKETTS HEADS PI PHI SORORITY

Beverly Ricketts was recently elected president of Pi Beta Phi, to replace outgoing president Audrey Bernard.

Other officers include Roxanne Miller, vice-president; Elaine Zeitlemann, treasurer; and Myram Borders, house manager.

Auxiliary officers for the spring semester are Lillian Johnson, pledge supervisor; Jane Richardson, assistant pledge supervisor; and Nora Kellogg, historian.

Nevada Debate Squad to Enter Five Tournaments, Griffin Says

University of Nevada debate teams will enter five tournaments during the spring semester, Dr. Robert S. Griffin, instructor in argumentation and debate, announced this week.

Griffin said that he expected to enter teams in the Linfield Invitational Tournament at Linfield, Oregon, Feb. 29-March 3; Regional West Point Elimination Tournament at Pepperdine College Mar. 8-10; Stockton Tyro at Stockton Junior College April 2-4; Pacific Forensic League Tournament at the University of Nevada, April 9-11; and the Northwest Invitational Tournament at the University of Montana April 19-21.

Eighteen debaters are now working on cases. Griffin states that he expects all of them to appear in competition. Bob Ballard and Chad Combs will be entered in tournaments as Nevada's first team, he added.

Others

Other debaters are Tom Ogg, Charles Fulkerson, Shelley Branch, Jerry Mann, Simmie Cooper, Don Travis, Steve Dollinger, Don Butterford, Paul Lippman, Merle Moss, Earl Hawley, Steel Houx, Bob Reader, Bob Faiss, Dennis Smith, and Barbara Cavanaugh.

The debate question for the year is "Resolved: That workers in non-agricultural industries should have a guaranteed annual wage." Debaters are preparing for oratory, extemporaneous, and individual competition.

Dr. Griffin, who is now serving as president of the Pacific Forensic League, will accompany all teams as coach.

Stout Receives AAUP Report

A preliminary report of the investigation of the University of Nevada, conducted by the American Association of University Professors, was received recently by Pres. Minard W. Stout.

Stout said that the AAUP requested comment and recommendations for correction of error, if any. However, he said the university's copy of the report is confidential.

The AAUP sent an investigating team to Reno last spring to investigate conditions here. The action was an outgrowth of the 1951 firing of Dr. Frank Richardson on charges of insubordination. Richardson was later reinstated on orders of the Nevada Supreme Court, to which the professor had appealed the action.

The final report on the university is not expected to be released by the AAUP until after the association's national convention in April.

Two Top Coaches To Head Clinic

Two nationally known coaches will head the coaching clinic held on the Nevada campus. Bud Wilkenson, head football coach from the University of Oklahoma, and Adolph Rupp, director of athletics at the University of Kentucky. The clinic will be held from June 18-23.

Wilkenson's team last year was first in the nation. They beat Maryland, second-ranked, in the Orange Bowl on New Year's Day. Wilkenson was later voted Coach of the Year by sports writers throughout the nation.

Adolph Rupp will head the basketball staff at the clinic. His many championship teams at Kentucky have made him nationally known. His teams have been high in standing many times and first in national ratings on several occasions.

In the three years the clinic has been operated, the guest coaches have been the top men of that year.

The first coaching clinic held in 1954 had the famous coach from Maryland, Jim Tatum, and Phog Allen from Kansas, a nationally known figure in the hoop game.

In 1955 Hank Iba, from Oklahoma A&M was the head coach for basketball, while Red Saunders from UCLA was the football coach.

"This year for the first time since the clinic started we are going to try and have a track coach here," said Art Broten, athletic director. They do not know yet who that will be.

Another nationally known figure in the world of sports is Mr. Logan, a famous trainer, will also be present at the clinic.

First Senate Meeting of New Semester Covers Carnival and Future Plans

Newly elected student senators attended their first meeting last week and discussed everything from the Winter Carnival to Nevada's Little United Nations delegations.

Novice senators at the meeting included: John Meter, ATO; James Taylor, Theta Chi; Bob Faiss, Lambda Chi; John Ingram, Sigma Nu; Lillian Johnson, Pi Phi; and Lloyd Whalen, Lincoln hall.

Jerry Mann announced recently that President Minard Stout would attend the next senate meeting and stated that students wishing to ask questions could attend the meeting or submit their questions in writing, with their names signed to them, to any member of the student senate or to the ASUN secretary, Pat Cordes.

The senate was asked by ASUN president Jerry Mann to encourage their respective groups to give all the help possible toward making this year's carnival a success. He pointed out that workers would be needed to pack the slopes for the slalom event, in particular.

Assembly for the carnival will feature the Lancers, a well known singing quartet. Bob Faiss, assembly committee chairman, predicted the assembly would be one of the best of the year.

Mann read a letter to the Senate from a booking agency regarding the services of Les Brown at a "Big Name Band" dance. A roll call vote was taken for senate approval. Gamma Phi Beta, Theta Chi, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon were opposed.

A report of Blue Key plans was offered by president Dick Morrill. Blue Key plans to make the University better known to high school students in Nevada by sponsoring "visitations and a high school seniors day."

The "High School Seniors Day" will be held Saturday, April 14 in connection with Aggie Club Day.

Engineers labs will be open. The Pacific Forensic Conference will hold debates then. WUS Carnival will be presented Saturday night. Besides the high school seniors there will be a large delegation of boys attending the Future Farmers of America convention here.

Don Travis, president of the Aggie Club, reported on his club's celebration. The annual Western Ball will occur April 13. Following there will be a barbecue at noon Saturday. That afternoon a rodeo, with 1000 pound steers ridden by men from each fraternity, will be presented. "Jeep Roping" and "Catch the greased pig" contests will follow this.

In response to a request for a WUS Carnival chairman, Joe Crook's name was submitted and approved by the Senate.

Buzz Etcheto, giving the high school presidents committee, gave names of those chosen to head committees and stated that the High School Presidents Day would be held on Mackay Day.

A levi "formal" dance was presented for Senate approval by Sundowner President Ralph Brinton and approval was given.

Earl Hawley, chairman of Nevada's Little United Nations delegation, said that progress was being made but that there had been a mix-up as to which country we would represent.

Dean Palmer Postpones Retirement

Dean Stanley Palmer, head of the College of Engineering, will not retire yet. A premature report issued on January 18 stated that Palmer had asked to be retired on June 30 of this year.

After a meeting between the engineering faculty and President Minard W. Stout, it was decided to ask Dean Palmer to stay on another year.

According to university regulations the normal faculty retirement age is 65, but in certain cases faculty members are allowed to continue for another year. Dean Palmer has had three of these continuances.

Dean Palmer graduated from the University of Nevada in 1909, received a Master of Engineering degree at Cornell in 1910, and in 1949 he received a Doctor of Sciences degree from Nevada. He has been a member of the Nevada faculty since 1915 and dean of the College of Engineering since 1942.

Salutation

I have been informed that a salutation is customary when new blood breaks into the position of editor of the Sagebrush. So for the sake of custom, it will be brief.

First and foremost, I feel that it is only proper to compliment Paul Finch on the excellent job he did during the time he held this position. He was responsible, editorially, for some of the biggest editions ever to be published on this campus and I'm sure that his staff will join with me in saying that his was a job well done.

As for myself, I have already been introduced in the column "Sideline Glances," and have been informed that no one wants to know me. I sincerely hope that that feeling is not general.

My plans for the paper itself are simple. I shall attempt to present the same caliber of paper you have been accustomed to under Mr. Finch's direction. I consider news coverage and presentation as the paper's first duty and I shall, of course, strive for completeness and accuracy.

My editorial policy has, in part, been previewed in my columns. Every student has a responsibility to this campus. If your actions as student leaders do not affect us politically or socially, your actions as individuals do reflect on us as a collective body. Any digression in that responsibility may be commented on. You, in turn, have the same opportunity concerning what I do.

People have approached me and asked if they could write for the paper. On a paying basis, this is impossible due to the lack of operational funds, but I would like to state that these columns are open to anyone who wishes to submit news or letters to the editor. My duty, as editor, is to determine what goes into the paper, not to determine who can and who cannot write for it.

Your letters to the editor are particularly invited. As many of you have been recently informed, our reading public is assured, and your views, whatever they may be, will be considered and printed if they bear your name.

Generally, it will be the Sagebrush's intention to work for and with the students in all phases of student interest, but on a strictly independent basis.

—Ken Robbins

Letter TO THE EDITOR

Mr. Ken Robbins, Editor Sagebrush University of Nevada Reno, Nevada Dear Editor:

At the recent meeting of the social calendar committee, Jerry Mann called this coming March 10 "the do or die" day for the students of the University of Nevada. In other words, we, the students, must make a success of the "Big Name Band" appearance at the University or we will never again be afforded such a privilege.

I do not agree with this opinion, and I offer in its stead an alternate solution, one which will be in accord with the average students' wishes, since he is already paying for it.

The ASUN Bookstore is a student activity, and must have been purchased with one purpose in mind—to benefit the student body as a whole.

Enrollment has increased at the University. More students means more book sales at the Bookstore. More sales should result in larger profits. Now, the Bookstore has shown considerable profit through the years, or the loans made for its purchase could not have been paid off. The loans have now been paid, and are no longer a drain on the profits.

I would like to pose this question to the students—why can't we now derive the benefits of this long ordeal of owning our own Bookstore? The profits are of a magnitude which would more than finance a "Big Name Band" appearance at no admission — or make a noticeable reduction in student book prices.

Sincerely yours, Walt Wiseman.

Out Of The Brush

By P. FINCH

Since the spring of 1953 the Richardson case has been refought and discussed a thousand times in the snack bar, the Wolf Den and the Little Wal.

It is rather old hat to many, a trifle passe.

But the years have slipped by. Of the students that were here at the time of the great cause celebre only the seniors remain—plus a few returning veterans.

So maybe a recapitulation in brief of the affair may prove useful to freshmen as background to the impending investigation by the state legislature and the awaited report of the American Association of University Professors.

As near as anyone can tell for certain Dr. Richardson and Dr. Stout fell out over two points: (1) The biologist distributed to the faculty reprints of an article by a Professor Arthur Bestor called "Aimlessness in Education" which deplored the decay of the old academic disciplines. (2) Dr. Richardson objected to the lowering of entrance requirements by the administration, permitting graduates of Nevada high schools to enter irrespective of other accomplishments.

It is understood that other issues existed but they are extraneous to this synopsis of the battle. It was upon these two actions basically that the ensuing bill of particulars rested. The professor and the president had a chat and subsequently a notice was sent to Richardson and four other faculty members to appear and show cause why they should not be dismissed.

Three of the professors recanted, a fourth resigned. Dr. Richardson pointed out he had tenure.

A hearing was held before the board of regent sin 1953 and a bill of particulars was brought against Dr. Richardson which amounted to a charge of insubordination. Testimony from several persons was heard of varying import. After a while his lawyers appealed to the state supreme court.

To partly convey the atmosphere of those days it ought to be added that a great deal of propoganda was being dispensed by both sides (it still is). It seemed that no one involved had the ability to be objective, even reflective.

In April of 1954 the state supreme court decided that the board had not shown sufficient cause to fire Richardson under its own rules of tenure. The court paid no attention to a possible violation of the illusive concept of academic freedom.

A tenet of academic freedom seems to be that individual professors have a right to speak their mind concerning the direction of education; and that at a land grant institution, they are unlike other state employees in that their training and experience enables them to evaluate their administrative superior's program with the impunity of a layman or private citizen. There is the opposite view that power to determine policy is

Letter to the Editor

Dear Ken:

Perhaps you might think it strange to put our inter-office communication in writing, but this is something that I feel must be put in writing, if not in print; and must be brought to the editor's attention if not the student body's.

Even though the special Winter Carnival section of this week's 'Brush' is the first time such a thing has been tried, it could have been much larger, and thus contained even more news and pictures of this gala event.

The reason the special section is not larger is the concern of this letter, the student body, and ultimately the welfare of future winter carnival and ski club activities.

What I would like to inform you of is the fact that the three largest sporting goods stores in Reno would not, "could not," advertise in our pages because of unethical practices on the part of students connected with ski activities on this campus.

These three sporting goods stores — The Sportsman, Coddling and Wetzel, Mt. Rose Sport-ing Goods—which get a tremendous volume of business from this university, and who have bent over backwards at times to help us, were literally stepped on and their hands tied because of a lack of foresight and chicanery on the part of individuals financing part of the recent "Ski Fantasy."

Regardless of the success of this year's performance, the fact remains that these potential advertisers have been alienated as far as future support goes. No matter what group of function goes to them in the future, they will be leary of them, and they have reason to be.

Their case is this. They were approached by a group of students that wanted these sports dealers to offer pairs of skis, at cost, for a raffle that had as its purpose money for this event. After all, this was just another event. The dealers were glad to help out on, and would not cost them any-the noncomitant of centralized responsibility.

In the spring of 1955 Dr. Alvar Jacobson, sociology professor at Nevada for two semesters, wrote a letter to the legislature claiming Dr. Richardson, back at his post by court order, was still a victim of discrimination. The legislature ordered an investigation.

And that brings the uninitiated up to the present.

thing—good public relations.

But after publicity was out, the ski-dealers were actually shaken-down to "donate" the skis. In the words of one of them "What else could we do but donate them?"

For one of the dealers, it completely wiped out his advertising budget for the entire month, and he could not back a small trophy of a silver buckle for a ski race, much less purchase a half page in the ski section of this newspaper.

This letter is not to call any of the persons responsible for the shake-down by name or condemn them, it is to bring their unfair, high-pressure tactics to light so that such will not take place again, because the entire university suffers when unethical practices are connected with it.

Aside from the crumbling confidence of advertisers and their inability to place ads and expand our format, the students will also find them unwilling to cooperate in other matters that are vital to the university.

Senior Histories Must Be In Soon If They Are To Be In 1956 Artemisia

February 15 is the deadline for sending senior histories to the Artemisia.

Information blanks for senior histories to appear in the 1956 yearbook have recently been sent to all graduating seniors.

Unless they are returned to the Artemisia, Box 9335, University Station, by February 15, they will not be printed in the yearbook, said Janet Quilici, business manager.

Any graduating seniors who have not received these blanks should contact Janet Quilici at 3-0781 or 3-6819.

Senior histories are summaries of the activities a student has participated in throughout his college years.

They include such information as sorority or fraternity affiliation, A.S.U.N. offices, honor organizations, scholarships or special honors, clubs or groups, sports, and other honors or activities.

"I take a job from scratch"

The Air Force introduced Forrest I. Hurst to communications. In 1953 he was Communications Officer at Lowry Air Force Base near Denver, Colorado. He was partially responsible for the communications setup of the President's "Summer White House," and in this assignment he met members of the local Bell telephone company.

"The telephone people I met," says Forrest, "were always helpful. I considered them the experts. They gave a very good impression of the Bell System. So three months before I was discharged I wrote to Indiana Bell for an interview, and subsequently I was hired as a Student Engineer."

Today Forrest is in Indiana Bell's Engineering Department, working with carrier facilities—the means by which a number of telephone calls can be sent simultaneously over one circuit.

Forrest is given the basic circuit and equipment requirements for a job. "My boss farms it out to me," Forrest says, "and I take it from scratch." Forrest does the complete engineering job. He writes the specifications, including wiring plans and the list of equipment for the job. Then the installers take over.

"I really feel that I'm contributing to the telephone business," Forrest says. "My wife does too. When we're in the car we get a kick out of driving by a job that I engineered. Nothing can compare with a career in a business that's growing as fast as the Bell System. It's the place to move ahead."

Forrest graduated in 1952 from Purdue University with an E.E. degree. His career is typical of those which exist in other Bell Telephone Companies, and in Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. Your placement officer has more information about Bell System companies.

Ski Club Donates Carnival Banner

"Welcome to the University of Nevada Winter Ski Carnival." Those are the words on the banner donated this week by the Ski club to the Winter Carnival committee. It will be displayed in the downtown area.

This year the "Ski Fantasy" show provided money for the Ski club to work with. In the past campus and hill decorations were bought only with money from dues.

Duties of the club during Winter Carnival include packing the hill, supplying gate keepers, and helping ski coach Chelton Leonard with anything else that might come up.

At present the Ski club has 209 members. Dues are $2 for new members, $1 for old members. The next meeting will be on the first Wednesday in March.

Veterans: organize.

BASEBALL TRYOUTS SET FOR THIS MONDAY

Baseball season on the campus will start Monday, February 13th, in the new gymnasium. All those who are interested in trying out for the team should meet in the gym at 3:30 p. m. with coach Jake Lawlor.

If the weather permits, Lawlor says, the group will start practice outside, but if there is still snow on the ground they will work out in the gym.

Macias Wins Bout, But Contri Upset

Sammy Macias, University of Nevada boxer, defeated the NCAA 119-pound champion in the boxing match between Idaho State and the U. of Nevada. It was the only win for the University of Nevada, which lost the match to Idaho 9 to 1.

Macias, undefeated this year and former Pacific Coast champion, met Bobby McCullom in the first match of the evening. Early in the first round McCullom shook Macias up with a strong right to the jaw, but the peppery little Macias shook off the blow to come back strong. In the second round Macias bulled his opponent around the ring and worked on his mid-section. They stood toe-to-toe and slugged it out until Macias uncorked one to McCullom's stomach which almost put McCullom on the mat.

Contri Loses

Ted Contri, second in his division in the NCAA last year, was upset in the welterweight contest by Ron Rahl of Idaho State. Rahl kept Contri off balance by keeping close to him and doing most of his fighting on the inside. Contri was unable to work combinations because of Rahl's style,

Five Teams Enter Candidates In Carnival Queen Contest

Five of the visiting ski teams have been selected queen candidates for the Sno-Ball Dance tomorrow night. Candidates will represent Sierra College, Modesto Junior College, University of Idaho, Stanford University, and also Whitman College.

Cecil Gayner

Blue-eyed, blonde-haired Cecil Gayner is Sierra College's candidate for queen. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Gayner who lives at 8536 Greenback Lane, Orangevale, Calif. Cecil is an 18 year old, 5'4" sophomore student whose major is physical education. She attended San Juan high school where she was a member of G.A.A. and president of the ski club. She is affiliated with Sigma Delta Chi and is active in sports.

Russell To Crown Sno-Ball Queen

The Sno-Ball tomorrow night will highlight the social phase of Winter Carnival.

The dance will begin at 9 p. m. in the Fable Room of the Mapes hotel. Bill Clark's seven-piece band will play.

The Sno-Ball queen, chosen from one of the visiting ski teams, will be announced. She will be crowned by Gov. Charles Russell who will be an honored guest at the dance.

Winners of the sorority and fraternity house decorations competition will also be announced during the evening.

Buster Sewell, dance chairman, stated that the dance is open to the public and that tickets may be purchased at the door.

She is a member of the ski club and ski team. She was on the F.W.S.A. junior national ski teams in 1954 and 1955.

Bea Bispo

Modesto Junior College queen candidate is Bea Bispo. Bea is 5'6" and has brown hair and brown eyes. An 18 year old sophomore student she is majoring in physical education. Bea is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bispo, residents of Modesto, Calif. She attended Downey high school where she was a member of the ski club, senior class secretary, song leader, rally committee chairman, and winner of the sportsmanship award at graduation. She is now a member of the ski club, women's recreation association, and senior Phi Gamma sorority. She is president of the Blue Dozen, song leading group, and was a queen attendant at the annual Modesto Jr. college 1955 basketball tournament.

queen candidate. She is 5'5" and has brown hair and hazel eyes. Lorraine's guardians are Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Choate of Seattle, Washington. She attended Roosevelt high school in Seattle where she was the ski club vice president for two years, won the ski team inspirational award, was senior chairman of caps and gowns, belonged to Girls club records and Spanish club, and was a roll representative for three years. Lorraine is an 18 year old freshman majoring in dietetics. She is a Kappa Alpha Theta, and a member of the women's ski team, home economics club, ski club, university singers, KUOI radio station, and the student activity committee.

Margi Meyer

Stanford University's queen candidate is 19 year old Margi Meyer. She is 5'1" and has brown hair and brown eyes. Born in Zurich, Switzerland, she now lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Meyer, in Seattle, Washington. She attended Garfield high school where she was among the top ten scholastically. She was a member of the girls' club advisory board, girls' ski team, secretary of the ski club, business manager of the year book, and an officer of the senior class. She was accepted to Stanford with honors as a chemistry major and is now a sophomore student. She is treasurer of the ski club and captain of the women's ski team. Rock climbing is one of her main interests.

Ann Leslie Bennett

Whitman College's representative is Ann Leslie Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bennett. Born in Montpelier, Idaho, she now lives in La Grande, Oregon. Ann is 5'8" and has blond hair and blue eyes. She attended La Grande high school where she was a member of the honor society, ski team, choir, dramatic club, Tri-Hi-Y, girls' league, student council, Oregon legion ski team, P.N.S.A. national ski team, and the northwest choir. She was also secretary of the ski club, president of the pep club, class secretary, Spanish club secretary, Winter Carnival princess, May queen, finalist in the Voice of Democracy and American Legion oration contests, and was chosen as the outstanding senior quality of her graduating class. Ann is an 18 year old freshman student majoring in music. She is a Kappa Kappa Gamma pledge, vice president of her section, and was chairman of the sub Christmas party. She is a member of the ski team, dramatics club, Whitman theater productions, and the choir. She was chosen queen of the U.S. Olympic training camp, Nordic and crosscountry, of 1955.

Voting for the queen will be at the Winter Carnival banquet to be held before the Sno-Ball Dance on February 11.

17th Winter Carnival Features 14 Entries

Fourteen ski teams are participating in the University of Nevada's 17th Annual Winter Carnival, now underway. Jerry Mann, student body president, stated that approximately 140 visiting men and women skiers have registered for ski events.

Competing teams are those of the University of Colorado, University of Denver, University of California at Los Angeles, University of California at Berkeley, Stanford University, University of Utah, University of Idaho, Sierra college, Whitman college, Oregon State college, Western State college, Washington State college, San Jose State college, and the University of Nevada.

The women's ski team at Modesto Junior college is also registered.

At the last minute, the University of Michigan, Modesto Junior college, and Arizona State college, were unable to attend. San Jose State college was selected to fill in for these schools.

Visiting skiers are being housed in the dormitories, fraternity and sorority houses, and private homes. Jim Dunseath and Helen Meader have been in charge of housing.

Start

Winter Carnival began with an assembly last Wednesday night in the new gym. The Lancers, recording artists, were the featured entertainers. Also on the program were student entertainers and the German band. Introductions were made of the visiting ski teams and queen candidates. Bob Faiss was director of the show.

At 7 p. m. on Thursday, a torchlight parade in which the ski team and university students took part began downtown and ended at the university. Students wore ski clothes and carried torches. Skiers were driven in convertibles which were provided by students.

After the parade, sororities held open houses. Each house was decorated for Winter Carnival and judging of decorations was done during the parade. Sororities provided refreshments and dancing at the open houses.

Today, from 8 a. m. until noon, ski teams registered for the events. The first ski event was the cross country which began at 1:30 p. m. this afternoon.

Torch Run

Tonight a spaghetti feed will be held at Sky Tavern. A torchlight ski run will highlight the evening.

The annual skier's banquet will be held at 6:30 p. m. in the Fable Room of the Mapes Hotel tomorrow night. Honored guests will be Gov. Charles Russell and Albert Seigal, president of the National Ski Association. Seigal will speak on the Olympics and what they mean to us. Each ski team will present some form of entertainment and the University of Nevada ski team will vote for the Sno-Ball queen.

Sno-Ball

The Sno-Ball dance will be held in the Fable Room at 9 p. m. During the evening, the winners of the best fraternity and sorority house decorations will be announced. The Sno-Ball queen will be crowned by Gov. Russell.

Ski winners will be announced on Sunday. Governor Russell will award trophies to the winning teams. Individual awards will be given to skiers placing first, second and third in each of the runs.

The National Broadcasting company will cover all races on the hill. It will also conduct personal interviews at the banquet and dance Saturday night.

LeRoy Wilcox is chairman for Winter Carnival, assisted by Jerry Mann and Chuck Harrison. He was also assisted by various committee chairmen.

Pack Holds Nod In Donner Meet

First three places in the cross-country event carried Wolf Pack skiers into a nine-point lead over Sierra college in the Fourth Annual Northern California intercollegiate ski tournament. The three event two-day tourney was held at Donner Summit January 14 and 15.

Nevada trailed Sierra by 16 points following the slalom and downhill events held the first day. Final contest of the meet, the jumping, had to be postponed because of heavy rains on Donner. As a result, final standings for the meet will be decided when both Sierra and Nevada finish the jumping event in the university Winter Carnival.

Ericson Wins

Harry Ericson, a cross-country specialist of the Pack slatmen, was the individual winner of the event, finishing the four miles in 24 minutes, 21 seconds. Nevada's Bill Long was second with 25:34 and Jim Gilbert, Nevada, placed third with 25.47.

Second in team standings for the cross-country was Stanford and third was Sierra College. Other teams that placed included UCLA, fourth; San Jose, fifth, and Modesto, sixth.

Takes Two

Friday in the slalom, held at the Sugar Bowl, Lewis Fellows, Sierra college, took first place with .85.2 seconds while Rusty Crook, Nevada, ran second in 90.3 seconds. Fellows repeated with a first place in the downhill in 79.8 seconds with teammate Bob Kolak second in 80 and Rusty Crook third in 82.9.

House Decoration Winners To Be Announced

FRATERNITIES DECORATE FOR WINTER CARNIVAL

Winter carnival fraternity decorations are more colorful and elaborate this year than ever before, according to visitors.

Making a determined bid for the trophy this year is Sigma Nu's "Time for Winter Carnival" theme. Pat Norris, John North, and Bill Eddleman are the committee heads.

Lambda Chi Alpha put much time and effort into their "Chi Tavern" theme to try to capture the cup from last year's winners, Phi Sigma Kappa. Gary Brock directed the work.

"Cool Zoo" is the theme of the Phi Sigma Kappa entry. Work was under the direction of Phil Collins.

Leap Year

Gary Luther, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, directed the house's "Leap This Year Into Winter Carnival" theme.

Theta Chi's hopes for the Winter Carnival trophy are placed on

COLORFUL ENTRIES JUDGED LAST NIGHT

Winner of the Winter Carnival trophy for the best decorated sorority house will be announced at the Skier's banquet tomorrow night. The banquet will be held in the Fable Room of the Mapes Hotel.

Judging was completed last night by a three-man committee selected by Joan Sawle, Pi Beta Phi.

Gamma Phi Beta

A twenty foot decoration consisting of an iceberg, a top, and a wolf dressed in ski togs is the Gamma Phi Beta entry. Slogan for the iceberg there is "It's A Cold Fact That Nevada Is Going To Be On Top."

The iceberg will have a spinning top upon it, and a wolf, symbolizing the Nevada team, stands above the top.

Arms, legs and torsos will appear frozen in the iceberg, representing the 14 schools attending the carnival. Red, green, and blue are the colors with the slogan being printed in blue lettering.

Tri Deltas

A Holland winter scene is the theme of the Delta Delta Delta entrant. "Vinter Velkome" is the slogan of the Dutch selection.

A windmill, which is covering the entrance of the house, is the main eye-catcher of the theme. Two ice skaters are located below the windmill. The windmill is blue, yellow, and white.

KAT

A snow castle will be presented by the Kappa Alpha Theta house. "Royal Welcome" will be the slogan of the 17-foot spectacle. The castle will be entirely white to give the effect of ice.

Pack Ski Team Is Previewed

By Dean Smith

Competition for the 17th annual Winter Carnival starts this afternoon at 1:30 p. m. with the cross-country run to take place at Galena Creek. This year's carnival, which started Wednesday and closes this Sunday, will feature a 14-man team featuring many of the leading collegiate skiers.

Approximately one hundred-thirty competitors are entered in the four-event meet. Every athletic conference in the west and the Rocky Mountain areas will be represented.

Strong Team

The 1956 Wolf Pack ski team is regarded as one of the strongest Nevada has had in several years. Heading this team will be coach and former Wolf Pack skier, Chelton Leonard.

Rusty Crook, team captain, looks like the strongest entry in the meet. Crook, a former ski letterman from Denver University, is Nevada's only four-way man, which includes the slalom, downhill, jumping, and cross country. Crook has also placed high in the two ski meets the Wolf Pack has entered this season. Downhill is his specialty.

Harry Ericson, in his first year with the ski team, looks like the squad's top hope in the cross country event. In the two warmup meets Nevada has entered, Ericson has placed a first and a third for the cross-country run.

Bill Long, member of the Army K-2 expedition in the Himalayas, looks like the strongest support to Ericson in the cross-country race.

Jump Skiers

Bob Autry, a freshman, has captured high places in the two pre-carnival meets, and is expected to come out well in the downhill and slalom runs.

Bill Thornton will be one of the leading jumpers for the Pack. Along with Crook, Thornton will round out a one-two combination in the jumping event.

Other Wolf Pack entrants include Jim Gilbert in the cross-country, and Lynn Johnson in the downhill and slalom, with his best chance in the slalom.

Jack Bosta, previously entered in the downhill and slalom, will not be able to compete because of a severe fall taken in practice last week. Bosta injured both knees and an ankle in the mishap, and will definitely not see any action in the carnival, said coach Leonard.

Women's Team

The Nevada women's ski team are favored in the eight-team women's team competition. Approximately thirty coeds will be entered for the Powder Puff derby which is a 40-gate slalom race. Possibly a downhill event might be run, said ski coach Leonard, but it is not definite as yet.

Official entry list for the women's ski teams is: University of Nevada, University of Utah, Whitman College, Stanford University, University of California at Berkeley, and the University of Oregon.

Barney Davenport, last year's Powder Puff derby winner, is back in school, and is expected to retain her derby title or at least come very close.

Cathy Zimmerman and Joan Smith, former Reno high school skiers, are definitely considered strong threats to Miss Davenport. Both women have been very active in the individual competition held weekly in the vicinity.

Also listed as strong candidates are Gloria Hanes and Beverly Reed.

Ideal Conditions

Tournament officials of the carnival have described Sierra snow conditions as ideal for the meet. A long spell of sub-freezing weather, deep snow packs, and packed powder surfaces have made running courses very fast, said tournament director and Wolf Pack ski coach Chelton Leonard.

Leonard said that he looks for outstanding speed performances due to the ideal snow conditions the courses provide.

Competition opened today at 1:30 p. m. with the cross-country race at Galena Creek. The race will be held on a six-mile course, closed to all other skiers.

Tomorrow morning at 10:30 a. m., the downhill event will be run at the Reno Ski Bowl. The mile and one half race is expected to be an outstanding highlight of the carnival, said tourney director Leonard.

Contestants will start from the 9600 foot rim of Slide mountain, dropping 2500 feet to the finish near the spectator area at the Petit Chalet.

First Heat

The first slalom heat will be run at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday with the second heat to follow at 3:30 p. m. The 40-gate course will be in full view of spectators in the Sky Tavern area.

Decision is still pending on the site of the final jumping events, slated to begin at 1:30 p. m. on Sunday. Official report is that the Galena Creek jump is in better condition than the one in the Mt. Rose bowl. However, spectator facilities are considered better at the Mt. Rose site.

The co-ed Powderpuff Derby will be held in the Mount Rose bowl at 10:00 a. m. Sunday. The race will be run down a 40-gate standard slalom course, and will be counted part of total team competition.

Coach Bob Johnson of Whitman College in Washington said the ski areas exceed any skiing ground in the Northwest.

Another to praise the Nevada terrain was Willie Shaefer, coach of the Denver University team,

or

(Who's Trying to Confucius?)

Many moons ago . . . around 600 B. C. . . there was a barkeep named Draw Wun in a little bistro off Times Square in Shanghai. Now this character's cashbox was loaded with loot, as Wun served up the greatest brew that side of the Yangtze.

"Murder," said Wun, one p. m. near 9 as the cats were clamoring for more beer, "I'm getting all shook up trying to keep gung-ho on the tap, take the cash, and figure out the change. I don't dig that math."

The beer Wun was crying in belonged to a calculus prof from the local U.

"Gad, Dad," sympathized the math man, "keep cool. I'll think of something. You can count on it."

So the prof rickshaved home and took a bath. Soon he was heard to shout, "Eureka!" (in Chinese, of course). He had solved the problem by inventing the abacus.

Next day he brought in a counting gizmo made of bamboo and cranberries. With this mechanical brain, Wun was able to introduce the time-payment plan, because one day a patron and Wun did this bit across the mahogany:

"I have a yen for two cold ones to go," said the customer.

"Sorry, friend, we don't accept Japanese currency," Wun lunged.

"I'm flat, cat," came the reply, "got a suggestion?"

Whereupon Wun played a few fast notes on his abacus, figured the terms of a loan for two beers and said, "Borrow one and carry two" . . . two terms still used in modern mathematics.

So you can see that's how Wun got a charge out of his abacus.

MORAL: When it comes to mathematics, you can count on an abacus if you want to. But when it comes to beer, figure on Budweiser. It's the best draught beer any side of the Yangtze. You can count on it.

Assembly Opens Ski Celebration

Professional and student entertainers were featured in the 17th annual Winter Carnival assembly held in the New Gym Wednesday evening. Captains and queen candidates of the visiting ski teams were introduced.

The famed German band, dressed in traditional German costumes, started the show with their specially styled songs. The Lancers, Coral recording stars, took the stage to present five of their recent record releases. They were called back on stage to introduce Nevada's women's ski team.

Charlie Myerson and Mayer Freedman presented guitar duets of "Lullaby of Birdland" and "The Breeze and I Mambo." Don O'Dell followed with a special ju-jitsu exhibition against Clay Darrow.

Rusty Ballinger presented "Hill-billy Deck of Cards" and "Blue Tail Fly" on his Spanish guitar.

"Suddenly There's a Valley" was sung by Jan Chiatovich, accompanied by the College Boys Blue. This group then took the stage for their jazz interpretations of "Perdidio" and "Night Train." They ended their spot by playing a jazz number as they walked through the audience.

Members of the group are Syl Azbil, Al Creel, Bill Azbil and Rusty Ballinger.

Al Creel followed with western drum interpretations. LeRoy Wilcox, Winter Carnival chairman, presented a schedule of events for the winter celebration.

Visiting ski teams were then introduced by Bob Faiss, master of ceremonies for the show.

Women's Varsity Team Formed at UN

Formation of the first women's collegiate ski team in school history has been announced recently by G. A. Broten, athletic director at the University of Nevada.

Six girls are listed on the varsity roster, all but one of whom learned their skiing on slopes of the Sierra around Reno. They are Jean Smith, Kathy Zimmerman, Gloria Hanes, Beverly Reed, and Nancy Hooley, all veterans of national junior competition, and Mary Ann Mears of Palmer, Alaska.

A captain has not yet been elected for the group, but according to a university news release, Miss Smith, a sophomore, and Miss Zimmerman, a freshman, both former junior champions, will be leading the team. Both of the girls, said the release, are being groomed as Olympic hopefuls.

Coaching the squad this year on an unofficial and voluntary basis is Gordy Wren, former U. S. Olympic ski team member and national men's jumping champion. Wren is presently directing Reno's Junior Ski program.

The new Nevada co-ed varsity is tentatively scheduled to compete in five Western meets this season, the first being the University of Nevada Winter Carnival this weekend. Other meets include the Tressider Memorial Race at Badger Pass, Yosemite, Feb. 24-26; the Vanderbilt Cup races at Squaw Valley, Mar. 9-11; the National Downhill and Slalom combined races and the Alexander McFadden Memorial Races at Squaw Valley, April 6-8; and the Silver Dollar Derby at Reno Ski Bowl, April 14-15.

According to the recent announcement, the co-ed team has received departmental approval to represent the university as a varsity team. Where intercollegiate team competition is not available in the above schedule, the team members will race individually but as representatives of the university, the announcement said.

They will not receive varsity letters this year because of late organization and lack of organized competition, the announcement reads, but if the women's ski program is successful they will have an organized meet schedule next season and team members will receive their Block N letters for intercollegiate competition.

Invitations have been issued by the university to schools of the west to enter women's squads for team competition in all future collegiate meets, the announcement stated.

FIVE MEMBERS of the University of Nevada's Women's Varsity ski team pose with Jean Pierre Aumont, star of the film "Hilda Crain," parts of which were recently filmed on the Nevada campus. The women are members of the first women's varsity ski team in the history of the school.

Students Win Skis At 'Ski Fantasy'

Three University of Nevada students were winners of skis at the Ski club's recent "Ski Fantasy." Winners were Laura McPhee, Chuck Harrison, and George Patterson.

A movie on the 1952 Olympics was shown, and a fashion show featured ski clothes modeled by university students.

Carnival Featured In National Story

Nevada's Winter Carnival, for the first time since its inception, is currently featured in a national sports magazine, Time Inc's Sports Illustrated. The issue containing the story appeared on the newsstand this week.

A five-page spread is featured on the annual Carnival with four pages in color, depicting scenes from last year's celebration. Pictures cover the five-day event from the opening competition to jumping held on the last day.

Included in the colored photos are scenes from the downhill and slalom events, as well as colorful pictures of the university's German band.

Noted for being the biggest and oldest winter celebration in the Far West, Nevada's Winter Carnival is now gaining nationwide recognition as evidenced by recent national sports coverage.

"Though Reno . . . is better known for its slot machines . . . at carnival time it is the German band, the Sno-Ball, the slalom, and the downhill . . . that hold the attention of the visitors," Sports Illustrated comments.

Denver Favored For Meet Honors

Denver University's national champions again loom as favorites to win top honors in the University of Nevada's 17th annual Winter Carnival this weekend.

Pre-tourney speculation has picked Denver for the favorite's role in team competition of the 15-team tourney, expected to draw some 130 leading collegiate skiers to the nearby Sierra slopes.

The Denver squad, NCAA national champions in both 1954 and 1955, is led by three seasoned veterans: John Cress of Granby, Colo., Dave Shaw of Stanley, Ida., and Henning Arstal of Moss, Norway.

Last year, Shaw and Cress were ranked second and third in national four-way competition, and Arstal has been a slalom sensation in competition so far this year.

Denver is by no means the heavy favorite, however. University of Colorado, who nearly upset Denver at the Aspen Intercollegiate competition this year, Washington State College, and University of Idaho, both of whom are spiked with Norwegian transfer students, are three of the strongest Winter Carnival entries.

Michigan Drops Carnival Entry

University of Michigan's strong ski squad has dropped its entry in the 17th annual University of Nevada Winter Carnival, it was announced recently.

LeRoy Wilcox, student carnival chairman, said he had been informed by the Michigan team that four of its varsity skiers had been declared ineligible for competition this season. Wilcox added that he had been notified that the four ineligible skiers were all freshman transfer students from Scandinavian countries.

Elimination of the Michigan squad cuts the Winter Carnival team roster to 15 teams: University of Colorado, Denver University, University of California, UCLA, University of Utah, Oregon State College, University of Idaho, Washington State University, Arizona State College, Stanford, Whitman College, Modesto JC, Sierra College at Auburn, Calif., and the host Nevada team.

Wolf Pack Faces Rugged Weekend Against League-Leading Humboldt

The University of Nevada Wolf Pack will take on the Humboldt State Lumberjacks in conference competition tonight and tomorrow night.

The Pack now has a season record of six wins against ten losses.

The Wolf Pack sweep of the Chico series last weekend left Nevada with two wins and two losses in Far West Conference play.

NEVADA center Harold Plummer rises into the air midway thru a hook shot while Dan Sullivan, 25, and Jim Lyon, beyond Sullivan, look on, in the second game with Chico. Nevada swept the series.

Humboldt, says Nevada coach Jake Lawlor, is definitely the team to beat. They hold wins over San Francisco and lead the conference.

"Our boys showed they could play good ball last week against Chico," said Lawlor, "and if they continue to hold their own we will be right up there in the top bracket."

High Scorers

In the first Chico game the Wolf Pack won by a lopsided score of 82 to 57, although the first half was very close with the lead changing hands several times. Nevada's attack was headed by high scorer for the evening, Jim Lyon, and Dan Sullivan, and Kenny Longero. Lyon scored eight field goals and put in four charity shots for a net score of 20 points. Sullivan and Longero both scored 17 points.

Little Bobby Ferrari played one of his finest games to date on both offense and defense. He repeatedly stole the ball from opposing players.

In the second contest it was again Nevada coming out on top, 63-49. As in the first contest the game was close but a second half spurt by Nevada pulled them into the lead and left them victors at the final buzzer.

Nevada will again act as host in the coming series with Humboldt. The game will begin at 8:30 p. m. in the University of Nevada gymnasium.

Glovemen Travel To Louisiana St.

The University of Nevada boxing team left last night by airplane for Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge. They arrived today about noon.

The boxing team of Louisiana State is rated up in the top teams of the nation. They are rated very close to Idaho State, first or second in the nation, who beat Nevada last week by winning nine out of ten bouts. Nevada's only win was fought up by Sammy Macias.

Members of the boxing team making the trip are: Sammy Macias, Don Kitts, Richard Short, Kieth Ernst, Ted Contri, Mike Marfisi, Larry Damon, Bill Griggs, Charles Smith, Bob Genasci, and Coach Jimmy Olivas.

The University of Nevada team boasts a one win, one loss record to date. They beat Cal-Poly, Pacific coast champions last year, by a score of five to three. The outcome of the match depended on Genasci's win. If Genasci had lost it would have tied up the score.

Sammy Macias, Mike Marfisi, Kieth Ernst, Bob Genasci and Ted Contri, all came out winners in the first match of the year against Cal Poly.

In the other match Nevada came out on the short end with Idaho winning nine to one.

'56 FOOTBALL CALL
Football coach Gordon McEachron called a meeting for all men interested in participating on next years football team. McEachron said that it is very important that all students that played in last years varsity or junior varsity team or anybody interested in playing in next years squad, report to him at 12:30 p. m., Thursday, Feb. 16.

Stout Tells Plight Of UN to Solons

The financial plight of the University was told to the State lawmakers in Carson City January 26 by Dr. Minard Stout.

Dr. Stout, who appeared at a joint session of the Senate Finance committee and the Assembly Ways and Means committee, was supported by a 26-page booklet compiled and published by the University administration.

The booklet showed that enrollment had increased 43% between 1953 and 1955, while the faculty had only increased 15% and appropriation 10% during the same period.

The national average faculty-student ratio is 1 to 12, the administration booklet says. At Reno the ratio is 1 to 16, and in Las Vegas, 1 to 21. Nevada South-

STUDENT CARDS A MUST FOR GAME ENTRANCE

Art Broten, director of physical education and health, announced this week that it is necessary for students to have their student body cards in order to gain free admission into any athletic contest.

Students have attempted to get into the games without cards and have been turned away by the men on the doors. "It is for the students own protection that we must require a student body card for admittance to a game," Broten said.

Student body cards can be picked up at the ASUN building at the bottom of the hill on University Avenue.

ern has increased 680% from Fall 1953, to Fall, 1955.

The purpose of the booklet was to supply a quick breakdown of the University's financial status for the legislators.

Greeks Elect Spring Officers

Elections and installations have dominated the activities of the fraternities since the turn of the year.

Sigma Nu elected Bob Jones who succeeded Dan Sullivan as president. Also elected to the spring term were Mike Marfisi, vice president; Ted Hunnewell, treasurer and Louis Porta, social chairman.

Gary Brock will lead Lambda Chi Alpha this semester, replacing Stan Draper. Other new officers include Bill Schroeder, vice president; Harvey Neill, secretary; Powell Booth, treasurer; and Bob Faiss, social chairman.

Re-elected and installed as president of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house for a second term was John Etcheto. The rest of the installation included Ed Alvarez, vice president; Stewart Hampton, treasurer; Bill Adams, secretary, and Robert Petroni, social chairman.

Phi Sig

Phi Sigma Kappa announced the results of their election as follows: George Evans to succeed Bob Pearson as president; Moustafa Shishakly, vice president, and Bob Hemphill, secretary.

Bob Scott was successful in his bid as president of the ATO house for the spring term, replacing Roland Westergard. Sam Beeghly will serve as secretary and Don Travis as treasurer.

INTRAMURAL MEET

The Intramural Ski meet will take place Feb. 19, Chet Scranton, intramural supervisor, said today.

The meet will consist of a cross country race, a slalom race, and giant slalom.

Fraternity Pledges Make The Grade

Sigma Nu pledges almost broke a long standing record when thirty of the original 47 made their grades this year. This percentage has only been exceeded once in the Nevada chapter's history, which extends back to 1914.

It was a great disappointment at the Lambda Chi Alpha house when only 11 pledges made grades. "We are leading in the race for new pledges this second semester," was the comment made by Bob Faiss, newly elected social chairman.

A slight improvement at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house was noted when 12 pledges from the original 25 made their grades.

Alpha Tau Omega pledges presented a more pleasing record when over fifty per cent of the original fifty pledges made their grades.

Theta Chi has not been able to compute their pledge grade standings yet.

Women Officers Explain Training

Marine Capt. Rosalie Crites and Navy Lt. Barbara Sullivan will visit the University of Nevada on Thursday and Friday, Feb. 16 and 17, for the purpose of providing information on the women officer training programs of the Marine Corps and Navy to interested students.

The women officers will be located at the Y.W.C.A. headquarters in the basement of Stewart hall.

Undergraduates are eligible to enroll in the women officer program, train during summer vacations from college, with pay, and receive a commission upon graduation from college. At any time during the training course, a candidate may be released at her own request.

For additional information, interested students are invited to contact the service representatives.
