Journalist Conclave Set Here

With the 35th anniversary of the initiation of education for journalism at the University of Nevada as its theme, the Nevada State Press association will hold its 1958 convention tomorrow on the campus in Reno.

More than a hundred newsmen and women from all parts of the state will be in Reno for the gathering, which will meet in the Journalism building as the guest of the Department of Journalism.

The all-day session will include talks by a Nevada journalism alumnus, a senior student, and a number of Department of Journalism faculty members, Jock Taylor, editor of the Reese River Reveille and president of the association, said in announcing the program.

Chris H. Sheerin, editor and co-publisher of the Elko Daily Free Press, will tell of how the first class in journalism was offered in 1922 upon the petition of a group of students and how instruction developed over the years.

First Class

Sheerin was a member of the first journalism graduating class in 1924, and later served as a member of the board of regents of his alma mater.

A talk by Eduardo Alvarez del Castillo, senior journalism student from Guadalajara, Mexico, will compare the newspapers of the United States with those south of the border. Upon graduation in June, Alvarez will return to his native city to join the staff of El Informador, the leading provincial newspaper in Mexico, of which his grandfather is the editor and publisher.

Edward R. Slingland, lecturer in journalism, will tell the delegates what makes appealing news photographs, and how to obtain them. Slingland, who is a reporter with the Reno Evening Gazette, teaches the University course in Pictorial Journalism. He studied Journalism at Nevada.

Tryouts Scheduled For Next Players Production

Try-outs for parts in the Campus Players last production of the season are being held in the Education auditorium between 4 and 6 p.m. today.

The play is Robert Sherwood's "Petrified Forest." Fifteen players, three women and twelve men, are needed to fill the vacancies.

The story concerns an artist who is trapped in a roadhouse in Arizona with gangsters.

The leading role of Duke Mantee was originally played by Humphrey Bogart in 1934.

Senior Women's Curfew Banned

Senior women living on the University of Nevada campus will not have to abide by dormitory or sorority hours from April 14 to the end of the semester. This was decided at the Associated Women Students meeting on March 27.

It has been a practice on the Nevada campus that during the last six weeks of school, senior women were allowed complete freedom in regard to their hours.

Three women students were nominated to receive the AWS scholarship award of $50.

Students nominated for the award were: Patricia McAfee, sophomore; Jane Nightingale, junior; and Farol Lee Spell, sophomore.

The winner of the scholarship will be decided by the Scholarship and Prizes committee headed by Professor Loring Williams.

Best All-Around

This annual scholarship is presented by the Associated Women Students to a woman who possesses excellent character, good scholarship, and leadership ability.

The award is made to a freshman, sophomore, or junior student who has completed at least one year of study at the University of Nevada and has been recommended by the AWS council.

It was decided at the meeting that there would be no revision of dormitory or sorority hours this year.

PHI SIGS WIN WUS CARNIVAL

Top honors in the trophy competition at a recent World University Service Carnival on campus went to Phi Sigma Kappa and Lambda Chi Alpha fraternities.

In the competition for the best booth, the Phi Sigs won with their replica of a juke box. According to chairman Bill Keith it was the most original booth he had ever seen at any W. U. S. Carnival he had ever attended.

The juke box was decorated in brilliant colors and had many flashing lights, as well as a large blue window, through which could be seen several musicians. The Playboy Quartet, whose members are all Phi Sigs, furnished the music for the juke box, and played whenever a ticket was pushed through the selector panel on the front of the large machine.

Scrub Team Wins

Lambda Chi took first prize for raising the most money for the carnival, with a car wash. This is the second year the Lambda Chi's have had good financial results with a car wash.

They set up their enterprise in front of Stewart Hall and washed cars for several hours.

Recommendation For Street Closing

At a recent meeting of the Traffic Committee it was recommended that the University's main street be closed to automobile traffic. The group favored stopping cars from entering the area between the intersection between the library and Stewart Hall to the north end of Ross Hall.

Acting University engineer Jim Rogers, Traffic Committee chairman, met with members Dr. Backman, Dr. Breese, Sam Basta and student representative Dick Deleissegues to study the traffic and parking problem on campus.

"The street running west of Ross Hall is dangerous," stated Dean Basta. "No one has been hit with a car, but it is better to eliminate the hazard before something does happen."

The committee also turned down applications for special parking permits made by some students and faculty members.

The present parking lot came up for discussion. The committee recommended that something be done about its present "dismal" condition.

It is estimated that it will cost approximately $60,000 to finance paving of the lot. The money must come from an appropriation by the state legislature.

IFC Elects Officers At Recent Meeting

The University of Nevada Inter-Fraternity council elected new officers last Wednesday evening at a meeting held in the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity house.

Newly elected officers are: Bill Adams, SAE, president; Ron Wilson, Sigma Nu, vice president; and Jim Joyce, Alpha Tau Omega, secretary-treasurer.

The council also discussed plans for rushing next semester. Rushing is to be cut down to four five days of "deferred" pledging.

Deferred pledging postpones the pledging of rushees for a period of time to allow each one to visit all the fraternities. A pamphlet will be sent to all incoming male students containing pictures of the fraternities and a short article on each house.

National Fraternity May Add To Nevada Houses

The University of Nevada may have another national social fraternity on its campus in the near future. Sigma Phi Epsilon, fourth largest social fraternity, has appealed to the University of Nevada Interfraternity Council for a petition allowing their entry on campus.

The IFC voted to let the decision rest upon the shoulders of the two smallest living groups, Phi Sigma Kappa and Theta Chi.

Primary Elections are Set for Wednesday; Candidate Qualification

Primary elections will be held Wednesday, April 16, to determine the candidates for the student body elections on April 23.

The primary will be important only to determine the candidates for A.S.U.N. president and women's senator at large.

Goodwill Tour Is 'Huge Success'

University of Nevada's good will tour to high schools in northern Nevada was acclaimed a huge success by Dean Sam Basta. Ten university students recently completed a one-week tour of ten high schools to better high school-university relations.

Master of ceremonies for the variety shows was Student Body President Don Travis. He and Lynn Bingham would set the mood for audience, then the rest of the troupe would present the various acts.

Singers on the program were coeds Julie Robertson and Carol Stever. Glenda Price and Barbara Hewitt performed piano duets.

Gene Pieretti and Ronnie Cox worked on the dramatic roles, and the dance team of Marie McDonough and Mickey McBride presented an act from the show "Kismet." McBride also did a comedy act on the trampoline that was well received by the high school students.

Two skits, "Reciprocity" and "Splash Me" were presented.

The skits, suggested by Dr. Miller, speech department, were taken from past Wolves Frolic presentations. Miller aided the students in working out the acts.

Schools visited on the tour were Fernley, Winnemucca, Carlin, Battle Mountain, Elko, Wells, Ely, Fallon, Yerington and Carson City.

"The show was excellent and exceptionally well received," stated Sam Basta, who accompanied the students. "We were given standing ovations at almost every school. The show was a huge success."

Basta gave a four-minute speech at each school outlining the University and what it had to offer.

John Sala, alumni director, also made the tour.

ATTENTION

ALL STUDENTS WHO HAVE BEEN AFFILIATED WITH PI KAPPA ALPHA FRATERNITY, please contact Office of Student Affairs. The Fraternity is anxious to meet with all former PI KAPPA ALPHA members.

SAM M. BASTA
Dean of Student Affairs

This year the nominating committee did not have to act to fill vacancies on the ballot because enough students filed for each office. The minimum number required for filing for each office is two.

Running for A.S.U.N. president are Bob Morrill, Dick Bryan, Leroy "Scratch" Arrascada, and Roger Mills.

Candidates for women's senator at large are Barbara Heward, Pat Reynolds and Sharon Stiff.

Bob Morrill, a 20-year-old mining engineer major from Reno is on the executive board, and chairman of Winter Carnival. He is also a student senator, member of the Blue Key fraternity, Coffin and Keys and member of Sigma Nu.

Morrill has been a member of the student union board, Sagers, Newman club and ski club.

Dick Bryan, a pre-legal major from Las Vegas, is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. He has been Homecoming chairman, an assembly committee chairman and active in debate.

Bryan was on the Student Union Board and A.S.U.N. election committee as well as senator.

Leroy Arrascada, a 21-year-old business major was the A.S.U.N. representative of the state legislature this year. He is junior men's senator at large, on the finance control board, publications board and nominating committee. Arrascada was on the executive committee in 1956 and is active in clubs on campus.

He has served as Mackay Day trophy chairman, and Aggie Day chairman. He is a member of Lambda Chi fraternity.

Roger Mills has been active in Wolves Frolics and Song Team. He is a member of Coffin and Keys. The 26-year-old veteran from Fallon is an agriculture major.

He is president of Theta Chi fraternity, a member of the Aggie Club and president of the University Singers.

Mills is a member of the Interfraternity Council and appeared in campus players productions for the past two years.

For Senate

Barbara Heward, candidate for woman senator at large, is a 21-year-old sophomore. She has been song leader, alternate senator from her sorority, Kappa Alpha Theta, and on the Winter Carnival Committee.

Election Time

The campus has taken on that election-time look this week. Every candidate has put his name on any available space that could possibly catch the attention of passing students. It lends an exciting atmosphere.

Many offices will be filled by the forthcoming elections, but, naturally enough, the one of primary interest is Student Body President.

The Sagebrush will not endorse any candidate for any of the offices. Certainly the staff has its favorites and would not hesitate to boost them into office, but the Sagebrush is a publication for all the students. It is felt that the paper should do all it can to give the qualifications of all the candidates, and let the students decide who is best suited for the various offices.

Best Recommendation

The University Traffic Committee recently met and recommended that the main street be closed to auto traffic between Stewart Hall and the north end of Ross Hall.

Seldom have better recommendations come from any University committee.

With the heavy flow of foot traffic, one sidewalk is not enough between Stewart Hall and the Education building. Since there is no room for a sidewalk in front of Ross Hall, the logical answer is to convert the street into a walkway. This would help preserve the grass that is now taking a heavy load of the foot traffic.

Closing the street would also have other advantages. It will eliminate the noise of the hot-rodders on campus who roar up the street at all hours of the day. Instructors in Ross Hall, Stewart Hall, the Journalism and Education buildings could make themselves heard and not have to compete with loud pipes.

Persons slightly late for those terrible eight o'clock classes would not have to worry about being trapped on the wrong side of the street, waiting for the endless line of traffic.

The street closing would not pose a problem to car owners. They can enter the parking lot from Virginia Street.

KELLOGG'S KRISPIES

By NORA KELLOGG

The tempo of the Easter bunny looks more like that of Peter Rabbit as far as romance is concerned on campus. With the end of vacation has come the vacating of women's dorms by a few who have decided it would be nicer to live with their husbands. No telling how many marriages are still being kept secret!

No longer residing in Artemisia-Manzanita are Sandy Powell and Sandy Foster. Sandy Powell and SAE Doug Kimmel kept their February 6 marriage a secret until Easter vacation.

Sandy Foster and Theta Chi Ron Truman were married Monday in Carson City.

Newlyweds also include Anita Taylor and SN John Ingram who are now attending Thunderbird; Pi Phi Gayle Shipley and SAE Dave Newton; and grads Buzzy Frey and Camma Donna Fisher. Ready to join the "no longer singles" are SN Dave Necco and Theta Caroline Chappelle. Lambda Chi Bob Faiss and a gal from Henderson will be wed on April 20.

Possession of the title "fastest-moving romance" on campus goes to Theta Paula Kingston and SN George Mross this week. They announced their pinning, engagement, and wedding date (May 17) Tuesday night. The barefoot boy doesn't have cold feet, at least.

Kathy Karstens, DDD, and Dick Coatney, Lambda Chi, recently disclosed their engagement, as did Theta Janet Barton and Pat O'Halloran.

The only recent pinning is that of KAT Bryn Bailey and Tau Phinnie Marsh, although there were three announced since the last regular "Kellogg's Krispies."

Pi Phi Carol Thiex and Phi Sig Jim Hill announced their pinning by passing out Easter eggs... more specifically, artistic reproductions of Jim's Isetta.

Gamma Phi Dorothy Howell is now wearing the Tau pin of Paul Huffy. The campus now has another "Mutt and Jeff" couple.

Last of the not-so-current pinnings is that of Pi Phi Deanna Luelling and SAE Steve Rucker.

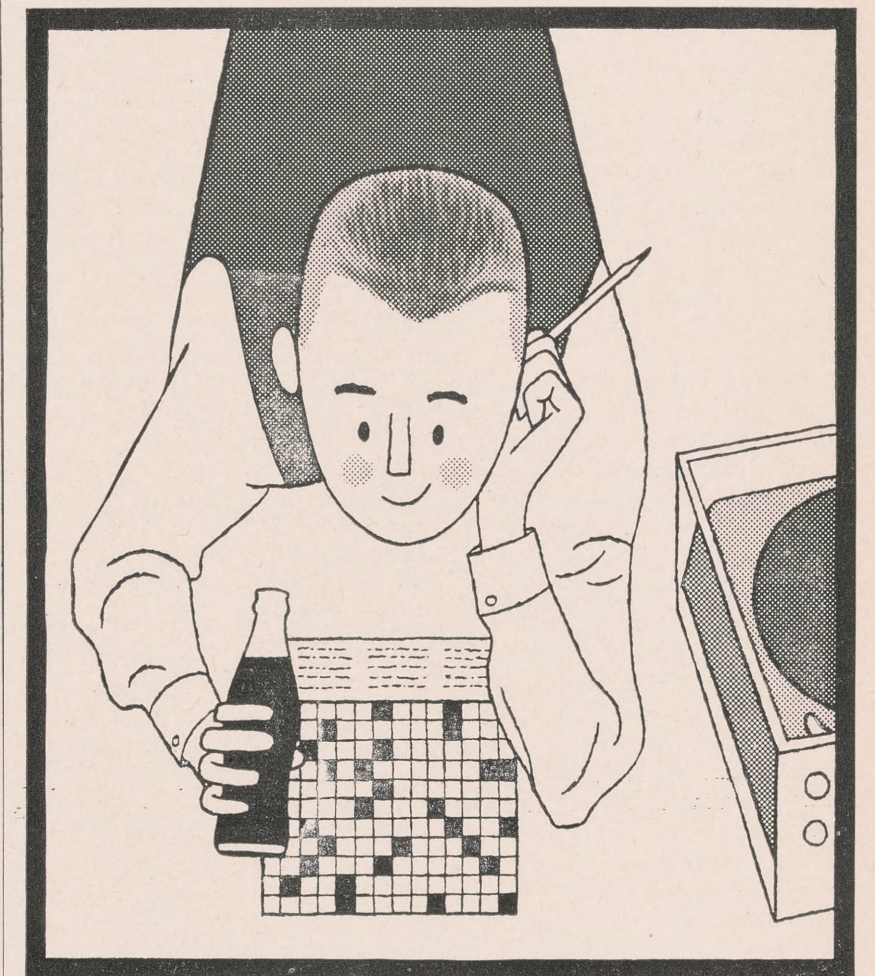

Some students are even looking to faculty members for solution of their dating problems. It seems that Dr. McQueen received a rather unusual request from a fellow at a sorority dance.

Good will of Easter must have overcome the Theta alums since the house has finally received a reprieve from its social probation. Good to see you around again!

DISGUSTING CONDITION of the students' parking lot adjacent to the new gymnasium. This condition is normal with the slightest amount of precipitation. With the new building program now going on at Nevada, it seems foolish to let something like this remain to detract from the beauty of the campus. The parking lot looks like something out of the 19th century. This is 1958, believe it or not, but the lot is certainly not indicative of the times. It seems that some appropriation could be made to better the condition. If not, perhaps students could take a few minutes out each day to pray for good weather. But not too hard; too much sunshine turns the swamp into cloud of dust. —Dondero Photo.

BAREFOOT BOY... With Cheek

By GEORGE A. MROSS

The Clod in a Comeback Scene

The night was immobile and routine as our unsung hero sat in a dull state of blah in his ramshackle cabin in the Bohemian section of North Street, barely sensing the importance of progressive jazz tones competing against the intermittent growl of diesel trucks passing through the evening. Even the blue and sad-eyed, gigantic nude by Modigliani no longer turned him on, even when he burned incense and put on the yellow light, there was nothing, a white and stoic nothing really too depressing to describe. His only communication with the outside world had been an unconscious twitching, not to a person he thought he recognized five days ago.

The phone rang four times before it became an irritant blast and he answered it.

"Yeah."

"Is this Sam?"

"Yeah."

"Well, this is Senior Sue."

"So?"

"Well, we're having our Short Shorts dance next Saturday, and I wondered if you'd like to go?"

"Oh, I'm always ready to go, but you see I wear Jockey shorts."

"Maybe you could borrow some."

"Maybe I'll scrounge around and see what happens. What was that date again?"

"Saturday, the 22nd."

"Yeah, let's see, I'll check my date book . . . Yeah, I'm free."

"Then I can plan on it?"

"Yeah, but don't call me, I'll call you. Bye-bye."

The full impact of the conversation didn't jell immediately, but then he realized that a sorority girl had actually asked him out. This was his fourth year in college and the first time it had happened. He had handled it quite coolly, though, he thought, especially that bit about the date book. He couldn't even remember the last time he had a date, but one couldn't let those organized queens of Sierra street know that or they'd step on you and use you like any other clod. Then feeling that he should be elated, but not knowing what else to do or how to act, he smoked a slow cigarette.

The Night of Nights

It turned out that the Short Shorts dance was really semi-formal, with the implied theory that if your date drank enough the more intimate action would come later. Sam got his old navy blue suit which his mother had bought for his high school graduation out of the pawn shop. He had it cleaned and pressed, then sold his gold-lined turtle-neck sweater so he could rent a car from Hertz. He bummed a few bucks at the Wal, supplementing his capital with the money he received from selling stolen milk bottles. He was now ready.

After two double martinis he drove up Sierra Street trying to remember where his date lived. Three futile attempts later he found it. A homely girl in glasses and pedal pushers and sweat shirt answered his ring. Apparently she couldn't round up a date.

"Is Senior Sue here?"

"Hey! Sue!"

"I'll be down in a minute."

"She'll be down in a minute."

On the way to the cocktail party at somebody's house on somewhere drive he spoke in rapid strokes since silence while with a girl panicked him. The gin could have helped, but he really was an introverted conversationalist—whatever that is.

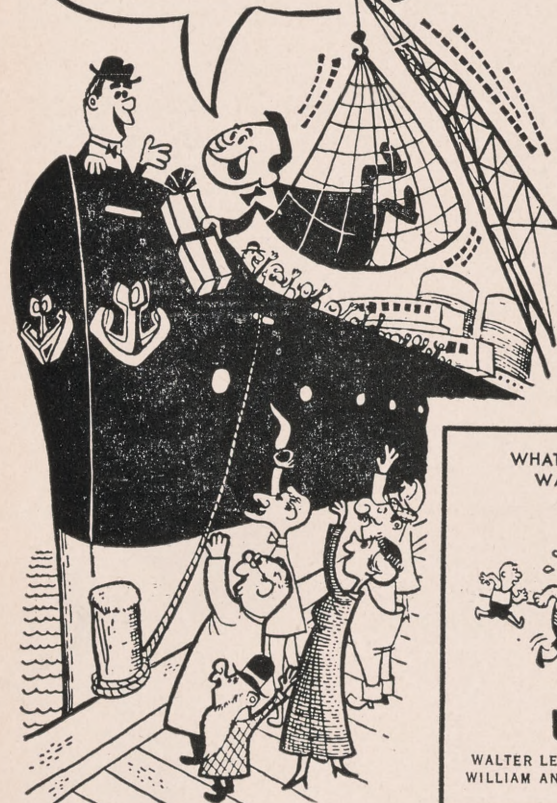

Someone he never saw before invited them into a ranch style house, and as they stepped in he felt the shrewd scrutinizing girl eyes of those who placed themselves close to the door not wishing to miss seeing who came with whom—this

MAX C. FLEISCHMANN AGRICULTURE BUILDING

NEWEST COMPLETED BUILDING on the fast-growing Nevada campus is the Max C. Fleischmann Agriculture building. The building is being equipped to provide agriculture majors with the latest in technological materials. There are some 73,000 square feet of floor space in the building, and it houses its own heating plant. The construction was financed primarily by a donation from the Fleischmann estate, as was the new Sarah Hamilton Fleischmann Home Economics building. Located on the lower part of the campus, the building will provide the necessary space for the predicted agriculture enrollment in future years.

Nevada Professor Honored for Work

A professor of history at Nevada has been nominated for an award for the best work on British history written during the past five years. Dr. Wilbur S. Shepperson, assistant professor of history and political science, was nominated by the American Historical Association for his research and writing on Great Britain.

Dr. Shepperson published a volume last year entitled "British Emigration to North America."

The history professor was also awarded a $12,000 grant recently from the W. P. Draper Foundation of New York. Dr. Shepperson will use the grant to continue his work.

He plans to spend this summer in New York, Tennessee, and Washington, D. C., where he will do research on a Welsh settlement in Tennessee during the last century.

Dr. Shepperson will take a leave of absence from the University during the spring semester of 1959 and travel to Europe. In Great Britain he will study British citizens who left the British Isles for America in the 1800's and then returned to Great Britain.

Eight Education Students Selected

Eight University of Nevada Education students have been selected to participate in the Nevada Congress of Parents and Teachers Convention to be held in Reno, April 13, 14 and 15.

The students will discuss in a panel the topic, "Serving Youth Through High School P-TA." They are James D. Hill, Donald E. Baskerville, Audrey L. Brooks, Jean D. Purinton, Richard A. Wright, Katherine Warner, La Vonne Norris and Helen A. Nolte.

Panel discussion will be Monday, April 14, in the State building auditorium.

 was the highlight of their evening. He noticed that most of the fellows were pretty boys who could play the piano or sing songs or dance. A girl never brought the available John who dated them continually and bought them highballs instead of 20c beers at the Wal, since they knew their steady creep would always be around. He fought his way to a makeshift bar and ordered two gin and Seven-Ups which were watered down and served in paper cups that later sagged and pulp-tasted the drinks. He fed as many as he could to his date. At the dance he changed to straight shots since the conversation was bogging down. He even tried reciting poetry to keep it going. They danced a few times in a dumb stupor, and even though she held him close he was too drunk to even know or care. On the way to the car she fell in a hole and got sick. Somehow he got her home and through the door. The next day he was broke, left only with a beg red-eyed aching head and a dry, stale mouth. It had been nice, though, he thought.

"Comstock" days will be reenacted tonight at the annual Phi Sigma Kappa "Comstock Stomp" to be held at the Flindt Ranch, southeast of Reno. Pat Lavin, social chairman, says that the attire for the evening is to be typical of the 1850 era. Derbies, beards, six guns, and garters will be included. Lavin added that the dance floor will be decorated in an early saloon motif. Spittoons, gambling tables, beer barrels and a can line will help set the atmosphere. The "Comstock Stomp" dates back to the middle 1940's. It was banned a few years later, however, because it was considered too wild. Music will be provided by the "Playboy Jazz Quartet," posing as the "Fire House Five Minus One." Frederick G. Freeburne and Rodney M. # Horsehidiers Play Cal Aggie Nine

The Wolf Pack baseball team will travel to Davis for a double-header with the Cal Aggies tomorrow. Both teams have been hampered by bad weather, and not much is known about the strength of the Aggies. The Wolf Pack has good hitting potential, but they still have not hit their stride because of infrequent practice.

Coach Glenn "Jake" Lawlor plans to take a 15-man squad for the two games. The probable pitchers will be John Flynn, Bob Snyder and Roy Kidder. Bob Ferrari and Jim Gardner will share catching duties. The infield will include Kidder or Flynn, first base; Jerry Tobin, second base Tom Whitaker, shortstop; and Fred Jesser, third from Ferrari, Snyder, Paul Skinbase. The outfield will be picked ner; Bill DuBois and John Miller.

The team will probably travel to Davis by private car, leaving Reno the morning of the games and returning after the games.

SPORTS

TENNIS TEAM IN LEAGUE MATCH

The University of Nevada tennis team will travel to Sacramento this weekend for a series of conference matches with Sacramento State, San Francisco State, and Chico State. Matches will be played Friday afternoon, April 11, and both morning and afternoon on Saturday, April 12.

In their only competition to date, Nevada lost a practice match to the Reno Tennis Club. Sacramento State and San Francisco State are almost always at the top of the conference net teams. Nevada, with only one returning letterman from last year and hampered all season by bad weather, will be distinct underdogs for this series.

The traveling team will probably include Lyle Killpack, Jim Randall, Pete Evezech, Ken Gray and John Borda. John Brown has a good chance to make the traveling squad before the week is over.

Chico State Thinclads Tangle With Wolf Pack

The Chico State College track team will invade Reno for a dual meet with the University of Nevada on Saturday, April 12. The field events will start at 1:30 p.m. and the track events will begin at 2 p.m.

Chico State is strong in every running event from the 220 to the two-mile. Nevada's strongest track events are the 100 and the low hurdles. Chico will also be strong in the high hurdles, and their relay team set a conference record last year.

Fallen Starr

Lucrative Job Has Sudden Ending

Mickey Hershberger, Nevada U. junior, is a part time ski instructor. Last Sunday his skiing career suffered a major setback. His prize pupil, singer Kay Starr, broke her right leg while skiing at Mt. Rose.

The 33-year-old singer is in St. Mary's hospital. Neither she nor her doctor could be reached for comment, but her secretary said that the fracture was "terribly painful." The secretary, Doris Williamson, flew to Reno the next day.

The song stylist's right leg will have to be in a cast for about three months.

Hershberger had no comment to make.

Slide Mountain Site Of Postponed Meet

The "Miniature Winter Carnival" which has been postponed twice because of snow conditions is now scheduled for Sunday, 10 a.m., at Slide Mountain.

Ski teams from a dozen living groups will compete in the event. The men's teams will fight for 60 points toward the Kinnear trophy, and for the trophy to be presented for the winner of the men's competition.

The women will ski in a powder-puff derby. The winner of the event will be presented a trophy, and lunch will be provided for the women participating.

The schedule for the events is as follows: 10:00 a.m., downhill run; 12 noon, slalom; and 2 p.m., the cross country race. The women will run the slalom at the same time as the men.

Clay Darrow, in charge of the men's competition, said "I think that snow conditions will be excellent for the meet. We're keeping our fingers crossed that they will stay as they are."

Golf Team On the Road

The golf team will travel to Chico again this weekend for a conference match against Chico State, Humboldt State, and the Cal Aggies. The traveling team will include Ralph Rubenstein, Murray Gifford, Steve Rucker, Keith Latham and Patricio Lavin.

Coach Gordon MacEachron will take the team down to Chico by car the day of the match, and they will return to Reno after the matches.

Seven Teams Compete In Nevada Rifle Matches

Seven teams from western states began shooting this morning for top honors in the two-day third annual Nevada Invitational Rifle Match.

Listed among the top entries are the University of California at Berkeley, 1957 National Intercollegiate champion, and Utah State, 1958 Sixth Army Hearst Trophy winner.

Hot Chico State Nine Defeats Pack In Doubleheader

The University of Nevada's Wolf Pack baseball team met with defeat at the hands of Chico State's Wildcats by 7-1 and 5-1 decisions in Thursday's doubleheader.

The losses were in Far Western conference play against a hot Chico team which has an 8-0 record for the season.

Coach Jake Lawlor's horsehidiers were hard pressed to get hits from the Wildcat pitchers. Chico State southpaw Bruce Griewe fanned the first nine men at bat for Nevada. It was in the fourth inning that Bob Ferrari slammed a single down the right field line.

In the nightcap things continued in the same vein, the Wolf Pack hitters failing to "get to" the Chico pitchers. Nevada is now 0-2 in the league, and 2-5 overall.

The next scheduled play for the Pack is against the California Aggies in a Far Western Conference double-header at the Davis campus of the University of California.

Other teams are the University of Nevada, Texas Western college, California Aggies, San Jose State, and University of San Francisco.

Activity began this morning as the teams assembled in the Education auditorium to be welcomed by Dr. William Wood, acting president of the University, and William P. Horgan, president of the Reno Chamber of Commerce.

Five trophies and 18 medals will be awarded to the winning teams at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow by Mr. Jordan J. Crouch, vice president of the Reno Chamber of Commerce.

The University is represented by Daniel Sobrio, Larry Gedney, Robert Oliver, Ramon Salcedo, Ruben Salcedo, Allen Richardson and Gary Cameron.

Officials for the match include Major Homer Owsley Jr., statistical officer; Captain Jack Singleton, range officer; Captain Walter J. Ward, assistant statistical officer and Captain Donald Hartin, assistant range officer.

All awards will be provided by the Reno Chamber of Commerce except the revolving championship trophy, which will be donated by a Reno sporting goods store.
