Nominate Deleissegues, Hudson for Senate Seat

By Stel Carley

Five Vie for Frosh Class Proxy Position

The general elections for this year's freshman class managers will be held Wednesday, October 9 from 8 a.m. till 4 p.m. The final run-off between the remaining candidates will be held Friday, October 11, in the Snack Bar of Stewart Hall.

Five candidates for the office of freshman class manager in next Wednesday's election are William Welsh, Edward Allison, Harry Lipparelli, James Murphy, George Smith.

A candidate eligible for the office of freshman class manager could be any member of the class regularly enrolled in the University. This year the five candidates nominated for the office are from five of the living groups on campus.

Bill Welsh

William Welsh, the Alpha Tau Omega candidate for the office, hails from Hawthorne. Welsh is a 17-year-old pre-med student. Bill played football in high school and lists it as one of his major interests. His campaign platform is stated to be, "all organized freshmen proposals can be realities."

Jim Murphy

Sigma Nu's nomination for the manager's position is James Murphy, of Reno. Murphy is a civil engineering student who likes football. Murphy plans to "represent the freshman class as it should be represented."

Edward Allison

Edward Allison, who is representing Sigma Alpha Epsilon in the race is from Carson. Allison is a 17-year-old pre-med student who plans to go out for basketball and baseball this year.

George Smith

George Smith is the nominee from the Gamma Delta Iota Independent organization. George, an electrical engineering student from Gabbs is interested in sports and politics. Basically he feels that the independents in the freshman class should be represented along with those associated with fraternities and sororities.

Harry Lipparelli

Harry Lipparelli, who is being offered as a candidate by the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, is from Elko. Sports in general, photography, and science are among this 18-year-old pre-dental student's activities.

In Thursday's assembly the finalists will be presented and will have an opportunity to present their programs to the class personally.

Dick Deleissegues and Don Hudson have been nominated to fill the veteran position of men's senator-at-large.

A special session of the ASUN senate will be held next Wednesday night for voting on the two candidates. These two names were presented by the senate nominating committee.

Deleissegues presented his qualifications as:

In his freshman year he served on the Winter Carnival Committee; Sophomore was on the Mackay Day committee and was elected to serve his fraternity as house senator; last year, his junior year, he was active on the Men's Upper-Class Committee and was elected president of Lambda Chi Alpha.

Hudson listed his qualifications as:

Eight years of student government during which he served as president of his student body three times in junior high school, high school and junior college. Before coming here he served as president of the California Junior College Council; since coming here last spring semester he has attended senate meetings to acquaint himself with the procedure of the senate. Hudson is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

The spring musical was unanimously approved by the senate.

The social code was approved by President Minard Stout and is now in full effect.

POSITION OF STUDENT NEWS EDITOR OPEN

Application for those persons interested in becoming student news editor of the University of Nevada currently are being taken at the office of Student Body President Don Travis in the ASUN building.

The position involves news releases concerning activities of students for hometown newspapers. The position pays $40 monthly.

Announcement of Miss Holm's appearance was made by Carl Shaff, rally committee chairman.

INJURED GRIDDER—Fullback Bill Tyson, who was injured in last week's football game against Idaho State here, smiles from his bed at Washoe Medical Center. Tyson's condition has been reported to be "much improved." Tyson was carried from the football field by eight football players after it was found no ambulance or stretcher was available at the field. After being carried from the field, Tyson remained in the dressing room until an ambulance could be summoned.

'RESPONSIBILITY'

In a game as rough as football there easily can be injuries to players. Each player, as he takes the field, realizes that his chances for injury—slight or serious—are great.

In most schools at which football is played, steps are taken to have a doctor and an ambulance at the field and ready for immediate duty.

Not so at the University of Nevada.

Saturday night the Wolf Pack opened its 1957 season. In the third quarter of the game, fullback Bill Tyson was injured. He suffered a nerve pinch in a vertebrae and was temporarily paralyzed.

For 10 minutes he laid on the field while "responsible" persons were looking for items one usually would have at his finger tips at an average game. They were looking for such off-beat items as a stretcher—and maybe even an ambulance.

Finally the injured player was carried from the field by members of the Nevada and Idaho State squads. The attending physician then sent for the ambulance.

Now, some might say the athletic budget just won't stand for the strain of such a useless bit of equipment as a stretcher—or such a useless thing as an ambulance.

If it is not a matter of budget, then the shameful display at last Saturday's football game is a matter of carelessness.

And carelessness which could result in even more serious injury or death to a player is a terrible carelessness.

The problem must be laid to the feet of those in charge of the financial and policy matters in the physical education department.

Young men who play football for love of the game, for their school, or for whatever their reasons, are playing for their coaches and director of athletics.

These men owe it to their athletes and the student body to take necessary safety precautions so that the shameful exhibition which occurred Saturday night never again will happen while athletics are sponsored by this school.

Mr. Hill

Sanders Named Football Player of Week

O'Neill Sanders received the award this past week as the outstanding player in Nevada's 42-7 loss to the Idaho State Bengals. Sanders was presented a silver football for his performance.

A graduate of Douglas High school, where he was a standout in both football and basketball, and a former serviceman, Sanders is in his second season with the Wolf Pack. He started last season as a first string halfback. Later when injuries hit the Nevada club, he moved to center. He started this season at the same center position.

Sanders, a 6'0" 195-pound junior, is a physical education major. He captained last week's game.

Women Offered Swim Playday

Women students of the University of Nevada have received an invitation to compete in the Sacramento Valley Intramural League Swimming Playday, to be held at the University of California at Davis, October 19.

Four years ago Nevada became a member of the Sacramento Valley League. This enabled Nevada women students to participate in all playdays of the league. A playday features representatives from many schools participating in various sporting activities.

Because of a previous restriction to college and universities in a 100 mile radius, a constitutional amendment was necessary to admit Nevada into the league.

University women will participate in the swim meet with 12 other colleges and universities from the Sacramento Valley. The meet will offer competition in speed, form, and diving.

The representatives for Nevada have not been selected. Women interested should see Miss Marjorie A. Price, physical education instructor.

Wolf Pack Thrashed By Idaho St. 40-6

By Dewey Berscheid
Sagebrush Sports Editor

Nevada lined up to receive the opening kickoff. Hundreds of students had packed the student bleachers and stood and cheered loudly. The referee blew the whistle and waved his arm. The Idaho kicker moved forward to the ball, and BOOM.

Before all the fans were able to sit down, Idaho had scored, one of many touchdowns.

Idaho's first touchdown came within the first two minutes of play when the Bengals blocked a Nevada kick and recovered the ball in the Wolf Pack end-zone. Idaho went on to rack up 40 points before the Big Blue managed to score.

The Nevada cheering section, stubborn to the very end, went wild when the outclassed Wolf Pack, also stubborn to the end, scored its only touchdown in the final period of play.

The tally was made by Tom Whitaker who took a long, long pass from quarterback Ken Fujii and raced six yards to the Bengal goal.

Coach Gordon McEachron now has a "record" of 13 losses, 2 wins and one tie since taking the job as Nevada's head coach. Previous to last Saturday's game McEachron stated that "with any luck at all we will upset Idaho State." Ball games are seldom won on luck alone.

Final score: Idaho 40, Nevada 6.

Bob Brulotte, Gary Lundergreen Captains of Tonight's Games

Guard Bob Brulotte and half-back Gary Lundergreen have been chosen to captain the University of Nevada Wolf Pack in tomorrow night's game against the Chico State Wildcats.

Lundergreen, a 5'11" 185 pounder from Gardnerville, Nevada, is starting his second season with the Wolf Pack. In his first game of the season Lundergreen intercepted three passes and scored one touchdown. He leads the team in receiving with five catches.

Brulotte is a senior from Jerome, Idaho. He weighs 195, and stands 5'8" tall.

Pack Still Seeking First Win of Year

Wolf Pack fans will have another chance to see Nevada in action when the Chico State Wildcats come growling into Mackay Stadium at 8:00 tomorrow night.

The Cardinal and White 'Cats, with two victories under their belt already, will be out to make it three in a row. And chances are they will, if the records for the season are any indication.

Last week Chico edged Pepperdine 19-13, the same Pepperdine team that dropped the Pack 24-12 two weeks ago.

Last year, in a game played at College Field in Chico, the Wolf Pack tied the Wildcats 6-6. It was the only game of the season that the Nevada team didn't lose.

The Chico, Calif., team is coached by Gus Manolis. Manolis is a graduate of the University of California, '49. He has a record of 18 wins, ten losses, and one tie to date. Manolis has been coaching for three years.

Nevada has played Chico eleven times, losing to them only twice. Chico, like Nevada, is a member of the Far Western Conference. Chico finished fourth last season in the conference.

Chico State had an enrollment of 2,300 last year, compared to Nevada's 1,700.

KELLOGG'S KRISPIES

By Nora Kellogg

For the benefit of Marva Edwards, Kellogg's Krispies is a "gossip" column, not a cereal advertisement. Think you can find it this week?

Two more couples have joined the rank of newly-pinned this week. "Romance degrees" go to Lois Rothchild and Jerry Williams, Sigma Nu . . . and also to Wuanita Combs, Gamma Phi, and Ed Olsen, Phi Sig. More beer and candy!

Speaking of beer . . . Thetas are still waiting for Fran Beer to pass candy for her engagement to Bob Autry, Sigma Nu, which was announced at last year's White Rose formal. Manana!??

The first home football game Saturday night saw the bleachers filled to capacity with students full of school spirit, or "spirits" of one kind or another. Lets hope the remainder of the season is a victorious one for the wolf pack.

Phi Sigs turned out "en masse" for the game wearing the wildest selection of "chapeaux" to date . . . and to think men criticize women's hat creations.

Couples seen over the weekend were Nancy Arnold, Gamma Phi, and Bob "ding-ding" Litton, Sigma Nu . . . Don Bernard, SAE, and Judy Stammer, Pi Phi . . . Mac Fry, Tau, and Sharon Wendt, Tri Delt . . . Jim Santina, A.T.O., and Marie McDonough, KAT . . . Dav Lowe, and Marilyn Hall, Pi Phi . . . Ben Bingaman, SAE, and Eleanor Harp, Gamma hi . . . Don Rasmussen and Eleanor Boyer, Pi Phi . . . Norm Scoggin, SAE, and Patsy Lewis, DDD, and Dick Deleissegues, Lambda Chi.

Sigma Nu Bob Ferraro is in a dilemma. He is still trying to figure out which Hulbert twin he took out last week . . . Joan or Jill? It seems that one is engaged!

More of the many: Jim Joyce, Tau, and Ned Norton, DDD . . . Snake Ronnie Gott and Nina Freedman . . . Dick Dorworth, SN, and Virginia Berry, KAT . . . Mac Jackson, Tri Delt, and Bob Lewis, Tau (the wheels of their houses) . . . Anita Taylor and Dale Heath, SN Gay Prennan, KAT, and Pete Looney, SN . . . Sally Holmes, Tri-Delt, and John Meder, Tau . . . Paul Huffey, Tau, and Gail Sprague, Theta . . . Gary Andreas, Tau, and Alex Anastassatos, DDD . . . Bob Ferrari, Sigma Nu, and Audrey Bernard, Pi Phi turned airline stewardess.

Latest word from Block N president Bob Ferrari . . . patronize your hot dog stands or you will be eating leftovers at the remaining home games.

SAE's, Spurring Along Elections, serenaded sorority and dorm girls Monday night. Even the rain didn't keep them from introducing their candidate for frosh manager, Ed Allison.

And back to the couples again . . . Bill Kearney, SAE, and Bonnie Fairchild, Theta . . . Mike Dewees, SN, and Cathy Zimmerman, Theta . . . Pete Potter, SN, and Marty Emery, Pi Phi . . . Dave Harris, Tau, and Kay Kelly, Pi Phi (get a little confused on the change in hours?) . . . Bob Sillery, SN, and Ann Jones, DDD . . . Jerry Eggers, SAE, and Rita Miolini, Gamma Phi . . . Tau Al Alcorn and Tri Delt Ginger Ivers, and on and on and on . . .

If you get strange requests from even stranger-looking people this weekend, remember that Sigma Nus are going through "hell" week.

Letter to the Editor

Traditions are classic and they have their place. I even imagine that to some they are an endearing joy that resounds with memorable innocence: that thoughtless automaton of performance which is socially right and acceptable to the mass mind. But I was always under the impression that a person came to college to develop any individualistic potentiality that was possible in him. Then why should some illiterate clown, possessing nothing more than the seniority gained through the mere excellence of being around the campus the proper length of time, be allowed to force upon a new student the manner in which he is supposed to dress and act? Maybe he doesn't give a damn about tradition. Perhaps all he wants is an education. If so, then why should he be subjected to the strongarm threat of the glorious Upper Class Committee?

To sight an incident. The other day I saw a student literally tackled to the pavement in front of the education building. It happened between classes and was witnessed by a number of people. Not only was this student embarrassed, but then to see the sadistic "big man," triumphant look on his face of the righteous guard of tradition was utterly nauseating. Surely there are enough naive toys to play that game willingly without hunting down

BROWN KNOWS

By BILL BROWN

The nominating committee at the University of Nevada is a group which has been appointed by the Senate to recommend persons who are eligible and wish to run for office.

The nominating committee was called upon this week to present to the senate two names who were worthy and deserving to fill the post of Senator at large. The reason for this action came about when Bob Faiss former senator, chose to remain in Las Vegas this semester. As it was felt that Bob was not able to serve the best interest of the university 450 miles away the committee started screening candidates.

The names which they finally brought to senate Wednesday night are those of Don Hudson and Dick Deleissegues. It has been alleged that these were not the names that the committee had originally planned to present but nonetheless these were the names submitted.

As these names were not made public until the senate meeting the logical question to ask of the committee why were not the students informed prior to Wednesday night.

Having consulted with the committees concerning this question the answer I received was that by keeping the names secret all semblance of political maneuvering could be avoided.

This may be true but what the nominating committee accomplished by shrouding the names in secrecy was that the University will not have a men's senator for another week.

The reason for this is that many senators felt that they could not vote the names without consulting their living groups thus necessitating a week's delay in the seating of the senator.

As the senators function is that of representing their respective houses this is all that they could do unless they wanted to conduct the election as a popularity poll and vote as individuals.

Thus the university will not have a senator for at least another weekend as the Senator at Large is a voting member of all committees every student could suffer.

A plaudit to the cheerleaders, who, although we did not have much to cheer about did well with what they had.

On one side of a Massachusetts signboard is the inscription: "Road closed—do not enter!" The other side reads: "Welcome back, stupid!"

the individual.

College is a place to progress from beneath our varied doubts into a free thinker, a free man, or even a social rebel. But the choice is ours and not THEIRS to make for us. We don't all get our kicks from playing charades in narrow-minded corners.
