Mackay Day Queen To Reign Over Fete

Five women have been nominated for Mackay Day Queen by each women's living group. The queen will be elected by the men students and introduced at the assembly Thursday, May 1. She will reign over all Mackay Day events.

The women nominated are Mary Carol Jackson, Delta Delta Delta; Sharon Johnson, Kappa Alpha Theta; Gaye Lane, Artemisia-Manzanita; Jo Ann Rogero, Gamma Phi Beta; and Elaine Zeitlmann, Pi Beta Phi.

Mary Carol (Mac) Jackson is a 21-year-old senior majoring in elementary education. "Mac" is president of Delta Delta Delta sorority and is an active member of Sagens, Pan Hellenic, AWS council, and the student union board. She has also participated in several musical productions on campus.

Sharon Johnson, Kappa Alpha Theta entry, is also a senior majoring in elementary education. She is 20 years old and active in her sorority as recording secretary, as well as National Phi Alpha Theta, Young Republicans, election board, Artemisia, freshman class committee, women's upperclass committee, alternate senator for Kappa

University Singers On Sunday at Four

The University Singers will present the Sunday at Four program this Sunday in the old gym.

The choir is made up of over sixty voices, and is directed by Dr. Keith Macy. The Singers participated in the Messiah presentation this year, and made several other appearances here on campus this year.

Twelve numbers will make up the Sunday program, and Barbara Katone, a graduate student in music, will be the featured soloist.

'Best Celebration' Rounding to Shape

The 21st annual Mackay Day celebration will be held May 1 to 3. The Mackay Day Committee, under the direction of Lloyd "Bub" Whalen, is making preparations to make this the "liveliest Mackay Day the campus has ever seen."

Events will include an assembly, beard contest, song team competition, obstacle races, a luncheon, a dance, and a lawn party. The Aggie club will also stage their comic rodeo May 2.

A student assembly will open the activities Thursday evening. The Mackay Day Queen will be announced later. Vying for the crown this year are Gay Lane, Artemisia-Manzanita Association; Mary Carol Jackson, Delta Delta; Jo Ann Rogero, Gamma Phi Beta; Sharon Jackson, Kappa Alpha Theta; and Elaine Zeitlmann, Pi Beta Phi.

The blackest, thickest, longest, and reddest beards will be announced at the assembly also. The judges will be local barbers. Bill Schroeder is in charge of the beard contest.

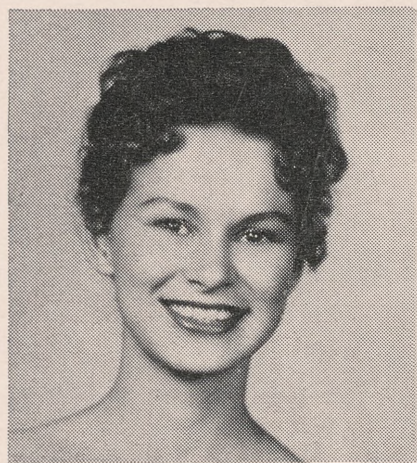

Deana Merling, secretary; Bill Tyson and Janice Beeghly, men's and women's obstacle races; Marcia Craig, social; Bill Adams and Chris Cufflin, trophies; Carol Stever, costumes; Marva Edwards and Angie Farros, luncheon; Suzanne Kuypers and Sonya Sanford, dance; and

Delores Watson Is Chosen As Junior Prom Royalty

Delores Sydney Watson and Dale Prevost were chosen junior prom queen and king at the southern plantation theme dance held last Friday at the Trocadero room, El Cortez hotel.

Delores is a Delta Delta Delta from Reno. She belongs to the University Ski club, YWCA, Young Republicans, and is social chairman of Tri-Delt. The 20-year-old business major was also on the college fashion board and AWS fashion show.

Dale Prevost is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. He is 21 and is from Reno. He is also majoring in business.

Dance programs were in the shape of "One Mint Julep," the theme of the dance.

Music for the prom was provided by the "Playboy Jazz Quartet."

Committee for the Junior prom were Mack Fry, junior class president, Waunita Combs, Nedra Norton, Bruce Rossman, Roger Bremner, Joe Ortiz, and Cathy Zimmerman.

Dick Bryan Elected In Colorful Contest

Dick Bryan won the ASUN presidency by 41 votes over runner-up Bob Morrill. Bryan compiled 476 votes to Morrill's 435. Only 928 students voted in the election Wednesday, despite this year's vigorous campaigning.

Fidel Castro, write-in candidate, received 15 votes. This does not count, however, because write-in candidates are only accepted in the primaries.

Senior students voted again this afternoon to determine the outcome for senior president. Only one vote separated Jim Santini and Bill Keith in Wednesday's election. Santini received 112 votes and Keith had 111.

Other results were: Junior class president, John Madariaga, 142 over Dave Hansen, 110.

Men's senator-at-large, George Allison, 578, over Dan Sobrio, 346; women's senator, Barbara Heward, 496, to Pat Reynolds, 435. Margaret Eddelman won over Margaret Ottini for sophomore president, 203 to 129.

The constitutional amendment to make riflery a major sport was rejected. The voting was 468 accepted to 450 rejected, but a two-thirds majority of those voting was required.

COSTUME BALL FOR THETA CHI

Theta Chi fraternity is holding its annual costume ball this evening. The dance will be held at the Bishes Game Farm, and will begin at 9 p.m. There is to be no set theme for the dance, and costumes are to be whatever the students wish to wear.

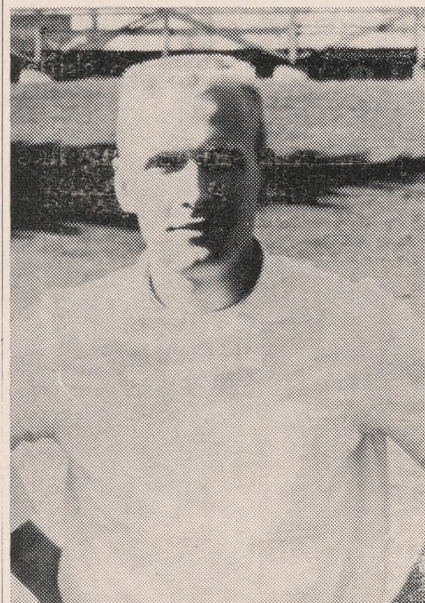

Guests attending the dance will be Dr. and Mrs. Willard F. Day, and Dr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Freeburne.

UN Student Victim Of Hit-Run Driver

There were two casualties as a result of Richard Bryan's successful bid for ASUN president. One is Robert Morrill.

The other, Carl Schaff, a 23-year old student at Nevada, was leaving a bonfire celebration of Bryan's election behind the Alpha Tau Omega house when a motorist hit him. The driver of the car did not stop.

Schaff was taken to Washoe Medical Center, where it was determined that he had received several broken ribs from the accident. However, the doctor said that Schaff will be out sometime this week.

The Unsilent Generation

Wednesday was a fine day.

The candidates for the several student body offices up for election that day put on a campaign that added a touch of color to a campus that had seemingly settled down to a business-like atmosphere something akin to a trade school.

No doubt there were some on campus—both professors and students—who felt that the demonstrations were juvenile in nature and far from in place at this institution of higher learning. They, of course, are entitled to their opinions. But these could be the people that have brought the label "silent generation" to campuses of colleges and universities throughout the United States.

There has been a tendency for the present generation of college students to resign themselves to four long years of study just for the sake of a diploma. The task of earning a diploma has become a monotonous affair of lectures and labs, sprinkled with quizzes and tests. The grade is the thing, and study the cost. Like a laborer picking up skills, the students pick up course after course until, after four years, he can turn them in for a diploma—something like a trade-stamp transaction—because you need that diploma—even to clerk in the local drygoods store.

So the world is lost from view because the face is hidden from it by the pages of a book. All emotion is absorbed by methods courses as every man becomes an introvert.

Then comes Wednesday. The would-be politicians begin the difficult task of reviving the dried-up emotions. Rides on the lake in a fast-moving boat, sound cars, flashy new convertibles with the tops down, rickshaws, Castro supporters that look like something left over from Pancho Villa's desperadoes.

Almost instantly the campus is free from the atmosphere of monotony, and whether you take part or not, you can't help being brushed by some of the color and excitement.

For a single day the "silent generation" becomes articulate.

Gadgets, Gimmicks Order of the Day

The newest scientific methods of engineering will be displayed at the fortieth annual Engineers' Day on Saturday, April 26.

University of Nevada students from the three engineering schools—civil, mechanical and electrical—will take part in the day's activities.

Contests in surveying, riveting, drilling, and slide rule computation will be held from 10:00 to 11:30 a.m. in front of the new Engineering building. From 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. exhibits by the three schools will be on public display.

The mechanical engineers will set off three 12-inch model rockets periodically throughout the day. Two will be fired from the tennis courts, and the third will be a guided flight from room 101 of the Engineering building, to a room of the Electrical Engineering building. The mechanical engineers will exhibit the latest in space equipment including a model of a space platform and a cut-away model of the Vanguard missile. There will also be a discussion with slides of the re-entry of space equipment back to the earth's atmosphere. This will take place in room 205 of the new Engineering building.

The civil engineers will present a demonstration of modern construction, especially in the use of concrete. They will show the method of lift-slab building, whereby the floor and roofs of a building are poured on the ground and then lifted into place. The walls are added later.

Giant Lighter

A cigar lighter that takes up a total area of ten feet will highlight the demonstration of the electrical engineers.

An Engineers' Day first took place in 1917, when the first transcontinental telephone cable was completed between San Francisco and New York City. Special wires were laid throughout the campus and the cable was christened on Engineers' Day with direct calls from Washington, D.C., to the University of Nevada.

Giant Cigar Lighter Would Make Even Rube Goldberg Jealous

Want a light, mister?

The University of Nevada electrical engineering students can give you one. But the process may be a bit complicated. Their lighter, an eight-foot-long contraption, consisting of myriad colored lights, bells, wires, and sundry other devices, is the highlight of some seventeen demonstrations and displays which will make up the department's contribution to the 1958 Engineers' Day celebration at the University, Saturday, April 26.

The theme of the exhibit is "Transforming Energy Into Electrical Power."

Also demonstrated will be a process of cleaning household items by the use of ultra high frequency waves.

Among the other exhibits planned by the department are a demonstration of transferring sound from one place to another by use of light rays, and displays of a fire alarm and extinguishing mechanism electronically activated by heat; a magnetic pump, such as those used in atomic reactors; and an electronic system which will work light switches and other such mechanisms, from another room, by remote control.

The cigar lighter is activated by the heat of a hand placed on a device known as a thermostat. The heat causes an electronic signal which, when amplified, closes a relay, completing an electric circuit. The circuit is connected to various motors, switches, and timers, and colored lights. When the circuit, is completed, red, blue green and yellow lights begin flashing on and off.

The completion of the circuit, signaled by the ringing of a bell, takes place from thirty seconds to a minute after the process began, and when completed it causes a wire, around which a heavy machine nut has been hung, to burn in two. The nut falls, hits a switch below it, which, in turn, activates a high voltage arc. The arc lights a small wick which is attached near it, hence, finally the flame.

After the fire is started an electric timer turns on a blower, which in turn, blows out the fire and completes the cycle.

If it's good government you want, then vote for everyone. Get all the representation possible. Don't settle for one president or one set of senators. Write in your own name.

A LEADING QUESTION FROM U. S.

How do male students feel about the draft? The army is asking five hundred men at Nevada to give their opinion on this and other military questions. The survey at the Nevada campus is only part of a nation-wide survey. Those chosen for the test were informed through the Dean of Men's office. Some 500 from Nevada were picked to take the test, but because of a 65 percent turnout through Thursday, the tests will be repeated May 14 through May 16. The University of Nevada was one of eight schools chosen to take part in the program, first of its kind since the Korean Conflict.

HIGGINBOTHAM TO GIVE PRESS ADDRESS

"Your Place in Journalism" is the title of the keynote speech to be given by A. L. Higginbotham, professor of journalism, at a high school journalism conference in Santa Rosa, California.

The one-day conference, sponsored by the Santa Rosa Press Democrat, will be held on Thursday, May 1, at the Santa Rosa Junior college campus.

Three or four hundred students from the Redwood Empire, the area north of San Francisco extending to the Oregon border, will attend.

Professor Higginbotham, chairman of the journalism department at the University of Nevada, will explain that everyone has a place in journalism as newsmakers, news handlers, or news consumers.

Many Activities Scheduled Until End Of Semester for Journalism Students

University journalism students will be busy until the end of school with meetings, initiations, a picnic and a breakfast.

End-of-semester activities began Wednesday with a "dutch lunch" meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity. Prospective new members were nominated.

Television, and Reno's KOLO-TV station were the subjects of a talk given to the Press club, the campus journalism organization last night, by Harry Huey, manager of KOLO-TV. The meeting was held in the Kappa Alpha Theta house. Karen Knudson presided. Mr. Huey told the members about the problems of operating a television station in a small community. New members were nominated after the talk, and the meeting ended with refreshments.

Bowers Mansion will be the place for the Press club's annual picnic Sunday, April 27. All students in Journalism and their families are invited.

Sigma Delta Chi will have its initiation of new members Sunday, May 11.

The initiation will be held in the Journalism building, and will be followed by a banquet in the Holiday hotel. Stanton Delaplane, a nationally syndicated columnist, will be the speaker.

The last social activity for journalism students will be the annual Press club breakfast.

Outstanding students will be initiated into Kappa Tau Alpha, national honorary journalism fraternity. Awards for excellence in journalism will also be made to students competing in the Press club's annual contest for the best news stories, features, advertising, and editorials by journalism students.

After the annual breakfast there will be an election of Sigma Delta Chi officers.

'Best Celebration' Rounding to Shape

Penny Molineux and Nancy Petrini, publicity.

Friday is costume day. Bearded men and hoop-skirted women will add to the atmosphere of the celebration.

The highlight of Mackay Day will be the luncheon on Saturday, May 3. It will be held in the new gymnasium at noon. The opening speech will be made by Dr. William C. Miller, and song-team competition followed. Judges will be local music teachers from Reno, Sparks, and Carson City.

After the song team presentations, the women's obstacle race will be held on the quad. Coeds from each living group will take part in a stilt walk, a three-legged race, a beach-ball game, and the low hurdles.

The men's obstacle race will follow the women's events. This will definitely include a swimming race across Manzanita Lake, but chairman Tyson is leaving the rest for a surprise.

The SAE's will hold their lawn party later in the afternoon and that evening the celebration will come to a close with the Mackay Day dance in the Fable Room of the Mapes hotel. Awards are made at this time for dance attendance, obstacle races, and song teams.

Fine Opportunity To Miss 8 o'Clock

"But prof, it wuz the change in time!"

That is going to be the plea of many students who will seize a golden excuse to sleep through their eight o'clock class on Monday, April 28. Daylight saving time becomes effective at 1 a.m. on the last Sunday of April. At that time, presumably, everyone in Nevada will turn back their watches and clocks one hour.

California also goes on daylight saving time the same day as Nevada, but neighboring states, such as Utah and Oregon, do not. This conflict gives travelers, trucking firms and railroads another little something to think about.

University of Nevada students, traveling to states on standard time, should regard the change in time as something on the order of a boon, however. Time is always of the essence when returning from these hasty week-end trips, and there's no easier way to pick up a full hour while returning.

Tri Delts Engineer 'Apple Polishing' Party

"We're apple polishing" was the theme of a Delta Delta Delta professor's party Tuesday.

The mantle was decorated with a large red apple with the theme printed on it.

Dr. A. J. Roberts, assistant professor of history and political science, played the guitar and sang folk songs of Norway. Dr. Russell Elliott, associate professor of history and political science, played the piano. A short humorous story was told by Dr. W. K. Macy, associate professor of music.

The professors were entertained in turn by the sorority women. Charlotte Sheldon did the flapper dance she did in the Miss Nevada contest last summer. A dance to the tune of "Lollypop" was performed by Jody McNally and Lynn Walsh. Cynthia Heth read a humorous poem which she had written for the occasion.

Nevada Debate Team Travels To Montana Tourney

Three teams of Nevada debaters are preparing to travel to Missoula, Montana, for the annual tournament at Montana University. The tournament takes place April 30 through May 2.

The teams to go to Montana are Dan Sobrio and Virgal Bucchianeri, Roger Joseph and Richard Madsen, Stanley Jones and Mack Fry. They will be accompanied by Robert S. Griffin, professor of speech.

The six men will enter debate and as individuals will compete in extemporaneous speaking, dramatic interpretation, oratory, and impromptu speaking.

The Montana tournament will be the sixth tournament of the year for the debate team. It has traveled to Stockton, Sacramento and Los Angeles, California, as well as to Tucson, Arizona, and Walla Walla, Washington.

The last trip to Whitman college in Walla Walla resulted in a consolation win for Stanley Jones and Dan Sobrio. Roger Joseph was a finalist in extemporaneous speaking competition.

'Henry V' Scheduled To Be Shown on Tower Wide Screen

If William Shakespeare were alive today, there is a good likelihood that he would be working for a motion picture company under a seven-year exclusive contract with options. And he probably would be a lot happier than he was in the days when the limitations of the Elizabethan Theatre cramped his style.

The vast panorama of the motion picture wide screen would have delighted The Bard, whose dramas were set against sweeping backgrounds in which his kings and conquerors moved.

On such a scale he conceived his "Henry V" and on such a scale was this mighty regal drama brought to the screen by Laurence Olivier in his magnificent Technicolor film. Rank Film Distributors of America is presenting "Henry V" for the first time in the new wide-screen Superscope process, and it is scheduled to appear at the Tower Theatre, where it starts on Tuesday, April 29-30, and May 1.

ELECTION DAY SHOWS COLOR

Election day activities turned the campus into what looked like a three-ring circus.

Many modes of transportation were provided to students of the University of Nevada in an effort to bring as many as possible to the polls to vote.

Residents of Mananita Hall were aroused early that Wednesday a.m. by the sound of motors from three outboard motor boats whizzing by around the adjoining Manzanita lake. Members of Sigma Nu fraternity were offering rides on the boats and taking people from one end of the lake to the other, in an effort to bring more people to the polls, and in hopes they would vote for their candidates, John Madariaga and Bob Morrill.

The members of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority featured rides in rickshaws drawn by members and bearing banners with the names of their candidates, Margaret Otini and Barbara Heward. For the very mixed-up voters, the Thetas also offered a ride in a cement mixer (in the cab, of course).

Sigma Nu bicycles, small and large, and motor scooters, and Alpha Tau Omega courtesy cars decorated and busily dodging one another in an effort to get their passengers to the polls, all added to the tension of the election. Four or five ATO's in a dragon costume paraded around advertising their candidates, Jim Santini and Dick Bryan.

Phi Sigma Kappa's candidate, Dave Hanson, could be seen in an old Model-T Ford, and Tuesday evening, leaflets were dropped from a plane over the campus campaigning for Hanson.

Publication Heads For Year Named

Editors and business managers for two University publications were selected yesterday at a meeting of the Publication Board.

Judy Kautz was elected to the editorship of the Artemisia. Business manager for the publication will be Harry Heck.

Selected to succeed himself as editor of the Sagebrush was Dewey Berscheid. Berscheid has edited the campus newspaper since February when Jim Joyce resigned as editor to take the position of president of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Owen T. Vaught, sophomore student in journalism, will succeed Jim DePriest as business manager of the Sagebrush.

President editor of the Artemisia—the University's yearbook—is Cynthia Heth. Bill Eddelman is its business manager.

Two committees were appointed by Publication Board Chairman Dr. William C. Miller. One will work out and submit a plan for a revised method of bookkeeping for the Sagebrush. The other will lay plans for the Publication Board's annual banquet.

Bill Eddelman submitted an informal report showing that the Artemisia will show a profit this year.

If you answered "No" to all questions, you obviously smoke Camels — a real cigarette. Only 6 or 7 "No" answers mean you better get on to Camels fast. Fewer than 6 "No's" and it really doesn't matter what you smoke. Anything's good enough!

But if you want to enjoy smoking as never before, switch to Camels. Nothing else tastes so rich, smokes so mild. Today more people smoke Camels than any other cigarette. The best tobacco gives you the best smoke. Try Camels and you'll agree!

NETMEN WIND UP SCHEDULE

University of Nevada's tennis team will finish their schedule at Chico this weekend with matches against Humboldt State and the Cal Aggies. The Wolf Pack netmen will meet the Aggies today at 2:00 p.m. and Humboldt State tomorrow morning at 9:00.

The probable traveling team for Nevada, according to Coach Bob Laughter, will be Lyle Killpack, Jim Randall, Pete Evezich, John Borda, and Bill Salas. Others who have a chance to make the traveling squad include Ken Gray and John Brown. The team will leave Reno by car Friday morning and return Saturday after the matches.

College of Pacific Bringing Strong Squad To Nevada

The College of Pacific track team will move into Reno tomorrow for a dual meet with the University of Nevada. Field events are scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. and track events at 2:00.

The Wolf Pack trackmen, after meet victories over Chico State College and San Francisco State, will be meeting a tougher opponent in the Tigers from COP. Top man for the Tigers is Ola Murchison, who has high jumped 6-5, run the 100-yard dash in 9.7, and the 220 in 21.5. Other COP men counted on for points are Bright in the weights and Gleason in the distances.

With Dave Harris still on the doubtful list, Nevada Coach Dick Dankworth will be leaning heavily on Bill Bowser in the low hurdles and the broad jump, and on Dave Sharpe in the mile and two-mile. Other members of the Nevada squad who looked good last weekend were George Smith in the pole vault, Lou Hutchison in the high jump, and Gary Lundergreen in the javelin.

Bill Myers in the mile, Lyle Damon in the two-mile, and Mike Lommori in the discus showed considerable improvement in their performances against San Francisco State.

COP Baseball Nine Playing Two Here

The University of Nevada baseball team meets the College of Pacific nine at 3 p.m. today and 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at Threlkel's park in Reno in Far Western conference play.

Coach Jake Lawlor's Wolf Pack hopes to repeat its performance of Thursday when it wiped out a cold and shivering Lassen Junior college team by a score of 15 to 2, in a non-conference game.

The hot Wolf Pack was more than a match for the Lassen Cougars, who played their first game of the season in a blowing snow-storm.

The game was called in the fifth inning by mutual agreement, after left hander Roy Kitter pitched three innings of no-hit baseball.

Golfers Take Trip To Santa Cruz

Coach Gordon McEachron took Ralph Rubenstein and Murray Gifford of the University of Nevada Golf Team to the Northern California Intercollegiate Golf Championships at Santa Cruz, California. Qualifying rounds were played at the Pasa Tiempo golf course yesterday and today, and the final 36 holes will be played tomorrow.

Coach McEachron and the two players left Reno by car on Wednesday and will return after the matches.

Wolf Pack Track Men Continue With Winning Ways; Another Upset Pulled

By DICK TRACY
Sagebrush Sports Writer

The unpredictable Wolf Pack team, led by a hustling Bill Bowser, scored its second upset win of the season by defeating a favored San Francisco State Team last Saturday in San Francisco.

Nevada's decisive victory over the Gators, by a final team score of 73½ to 57½, was a surprise to many onlookers because the absence of four of the top men on the Nevada team considerably lessened the Wolf Pack chances of winning.

Coach Dick Dankworth commented about the meet by saying: "There are a lot of up-and-coming men on the team, who aren't getting much publicity, but deserve it, like Bill Meyers, Lyle Damon, Tom O'Carrol and Tom Sheehan. "All of the men on the team are working very hard and deserve a lot of credit for their efforts."

Dave Harris, one of the five men sidelined recently because of injuries, may be in shape for tomorrow's meet against College of Pacific in Mackay Stadium.

Hugh Barnhill, ace sprinter, should also be able to compete tomorrow.

Dick Dow, quarter-miler, will probably not be able to attend the competition because of illness.

Sid Toleno is getting in shape to appear at the meet tomorrow after his recovery from a pulled leg muscle.

An athlete in top form, however, was Bill Bowser, who put on a sparkling performance as he ran off with three first places and one second place honor, flying 22 feet 11 inches in the broad jump, running the 100-yard dash in 10.1 seconds, and won the low hurdles in 24.5 seconds. Bowser took second place in the 220-yard dash.

Dave Sharp, who has had an outstanding track record in his first year of competition at the University, again displayed his athletic ability by galloping through the mile in 4 minutes, 30.3 seconds, and clocking a 10 minute 17.4 second time in the two-mile race.

George Smith came through for Nevada in the pole vault to win first place in the event. Smith, however, will be unable to compete in tomorrow's meet because he is quarantined at home with a case of measles!

Nevada's Lou Hutchinson tied with teammate Tom O'Carrol for first place in the high jump.

The sharp Nevada athletes swept the three weight events with Phil Hatch in the shotput, Gary Lundergreen in the javelin, and Mike Lommori in the discus event. Lommori's toss of 135 feet 6 inches was the best of his career.

Coach Dankworth said that tomorrow's meet "should be an excellent contest. College of Pacific has some good men on its team."

Stunts of All Kinds Will Feature Ag Comic Rodeo

Want to see a stirring contest between a Ph.D. and a porker? The University of Nevada Aggie Comic Rodeo will offer this and much more.

The event comes off on Friday, May 2, at the Washoe County fair grounds, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

The third annual rodeo will include a pig race, wild cow milking, burro racing, and bronc riding—with cows.

Professors will enter into the fun with a pig chase which will pit them against the smartest pigs the Aggies can find.

Last year the psychology department walked off with the honors in the pig chase, primarily through the efforts of that durable duo, Drs. Sam Smith and Willard Day.

"It was team work that did it," says Sam. "Day temporarily stunned the monster with a terrific blow to the left ear and then I leaped in to grapple with him at close range."

Having two experienced men such as Smith and Day on its team, the psychology department is confident of victory again this year. That is, of course, if the team can be induced to play. Dr. Smith is a little dubious.

"Don't cowboys ever sweep out their corrals?" asks Sam.

Trophies will be awarded to the fraternity and sorority collecting the most points in the contests. Scoring will be made on the basis of five points for first place, three points for second, and two for third place. Contestants for points will be restricted to students now attending the University.

Chairmen for the rodeo are Roger Mills, Jim Sloan and Lester Sweeney, all students of the Max C. Fleischmann College of Agriculture.

Tickets for the rodeo may be purchased at the ASUN bookstore or at the gate of the fair grounds for 50 cents.
