CIVIL ENGINEERS shown with their 38-foot model freeway which will highlight their exhibits during Engineers day to be celebrated tomorrow. Climaxing the displays and events of all engineering branches will be their banquet this evening.

38th Engineers Day Will Feature Model Freeway, Lightning, Contests

The thirty-eighth Engineers day will be a feature of a weekend of activity on the university campus. The engineers are presenting exhibits from each department, and highlighting the exhibits with practical demonstrations.

The theme for the electrical engineers will be "Industrial Application." They will demonstrate X-Rays, high voltage tests, radio frequency heating, photo electric cells and zapps of lightning.

The civil engineers will build their exhibits around a 38-foot model freeway. All exhibits will show the processes necessary to construct the freeway. The Civil Engineers will also have a demonstration of snow survey equipment and a metal testing lab in operation.

Vibrations

The mechanical engineers will center their theme around vibrations and will demonstrate free vibrations, self induced vibrations, forced vibrations and critical speeds in rotating machinery.

Exhibits will start at 10:00 a.m. tomorrow and will continue until 5:00 p.m. The contests, including rock drilling, slide rule computation, riveting and surveying will be held throughout the day.

Climaxing the day's events will be the annual engineer's day banquet. Tomorrow night at the Gaynor room of Ray's Drive In. The speaker will be Mr. A. J. Shaver, chief engineer of the Colorado River project.

Aggie Queen Winner To Be Named Tonight

By Sal Ruiz

The winner of the Aggie Queen contest will be announced tonight at the second annual Aggie Western ball. The ball will be held tonight from 9 p. m. until midnight in the State building.

The queen and her attendants will lead the grand entry parade at the first Aggie Comic rodeo tomorrow. The rodeo will feature a steer riding contest, a jeep roping affair, a greased pig chasing race, speed run between man and horse, jackass race, and a goat sacking tussle. It will be held at the Flick ranch, located across the street from Manogue high school, at 2 p. m. Admission will be 50 cents.

The judging in the Queen contest took place at the Reno Rodeo grounds last Sunday afternoon. About sixty people attended.

Judges for the contest were Walter H. Hesse, assistant professor of agronomy and agriculture, Robert M. Gorrell, associate professor of English, and Roger Keith Miller, graduate resident assistant agronomy and range management, who substituted for Professor John L. Fisher, who was unable to attend.

Contestants were judged forty per cent on horsemanship, twenty per cent on personality, and forty per cent on beauty.

Horsemanship scores were based on the performance of the candidates on walking a horse in a circle, and how well the girl handled the horse in a canter. The participants had to do a figure eight, also at a canter. How well the horse reined, the neatness of the figure eight, and the horsemanship displayed in this maneuver were the points taken into consideration.

Each contestant was then allotted time to perform any feat of horsemanship she wished to display.

Penny Mile Is Feature Of WUS Carnival

By Angeline Farros

The "Penny Mile" and WUS Carnival will take place this weekend in an effort to raise funds for World University Service, a mutual aid program between universities and colleges all over the world.

To line the "quad with pennies" is the object of the "Penny Mile" being held today. Beginning at 8 a.m., students are being asked to lay their pennies down side by side to see how far around the "quad" the pennies can get by the end of the day. Although this is the first time this has been tried at the University of Nevada, it has been successful on other campuses.

About twenty-five organizations are expected to have booths at the Carnival which begins at 7:30 Saturday in the Old Gym. Students can set up their booths all day Saturday, said Joe Crook, carnival chairman, and the WUS committee will supply all the basic materials for building the booths.

A few of the booths which will be included in the WUS Carnival are Wesley Foundation, marriage chapel; Eta Epsilon, shoe shine booth; FTA, football through swinging tire; Tri-Delt, Fish N' Kiss; Aggie club, nail driving; Pi Phi, dunking booth; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, pie throwing; Gamma Phi, dart throw; Kappa Alpha Theta, Ring a Theta; Blue Key, basketball toss; Newman club, Hogan's Alley.

Two trophies will be awarded this year, one for the best booth and the other for the booth making the most money. The money raised will be used to help needy universities abroad.

Items and services of faculty members will be auctioned off to the highest bidder during the carnival. Co-chairmen of the auction are Jim DePriest and Theresa Gibson, Lester Sweeney will act as auctioneer for the items.

In conjunction with the "Penny Mile" and WUS Carnival, a book drive has been conducted by chairman Gail Wooster. Books are being collected to send to foreign universities.

Co-chairmen of the WUS fund drive are Marva Edwards and Angeline Farros. Joe Crook is chairman of the WUS Carnival, and Bill Eddleman is assistant carnival chairman.

World University Service helps exiled students and aids refugees supplies medicines and X-ray equipment, builds dormitories and student health centers, equips classrooms, libraries and labs, grants scholarships and loans, and sponsors university affiliations and international contact.

NEW WAY INTRODUCED TO FIT SENIOR GOWNS

A "new way" of fitting graduating seniors with gowns was introduced by the YWCA this week.

Instead of measuring each prospective customer, all they have to do now is give their height in inches. The gowns, which were sized according to height, are simply handed over. If the correct size was not carried in stock the YWCA ordered it.

Members who participated in the YWCA project are: Mrs. Katherine Harris, executive director of the local chapter, Ann Petrini, Penny Molineux, Maria Anastasatos, Kathleen Karstens, and Shirley Allen.

Girls

Janice Brown represented the Tri-Delts; Nancy Chandler, the Saddle and Spurs; Gayle Shipley, Pi Phis; Caroline Chappelle, Kappa Alpha Theta; Kaleo Brandt, Artemisia-Manzanita; and Janeane Bodell, Gamma Phi Beta.

Playing for the Western ball this evening will be the Westernairs. Admission will be $1.25 per couple and entertainment will be furnished by a university square dancing group under the direction of Mrs. Lois Fitzgibbons.

The queen will receive a complete western outfit purchased at Murdock's by the Aggie club. The two runners-up will act as the queen's attendants. They also will be awarded gifts.

must be signed for when they are picked up.

The covers on the new catalogues are similar to those of last year except that they are rust-colored instead of blue.

A section on the College of Business Administration is included in the catalogue. This is a new college which will be activated in the fall semester.

Class listings designate the number of lecture periods and laboratory periods for each course. They also explain which semester the course is being offered and give a brief summary of the material which will be covered.

Also included in the catalogue are names of the administration and faculty members, a general history of the university, summer session information, winners of last year's scholarships and prizes, and prescribed curricula for each of the colleges.

B. Peterson Replaces McCall Smith As Agriculture Extension Editor

The appointment of B. A. Peterson as Agriculture editor has been announced by John A. Bertrand, dean and director of the Max C. Fleischmann college of agriculture. Peterson replaces A. McCall Smith, who retired recently. Peterson first assumed duties as Assistant Agricultural editor in

Missing Link

A judicial body, necessary to the American concept of democratic government, is the missing link on the University of Nevada campus and a vital link to a group which wishes to govern itself completely.

Executive duties center around one man, whom you will elect next week to represent you during the coming school year. His effectiveness and ability are, in effect, based on character and a willingness to do his job responsibly.

After the recent student demonstration, however, there was a rash of anonymous statements made on the air and for newspaper publication which do not flatter the character of the persons who made them and such practices are not desirable in elected leaders.

Considering the student position at this university and in light of recent happenings, it is imperative that the president of the associated students of the University of Nevada be thoroughly familiar with all student interests and prepared to speak on behalf of the students, without fear or favor, in his official capacity and not as an anonymous source.

The legislative duties are vested in a student senate, which, if students vote favorably next week, will be increased by several, long-needed representatives, representing the large independent segment on campus.

Viewpoints of every group are necessary to a body which wishes to speak as one voice in the regulation of its own affairs, regulations which can come only through strong unification.

A judicial organization, would be, or should be, the most important aspect of student government and is the obvious means of achieving self control, if it is to be achieved at all. Such a prospect is now being investigated by members of the ASUN senate.

Such a group should be expected to grant permission for all student social activities, regulate those affairs with the cooperation of individual organizations concerned, and more important, assume the responsibility that is now being requested of administrative officials.

The social code now provides that each organization will be responsible for its own social affairs. In the event that social restrictions are violated, administrative action is the result, and the offending organization may be punished.

This punitive power might well be vested in a student group, acting at its own discretion and independently responsible, or with the advice of the Deans of Student Affairs and Women.

A well-rounded plan of this nature would place the students in the position that they should assume on this campus and provide them with the opportunity of proving themselves responsible citizens able to take care of their own affairs.

Ryaled Up

By Walt Ryals

The student senate, this week, unanimately decided to let Nevada students vote again this year on the controversial subject of making golf a major sport. This issue has been kicked around for the past few years, and two years ago golf appeared on the ASUN ballot with baseball and boxing. The two latter sports were made major sports at that time but golf remained a minor sport.

Golf, many students agree, does not constitute a major letter because of the short season and because of the little effort required of one participating in the game. Anyone can go out and knock that little ball around for 18 holes, they are inclined to agree.

These people, evidently, have never been on a golf course nor have they ever had a club in their hands.

The game of golf requires as much practice and concentration, if not more, than any other sport now being played. The pressure that mounts on a golf course in a crucial match, is seldom witnessed in a football, basketball, or baseball game. If you disagree, try running in a simple five or six foot putt on the 18th hole when the school's entire match depends upon it.

Nevada, as most of us realize, is a member of the Far Western Conference. The FWC constitution reads that schools belonging to the conference must field teams in football, basketball, baseball, track and field, tennis, and golf. In this six-school conference, all but Nevada regard golf as a major sport.

The boxing and skiing squads from this university have been outstanding in the past few years and have shown repeatedly that members of those squads deserve major letters. But, boxing and skiing are not listed by the FWC as "must" sports.

Lettermen from all varsity sports on this campus, who make up the block "N" organization, passed a resolution to support golf as a major sport by an overwhelming vote. It's president, Roger Trounday, letterman in basketball and baseball and past captain of both sports, said that the letter-wearers believe that all intercollegiate events called for by the FWC should definitely be major sports.

The athletic department, headed by Dr. Art Broten, and the entire coaching staff have the same feeling. And who should have a better knowledge than the coaches

Copper Millionaire Requests $25,000 To Mine Students

A bequest of twenty-five thousand dollars was left the University of Nevada by Daniel C. Jackling, millionaire Utah and Nevada copper tycoon, to serve as a loan fund to aid worthy mining students.

Until the death of Mr. Jackling's widow, however, the money along with bequests to other colleges, universities and mining organizations, will remain in the estate.

Mr. Jackling, who died Mar. 13 at the age of 86, left a fortune totaling about seven million dollars. His will was filed for probate in Redwood, Calif., recently. He was retired, and had been living in Woodside, Calif., for some time.

More than three hundred thousand dollars will go to college and mining organizations, including fifty thousand dollars to Stanford, and twenty-five thousand dollars each to the University of Utah, University of Southern California, and the University of Arizona.

who teach and train our athletes?

"I believe the students should decide which sport is to be major and which is to be minor," Dr. Broten said, "and the athletic department should decide who is to receive the awards."

The $14 that each student pays into the ASUN fund at the beginning of each semester and the school constitution gives that student the right to decide, by vote, where each sport should be classified. It is also written into the constitution that changes may be made to the constitution only when the senate passes by a two-third vote the suggested change. It is then put on the ballot for a decision by the students.

It seems that if the other FWC schools, all other west coast schools, and many schools all over the nation, consider golf as a major sport and are coming to the point of getting rid of minor sports entirely, students of this university should be willing to amend the constitution to make the game of golf a major sport.

Prankster Blasts Theta, Chi Sign

Awakened by a shotgun blast early Monday morning, members of Theta Chi fraternity, 429 University Terrace, arose to find that an unknown vandal had shot the group's red neon sign from above the porch.

The unidentified marksman used two high velocity shotgun loads to obliterate the Greek fraternity letters.

Dale Burt, fraternity president, said that a full choke shotgun was probably used on the light at short range.

Following the shooting incident, members of the fraternity searched the area and found the empty shell casings.

Police thought that it was probably the prank of some other fraternity.

WAC Commissions To Be Discussed

Senior women interested in obtaining a commission in the Women's Army Corps can be interviewed Friday, April 20, by Lieutenant Colonel Ruth S. Reece in the University Snack Bar in the basement of Stewart hall.

The Women's Army Corp is now offering direct commissions as second and first Lieutenant to college women between the ages of 20 and 33. The women must be able to pass the physical, mental, and character qualifications required of officers in the Corps.

Senior women interested in a commission are to contact Colonel Reece or make an appointment through the University military department.

Colonel Reece is the WAC Procurement Officer for the Women's Army Corps, from Headquarters, Sixth Army, Presidio of San Francisco, California.

Four Hundred High School Seniors Expected to Meet on Campus

By Sal Ruiz

Over four hundred high school seniors are expected to attend High School Seniors' day at the University of Nevada campus April 14.

The Blue Key, campus honor service fraternity, and the High School Relations committee expect about two hundred local and about two hundred out of town high school seniors to attend the well-filled program.

School Seniors' day at the University of Nevada campus tomorrow.

Purpose of the day is to attract Nevada high school graduates to their own university, instead of losing them to schools in surrounding states, said Dick Morrill.

The activities for the day will begin with an assembly in the Educational Auditorium for the visitors at 10 a. m. An engineering tour and display will take place from 10:30 til noon. This will be followed by a barbecue at the university barbecue pits given by the Aggie club from noon to 1 p. m. A comic rodeo at the new University of Nevada farm will take place from 1 p. m. till 3:30 p. m. From 3:30 to 5 p. m., a chemistry magic show and physical education demonstration will take place back at the campus. Dinner will be at 6 p. m., at the Gow hall. The WUS Carnival will begin at 8 p. m. at the old gymnasium.

The Blue Key committee is headed by Dick Morrill, Jim Taylor in charge of transportation; George Evans, engineering exhibits; and John Ingram, Blue Key representative to WUS Carnival. Professor Garold Holstine, dean of the College of Education, heads the High School Relations committee.

Sagers under the direction of Bill Eddelman, and the Sagehens under Julie Stavros will assist the Blue Key on the entire program.

High school seniors are all urged to attend by Dick Morrill, who promises them a good time.

Poets Featured In Brushfire

George Mross, well known for his activities around campus, will be represented in this year's issue of Brushfire,

George will have two poems, "Apathy" and "The Flower" among this year's contributions. Unlike a great deal of poetry read in freshman English, George's verse deals with human emotions in terms which the modern reader can appreciate.

Ev Titus, popular senior student, also will have one of her poems, "Storm Sunday" published in this issue. Ev, who is this year's Artemisia editor, took time out from her many duties to contribute to this, the seventh issue of Brushfire, which will be sold on campus, in the bookstore, and in Gray Reid Wright's book department.

Tennis Players Beat Travis Team

The Nevada tennis squad downed a strong Travis Air Force Base team 5-4 at Wingfield Park last Saturday.

In the singles competition, the Wolf Pack split with the airmen 3-3. The locals came back strong to take two out of three in the team competition to salvage the team victory.

Travis leadoff player Jim Kyker topped Bill Barrett; the Pack's Bill Van Wagoner downed Jack Rose; Jim Anderson defeated Travis' Tom Raferty, and Dick McClintic of Nevada dropped Paul Hansen. Travis' Chay Knight and John Asten beat Harry Summerfield and Don Cutler in that order.

In the doubles, Van Wagoner and Anderson downed Raferty and Rose and the Pack iced the win as Barret and McClintic won over Kyker and Hansen.

Pack Fares Fourth In Golf Match

Nevada's golf team fared not too well last Saturday in a four-way meet with Chico State, Humboldt State, and Cal Aggies. In fact, the local divot diggers came in fourth in the four-way meet.

Chico State's powerful Wildcats, which has won eight out of ten starts and dropped only to California's Golden Bears, swept honors on its home course. The host team had a 3-0 record, Cal Aggies were 2-1, Humboldt State 1-2, and the Wolf Pack, 0-3.

Dick Morrill set the pace for the Nevadans, carding an 81 and taking nine of the Pack's total of 28½ points. Ralph Rubenstein had 86, Dick Bishop 85, and Walt Ryals 91, and Steve Rucker 99.

Coach Gordon McEachron commented that he wasn't disappointed in his team. "We have had only one practice session together," said Coach McEachron, "I'm sure that we will have a team capable

RIFLE SQUAD TO HOST 6 AT NEVADA INVITATIONAL

By Vinton Goure

The University of Nevada Rifle squad, National Rifle team champions, plays host to six other schools in the Nevada Invitational meet to be held on the Nevada campus next Saturday, April 21.

The six teams invited to participate in the match are UCLA, University of California at Berkeley, Oregon State College, University of Akron, of Ohio, Utah State Agriculture College, and the University of San Francisco.

The Nevada Invitational stems from the Tri-State Match usually held on the Nevada campus the third week in April. A varsity match will start at 8 a. m., and will be followed in the afternoon with team competition beginning at 1 p. m.

A special match starting at 4:15 p.m. will pit the ten top shooters in both the team match and the individual match. It will be run in three different positions and three shooters will be eliminated at every position.

Members competing for the Nevada team are Max Botz, Gene Espin, Terry Katzer, John Middlebrook, Dick Mills, Bill Rusk and Charles Taylor.

Bill Rusk is the leading scorer for the Pack with a score of 289 out of a possible 300. All the team members average 280 or better. Nevada was the winner of the meet last year with a score of 1408 out of a possible 1500.

The Nevada team will be shooting to break its new collegiate record set at Berkeley. The new record was 1443 out of a possible 1500.

"The team to win the team match will have to shoot at least 1440 to win," said Sgt. Joel Cantrell, "and I think the Nevada team can do it."

Baseball Nine Wins 4 Straight; Beal Air Base Latest Victim

The Nevada baseball team stretched its winning streak to four last Friday by taking both ends of a doubleheader from the Beale Air Force Base. The Pack edged the visitors 7-6 in the first contest and after a big four-run third inning, coasted to an easy 10-2 win in the second game.

The Nevadans spotted the airmen four runs in the opening frame of the first game but closed the gap slightly in their half by scoring a single tally. The Mustangs from Beale AFB failed to score in the top half of the second inning and when the locals came to the plate they trailed 1-4.

Four hits by the Pack, combined with loose baseball on the part of the Mustangs, produced four runs and Nevada led for the first time in the ball game, 5-4. Each team pushed one run across in the third inning and the Wolf Pack iced the game with another rally in the fifth inning.

Roger Trounday went two for three at the plate to lead the Nevada hitters, with Freddy Jesser's triple being the only extra base rap. Beale's Gibson had three for four during the contest, one of the hits being a triple. Cirves, although he needed help from McDaniel, was credited with the win.

Although they were outit in the second game 8-9, the Pack took advantage of several Mustang errors and won going away.

Nevada scored once in the opening frame and led 1-0 going into the third inning. The Mustangs pushed across the tying run in the top of the third but the Wolves scored four big runs in the bottom to break the game wide open. Two runs in the fifth and three more in the sixth by the Pack iced the game.

John Flynn was the winning pitcher. The little right-hander was generous enough in handling out hits, but was hard to get to in the clutch. Rog Trounday and Fran DuBois each had a double to lead the Pack hitters.

St. Mary's came to town Saturday and put an abrupt end to the Nevada win streak. The Gaels jumped on Nevada pitching for 12 runs in the first three innings and went on to rout the Pack 22-13.

The game saw 20 bases on balls, 13 of them being issued by Nevada pitchers, and seven errors. The Pack committed six of the seven.

Roger Trounday again was the big gun at bat for the locals, getting four hits in six trips to the plate. One of Trounday's bingles was a long triple off the left-center field wall. Catcher Bobby Ferrari and relief pitcher Stan Pomin had three hits each, both sandwiching in a double.

Track Team Set To Play Gaters

The University of Nevada track team will travel to San Francisco this weekend to meet the highly regarded Gaters of San Francisco State, on Saturday, April 14.

Wolves Set To Play Doubleheader In SAC.

Lineup for Saturday's games will be: c, Bob Ferrari, Reno; 1b, John Flynn, Sparks; 2b, Jim Corica, Reno; 3b, Fred Jesser, Reno; ss, Pat O'Halloran, Reno; lf, Tom McClaskey, Greagle, Calif.; cf, Roger Trounday, Reno; rf, Fran DeBois, Reno; pitchers will include Brian Whalen, Boulder City, for the first game; Flynn, second game, and Stanley Pomin, Sparks, in relief.

A recent study at Yale University revealed that there are 4,589,000 alcoholics in the U. S. today, a record high.

Nevada Shuts Out Chico Netmen

Nevada's white-clad tennis squad won its second Far Western conference match in a 7-0 shutout over Chico State Tuesday. Both wins have been shutouts.

The Wildcats, suffering without the services of their number one player, won only one set from the Nevada team.

Winning for Nevada were Bill Barrett, Bill Van Wagoner, Jim Anderson, Dick McClintic, and newcomer Lewis Perkey.

Barrett-Von Wagoner and Summerfield-McClintic won their doubles matches.

Tomorrow the Nevadans face the San Jose Spartans at Wingfield Park. Nevada has beaten the Cal Aggies, Travis AFB, and Chico, after losing the opener to Oregon State.

There will be voting machines this year so it shouldn't be too much effort to vote. Why not try it?

TRACK SQUAD SWEEPS TO VICTORY OVER SACTO

The Wolfpack track squad chilled Sacramento State's Hornets last Saturday to the tune of 99-33 at the California team's track.

Bill Bowser, mentional for all-conference halfback last fall, was the big gun in the meet, as the Pack swept every first place but one. Bowser alone, was responsible for 15 points. The Boulder City ace had wins in the 100-yard dash, broad jump and 200 low hurdles. His century race time was 10 seconds flat, he went 21'1" in the pit and broke the hurdles tape in 25 seconds even.

Jim Lyon, All-Far Western conference basketball forward last winter, also turned in a fine performance for the Pack. The big Californian putted the shot 45' 1-10" for his best mark of the season and more Nevada points.

Another triple-threat man for the Wolf Pack was Dave Harris, who did the 120 yard high hurdles in 15.5, pole vaulted 12'6" and high jumped 5'7" to win all three of the events.

In the discus and javelin departments, John Meder took top honors in both competitions with a heave of 124'7" in the discus and 172'5 1/2" with the javelin.

Coach Hugh Smithwick's lads swept half the second and third places to pad out the winning effort in the two-school meet.

The Hornets only win came in the mile, with Vic Spahn turning in the time of 4:52.
