Shelley and Bob Reign at Prom

Shelley Branch and Bob Lewis were crowned queen and king of the annual Junior Prom last week end. Bill Thornton, junior class president, did the honors. Shelley was Kappa Alpha Theta's candidate, and Bob represented Alpha Tau Omega.

Blue-eyed, blond, Shelley is a 19-year-old Renoite. She was chosen "Miss Hi" to reign over the "Hello on the Hill" dance her freshman year. Shelley stands 5' 2" tall and weighs 105 pounds.

As a member of Kappa Alpha Theta she has been active in two homecoming skits, as 1956 rush chairman, and was recently elected to the position of chaplain.

Bob Lewis is the Taus' president. He was also recently elected president of the Interfraternity council. Bob served as chaplain and vice president of his house before taking over the gavel.

Braden Stauts and Dave Lowe Campaign for ASUN Presidency

Primary elections will be held this afternoon to determine candidates for the student body election Tuesday. The primary will be significant only in that it will determine the final candidates for men's and women's senator at large. The remaining four offices have only two candidates each.

After long hours of discussion the nominating committee completed the slate of candidates for student body offices. The committee's job is to fill vacancies on the ballot so that students will have at least a choice of two candidates for each post.

Nominations for student body president went to Dave Lowe and Braden Stauts. Stauts was the choice of his fraternity while Lowe was named by the nominating committee. Also nominated for president was Bob Hemphill who withdrew from the race for personal reasons.

Student Code Revised

The long awaited revision of the "student code of conduct" was presented to the student senate last night by Lillian Johnson, chairman of the revision committee.

The senate will take the provisions under consideration and at the next meeting will vote for or against the adoption.

The code has the approval of the dean of student affairs and the dean of women. If approved by the senate it will be submitted to the students at the general election.

In revising certain portions of the code, the committee laid the stress on the social policy of the University in regards to overnight dances, alcoholic beverages and campus dress for women.

Under the old code, overnight dances were not allowed. The revision now provides for these dances with strict control and regulations that must be observed. The enforcement of these provisions is under the authority of the disciplinary committees of the student government.

The matter of drinking at off campus as well as at on campus functions has not been in accord with the policy of the University. Under the new proposals, the off campus drinking will be left to the discretion of the individual organization concerned with the understanding that university officials will take action only as a last resort. Liquor in any form in campus residences, fraternity houses, sorority houses or on campus proper is still prohibited at all times.

There has been very little officially recorded in the matter of campus dress. The new code provides for each student to assume responsibility of exercising reasonable judgment in his dress with certain limitations. Ski clothing, jeans, (for girls only), Bermuda shorts or pedal pushers will not be worn to classes without the approval of the instructor. This type of clothing is not restricted from the library, however.

A separate code for hours for the women students will be submitted to the senate by a committee from the Associated Women Students to replace the ones in the present student code.

A committee from the Associated Students will be appointed to take up the parking problem on campus and add their recommendation at a later date.

During the last session of the state legislature he was very active in lobbying for the bill which increased the board of regents.

Since there are only two nominations for senior class president, neither candidate will be affected by today's primary election. Their names will appear on Tuesday's

More Changes In Constitution

More proposed changes in the ASUN constitution were presented to the Student Senate at a special meeting Thursday night.

They are:

(1) In general, the requirements for elected officers will be tightened, such as grade averages and class status.

(2) Following the close of ASUN nominations, the nominations committee will have the sole responsibility for filling the slates in every elected office. Its power to do so is not now in writing. The following new rules would apply.

A—Immediately following the close of the nominations, the nominating committee will meet to see that all slates are properly filled.

B—If the minimum numbers required for general election, two, has been filled before nominations close, the nominating committee will not act. If the slate is not full, the committee will fill it, with a minimum of two, and a maximum, of three candidates.

C—Requirements for elected officers shall not be waived under any circumstances.

D—Nominations committee shall check with registrar on the eligibility of nominees with respect to grades and class status.

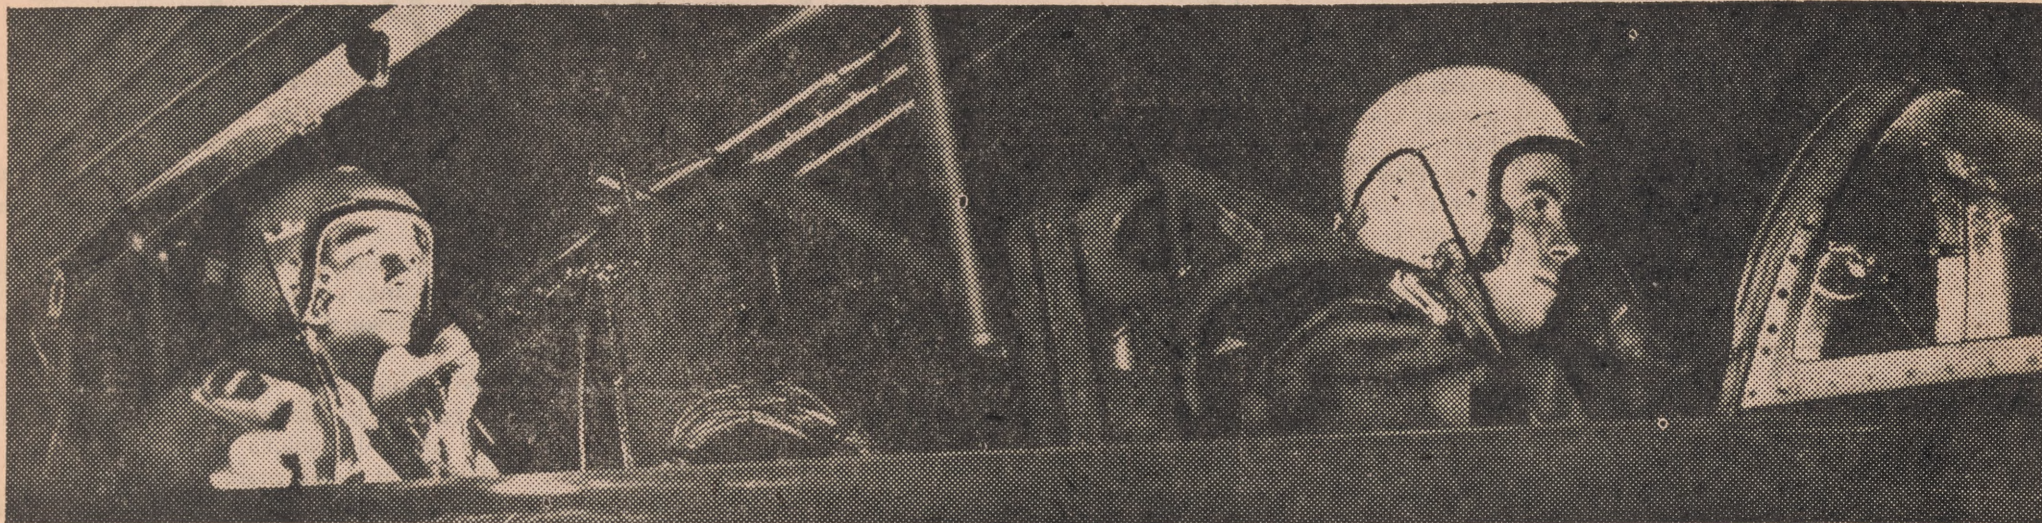

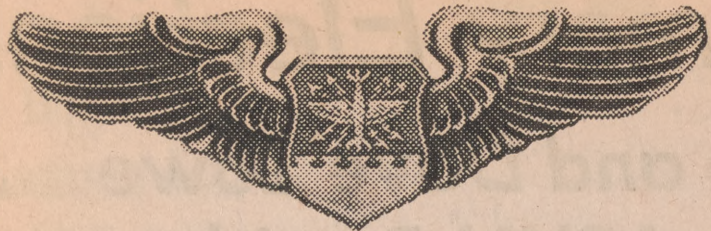

Under this system, the Executive committee will have no say regarding nomination committee

Bobbin' Along

By Bob Faiss

This column is dedicated to people who live in contented disorder but don't live in glass houses.

The Sundowner's theme song after their last three recitals, which were hampered by wind, rain, and cold, is "Nobody Up There Likes Us."

Abner Dean wrote a poem which should have been titled "Love Ode To A Sorority Girl from a Fraternity Man." Something like this:

"If I had a dime for every time I miss you when you're away — We could both settle down and be broke, my love, just like we are today."

Many people are upset over the turn taken by the student body elections, especially in the ASUN president race. Braden Stauts filed first and was unopposed until the final day. Bob Hemphill's fraternity brothers filed his name on Thursday, following telegraphed orders. Hemphill, who is election chairman, was out of town during the latter part of the filing period, and couldn't be present.

Two days later, for unexplained reasons, Hemphill dropped from the race. President Coyle asked for a special Saturday night meeting of the Nominating committee to select an opponent for Stauts. Broden's backers waited with their political shotguns loaded for bear although not even a rabbit had appeared on the scene.

After two hours of meeting, the Nominating committee came up with the name of Dave Lowe for president and Barney Mergen for junior class leader. Mergen replaced Sigma Nu Dick Ankers who had been disqualified by the senate executive committee.

Lowe, a Theta Chi who is on inactive status from his fraternity, decided to run on the Independent ticket along with Mergen and Bub Whalen, senior class hopeful. In line with this stand, Lowe refused financial aid from Theta Chi and sought independent funds for his campaign expense.

That was how matters stood at the beginning of the week with everyone confused and many kinda mad. But since when is this any different?

Little has been heard lately from Nevada Southern. The Clark county fledgling started out big and seemed intent on building up a needed inter-school rivalry. Since their failure to present a skit in the last Wolves Frolics after accepting an invitation, they've been strangely silent.

Business students, who can remember the days of radio, argue that the voice of Prof. John Reed brings memories of the voice of the late Major Bowes, airwave pioneer in the display of new talent.

A check of the ASUN ballot, which shows only two races scheduled for a primary, would indicate that Nevada is a school of many king-makers, but few kings.

Prof. are Becoming Human Dept. . . . A student had an excuse for missing class this week, he told Prof. Willard Day. He had been detained in jail, he said, while waiting for bail on a traffic count.

"Good Boy," boomed Day.

There is as much or more sin now, old man, but different people are doing it.

Close, but so far.

Theta Chi's Have Car Wash Drive

Dave Middlebrook, Theta Chi pledge class president, claims that "statistics show that girls like boys with clean cars better than any other kind!"

His object was that the "minute men" of Theta Chi's pledge class, launched a campaign to clean-up the campus car last week.

From 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Theta Chi house, 42 9 University Terrace, pledges washed cars, cleaned whitewalls and windows, and vacuumed interiors, "all for the nominal fee of 9c per car."

Profits from the car-wash will further the spring semester pledge project. Their goal is to enlarge the dining room of their house and add a lounge area.

Sigma Nus Set "Poker Party"

Sigma Nu actives will have their second annual "poker party" with the alumni members tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. Harry Hansen, chairman of the get-together, announced that it will be held at the Sigma Nu chapter house, 1075 Ralston street.

The purpose of the "poker party" is to better relationships between the active and alumna chapters and to raise money. The money will go into the Sigma Nu "Dime-a-Day Fund," which is a project of the active members, each of whom gives a dime a day toward "the cause" of bettering the house.

With money from this fund, the "Snakes" have bought a new carpet, a hi-fit set, and have started work on the rumpus room, which should be finished this summer.

Dick Ankers, the alumni contact, says that a good number of alumni are expected out for a "fast night of poker." Refreshments will also be served.

JOB OPENING IN KOREA

A job opening for a graduate or undergraduate with a knowledge of tungsten and magnesium is being offered to some Nevada student.

An "estimator" able to define the quantity and quality of the two metals is needed by a Korean mining firm.

More information is available on the subject in the office of Mr. Sam Basta, student counselor.

Horn Denies Gym In Poor Condition

"It's just politics. Lousy politics."

This was Carl Horn's reply to an editorial appearing in the Nevada State Journal which attacked the conditions of the University of Nevada gymnasium during the recent high school championship tournament.

The article criticized the university for neglecting the maintenance of the gym. Floors were dirty and lights which had burned out were not replaced, stated the article.

"Who got it dirty?" asks Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds. "We cleaned it every night. The teams came in at 7:30 every morning and were there until late at night. Students threw confetti everywhere. Sure, it was a mess, but they did it."

An article criticizing the condition of the gym also appeared in the Las Vegas Review-Journal. It commented on the cracks in the floor, the inability of players to get the ball to bounce straight, and the failure of the electric score-board.

"They're just sore because all three of the southern teams lost," said Horn in answer to this. "Just show me a crack in that floor over an eighth of an inch wide."

Sundowners To Name Queen

"The pageantry and beauty of the Bourbon Queen crowning, the awarding of our valuable door prize, and the imaginative setting should make this Sundowner's Levi Formal outstanding," states Louis Porta, organization president.

The dance will be held tonight at the American Legion hall beginning at 9 p.m.

Candidates for the traditional Bourbon Crown are Trudy Caddell, Delta Delta Delta; Pat Reynolds, Gamma Phi Beta; Kris Rhodes, Artemisia-Manzanita; Pat Cordes, Kappa Alpha Theta; and Nora Kellogg, Pi Beta Phi.

The queen will be elected by the Sundowners at a special meeting before the dance and will be announced during the intermission. She will be awarded a bouquet of Bourbon roses and seated on the special Sundowner throne.

An all-expense paid trip to Wadsworth will be the special door prize for the dance. Sundowners, states Porta, are not eligible for the drawing.

The American Legion hall will be decorated in a Continental motif. The traditional French Bourbon decorations will be spiced with additions from the West Indies.

"We have bowed to the calypso influence," explained Porta.

"Advance tickets," said chairman Phil Hannifan, "have sold far beyond our expectations. We are hoping that the Legion hall will hold everyone." He expects a crowd of 250-300 for the formal.

A new treat will be offered by the refreshment committee, headed by Frank Sullivan.

"We will have our regular lemonade and cookies, but this year the lemonade will be pink!!!" Sullivan

$400 MATH CONTEST DRAWS HIGH SCHOOLERS

A one hundred dollar first prize will be given in the Math department's first annual mathematics contest for Nevada high school students on April 27. Six district prizes of fifty dollars each will also be awarded.

So far 258 students from 12 of Nevada's 37 high schools have entered.

The tests which include algebra, solid and plain geometry, will be given in Las Vegas, Reno, Ely and Elko.

Assistant Math Professor Walter E. Mientka is the director and originator of the contests.

did not offer to disclose his formula. "I stole it from a retired owner of a ranch," he said.

Election or Farce?

Something very disgusting is happening on this campus, and the something is called election.

Prime example is the race for student body president.

In any election unfounded rumors prick incessantly at some of the candidates—sponsored not by the candidates themselves, but by self-interested groups who will do anything to "beat" somebody, or to see that things are run they want them.

The person to beat this year is Braden Stauts. For purely personal reasons, a dedicated group has started a rumor campaign. The rumors are principally two—that Stauts has already picked his secretary for next year, and that he has already selected his committee chairmen. The first point is simply not true. It was used last year against President Chuck Coyle. It is a handy rumor to use whenever it is needed.

The second point is simply not true either.

It should be noted that these rumors were out before Dave Lowe was nominated as an independent presidential candidate. They had little to do with who was running against Stauts. The sole purpose of the rumors was to beat Stauts, no matter who ran against him. One of the reasons for this was that for a short interval, nobody was running against him.

The situation of Lowe is particularly interesting, as it looks more and more as if he is to be merely the required pacer for the distance. But to understand this, one must go back a bit.

According to the ASUN constitution, and according to democratic principles, which this university professes to live by, two men must run for the office. But after nominations had closed, only one was running. Why?

The fraternities felt either that they had no one qualified to run, or those who were qualified did not have time for the job. One fraternity reportedly preferred to keep its best man in the house, because of rival factions. They figured he could do them more good there.

In the meantime, one fraternity felt they had a man qualified to run. The fraternity was SAE, and the man Braden Stauts. He filed, said he wanted a good clean fight for the job and waited.

Bob Hemphill decided to run, but other nominations had closed on a two-man race, he suddenly withdrew. Legally it was too late to nominate anyone else. Necessity forced legality out the window.

The nomination committee met for hours. The man finally agreed upon to oppose Stauts was Dave Lowe. He was notified late last Sunday night. To paraphrase part of a poem by Edna St. Vincent Milay, we have a man drawn from his bed, unawake, unaware, and unarmed, to run for the presidency.

Lowe has had little time to plan his campaign. At this writing his posters are not yet up. A good portion of the student body does not know he is running.

This situation, while not typical, is all too frequent of University of Nevada politics. There is a lack of persons who want to run for office.

There is rumor-mongering. There is public confusion.

A situation of this sort hurts both candidates. If either or both of them feel they are in a rat-race on a treadmill, they should look around. They might be right.

High School Tour

The recent ASUN assembly trip to southern Nevada high school has come in for quite a bit of criticism. It was called poor, and one part was called obscene.

Typical quotes from down south: Teachers—"The closing scene was very suggestive."

"We have been trying to overcome a local feeling that the U. of N: is just a play school, but this did not help us or the University."

Students—"The last scene was not something that should have been shown to high school students."

"It did not show me anything that I want to get from the University."

ASUN President Chuck Coyle, who was on the trip, and Assembly Chairman Dick Bryan, who was also on the trip, admit the show was not as good as it could have been. But it was well-received in Fallon and Tonopah, on the way south, and Rancho high liked it (although the last act was cut there).

The show was centered around social life, because the committee felt the high school students received adequate information about the academic affairs, but perhaps not enough about social activities.

The poor taste is another matter. The objectionable act is a three bears and Goldilocks routine. A male dancer goes in and out of two bedrooms, and stays in a third, where he presumably goes to sleep. The three girls come home. The first two note that someone has been in their rooms. The third appears in a negligee and says goodnight.

This is, perhaps, a little strong for high schools. The act has been presented on campus with no ill effects, but high schools are another matter.

However, there was no intention to put on a poor show, or one in poor taste. It was unfortunate that it was considered thus in the southern high schools.

Changes will be made before another show goes out. It has been proposed that song teams or Homecoming skits be sent out along with solo singers and gymnastic acts, etc., as they were a few years ago. This is a good idea, and the troupe will thus steer clear of any possible repercussion.

Another point made against the show was that it had not been approved here. This is true. The high school relations committee is one group which could have cleared it. They knew the show was going out, but they did not act. Nobody else acted. Dean of Men William Carlson described it as one of the "vague" areas, where no one knows exactly who should do what. But someone is responsible for approving the show, whether that responsibility is accepted or not. As it is an ASUN function, that group supposedly should be ASUN. The administration could have acted, and, in the end, has the ultimate power, despite the desire of the students to be an independent group.

But what all of this comes to is that more care should be taken in the future in such matters. The members of this year's tour made mistakes, but they have profited by them. Next year's show should be much better.

Union Director Candidates Interviewed

Candidates for the position of Student Union Director were interviewed in Salt Lake City this week by William D. Carlson, dean of student affairs.

Dean Carlson attended the meeting of the National Association of Student Union directors. Also attending the sessions were another Nevada faculty member, Burton C. Newbury, assistant professor of education, and three students, Shelley Branch, Nevada Union secretary, Bob Hemphill, and Mike Dewees, members of the board of directors.

The dean said about twenty letters had been received from candidates for the post. The field has been narrowed to about six. He spoke to about a dozen applicants at the meeting.

The position of student union director must be filled when the new building is completed. The exact time of its completion will depend on steel deliveries, said Robert C. Poolman, university engineer.

The Nevada group, with the exception of Dean Carlson, drove to the meetings last Sunday. The dean, because of conflicting appointments, flew to Salt Lake on Monday and returned late Tuesday.

While at the meetings, the Nevadans attended panels

Casting Completed For Closing Play

Casting has been completed for "A Doctor in Spite of Himself," the last Campus Players' production for the 1956-57 season. This comedy farce by the French comedian, Moliere, will be presented May 9 and 10 in the Education auditorium.

Asher Wilson, director of the show, announced that the "doctor" Sganrella, who is a "phony," will be played by Bob Faiss. Trudy Caddel has the female lead, Lucinde.

Other parts in the play are Geronte, played by Al Creel; Leandre, Don Hudson; M. Robert, Judelll Sambon; Lucas, Berney Mergen; Valere, Ted Beckett; Thibaut, Bill Brown; Perrin, Roger Joseph; Martine, Rita Maness; and Jacqueline Mead.

The play was first produced in 1866 and is considered one of Moliere's finest farces. It is the story of a woodcutter who is beaten into masquerading as a physician. He accepts fabulous fees, and gives nonsensical advice. His one good bit of "doctoring" occurs when he joins the hero and heroine in marriage.

Wiseman to Edit "Stars & Stripes" In Korea

Second Lieutenant Richard M. Wiseman, 1955 graduate of the University of Nevada, has been appointed head of the U. S. Army newspaper, "The Pacific Stars and Stripes," in Korea.

Wiseman, who has been on active duty for about 18 months, is a former president of the Phi Sigma Kappa, the University of Nevada Young Republicans club, and the Scabbard and Blade Honorary Society. He was also a member of Coffin and Keys honorary fraternity.

The Stars and Stripes, a 24-page daily circulating to about sixty thousand servicemen in Korea, is the only American newspaper available to military personnel in the Far East.

Besides editing the Stars and Stripes, Wiseman serves as commanding officer and advisor of the army's Korean News bureau. Before his new assignment, Wiseman served as Public Information Officer for the 19th Infantry Regiment of the 24th Infantry Division in Korea.

Receiving his ROTC commission at the University, the newly activated officer trained for six months in the Basic Officer's Infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga.

Formerly

Formerly an employee of Reno Newspapers, Inc., Lt. Wiseman managed a Reno Evening Gazette distribution district for the circulation department.

Lt. Wiseman's wife, the former Beverly Griggs, is attending the University of Nevada. Mrs. Wiseman says she expects her husband to be released from active military duty and return home in August.

Ubangi Stomp

"Ubangi Stomp," the theme of the Lambda Chi Alpha costume dance to be held April 26, will be carried out by a central decoration piece which depicts a clearing in the African veldt country. A "white" man is to be "stewed" in the pot by the Ubangis.

The entire dance room at the Mesa will be decorated with jungle trees, animals, and primitive huts. The dance will begin at 9 p.m.

Members of Lambda Chi will come "decked out" as a complete Ubangi tribe "from the chief and medicine man right on down to the snake charmer," announced Al Creel, social chairman. Since the fraternity men will be assigned costumes, a prize will be given only for the best woman's costume.

Creel's social committee planning the dance consists of Jim Westfield, Ron Moroni, Fred Carlson, and Ed Depaoli.

WOLF BAND WILL ATTEND HELLDORADO

Members of the University of Nevada band are preparing for their second trip to the annual Las Vegas Helldorado. The four day event begins May 16.

Professor Felton Hickman, director of the band, said that 38 students and two members of the faculty will make the five hundred mile trip.

In addition to participation in the Helldorado parades, the band will give three concerts at high schools between Reno and Las Vegas.

The band will give a concert on the morning of May 16 at Churchill county high school in Fallon. That afternoon, the band will entertain in Hawthorne. That evening a general concert will be held in Tonopah.

Members will stay overnight at Tonopah and will leave early the next morning for Las Vegas to march in the "Old Timers" parade that afternoon.

Celebrate

Saturday, the band will celebrate in Las Vegas.

The band will not be able to give concerts at any of the southern high schools because they are dismissed for the three day weekend.

Sunday, the biggest day of Helldorado, the band will march in the Bathing Beauty parade. This parade is the climax of the celebration. Following this procession, the band will travel back to Reno for their Monday classes.

The University administration made this trip possible by appropriating the funds for the trip.

FACULTY MEN COUNCIL

Mr. Sam Basta Counselor of Student Affairs, and Dean Garold Holstine have returned to Reno from a four day Convention of the Nevada Parent-Teachers' Association in Ely.

Dean Holstine and Mr. Basta served as counselors on Youth panel, discussing problems of young people. Student panel members were from the Ely high school.

While life is clouded over, I can stand it; but when, once in a while, the beautiful sunshine breaks thru, it is unbearable.

Newest NonCom Named Armorer

Sergeant First Class James Coffey, a new arrival in the Nevada military department, has been assigned as armorer in charge of the weapons at the University military department.

Coffey was last assigned to Fort Lewis, Washington, with the 702nd Ordnance battalion. He was the non-commissioned officer in charge of the small arms inspection team while with that unit.

Two trips to Korea, one to Japan, and two tours of duty in the United States have been Sgt. Coffey's assignments during his eight years' military service.

Entering the Army in 1949, Sgt. Coffey was sent to Japan, and a year later went to Korea when "the police action" broke out there. In November, 1951, he was sent back to the United States and in March, 1952, he was assigned to the Wisconsin Army Reserve advisory group at Eau Claire, Wis.

In July, 1954, the ordnance sergeant was shipped to Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. Six months later he was on his way back to Korea, where he remained until June, 1955. He was sent back to the United States and Fort Lewis.

Sgt. Coffey's permanent home is in San Leandro, Calif.

STUDENTS SMARTER NOW, HORN SAYS

"This Is Your Grass—Keep It Green" signs have been placed in various places on the campus by buildings and grounds workers. The signs are Carl C. Horn's last ditch try to keep students from wearing paths in the lawn. Horn is superintendent of buildings and grounds.

The new signs which are located in the most conspicuous places are serving as ideal billboards for student body candidates.

"The campus is the student's home away from home," says Horn. "They should take an interest in it. We have a beautiful campus, and should try to keep it that way."

Horn has another, more ingenious method of keeping students off the lawns. He has his workers set sprinklers at the positions students use as shortcuts.

The real meaning of life is not a flood on a plain, but a drop of water on a green leaf.

—or why you don't pay more for gasoline

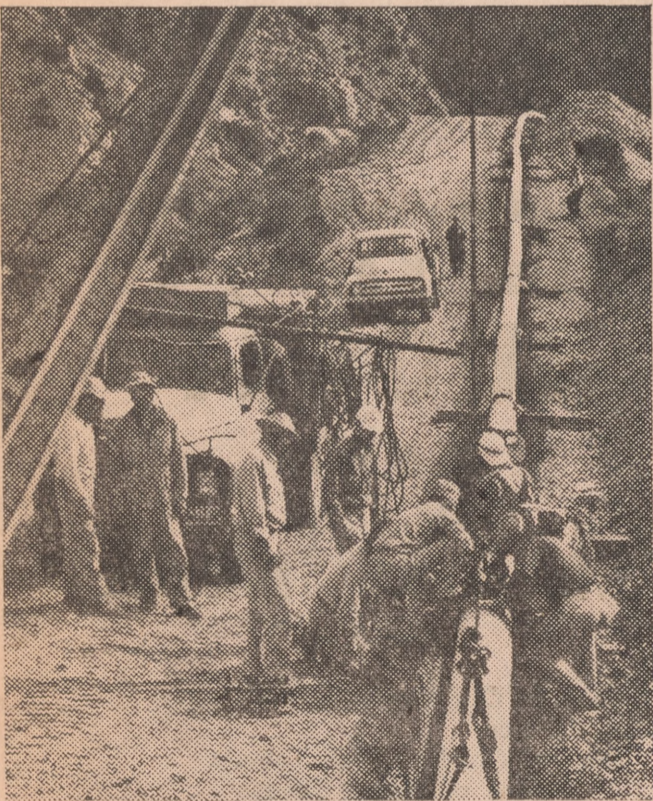

“THE OIL COMPANIES have come up with a lot of advances to meet competition and keep customers.

“Nothing, it seems to me, illustrates this better than the efficiency of the transportation system they've developed.

“If you were to mail a gallon of gasoline from Los Angeles to Seattle, for example, you'd pay 82c postage.

“For 59c less, Union Oil finds the oil in the ground, sinks a well and pumps it out, pipes it to a refinery, converts the crude oil into gasoline, pipes the gasoline from the refinery to the terminal, moves the gasoline by ship from one port to the other, where a truck picks it up and delivers it to your neighborhood service station.

“WE TRANSPORT A BARREL OF CRUDE OIL 665 MILES FOR ABOUT 1c A GALLON.”

“We then put it in your car, wash your windshield, check your oil, tires, battery and radiator, brush out your car and carry your account for a month before sending you a bill.

“All for 23.1c, if you deduct the 9½c Federal and Washington State tax on a gallon of gasoline which we collect to build roads.

“On the average, a barrel of Union Oil crude moves 665 miles between the time it leaves the ground and goes into your car as gasoline. Our handling and transportation cost for this trip is about 1c a gallon.

“That's the world's biggest transportation bargain. And one reason why gasoline doesn't cost more than it does.”

* * * *

Sam Taber, our Senior Pipeline Engineer, estimates the petroleum companies move more than 4 billion barrels of crude oil and finished product a year by pipeline.

This unique method of moving goods to market was perfected by the oil industry. As was the tank car, the tank truck and the tank ship.

It is the lowest cost transportation system in the world, developed by an intensely competitive industry to keep its prices down.

Discus Contest Featured Sat. In Bengal Meet

Max Dodge, a graduate and holder of the discus throw at the University of Nevada, and Lt. Bill Smith of Stead Air Force Base, will enter the discus toss as unattached competitors at this weekend's track meet against the Idaho State Bengals.

Reason for these two entering the competition is to try and spur big Dean Howes on to a school record.

Smith has done 145 feet in the discus throw. Dodge, after graduation, won the national AAU junior division with a 160 foot toss.

Coach Dick Dankworth said that his team has maintained a high spirit this season. None of the original turnout has dropped off the team yet, he said.

"The boys have been working very hard and have fared very well against league competition, he added.

Dankworth plans to take several members of his squad to Santa Barbara for the nineteenth annual Easter Relays on April 19. He plans to enter Howes in the discus, John Meder in the javelin throw, Jim Lyon in the shot put, and Claude Mabry and Dave Harris in the pole vault.

Harris and Lyon have both been particularly outstanding in their respective events this season. Harris vaulted 13 ft. in the opening meet of the season. This is the first time in several seasons that a Nevadan has broke the 13 ft. barrier.

Lyon has a shot put toss of 47' 2" this season for his best effort. This is only five inches short of the current school record which was set by Lawrence (Punjab) Hairston in the late 40s.

West Sector NCAA Rifle Meet

Nevada's defending national rifle team champions copped top place in the sectional National Rifle association meet last Saturday. They won out over University of California from Davis, and the Utah State Agricultural college.

Master Sergeant Kenneth Day stated that his team fired "a very commendable score" and said that the Wolfpack team "should place among the top ten in the nation."

Wolfpack shooters fired a 1,427 out of a possible 1,500. This was 26 points higher than second place Davis team that fired 1,401. The Utah Aggies fired 1,365.

Leonard Named Top Ski Coach

Top ski coach in the Far West, as chosen by the Winter Sports Writers association of northern California and Nevada, is Nevada coach Chelton Leonard.

"Shelly," a graduate of Nevada and was the captain of the Wolf Pack ski team, has an impressive record for the past season, winning the three conference meets.

Nevada topped the California teams in the Tressider Cup, at Yosemite, the Vanderbilt Cup at Sugar Bowl, and the Mt. Lassen

Far Western Conference championship.

The Wolf Pack also won the Heavenly Valley Clinic competition at the beginning of the season. The Wolf Pack was selected as the representative from the Far West Conference to attend th National Intercollegiate meet at Ogden, Utah.

The coach has successfully served as competition chairman for the Winter Carnival during the past five years during, which time he has coached the Wolf Pack.

BALBOA

You can find most anything if you know where to look

A long time ago there was a grade A explorer named V. N. Balboa. Like a pogo stick with a hot foot, he hopped from place to place, discovering this and that.

One day, paging through an old copy of the National Geographic, he became intrigued with the idea of discovering the Pacific Ocean. He set sail for Laguna Beach and landed one night in Panama (his navigator was left-handed and a little heavy on the stick).

Next morning our hero found himself out at the inn . . . and out plenty. He was in a heavy-stakes poker game. Employing an old gambling custom often used but seldom effective,

Mr. B. got up and walked around his chair. On the third time around, Bal espied in the distance a strange wet undulating object. He climbed atop his chair (it was a high chair) and lo, below him was the Pacific Ocean. "Man, that ain't dew," he cried aloud, "that is an ocean of much magnitude!" . . . and instantly spread the news of this discovery to the world via the AP, UP and INS. (The rest is history.)

Now, it's beyond us just why Balboa should receive such acclaim for discovering the Pacific Ocean, which every Indian in the vicinity worth his scalp-lock knew was there all the time. We only relate this story in a sneaky effort to get around to a moral . . .

MORAL: When you discover Budweiser, you'll discover that Budweiser is to beer as the Pacific is to oceans . . . the most!

Pack Second In Track Meet

The Wolf Pack will be host to Idaho State tomorrow for a dual field and track meet. Field events begin at 1 p.m. Running starts at 2 p.m. Last week at Stockton Bill Bowser held a winning pair, first place in the broad jump at the 22-foot mark, and in the low hurdles with 24.2. But this was not strong enough to keep 60-point Nevada out of second place. Host and winner was 73-point College

Big Dean Howes will be shooting to surpass the present school record of 154' 1/2" this Saturday in a dual meet with the Idaho State Bengals. He will also participate in the Easter Relays at Santa Barbara, Calif., on April 19.

Veteran of three track campaigns, John Meder, will be in action this weekend against the Idaho State Bengals. Meder will participate in the javelin throw, discus, shot put, and pole vault.

of Pacific. Cal Poly took third with 29 points in the three-way meet.

Standout in the shot put was Nevada's Jim Lyon, who won the event with a toss of 47' 7 1/2", only two inches away from the U.N. mark set by Punjab Hairston.

Sprinter Hugh Barnhill was fourth in the 10 with 10.1 and fourth in the 220-yard dash with 22.8, chipping four tenths of a second from his previous week's mark.

Any University of Nevada coed is welcome to ride on these days, providing she first contacts Penny Molineux, president of Saddle and Spurs. At the end of the ten hours of riding, the members of Saddle and Spurs give a test on "practical riding" to all the new girls. If they pass, they are invited to join the organization.

Ross Hall Dedication Scheduled for Sunday

Dedication and cornerstone laying of the newly built Silas E. Ross hall will be conducted this Sunday, April 14, on the Reno campus.

Ceremonies are to begin at 1:40 p.m. at the site of the new building, across from the Education building. Faculty, staff, and students of the university are invited to attend.

Lester D. Summerfield, Reno attorney, is to deliver the dedication address. The cornerstone is to be laid by the Grand Order of Free and Accepted Masons of Nevada, at the invitation of the University board of regents. The regents and special guests are to be on hand for the ceremonies.

The new classroom building was started in June of 1956. It was made possible by state legislature appropriations of 1955. The cost was about four hundred and seventy thousand dollars. The building, named after the last chairman of the board of regents, will have 17 classrooms, offices of the College of Business Administration, the registrar, deans of students, and several faculty members.

Silas E. Ross retired last year as a member of the board of regents after 25 years of service. Eighteen years were spent as board chairman.

The new structure is on the former site of the old chemistry building that was demolished last year. Mr. Ross was a student and later a faculty member in the old building. It had been erected in 1901.

Attending the convention are David Christensen, Katherine Christensen, Joe Crook, Harry Hussey, Richard Tate, Rosalind Weyant, Harry Garner, Marvin Mayo, Roxanna Miller, and Dr. William C. Miller.

Members have been working on a study of Czechoslovakia since October. The study has included problems of the country in relation to the problems which the United Nations faces in reality.

Students Plan Colorado Trip

Four University of Nevada students will spend Easter vacation canoeing 75 miles down the Colorado River. Starting at Blyth, California, the group plans to end at Shaffer's Landing in Arizona after passing through the Imperial Wildlife Refuge.

Members of the expedition are Paul Hauser, motion picture photographer; Mary Wolfe, cook; Frank Way, water safety instructor; and Don Sullivan, nature and Wildlife photographer.

Plans for a canoe trip formulated last December when special photographic equipment and two seventeen-foot canoes were bought. Classes then began for the four adventurer in water safety instruction and orientation of the area to be traveled.
