Figures on Book Store Finances Released at Student Senate Meeting

Figures on the financial position of the ASUN Book Store were released by the Finance Control board Wednesday at the Student Senate meeting.

Board Chairman John Morrison said the store is making money and has paid its two outstanding debts which totaled $11,000.

The store is "not in debt a penny to any outside source," Morrison said, and "nobody is heckling us for payments." All of the remaining debt is owed to university groups, he said.

The price of books at the store is no higher here than anywhere else, Morrison said. He explained that book prices are generally fixed throughout the country by publishers. The publisher charges the book seller for the retail price of the book, then gives him a discount of thirty to forty per cent for the markup.

Committee

Morrison suggested that a committee be organized to investigate the prices so the students and faculty can see the facts for themselves.

The audit currently being made on the store will be finished next Monday, Morrison said.

Figures on the investments and loans of the book store are as follows:

$8,000 has been paid to Ralph Jordan, from whom the store was purchased. $3,000 was paid to the Kappa Lambda association.

The book store still owes $12,066.43. These debts are as follows: Alumni and ASUN "Buy a Brick Fund"—$3,176.50. This fund was started several years ago in order to finance part of the proposed Student Union building.

President's Student Union Building fund—$2,685.82.

ASUN Savings account—$3,304.11.

ASUN Loan (Jan., 1951)—$1,500.

ASUN Loan (Nov., 1952)—$1,400.

Senate Studies UN News Bureau

Proposal of a student news bureau was referred back to committee after a lengthy discussion at the Wednesday meeting of the ASUN Senate.

As outlined by William C. Brown, who reported on the proposal to the Senate, the bureau would publicize students and student-sponsored activities throughout the state and in home town papers of the various students.

The bureau would have three main functions, Brown said. These would be: (1) direct publication of student events; (2) publication of student functions, such as club activities; and (3) publication of student's names in home town papers.

Lincoln Hall Senator Hank Rilling questioned the likelihood of finding a staff for the bureau, when the student newspaper and the yearbook have had trouble getting enough workers.

Rilling also questioned the advisability of the plan proposed by Brown and backed by President Chuck Coyle in which the Student Publications board would underwrite the bureau for the first year.

Publications Has Money

Coyle replied that the Publications board is not hurting for funds and can easily afford to finance the bureau.

"Even if it does cost us, I'm inclined to think we should take it," Coyle said.

Coyle said the bureau would need $405 a year as salary for the staff. The wages per month would be $25 for the bureau chief and the other $20 to be for the staff.

The bureau could be set up on a profitable basis, Brown said. A vacant room in the present Student Union building could be used as an office, and the office and facilities of the University News Service could be used by the bureau.

At present most University publicity is released through the News service office, which is operated by the University administration.

Rilling said the bureau is a good idea, and would benefit the students.

"The administration is less concerned with the students than with the administration," Rilling said. "This is our chance to say 'here we are.'"

The Senate voted to send the proposal back to committee for further investigation. On the committee are Myram Borders, Bob Faiss, Ken Robbins, and Charlotte LeMaire.

Senators Okayed

The Executive committee approved two new student senators this week. They are Fred Young, to represent the Engineering department; and Maria Anastassatos, to represent the Education department.

SINGERS OPEN CHRISTMAS ASSEMBLY

The University Singers, under the direction of Keith Macy, opened the Christmas student assembly in the University gymnasium last night. They presented several Christmas selections.

The "Obnoxious Four" kept with the Christmas theme as they rendered their version of a Christmas carol. The "notorious" quartet is a mixture of the voices of James Santini, Jim Keech, Al Creel, and Dave Wood.

Also included in the program were a humorous selection by Tom Ogg, a dance by Joan Ortiz, an interpretive reading by Barney Mergen, and a solo by Jack Scott. Father Leo McFadden, Newman club advisor, delivered a Christmas message.

Santa Claus, portrayed by Bill Brown, dropped in to make the evening complete.

The program was directed by Dick Bryan, chairman of the assembly committee. He also acted as master of ceremonies. Assembly

C. C. Smith Dies in Reno

Emeritus Professor C. C. Smith died Wednesday morning at Veterans' Memorial Hospital following a four-year illness.

Doctor Claude C. Smith was forced to retire last September, concluding a career of teaching history and political science at the University of Nevada for twenty-eight years.

As a tribute to his many years of service to education on the campus and his popularity with the students, the graduating class of 1954 voted Professor Smith one of the outstanding professors at Nevada that year.

Speaking on behalf of the students, ASUN president Chuck Coyle said, "The student body extends its sincere condolence to the family of Dr. Smith who labored so vigorously for twenty-eight years for the advancement and betterment of the University of Nevada."

Ralph Irwin, dean of arts and sciences, commented on the passing of his colleague. "In over one-fourth century at the University of Nevada, thousands of students were taught in Professor Claude Smith's classes. All will remember him as the most friendly and kindly and helpful of men," he said. "Those of us who knew him well loved him and will miss him." Professor Smith came to teach at the University of Nevada in 1929, after receiving his A.M. Degree at the University of Oklahoma in 1924. He served as a professor of history and political science until his retirement last September.

Dr. Charles Hicks, said that soon after Prof. Smith came here, his popularity was great. He related how Professor Smith's classes were the first to fill up, and how students constantly stayed after class to talk with him. "The students liked him because he was human and kind," he said.

During his career at the university, Professor Smith gave many lectures to service clubs on history and society.

Graduated from the Carson Newman College in 1921, Professor Smith went on to acquire his A.M. degree in 1924, and received his Ph.D at Stanford University in 1947.

Professor Smith is survived by his wife and two daughters.

University Featured On Wide Wide World

By Cathy Zimmerman

NBC television brought activities of the University of Nevada students into the homes of thirty-three million viewers Sunday as part of Dave Garroway's "Wide Wide World."

Nevada was featured along with several other colleges in a program spotlighting "The American Campus." Scenes from Reno Ski Bowl, Virginia City, and Downtown Reno were shown on a live television play-back from New York at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Preparation for the twenty minutes of air time began Saturday morning as NBC men set up cameras at the various locations in this area. The directors worked Saturday arranging the shots, while the Nevada students waited for the practices. Two trial runs of the program were sent back to New York for narration by Dave Garroway before the live showing on Sunday.

MINING STUDENTS get last-minute directions from NBC cameramen before Wide Wide World show.

Students from the Nevada campus participated in the scenes of the mock Winter Carnival at Reno Ski Bowl and the modern-day mining field trip at Virginia City.

Colorful

Colorful shots of the German band dressed in Tyrolian shorts and red hats, couples dancing the polka on the chalet porch, and a slalom race between the California and Nevada ski teams were featured when the camera of "Wide Wide World" ventured to the slopes of Slide mountain. Nevada students, led by Norma Dyer, sang the alma mater as a climax to the program. A quartet composed of members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon sang a winter drinking song typifying the Winter Carnival atmosphere. George Allison, Wayne Cramer, Jack Scott and Bob Costello sang in the quartet.

Sunny weather prevailed during the two days of practice and shooting which gave the cameramen an advantage in taking pictures. Mr. Bob Bennington, NBC director, was in charge of taking the ski scenes. The Reno Chamber of Commerce furnished lunches for the students and television men Sunday, and free coffee was furnished both days.

Group shots were taken of students watching the slalom race and of junior skiers under five years old who are in the junior ski program.

Mock

Chelton Leonard, coach of the Nevada team, remarked over television that the team members were in good shape as he named the racers individually. Four members of the California ski team came up for the mock race.

The purpose of the skiing sequence was to describe the rapid growth of skiing in the west, and the beginning of competitive skiing in the high Sierras nearly a hundred years ago.

The Wide Wide World cameras journeyed to the other side of Washoe Valley to the Comstock Lode at Virginia City. Dean Vernon Scheid of the Mackay School of Mines was in charge of coordinating the shots of the student field trip. "Bad Water Bill," a representative of the Department of Economic Development in Carson City and from Virginia City, typified the old prospector mining for silver. Several students took part in the field trip and Janie Kottlinger asked Dean Scheid questions about mining in the days of the Comstock Lode.

Chamber of Commerce and the University of Nevada worked together to organize the program.

Chuck Harrison, Winter Carnival director, was responsible for organizing the program. Harrison acted as coordinator between the television men and his participants. Harrison commented that he received good cooperation from everyone in the program and said the program turned out as well as was expected.

Confusion

Plans to take a sequence at the top of Slide mountain were foiled when the cameraman failed to be on the chairlift to operate the camera, resulting in no panorama for five minutes.

Braden Stauts, veteran ski team member, leaped from a jump in front of the cameraman and accidentally showed the thirty-three million viewers a spectacular crash landing.

The "Wide Wide World" journeyed to several universities and colleges throughout the United States. Other campuses shown were Oregon State, University of Washington, Stephens College for women, Boys Town, and "Talesen-west" in Phoenix, Arizona.

Ski team members who took part were Lynn Johnson, Warren Lerude, Harry Ericson, Bill Long, Jack Bosta, Dick Dorworth, and Ron Pretti.

Drive carefully; the life you end may be your own.

Merry Christmas.

The Pi Phi's Christmas project is to help a needy family. This year a family of four children, ranging in ages from 4 to 9, will be guests at a chapter dinner. The town girls and dorm girls will join the group for dessert. Then everyone will go caroling.

Complete outfits and toys will be provided for the children when the group returns from caroling. The chapter also will make arrangements for Christmas dinner for "their" family and furnish a decorated Christmas tree.

FRESH FRUIT SURVEY BEGUN

What is the exact picture concerning availability of fresh, and processed fruits and vegetables on store counters of Nevada? A survey has now begun in two representative areas of the state—Clark and Washoe counties—to determine just what is available to consumers throughout a typical buying year.

The work is part of an overall research project, "Factors that Affect Utilization and Consumer Buying Practices of Fruits and Vegetables," now underway by several experiment stations in the western states.

In Nevada, research will be under the supervision of Dr. J. W. Harper, associate professor of the Sarah Hamilton Fleischmann School of Home Economics, University of Nevada.

Wide Wide Flop

The nation-wide television show "Wide Wide World" came to the Reno area last Sunday to produce part of an hour and a half American campus program, featuring the University of Nevada. The show is produced by professionals, but the misinterpretation and confusion that was the end product was far from "professional."

The accidents were many. A dynamite blast at Virginia City failed to go off as expected, and only a small puff of smoke and a few flying rocks resulted. The camera on the ski lift hung helplessly for a minute or two because its operator could not get to it. The scene thus created was an aimless drift of snow. In another part of the show, announcer Dave Garroway referred to the male salmon swimming upstream to lay "his" eggs.

These accidents, while detrimental to the show, can at least be understood. But the false impressions given about the University are a different matter.

The principal one of these was the implication that Harolds Club is the main sponsor of the University, via its scholarships, which, incidentally, it is no longer giving. Harolds Club's scholarships have done much for the students in this state, and there is no gripe here.

But the impression is widespread throughout the country this this University is financed by gambling. A few years ago a top-notch basketball team was refused admittance to a national tournament because its expenses on the trip were to be paid by gambling concerns.

For "Wide Wide World" to say, not in exact words, it is true, but by insinuation, that gambling is the driving force behind this University is to do the school much harm. Mining, and not gambling, was the backbone of this state in its early days, and much of the University was built by mining money. This was mentioned, to be sure, but it did not have the impact of the gambling connection, nor will it be remembered as long.

Another wonder of the show was the search for uranium near Virginia City. If there is a great uranium deposit there, it is certainly not known to most people, and it is doubtful if there is much uranium there at all.

The show's producers were worried because Virginia City did not look "authentic" enough. If the time has come when the real thing is not good enough for the viewers of television, then television should turn exclusively to fiction and stay there.

All in all, the show was an excellent demonstration of how poor television can be if something goes wrong.

Mexican Editor Wins High Honor

Jesus Alvarez del Castillo, 75, grandfather of Edward Alvarez, junior student in journalism, recently received one of the highest honors in the journalism world.

Senor Castillo, editor and publisher of El Informador, daily newspaper of Guadalajara, Mexico, received the Maria Moors Cabot gold medal from Columbia university for helping advance international friendship in the Americas.

Edward Alvarez will return to Mexico upon his graduation in journalism from the University of Nevada and will take part in the management of the newspaper, which is one of the largest in the country outside Mexico City.

The paper, once so small and struggling that it was published on wrapping paper, is now published in its own modern plant. It is vigorously non-partisan, independent, and widely respected.

When Senor del Castillo comes to the University of Nevada to visit his grandson, it is expected that he will speak to the undergraduate chapter of Sigma Delta Chi,

We had to wait two solid weeks before we could find enough news to fill this spot. It's not that people are unromantic at this time of year. It's just that people are so sick and tired of each other by Christmas vacation that nobody even wants to talk—let alone get engaged.

And during the Christmas vacation, a total of 38 people will get engaged to 38 other people, 9 marriages will hit the newspapers, and 14 coeds from the U. of N. will write "Dear John's" on the bark of Christmas cards... so buck up—go home to mama—eat turkey—drink up a storm—enjoy yourself—get sick of home—and then come back happy and be happy until the week before Easter vacation.

Follow-Up Talks Set for January

Chuck Coyle, president of the Associated Students, announced this week that the "follow-up" leadership conference, planned last September, will take place January 5, in the Education auditorium.

A representative from each living group, all senators and alternate senators, a delegate from each club on campus, chairman of ASUN committees and members of the Associated Women Students council will participate in the conference.

This is the second annual "follow-up" conference to be held as a result of plans made at the Lake Tahoe leadership gathering. Cameron Samuels, leadership secretary, is handling all of the details for this conference. A group of alternate senators is in charge of registration and the over-all program.

Topics to be discussed are: student government, student court, social code, a disciplinary committee, student union, assemblies, Mackay Day, Winter Carnival, publications, and anticipated projects for the coming semester. All discussions will be handled by senators or students who have had experience with the subjects.

Registration will be held at 9 a.m. in the Education auditorium.

TRIANGLES SURPRISE PLEDGES WITH PARTY

A surprise Christmas party for Tri-Delt pledges was staged last Sunday by the active members.

The prospective members arrived at the chapter house thinking they were to meet a national officer who would give them a series of pledge tests.

"Messiah" Sung For 22nd Time

More than two thousand people watched and listened at the new gymnasium Sunday evening as the University of Nevada, with the Community Symphonic Choir and Orchestra gave the twenty-second annual performance of Handel's "Messiah."

Music critics said Dr. William Keith Macy did an outstanding job in directing the performance. Dr. Macy is the head of the University Music department.

The choir and the soloists were also noted as excellent, and well disciplined.

Soloists were: Robert Herz, tenor; Walter Anderson, bass; Margaret Burns-Hawk, contralto; and Marjorie Dickinson, soprano. Anderson is a senior at the University, and a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

The church choirs participated in the performance—the Calvary Baptist, the Federated, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, the First Christian, the First Methodist, the Sparks Methodist, the Sierra Singers, the St. Luke's Lutheran, and the Trinity Episcopal.

Committee Report On Insurance

Accident insurance will be available for students next semester if the Student Senate okays the plan.

The insurance will cost each student $2.50 when he registers, if he agrees to the insurance, said Wuanita Combs in her report for the Student Health committee.

Each student will automatically get the insurance unless he says he doesn't want it.

The policy would pay up to $500, and would insure the student in every place and at all times except during summer vacation. It would be possible for the student to get coverage during summer vacation if he desired, Miss Combs said.

There is also a possibility that the student can get ill health insurance, she said.

Miss Combs said the University does have insurance at present, but it is limited to the campus grounds.

The proposed insurance would not cover varsity players during regularly scheduled games or practices, because they are already covered by the athletic department.

Private Moore In Korean Xmas

Private Norman Moore, former University of Nevada student, reports that the American soldiers in Korea are looking forward to another Christmas away from home. This will be Private Moore's second Christmas in Korea.

In a letter to his mother, Mrs. Marie Hinson of San Francisco, Private Moore said that the GIs would erect a makeshift Christmas tree in their barracks. One of the soldiers will dress up as Santa Claus to brighten the Christmas for the Korean children.

The American troops have enjoyed trying to bring the spirit of Christmas to the Oriental children for the past several years. The troops provide the children with gifts bought from donations taken up amongst themselves.

Private Moore attended Nevada during the 1954-55 school year. He enrolled in the college of arts and science, and was affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Education Frat Installed Here

A University of Nevada chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, men's honorary educational fraternity, has been formed on the Reno campus.

Thirty-nine Nevada school administrators and teachers were initiated into the new chapter recently at chartering ceremonies. Initiates were selected for distinguished service in education.

New officers for the group are: John Miller, director of personnel, Washoe county schools, president; Dr. Lloyd Drury, College of Education, vice president; Al Seeliger, superintendent, Ormsby county schools, secretary; William Schultz, vice president of Reno Business college, treasurer; Bud Beasley, Reno high school instructor, historian, and Dr. Thomas T. Tucker, College of Education, faculty advisor.

University President Minard W. Stout and Dean Garold Holstine of the college of education were the featured speakers at an evening dinner which concluded initiation and installation ceremonies.

Honored guest at the ceremonies was Dr. James Abel of Paradise Valley, who graduated from the University in 1896. Dr. Abel is a Phi Delta Kappa member from Stanford university and is noted for his service to education in Nevada.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Ed:

In the past few weeks, we have been astounded by your perseverance in doing away with errors in the Sagebrush.

However, in your issue of December 7, we noticed a very glaring and obnoxious error in your article on the OX pledge sneak. You stated that Tom Frost had a 1951 Cadillac.

This is not true. He only has a 1949 Cadillac.

This type of prevarication will not be tolerated.

Love and Lollipops,
Theta Chi Pledges.

Dear OX'es:

The Sagebrush does not prevaricate, or fabricate, or in any other way purposely distort the truth. If we occasionally make mistakes it is only because we don't know everything.

And if you would stop looking for errors, you wouldn't find so many.

STATE POSITIONS OPEN TO GRADUATES

Nevada State Personnel department is now accepting applications from students who will be graduated in June for the positions of employment interviewer and un-employment claims examiner.

The salary range for the positions is $3,624 to $4,368 a year. Employees are eligible for promotions to the next higher position after 1 year of service.

Senior students who pass a written examination will be placed on a seasonal and part-time employment list. After graduation, the names will be placed on a regular employment list for full-time appointment.

Students who are called for part-time employment in the Reno Employment Security office will be paid $1.74 per hour.

Regular full-time appointments after graduation will be in the Reno, Carson City, and Las Vegas offices.

Merry Christmas.

THETA OFFICER FETED

An afternoon tea was held at the Kappa Alpha Theta house recently in honor of Mrs. Raymond Beil, the Theta's grand first vice president.

The chapter president and the rush chairman of each sorority were invited. Members of the Theta Mother's club and Alumnae association were present.

Cameron Samuels, social chairman, arranged the tea. Her committee: Donna Soderstrom, Peggy Cimjotte, Charlotte Le Maire, Gloria Urriola and Dee Dee Colton. Jan McDonald, Janet Farrol, Pat Cordes, Janet Barton, Barbara Heward and Cathy Christensen were the cleanup committee.

Serving were Miss George Myers, past chapter president; Mrs. William Taylor, past advisory board president; Mrs. William Priest, past alumnae president, and Mrs. Edward C. Reed.

Special guests were Dean Elaine Mobley and Mrs. Walter Clark.

CAMPUS BUTTONED UP FOR WINTER BY HORN

Preparations for buttoning-up the campus for the winter are near completion. Carl Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds, reported that over one hundred truck loads of leaves have been removed from the campus.

The leaves were taken to the University farm where they will be piled into an enclosed area to form a compost pile. Horn stated that it will take about two years for the leaves to form into a mulch so that they can be returned to the campus to be used as fertilizer for the lawns.

The "sweep-down" of the campus took a crew of six men working three weeks to complete.

The staff is now pruning the trees and the shrubs on campus. Over one hundred trees and shrubs will need attention, Horn said.

KATS AND SIGMA NUS HAVE JOINT PARTY

Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and the Sigma Nu fraternity joined together last Sunday for their Christmas party.

Ten needy children were completely outfitted and given toys by Santa Claus. The children were also given a Christmas dinner, as well as refreshments.

The committee in charge of arrangements was Pat Cordes, Peg-Girls designated to take charge of the children were Donna Soderstrom, Mary Lee Ronnow, Karen Knudson, Fran Breen, Carolyn gy Cimijotti and Sid Muck. Those who wrapped the gifts were Gay Brennan, Versiellen Eberle, Pat Heehs, Kress Harris, Janet Haydon, Lynn Miller, Fran Breen and Jolene Swaringen.

Decorations were arranged by Margie Miller, Shelley Branch, Ann Warren, Carolyn Chappelle, Fran Breen, Deanna Woodliff, Rita Woods, Betty Chism, Linda Bergin, Cameron Samuels, Versiellen Eberle, De De Colton, and Sigma Nu men. Chappelle and Betty Chism.

Proposals Made For Fund-Raising

Proposals are being made for raising $6,197,422 for construction work on campus, without the use of a direct appropriation or a bond issue from the state legislature.

It was pointed-out by President Minard W. Stout that the enrollment and programming have expanded at such a rate that facilities in Reno and Las Vegas are inadequate.

It is believed that the Nevada Legislature cannot appropriate more than $6,000,000 for University construction, and it is doubtful that the legislature would bond itself for the project. In light of this, the administration is pondering on several plans to obtain buildings without the direct support of legislature.

Robert Poolman, University Engineer, noted this week that some universities are solving their building programs by forming a special building commission through the state legislature. The agency is housed on campus and, being independent of the University, can borrow money or issue bonds for construction of a classroom building. The state government, through the university, then can rent the building to the University at a fixed rental. The rent is paid by the state, and the commission uses it to pay off the original debt of the building. This way the amount of the cost of the building is not felt all at once, but over a long period of time. At the end of the lease period, title to the building goes to the university.

If this plan is to be used, the state would not have to bond itself, and the money can be obtained over a long period.

In most cases, the commission is made up of members of the Board of Regents, the governor, and other state officials.

Another plan was for the University to lease ground to private building firms and investment companies, who would pay for the building from annual appropriation from the legislature.

It is possible that none of these programs will be presented to the legislature, but they will make information on the programs available if it is desired.

The administration also pointed out that the last and only appropriation during the last decade that the University has received for classrooms, dormitories, and institutional facilities, was made in 1955.

NEV. SOUTHERN BUILDING PROGRESSING—POOLMAN

"The campus is progressing," stated Robert C. Poolman, University engineer, recently after a trip to Las Vegas to inspect development of the Nevada Southern campus.

Poolman hopes that a 12 thousand square foot building, roughly two-thirds the floor space of the new classroom building here, will be finished in April.

The foundations of the structure are now complete and the masonry walls are up to three feet in height.

The original grant of two hundred thousand dollars from the Nevada legislature will not be adequate to furnish enough classroom furniture, said Poolman. This shortage of furniture will be partially alleviated by donations from the Las Vegas business and industrial community.

The building will house the entire campus facilities, just as Morrill hall housed the University of Nevada when it was moved here from Elko in 1887.

The new Nevada Southern building will contain the library, science

BARING SPEAKS

Walter S. Baring, newly elected congressman from Nevada, was the featured speaker at the University Young Democrats meeting recently.

Baring urged the group to utilize their resources and maintain their standing in the national Young Democratic program. He also related anecdotes concerning the early days of the club which was founded here in 1938.

Nominations for new officers were held during the regular business section of the meeting. Final elections will be held at a January gathering.

Nominated were:
President—Bob Ferraro, Ed DePaoli and Dave Lowe.

Vice President — Erik Beyer, Chuck Fulkerson and Virginia Dupes.

Treasurer—Norma Jean Anette.
Secretary—Nora Kellogg, Gayle Sommer, Fred Carlson and Joan Gallagher.

Social Chairman — Bob Faiss and Bev Reid.

Silas Ross Guest At Faculty Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Silas E. Ross were guests of honor at a testimonial dinner given recently on the occasion of the retirement of Mr. Ross as Chairman of the Board of Regents.

The dinner was sponsored by the faculty of the Mackay School of Mines, with Vernon E. Scheid, dean of the school of mines, presiding. William I. Smyth, chairman of the mining department, and the Rev. John Ledger, pastor of the Trinity Episcopal church, both made short addresses honoring Mr. Ross for his service to the University and the community.

During the evening, Dean Scheid presented Mr. Ross with a photograph of the Mackay statue.

A member of the Board of Regents since 1932, Mr. Ross has served as chairman since 1937. In June 1946, he was granted the degree of Doctor of Laws by special action of the board of regents. He has also served on the Reno city council, and been active in fraternal and church organizations.

Graduate

In 1909, Mr. Ross graduated from the University of Nevada with a degree in mining engineering. Retained as graduate manager of all athletics, from 1911 to 1916, he coached squads in rugby, track, and basketball. In 1911 he organized the original Block N society.

Upon graduation he was appointed a member of the chemistry department, in addition to his position as graduate manager.

From 1909 to 1914 he served as a faculty member, teaching chemistry and physics.

(Who's Trying to Confucius?)

Many moons ago . . . around 600 B. C. . . . there was a barkeep named Draw Wun in a little bistro off Times Square in Shanghai. Now this character's cashbox was loaded with loot, as Wun served up the greatest brew that side of the Yangtze.

"Murder," said Wun, one p. m. near 9 as the cats were clamoring for more beer, "I'm getting all shook up trying to keep gung-ho on the tap, take the cash, and figure out the change. I don't dig that math."

The beer Wun was crying in belonged to a calculus prof from the local U.

"Gad, Dad," sympathized the math man, "keep cool: I'll think of something. You can count on it."

So the prof rickshawed home and took a bath. Soon he was heard to shout, "Eureka!" (in Chinese, of course). He had solved the problem by inventing the abacus.

Next day he brought in a counting gizmo made of bamboo and cranberries. With this mechanical brain, Wun was able to introduce the time-payment plan, because one day a patron and Wun did this bit across the mahogany:

"I have a yen for two cold ones to go," said the customer.

"Sorry, friend, we don't accept Japanese currency," Wun lunged.

"I'm flat, cat," came the reply, "got a suggestion?"

Whereupon Wun played a few fast notes on his abacus, figured the terms of a loan for two beers and said, "Borrow one and carry two" . . . two terms still used in modern mathematics.

So you can see that's how Wun got a charge out of his abacus.

MORAL: When it comes to mathematics, you can count on an abacus if you want to. But when it comes to beer, figure on Budweiser. It's the best draught beer any side of the Yangtze. You can count on it.

300 UN Students Take Polio Shots

More than three hundred University of Nevada students are receiving poliomyelitis vaccine shots. Mrs. Mary E. Johnson, head nurse at the infirmary said the shots are being given by the University Health Service and the Federal Public Health Service at the Medical Arts laboratory at 505 Arlington avenue.

A series of three shots is given for a one dollar service charge for each vaccination. The second shot is given two months after the first, with a third following in seven more months.

The University health committee stated that about one out of three cases of polio occur in people over 21 years of age. They also stated that the vaccine will be of major importance in prevention of the disease to the age groups at the university.

Parents of students under 21 years of age must sign a release in order for the minor to participate.

Polio shots will be available to students until the supply runs out, according to Dr. Ruth Russell, director of Women's physical education. The shots are being given at the infirmary and permits may be obtained at the infirmary, the ASUN building, or the office of Dean Elaine Mobley. Release form for students wanting shots may be obtained at the ASUN president's office in the ASUN building.

Chuck Coyle is quite a politician! Instead of kissing babies and handing out candy, he kisses house mothers under the mistletoe.

Mrs. Katherine Mayhue, Theta housemother, was the first "Theta" to be kissed under the freshly mounted mistletoe in the hallway. Barbara Cavanaugh and Jay Powell are responsible for putting it up . . . watch your step in the Theta house, boys!

Well kids, have fun during the holidays and drive carefully. See you all back in school next year.

Think deep thoughts on destiny.

Thetas Receive Bang-Up Gift

You don't know what to give That Special Person for Christmas?

Somebody solved the problem by placing 5000 pounds of World War I cannon on the Kappa Alpha Theat sorority lawn, and labeling it with a big card saying

Have a Bang Up Vacation
Merry Christmas
to the Sorority Row.

"Don't open the door, it's a trick!" perplexed sorority women exclaimed Wednesday morning when they found the cannon aimed at the front door of their sorority house.

"Youth will be youth; we'll just take the truck and haul it back again," said Carl Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds. The cannon normally rests in front of the University of Nevada's Stewart Hall, but was unclamped from its concrete slab for the journey to the sorority house.

The cannon was presented to the university by the French Consul after the war.

The recipients of the massive gift heard laughter and noises at 1 a.m., but didn't pay much attention to it. The card was signed "from the _____."

Winter is here—glorious winter with it's frozen toes, slick streets, cars sliding into each other, birds freezing in the snow, insects left as hollow shells.

Stan Summers Leads Wolfpack In Double Win

Stan Summers, 6-foot 7½-inch center of the Nevada Wolf Pack, made the game of basketball look rather simple Saturday night as he nonchalantly tossed eight free throws and six field goals through the hoop to score twenty points and lead the Pack to a 79-48 win over Eastern Oregon.

The Mountaineers of Eastern Oregon could do little to stop Nevada's Wolf Pack from scoring. Nevada took the two game series played in the university gymnasium last weekend, winning 68-51 Friday night and 79-48 Saturday night.

Stan Summers was the star of the show as he paced to and fro on the hardwood floor, stopping occasionally to score a point or two or to grab the ball off the backboard.

Wolf Pack Five Meets Aztecs

The Aztecs of San Diego State will meet Nevada's Wolf Pack tonight and tomorrow night in a two-game series in the university gym. Game time is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Tony ("The Terrific") Perkins is the standout player for the Aztecs. This is his third year at San Diego, and he is the fourth man in that school's history to score 1,000 points in a varsity career.

In pre-season scrimmages, the Aztecs rolled up a 91-60 margin over the Camp Pendleton Marines and handed the San Diego Naval Training center team a 106-78 loss.

The Wolf Pack so far this season has won four of five games. It has twice defeated the College of Idaho and Eastern Oregon, losing only to powerful College of Pacific.

The Nevada JVs will go against the Chico JVs in preliminary games tonight and tomorrow night. They are scheduled to begin play at 6:45 p.m.

God bless us all—Tiny Tim.

Fumigalli Leads Wolf Cubs To Twin Wins

The University of Nevada junior varsity basketball squad scored 79 points to defeat the Oasis Bar of the Reno City league last Friday night in the university gym. The game was played as a preliminary to the Nevada-Eastern Oregon tilt.

Bernie Fumagalli led the JVs in scoring with 24 counters. Also doing their share of scoring were Lyle Damon and Chuck Walker with 11 and 10 points respectively.

In Saturday night's game, the JVs met and defeated the Herlong high school team 62-45.

Phi Sig Pledges In "Hell Week"

Ten Phi Sigma Kappa pledges recently went through the traditional "hell week" activities, said Tom Richardson, Phi Sig president.

A majority of the week's activities were devoted to cleaning the chapter house.

Each year the pledges are given a project rather than the usual harrasing, as is the practice of many fraternities, Richardson stated. "We believe that the pledges benefit more by doing something constructive," he added.

Those participating in "hell week" activities included Lynn Peterson, Warren Gibson, Danny Winters, Ted Boyer, Son Stewart, Jim Hill, Dave Hanson, Vic Williams, Joe Firoved, and Don Anderson.

Correction: A while ago Jim Lusk was identified as Ronald Musk. Sorry.

Merry Christmas.

LINCOLN HALL DOWNS HARTMAN HALL FOR FIRST HOOP WIN

Lincoln hall won its first intramural basketball game of the season by defeating Hartman hall in the fourth week of play. Hartman's five now has one win and three losses. Lincoln hall broke a four-game losing streak by winning. The win also lifted the Lincoln squad out of the nine-team league cellar spot.

Theta Chi and Phi Sig fraternities both were dropped by forfeit when neither team appeared for the game.

MEET THE PACK

By Bob Brown

Back in action after a two-year lay-off for a hitch in the army is Johnny Legarza. The 6' 190-pound guard is a two year letterman, having lettered in his freshman year during the 1952-53 season. As a junior in the 1953-54 season, Johnny was the second high scorer.

Legarza attended high school in Winnemucca where he played four years of varsity basketball. He made first team all-state as a sophomore. He repeated as an all-stater his junior year.

In his senior year Johnny did not make the all-state team because the all-staters are picked from the participants in the state tournament, and the Winnemucca team did not qualify. Although he did not make the all-state team his talents were not unnoticed. He was heralded by some of the state's sports writers as the "best player in the state."

During these four years Legarza established many of the Eastern Nevada high school records, some of which still stand.

While in high school Johnny also participated in track in the hurdles. He also played six-man football during his freshman and sophomore years.

Johnny is an education major, planning to be a coach after graduation. He is 23 years old and is married.

UN Rifle Team in Hearst Meet

The University of Nevada rifle team scored 944 points out of a possible 1000 in the William Randolph Hearst rifle competition for the Sixth Army area.

Fifty college and universities entered the postal match on Saturday, December 8. The results will be announced in January.

AP Honors Five Pack Grid Foes

Five football players who performed against the Wolf Pack during the past season won mention on the Associated Press Little All-American football team this week.

Nevada, who had a winless season in eight starts, failed to place anyone on the national honorary team.

Heading the opponents honored by AP was Wixie Robinson, Peperdine guard, who was named on the third team. He was a repeater from last season when he made the Little All-American first team as an end.

Others listed were in the honorable mention category. All were from Far Western Conference teams. They were Phil Huff, Humboldt State tackle; Floyd Peters, San Francisco State tackle; John Skube, Sacramento State guard; and Lonnie Cagle, Cal Aggie back.

NEVADAN IN PORSCHE WINS ROAD RACE

Don Dickey, former student at the University of Nevada, placed first in his class at the recent Palm Springs, California, sports car races.

Dickey, driving his Porsche "Carrera" coupe, won the unmodified under 1500 cubic centimeters class against some of the top cars and drivers on the west coast. Skip Hudson, in another Porsche "Carrera" speedster, placed second to Dickey in the close race. Hudson was winner of this division at the Pebble Beach races last spring.

Dickey, whose car is also for every day, swapped the lead with Hudson a few times before he finally pulled ahead in the last laps of the race to emerge victorious.

The racer said that he hopes to go to Europe this spring to compete in the races there. He said that he hoped to drive a Porsche "Spyder." The Spyder is more potent than the "Carrera" model that Dickey used at Palm Springs.

Nevada Hosts FWC Tournament; First Round Pairings Announced

Pairings for the first round of the annual Far Western Conference tournament to be held in Reno, December 27-29, were announced this week by Wolf Pack mentor "Jake" Lawlor. This is the third time that the tournament has been staged, but the first time Nevada has hosted it.

Eight schools will participate in the tournament, according to Lawlor, tournament director. They include the six Far Western Conference schools and two "outsiders" specially invited. The two "outside schools" are Willamette University and Whittier college.

Willamette is located in Salem, Oregon, and is a member of the Pacific Northwest conference. Their last season's record was 10 wins and 15 losses.

Whittier College, of Whittier, California is a member of the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic circuit and compiled a 15-15 record last season.

The Wolf Pack finished third in previous FWC tournaments. The defending champions are the San Francisco State Golden Gators, who hosted last year's tournament.

Opening round games will find Sacramento State's Hornets playing the Cal Aggies in one upper bracket. The other upper bracket game will find the Chico State Wildcats meeting Willamette.

Defending Champs
Lower bracket action will find the Wolf Pack squaring-off with Humboldt State's Lumberjacks in opening round play. The defending champs, from San Francisco State will meet the Whittier Poets, the other "outside" team.

The coming tournament will be the largest ever staged by the War Western Conference. In past years only the six FWC teams participated.

This will be the first intercollegiate basketball tournament held in Reno since 1946, when the Nevadans hosted a four team invitational tournament. The Wolf Pack emerged victorious in this tournament.

This year, instead of a consolation championship, the winner of the loser's bracket will remain in contention for fourth place in the tournament.

The opening game of the tournament is slated to get underway at 4:00 p.m., December 27, according to Lawlor. Games will be played at hour and one-half intervals, allowing approximately one hour and fifteen minutes for each game and fifteen minutes warm-up for the next game.

He was a member of Block N, Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, and Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity.

This is Sergeant Day's second

During his more than 16 years of active duty in the army, he has been stationed in Hawaii and Alaska as well as many places in the United States. His most recent previous assignment was to the Nevada Military district, also in Reno. Besides being a regular army master sergeant, he holds a commission in the Army Reserves as a Major.
