Poor Showing

In the primary elections Wednesday less than half of the students on campus participated. There were a total of 772 votes cast in the three-way race for Women's Senator-at-Large, and slightly more in the four-way race for ASUN president.

This indicates that less than half of the 1778 students registered on a full-time basis at the University were not concerned about student government or the persons they would like most to represent them in the several student offices.

In last year's ASUN presidential race only two candidates were nominated, and a third ran on a write-in vote. But this year, there were four candidates, and still less than fifty percent of the potential votes were cast.

No one can give the excuse that they didn't know who was running, for the campus has literally been littered with campaign posters of various sizes, shapes and colors for the past two weeks. It would seem impossible not to know the names of at least several candidates.

Even the excuse that the name was known but not the person is not valid. A student should see to it that he is acquainted with the candidates, or at least know some of their qualifications.

Since four of the fraternities and three sororities had candidates running in Wednesday's primaries, it is reasonable to assume that affiliated students, on the whole, took part in the election. By simple mathematics, then, it can be seen that independent students were the slackers.

There are enough independent and unaffiliated students at the University to swing the tide in any campus election. Many have complained in the past that they do not get sufficient representation. Yet they failed to nominate one candidate for the two offices run off Wednesday.

The voting is not over, for the final selections are to be made next Wednesday. Even though independents do not have a candidate in the big race, they should find one that they feel will give them the best representation.

The small amount of time it takes to cast a vote is insignificant compared to the hours of pinochle and/or bridge time that many students seem to possess.

It's your University and your student government. Don't give it away.

Thanks for the Prayers

Last week the Sagebrush asked that students pray for good weather to help alleviate the problem recently faced on the "parking" lot. We wish to thank all who had a hand in drying up the swamp, for we feel certain that the prayers brought on the fine spring weather we've entertained during the past week.

But again, just a word of caution. Once you have prayed the lot dry, let up a little. Otherwise a little whirl-wind will come along and carry the whole lot over to Clark field in a cloud of dust.

KELLOGG'S KRISPIES

By NORA KELLOGG

Look out . . . they're all around you! Down the middle of the street, across campus, on the walls, crawling up steps and doorways . . . no, you're not going crazy . . . it's just the annual advertisement of the Blackfoot-Whitefoot dance tomorrow night.

Taus and Sigma Nus will "bury the hatchet" for one night, but will resume throat-cutting next week before final elections. Either way, the school should have a pretty good presidential beer bust next Wednesday night after ballots are counted.

Queen candidates are also vying for titles. Comment of the week made by junior prom queen candidate Mary Ann Tonini at the Theta Chi House . . . "Are you hungry? Let's eat." The shortest campaign speech on record. Selection of a queen will be made tonight at the annual junior prom directed by class chairman, Mack Fry.

Pi Phi Jane Franklin announced her engagement to SAE Jim Greathouse Monday night. The wedding has already been set for May 10.

Three pinnings were also announced Monday night. They are Lambda Chi Ron Moroni and Nancy Lewis . . . Tri-Delt Lynne Ross and SN Hugh Barnhill . . . and Pi Phi Penny Pemberton and J. B. "Comic King" Harris, Lambda Chi.

Senior women on campus received keys to the front doors of their living quarters Monday night also. Of course, who would take advantage of anything like that? We like hours????

Dating in the line of politicking recently are KAT Barbara Heward and SN Bob Morrill . . . KAT Bonnie Fairchild and Tau Dick Bryan . . . KAT Toni Pimentel and Tau Jim Santiago. It looks like everyone is trying to win Theta votes.

Some of those seen at last weekend's Phi Sig Comstock Stomp—SAE's Moulin Rouge, and Lambda Chi's Ubangi Stomp were Charlese Rupley, Gamma Phi, and Dave Millard, Lambda Chi . . . DDD Beth Boyd and Phi Sig Bob Moran . . . KAT Marie McDonough and Lambda Chi Stan Draper . . . DDD Jill Stratton and SAE Bill Campbell . . . Gamma Phi Nancy Samuels and SAE Chet Woods . . . Gamma Phi Carol Christiansen and Phi Sig Mayer Freedman . . . Pi Phi Susan Scudder and SAE Eddie Alvarez . . . SAE Jim Halley and KAT Marilyn Brooks.

Gamma Phi Nancy Arnold . . . who is as touchy about her hair as Samson was about his . . . has been getting very regular phone calls from Tau grad Ralph Brinton who is stationed in Japan. It sounds serious!

More of those who have been caught in the tide of romance recently are Pi Phi Kay Kelly and SN Harry Ericson . . . DDD Sue Rauch and SN John Brown . . . Diann Coate, DDD, and Tau Bob Genasci . . . Gamma Phi Joanne Rogero and Phi Sig Bill Raney . . . KAT Gay Brennan and SN Mike Dewees . . . Pi Phi Joann Todd and SN Bob Sillery.

BAREFOOT BOY... By GEORGE A. MROSS With Cheek

The Anti-Philistine Movement

Politics, the nickname-laden banners and posters tacked up and pasted against Ross Hall and the April greenery like a gross exhibition of band-aids, the sorority-fraternity coalition of prominence pushers in sincere caucus rooms, the courtesy convertible rides in Uncle Pete's '58 Fords, the petty dinner-speeched campaigning of the suddenly friendly candidated variety, offer me little in the way of college bliss and glandular kicks. I've had no interest for it, except for the time I belonged to a social group and found it necessary to vote—dogmatically indoctrinated for "our" man—or receive twenty-five swats. We did not vote for quality and expected results, but rather for personality and peer acceptance. The house that won the ASUN presidency won for its earnest labor the spoils, the honor of displaying a future parasite for the purpose of attracting next fall's pledges—its cinemascope billing.

All the candidates boast of experience—committee heads, class presidents, house presidents, Aggie bronco buster, etc., etc.—and anyone of them could qualify as a wow-wow figurehead, making their girlfriends and boyfriends very proud of them; but other than pleasing their friends and contributing free beer to the drinking set, it is of no consequence who wins. Having this opinion and feeling that there may be others, independent and devoid of election orgasms and its gala buildup, who act on impulse with no regrets for rebelling against social modes, who are so way out lost that excitement over a personality is the rankest kind of lame, who think that campus politics are a manifested leftover from a high school farce, I give them the name of FIDEL CASTRO as a candidate for the ASUN presidency.

Of course, there isn't any chance that a vote for CASTRO will even dent the election results. The neatest fellow will still win, but a CASTRO supporter is a counter-reactionary anyway, and who needs nice, neat guys. His campaign will be limited, passing by word of mouth or seen by the students who read this column. As a man he symbolizes a cynical ha-ha to the erupting shower of meaningless names pimply the campus grounds. You will have to write in his name. Undoubtedly they will say you can't and will discard your ballot. But just the idea that you will be rejected for doing it should make it worth while.

Every political candidate has a platform of reforms he promises to install if he should be elected: Here are CASTRO'S. (Naturally they will be carried out by correspondence from his hideout in the Sierra Maesta where he is now predisposed.)

A Very New Deal

STEP ONE: Not only make riflery a major sport, but include psychological ping-pong, pinochle, checkers, whizzing in front of Manzanita and any other enthusiastic parlor games which involves two or more persons.

STEP TWO: Converting the new home economics building to a factory for the manufacturing of zip-guns for his army of expatriot college men who wish to restore democracy through violence.

STEP THREE: Remodel the snack bar with sawdust floors and candle-lit tables for afternoon beer parties, and baroque love-seats for the intellectually inclined.

STEP FOUR: Abolish all student government.

Campus Infirmary Initiates New Regulation

The campus infirmary has a new policy on excused absences.

From now on no one will be listed on the Dean's absence list unless he has undergone treatment at the infirmary.

Previously students have been excused from classes without being examined by infirmary nurses.

No excuses will be given students who call in to tell of their illness unless they had previously been examined at the infirmary.

Students who stay home and want to be excused are advised to take a written excuse to their professors on their own and try to persuade them that they were really ill.

Righthanded people outnumber the southpaws close to twenty to one.

Famed Architect Selected by Regents As Designer of Liberal Arts Building

"The University of Nevada is the fastest-growing university I have seen," says architect Richard J. Neutra.

Neutra, internationally known in his field, has been selected by the University of Nevada to design its proposed fine arts building.

At the recent regents meeting they tentatively adopted his plans and submitted them to the Nevada state planning board for their approval.

Professional practice has taken Neutra to South America, Puerto Rico, Europe, and many states of the U. S.

Spring Making Belated Entrance

By DAVID HANSEN

Spring is beginning to make its first appearance at this University as the buds on the trees and shrubs begin to peep out of their winter covering.

Students seem to be aware of the seasonal change, as the short-sleeved shirts are brought out, and Bermuda shorts make their play as a "fad" again this year.

Several students were thwarted in their attempt to help spring make its debut this year, however, when they awoke to find their convertibles full of snow.

Even the campus patrolmen have grown more enthusiastic about their work; one was last seen helping the removal of several cars by the tow truck from some of the restricted parking zones.

Manzanita Lake has also marked the season with the arrival of several ducks from the Southland recently.

It seems that the winter siege of Asiatic flu has passed and given way to a more seasonal affliction, measles.

However, Miss Spring, in spite of all these setbacks, the University of Nevada is still rooting for you. "Keep trying!"

U. P. Columnist Talks to Journalists

Hollywood columnist Hazel Johnson returned to her alma mater recently to visit the journalism department, of which she was a graduate in the class of 1956.

Miss Johnson's column, "In Hollywood," is sent to the approximately 3000 newspapers serviced by the United Press wire service. The column appears on the editorial page of the Nevada State Journal in Reno.

After interning for the United Press in her senior year in college, she went to work for United Press immediately after graduation and moved up to a position as a featured Hollywood columnist last November. She is 23 years old.

Miss Johnson told journalism students about her beginning assignments and about her present work, emphasizing throughout the value of speed, accuracy and quality in writing.

She also said that although the starting pay is relatively poor, there are many "fringe benefits" in journalism, pointing out that she will have a free trip to Europe this summer as part of her job.

Miss Johnson was born in Reno and lived in Carson City. She is the daughter of State Senator Kenneth F. Johnson, and has a sister, Sharon, who is currently a senior at Nevada. She came to the University in 1952 and majored in journalism.

Miss Johnson started with the United Press as a summer replacement in San Francisco, where she helped cover the 1956 Republican national convention. She was next assigned to Helena, Montana, where she covered the Montana state legislature. Later she returned to the San Francisco bureau.

'In the Bookstacks' Tells Library News

A picture of the University of Nevada library adorns the cover of the first issue of a new library publication, "In the Bookstacks."

The booklet will appear at least six times a year, and will offer information concerning new acquisitions, collections, and services of the library.

The twenty-six page publication contains a list of periodicals and various journals that have been received recently, where they may be found, which ones were gifts to the University, and also lists those which will appear in the Agriculture library after the completion of the new Agriculture building.

U. N. Graduate To Make Europe Tour

Walter Anderson, a 1957 graduate of the University of Nevada, will tour Europe this summer as a member of a concert group.

Anderson was a major in voice while at the University, and graduated last June with a B.A. in music.

He is now attending the Concordia Seminary college in Springfield, Illinois, and is a member of the Concordia Seminary chorus. This group will leave the U. S. in June for England.

While there the 23 members will give concerts in England, Scotland, North Ireland and Wales. They are also scheduled to sing in Norway, Sweden, Germany, France, Holland and Belgium. In Belgium they will represent the United States in the World's Fair.

As a voice major at the University Anderson sang at the first student voice recital given here. It was an early program in the "Sunday at Four" series. He sang the bass role in the "Messiah" in 1956 and 1957, and sang the lead in "Kiss Me Kate" last year.

At the close of the concert tour Anderson hopes to visit Paris, Venice, Florence, Rome and Madrid. He intends to return to Reno in the middle of August.

McNabney Attends Bookstore Meeting

Sigma Nu Takes Big Ski Meet Lead

The twice-postponed intra-mural ski meet was held last Sunday at Slide Mountain. Sigma Nu easily won the "miniature winter carnival." The meet was marked by sunny weather and poor snow conditions.

Individual winner in the men's downhill and slalom was Dick Dorworth of Sigma Nu. The women's slalom was won by Kay Hicks of Pi Beta Phi. Ironically, Miss Hicks almost didn't race because she had never before skied through a race course.

Sigma Nu scored a low total of 283.4 seconds to get 60 points toward the Kinnear Trophy. The Civil Engineers were second with 349.2 and 40 Kinnear points. Third was the ATO's with 403.4 seconds, giving them 20 Kinnear points. SAE placed fourth with 430.5 to gain 10 points toward the trophy, and the Independents gained 5 Kinnear points with a fifth place.

Due to poor snow conditions, Bob Luede of Sigma Nu fell after the finish gate of the downhill and broke his right ankle. He took second in the race.

"It was luck that more people weren't injured," said Clay Darrow, referring to the poor snow conditions, due to hot weather.

Favored Chico State Upset By Wolf Pack in Sparkling Track Performance

By DICK TRACY
Sagebrush Sports Writer

The University of Nevada's track team awoke from its winter hibernation to blaze to an upset win over a heralded Chico State team in last Saturday's meet in Mackay Stadium.

The Wolf Pack, paced by a sizzling performance by Dave Harris, beat the favored Wildcats who previously had won four out of five meets this season.

The final score? Nevada 71, Chico 61, if the low hurdles are counted; 66-61 if they are left out. The dispute over the final team score came with an argument over the 220-yard low hurdles. The Wildcats protested that the last row of hurdles was spaced a different distance from the others, and a measurement bore this out. Referee Max Dodge, however, ruled the event official.

Nevada senior Bill Bowser, winner of the event, ran what is termed "his greatest race" to defeat Chico's favored Keith Thomassen by two yards in 23.8 seconds. This is better than the accepted school record, which is 24 flat. Reflecting Bowser's speed is the fact that the uneven spacing of the hurdles forced him to break stride during the race.

Dave Harris, who established a University of Nevada high jump record by clearing the bar at 6 ft., 4½ in., and broke the Mackay Stadium mark for pole vaulting by lofting to a 13-foot, 3-inch mark, also won the high hurdles in an elapsed time of 15.1 seconds. His pole vaulting victory was four inches short of his own Far Western conference record, but it was the highest pole vault ever made in the state of Nevada.

The high jump, however, was the biggest surprise of the meet, since Harris had seldom done better than 5-feet, 10 inches. The hard-working Nevada junior sailed past the efforts of Wildcat Jim Tiner, who produced a noteworthy leap of 6 feet, 2 inches.

His jump is the best height ever achieved by a Nevada athlete—only a half inch under the Mackay Stadium record set a few years ago by Johnny Mathis of San Francisco State, now a male vocalist of nation-wide fame.

The high hurdles victory was won narrowly by Harris as his opponent, Ron Sterney of Chico, knocked over a hurdle in the last flight.

The rest of the unheralded Nevada team showed themselves able to compete against the odds by downing many of the favored athletes from Chico.

In one of the Wildcat favorite events, broadjumping, Nevada's Lou Hutchinson turned in a 21-foot, 8¾-inch effort, and Bill Bowser a 21-foot 2¾-inch jump against favored Dave Mitchell who was able to do only 20 feet, 8 inches. Reputedly, however, Mitchell was capable of doing 24 feet.

Richard Dow led the Wolf Pack to victory by winning the quarter mile event against crack Chico men in 51.3 seconds.

Nevada's Gary Lundergreen hurled the javelin a full 5 inches farther than Chico's Richard Hull and won the event with the 170-foot, 11½-inch toss. Phil Hatch put the Wolf Pack in an early lead by winning the shotput event by 2 feet. Dave Sharp won the mile by 50 yards, and placed first in the two-mile event with teammate Lyle Damon close on his heels to take second place.

The Wildcats did come through for the home town in part, however, when Keith Thomassen rocketed through the 100-yard dash in 10 seconds flat. He was followed closely by Nevada's Hugh Barnhill and Bill Bowser. Thomassen also took the 220-yard event, and the Wildcats took the half-mile and discus throw.

The Nevada line-up has suffered greatly due to the number of injuries lately, forcing many of the top men to withdraw from competition.

Conference Meet

University of Nevada golfers will play host to a Far Western Conference match Friday, April 18, at the Washoe Golf course in Reno. Tee-off time for the match is 12 noon.

The Wolf Pack will be competing against Sacramento State, Cal Aggies, and Chico State. Coach Gordon McEachron has announced that N. U. will be represented by Ralph Rubenstein, Murray Gifford, Steve Rucker, Keith Latham, and Pat Levin.

NEVADA RIFLE TEAM ENDS SEASON

The University of Nevada rifle team ended its official season last Saturday with a third place in the Nevada third annual invitational small-bore match.

Members of the team are now looking ahead to the Wednesday balloting on the proposal to make riflery a major sport.

During 1957-58, Nevada finished third in two shoots, the national sectional at the University of California, and the Nevada meet. In competition for the Hearst trophy of the Sixth Army area Nevada ended up in tenth place. The Wolf Pack finished twelfth in a field of thirty teams at the Southwest Invitational meet at El Paso, Texas.

Last Saturday, the Wolf Pack finished behind the Universities of California and San Francisco with a total team score of 2802. Top man in individual competition for Nevada was Dan Sobrio, who fired a 289 score out of a possible 300 points, only five below the winning score of Cal's Tom Kilfoil.

Nevada Records Four Decades Old Stand in Track

Nevada track men will be aiming for records set over a span of four decades during the coming season.

David Harris has the best chance of equaling or breaking a Nevada record this season. He will try to break his own pole vault record of 13 feet 7 inches which he set last year.

Another record that may be broken during the 1958 season is the 220-yard low hurdles. Bill Bowser is currently flirting with the 24-second record set by Frank O'Brien in 1934. Bowser was two-tenths of a second off the record when he ran the hurdles in 24.2 last year.

A third possible record smashing effort may be put forth by Richard Hughes, Richard Dow, Hugh Barnhill and Sid Toleno. This quartet will aim at last year's record of three minutes, 23.6 seconds in the mile relay. Last year the same team with the exception of Toleno, set the Nevada record. If Toleno can adequately replace John Mayeroff, this record, too, may fall.

Past records date back to George Ogilvie's 4 minute 25 second performance in the mile in 1914.

Latest records to fall by the wayside were the mile relay, the pole vault, Jim Lyon's shot put, and Jim Potts' high hurdles, all set last year.

Two of the dast records have existed since the thirtys. Harvey Hill set the 100-yard mark in 1935 with a 9.6 second performance and Emory Graunkle's 220-yard mark of 21.7 seconds still stands from 1937 although Marvin Byars equalled the mark in 1952.

Byars is the only man to hold two records at Nevada. He also set the high mark in the 440-yard dash with a 49.8 seconds run in 1952.

The only record to survive from the speed age of the "roaring twenties" is Bernard Hartung's 2:10 run in the 880 in 1928.

The two-mile record was set at 10:04 by Fred Lohse in 1930.

The high jump was set by Elmer Green with a 6 foot 2 3/4 inch effort in 1948.

A broad jump peak was hit at Nevada when Ken Richards jumped out to a distance of 24 feet 7 3/4 inches in 1936.

In the javelin, Chuck Higgins got off a hurl of 198 feet 11 inches in 1949.

Finally, the discus record, which was established in 1947, belongs to Max Dodge with a heave of 154 feet 6 inches.

The time has come for all good fraternity men and sorority women to fraternize and sororize.

BALL RESULTS TO DECIDE KINNEAR

Final results of the battle for the Kinnear trophy will be decided by the winner of the baseball contest, according to Chester M. Scranton, faculty advisor to intramural sports.

Scranton indicated that either the Sigma Nu fraternity or the Independents could take the trophy if either wins baseball.

At present Sigma Nu holds a lead in point total.

The "Snakes" established their lead with a victory in last week's ski tournament. Previously the Independents had held a lead due to an early season showing and a strong second place finish in bowling.

At present, Sigma Nu has 426.67 points to 386.67 points for the Independents. However, the Independents may be awarded five points for their showing in the ski tournament and, according to Scranton, will probably do well in baseball play.

The only other organization that has over a hundred points is defending champion Alpha Tau Omega. It has 206.67 points.

The rest of the competitors are far back. Best showing in the tail-enders are the Civil Engineers, who have 80 points.

Nevada Netmen Meet Reno Tennis Club Squad

The University of Nevada tennis team will meet the Reno Tennis Club in a return match this weekend at the club courts. The matches will start Saturday morning with a full slate of singles and doubles matches scheduled for morning and afternoon. The Tennis Club won the first match by a decisive margin.

Last weekend, the Wolf Pack net squad dropped matches to Sacramento State and San Francisco State but edged the Chico State team for a one-win, two-loss conference record for third place in the team standings.

The probable lineup for the University this weekend, according to Coach Bob Laughter, will be Lyle Killpack, Jim Randall, Pete Evezich, Johnny Borda, Bill Salas, John Brown, Ken Gray and Ed Petroni.

Wolf Pack Nine Heads for Arcata

The Wolf Pack baseball team is scheduled to travel to Arcata, California, for a doubleheader with Humboldt State College tomorrow at 10 a.m. Coach Glenn "Jake" Lawlor plans to take a 12 or 14 man team for the Humboldt series. The team will leave by car Friday morning and return Sunday.

Nevada's record now stands at one win and three losses in the conference after dropping a pair to Chico State last weekend in Reno and splitting with the Cal Aggies in Davis. The team has improved greatly in hitting during the past week, scoring eight runs against the Aggies after being held to two in the Chico series.

The probable starting pitchers for Nevada will be John Flynn, who won against the Aggies and Bobby Snyder with Roy Kidder in relief.

Injury Ridden Track Team Meets San Francisco State

Nevada's track team, hard hit by injuries, will travel to San Francisco this weekend for a meet with San Francisco State on Saturday, starting at 1:30 p.m. Coach Dick Dankworth plans to take a 22-man team, leaving Reno Friday morning.

The Wolf Pack toppled Chico State last weekend 66-56, but the chances against San Francisco State are very slim. Top point-getter Dave Harris, who won three events in the Chico meet, will definitely be out of the meet with a bad ankle. In addition to Harris, sprinters Richard Dow and Sid Toleno will probably not make the trip, and Tom O'Carroll, who competes in the high hurdles, pole vault, and high jump, is on the doubtful list with a twisted ankle.

The San Francisco team will probably be strong in the sprints and quarter-mile, the mile relay, and the high jump. Nevada will count heavily on their distance and field event men to score points in this meet.

Waxed Slat Artists Schedule Swimming Meet

Ski Club activities for the year are not yet over. Sometime this spring a swimming party is planned.

Exact time and place of this party has not been set. But according to Craig Bell, vice president of the Ski Club, "this should promote better relationships between members, and will help the club get a start next year."

So far this year the Ski Club has had a beer race and spaghetti feed held in February. They also did much to help the Winter Carnival. They packed the race courses and did the hill decorations during the carnival.

Officers of the club this year are Bob Autry, president; Craig Bell, vice president; Pat Reynolds, secretary; and Marie McDonough, treasurer.

Orvis School of Nursing Negotiates Working Agreement With Hospital

Clinical facilities of St. Mary's hospital in Reno will be utilized by the University of Nevada's new Orvis School of Nursing. A working agreement between the two institutions was approved of and signed April 3.

Under the terms of the agreement the University of Nevada and St. Mary's hospital will cooperate on a plan for the organization, administration, and operation of the education program.

Last month the State Board of Nurse Examiners announced that it had fully approved the curriculum set up by the Orvis School of Nursing. This means that graduates will be qualified to enter the nursing profession in any state in the union.

Sister Seraphin, administratrix of St. Mary's hospital, and Sister Noel, head nurse, signed on behalf of the hospital. Dr. William R. Wood, acting president of the University of Nevada, and Mrs. Helen Gilkey, dean of the Orvis

School of Nursing, signed for the University.

The nursing students will start their actual care of patients in simple nursing procedure in September. Dean Gilkey said they will spend approximately 20 hours per week at the hospital under the direction of university nurse-faculty members. In addition, they will be taking regular courses on campus.

Students have been going to St. Mary's Hospital this semester one day a week, observing and participating in the activities of the dietary, laundry, central sterile supply, housekeeping, diagnostic laboratory procedures.

Following their actual nursing practice at St. Mary's, the students will progress to increasing complex nursing care of patients until they graduate at the end of 36 months—four academic years. They will then be eligible for examination to become registered professional nurses.

Amendment for Major Sport Status

An amendment to make riflery a major sport and a revision of the A.S.U.N. constitution will be on the ballots during elections on April 23.

A proposed amendment to make riflery a major sport will be voted on at the general elections. The A.S.U.N. Senate unanimously were in agreement on placing the amendment on the ballot during a meeting on March 5.

The amendment must be approved by a two-thirds majority of those voting.

Women on the Nevada campus will be the only ones voting on a revision of the A.S.U.N. constitution to change the date that the A.W.S. president takes office.

Because all A.S.U.N. officials take office on May 15, it was proposed that the A.W.S. president take office on May 15 instead of May 10.

It was felt that because the president of the Associated Women Students is also vice-president of the student body, she should take her office on the same date as the other student body officials.

French Linguists To Be In Demand For Olympic Games

"Parlez-vous Francais?" will be a significant question during the 1960 Winter Olympic Games at Squaw Valley—and workers who can answer "Oui" will be in great demand when it comes time to staff the switchboards, offices, parking lots and other positions in direct contact with the public.

Recognizing this need, the University of Nevada's Evening Division is scheduling a series of foreign language courses to equip people with the vocabulary necessary to carry on a conversation. The first in the series, Conversational French, is scheduled to begin on Thursday, April 17, and will continue for a period of eight weeks. The class will meet every Thursday evening from 7 to 9 p.m. in room 209, Ross Hall. Dr. George McMurray will serve as instructor.

Beginners who have had no previous language instruction will be welcomed as will those who wish a "brush-up" course in French. Fee for the eight weeks is $10.

Registration will be from 8 a.m. to 12 noon, and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday in room 302 Morrill Hall, or at the first class meeting Thursday evening.

Dilliard Letter In Appreciation Of Nevada Visit

"I don't know when I've enjoyed human-kind as much as I did in my visit with so many of you last weekend."

This was the comment made recently by Irving Dilliard, distinguished editorial writer of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, in a letter to University of Nevada journalism students.

Dilliard, who delivered the Don R. Mellett Lecture in Journalism here on March 23, told the students, "collectively, in small groups, individually, you gave me new heart in my work and new confidence in the future."

He went on to thank the students for "a rewarding experience on which I will draw for a long, long time to come."

While here, the speaker was the guest of honor at a reception given by the journalism department, and at a dinner sponsored by the undergraduate and professional chapters of Sigma Delta Chi journalistic fraternity.

Dilliard later joined with two journalism classes in a discussion of how editorial policies of a newspaper were decided, and how they affected news interpretation. He also met with classes in history and political science.

If it's good government you want, then vote for everyone. Get all the representation possible. Don't settle for one president or one set of senators. Write in your own name.

Nevada Enrollment Covers World

Small though it is, comparatively speaking, the University of Nevada has students enrolled from all over the United States and from many foreign countries.

Twenty-four states and territories and eleven foreign countries are at present represented on the Reno Campus of the University of Nevada.

There are 1442 students attending the University from Nevada, according to the registrar's office. The total enrollment of fully-matriculated students enrolled in the second semester at the University, including foreign countries and other states, stands at 1718.

Assortment

Two University of Nevada students are from Chile, and each of the following countries are represented by one student: Canada, China, Czechoslovakia, Greece, India, Japan, Mexico, Poland, South Africa and Switzerland.

California far out-strips all states and territories, save Nevada, with 212 students on the campus. Her nearest rival is Iowa, with seven.

Wide Range of Psychology Club Interests Gives Organization Unique Position

A tour of the state mental hospital, speeches on psychological phenomena, and demonstrations of hypnosis are but a few of the activities of the Psychology Seminar club, started last semester at Nevada.

The psychology group is rather unusual, for this "club" is also a one-credit course of the university. Psychology majors are required to join this club for three semesters. If a person merely wants to attend the meetings, however, he does not have to enroll in the course.

This unusual club was started so that students could use their time both to get credits for graduation and to do the things they were interested in, as in a club.

It meets every other Monday in the Education building at 3 p.m. Coffee is served.

Its purpose is to "get students and staff together to discuss areas of interest and psychology problems, as well as to see what the psychologist does outside the classroom," said the faculty advisor and programmer for the group, Dr. Dan Smith, who also teaches psychology at the university.

Hypnotism

In one meeting, Dr. M. A. Sonderegger, a local physician, gave a demonstration in hypnosis with two of his patients who recently gave birth under hypnosis.

Recently, the group took a trip to the state mental hospital in Sparks, where it toured the different wards.

The program for the rest of the semester includes a talk and demonstration by Captain William Brodhead of the Reno police department on the use of the polygraph, the "lie-detector," and talks on some of the mysteries of vision and perception.

Thetas Do Honors At Faculty Tea

Faculty and students gathered at the Kappa Alpha Theta house for an afternoon of entertainment last Sunday.

Dr. Willard Day, assistant professor of psychology, played "Vienna Carnival." Carol Stevers and Kaye Reid sang "Learning the Blues" and "All the Way."

Over fifty members and wives attended and were served chocolate pie and coffee or tea.

The house was decorated with candles and flowers.

Gay Brennan and Jolene Swearingen were in charge of arrangements.

Gamma Phi's Model For Fashion Show

"April Showers" was the theme of a fashion show held for Gamma Phi Beta's mother club last Saturday.

The show was held at the sorority house.

Members of the college chapter modeled their own clothes.

A buffet was served including salads, fruits and desserts.

Models were Sue Hill, Sigrid Nielson, Nancy Arnold, Olivia Forsythe, Eleanor Bonnefant, Lynn Brown, Joyce Casazza, Bonni Cunningham, Jackie Curdy, and Lynn Mills.

Arrangements were made by Olivia Forsythe and Mrs. R. Drisdale, Mother's club president.

Privacy Is Invaded by 'Lady' Peeping Toms

It must be spring!

Last Sunday evening four male students living off campus at 329 Pine Street were greatly surprised when two of the members arrived at their home to see two young female University students prowling about the rear of their home.

After entering their house the two who had spotted the young women mentioned what they had seen to their room-mates. The men moved en masse towards the back door. They peered out in time to see the women making off in a dark auto.

What's the feminine for "Peeping Tom"?

5TH COACHING CLINIC TO BE BIGGEST YET

Plans have been completed for the University of Nevada's fifth annual coaching school to be held this year from June 16 to 20 at the University's 4-H campgrounds at Stateline, Lake Tahoe.

High school, junior college, university and service team coaches from all over the United States have indicated their desire to attend. The school has grown in attendance each year, attracting between one hundred fifty to two hundred coaches each session. The University of Nevada's summer coaching school is recognized as being one of the most outstanding in the nation.

Robert Lee (Bobby) Dodd, athletic director and head football coach from Georgia Tech, will head the football section, while instruction in basketball and track will be under the direction of Forrest A. (Forddy) Anderson, Michigan State's head basketball coach, and Payton Jordan, head track and field coach at Stanford University.

Forrest A. (Forddy) Anderson, who will direct the basketball sessions, has just completed his third season as Michigan State's head basketball coach. Last year, he led the Spartans to a tie for the Western Conference championship and fourth place in the NCAA championships.

A one-day session in track will be handled by Payton Jordan, head track and field coach at Stanford. Jordan took over the Indian track and field reins two years ago with a distinguished record as a coach and competitor.

Dr. Art Broten, University of Nevada's director of athletics, said this year's five-day session promises to be the biggest held thus far.

Nevada To Host New Conference

Representatives from all over the state of Nevada will attend a new Conference on Secondary and Higher Education. This conference, the first of its kind to be held on the University of Nevada campus, will begin tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the College of Education Auditorium.

The theme of the conference is "Defining the Problems of Mutual Concern in Secondary and Higher Education in Nevada."

Dr. Garold D. Holstine, dean of education, will preside over the conference.

Dean William R. Wood, acting president of the University of Nevada, will give an introductory talk at 10 a.m. followed by a keynote address delivered by a selected speaker.

Pat Turner Wins On Write-In Vote

Pat Turner, junior student from Boulder City, won the Artemisia-Manzanita presidency on write-in votes.

In the elections, held last Wednesday, in addition to the president, Edith Widner became vice president; Deanna Merling, secretary; Margo Burny, treasurer. ASUN representative is Carol Warner; AWS representative, Sue Dee, and Sports Director, Liz Cox.

Debate Team To Enter Title Meet

University of Nevada debaters will defend their title against twelve Western colleges this weekend during the annual conference and tournament of the Pacific Forensic League at Whitman College in Walla Walla, Wash.

Nevada will be up against debaters from the University of Washington, Whitman College, University of Idaho, Oregon State College, University of Oregon, Stanford, University of California at Berkeley, University of Southern California, Pomona State College, Occidental College, University of Arizona and the University of California at Santa Barbara.

The tournament was captured by Nevada the past two years. Chad Combs, now attending the Theological Seminary at Princeton University, took first place two years ago for the University of Nevada, and last year, Earl Hawley, now a law student at the University of California, won the title.

Dan Sobrio, Stanley Jones and Roger Joseph, Jr., all of Reno, will defend the title this year. They will be accompanied by Dr. Robert Griffin, professor of speech and drama.

Courses In Russian Proposed at Nevada

A course in the Russian language may be offered at the University of Nevada next fall.

"The Russian language seems to be gaining all over the United States," said Professor John R. Gottardi, of the foreign language department.

President William R. Wood is in favor of the project, provided that enough students are interested in taking the course. If a full-time staff member cannot be obtained, the course may be offered in the evening division and taught by a part-time instructor.
