Hard Fighting Pack Drops Chico Toughie

Nevada football fans, as well as many Chico Staters will long be discussing the game played last weekend at the Chico field. The point of discussion will be the controversial play whereby Chico was awarded the football on its own 20-yard line after a Wolf Pack player fumbled the ball at, near or over the goal line and the ball went sailing into the end zone.

A hotly protested call by referees ended in one Nevada and one Chico player being tossed from the field by game officials.

Although the scoreboard showed a 22-18 edge for the Chico squad as the gun sounded to end the game the Pack looked very impressive against the host team. Nevada had 16 first downs, compared to 13 for Chico. Chico fumbled three times, the Wolf Pack only once. Nevada's punting and kickoff averages were better than Chico's. And Chico backs will well agree that the Nevada line is one of the biggest and toughest in the conference.

The hard, driving tackles by the solid Wolf Pack line made it necessary for Chico to take to the air, and ultimately win the game as the Nevada defensive backs were unable to knock down the bullet-like passes of Chico quarterback, Del Whittiers.

The Pack jumped to an early 6-0 lead in the first period as the ball was worked down to the Chico Wildcat's ten-yard line. From there, big fullback Mike Commori drove to score. At the end of the same period, Chico scored, passed for the two-point conversion and went ahead 8-6. The Wildcats picked up another score and conversion in the second period to lead 14-6 at half-time.

In the second half, Nevada on a series of short passes and driving

Queen Candidates For Homecoming Are Announced

Five Homecoming Queen candidates are nervously awaiting October 25, when the University of Nevada men will select the thirty-eighth annual Homecoming queen.

Her majesty will rule over all Homecoming festivities and will be crowned at half-time of the Nevada-Sacramento State football game.

The Queen candidates are:

Judith Maxsom, a green-eyed blond from Carson City, will represent the Delta Delta Delta sorority. She is majoring in Home Economics. Judith now holds a Sarah Fleischmann Home Economics Scholarship and is a University majoree.

Marle Ferrari is representing Kappa Alpha Theta. She has brown hair and brown eyes, Mariene is from Reno and her major is elementary education. In high school Marlene was in Huskiettes and is now a song leader at the university.

Lynn Spell is Pi Beta Phi's candidate, and from Reno high school. While in high school Lynn was a student body officer and cheerleader. She has brown hair and blue eyes and is an English major.

Susan Keeley is carrying the banner for the Independents. She is from Las Vegas and has brown hair and blue eyes. Her major is Elementary Education. Her hobby is playing the accordion.

JoAnn Prandy is Gamma Phi Beta's representative for the Queen's crown. JoAnn is a graduate from San Marino high school in California. She was in her high school "Pep Club." Her hobby is skiing, on water or snow.

Phi Sigma Kappa Entertainment

The men of Phi Sigma Kappa are staging a "Phi Sig Rustic Ride to the Backwoods" this Sunday afternoon.

Approximately forty fraternity men and their dates will debark from the Phi Sig house on Virginia Street, via two wagons stuffed with genuine, old-fashioned hay.

The hay ride will last "untl the horses get hungry," according to Carl Dahl, president of the organization.

Upon reaching their destination, a bon fire will provide warmth while games are played. Box lunches will be served.

Faculty guests have not yet been named. Pat Levine, social chairman is in charge of arrangements.

Profs Lose on Series

Professors who have been teaching to empty seats the past several days are expected to meet their students again as the world series play has ended with the Yanks taking the final game 6-2 over the Braves, New York being the first team since 1925 to come back from a 3-1 game deficit.

Students will have to replace batteries for transistor radios common on campus during the 7-game affair. Back to the books, good students!

Action Taken As Complaints Mount By Campus Groups

The University of Nevada's literary magazine, "Brushfire," has been banned at the ASUN book store. The magazine's editor was not allowed to place the remainder of the copies in the book store for sale this week. The magazine has been highly criticized by several campus groups. Several faculty members, it has been reported, went to Dean of Student Affairs Sam Basta, complaining that the story is not of the moral

Students Plan Russell Support

The "Young Nevadans for Russell and Bell Committee", a new campus political organization, was formed this week by a group of campus leaders. The group made of both Democrats and Republicans is formed to further the efforts towards the re-election of Gov. Charles H. Russell and Lt. Gov. Rex Bell. The group plans to expand the committee to include all interested students and friends of the University.

The principal aim of the group is to enlighten the university students, faculty, employees and friends of the university of the tremendous support the Russel Administration has given the University of Nevada.

Membership in the organization may be obtained by a contribution of one dollar to the committee. The group plans to use the donations to present the record of the Russel Administration to the university family.

The group named Don Rasmussen, Carol Gardenswartz and Bob Morrill as their co-chairmen and Bill Adams as the publicity Director.

Membership cards may be obtained from any of the following committee members:

Bob Lewis, Class of '58 and Paul Argeres, Class of '54, Russell-Bell campaign aids have helped the group organize.

"Wolves Frolic" Tickets

James McNabney announced yesterday that tickets for "Wolves Frolic" will go on sale in the ASUN bookstore Monday. If sales are anything like past years, he said, students should get their tickets early to be assured of a good seat.

James McNabney in a telephone call to the press room as page one of the "Sagebrush" was about to be printed, notified the editor of this publication that students could, by special order, get copies of "Brushfire" through the bookstore. However, copies will not be on general sale, he said. Time and cost factors make it impossible to remake this page. EDITOR.

quality desired for college and university students.

A spokesman at the Office of the Dean of Student Affairs said yesterday that "the general feeling in this office is that the story was offensive." Dean Basta, who has been ill the past few days, could not be contacted to obtain his own personal feeling.

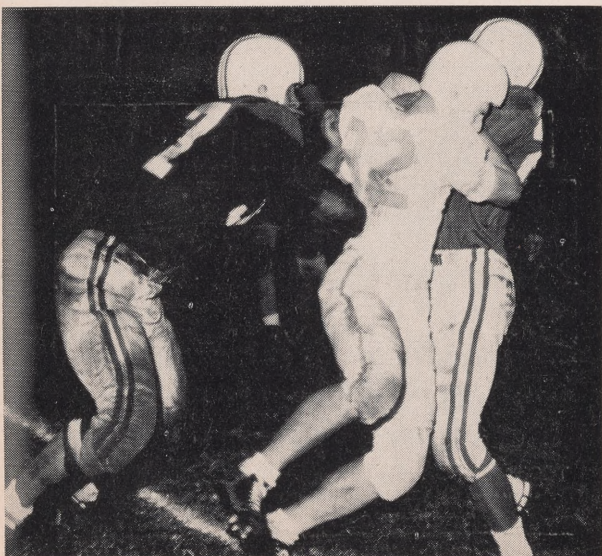

The secretary to University President Charles Armstrong said yesterday that Dean Basta had conferred with the president concerning one article in "Brushfire," but could not say what had transpired at the conference. The president himself could not be contacted as he is spending several days in the Las Vegas area.

Dr. Robert Gorrell of the University's English department said he is annoyed with the fuss that has come as a result of the article in the literary magazine.

"Some people's tastes differ from others. I do not think that the story is obscene or pornographic," said Gorrell, adding, "I think there is a great deal of furor over an insignificant matter."

Gorrell also said that he thought there was no reason for disciplinary action against the writer and that he would object to any. "That is

Editorial

Although no real figures on the number of students presently attending the University of Nevada have been released recently, we of the Sagebrush can see that enrollment is far above the number predicted by University officials. This is seen in the number of papers that must now be printed each week.

We planned to begin this year with publication of 2,000 copies, 250 more than last year. The way things stand now a press run of 2,400 is needed to serve the readers, and that number will also have to be increased.

Nothing is more gratifying to a newspaper's staff than to see the circulation of the paper take a sizeable jump. It indicates that the paper is wanted and read. It makes it possible, also, to sell more advertising, for merchants know that the bigger the readership of a newspaper, the more products they will sell through advertisements in that publication.

In the midst of criticism that comes from some quarters, concerning some of the controversial stories that have appeared in the Sagebrush, we of the staff can just lean back and smile. If that's the kind of paper that sells, then that's what we'll make every attempt to have.

While on the subject of a Sagebrush that is wanted and read by the student body, as figures indicate that it now is, we do not intend to lose sight of the fact that the paper is the property of the student body, and as such its columns are open at all times, via the "Public Forum," to all who wish to voice their opinions on current matters of interest to the student body.

Annual Painting of 'N' Plans Completed

The annual painting of the "N" in conjunction with the Frosh-Soph Field Day will take place on the morning of Oct. 18, according to Margaret Eddleman, sophomore class president.

All freshmen are required to attend the "painting", which will be under the direction of the Block N society. Transportation will be provided and the time and place of departure will be announced.

At 1:30 p.m., competitive games will be held on campus. Conclusion of the competition will be the traditional "Tug-o-War" across Manzanita Lake. Points will be awarded to the winning groups and the number of points will decide whether or not the Freshmen shall wear their ribbons and dinks for the remainder of the semester.

Following the game with San Francisco State in the evening, the Frosh-Soph dance will be held in the Old Gym.

Final arrangements are pending and they will be announced.

The color of the changing season on the campus locale is being added to by the array of various political posters, and some of them this year are real knockouts. Eye catching is the miniature rocket that had been leaned against a building. I don't know whose poster it was, but it must have at least drawn some attention. I wonder how many people voted for the rocket.

I have been stopping at the campus postoffice for mail, and noticed the past week or so a small mound of dirt piled on the post office floor. Can't imagine what the little men on campus are up to (maybe down to), but would sure like to know what's under all that dirt that it rates so much space for so long a time. Do you suppose Carl Horn is under there?

Litter-airy

Just read over the last issue of "Playboy." Never again will I read "Brushfire." It's too tame. "Playboy" gets downright nasty and seems to be gaining favor with the college set, as the whole September issue, in an unorthodox way, was devoted to the college scene. Some parts of the magazine are almost as lurid as Coffin and Key handbills. And as for that organization's handbills, could the Publications Board ever have fun. If I remember right, President Dick did much of the "literary" work on the bill that needed revision before even "Doe" Marty would approve. They are not suitable for mothers, either. Damn Yankees.

Buildings and Groundsmen had better check to see that John Mackay is tightly bolted down to his statue base. The other day he was holding a pair of lady's panties in one hand, and pointing with the other. What at?

Wonder what ever happened to the "nude man on campus"?

'Press-Government' Dinner On Oct. 19

Governor Charles H. Russell and Grant Sawyer, Democratic candidate for Russell's job, will meet head-on a week from this Sunday night. The meeting of the two will be at the annual "Press in Government" dinner, sponsored by the University of Nevada chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity.

Also scheduled to meet at the affair are Senator George (Molly) Malone and Howard Cannon, the Democratic candidate for his job in next month's elections.

The dinner will be Oct. 19 in the Tahoe-Sierra rooms of the Holiday hotel.

The practice during election years is to have candidates for high public office attend the "Press in Government" dinner.

Toastmaster for the dinner will be Dewey Berscheid, president of the local chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, a senior student in journalism at the university.

Governor Russell himself is a member of Sigma Delta Chi. He was editor of the Ely Record before he was elected to his present job.

Howdy—Ya all, did ya all git ta go ta the good ole Aggie Stomp last Friday night? Man, that was quite a rafter-duster all right, the folks waz all a shakin', the floor waz a shaken, and so waz the music. (seems like the phonygraph wern't too steady—some poor folks had ta dance the same step over five or six times, all cause the needle got stuck.) With these here dances, its kinda hard to tell just who waz who, so here's jest a plain ole list a some a the critters who were there.

There was Lambda Chi, Jerry Cahill and Sigma Nu, Cliff Devine. (Ya. see, they wanted to be sure and see their names in the paper this week.) Tri Delt, Beth Boyd; Lambda Chi, Leroy Arrascada; Gamma Phi Emmy Hanf; Ron Lynch; Sigma Nu, Skip Melquist; Don Capps; Pi Phi, Joanne Todd; Theta, Betty Chism; Gamma Phi, Nancy Damon; ATO, Bill Johnson; Sigma Nu, Don Moore; Theta, Ellen Johnson; Delta, Diane Coate; Pi Phi, Sharon Wilkerson; and Gamma Phi, Joanne Prandi. (Can you picture Prandi dancing with Manhire?)

The Thetas held their fall pledge in their house on Friday evening. I hear by the grape-vine that the place was "packed", which in my estimation is always the sign of a successful dance. Among those attending were Carol Crowder and ATO, Rod Cook; Tony Pimentel and Tau, Jim Santini; Glenda Price and Sigma Nu, Bob Morrill; Mary Eickbusch and Snake, Jim De Priest; Kim Miller and SAE, Mike Tenk; Sharon Adler and SAE, Rodger Christensen; Barbara Hampton and Phi Sig, Dennis O'Connor; Nancy Mead and Theta Chi, Joe?; Kaye Reid and Dave Mathews; Gay Brennan and Sigma Nu, Pete Looney; Barbara Heward and Snake, John Madriaga, and Theta Karen Knudson and Bob Lyon.

Saturday also proved to be the scene of two other successful pledge dances. The Tri Delt's held theirs at the Half-Way House. Seen making the long, long journey were: Sue Rouch and SN, Doug Salter; Val Van-Neps and Sigma Nu, Jim Durham; Betty Jean Zyski and Tom Pitts, ATO; Charlotte Sheldon and SAE, Norm Scroggins; Lynn Ross and Snake, Bob Prida; Georgie Weaver and SAE, Howard Chambers; Sharon Flannigin and Sae, Jim Haley; Donna Allbright and SAE, Whit Hockstaff; Tricia Hugg and Tau, Ray Regan; and Lynn Walsh and Snake, Jim McGuire.

The Sigma Nus also held a pledge dance on the same evening—this one at the El Cortez. At one of the cocktail parties held before, a rather unusual form of entertainment was presented. Right at the party's peak, two flying saucers made a spectacular appearance, then disappeared. Boy, do those Snakes think of the gimmicks though. Some of the couples battling for floor-space were: Dave Wheeler and Gamma Phi, Joyce Casazza; Pi Phi, Lynn Spell and Pat Monahan; Fred Black and Gail Walsh; Bob Sillery and Nina Freedman; George Gillette and Delta, Alex Anastassatos; Don Rictor and Delta, Barbara Swart; Allen Oppio and Jean Lusetti; Bob McGehee and Theta, Gayle Hall; and Joe Ortiz and Gamma Phi, Olivia Forsythe. Another unusual thing was noticed at this dance. Seems as though the Snakes really pledged a neat guy this fall; his name is something like Steve Paul (or maybe its Paul Steve, I'm not too sure), anyway, the last name is Lage, I'm sure of that. Well to get to the point, this guy brings two girls. One of them was Rita Anderson and the other Alice Urrutia. Both of these gals seemed as happy as a couple of clams; neither of the poor things appeared to be conscious of just what was going on; I wonder why?

Sunday evening the SAE's held a dinner. Dates were invited, and a few of the couples attending were: Steve Rucker and Deanna Luelling; Linda Smith and Jim Allison; and Joan Ruark and Clark Russell (there would have been more names, but my source of information was rather shakey—nothing personal, Jane).

I really hated to hear that a certain freshman got caught up with finally, last week. Too bad, Bob.

I've also gotten the word that under particular circumstances it almost is impossible to get the attention of a certain ATO. He said he didn't want his name in the paper, so you guys will just have to suffer.

Gamma Phi, Nancy Arnold came out of hiding Monday to announce her engagement to ATO, Ralph Brinton. Congratulations, Nancy. The date has been set for December 20th.

Again, it looks as if I've come to the end of my rope. In parting I would like to announce that the watch-bird will remain incognito this week, due to circumstances beyond her control. (Has anyone seen two scorched tail feathers?)

Alpha Tau Omega Pledge Dance Set

Alpha Tau Omega fraternity will hold its annual pledge dance in the Gainer Room of Big Y in Sparks, from 9 p.m. to midnight on Saturday, Oct. 11.

Don Porter and his orchestra will provide the music. Gary Ardeas and Paul Huff are in charge of the arrangements.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

In freshman balloting on Wednesday Dick Lewis and Dave Quinn both of Reno were chosen over three other men to appear on the general election ballots today.

The freshman class cast 350 votes in the primary election, but a larger turnout is expected in the generals today.

At the Publications Board meeting held on Wednesday, George Allison reported that the Finance Control Board decided to withhold funds from the campus publication "Brushfire" until their editorial policy was formed and approved.

The Publications Board also requested the business manager of the Sagebrush to submit to student body president's office a formal financial report of the Sagebrush within seven calendar days.

Two positions have been vacated by the resignation of Carolyn McGowen from the executive committee and the nominating committee. The vacancies will be appointed by ASUN president Dick Bryan.

The next meeting of the senate will be on the 15th at 7:00 in the Student Union building. At this time the proposed student court will be presented by Bill Keith, who is in charge of the committee doing the investigation on the court. If any members of the student body have any suggestions or criticisms of the court this meeting would be a good place for them to air their feelings.

The student court has not yet been approved by the senate. It is expected that a special election will be called to approve the measure if and when it passes senate.

The Finance Control board will meet on the 15th at 3:30 in the office of the ASUN president.

Plan Aggie Dance

The University of Nevada Aggie club will hold a school dance tonight at Flint's ranch on the South Virginia road, two miles south of Reno.

President Lester Sweeney has announced that all students are welcome.

Admission, he said, is one dollar a couple or 50 cents per person.

The affair will run from 9 to 12 o'clock and will be informal.

FATBOY...

in a phone booth

By GEORGE A. MROSS

DEAR GEORGIE-roo

It's been a blue, blue day . . . but I can't run away, though the life of a columnist is a precarious one and open to criticism pro and con. Here, reprinted in its entirety, is the top tune on the con's Hit Parade this week:

AN OPEN LETTER TO FATBOY GEORGE A. (for animal) MROSS:

Your articles make me sick! Never have I seen a person with such an inferiority complex. You hate everybody and everything. I ask you one thing—do you really have anything constructive to give to this university? You haven't so far! What have you offered to the senate meetings? How many have you ever attempted to attend? How can you truthfully degrade something you know nothing about?

Fraternities, sororities, upperclass and yes, even independents have been victims of your vicious pen. I feel sorry for you. What are you searching to believe in? I feel that you are essentially seeking and therefore essentially no different from us people, although it seems you try to be. You certainly haven't found any answers unless you uncertainly desire to commit yourself. What are you trying to prove? Do you really know so very much? No, George, I think you pull within your own little cave and peer out and say "quote—You are a Clod! unquote", not noticing the smiles directed at you and not with you.

Look for the good in others and you will find it; look for the bad and you will find that too, but you seem to have a special talent for bypassing the good. I don't want to bypass the good in you and I recognize your dramatic talent. You have played many roles on the stage, but in real life who has given you the right to play God and judge others?

I represent no group. I am only one student who feels the injustice you are doing to this university. I may be wrong but so far you have done nothing to make me believe any different. My hat is off to you! Keep up the good work, after all your column is good for a laugh.

Respectfully submitted, CLAY DARROW.

Bravo! To be intimate with you, Clay, my articles make me nauseous once in a while also, so much so that after they're printed I can't stand to read them over. And I probably am all those things you said I am, but I can't afford an analyst couch at present. I am glad though to see that you do read my column with a critical and opened eye. There is no greater insult to a writer than to be left unread. Not Only In Boston.

Last year I had the unfortunate privilege of being one of the editors of Brushfire—an annual publication of contributions by students, instituted and made available as a token outlet for those who felt they had some semblance of a literary flair. It was unfortunate, because the job of collecting promised, though unwritten manuscript, and editing the haphazard material that was turned in was an unassisted and fruitless task. Everyone wanted to help, but few did. Everyone wanted to sell ads—Brushfire's expenses are so high it cannot pay for itself—but few did.

Then along about printing time the English Department expressed an interest on "how it was going." They tried to stimulate interest among their students, hoping to add to a wide variation of subjects in the material being considered for publication. They helped with the reading, editing, and the passing of judgment on what should be printed. But this was a long process and school was coming to a close before we thought we had the makings of a magazine. We had sold ads, had gotten an appealing cover, and Brushfire 1958 was printed late in July. Too late for the Spring semester, but the profs said we'd push it to 'em in the Fall.

During the summer I sold fifteen copies at Becker's Bar. I distributed copies at Grey Reid's who are now sold out. The ASUN Book Store sold all the copies they had on hand. It was all going very well until the big stinger-roo. One of the stories seemed to be improper and in bad taste. Moreover it had to be mine, bringing with it another wrath of criticism. They—the gossiping hens that strong arm the politics and policies of this university—labeled the story dirty, an adjective that never occurred to me while writing it.

Naturally, King Richard, the Crusaders, and the adult anarchy came to the rescue. They had a meeting—one of those solution-finding, while legal, methods small cliches use in justifying their actions. They reached an agreement—ASUN funds would no longer be appropriated to future publications of Brushfire until a policy was set up governing the type of material that was acceptable to print. Again I say, Bravo! For many years Brushfire needed organization, for many years it had floundered about as an unwanted child, for many years no one cared. At last action would be taken. Good! Good! Good! Perhaps from now on Brushfire will appear on the Catholic approved reading list.

But it didn't stop here. An effort is now being made to suppress Brushfire. The gravity of this matter I will leave to conclude for yourselves.

Journalism Grad Scores Big Scoop

"Missing inventor Elmer (Mox) Meukel is beck in the arms of his wife in Los Angeles today with renewed hope that his invention to prevent aircraft collisions will bring him fame and fortune."

This is the way UN journalism graduate Walter MacKenzie started his feature story in the Reno Evening Gazette that scooped the nation. Walt MacKenzie then went on to relate that the missing inventor was found in a hobo jungle on Scott Island in Reno where he had been living on jungle stews and pancakes made from discarded flour while the whole world wondered where he was.

"This is an example of the enterprise which we try to encourage in the journalism department," said Professor A. L. Higginbotham, chairman of the UN journalism department.

"It is no small thing for a newspaper man only one and one half years out of college to make page one of most daily newspapers in the nation with one of the big stories of the year," Professor Higginbotham added.

Musical Program Planned for Many 'Sundays at Four'

Fifteen musical events have been planned as part of this year's "Sunday at Four" program series.

The "Sunday at Four" events are cultural programs involving the various arts. The public is invited free of charge.

The first musical event, to be presented Oct. 26, will be a concert of chamber music. Frederick Freeburne will be at the piano, Robert Perry, cello and Alcestis Perry, violin.

The next two programs will be in November. The University-Community Symphonic Choir and Orchestra will present concert on Nov. 9. William Halberstad will give a recital on the Harpsichord on November 23.

"The Messiah" will be presented on Dec. 2 by the University-Community Symphonic Choir and Orchestra. It has been given each Christmas season for twenty-five years.

With the new year comes a voice and piano recital on Jan. 11 with Keith Macy, tenor and Frederick Freeburne at the piano. On Jan. 25 will be a graduate recital in which Orville Fleming will play the clarinet and violin.

The two programs given in February will be a chamber music concert, Feb. 8 and a Lincoln Memorial program presented by the University-Community Symphonic Choir and Orchestra on Feb. 22.

There will be three programs in March and April, a piano recital by Willard Day on March 1, a Chamber Music Concert on March 8, and the University Band on March 22.

Bonnie Foard, soprano, is the performer for the graduate recital on April 5. A Chamber Music Concert will be given April 12, and University Singers will give a program on April 19.

The last musical event of the year will be a performance by the University-Community Symphonic Choir and Orchestra on May 3.

Professor Worley To Present Paper

Professor R. E. Worley of the University of Nevada's physics department will present a paper before the annual meeting of the Optical Society of America tomorrow in Detroit, Michigan.

Dr. Worley's paper is entitled "Acromatic Fringes with the Michelson Interferometer."

Dr. Worley has been a member of the University's physics staff since 1948.

Physicists from every state in the Union will attend the annual Fall meeting which convenes October 9.

The society is made up of physicists who specialize in research in optics, a term used to describe the phenomena connected with light.

Pledge Mothers Have Tea Today

Kappa Alpha Theta will hold its pledge -mothers tea today from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. The tea is held so that the mothers of the pledges and the mothers of the members can meet. It will be held in the living room of the Theta house.

Univeristy of Nevada Students Have Three Marshall Scholarship Chances

Students in the western states get their chance this month for the three Marshall Scholarships which have been made available to them by the British government, entitling the three winners to study at the university of their choice in the United Kingdom.

Out of the total of 12 Marshall Scholarships awarded each year for the whole United States, three are reserved for students from the western states.

Requirements for these two-year study grants are liberal. Any American student of either sex, married or single, may apply provided he or she has earned a first degree at a recognized University and is under the age of twenty-six on Oct. 1, 1959. Attention is given both to character and scholastic ability in the judging.

Each award is worth about $1400 a year, for two (and occasionally three) years, plus tuition, at a United Kingdom university, if possible of the applicant's choice.

Students who wish to apply for a scholarship must get their applications in before Oct. 31 when the lists close. Entries can be obtained either from the British Consulate General, 2516 Pacific Avenue, San Francisco, or the British Consulate which serves their particular area.

All scholars to date have done exceptionally well in their British finals.

PI PHI MOTHERS MEET

The first luncheon of the year for the Pi Beta Phi Mothers club will be held Saturday, October 11, at 1 p. m. Mothers of the new pledge class will be honored guests.

Elaine Mobley, dean of women will be the guest speaker, and Mrs. R. B. Fuhrman will preside over the meeting.

Associated Press Puts Direct Wire To UN News Room

The Associated Press has recognized the department of journalism at the UN in a unique manner.

AP is donating an "A" wire teletype machine and service to the department. The "A" wire service of the Associated Press is the coast-to-coast service that carries all the big national and international stories.

The wire operates about twenty hours a day at the rate of sixty words per minute, which means that right here on the Hill about 72,000 of the most important words of the day are coming in. This wire service, that is available to the students and faculty as a donation, would cost about $600.00 per semester on a cash basis.

The first step toward this donation for the journalism department seems to be when two men from the Pacific coast headquarters of the Associated Press visited the department last spring and spent three days inquiring into the standards and methods of teaching.

Several weeks later the Associated Press headquarters in New York City informed the journalism department that they wished to present it with the teletype "A" wire service.

"This wire service is a great asset to the department," said Professor A. L. Higginbotham, chairman of the department of journalism, and added, "Having the hottest news available in the building is a great stimulant to the students."

"In addition to its use for keeping up on the news, copy is also used in courses in reporting, editing and editorial writing."

"The quality of work in these classes has increased through the stimulus of the AP news wire service. Many students and faculty from other departments drop into the Journalism building to check on the latest happenings."

ROBERT H. SWISHER, B.S.E.E., GROVE CITY COLLEGE, '54, SAYS:

"I like my job. Here's why."

"I'm a radio transmission engineer for Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania. My work is interesting and full of variety, and I get all the responsibility I can handle. Have a look at today's assignment, for example — and see for yourself."

"8:30 a.m. I'm at my desk applying a new method for overcoming interference on Pittsburgh's mobile radio channels. It involves operating inactive channels on reduced power."

"10:45 a.m. Before any modifications can be made, it's important that I check apparatus and wiring options. That's what I'm doing here at the Remote Control Terminal equipment."

"1:30 p.m. After lunch, I take a company car out to the transmitter tower site. Here I check wiring and explain our plan to one of our mobile radio maintenance men."

"3:15 p.m. I review my proposed modifications of auxiliary control circuits with Supervisor Sid Graul. Now I'll prepare work orders, and next week we'll make operational tests."

"Final phase. The operational test is made from an actual mobile radio unit. I'll make test calls and monitor the channels from various points within the Pittsburgh area."

"See what I mean? I really get to 'carry the ball.' Soon I'll be taking a special course in advanced electronics at Bell Labs—a great opportunity. As I said—I like my job."

Like Bob Swisher, you may find a bright engineering future with the Bell Telephone Companies. Talk with the Bell interviewer when he visits your campus. And read the Bell Telephone booklet on file in your Placement Office.

Brushfire Ban

the general opinion here," said Gorrell.

The Publications Board at the University, set up to look after the University's two official publications, the "Sagebrush" and the "Artemisia," went on record last week as recommending that the Finance Control Board withhold further funds for production of "Brushfire" until the Publication's Board approves the policy used by future editors of the "Brushfire."

The Finance Control Board voted to accept the recommendation of the Publications Board.

Graduate Manager James McNabney said that he refused to accept any more copies of "Brushfire" due to the actions of the two boards and that he felt it was the general consensus that the magazine was not desirable. McNabney admitted he had not read the controversial story in the magazine. He added the book store ban was unfortunate, but that the book store's handling of "Brushfire" was a service, not a necessity.

Although "Brushfire" has been banned from the book store, copies will remain on sale at the University's English department, in Gray Reids, and at Becker's in downtown Reno.

Geological Society To Hear Prof. Gianella

"Recent Faulting in the Great Basin" is the subject of a talk that will be given tonight at the first meeting of the Geological Society of Nevada.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in room 200 of the Mackay School of Mines building.

The speaker will be Dr. Vincent P. Gianella, professor emeritus, Mackay School of Mines.

A general discussion of earthquake faults in Nevada will follow the talk.

New Fraternity Being Organized On UN Campus

Organization of Nevada's newest fraternity is now under way.

Having received an invitation from the University of Nevada Interfraternity council, Darrel D. Brittson, province director of Sigma Phi Epsilon, is on campus conducting the colonization program.

In number of chapters, Sigma Phi Epsilon is the second largest fraternity in the world. It was founded at Richmond College, now the University of Richmond, on Nov. 1, 1901. There were twelve charter members but within a year, two more chapters had been established. Almost sixty years later, there are more than fifty thousand members over the world. Almost a hundred and fifty active chapters at colleges and universities and well over a hundred alumni chapters and associations across the country.

Brittson will leave the campus next Wednesday hoping to have the fraternity started by this time. He will hand the advisory responsibilities over to the frat alumni who live in the Reno area. The alumni are now investigating real estate and will select a house as soon as the frat has increased sufficiently in number.

Possibilities for a new fraternity were considered last year by the IFC because of the growth of the student body. After approving the plan, the IFC, IFC alumni, and the university administration selected which fraternity it would be. Brittson visited the campus last summer and presented his program to the council.

Anyone interested in the fraternity, Brittson said, may contact him at the office of Student Affairs or at the Mapes hotel.

Intramural Bowling To Open on October 15

Intramural bowling will begin at 9 p. m. on Wednesday, October 15, at the Town and Country Bowling Alleys. Ed Thomas and Jim Blakely are directing the tournament. Strong competition is assured this year, according to Professor Scranton, director of intramural sports.

* Sports Spotlight *

By RICHARD L. TRACY
Sagebrush Sports Editor

Jerry Tobin, swift and powerful half-back for the University of Nevada Wolf Pack, has sparked all of the games thus far this season with his power running and gutsy ground attacks.

Coming to the Wolf Pack from Winnemucca, Nevada, Tobin has one year of experience on the team, lettering in the sport last year.

The 5 foot, 7-inch, 164-pound athlete is majoring in physical education and history.

A member of Block N athletic society, the 21-year-old student is also a member of the army reserve program, and has participated in baseball on the college level.

Jerry played second base position on coach Jake Lawlor's Wolf Pack baseball team last year, and proved himself to be an exceptional player, making the first team.

Tom Freiburg, Wolf Pack tackle and top lineman, has continually pressed the opposition teams Nevada has faced this year.

Whether on the offensive or defensive, the tall, powerful athlete is someone the opposition has to contend with. Without him, the members of the team feel, a lot of power that the Pack now has would be lost.

Freiberg, a senior majoring in physical education, is married, a member of Sigma Nu fraternity, and a member of Block N. He has earned his letter in two previous years on the football team.

Tom has also participated in basketball and track in college.

The 6-foot, 3-inch, 215-pound athlete adds tremendously to the Nevada ground attack with his bone-crushing blocking and tackling.

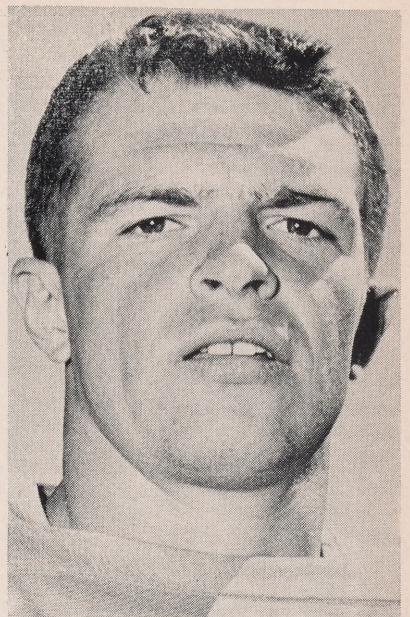

Freiberg is one of the "Old Timers" who came back to the team to help it out of its doldrums. He, along with several other married members of the team were recently called the "backbone of the team" by Coach McEachron.

The annual cross-country race! A four mile grind from the high school in Sparks to Mackay stadium.

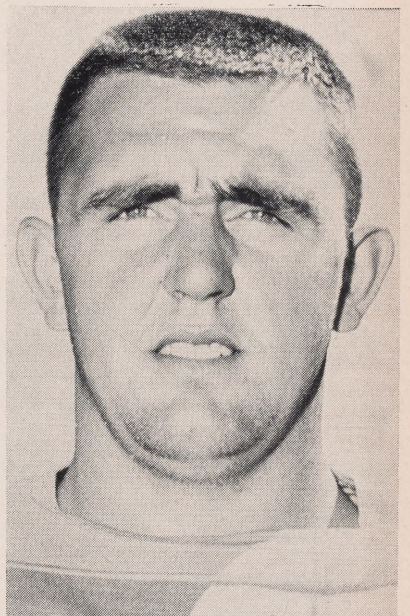

Members of each men's living group on campus, generally the pledges of the fraternity houses, start their training on Mackay field the first of October, gradually building up their wind and stamina in preparation for the big morning which signals the beginning of Homecoming activities.

Stretching tired muscles, and some which have never been used at all, the part-time athletes start their yearly puffing and moaning, accompanied by painful abstinence from such things as smoking, and drinking of alcoholic beverages.

If you ever want to see the world through an athletes eyes, try out for this event. After a few laps around the dirt track you wonder what keeps a runner up for a full four mile jaunt.

UN Students Receive Welcome at Chico

Approximately eighty rooters left the front of the SAE house in two chartered busses last Saturday and proceeded to Chico, California for the Nevada-Chico football game.

Stags and SAE pledges were confined to one bus while the other bus carried SAE's with dates.

Keiste Janulis, associate professor in journalism and his wife served as chaperones, together with Mrs. Agnes Auchampaugh, SAE house mother.

Rooters stayed at the Hotel Oaks for the night and returned to Reno Sunday afternoon.

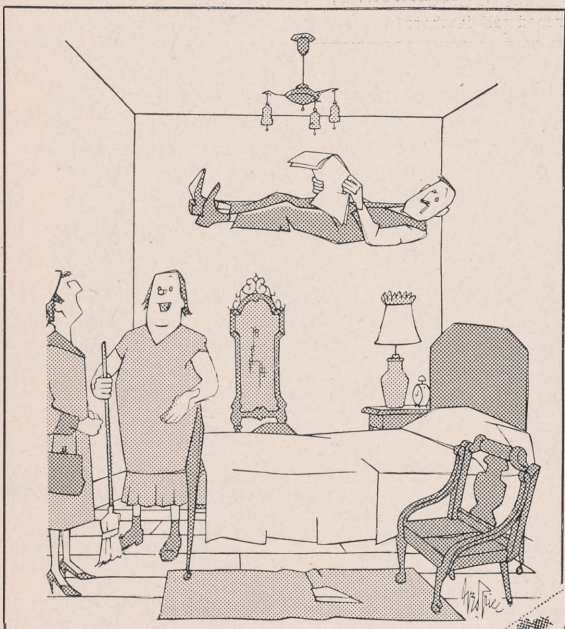

Nevada Meets Aggies Tonight

Nevada's Wolf Pack will take on the California Aggies tonight at Davis. Game time is 8 p.m.

Coach Gordon McEachron's squad is looking for its second win in three starts this season. It will be the second conference game for the Pack.

The probable starting lineup for the Wolf Pack will include Bob Peck at quarterback; Bill Rankin, who scored twice against Chico State, and Jerry Tobin at the half-back slots; and hard running Mike Lommori at fullback.

In the line will be Tom Whitaker and Bob Riolo at the ends, Bill Provin and Richard Ripley filling in the tackle positions, Martin Murphy and Dan Baldini in the guard slots, and at center Chuck Walker.

TEMPERS FLARED on controversial play (see story) when Chico was awarded the football after a Nevada fumble rolled through the end-zone, robbing Nevada of a touchdown and the points it would have taken to give the Wolf Pack a win over the Chico Wildcats. Fist fights started as players from both teams scrambled for the free ball. Nevada back Rankin is shown rushing a Chico lineman. The little guy on the ground? Nevada Quarterback Bob Peck, who else? —Dondero Photo ground plays, directed by minute Pack Quarterback Bob Peck, moved from its own 35-yard line to the Chico goal in 15 plays. Score then, Chico by 14-12.

Wolf Pack Drops Chico State Game

Nevada took the lead again when Halfback Tom Whittaker intercepted a Wildcat pass and carried it to Chico's 15. Two plays later Bill Rankin—still in the game at that time—drove around end for nine yards and six points.

Then came the controversial play. Peck passed to Halfback Jerry Tobin who scooped in the ball and was on his way. Right at the goal line, he was hit by two Chico men. Tobin lost control of the ball which bounced off his knee and rolled through the end zone. One referee said Tobin lost the ball on the five-yard line, and his call was accepted, although the referee far outdistanced by the speedy Tobin really had little opportunity to spot the ball exactly. Chico's field was damp, and the lime marks on the field were practically erased in the area halfway in from the sidelines where Tobin crossed the goal line.

As the ball rolled free, players from both teams scrambled for it, but the referee ruled the ball dead. A fight started on the field and Nevada's Rankin and Chico's big Tom Helzer were thumbed from the game by officials.

The Pack, disgusted with the ruling by officials took their anger out on Wildcat players, tackling harder than they had all season. Their hard playing led a Cal Aggie scout to comment:

"Oh, Lord help us."

Nevada's defense held until but six minutes remained in the game. Chico scored on a series of passes, to take the winning points, leading 22-18 when the gun sounded for the final play.
