Cops Scan Annual For Suspect

Nevada's yearbook, the Artemisia, was turned into a "mug file" recently, in a search for a young forgery suspect. Local police thought the check artist might possibly be a university student.

Reno businesses had accepted phony checks forged with the name of Dale Fraser, university student. Those persons who cashed such checks were asked to scan the yearbook in an attempt to identify the suspect.

Dale, a dormitory resident, told police last week he thought he had lost his wallet when it disappeared in January. Recently he learned, however, his identification papers were being used to cash checks using his name at a local drug store and service station.

BARBARA CAVANAUGH
AWS President

Barbara Cavanaugh Named AWS Prexy

By Myram Borders

Barbara Cavanaugh was elected president of Associated Women Students and the AWS constitution was accepted at the election Wednesday. The office of president not only entails being president of AWS but also vice president of the student body.

Joan Sawle, the opposing candidate, will serve as vice president of AWS. Both women are 20 year old juniors and have been active in student government during their college careers.

A total of 246 women voted in the election at the old gym. The women used one of the new Washoe county voting machines. The League of Women Voters of Reno supplied the machine which was used for the first time Wednesday. Mrs. David MacMullen, voters service chairman of the league, was present to demonstrate the machines operation.

Barbara Cavanaugh is from Tonopah and is majoring in law. She attended her first year of college at San Francisco College for Women. Kathy Warner was Barbara's campaign manager.

Joan Sawle, from Carlin, Nevada is a home economics major and holds a national office in a home economics organization.

Constitution

The constitution which was accepted by the women on campus is very similar to the previous constitution which has been in authority. The one important provision which differs deals with women's hours. The constitution now includes a section which reads that AWS can "regulate, with the advice and approval of the dean of women, the hours for women students living in residence halls and sorority houses."

Six women students worked at the polls and supervised the operation of the voting machine. The women were Elaine Zeitlmann, Gayle Shipley, Cameron Samuels, Sandra Nickell, Laura MacPhee, and Joyce Lindsay.

Six Compete For Aggie Queen

Deadline Set For ASUN Hopefuls

Only a week remains for hopefuls to file for student body offices, warns Jerry Mann, ASUN president. Filing deadline for the spring election is 5 p.m., March 23.

Student body president, two senators-at-large and three class presidencies are at stake. One male and one female senator will be elected as will be the leaders of the sophomores, junior, and senior classes.

Filing has been slow, stated Mann, with only one candidate officially declaring his intention of running. In the event that the primary ballot is not full, candidates will be chosen by the student nominating committee.

A special nomination assembly will be held April 5 to introduce the candidates to the student body. Each candidate will be given opportunity to speak.

The primary election is scheduled for Thursday, April 12, and will be followed by the general election on April 19. Elected officers will begin their duties in September.

Six women have been nominated for Aggie Queen. They are: Kaleo Brandt, Artemisia-Manzanita; Janeane Bodell, Gamma Phi Beta; Janice Brown, Delta Delta Delta; Caroline Chapelle, Kappa Alpha Theta; Gayle Shipley, Pi Beta Phi; and Nancy Chandler, from Saddle and Spurs.

The Aggie Queen, who will reign over Aggie Field Day, April 14, will be selected in the queen contest Sunday afternoon April 8. The contest will take place south of the Engineering building.

The women will be judged on beauty and horsemanship, said Bill Kyle, chairman of the queen contest. Judges will be Dr. Robert H. Miller, of the biology department, Dr. William C. Miller, of the English department, and Dr. Walter H. Hesse of the department of agronomy.

The winner and her attendants will appear in the grand entry at the Aggie Rodeo. The queen will be introduced at the Western Ball on April 13, and will present the trophies and ribbons to the winners of the Comic Rodeo at the WUS Carnival, April 14. She will be given a complete Western outfit.

Kaleo

Artemisia-Manzanita's candidate is 19 year old Kaleo Brandt who was born in Honolulu, Hawaii. Kaleo has short brown hair, brown eyes, and is 5'6" tall. Kaleo, a PE major, is fond of sports, and participates in horseback riding, swimming, polo, skiing, water skiing and surfing. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. K. Brandt of Spreckelsville, Maui, Hawaii. Kaleo is a member of PEMS, and Ski club, is a flag twirler with the band, an alternate senator, and on the Artemisia-Manzanita executive committee. Her ambition is to be an airline hostess, to do travel bureau work, and to be a P.E. teacher and swimming instructor. Kaleo used to ride and care for horses at the Hawaiian Polo club. She won 1st place for best horse, and 2nd for riding in the 1954-55 parade.

Janeane

Twenty-one year old Janeane Bodell from Los Angeles is Gamma Phi Beta's candidate. Janeane stands 5' 2½" tall, and has brown hair and hazel eyes.

Janeane attended Bakersfield college for two years and Fresno State college for one year. This fall she transferred to Nevada as a senior.

At Bakersfield, Janeane was president of the California Student Teachers association, and was secretary for the band. At Fresno she belonged to Future Teachers of America and the Lutheran Students association. Janeane plays the clarinet in the Nevada band.

She is majoring in commercial education and plans to teach business courses on the high school level. Janeane enjoys horseback riding and knitting.

She lives on a cattle ranch in Bishop and has her own horse. Last summer Janeane placed third in the trail horse division in the Bishop Labor Day Fair and Rodeo show and in 1954 she was second in the mounted couple division of Sheriff's Possee rodeo.

Janice

Janice Brown is the Tri-Delta candidate for Aggie Queen. Janice is 20 years old, is 5'7" and has long brown hair and green eyes. She is from Reno and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis S. Selin. Janice, who wants to be a marine biologist, is majoring in zoology, has a tropical fish aquarium. Her favorite sports are riding and swimming.

Voted by the senior class to represent Reno High School in the "Pioneer Days Sweetheart" contest, Janice placed second and re-

Elec. Engineers Plan Annual Trip To Boulder City

Plans are rapidly being completed for the annual trek to Boulder City by graduating electrical engineers of the University of Nevada. Dean Stanley Palmer said that eleven students, under the guidance of Ray Gore, each a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and Institute of Radio Engineers, will leave March 21 for a look at engineering in action.

On Thursday, March 22, the group will view the chemical and magnesium plans of Henderson, and that evening they will present a program for the electrical engineers of Henderson and Boulder City. Each student will give a talk and a demonstration of a piece of electrical equipment that he has built himself. For example, James Wright will show a heat detector capable of discovering a lighted cigarette at a quarter of a mile, which is similar to the device used on guided missiles. Frank Phelps will demonstrate "Conelrad" the radio frequency warning system used in case of attack by enemy aircraft. Other members of the group will present equally interesting subjects, all strictly voluntary.

Hoover Dam Trip

A trip through Hoover Dam and a recently built steam plant is planned for Friday and the group will return home Saturday or Sunday. Prof. W. L. Garrot, advisor, said that each student finances his

Preferential Ball Tomorrow Night

The much talked about Preferential Ball will be held Saturday, March 17 at the 20th Century club.

This is the first time the idea of the Preferential Ball has been used on this campus. Every girl is given a bid on which she lists in order of preference, four men with whom she would like to go to the ball.

The men are then called and given dates with the girl who listed him first. If the same man is first choice on two or more bids the first girl who submitted the bids is given first choice, second given second choice, and so on. Susan Schwartz, calling chairman, has been busy at the telephone for the last week arranging dates. Co-chairmen for the dance are Jo Sawle and Barbara Cavanaugh.

Chaperones will be Dean Elaine Moble and Dean William Carlson. More than a hundred couples are expected to attend. Dates are checked at the door. A trophy, donated by the Wonder Shop, downtown Reno, will be given to the most preferred man.

own trip, and that a year-old welcome awaits them. He stated that they are always well received in this annual affair.

Five Women Will Student Teach In Nearby Nevada High Schools

Five women student-teachers in home economics will travel to various high schools in the state for actual classroom training in home economics.

The five, all seniors, are: Annette Dickson, Doris Ames, Lee Mortensen, Patsy Terry, and Mrs. JoAnn Elston.

Miss Dickson will travel to Boulder City high school; Miss Ames, Douglas County high school;

Patsy Terry, Sparks high school; Lee Mortensen, Pershing County high school; and Mrs. Elston, Carson City high school.

Each student teacher will spend six weeks at her school, March 12 to April 21.

Black Spot

To acquaint the women with their on-the-spot training, a recent all-day workshop was held on the university campus for the students and cooperating teachers of the various high schools the women will be sent to.

The workshop was under the direction of Dr. Tripple, associate professor at the university's home economics department, and Mrs. Genevieve Pieretti, state supervisor of home economics education of the Nevada State Board for Vocational Education.

REVISIONS CONSIDERED BY LINCOLN HALL

Constitutional revision was discussed at yesterday's meeting of the Lincoln Hall officers. One of the main revisions under discussion dealt with nomination of officers for that organization.

Socials and picnics for the spring semester were also discussed.

Officers at the meeting included Jim Brune, president; Benny Crewell, secretary; Frank Way, treasurer, and Warren Shelton, Stan Terrell and Dick Simmons, floor representatives.

Five Blue Keys Attend Convention

Five members of the University of Nevada Blue Key chapter will attend the Blue Key Western Regional convention in Portland, Oregon, March 22, 23 and 24.

Sam Basta, Dick Morrill, Jim Taylor, Chuck Coyle and John Ingram of the campus chapter will attend meetings where campus problems and Blue Key services and projects will be discussed.

Lewis and Clark college is the host this year. Representatives from University of Southern California, Oregon State, Washington State, Fresno State, College of Pacific, Los Angeles State, UCLA, San Jose State, and a few other colleges will participate at the convention which was held here last year.

The representatives plan to leave Wednesday evening and return Sunday.

Easter Seal Drive Launched in Nev.

The most concerted Easter Seal campaign in the history of Nevada was launched this week with the mailing of 54,749 Easter Seal letters to Nevada residents.

Because of the rapid growth of the state and the need for expanding services to meet the demands, the hope of the Nevada Society for Crippled Children is to raise fifty thousand dollars.

"It is hoped that every university student will realize the need for contributing to this worthy cause," stated Elaine Mobley, dean of women.

Fossil Collection Donated to U of N

A large invertebrate fossil collection, in excess of 1000 pieces, have been contributed to the department of Geology, according to Dr. E. R. Larson, department chairman.

Donor of the gift was Dr. Lee Adams, a retired physician. Dr. Larson said Adams has been collecting specimens for about 30 years. Much of the collection comes from within Nevada. However, through the years, Dr. Adams has purchased or exchanged many specimens from other sections of the United States.

Among the collection are many fossils of Triassic age from the Humboldt range, and some Orvician trilobites, which are ancient relatives of crabs and lobsters, from the Toquima range in central Nevada.

Pi Phi Pledges Hash for Money

Pledges of Pi Beta Phi are now hashing at the fraternities to raise funds for their pledge project.

Each pledge is hashing for one meal, five times a week, at one of the fraternity houses. Besides waiting on the men, they must provide entertainment during each meal.

This pledge service began last Monday at noon and has continued throughout the week. The girls receive fifty cents for each meal.

In addition to hashing, Pi Phi pledges are also taking in washing and ironing, polishing shoes, waxing cars, running errands, and making dates.

For each of these jobs, the pledge is given points. The one with the highest rating at the end of the semester will be awarded a prize by the active chapter.

With the funds that are raised, the Pi Beta Phi Pledge class hopes to install a barbecue pit and patio in back of the Pi Phi house. In charge of this activity is Kay Calvin, pledge president, and Lil Johnson, pledge supervisor.

In April the class plans to present the Greek tragedy "Antigone" by Sophocles. Ibsen's "Henrik Gibson's Ghosts," a three act tragedy, will be given in May. Speech 324 is taught by Dr. William Miller.

MELLOW SNAKE LUNGS MAKE MUCH MUSIC

The mellow voices of the Sigma Nu men were heard at the various sororities on Monday night. A large representation of Snakes turned out for the affair. Particular attention was paid to the Theta house because of the recent pinning of Theta's Pat King by Sigm Nu's Mike Marfisi.

Three Frats Hold Founding Dinners

Three Founders day banquets are highlighting fraternity activities for the coming week.

The first one will be tomorrow night at the Trocadero where the Phi Sigma Kappa's and their alumni will dine. No specific program has been arranged, according to Tom Richardson, social chairman, but impromptu speeches will be made by alumni and active members.

On Sunday, March 18, the Alpha Tau Omegas will hold their Founders Day dinner at the ATO house. After the dinner speeches will be made and football films will be shown.

Lambda Chi will hold its banquet Thursday, March 22 at the Lambda Chi house. The schedule will consist of the dinner and smoker. Coordinator for the alumni is John Sala, while Bob Fraiss is handling arrangements for the active members.

InterFaith Names Four New Officers

The new president of the Inter-faith Council is Jack Scott. At recent elections Louis Sutton was elected vice president; Sally Freidman, secretary, and Jim Vincent, treasurer.

Scott said that students are invited to attend the Inter-faith Council's meetings in the YWCA snack bar. The meetings are on the first Wednesday of every month and begin at 12 noon. Each meeting will feature a guest speaker. The guest for March has not been decided upon as yet.

IFC is planning an all-school social to be held sometime in the latter part of April at the Lambda Delta Sigma Institute Building.

The members of IFC are also working on their booths for the World University Service carnival on April 14. All money received at the carnival in the old gym will be given to WUS to help universities in foreign countries.

Fraternities and sororities, generally recognized on the University of Nevada campus as the leaders in social and political affairs, are presently cementing relations between the individual members of the respective organizations and between themselves and surrounding communities.

A recent display of this fact is the coverage in one of the downtown newspapers of Alpha Tau Omega's "Help Week."

ATO, along with other fraternal organizations, has recently knocked the "L" out of "Hell Week" and replaced it with a "P." This is an admirable change.

Besides pointing to maturity and a sense of community spirit, such a policy alleviates dangers to personal health, and, in the spirit of maturity, puts the fraternal organization in a better light with their bargaining power when it comes to prospective pledges.

Fraternities, viewed in a collective sense, have been plagued in the past with caustic criticisms dealing with religious and racial discrimination in the selection of their members.

This criticism holds true in too many instances, and therefore reflects on fraternal organizations as a whole.

Such policies as "Help Week," however, can only tend to offset such attitudes which are not in every case justified, and participation in such affairs as cleaning churches and hospitals can only be interpreted as "putting the best foot forward."

Federal Positions To Be Explained By Civil Service Representatives

University of Nevada students interested in job opportunities with Federal Civil Service may learn more about the advantages of this type of employment Tuesday, March 20, between 1:00 p. m. and 3:30 p. m., in the Office of Student Affairs.

Present to answer questions on the subject will be Virgil J. Leigh and Mrs. Virginia Cubberness, U. S. Civil Service Commission representatives. Included in the questions which will be answered are those on position openings throughout the United States and overseas, training and development opportunities, vacation and sick leave and many other benefits.

Students interested in federal employment but who are unable to attend the March 20 meeting may contact Mrs. Cubberness any week day, 8:00 a. m. until 5:00 p. m., at the Personnel Office, Internal Revenue Service, second floor of the Reno Post Office building.

Over 46 Federal establishments in California and Nevada have requests in the U. S. Civil Service Commission's office in San Francisco for more than 225 of the college-caliber successful candidates who passed the Federal Service entrance examinations held in December and February.

About 800 estimated vacancies paying $3,670 and $4,525 a year will be filled in these states. The test will be held again on April 7, but applications must be in the Commission's office, 630 Sansome st., San Francisco, by March 22 for persons to take the April test.

Nev. Rebels Plan Summer Session

A summer session schedule is now being worked out for the Nevada Southern campus in Las Vegas. Dean William R. Wood, academic vice president, left yesterday to make preliminary plans for this program.

While in Las Vegas, he will speak to the high school teachers and principals from Las Vegas and surrounding districts. The first step in scheduling such a program will be to find out what subjects these teachers must take to fill their individual educational courses.

After teachers have been selected to instruct these courses, a survey will be made to find out what general interest courses should be taught.

Graduating high school students will then be able to make up deficiencies in credits during the summer. This will increase their chances of attending the university next fall.

Dean Wood is also taking books down to the Nevada Southern library. These books have been donated by various organizations in Reno and have been catalogued by the University of Nevada library.

Navy to Discuss Officer Program

U. S. Navy officer candidate interview team will visit the University of Nevada March 22-23, to furnish information on the officer candidate programs to interested students.

They will discuss the Navy's new aviation officer candidate program, the Naval aviation cadet program, and the officer candidate school for line and staff corps officers.

Applicants for the Navy's new officer candidate program must be college graduates or expect to graduate during the current college year. The training will consist of four months of pre-flight training which will enable the applicant to be commissioned as an Ensign, USNR. This program is different from the "NavCad" program in that the college degree is necessary while in the "NavCad" program a two-year college level training can lead to a commission and designation as a naval aviator after 18 months training.

Opportunities are available for aviators for transfer to the regular forces for a career in naval aviation after one year of flying with the fleet.

For graduates who do not desire flight training, commissions are available in line supply corps or civil engineering corps.

All students who are interested are asked to meet with the interview team between the hours of 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. in the Snack Bar of the YWCA.

HAPPY is the crippled child who, through physical therapy, begins to realize that he or she can some day romp and play like other children. The physical therapy program in Nevada is provided free to handicapped children through the Nevada Society for Crippled Children. Funds for this important work are raised annually from public contributions during the Easter Seal Sale, which this year is scheduled March 10 to April 10.

Comstock Music Feature of Lecture By Prof. Hickman in Sunday at Four

Music and Comstock fortunes was the theme of a lecture by Felton Hickman, assistant professor of music at the March 11 program of the University of Nevada "Sunday at Four" series. Brass and clarinet ensembles by instrumentalists of the University band completed the program.

"Music on the Comstock" 1860-1875" was Professor Hickman's master's degree thesis at Brigham Young university in 1954. It is a study of music in Virginia City during this 15 year period. The study showed the relationship of music in the city to the rise and fall of fortunes. When times were poor, the inhabitants were entertained by local talent.

Selections

Selections by the brass ensemble were: Quartet "a la Tschaikowsky" by Tschaikowsky, Allegro from Eine Kleine Nachtmusik by Mozart-King, and Marche Pontificale by Gounod-Briegel.

Members of the band participating in the ensemble were Tom Murie, Jay Evans, Tony Bastanchury, and James Hussey, who played the trumpet; Jay Evans and Felton Hickman, on horns; Keith Stever, trombone, and Fritz Hertlein, tuba.

Selections played by the clarinet ensemble were: Adagio and Allegro by Mozart, Intermezzo by E. MacDowell-Wood and Concerto by Telemann-Simon.

Clarinet players were Kaye Reid, Shirley Allen, Jerrie Goble, Bill Kaiser, Kenneth Dennison and Vernon Lewis. Bass Clarinets were Bill Kaiser and Kenneth Dennison.

White Rose Dance Awaits Approval

Approval for the Sigma Nu's annual White Rose formal, provided public transportation was used to and from the dance, was recommended by the student relations committee in their meeting last week. This recommendation must still be approved by William Carlson, dean of student affairs.

The question of approval of an overnight dance was not discussed although a time limit of 12:00 noon Sunday was recommended for the return of the Sigma Nu's and their dates to Reno. The dance is scheduled for Saturday evening.

Setting the exact time for closing the Lake Tahoe social was left by the committee to be worked out between Dean Carlson and the Sigma Nus.

Nevada Rifle Team Travels to National Rifle Championships

The University of Nevada Rifle team will leave today for Berkeley, California where it will participate in the National Intercollegiate Rifle championships. Members of the rifle team making the trip will be Max Botz, Eugene Espin, Jerry Fenwick, Terry Katzer, John Middlebrook, Dick Mills, Dick Taylor, and the two team coaches from the ROTC department, Sgt. Cantrell and Sgt. Brokaw.

The competition is sponsored by the National Intercollegiate association and pits all the collegiate rifle teams in shoulder-to-shoulder matches in 16 sectional locations throughout the United States. The winner of the matches will determine the 1956 Collegiate Champions, in both team and individual champions.

The Nevada team, which was recently the victor over thirty other colleges in the Southwest Invitational Meet in El Paso, Tex., is presently hampered by ankle injuries to members of the team. Dick Mills has just had a cast removed from his right ankle, Bill Rusk, the team's high scorer to date, is suffering a sprained ankle he received while playing basketball. Chuck Taylor sprained his ankle while skiing over the week end.

The firers will be shooting ten shots in each of the three positions, prone, kneeling, and standing positions at a 15/100 inch at a distance of 50 feet. Each team will consist of five men and they will fire for a possible 1500 points. Last year in the 1955 matches, the University of California set a new record with 1442 points out of the possible 1500.

Ski Team Third In Vanderbilt

Called by local sportswriters the worst run meet in many years, last week's Vanderbilt Memorial tournament ended with the University of California leading the contestants with 277.4 points. Expected winner Nevada was third with 227.2 points, as three of the four events were completed.

Final jumping competition was postponed until this weekend, because of lack of judges as well as other officials. Bad wind conditions also interfered with holding the jumping competition.

Scheduled to start last Friday, the meet was started on Saturday instead because of lack of organization and poor weather. Wolf Pack ski star Rusty Crook won Sunday's cross-country event with Will Long, third. Crook also placed second in the slalom on Saturday.

Because of the poor management of the Vanderbilt meet,

Women Skiers, Undefeated, Issue Challenge

The University of Nevada women's ski team, uncrowned champions of the west coast, has openly challenged any women's collegiate ski team in the nation to meet them next month.

Washington State, University of Utah, BYU, University of Idaho, and Whitman College have been individually contacted already. The meet is being scheduled with the hope of gaining recognition for women's skiing everywhere.

pions after winning three major meets. The team came out undefeated this season when they made a clean sweep of the annual Vanderbilt Memorial Cup Race at Squaw Valley, March 9. The five Nevada skiers have beaten teams from the University of Idaho, Whitman college, Washington St. college, UCLA, University of California, Stanford university, Modesto Junior college, Sierra college, San Jose State, and the College of the Pacific.

The combined University of Nevada gym and wrestling teams placed third in the Sportorama held in San Francisco recently.

Ed Wessel took first place on the parallel bars. He was eight points in front of last year's champion, Ed Curtis of San Francisco. He placed second on the high bar and just two tenths of a point behind first place. Ed also climbed to a third on the 25-foot rope climb.

Dave Harris jumped to first place on the long horse, bounced for fourth on the trampoline, and tumbled to fifth place.

Stepping Over

High bar man Claude Mabry stepped over to the rope climb after taking third on the bar and placed second.

In the wrestling department Jim Lungren won two bouts out of three for a second place. Phil Hatch took third.

Team standings went as follows: Fresno YMCA first with 47 points, Oakland 44, Nevada, representing the Reno Y.M.C.A., third with 41 points. Eight teams competed.

Four gold medals were taken by the men from Nevada in the Northern California Y.M.C.A. championships.

Mr. Howard E. Brown, Y.M.C.A. wrestling coach and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Fox, local sports enthusiasts, accompanied the team.

Wolf Cubs Lose In Tourney Tilt

Loss of the first game in the Reno city basketball tournament dropped the university junior varsity hoopers out of contention in the city league finals. The JV's were edged in a low scoring contest against Garrett Realty, 47-42.

Leading in the first half, Nevada was held to only two points in the third quarter, a field goal by Dave Cardinelli. The Realtors kept the juniors on even terms for the rest of the game.

Dewey Bershied lead Nevada scorers with 10 points, followed by Dave Randall, who sank nine and Cardinelli and John Flynn, who hit for eight each.

JOB OPPORTUNITIES MANY FOR COLLEGE GRADUATES

More than ever before college seniors can be particular about their future jobs.

"This month, with graduation only three months away, more companies than ever before are rushing recruiting teams to college campus to compete for job seekers," reports the Wall Street Journal.

As a starting salary, most graduates may expect from $350 to $450 a month, depending on their field and record, about $10 to $25 higher than scales for last year's graduates.

"The demand greatly exceeds the supply in all educational fields," said Mr. G. P. Leetch, placement director of Pennsylvania State. "Roughly, there are 12 to 15 jobs for each engineer, 8 to 10 for each teacher, 5 to 6 for business administration grads, and 3 to 4 for each liberal arts student."

Nobody's

Juniors and Sophomores are being chased about almost as much as the Seniors," Mr. Leetch added. Companies are offering summer jobs to students who won't graduate until '57 or '58, in the hope of that when they graduate they will work for them.

U. S. Steel is looking for the largest number of engineering in its history: 850. Pure Oil Co., in Chicago will interview 1,200 students this year, hoping to book 50.

General Motors recruiters have been ordered to hire about 900 engineers, 400 business administration students and 400 liberal arts grads.

If a man is married most companies will pay for moving his family and his furniture.

Chasing

Estimates show that 5,000 firms today have recruiting teams bidding for approximately 350,000 students who will receive Bachelor and Master's degrees this year. This does not include the companies which do not have recruiting scouts, but that have other mediums of hiring.

A survey by a placement director at a western university shows that demand for college students this year is up 29.9 per cent over last year's. By June this year the average salary for a college graduate is expected to be at least $380.

A journalism senior was interviewed at Northwestern by a credit manager of Caterpillar. His record was looked over and he was told he would fit in the advertising department. He was offered a starting salary of $380 a month for the first six months, $396 for the second six months, and a minimum of $412 a month after the first year.

"The competition is keen," says S. E. Amestoy, Douglas Aircraft staff assistant. This year Douglas representatives are contacting 100 colleges, and could take around 600 engineering grads if they were available.

Lynn Cason, placement director at Purdue, reports: "About 800 companies are interviewing students here this year. We have enough companies to hire all the boys three times over."

Nevertheless companies are not offering a job to everyone who graduates. There are some instances when boys are wined and dined to prove their abilities. One company paid for a wild weekend in New Orleans for six prospective workers. "So the kid enjoys himself on your boozing weekend, says one Easter personnel manager. "Maybe he'll be enjoying some boozing weekdays when he is on the company payroll."

Concert Soloist Speaks Tuesday

Concert soloist and a leading manufacturer of brass instruments, Vincent Bach, will speak here Tuesday in the band room at 3:00 p. m., and 7:30 p. m.

Mr. Bach is an expert trumpeter and "probably the authority" on cup-mouth pieces, used on all brass instruments, said Felton Hickman, assistant professor of music.

The afternoon lecture will be on the technique of playing brass instruments; and the evening lecture, on the technology of manufacturing brass instruments.

All interested students and Reno people are invited to attend, Prof. Hickman said.

"All the brass players I know are very excited about the lecture," Prof. Hickman said.

The university music department and the Nevada Music association obtained Mr. Bach's services when they learned he was coming west to speak at Sacramento State college. He agreed to stop over in Reno.

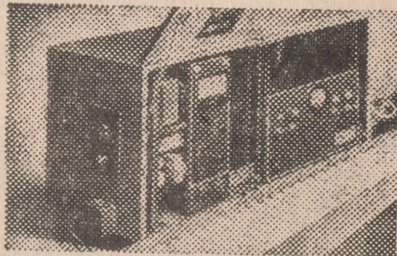

Mr. Bach played first trumpet with the Boston Symphony orchestra for many years.
