Elect Bob Morrill To Head Student Union Activities

Bob Morrill was elected president of Student Union Wednesday. He was elected by the student union board in a close election with Bob Hemphill. Morrill will direct the student union board in coordinating the activities in the new student union building.

Other officers elected were Bill Adams, finance chairman; Jim Santini, senator; and Dan Sobrio, alternate senator. Morrill will appoint a secretary at a later date.

Bob Hemphill was thanked by the student union board for his work during the past year as president of student union.

Other action taken by the board was the acceptance of the student bookstore into the Student Union building.

Bob Kersey, director of student union, also reported to the board that an additional $10,000 in building fund money not used on the student union building had been spent on several projects. The money will be used to purchase new equipment for the snack bar, for completion of the public address system in the new building, and for the construction of a partition between the ballroom and the student lounge.

Student Officers To Be Sworn In

All new student body officers except the secretary will be sworn in at the Awards Assembly on Thursday, May 15. The secretary will be chosen by the incoming ASUN president, Dick Bryan.

The assembly will be held in the Education building auditorium at 7 p.m.

Who's Who certificates will be given to those Nevada students named in "Who's Who in U. S. Colleges."

The ten most outstanding senior women, elected by the Associated Women Students council, will be named at the assembly.

Cheerleader awards will also be given to this year's cheerleaders.

HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL Mackay Day celebration was highlighted by the men's obstacle race. Winning in slightly unorthodox manner were the Sigma Nu's. Pictured above are contestants swimming beautiful "blue" Manzanita Lake. The swim was just part of the complicated relay which was entered by several teams, including a faculty team. The pros didn't finish, running short of stamina long before the race was completed, even though Dean Sam Basta and Prof. Willard Day made a mighty showing in the "three-legged" race. As yet, no comment has been made by Acting President William Wood who, predicting a win, had dusted off the faculty's trophy case, wherever that is. Following the races, the student body and instructors retired to the SAE lawn for a bit of refreshing. A long pause which was enjoyed by all.

PHI SIG FORMAL SLATED AT TRADER'S

Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity will end its social schedule with its annual Spring Formal tonight. The occasion, a dinner-dance, will be held at Trader's Restaurant on South Virginia.

Music will be provided by the Playboy Jazz Quartet.

Asher B. Wilson, assistant professor of speech and drama, and Bob Kersey, director of the Student Union, will be guests. Pat Lavin, social chairman of the fraternity, said that Dr. John Gottardi, professor of foreign languages, will also attend as "one of

University Senate Sets Banquet on Wednesday

The members of the University of Nevada Senate will hold their annual banquet Wednesday evening at 7 p.m. at the Trader's Isle on South Virginia.

The dinner will be an informal get-together attended by former and new senators, alternates and guests. Don Travis, student body president, will be master of ceremonies.

Bill Keith and Glenda Price are in charge of arrangements.

Pi Phi Formal Is Tonight At Mesa

"Dancing Daffodils" will be the theme of the Pi Beta Phi's spring formal tonight at the Mesa.

The dinner will begin at 7 p.m. and the dance at 9 p.m.

Theresa Mariani, chairman for decorations, said that there would be arrangements of daffodils on the tables. Kay Hicks is helping her.

Guests will be Dr. and Mrs. William C. Miller and Dr. and Mrs. Willard F. Day.

'Surprise' Tri Delt Formal Theme

"Surprise" will be the theme of the Delta Delta Delta spring formal on May 17 at the Mesa.

Delores Watson, in charge of decorations, says that in keeping with the surprise theme, the decorations will be kept secret until and the dance at 9 p.m.

Dinner will be served at 7:30 and the dance will begin at 9 p.m. Bob Stange and his band will play.

Guest will be Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Lintz and Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur Shepperson.

Colorful Ceremonies Attend Presentation Of Military Awards

With a flaring display of red and green plaid kilts, the 16-man Sixth Army Pipe Band began Governor's Day at the University of Nevada last Thursday.

Governor of Nevada Charles H. Russell, two high-ranking generals, University faculty and civilians representing various civic organizations were among the distinguished guests.

Santini Again Wins Senior Presidency

James Santini again defeated Bill Keith for senior class president in Wednesday's re-voting.

The re-run was held because of an alleged discrepancy of ballots in the general election held April 23.

Santini received 75 votes to 58 for Keith, as only 133 students, about half those in the general election, turned out to vote.

"Naturally I am very happy about the election," said Santini. "But it is too bad that somehow the job of president couldn't be given to each nominee for one semester, after the outcome of the general election."

In the earlier election, a single vote separated the two nominees. Santini received 112 votes to 111 for Keith.

When asked if he thought this was a fair re-voting, Keith said, "I most certainly do, but of course I am disappointed about losing."

Penny Molineaux, election committee chairman, said the reason for the small turnout of voters this time was "probably the lack of publicity and interest."

Journalists Put Out Graduate Edition

Sixteen journalism students are temporarily joining ranks with professional reporters and students of three local high schools this week, to help produce a special "commencement section" of the Nevada State Journal.

The University students are members of Journalism 222, a laboratory class in news gathering and writing.

Some of them will be contributing stories about the University's commencement. Others will be telling of the future plans of graduating seniors for the special section, which will be published during commencement week, the last week of May.

Journalism students from Reno, Sparks, and Manogue high schools are also taking part in the news gathering effort, each contributing commencement news from their own schools.

Besides the ten-minute presentation of Scottish bagpiping, a review of the four hundred-odd ROTC cadets by visiting officers, the awarding of twenty-one decorations to fourteen cadets, and the presentation of a new Nevada state flag to the military department were highlights of this year's Governor's Day.

Approximately 300 people watched from the stands.

A half-hour after the cadets began assembling at Mackay Stadium at 10:15, five carloads of guests rolled onto the football field. Almost immediately, the army pipe band began to play, marching across the field to halt before the guests at the reviewing stand in front of the stadium.

When the pipe band finished, the Nevada ROTC cadets moved onto the field company by company. After the regiment was formed, the cadets were presented to the guests, and the cadet commander, John R. Sibbald, called for all persons who were to receive decorations to come forward.

The fourteen men, the color guard, and the company standard of "C" Company marched to the center of the field, where they were led by Sibbald to the reviewing stand. Governor Russell, Major General John W. Harmony, commanding general of the 15th U. S. Army Corps, Nevada Acting President William R. ROTC Student Notice

Sam Basta, dean of student affairs, announced Thursday that all students selected to participate in the ROTC survey, and who have received letters to this effect, were given wrong information.

"All students who are to take part in the survey should report to Room 21, Ross Hall, instead of to the education auditorium," Dean Basta said.

Reporting dates are from 11-12 a.m. and 2-4 p.m., Tuesday, May 13; from 2-4 p.m. Wednesday, May 14, and from 11-12 a.m. and 2-4 p.m. on Thursday, May 14.

Lawns or Lounges?

Wednesday night on radio station KOH's "Talk of the Town," a public forum-type program, a lady stated that she didn't think it was right that college students should be employed by a concern that contained a bar and casino. This came out of the recent offer to University of Nevada students for employment at the Sparks Nugget.

This lady felt it would be better for students to get jobs mowing lawns and doing odd jobs rather than to be subjected to the atmosphere of an establishment of this type. Students, she stated, were not sent to college to learn these things.

What a shock the lady would receive if she walked into the favorite student hangout some Friday or Saturday night, or attended the lawn party or initiation ceremony of one of the campus organizations.

Since the economy of the state of Nevada leans heavily on gambling, it is unlikely that students here are ignorant of the refinements of the custom. In fact, it would be difficult for any person not to come into contact with the practice. Gambling is not restricted to casinos. Grocery stores, service stations, drug stores and many other businesses are allowed to operate gambling devices. Many students are employed by some of these firms, and usually there is no age restriction. Many Reno clubs employ students who actually work at the gaming tables. This will not be the case at the Sparks Nugget.

There is a real need for part time jobs for many of the students on campus. It is fortunate that some of the businesses in Reno ask for student help. The Nugget is offering jobs in the dining room only, to male students over the age of 21. All applicants are screened through the office of the Dean of Student Affairs.

Many students need evening or night jobs since college courses are scheduled for daylight hours for some strange reason. Often it is only the clubs that can offer evening work.

And try to get a lawn-mowing job that will last all winter!

Dear Mr. Editor:

Perhaps I am wasting my time, but I am writing you regarding the rather astounding letter of one James D. Hill. It was obvious to me that Mr. Hill was trying to stir up the proverbial antpile or was at least attempting to display his vocabulary before the public. What was indeed unfortunate is that he used a campus organization as a scapegoat in displaying his verbal antics.

His remarks that we were "cave dwellers on the northern end of the campus residing in a very independent abode" were very amusing and encouraging to us. Mr. Hill centered his horn tooting on the fact that individuals in the inner realms of our "independent abode" tore down political posters and threw water on political parades.

From the appearance of his letter, Mr. Hill was all wet before he started. Obviously, Mr. Hill does not realize that some of those "political" parades invaded the "northern end of the campus" in the wee hours of the morning. Lincoln Hall, during these hours, was subjected to the yells of wild beasts making primitive noises with pots and pans—a problem requiring caveman tactics. Mr. Hill should also keep in mind that many of the defendants of the "abode" were Greeks who, for some reason, prefer the atmosphere in our cave.

If Mr. Hill had a real complaint, he should have lodged it with the independents. He could have rested assured that the individuals responsible for any injurious actions would have been properly dealt with by the rest of the men. However, if Mr. Hill did not want to be subjected to the usual spirited behavior that dominates dormitories and fraternities everywhere, he should have confined his political parading to the local funeral parlors and cemeteries.

The remainder of Mr. Hill's colorful letter is not worthy of rebuttal. However, he may rest assured that his brilliant display of idiocy clothed in mile-long words was most amusing. His screaming and jumping in what is ordinarily a sensible newspaper has helped our cause beyond expectations.

Modestly yours,

Good grief, Charlie Brown, is Mackay Day really over? And then there are such things to remember as Dr. Miller's address at the song team luncheon in memoriam of PAST presidents . . . Dr. Day's and Dean Basta's union in the three-legged race . . . reign of Mac Jackson as Mackay Day queen . . . song team competition with SAE's and Theta's taking honors . . . honorable mention for the Sundowner's "belly dance" . . . cut faces after hours of shaving . . . SAE and ATO lawn party . . . and business at the Little Wal.

Micky Hogan deserves a hand for making the Mackay Day dance a memorable one. It seems that he gave a "hand" to a member of the police force at the Riverside. Result: one dampened uniform, two dampened guns, and many dampened spirits!

Less than one-half of the students voting in the general election for senior class president showed up at the polls Wednesday to make Jim Santini decisive winner in the reelection.

Other officers-elect will be installed May 15 with Bryan heading the political slate.

With two weeks left of school, everyone is having their annual banquets, sneaks, and spring formals.

Good weather gave out for the senior class as they met at Virginia Lake last week. Rain forced sneakers to move to the even-wetter, and snowier, hills of Galena Creek.

Tri-Delt juniors who sneaked last Monday failed to disappoint sorority sisters who were having a picnic at Idlewild Park . . . Theta pledges sneaked the same night to Bower's Mansion . . . Phi Sigs confiscated the Pi Phi's Friday night dinner last week, but shared it with them at their house.

And speaking of sneaks, it seems that a few were a little illegal. Namely, a few girls were caught leaving Manzanita Hall after hours.

Summer School Expense Ruled Proper Deduction

There's good news for teachers and students planning to attend summer school courses at the University of Nevada. Expenses incurred during summer school may be deducted from income tax returns.

Tax Deduction 6291, which became effective April 5, states: "Expenditures made by a taxpayer for his education (including research activities) undertaken primarily for the purpose of: (1) maintaining or improving skills required by the taxpayer in his employment or other trade or business, or (2) meeting the express requirements of a taxpayer's employer, or the requirements of applicable law or regulations, imposed as a condition to the retention by the taxpayer of his salary, status or employment."

The new regulation is retroactive, but an amended return must be filed within four years, so an amended return for 1955 must be filed by April 15, 1959.

For those who wish to investigate this new tax deduction, a special issue of the National Education Association News, Vol. 12, No. 14, April 8, gives the complete text of the regulation together with some helpful hints on preparing an amended return.

Sitting here listening to the record player give out with the soothing tones of Jimmy Dorsey's "So Rare" it suddenly occurred to me that I don't have a record player. Noisy neighbors!

MACHINE GUNS USED BY PLAYERS

The sound of machine-gun fire will fill the auditorium in the Education building on May 15, 16, and 17.

"The Petrified Forest," Pulitzer prize-winning play by Robert Sherwood, will be presented by the Campus Players, free of charge to students at the University.

Asher Wilson, director of the play, says he has a "very good looking cast." Leads will be played by Rita Maness as Gabby Mable, Robert Moran as Alan Squire, and Robert McGhee as Duke Mantee.

The role of Alan Squire was first played by Leslie Howard in the 1934 production on Broadway.

Humphrey Bogart first won fame on Broadway with his portrayal of Mantee, the hunted gangster.

Other performers in the production will be Mickey McBride as Boze Hutzlinger, Dean Kapsalis as Gramp Maple, Donald Greenfield as Jason Maple, Buzz Foster as Herb, Roger Joseph and Allura Nason as the Chisholms, Corky Poole as Jackie, Shreve Stanwood as Ruby, and Herman Marston as the legion commander.

Curtain time will be at 7:15 on Thursday and Saturday nights and 7:00 Friday night.

Famed Song Team Puts On Phi Sig Entertainment

The Phi Sig's would have had the song team competition sewed up, had they succeeded in pledging the men who visited the house this week.

The Sabres, a trio now appearing at the Holiday Hotel, entertained the fraternity for more than an hour last Thursday. The trio did many routines and sang several songs from their new LP.

Annual Press Club Breakfast Slated For Sunday Morning; Honor Seniors

The annual Press Club Breakfast will be held Sunday, May 18, at 10 a.m. at the new Sparks Nugget. The affair is given traditionally to honor graduating seniors in journalism and to recognize journalistic excellence and scholarship. Students in the department and their guests will attend.

Karen Knudson, president of the Press Club, will introduce the seniors and will preside over other activities during the breakfast.

Distinguished journalism students will be initiated into the national society honoring scholarship in journalism. A. L. Higginbotham, associate professor of journalism and a member of the national council of Kappa Tau Alpha, will administer the oath.

He will also make the national Sigma Delta Chi scholarship award, which goes to a graduating senior. Sigma Delta Chi is the national professional journalistic fraternity.

Keiste Janulis, associate professor of journalism, will then make awards to the three students with the highest scores in the department's annual current affairs contest.

Following this, Karen Knudson will present winning students with certificates for journalistic excellence in the best news story, feature story, editorial, news photograph, and advertisement done as part of regular class work during the year.

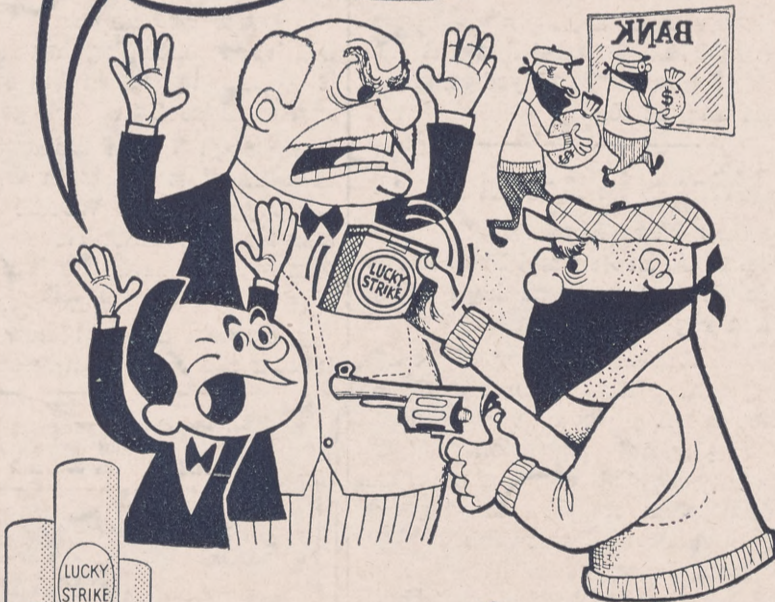

The breakfast will conclude with the election of officers for the coming year.

The breakfast is under the supervision of Ramona Booth and Elizabeth Queener.

Trackmen Lose Close Meet to Cal Aggies; Injuries Take Their Toll

By DICK TRACY
Sagebrush Sports Writer

A spunky but crippled Wolf Pack team dropped its last meet of the season to a powerful and undefeated Cal Aggie team last Saturday in Mackay Stadium.

The Pack, which has defeated many opponents favored to win this season, finally began to show the effects of multiple injuries its members have suffered, losing the dual meet by 12 points.

A do-or-die spirit, however, netted the Nevada team eight first places in the tough competition, and left a question in the minds of the spectators as to who would win until the three final events. The final team score was 71½ to 59½.

Clinching the meet for the Cal Aggies was the great individual performance of sprinter Duane Allen, who rocketed through the 220-yard low hurdles in 23.5 seconds, which cracked the Aggie school record. An unofficial clocking of 23.8 seconds, ran by Bill Bowser in the event, is the second time that the Nevada record has been broken this year.

Nevada sparkplug, Dave Harris, was limping painfully on an injured ankle when he tied with the Aggies Duane Allen for first place in the pole vault, and was unable to put on his normal performance due to the injury.

Dave Sharp, Nevada distance runner, defeated the Aggie veteran, Pete Darnell, in a 4 minute 34 second clocking in the mile race. Dave was defeated, however, in the two mile event.

Hugh Barnhill, who won the 100-yard dash, crossed the finish line in 10.1 seconds and collapsed with a pulled leg muscle. He was unable to compete in the 220-yard dash, and was replaced by Bill Bowser, who won the event in 22.1 seconds.

Bowser, however, tired himself out in winning the event, and was unable to win the crucial low hurdles, finishing just behind the Farm Hand star, Duane Allen.

Bowser did finish the year with an impressive show of his athletic ability, however, with a second place in the 100-yard dash, a tie for first place in the broad jump, a first in the 220-yard dash, and a second in the low hurdles.

Lou Hutchinson, who put on his usual come-through performance, exactly tied Bowser's leap of 22 feet 8½ inches in the broad jump. He also tossed the javelin 173 feet 8 inches to defeat the favored Aggies.

Dick Hughes got out in front, and stayed there, in the quarter mile, to easily win the event.

Mike Lommori got off the best throw of his career when he threw the discus 141 feet 8 inches and defeated two favored Aggie weightmen.

Athlete of the Month

University of Nevada track star Bill Bowser has been named "Athlete of the Month" by the Sierra Nevada Sportswriters and Broadcasters.

The award, based on his track performances during the month of April, was accepted by Bowser as his "greatest thrill in athletics."

Bowser, who has shown fine track ability this year, specializes in the dash events, the broad jump, and the 220-yard low hurdles. In two meets this year he has bettered the official school record for the low hurdles, but both times were unofficial.

He will probably concentrate on cracking the school mark for the event in the Far Western Conference meet tomorrow night in Chico, California.

Bowser has been one of the mainstays of the Wolf Pack track team as it went through its seemingly impossible accomplishment of winning three meets from the underdog position, one after the other. His only loss in the 220-yard low hurdles came in the last meet against the Aggies, after he had tired himself out winning the 220-yard dash after a teammate pulled a leg muscle in the 100 and was unable to compete in the 220.

Bowser is finishing his last year of track eligibility this year, since he plans to graduate in the spring of 1959.

The five-foot nine-inch business major is a tentative Distinguished Military student, and will be ROTC-commissioned at graduation.

SPORTS

Sigma Nu Nine Takes Baseball

Sigma Nu fraternity has wrapped up the intramural baseball season with five wins and no defeats. The points gained in the baseball victory were enough to give the fraternity a top point total for the Kinnear trophy.

Although the season is not completed and second place is still in doubt, the "Snakes" have defeated every group that has been competing in baseball.

The Independents lost last week to Sigma Nu and dropped from the running. They had been defeated earlier by Alpha Tau Omega.

There is now a chance the Taus will win a second place in baseball. They have been defeated by the Sigma Nu team.

Far West Matches Draw Nevada Golfers

The University of Nevada golf team is traveling to Chico this weekend to compete in the Far Western Conference Championship meet on the Chico State greens.

Teeing off this morning at 10 a.m., it is expected by golf fans that the Chico team will win the meet, with its top man a strong favorite to take high individual honors.

The Nevada quintet, consisting of Ralph Rubenstein, Murray Gifford, Steve Rucker, Pat Lavin, and Keith Latham, left Reno yesterday morning to play a practice round on the course.

Rubenstein and Gifford have a chance of taking high individual honors, according to the team's coach, Gordon McEachron.

Netmen Busy At Chico Matches

Representing Nevada at the Far Western Conference championships this weekend, along with the track, baseball, and golf teams, will be the Wolf Pack tennis team.

A six-man team, consisting of Lyle Killpack, Jim Randall and Pete Evezich in the upper bracket and John Borda, John Brown and Bill Salas in the lower bracket, left this morning for Chico State college courts.

The first round of the tournament will be played this afternoon at 1:30 and the semi-finals at 3:30. The finals will be played tomorrow morning at 10.

Officers in Association

Two Nevada faculty members, Dr. G. A. Broten and Prof. Marjorie Price, have won high offices in a regional association.

Dr. Broten, director of health, physical education and athletics, was recently elected vice-president for physical education in the Southwest District of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Miss Price, assistant professor of physical education, has been named vice president of the organization.

Wolf Pack Track Team, Riddled by Injuries, Heads for Championships

An injury-ridden Wolf Pack track team will appear tomorrow at the Far Western Conference Championships in Chico, California.

Although the team has shown a remarkable fighting spirit this year, and has made fools of its critics by defeating one favored opponent after another, Coach Dick Dankworth is skeptical concerning the team's chances of winning.

Because of the many injuries which have been plaguing the team, it will not appear in full strength at the Chico State College track.

Although Coach Dankworth is doubtful that his team will win, Cal Aggie Coach Woodie Wilson believes that either Nevada or his own team will win the conference.

It is feared, however, that the Aggie coaches does not know the extent of the Nevada injuries.

Hugh Barnhill may not be able to appear at the meet, because of a pulled leg muscle he suffered at last week's meet with the Aggies.

Sprinter Sid Toleno is out for the year. Richard Dow was not in good form last week due to a two-week illness.

Dave Harris suffered a fall in his fraternity house, and was limping painfully at the last meet. He did not perform as well as he has this season, but managed to tie for first place in the pole vault.

Nevada's hopes lie with Bill Bowser, Dave Sharp, Mike Lommori, Lou Hutchinson and Gary Lundegren.

Prof. Broten Cited For Aid to Program

A faculty professor has recently been praised for his aid in the fight against cancer.

Dr. G. A. "Art" Broten, director of health, physical education, and athletics, was commended for his part in helping develop the cancer fight card held in Carson City on March 28.

In the letter of commendation, written by John Laxalt, co-chairman of the Ormsby County Cancer Crusade, Broten was praised for his help in making the event possible.

"In addition to making arrangements for the use of the ring, Dr. Broten generously gave of his own time in advising how to avoid many pitfalls to be faced in putting on such an event," the letter said. "We are most grateful for his kindness."

The boxing event netted approximately $500 for the fund.

Sigma Pi Sigma Initiates Chapter

The new chapter of Sigma Pi Sigma, the national physics honor society, accepted eighteen charter members into its only Nevada chapter on Wednesday.

The ceremony was held in the reception room of the home economics building. Undergraduate charter members are John H. Darrah, William Dennett, Jerry L. Gaines, Harry W. Garner, John Hansen, Jim M. Mackenzie, Robert E. Moran, Pascal Rapier, LeRoy B. Wentz, Edward Wishart and Edward Yates.

Faculty charter members are Dr. George Barnes, associate professor of physics and faculty advisor to the local group, Dr. Maurice R. Demers, associate professor of mathematics; Dr. T. V. Frazier, associate professor of physics; Dr. S. W. Leifson, professor of physics and chairman of the department; Dr. R. J. Morris, associate professor of chemistry; Dr. John S. Winston, associate professor of metallurgy, and Dr. Edwin, associate professor of physics. win R. Worley, associate professor of physics.

After the initiation the installation dinner was held at the Holiday hotel. This was followed by a public lecture on "Symmetry in Physics," by Dr. Robert W. Williams, associate professor of physics at M.I.T., Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Sigma Pi Sigma was founded at Davidson college, Davidson, North Carolina, in 1921. It was so successful that a move to nationalize it began in 1925. Since that time it has grown to include eighty-nine chapters. The University of Nevada is the 90th chapter.

Students are eligible when they attain high standards of scholarship, promise of professional merit and academic distinction.

Phi Sigma Kappa Elects Officers For Fall

Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity elected its fall semester officers last Monday night. The nominated members will hold their positions until the Spring semester of 1959.

Those elected were Carl Dahl, president; Pat Lavin, vice president; Lynn Peterson, treasurer; Danny Winter, house manager; David Hansen, pledge trainer and Leon Wells, sentinel.

The general meeting was highlighted by a gift presented by Bob Hemphill to outgoing president Ed Olsen.

The award for the outstanding pledge this semester went to Bill Raney.

And may the richest man win.

Pack Horsehidors Are Underdogs Against San Jose

The Wolf Pack baseball team will meet a powerful and favored San Jose State College team tomorrow at 1 p.m. in Threlkel's park.

Nevada, which has a record of 8 wins and 11 losses so far this season, is forecast to come out second best in the game, since San Jose is about par with College of the Pacific, which won over the Pack earlier this season.

Coach Jake Lawlor, however, is preparing for the game, which will be Nevada's next to last home series, with a pitching staff composed of starters John Flynn and Roy Kidder, backed up with Bob Snyder and Ken Olive in relief.

Olive, the only righthander of the pitching quartet, is recovering from a snapped Achilles tendon but appeared in good form against Compton Junior College when the Pack won the game by an 8-5 score.

In Far Western Conference play, Nevada has a record of two wins and six losses.

Sorority Election Picks New Officers

Alpha Epsilon Delta, honorary pre-medical and dental fraternity, elected five new officers on April 30.

Penny Pemberton is the new president. Eugene Choy was elected vice president.

Other officers are Carol Stever, secretary; Tilton Zuwallt, treasurer and Janice Hinds, program chairman.

U. N. Researchers Cited for Work Here

Two University of Nevada seniors were awarded second prize honors for original research papers which they presented at a convention of the Student Affiliates of the American Chemistry Society at the University of California's Berkeley campus last week.

The students, chemistry majors Bob Stratton and Joe Crook, were awarded two of four second prizes offered by the convention for their papers dealing with chemical studies on procaine.

The convention also heard papers by three other members of the eight-man University of Nevada Chemistry club delegation. They were Stan Gisler, Judith Grafton and Michelle Moran.

Tommy Koizumi, Donald Spath, and John Urizar also attended, but did not present papers. The students were accompanied by Dr. K. C. Kemp, instructor in chemistry.

Nevada was one of ten northern California area schools represented at the annual convention, which is sponsored by Sacramento, Santa Clara and California State sections of the American Chemical Society. While at U. C., the students were taken on a tour of the University's radiological laboratories.

Stan Gisler's paper was about substances in alfalfa which cause "bloat" in animals. Miss Morrow spoke on "The Effects of Dietary Fat and Protein Ratios on Various Blood Constituents." The subject of Grafton's paper was "Glyco-Proteins in Blood."

Link Foundation Finances Program

University of Nevada has received a $1,000 grant from the Link foundation supporting a project in aviation educational training for selected members of the University staff.

The purpose of this project is to acquaint University of Nevada instructors engaged in training elementary and secondary school teachers with aviation developments, according to president William R. Wood.

A selected group of 25 Nevada faculty members, headed by Professor Burton C. Newbry will be flown to China Lake, California, from where they will attend lectures on current missile development at Los Angeles International Airport and a Strategic Air Command briefing at Travis Air Force base.

The Nevada group will fly to Los Angeles area in a C-47 manned by Stead Air Force base personnel.

Link foundation was started in 1953 by Edwin A. Link, inventor of the Link trainer. It makes annual grants to non-profit organizations for the advancement of scientific, technological, general educational, and charitable projects, principally in aeronautics.

Higginbotham Tells Budding Journalists About News Fields

"Every person plays an important role in journalism as a news maker, news processor, or news consumer." This was brought out by Professor A. L. Higginbotham, chairman of the department of journalism, at a one-day high school press conference in Santa Rosa, California.

As the featured speaker at the conference, Higginbotham spoke to three hundred journalism students and faculty advisors from high schools in northern California.

The conference as held May 1, on the Santa Rosa Junior College campus. It as sponsored jointly by the college and the Santa Rosa Press Democrat.

Higginbotham declared that, "every American who is alive and literate and not a hermit is a journalism consumer and the average American spends more of his leisure time on journalism of one kind or another than on any other activity. If this supply of news and comment were suddenly shut off the average American would be socially paralyzed."

He also emphasized the importance of every student keeping up with the news through daily newspapers, magazines, and radio and television.

Aggie Judges Win Wool Evaluation

University of Nevada took first place in a wool judging contest held at Sacramento this week.

The wool in the contest was taken from sheep that have been under study at the university.

The Nevada team including Clarence Slater, Al McVey, and Ed Pipe won the Reserve champion ribbon for the school. The individual trophy was won by Clarence Slater.

Dr. Daniel Cassard, associate professor of animal husbandry, was the coach.

This is the first time that Nevada has taken part in the contest.

Food Shortage Pi Phi's Finally Find Where Dinner Went

What happened to all the food? This was the cry of the Pi Phi's Friday when they found that their dinner had been stolen. The crisis ended shortly, however, when the girls found that they were invited to dinner at the Phi Sigma Kappa house.

Upon arrival at the Phi Sig house they found their dinner—and many fraternity men—awaiting them.

After dinner the Playboys entertained the group during an informal coffee hour.

John Law Goes Swimming

An unpopular chaperone at the Mackay Day dance (a cop) was found struggling in the Riverside swimming pool shortly after the dance.

Dean of Men Sam Basta and Professor of speech Dr. Miller helped the man from the pool.

John law had stood too close to the pool's edge . . .

No eye witnesses could be found.

Gamma Phi Beta Spring Formal All Arranged

Gamma Phi Beta's spring formal will be May 17 at the Half-Way House.

Dinner will begin at 7:00 and dancing at 9:00 p.m.

Music will be provided by Dave Hansen and his playboys.

Judy Vasconcelos is chairman for decorations.

Guests will be Dr. and Mrs. John Morrison and Dr. and Mrs. John Reed.

False Alarm Not Funny, Chief Says

The fire alarm at Ross Hall works fine. This was very obvious last Monday afternoon when four pieces of fire fighting equipment arrived at Ross Hall in response to what proved to be a false alarm.

Battalion Chief Van Meter, of the Reno fire department, said the alarm had been pulled by pranksters.

Chief Van Meter said that the alarm came into the station at 12:35 p.m.

"Coming when it did, it indicated exceptional thoughtlessness on the part of the prankster," he said. "Answering the alarm involved bringing equipment across town at speed through heavy noon-hour traffic, exposing a great many people to injury."

Red District

"The University of Nevada is in what we term a 'red' district," he said. "Since there is generally a heavy concentration of people there, and since its buildings house a great many things that are virtually irreplaceable, we always send at least four pieces of equipment to any alarm from the University."

Cost of the false alarm was estimated at a minimum of $100 by the fire department.

"But that's not the point of the thing," said Van Meter. "That's what we're here for. We're happy to roll 'em at any time, to any alarm. It's just that these alarms are not jokes to us. They are serious things, and we hope that the student or students who pulled that alarm could be persuaded to re-examine their sense of humor."

"Many of the buildings in Reno and on the campus of the University have automatic alarm systems built into them," Van Meter said. "Most of these systems are quite complicated, and some are prone to failure. Therefore, the alarm systems built into Ross Hall, as in the new agriculture and nursing buildings, are triggered by manual means only."

He said there are no detection devices incorporated within the fire-boxes or on their handles to discourage misguided jokers.

"We have such things," he said, "seals, wires, and certain types of dust or paint that will impregnate itself in the skin on the hand, but we had thought that such devices would be unnecessary at the University."

Signed Pact Makes It Possible For Nurses To Train In Mental Hospital

Will you be one of the 450,000 patients who will be admitted to mental institutions in the next year?

Orvis School of Nursing of the University of Nevada is greatly concerned with mental health.

"The nurses of tomorrow must be acquainted with the problems of the mentally ill since mental illness has become the number one health problem in our nation today."

This comment was made by Dr. Sidney R. Tillim, director of the Nevada State Hospital in Sparks, as he added his signature to the working agreement between the hospital and the University of Nevada. Mrs. Frank V. Rueckl of Winnemucca, secretary of the State Hospital Advisory Board, also signed the agreement.

This agreement is the same as the one signed by St. Mary's hospital several weeks ago.

One out of every ten Americans is suffering from mental or emotional disorder, according to recent rates of hospitalization tables throughout the nation. Three hundred thousand new patients will be admitted to mental institutions and 125,000 patients will be readmitted.

Dean Helen Gilkey, dean of the nursing school, remarked, "It is very important that student nurses have an understanding of mental illnesses early in their training, since it affects an entire family when it occurs. Problems are often brought to the attention of the public health nurse, the school nurse, or the industrial nurse as well as the nurse in the hospital. It is imperative that she be able to recognize and understand mental or emotional disorders."

The first group of nurses from the Orvis School of Nursing will begin its work at the State Hospital in February of 1959, according to Dean Gilkey. They will spend approximately twenty hours per week working with the patients under the direction of University nurse-faculty instructors.

"Learning to understand the patients' problems and becoming acquainted with their needs through observation of patients and working with their families can help the students gain a better understanding of themselves," added Dean Gilkey.

Dr. William R. Wood, acting president of the University, and Dean Gilkey signed the agreement on behalf of the University.

In expressing her satisfaction with the working agreement, Dean Gilkey said, "Patients at the Nevada State Hospital show evidence of extremely good care and they do have a wonderful occupational therapy program."

A course in psychiatric nursing is a requirement for national accreditation and is considered by the National League for Nursing accrediting board of review as part of the students' total program. The nurses will have the opportunity of gaining additional knowledge about health and social agencies in the community and how these agencies assure continuity of a patient's care in follow-up services.

PEDESTRIANS HAVE MUCH EASIER TIME

Students walking between classes will not have to dodge car traffic on University Avenue between Stewart Hall and the Education building any more.

The area was closed off May 1 after the Traffic Commission decided on April 12 that traffic on the street was a hazard to pedestrians.

University engineer James Rogers, who is one of the five-man board of commissioners, said that the street might not have been closed if cars had observed speed restrictions better.

"I have not heard of any accidents on that street, but I have witnessed some near misses," he said.

The road to the east of Mackay Science hall and east of the Electrical Engineering building was closed to traffic May 7 because it was too narrow for two-way traffic. Rogers stated the board felt that it was not necessary for a great mass of cars there. Only buildings and grounds cars can go through and park in that area now.

Rogers, who became engineer after Robert C. Poolman resigned in March, said the parking areas near the new gym and behind Lincoln Hall will now be used more extensively for traffic.

He also said that hope for paving the lot by next year is dim.

There is a bill before Congress which will make it possible to borrow money to pave the lot, he said. Under the present law, the funds the University gets are for buildings only and can not be spent on parking areas.

Senior Art Student Is Widely Known

Robert Stites, senior art student, at the University of Nevada, has exhibited their works in many art shows this year.

Stites exhibited in a one-man show at the Reno Little Theatre, was accepted to the giant art exhibit in New York, "Art 1958," and is one of the two artists representing Nevada in "Fresh Paint 1958," an art show at Stanford University entered by artists from all the states west of the Mississippi river. J. Craig Sheppard, associate professor of art, is the other representative.

"Undoubtedly," commented Sheppard, "Bob is the most recognized undergraduate art student the University has had in a long time."

Stites will round out the year by displaying some of his work in the two student art shows to be held this month. The exhibits are for University art students exclusively.

The first will begin tomorrow in the University art gallery and will include ceramics, paintings, drawing, and sculpture. The other is to be shown late this month in the Nevada Art Gallery at 605 Ralston Street.

E.E. STUDENTS TOUR LAS VEGAS PLANTS

University of Nevada senior electrical engineering students left yesterday morning to tour Clark county electrical installations.

The group will inspect the electro-chemical facilities at Henderson and then the steam power plant near Las Vegas and will tour the Boulder City section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the Las Vegas Chapter of Registered Professional Engineers by the Nevada students.

Students William Dunkel, Ted Osgood and Wallace Hedsen will display and demonstrate the giant cigarette lighter they constructed for the University's Engineers' Day.

Sam Wauchope and Jack Trabant will demonstrate infra-red communications, and John North will read a paper on "Remote Control Carrier Currents." Students Ron Soule and William McGee will discuss magnitostriiction applications.

Tahoe Music Camp

The second annual Tahoe Music Camp sponsored by the University of Nevada Music department will open on July 7 and close July 11.

The meet will be held at the 4-H Club camp site on the shores of Lake Tahoe. The camp, under the supervision of Prof. William Keith Macy, will conduct workshops in band, opera and chorus.

The camp it intended for junior high and senior high school students and the per person cost is $60.

Military Awards

ican Revolution awarded the medals, trophies and plaque.

The Governor's Medal, the highest medal awarded yesterday, was presented to Cadet Colonel John Sibbald, for demonstrating exceptional proficiency in the military training.

The Superior Cadet Award was presented to Cadet Lieutenant Kenneth H. Fujii. Cadet Robert Morrill received the Junior award, Cadet Daniel Sobrio the Sophomore award, and Cadet Lawrence Lauck the Freshman award.

Dr. Wood presented the President's trophy to Daniel Sobrio. The award is presented to the rifle team member having the highest average score in rifle matches. Sobrio also won the Kenneth E. Day award and the National Rifle Association Bronze Club Member's medal for rifle.

An Engineers Gold Medal with Key Replica went to Cadet Morrill.

John S. North received the National Defense Transportation Association medal, the Armed Forces Communication and Electronics Association Gold Medal Honor award, and an Engineers Gold Medal and Key.

The Association of the U. S. Army ROTC medal for the junior with the highest academic average went to Cadet Leslie Fry.

Cadet Wendell Van Maanen received the Sons of the American Revolution ROTC medal and the Kerak Temple Bronze Medal.

The Kerak Temple Gold Medal went to Cadet Richard S. Toleno, and Cadet Val York won the Kerak Temple Silver Medal.

Cadet Richard Madsen, the best drilled second year cadet, received the Reserve Officers Association plaque.

Cadet Clark Reber, named the outstanding third year cadet, received the Veterans of Foreign Wars award.

The National Rifle Association Bronze medal for pistol went to Cadet Robert Oliver.

C Company, commanded by Cadet Captain George F. Murphy, was adjudged the best drilled company at the University ROTC regiment, and was presented the McClure revolving trophy and streamer.

After the cadets who were decorated moved to one side, the color guard returned to the regiment, and the cadets marched around the track and in front of the reviewing stand and the visiting guests.

The cadets then marched completely around the track, behind the bleachers, and out of the stadium, ending Governor's Day.

AWS Luncheon Date Rescheduled

The date of the annual Associated Women Students Luncheon was changed to Saturday, May 17, from May 7, because of a conflict with the Senate banquet which was also scheduled to be held the 7.

It has not yet been decided where the luncheon will be held. Because of the change in dates, it may not be at the New Nugget as has been previously reported.

The time will probably be 11 a.m., according to Myram Borders, AWS president.

The luncheon was given each year for council members of the previous two semesters. Dean Elaine Mobley will be guest.

Orators Return From Montana

University of Nevada debaters entered a debate tournament at the University of Montana last week. Prof. Robert S. Griffin of the department of speech and drama accompanied the squad to Missoula, Montana.

The two teams from Nevada were made up of Roger Joseph and Richard Madsen, who won three of their six debates and Dan Sobrio and Virgil Bucchianeri who won two of their six debates.

Individual competition entries from Nevada included Versiellen Driver, Dan Sobrio, and Richard Madsen. Madsen placed second in the oratory contest.

SENIOR BALL IS AT STRAWBERRY

The class of 1958 will be honored at the Senior Ball on Thursday, May 29.

Strawberry Lodge has been chosen as site of the overnight dance. It is located about twenty miles from Lake Tahoe on Highway 50 on the way to Placerville.

The dance is open to scholastic seniors and their dates. Reservations are made with the secretary at the ASUN building, and must be in by May 20.

Dinner will be at 6 p.m. followed by the dance. The following day there will be a picnic somewhere at Lake Tahoe. The exact site has not yet been chosen.

Room, dinner, dance, and picnic will cost $12 per couple.

Installation Fete For Cadet Officers

New officers were installed last night at the annual University of Nevada Cadet Officers club dinner-dance. The occasion was held at the Stead Air Force Base Officers' Club.

The new officers are: Jim Randall, president; Dave Harris, vice president; George Knott, secretary; and John Bullis, treasurer. Those elected as members-at-large of the board of governors are Harry Heck, Jack Boyd, and Bruce Rossman.

Don Rasmussen, a student officer, presented Captain Jack Singleton Jr., a staff officer, with a going away gift.

A buffet meal began at 7 p.m. and was followed by an hour of dancing. Music was provided by the Playboy Jazz Quartet.

Rare Reference Volumes Missing From U.N. Library

Sixteen valuable reference books, lost, stolen, or strayed, must be returned to the University of Nevada library before the end of the semester. No questions will be asked or fines charged for the return of these books, reports Mrs. Ruth H. Donovan, reference librarian. Most of the books are parts of sets and cannot be replaced individually.

The following books are missing: Collier's Encyclopedia, 1956 edition, Volume 9; Information Please Almanac, 1955 and 1956 editions; Encyclopedia Britannica, 1957 edition, Volume 13; Encyclopedia of Religion and Ethics, Volume 8; Jewish Encyclopedia, Volume 7; Cambridge Economic History of Europe, Volume 1; Williams, Holt Spanish and English Dictionary, 1955 edition; Moulton, Library of Literary Criticism, Volume 6; Lee, World's Great Orators, Volumes 6 and 7; Harvard Classics, Volumes 21, 47 and 50; Williams, Historians' History of the World, Volume 20; Dictionary of National Biography, Volume 7; Cambridge Modern History, Volume 14; Cambridge Medieval History, Volume 6; Lee, History of North America, Volumes 1, 9, 12, 14, 16 and 20; and Lossing, Harper's Encyclopedia of U.
