Pay Increases Not To Be Flat Rate Stout Declares

"Faculty pay increases will not be made straight across the board," said Dr. Minard Stout, president of the University of Nevada. The salary increases will be allocated on the basis of the "evaluation rating" done by the deans of individual colleges.

After the Nevada state legislature appropriated $619,223 for University of Nevada faculty salaries, the deans of the colleges met to start the ball rolling. Each dean will receive reports from department heads as to evaluation of faculty members in that department. The deans will in turn report to Dr. William Wood and Dr. Minard Stout. The deans will also be evaluating the faculty members.

"My main concern is that the departments stay within their budgets," said Dr. Stout, "and that they have some pattern for its distribution."

Full Time

Dr. Stout said full time professors on the University of Nevada campus are now receiving 33 per cent less than most northwestern colleges. They are receiving 25 per cent less than the California state colleges. The associate professors are 18 per cent below, the assistant professors are 12 per cent below, and the instructors are 22 per cent below the California state college salaries.

Dr. Stout said theoretically no instructor should be receiving less than five thousand a year. He also said he hopes to have about ten thousand as the maximum salary.

Thirty six new faculty members will be on campus next fall, said President Stout, but few if any will be full time professors.

Union Plans

Preliminary plans on the Jot Travis Student Union Building will be submitted to the State Planning Board for approval on March 5, stated Robert Poolman, university engineer.

Phil Hannifan, president of the student union, stated recently that if these plans were accepted by the planning board, final plans should be ready by the middle of the month.

Hannifan went on to say that if this schedule was realized, the letting of bids this June might be possible.

MUNK PLEDGES PI PHI

Deanne Munk, second-year freshman from Lovelock, recently pledged the Pi Beta Phi sorority. This addition gives the Pi Phi house 19 pledges for the coming semester.

University Investigation Plans Made, Talks Start

Preliminary planning of the study of the University of Nevada has been completed and members of the team are now doing field work and interviewing, according to Dr. D. E. McHenry, survey director.

The investigation of the university was authorized by the 1955 legislature, which appropriated $25,000 to pay the costs, after it was requested by Dr. Minard Stout and the Board of Regents.

Dr. McHenry has selected a six-man team to assist him in the study. Each consultant has been assigned to a particular problem or sector of the university for analysis and report.

Team members will visit university installations and public officials in various parts of the state during the Spring and Summer months and their report writing will take up most of July or August, according to Dr. McHenry.

Drafts of reports on each problem will be circulated among team members for criticism and reconciliation of differing viewpoints, the survey director said, and the team will meet in early September for final review of the report.

Report to Legislature

The report is to be delivered to the Nevada Legislative Commission not later than next October for printing and submission to the 1957 session of the legislature.

Dr. McHenry said the final report will contain a factual account of the condition of the University of Nevada and recommendations for its improvement.

He said the Legislative Commission, which was delegated the authority by the 1955 legislature to choose a survey director, had given the director "full discretion to conduct the inquiry, without external control, according to the highest standards of fairness and professional integrity."

Team Members

Following are the survey team members to date, listed with their assignments:

Dr. Peter H. Odegard, former president of Reed College, who will be concerned with university organization, including the interrelationships of the legislature, the governor, the regents and the university president.

Dr. G. Homer Durham, vice president of the University of Utah, will deal with internal administration and state-wide development, covering such matters as budgetary controls, deanships, department headships, libraries and graduate work.

The student services portfolio, undertaken by Pres. Robert E. Burns, of the College of Pacific, embrace admissions, alumni, athletics, student government, student union, dormitories, food service, health, and placement.

Faculty Probe

Dr. Carlton C. Rodee, vice chairman of the senate of the University of Southern California, is in charge of faculty, and will study recruitment, promotions, salaries, participation, teaching, research, tenure, retirement and related matters.

Pres. Arnold E. Joyal of Fresno, State College holds twin posts. Under teacher training, he will examine the work of the college of education, both on campus and in service throughout the state. Vocational education and Summer session also come within his jurisdiction. Under university finance, he will study the cost of higher education and the fiscal capacity of Nevada to support the university.

Dr. Richard G. Lillard, author, will study the role of the university in the history of the state, and serve as editor of the reports when submitted.

High Schoolers To Convene Here

All Nevada high school student body presidents have been invited to attend a convention on the University of Nevada campus during Mackay day.

The convention is a workshop for the presidents who will discuss school spirit, student body government, and general problems related to high school students.

Chairman Steve Dollinger is planning the convention so that the presidents will see most of the Mackay Day activities and still get their work done.

The men will probably be boarded in fraternity houses. Women delegates will stay at dormitories.

Other members on the committee are Chris Cufflin, Bill Eddleman, Bob Hemphill, Dick Delesques, Kathy Currie, and Max Jones.

11 Delegates Chosen For Model UN Meet

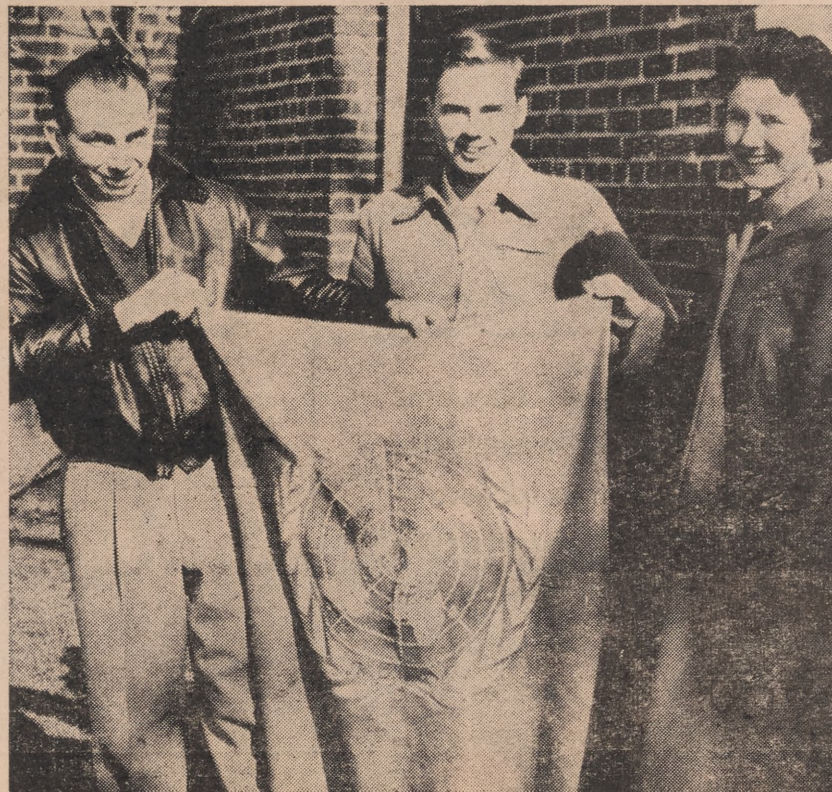

Eleven delegates from the University of Nevada have been chosen for the model United Nations' conference which will be held in April. They were selected at a meeting of the model UN on Feb. 21. The members also learned that they will represent the Dominican Republic at the conference.

In addition to the eleven delegates, five alternates and one advisor were named to attend. Delegates are Gay Hansen, Carolyn Chapelle, Earl Hawley, Dave Necco, Chris Cuffin, Harry Garrer, Karen Phillips, Joe Crook, Dennis Smith, Sandra Nichols, and Marilyn Akers.

The five alternates are Gloria Urriola, Jim DePriest, Clair Foster, Margaret Stodieck, and Georgia Meyers. Dr. William Miller was selected as the faculty advisor.

Hansen Chairman

Gay Hansen will preside as chairman over the group. She and

11 Seniors Elected To Phi Kappa Phi

Eleven seniors were elected to membership in the Nevada Chapter of the Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi at a meeting held Feb. 23. Those honored for scholarship were: William Dennett, Helen Kay Eaton, George Evans, Jacob Faragher, Paul Finch, Raymond Gore, Janice Palluden, Dwight Powell, Dixie Sturges, Bergha Wagner, and Hawke Williams. All have maintained at least a 3.359 average over the past three years.

Brief initiation ceremonies will be held at the Phi Kappa Phi day assembly at 11:00 a. m., Thursday, March 8 in the Education building auditorium. Speaker at the assembly will be Chief Justice Merrill of the Nevada Supreme Court. The assembly is a public occasion to honor scholarship on the University of Nevada campus.

Seniors who were elected at the December meeting of the society will also be initiated. They include Louis Baskerville, Dennis Burge, James Brune, Inez Davis, Francine Luwe, Patricia Samon, and Charles Taylor.

Hawley were chosen by the senate to direct the proceedings of the model UN on campus until the time of the conference.

Until the past week, there was a controversy between Sacramento State college and the University of Nevada as to which country each would represent at the conference. Both schools had been assigned Italy and the Dominican Republic and neither knew which would be its final assignment.

It is a policy of the model UN to assign state universities which are sending full delegations to the conference, countries which are charter members of the United Nations. The University of Nevada was assigned the Dominican Republic for this reason.

April 4 through 7 is the date for the model United Nations' conference. It will be held at Oregon State college in Corvallis, Ore.

Weekly Meetings

Weekly meetings in the senate room provide an opportunity for the members of this organization to become acquainted with the Dominican Republic. Reports are given by volunteers on the country's political policies, physical make-up, social conditions, historical background, and economic status.

A system has been set up whereby any student who refers to himself as an American or a university student is imposed with a five cents fine.

Members of the model UN will appear on television on March 7. The title of the program is Crusade for Freedom and it will last for 14 minutes. Arrangements for this have been made by Dean William Carlson, director of student affairs, and Mr. Hodges, head of the local Standard Oil plant.

Summer Term Enrollment Expected To Reach All-Time Record High

Expected enrollment in this year's summer school should set a new record in summer session attendance for the University

Estimates on summer enrollment were based on preliminary requests already received for summer school attendance, according to Dean Garold L. Holstine, head of university summer sessions.

Plans for Nevada's summer sessions are almost complete, said the dean. Scheduling for each of the summer sessions will follow the same plan used last year, Dean Holstine pointed out. Students will register for each summer session on the preceding Saturday before the start of the term, he explained.

First summer session on the Reno campus will begin on June 11 and end on June 22. From June 23 until Aug. 3, the second session will be held. Last session of summer school will be conducted from Aug. 4 through Aug. 17.

In addition to the three regular sessions of two, six and two weeks respectively, a long term session of two five-week periods will also be held from June 23 through Aug. 17.

Over seventy courses in the College of Arts and Science will be offered in summer school, according to Dean Holstine. Of these one-third will be in the field of education.

An increase in the number of courses being offered in music, English, speech, history, physics, mathematics, education, business administration, psychology and sociology is also being planned for the summer session.

Response to last year's summer school was excellent, the dean emphasized, especially the scheduling of a long term of ten weeks in conjunction with regular sessions of two, six and two weeks. A variety in term lengths is being offered to accommodate those students attending from out of state. Though plans for summer classes on the Reno campus are almost complete, additional plans for classes to be held in Las Vegas, Elko, Ely, and, this year, Winnemucca, will not be finished for several weeks, Dean Holstine pointed out.

Complete summer session schedules for this year will be available by the first of March. Additional information concerning summer school may be obtained at Dean Holstine's office in the Education building.

Nevada Debaters Win Majority Of Contests

Nevada has won about seventy-five percent of its debates, with ten wins and three losses, in two tournaments.

"We are not primarily interested in winning debates; we are trying to provide a valuable educational experience for as many students as possible," stated Dr. R. S. Griffin, debate team coach.

The team is participating in the Linfield college Invitational debate tournament in McMinnville, Oregon this weekend. Nevada has entered four teams.

Chad Combs and Robert Ballard are on one of the men's upper division teams. Nevada's other upper division men are Earl Hawley and Robert Reeder.

Men's Lower

In men's lower division Dennis Smith and Steel Haux debate for Nevada. In the women's lower division Simmie Cooper and Barbara Cavanaugh will debate as a team.

There are also opportunities for individual competition in extemporaneous speaking, interpretative reading and one-man debate.

Dr. Griffin expects to enter teams in the Regional West Point Elimination tournament at Pepperdine college, March 8-10; Stockton Tyro at Stockton Junior College April 2-4; Pacific Forensic League tournament at the University of Nevada, April 9-11, and the Northwest Invitational tournament at the University of Montana April 19-21.

The debate question for this year is "Resolved: That workers in non-agricultural industries should have a guaranteed annual wage."

UN GETS ENTIRE REQUEST FOR FIRST TIME IN YEARS

An appropriation of $619,223 approved by the state legislature this week marks the first time in many years that the University was given the entire amount it requested from the state government.

The $619,223 is in addition to $2,861,020 which was appropriated for the University in 1955 by the state legislature. It will be used for pay increases to faculty members and for about 36 new faculty members.

Board Meeting

At a meeting of the board of regents January 17, Dr. Minard Stout stated that tentative plans call for adding the following number of persons to the faculty: College of Arts and Science, 14; Mackay School of Mines, 3; College of Engineering, 2; College of Education, 2; Fleischmann College of Agriculture, 2; College of Business Administration, 2; Las Vegas branch, 7; counselling, 1; library, 2; and nursing, 1.

A total of $329,687 of the legislature's appropriation is to be used for increasing the salaries of present members of the faculty. This money, said Dr. Stout, will allow the university to compete with other western universities for good teaching personnel.

Minimum Rate

At present the minimum rate for instructors is $4,000, for assistant professors, $4,500; for associate professors, $5,110; and for professors, $6,280.

Another $50,000 made available by the legislature is to be used to improve the university library which, according to the administration, has been operated with inadequate funds for many years.

Miss Leona Heinle is the newest addition to the College of Education staff. Miss Heinle will replace Dr. Norman Baker. She is from Lincoln, Ill., and a graduate of Northwestern university.

Carl Horn Mourns Reckless Abandon

"Parking conditions on the campus of the University of Nevada continue to remain chaotic," stated Carl Horn, superintendent of Buildings and Grounds. "The students are parking with reckless abandon. They continue to force the University to haul its own garbage and supplies, because delivery and garbage trucks are unable to get through the congested traffic on the campus."

The parking problem on the campus is a complex one, first, because the university sits on state property, thus making it impossible for the Reno police department to enforce parking regulations. Secondly, it would take a special act of the state legislature to have state highway patrolmen on campus to enforce student parking regulations.

The student's carelessness in parking has resulted in over three hundred parking fines now accumulating unpaid in Mr. Horn's office. These fines represent a hazard to students as students

Engineers Plan Los Angeles Trip

Eighteen civil engineers, including one faculty member, are planning a field trip to the Los Angeles area, leaving Reno on April 18. The trip is to coincide with a convention of the American Society of Civil Engineers to be held in Pasadena.

Student chapters of the A.S.C.E. from various Western colleges will attend. The 18th and 19th of April is designated for the student program which will consist of a representative from each student group reporting on some general engineering topic.

Other schools attending will be: University of Arizona, California Institute of Technology, University of California, San Diego State, University of Hawaii, Santa Clara university, University of Southern California, Stanford uni-

After the convention, the group will take in various engineering projects in the Los Angeles area. They may return by way of the Colorado river to study the various dams along the waterway.

Endurance Test

The proposed safety measures for the corner of Ninth and Virginia streets are currently bogged down in red tape and, as an added attraction, red paint.

Several hazardous corners around the city of Reno were discussed briefly at last Monday's meeting of the City Council, and among them, our own horror corner.

The subject of Ninth and Virginia, brought up more than two months ago, was referred to the Nevada State Highway department by the council late in December. In early January it was learned that the agency planned a survey of this corner but was delayed in doing so because of the Christmas holidays.

On Jan. 17 such a survey was made, according to a letter received from Ralph J. Ottini, state highway traffic engineer, and the results of that survey forwarded to Mr. Ira Gunn, Reno City Manager, for presentation to the council.

Mr. Gunn reported to the councilmen that the survey indicated that enough traffic was handled by this corner to warrant a stop signal but that it was not justified because of the peculiarities of this spot. This may refer to the hill and the fact that trucks would be "inconvenienced" by a signal.

What the report did recommend is that a "No Left Turn" sign be placed at this corner, the curb painted red, and the trees trimmed.

Prohibiting left turns at this corner will not solve anything. Accident reports in the files of the Reno police show that the sets of drivers involved in the accidents on file were traveling south on Virginia and crossing Virginia from either the east or west on Ninth. None of these reports stated that left turns figured into an accident, although one such case has been reported.

Red paint suggests a cheap and simple solution to this situation.

Each curb, painted red for one half block north of Ninth street would lessen the danger surrounding this corner and might prove to be a life saving solution, that is if the recommendation does not get strangled in red tape.

The matter has now been referred back to Mr. Gunn and the traffic safety engineer. At the present, a traffic safety engineer exists only in a hypothetical light. No one has been selected for such a position.

Speculating on the particular channels connected with this problem and the "buck-passing" that has taken place, the end of this endurance test may be in sight.

Tri Delt's Go Underwater

"Underwater" will be the theme of the annual Tri Delt Shipwreck costume dance tonight. The dance will be staged at Moana and will start at 9:00 p. m.

Entrance to the dance will be through the open mouth of a whale, and the inside of the hall will be decorated with various imitations of fish. The band platform will be draped with a fishing net.

A "treasure chest" will be located in the hall, and will be filled with gifts. Each woman is required to buy her date a gift.

Out Of The Brush

By P. FINCH

Unfortunately this column is not copyrighted or the writer could try to pick up a fast buck on grounds of plagiarism. He could try, anyhow.

For "Out of the Red Brush," a novel written by Kermit Daugherty, published by Signet, and copyrighted in 1954, is obviously an attempt to cash in on the notoriety of the Sagebrush column of the similar name. And the column started in 1953.

This guy Daugherty isn't fooling anyone by inserting the word "Red" in the title. And he has not only snatched the title but has made it left wing.

James A. Bright has made the honor roll with a 3.80 and one wonders how many wise cracks he has to put up with.

One of the problems of the Sagebrush is its Wednesday copy deadline. Were it not for this, the Thursday meeting of students and the Student Welfare committee could be reported undoubtedly to the interest of many.

Two student problems, once thought solved, have cropped up again.

When a delegation of students spoke with the administration, the dean of women, and the dean of student affairs during recent talk of a student riot, it was decided that:

(1) Sorority and hall women themselves, through the AWS, had the power to determine their own curfews.

(2) Contrary to an earlier ruling, the deans would reconsider their decision banning Lake Tahoe as the site of the Sigma Nu White Rose formal.

Shortly after these meetings (and after the special session of the legislature) the AWS women began to incorporate their newly-discovered power in the constitution. Dean Mobley, however, indicated there had been some mistake.

And when the Sigma Nus brought in plans for the formal, to be held at the Lake for the

SAE to Celebrate Nat. Founding

Nevada Alpha chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon will join next Friday in a nation-wide program to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the fraternity's founding.

The local chapter, established in 1917, will begin anniversary activities by listening to a nationwide closed-circuit broadcast from the University of Alabama at 7 p. m., March 9. It will depict the founding and growth of SAE.

Schedule

The following is a tentative schedule for the centennial celebration by the local chapter:

March 9—7 p. m., Alumni elections.

March 10—9 p. m., Alumni and chapter dance.

March 11—1 p. m., buffet.

2 p. m., Formal initiation.

9 p. m., Banquet, Mapes Fable room.

SAE is the world's largest collegiate social fraternity. It was founded at the University of Alabama by Noble Leslie DeVotie and seven others on March 8, 1856.

Special tribute will be paid to the late Dr. John O. Moseley, former president of the University of Nevada, who died in Chicago, Oct. 10, 1955. Dr. Moseley created SAE's famous leadership school in Evanston, Ill., in 1935, which has held summer classes for chapter delegates for 21 years.

fourth consecutive time, consideration was refused.

Perhaps the Thursday meeting ironed these differences out. It is a shame to see anything disturb the normal tranquility of our quiet little community.

In response to the first of two letters to the Sagebrush editor, Graduate Manager James McNabney has said the ASUN bookstore debts are not paid off.

He says it is in hock for several thousand dollars to various University agencies.

Present profits are being used to liquidate these debts, he has said, and that when the debts are paid the profits are still not open to distribution.

He said bookstore profits are earmarked for the Student Union building funds.

Sideline Glances

By Ken Robbins

This head is being brought out of moth balls this week for the purpose of forwarding to the students the feelings of an unsatisfied group. Tacked on the door of the Sagebrush office Monday evening was the following:

"Congratulations to the Sagebrush for their great backing of the ski team on the last meet. It really lets the guys on the team know that the school is behind them—and how the students feel."

The team, RBC, Capt.

"Wise up."

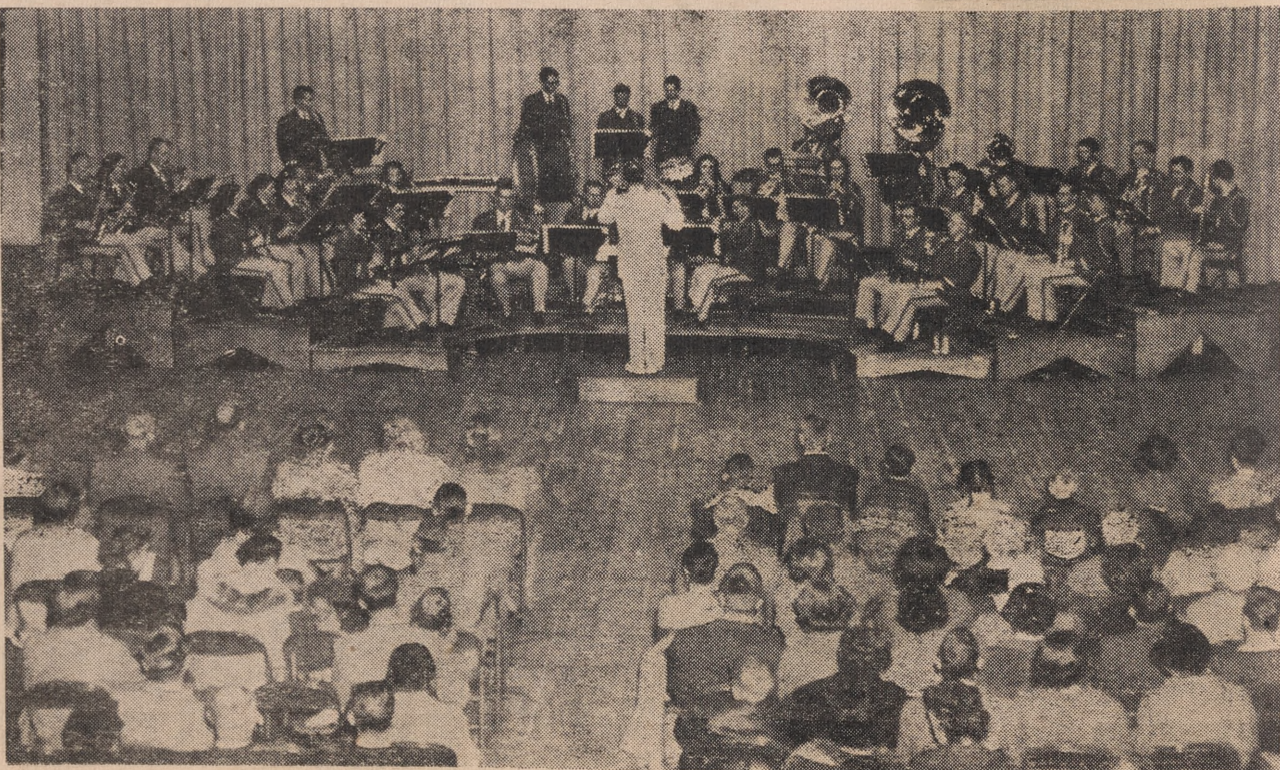

I have three points I would like to make.

First, I do not feel that the way I handle the Sagebrush is above reproach or that my decisions are infallible, therefore, complaints are welcomed. But we run a letter to the editor column when complaints in written form are received, and it would certainly be appreciated if gripes would be presented in that form so that the students can read them and make their own decisions. And this case certainly involves the student body as a whole, according to your note.

Second, it seems only practical that a check should be made concerning the facts and circumstances surrounding the complaint before you go off half cocked. My office received nothing concerning your last meet, either from Bob Laxalt's office or from the journalism reporters, until last Thursday, too late for publication.

When news concerning your activities is received at my office, it will be printed without discrimination. Perhaps you gentlemen feel that you are important enough to demand my undivided attention, but I do not.

Third, with the exception of the news we receive from Bob Laxalt and the news we clip from the downtown papers, the Sagebrush thrives on amateur talent. If we were already perfect and all knowing in our chosen profession, there wouldn't be just a helluva lot of use in going to this university, would there?

THE UNIVERSITY of Nevada band concert presented a concert last Sunday as part of the "Sunday at Four series sponsored by the University of Nevada. Prof. Felton Hickman, director.

Education College Is Reorganized

National recognition was recently given the new College of Education. The college was elected to membership in the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education, according to President Minard Stout.

Official approval of the education programs, on both the Reno and Las Vegas campi, was voted by association members at the annual meeting of the AACTE in Chicago, Feb. 17. Their action along with their findings and recommendations were forwarded to the national commission on teacher education for final accreditation.

Regional approval had been given the college earlier by the Northwest Accrediting association. Review by the national group included a complete analysis of education courses in the college and other associated areas for teacher training.

As the second largest college of the university, the College of Education has an enrollment of 330 full-time undergraduate students and some five hundred graduate students enrolled in both regular and evening classes, according to Dean Garold Holstine, head of the college.

Commenting on the national recognition, President Stout said, "This evaluation to national status of our College of Education is a tribute to the outstanding efforts of Dean Garold Holstine, who has organized and headed the program since its creation in 1954."

Seniors to Be Fitted For Caps & Gowns

"Seniors who expect to graduate can be measured for caps and gowns now," said Mrs. Katherine Harris, executive director of the YWCA.

A deadline for being fitted has not been set as yet, but students who wish to avoid the last minute rush can be measured now at their convenience.

Fittings will take place in the "Y" room in the basement of Stewart hall between 9 a. m. and 1 p. m., Monday through Friday.

The caps and gowns can not be picked up until a week before graduation, so a deposit will not be required until that time.

Thirty Five Desks Remain Missing

The whereabouts of 35 desks missing from the agriculture building is still a mystery.

The desks, missing since February 21, were removed from several class rooms including rooms 102, 108, and 110.

As these desks were used to conduct classes the loss of the chairs seriously handicap the conducting of classes and several students are forced to stand.

The missing desks were the best in the building, so evidently the persons removing them showed discrimination. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of these desks is asked to contact either Carl Horn or anyone in the College of Agriculture.

ROTC Unit to Hold Full Dress Review Late Next Month

A full-dress review of the entire University ROTC unit and band honoring outstanding ROTC cadets has been set for May 22, it was announced by Lt. Col. L. Beruter, military department head.

Governor's day, an annual ceremony honoring outstanding ROTC cadets, will see the first appearance of the newly formed regiment of about four hundred men.

Another feature of this year's ceremony will be the presentation to the University ROTC unit of the 35th annual William Randolph Hearst Rifle Competition award. The Nevada marksmen earned this honor by defeating 49 other college ROTC teams in the eight Western states during this season's competition.

Lt. General Robert N. Young, Commander of the Sixth Army, will be a guest at the ceremonies, and will make the Hearst award. There is a possibility, however, that the Hearst paper may send a representative to present the trophy. Lt. General Young will present the Combat Forces Medal to the outstanding senior ROTC cadet.

The President's Medal, to be awarded by University President Minard W. Stout, will go to the rifle team member with the highest average score of the season.

Other honors to be conferred at the annual ceremony include the VFW trophy to a Junior cadet, won last year by James T. Wright; the Kerak Temple of the Shrine Medal; Reserve Officers Association Plaque; Scabbard and Blade Society awards; and the McClure Revolving Trophy to the outstanding company of the unit, won last year by Clair Earl's Company E.

In announcing the Hearst award to Nevada's shooters, the Hearst News papers indicated that the score recorded by the ROTC team, a total of 954 points out of a possible 1000, was the best on record in western competition during the long years the Hearst matches have been held.

The Governor's day ceremonies will be open to the public.

MORRILL HALL GLOWS WITH NEW LIGHTING

A recent addition to the lighting fixtures on the University campus are the bronze and aluminum lamps on the porch of Morrill hall. These fixtures were installed by the buildings and grounds crew and cost approximately two hundred dollars each.

Pack Meets Humboldt Tonite in FWC Playoff

University of Nevada Wolf Pack will meet Humboldt State tomorrow night in a playoff game to determine who will meet the Southern California champion for a berth in the NAIA finals.

The Wolf Pack left this morning and will arrive there this evening in time for a short workout. The game will be played in Eureka.

Nevada played two games last weekend, winning them both and giving the Pack a tie with Humboldt for the Far Western Conference championship. Nevada defeated the Cal Aggie crew easily both nights, winning by scores of 82-57 and 87-55.

Lyon was the big gun for Nevada, scoring 48 points for the two game series with the Aggies. He had 25 points Friday night and 23 Saturday night.

Both games were easily won by the Nevada team, but Cal Aggies looked good and were upset minded at the start of the contests.

Nevada regulars will be back next season, with the exception of Roger Trounday. Lyon, Longero and Plummer have two years of eligibility left. Guard Danny Sullivan will have one more season of eligibility.

Nevada Ski Team Goes to NCAA

The University of Nevada Wolf Pack ski team, with last week's win in the annual Tressider intercollegiate meet sponsored by Stanford University at Yosemite, Calif., won the right to represent the west coast schools in the NCAA intercollegiate championships to be held in Colorado late in March.

Nevada competed against Sierra College, Stanford, UCLA, California and San Jose, to bring home the Tressider Memorial title.

Team scores were: Nevada, 372.67; California, 358.49; Sierra College, 358.23; UCLA, 327.05; Stanford, 319.69; and San Jose State, 319.30.

In addition to the Yosemite win, the Wolf Pack has wins in the Heavenly Valley Nordic meet at Bijou, Calif., the Northern California Inter-Collegiate meet at the Sugar Bowl. The team placed eighth in a 15 team-field in the Winter Carnival.

Next competition will be held in Squaw Valley in two weeks.

U. S. Rifle Champions Accept Wolf Challenge

The University of Akron, Akron, Ohio has accepted an invitation to attend the 1st annual Nevada Invitational Small Bore Rifle meet, to be held on the Nevada campus on the 21st of April. The Akron team recently topped every other college rifle team in the nation in the William Randolph Hearst Rifle Match. Akron shot 965 points out of the possible 1000 to best second place Nevadas score of 954.

Oregon State, fifth ranked college team in last years National Invitational Intercollegiate Championships, will compete along with the University of San Francisco, Utah State Agricultural College and the University of Santa Clara. Last year's champion, the University of Calif., at Berkeley, is a tentative entry for the meet.

Rifle Team

Riflemen for the Wolf Pack will probably be Max Botz, Terry Katzer, Chuck Taylor, Bill Rusk, with the number five man coming from the able reserve staff of Gene Espin, John Middlebrook, and Terry Katzer.

Information from Col. Davis, head of the Akron Military department, indicates that as soon as details of transportation are completed, a roster of team members will be sent. Robert B. McMillian, number three man of the team last year, will probably be a competitor in this year's contest.

The meet will consist of an individual match in the morning with the team and special matches in the afternoon. The men will fire ten shots prone, ten kneeling, and ten standing, in the Individual and Team matches.

Intramural Skiers Snowed Out Again

The intramural ski meet was snowed out again for the second time last Sunday at Mt. Rose.

The program was cancelled after the cross country race was completed. The downhill and slalom still remains to be run.

Sigma Nu's Harry Eriscon finished first in the cross country, closely followed by team mates Dave Pruett and Bill Thornton. This gave the Snakes a commanding lead in the intramural race. Theta Chi placed second.

Competing along with Sigma Nu and Theta Chi are Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Lambda Alpha, and Alpha Tau Omega.

Tentative plans have been scheduled next Sunday to complete the program.

ciation, and comptroller at the University of Nevada, is scheduled to referee the meet.

UN RIFLE TEAM TOPS SAGEBRUSH LEAGUE

Nevada's top-notch rifle team has again topped the Sagebrush rifle league, setting a league record of 1538 points.

Bill Rusk with 388 points was high man in the meet which was held in the old gym rifle range on Sunday, Feb. 26.

The Reno Rifle Club was represented by two teams, Reno No. 1 and No. 2. They scored 1469 and 1433 points respectively. Other competitors were the Churchill team from Fallon, with 1462 points and the Independents with 1402 points.

Max Botz, Terry Katzer, John Middlebrook, Chuck Taylor, Gene Espin, and Bill Rusk fired for the Nevada squad.

Gym Team Gives Local Exhibition For High School

By STEVE DOLLINGER

A difficult one bar handstand on the parallel bars was part of the routine done by gym coach and Director of Physical Education and Athletics at the University of Nevada, Dr. G. A. Broten, as the University of Nevada gym team put on a gymnastics exhibition at Reno high school recently.

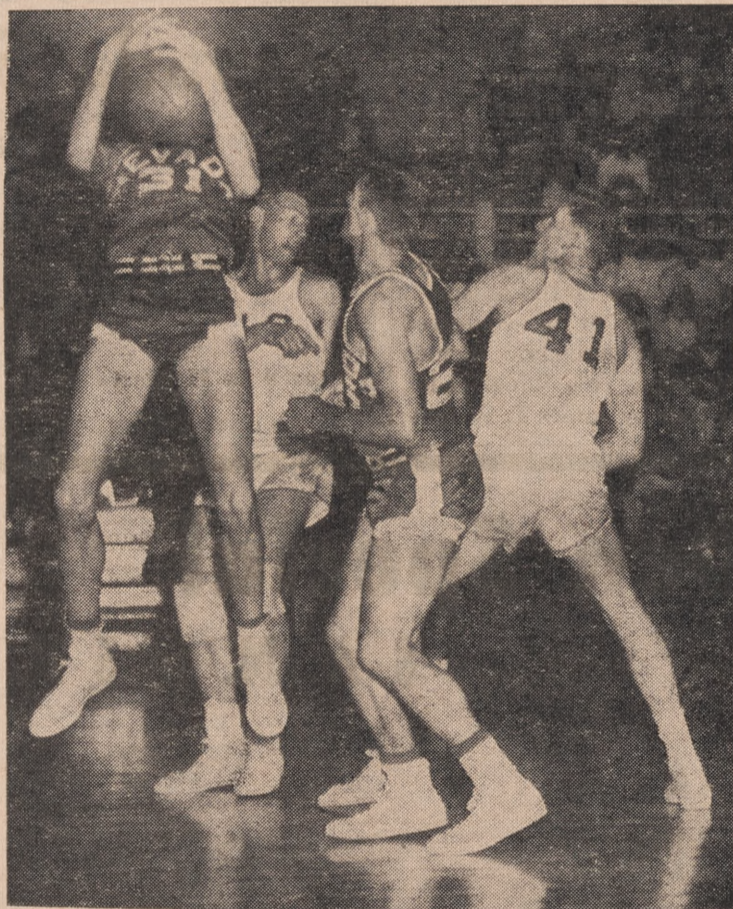

The Nevada gymnasts performed on the high bar, trampoline, long horse, side horse, parallel bars and tumbling mats. Pyramid ladders, two hardwood ladders balanced on a base, were used for the first time in the Reno area.

Gym team regular, Ed Wessel, went through an exercise on the parallels, including a handstand.

Routines

Reno high invited the gym team to perform for the pep rally before their Carson City high school basketball game. Gymnast, Dave Harris, demonstrated the routine that he did in the recent Novice gym meet in Los Angeles.

Doug Parry, Ed Wessel, Claude Maybury, Bill McDaniel, Dave Harris, Larry Brunetti, Phil Hatch, and Gary Soule made a human pyramid using the pyramid ladders for balance. As a climax to a series of squat jumps, straddle vaults and scissor jumps, Dave Harris did a handspring over the long horse. The side horse, the leather horse with pommels, routine were done by Rusty Crook and Steve Dollinger.

Paroete

High bar man Claude Maybury did a paroete, letting go of the high bar, doing a complete spin and recatching the bar.

Also on the high bar were Ed Wessel, Bill McDaniel, and coach Broten.

A double flip was done by Dave Harris on the trampoline. Before the final flip both he and Rusty Crook demonstrated some elementary tricks. The two did a double routine that included synchronized back flips.

The day before the exhibitin the team members received new gymnastic shirts, similar to a track jersey.

Apr. 14 Scheduled As Engineers Day

Engineers day is scheduled for April 14 according to Dean Stanley Palmer of the college of engineering. Aggie day is also scheduled for the same day but Dean Palmer stated that both departments feel that each will not interfere with the other's show.

There are three separate departments in the college of engineering; the civil, mechanical, and electrical engineers. One of the main features of engineers' day will be the various exhibits displayed by each department. Another point of interest will be a contest between the departments.

Last year was the first engineers' day since 1951. Prior to last year the day was held as part of Mackay day. A crowd estimated at more than one thousand attended the exhibits and contests last year.

Louisiana Outboxes Nevada 5-4 Before Season's Largest Crowd

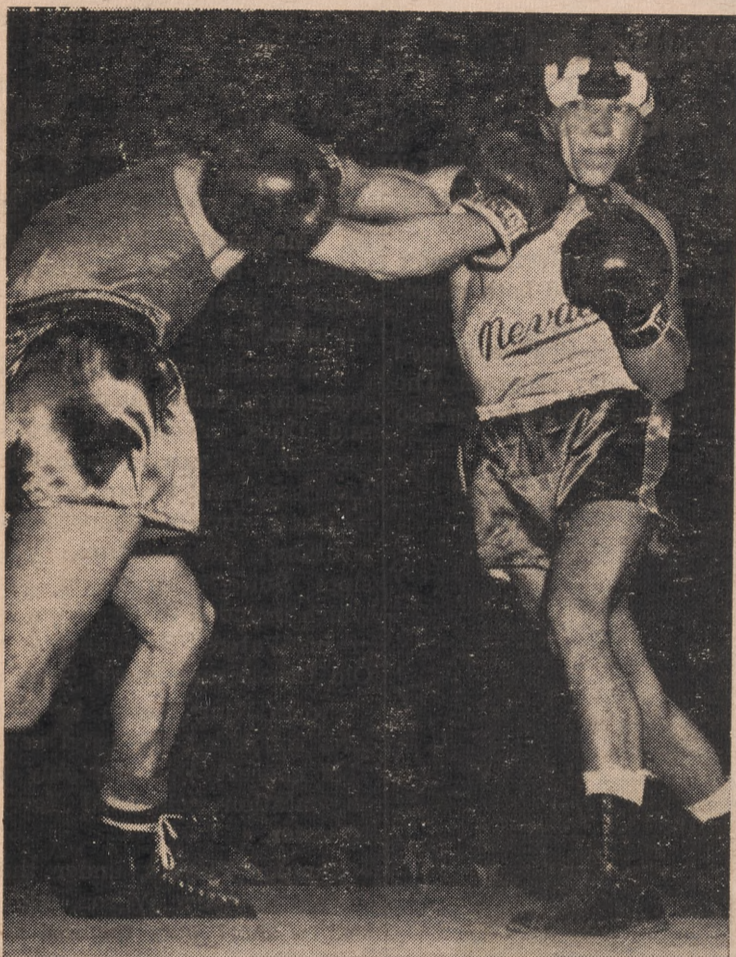

By Vinton Goure

The glovemen of the University of Nevada lost a colorful match to the Louisiana State boxing team 5 to 4. The match took place last Monday night before one of the largest crowds to ever watch a boxing card at the university stadium. Over two thousand people watched the action.

The outcome of the match dependent on the finish of the last fight. Both teams had four points. Bob Genasci lost a decision to Mac Buhler of LSU. It was a close fight with both men throwing punches all the way.

Sammy Macias started like a tiger in the first round and kept up his torrid pace throughout the fight. He was awarded the fight by a unanimous decision.

Contri

Ted Contri, fighting in the 147 pound class, beat out a decisive victory over his opponent, John Dusenberry. In the third round Contri had Dusenberry on the ropes and was pounding him at will. Contri was given a unanimous decision.

Don Kitts of Nevada lost to a more experienced fighter from Louisiana State, Bobby Soileau. Kitts was bleeding from the face and mouth when the bout was stopped.

The bout between Dick Short of Nevada and Bobby Freeman was postponed because Nevada's entry in the 132-pound class came up with a fever before the fight.

Kieth Ernst was handed a decision over Harold Hebert, which was later changed to a draw. Ernst was the aggressor throughout the fight but he was often beaten to the punch by Hebert. Hebert kept jabbing and throwing right crosses to the face of Ernst. The crowd booed the decision before the judges changed the decision to a draw.

Marfisi

Gilliam McLane of LSU pounded out a victory over Nevada's Mike Marfisi, and Jim Wittenberg lost to LSU's Gary Bowden by way of a TKO.

In a very close fight, Larry Damon of Nevada decisioned Bill Clayton.

Five Boxers Enter Coast Tournament

University of Nevada has entered five men in the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate tournament to be held in Sacramento March 22-24.

Sammy Macias will be fighting in the 119 pound class. A junior student from Sparks, Macias has never lost a fight in his two seasons in collegiate boxing. Before he went into the service he won the 119 pound division PCI title. He has beaten last year's champion.

Kieth Ernst from Fallon will fight in the 139 pound class. He has a season record of three wins with two losses and one draw.

Ted Contri, a junior student from Elko, will fight in the 147 pound class. Last year Contri was a PCI champion and went on to be a national runner-up in the NCAA finals.

Lary Damon, Winnemucca, has entered the 165 pound division. Damon has a 3-3 record for the season.

Bob Genasci, Loyalton, California, will box in the heavyweight division. Genasci is probably Nevada's most improved fighter. He has a season record of three wins, two losses, and one draw.

THETA PLEDGES WALTZ TO WINTER THEME

Pledge dance of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority house was held recently to honor the new pledges for the spring semester. "Wintry" was the theme of the dance, which was held at the sorority house.

Program cards for the dance were cut out in the shape of snowmen.

New pledges for the spring semester are: Barbara Damrow, Carolyn Chappell, and Yvonne Watson.

VIII in the band arrangement, "Sarabande and Gavotte."

Polka Caprice, featuring tuba soloist Fritz Hertlein, a senior at Nevada, was presented along with a flute solo by June Adair Dix playing "Meditation," from Thais by Massenet. Final classical selection on the program was Liszt's symphonic poem, "Les Preludes."

The semi-classical portion of the program included music from Guys and Dolls, a current Broadway musical and movie; Bamboula, by Morrissey, and Fiesta in Rhythm, by Oatts—two contemporary compositions; the overture, "Mississippi Suite," by Ferdi Grofe, which included themes from Father of Waters, Huckleberry Finn, Old Creole and Mardi Gras.

Storm King march by Finlayson concluded the band concert. This concert was the only band presentation scheduled for this semester.

Campus Players, under the direction of Asher Wilson, will present a short play for this weekend's "Sunday at Four" program. A music of Virginia City lecture and instrumental music will be presented by Prof. Hickman on March 11.

A joint faculty recital with piano selections by Prof. Frederick Freeburne and Prof. Keith Macy, tenor, will be featured on the March 18 program. Contemporary sculpture will be discussed by Prof. Edward Yates on April 8.

University Singers will present a choral program on April 15, under the direction of Prof. Macy. Nevada Earthquakes will be the topic of Prof. David Slemmons in his lecture, "Shake, Rattle and Roll," on April 22.

Members of the College of Agriculture and the Agriculture Service will lecture on agricultural research in Nevada during the April 29 program. Earle Hultberg, pianist, will present his senior recital for the May 13 Sunday presentation.

Program Plans Now Completed For 'Sunday at Four' Series

Program plans for the current university series, "Sunday at Four," are now complete, according to a recent announcement by university officials.

Last Sunday's program featured a concert by the university band, conducted by Prof. Felton Hickman. Selections included both classical and semi-classical music.

Themes from Beethoven's Third Symphony "Eroica" arranged into a band overture by Skornicka, opened the Sunday program. The overture was followed by dances from the Corrli's Concerto Grosso

The Road

Or what paved the way for sixty-one million cars?

WHEN you drive anywhere in America today it isn't an adventure.

You no longer jolt down unmarked and uncharted roads in uncertain cars. Roads that are bottomless mudholes or rock-ribbed ruts.

But your father did. For a mere forty years ago there were hardly 4,000 miles of paved roads in this country, and not quite 2,500,000 automobiles to go anywhere on them.

What changed the picture so quickly to 300,000 miles of smooth highways and over 61,000,000 vehicles? For one thing, the simple need for American business to make a profit.

Example: the automobile manufacturers. Trying to sell more cars and make a profit, they made constantly better cars. The better the cars became, the more people bought them. The more people bought cars, the greater the need for safe roads. And we built them.

Example: the oil companies. We had to make a profit, too. So after we refined the gasoline we scraped the bottom of the barrel of crude oil and made asphalt. At first it was a primitive black-top that was poured right on the road. But to sell it in competition with costlier materials, we kept improving it.

Result: today heavy-duty asphalt covers eight out of every ten miles of American roads. Today, too, our expanding economy calls for a third more miles of new and wider highways.

Your taxes will pay for these new roads, so we hope they're built of asphalt. It does everything any costlier material does. It can save you as much as $78,848 per mile. It's proved itself in paving the way for sixty-one million cars.

Fraternity Pledges Do Good Deeds During Exacting Initiation Week

"Life can be miserable" are the sentiments of many fraternity pledges going through initiation week.

Lambda Chi Alpha began its "Health and Help Week" recently with 12 pledges trying to pass the exacting details of initiation. "Since fraternities have minimized the hazing connected with initiation week and have pushed community, campus, and house projects, the general public has started to realize the work that fraternities accomplish," said Gary Brock, Lambda Chi president.

"This fraternity now stresses personal health, community and house projects instead of emphasizing hazing. There is some, however," he continued.

Names

Pledges going through their paces for the Lambda Chi's are: Evan House, Bill Rusk, Dick Coatney, Dave Christenson, Ray Little, Bob Hess, Dick Hamilton, Ken Oakberg, Ed Mouw, Gerald Waite, Joe Brennan, and Eric Byer.

Twenty hours of work contributed at the Washoe Medical Center per pledge is the task the Alpha Tau Omega hopefuls have ahead during their "Help Week." "The work they do is towards a good cause and this gives the pledges a spirit of helping the community," said Bob Lewis.

More Names

A.T.O. pledges will run the race this week. This is the largest number of pledges that any fraternity is sending through their "week." They are: Al Alcorn, Gary Andreas, Larry Maall, Larry Beebe, Marshall Borgna, Murice Borgna, Richard Byran, Rodger Bremmer, Jim Corica, Sam Darby, Jerry Evans, Bill Frade, Larry Fritz, Mack Fry, Ed Granadas, Ralph Gamboa, Dave Harris, Bill Howton, Dick Huges, Sam Jaksick, Roy Kidden, Ken Longero, Dave Lowenthal, Joe McEachin, Butch Peeble, Van Peters, Jim Potts, Pat Raum, Del Rice, Clyde Sabala, Jim Santini, John Seeliger, Murdock Smith, John Sibbald, Gary Stone, Tom Trabert, Ray Trease, Bill Viani, Tilton Zumwalt, Bill Witt, and Norman Chico.

"Greek Week" has been experienced by 12 pledges of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. "Mental and physical work is emphasized during this week," commented Ed Alvarez, vice president.

More, More, More

The survivors were: Ben Bingaman, Bruce Rossman, Dave Cannon, Max Jones, Mike Merrill, Ed Yates, Ted Evans, Art Vaughn, Steve Rucker, Don Kissig, d Curnow and John Trabert.

Painting and cleaning the Pi Sigma Kappa house occupied their ten pledges through "Help Week." "Other than one night of hazing, house," is the feeling that Lee Holland, house manager, has towards initiation.

Theta Chi's pledges are: John Barlow, Terry Katzer, Gary Soule, Clark Reber, Harry Brown, Fred Jonasen, Don Draper, and Dave Wood.

"To create a better feeling towards members, show procedure of the house, give a background of house history, and initiate respect of officers" are the ideals strived for during the Sigma Nu "Initiation Week," according to Mike Marfisi, vice president.

The hazing of 27 pledges is still continuing with the end being kept secret. They include: Bob Firth, Tom Harris, Larry Brunetti, Pete Looney, Bill Moody, Dave Necco, Jack Bosta, Joe Ortiz, Mike Smith, Dave Pruett, Bob Morill, Bob Howser, Bill Wright, Warren Lerule, Bill Craig, Bill Deveroux, Bob Henderson, Jim Morris, Harry Hansen, Frank Kendricks, Stan Summers, Chuck Smith, Dean initiation week is devoted to laborious tasks around the house. Since the average age of the members is about twenty-two years old, we believe in a mature outlook towards initiation," commented Bob Stange, a recent pledge.
