Lewis Edges Out Quinn for Frosh Class Presidency

A mere 17 votes, in the general elections Friday, decided the freshman class presidency.

Richard Lewis barely edged out David Quinn by 184 to 167. Both men are from Reno.

As a result of the same balloting, Carol Best won over Valerie Estes for the post as Freshman Class Associated Women Students representative.

Approximately 350 students voted. However, says Jean Rivkin, election board chairman, "this was not the expected turnout, since there are 800 freshmen."

Lewis is registered in Business Administration and majoring in Personnel Management. Best is majoring in Secondary Education and comes from Yerington.

Miss Rivkin thanked all the campus living groups for their help during the elections. She especially thanked the election board committee.

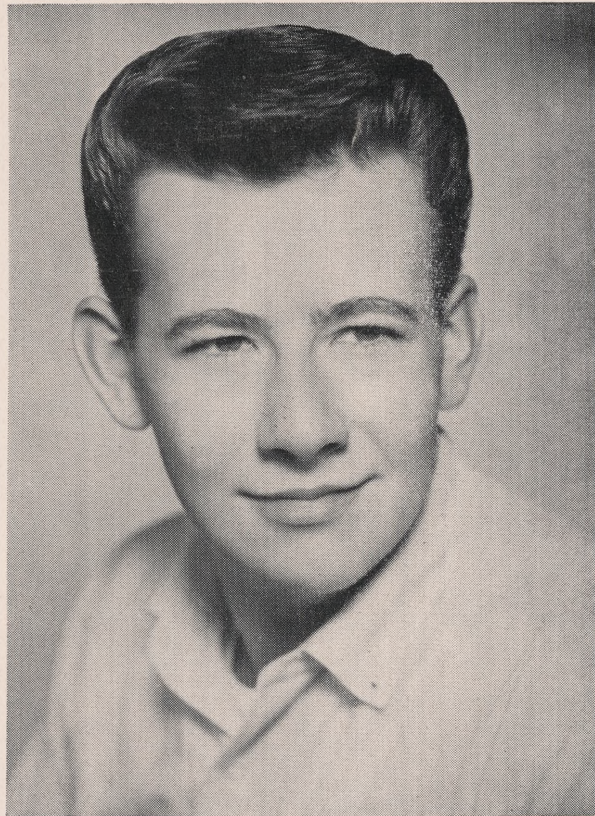

Frosh to Paint 'N' Tomorrow A. M.

The annual Frosh-Soph Field Day events will begin with the painting of the "N" tomorrow morning. Freshmen are to meet in the parking lot by the new Gym at 9 a.m., where transportation will be provided.

Block N will supervise the event. They advise everyone to wear old clothes.

Competitive games, culminating with the traditional tug-of-war across Manzanita Lake, will begin at 1:30 p.m. on the quad. The freshmen will be able to throw away their dinks and ribbons if they amass more points than the sophomores.

The Frosh-Soph Dance will be held in the Old Gym following the Nevada-San Francisco State football game. Dave Hanson and his Playboys Quintet will play. Prices are 35c for stags and 50c for couples. Professor Earl Kirsten, assistant professor of Geography, and his wife will be chaperones.

DICK LEWIS, NEW FRESHMAN MANAGER

Long Hike Necessary From New Parking

Anyone for a brisk, invigorating early-morning hike?

James D. Rodgers, University Engineer, said last week that additional parking facilities are being established for students with good feet.

The new area is Clark field, across from the football field and just north of Hartman hall.

More Dust

"Gravel is being laid down and lanes marked out," he said, "and students should be able to park there in the very near future."

Rodgers said that he realized that parking there would involve an increased hike to classes, but "I can see no alternative."

"Proposed construction of a new men's dorm and the new fine arts building will cut parking space around the gymnasium by at least five per cent," he said. "Those cars will have to go somewhere."

Rodgers also stated that the space between the journalism building and Stewart Hall will be used to provide parking for the buildings and grounds vehicles.

"Parking, parking, parking," he sighed. "It appears to me that the University of Nevada has a corner on the two-car family idea."

YWCA Offers Course In Youth Counseling

An opportunity for college women to gain experience in advising and instructing young girls is now available.

The Reno YWCA now has openings for girls who want to instruct Junior HI-Y teen clubs.

Those interested should contact YWCA instructors by calling FA 3-4531.

Full Program Being Set For Celebrating Homecoming Day

A full agenda of Alumni and student activities is scheduled for the University of Nevada's thirty-eighth annual Homecoming. Events will include the traditional Wolves Frolic production, a colorful Homecoming parade and the Homecoming football game between Nevada and Sacramento State. The festivities

Schedule Tryouts For Newscasters

Frank Way, student master of ceremonies of the University radio program, will hold auditions for newscasters in the broadcast studio on the third floor of Morrill hall. The tryouts will be from 1 to 4 o'clock, Wednesday, Oct. 22.

The ten persons selected will write news of interest to the public and present it, themselves, "live" over the air. Two different newscasters, men and women students, will be on the program every afternoon.

Way says, "additional news of the campus will be brought to the listening audience of Reno and the surrounding area."

"Hypnosis in Medicine" Subject of Address

"Hypnosis in Medicine" will be outlined for Sigma XI members next Tuesday, Oct. 21.

Meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the education building auditorium, the members will listen to a lecture by Dr. M. A. Sonderegger who will explain what hypnosis is, how it works, and why it works.

Dr. Sonderegger is a Reno physician who utilizes hypnosis in his practice, primarily in the field of obstetrics.

This is the first meeting this year for the organization. It is made up of University students and faculty members interested in exploring various aspects of science.

will begin Wednesday when sororities hold open house to introduce their queen candidates.

Students will formally meet the queen candidates at the Homecoming assembly Thursday at 11 a.m.

The traditional bonfire and pajama rally will be held in Mackay stadium at 7:30 p.m. Following the rally the students will snake dance through downtown Reno.

Friday activities will center at Wolves Frolic productions which will be held in the State building, downtown Reno. The Frolic will begin sharply at 8:30 in the evening.

Cross Country

Saturday's activities will begin with the annual cross-country foot race. The gruelling race begins in Sparks and the contestant will cross the finish line in Mackay Stadium. Last year's winner was Independent, Dave Sharp. The race begins at 9 a.m.

The colorful Homecoming parade will begin its trek through downtown Reno at 10 a.m. In addition to many floats, the parade will feature the Homecoming Queen and her attendants.

Students and Alumni together will meet at Mackay Stadium to watch the Nevada Wolf Pack battle the Sacramento State College Hornets. The game will begin at 2 p.m. Pre-game ceremonies will be performed by local high school bands.

During halftime ceremonies Governor Charles H. Russell will crown the Homecoming Queen.

A dance at the State building at 9 p.m. will culminate the activities. Hard earned trophies will be awarded to winners at the dance.

Editorial

The student Senate met Wednesday night to go over their current pet project, the Student Court, and it was good to see some students present objected to parts of the program drawn up by a committee under Bill Keith

The constitution for the new court is an amazing piece of work. It contains four major divisions, some twenty-nine sub-divisions, forty-three sub-sub-divisions and only thirty sub-sub-sub-divisions. A truly marvelous work of art.

It didn't take long for the Senate members to find a few snags in the plan of Keith and associates. Snag one came in Part One, Division B, Sub-Division Six, Sub-Sub-Division A which states that at all times the Student Court will be comprised of four men and one woman (sic). Men senators didn't seem to object to the article, but the ladies at the gathering, primarily Miss AWS Gardenswartz, felt it was unjust. "I completely disagree," fired back Keith. "Women will show effects of outside influence much more than men." "No," countered Miss Pat Reynolds. "I expected this," conceded Keith.

Nobody seemed to consider that the faculty would probably best resist outside influence.

Snag two came only seconds later in the same part, same division, same sub-division, but in sub-sub-division D. This gem provides that no Justice (one of the five to serve on the court) may resign his position during his tenure of office (two years) to run for any elective or appointive office for the A. S. U. N.

"What about five-year students?" asked some of the more alert Senators, realizing that students could run for an A. S. U. N. office after serving two years on the court. The appointment to serve as a Justice looks now like a good way to bury a political aspirant who could be induced to take the office when he's a sophomore.

Other snags deeper into the outlined constitution concerned what should be a quorum for a court session; is a witness a defendant when he fails to appear at the trial; and trivial matters of a misplaced "and/or."

Fortunately, the Senate did not vote to accept the proposed outline, but are having Keith iron out the wrinkles then present it again at a special meeting October 29.

It is now believed that the Senate will put the proposed court to a special student body election before enforcing it, as was first considered. This is the first step in the right direction, but the best step would be to toss the whole idea into the waste basket. Why any student would want to bring upon himself judgment by a group of fellow students who will show effects of outside influence—men not as much as women, according to Keith—and who will be more severe in handing out punishment than present faculty disciplinarians would be—this situation is realized even by Keith—is beyond reason.

FAT BOY...

By GEORGE A. MROSS

in a phone booth

GO!

"So, I'll see yuh, Fatguy."

"Where yuh goin'?"

"I don't know."

"Man, you're always goin'. When yuh gonna get there?"

"Where's there?"

The inability to study, or rather to procrastinate and find tangents of rational diversions for study, has always fascinated me. Students supposedly come to college to end up somewhere, preferably at a higher level of intelligence while learning to be competent enough to qualify for some position of responsibility. The course by course, semester by semester progress to this goal is a relatively uncomplicated one without pains or depressions if the student is at all conscientious—after a year of college this should be self-evident to everyone. But somewhere along the way the student also learns that he need not suffer the grind of thorough knowledge. He can take refuge in the middle and con his way along on a C average, still getting to wherever there is to go. This gives him a feeling of false superiority. "If I wanted to, I could get better grades," becomes the Golden Rule tacked up beneath the portrait of mother on the dormitory wall. He believes this with an unerring conviction.

And then, he can Go! He can be Number One social hotdog.

But as the semesters pass and the luster of balling tarnishes that "if" becomes bigger. He begins to doubt whether he ever could get better grades. To study has come to mean diversion and flight for he doesn't know how to study anymore. He wishes he could start again, but it's too late to be conscientious, too late to test what he knew about studying—that it's not hard, but only a matter of doing it—thinking that he might prove himself wrong, that he wasn't as brilliant as he thought he was and smash that grand illusion about being a lion in the world. He can only keep goin' . . .

. . . Because he has to—waiting in movie houses before passive screens, waiting at the Wal on dead Wednesday nights, waiting on a hot beach at the Lake, waiting on the sun deck at Sky Tavers, cutting class and waiting over weak coffee at Lee's Drive-In, waiting in the silence of dim rooms, waiting for something to happen, for the signal to go—tempo & jazz & smoke & closeness & the poetry of movement, the "let's bug out" loud and fast for far away, packing his bags with neon nights and hazy afternoons and pizza dreams. Anywhere that is away, in crowds and in solitude, making it big in another world except the real one, for the real one takes care of itself in social security and pensions and being sufficiently oiled in the organizational wheel like a C average. And the real one is going to take care of him also, for once you've gone it's too hard to come back.

Twelve to Attend Oregon Conference

Twelve University of Nevada students will attend a regional conference of the Association of College Unions. The conference will be held at Oregon State College in Corvallis, Oregon, Oct. 30 through Nov. 1.

The conference is being held to exchange ideas on student union facilities and programs, said Mr. Robert L. Kersey, director of student services. About 180 students from 15 participating schools will be at the conference. The Region 11 conference will include representatives from northern California, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, British Columbia, and Montana.

Mr. Kersey and Dr. Burton C. Newbry, faculty advisor to the student union, will attend the conference. Students going are: Dorthiann Cook, Carol Gardenswartz, Deanne McGowan, Pat Reynolds, Sharon Stiff, Bill Adams, Dick Deleissegues, Dave Hanson, Bob Merrill, Jim Santini, Don Rasmussen and Dan Winters.

Ski Club Holds First Meeting of Year

The University of Nevada Ski club met Wednesday afternoon.

Dick Yates was elected president, Robert Sillery vice president, and Gay Brennan, secretary-treasurer.

Three five-dollar gift certificates of a Reno sporting goods store were given to winners in a prize contest.

At the next meeting, a book of ski lesson tickets valued at $25 will be given away.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

A draft of the constitution for the Student Court was submitted to the ASUN senate by Bill Keith last Wednesday. ASUN president Richard Bryan gave copies to all the senators and urged that the copies be carried back to all the living groups. He also stated that more copies would be available to interested students by the latter part of the week. Copies could be picked up in Bryan's office in the student union building.

Acting on the Finance Control Board recommendation the senate voted to give the student news editor at $40 a month.

THE CRUCIBLE Is Coming

The senate also voted for a hundred dollars to be used as part of a public relations program in the high schools of Nevada.

"The money will be used to add to the universities knowledge of high schools and to inform the schools throughout the state of the opportunities available at Nevada, according to Bryan.

Also approved was the Roger William's Fellowship constitution, organizing a Baptist youth group on campus.

Due to the resignation of Carolyn McGowan, two replacements were selected. Glenda Price will replace Carolyn on the Executive Board and Kay Kelly will replace her on the Nominating Committee.

The next meeting of the senate will be Oct. 29. President Bryan stated that any interested student was welcome to attend.

Sigma Phi Epsilon To Meet This Week

A meeting of those interested in the University of Nevada's newest fraternity, Sigma Phi Epsilon, was held Wednesday evening in the Sierra Room of the new student union.

Mr. Darrel D. Brittsan, Province Director for the fraternity, spoke briefly and then showed slides explaining various functions of the organization.

Mr. Brittsan said that he has met some very capable men not in fraternities. Emphasis will be placed on the quality of men asked to pledge.

"If good men make the start," he said, "the fraternity will grow and develop easily."

Sigma Phi Epsilon is second largest in number of chapters and tenth in membership of all national fraternities. It has a world-wide membership of well over 52,000.

Although Mr. Brittsan is leaving today, he will return at least once a month to help the group develop. Those desiring to find out more about the organization in the meantime should contact Dean Basta.

Education Majors Practice Teaching

More than sixty education majors are back in high school and lower grades. They are not students but teachers, or more exactly, "student teachers."

Student teaching is part of the education program of the university. The student is sent to a classroom at one of the elementary or high schools in the Washoe county area and is placed under the supervision of a regular instructor who allows the student to take over part of the instruction.

Largest group of student teachers is at Reno High School where fifteen students take part in the program.

Another thirteen students are at Sparks High School.

The other students are teaching in the elementary level at Pevine, Sierra Vista, Libby C. Booth, Echo Loder, Anderson and Orvis Ring.

Wilson to Address
Civil Engineers

James E. Wilson, California regional director of highways, will be the guest speaker before the campus American Society of Civil Engineers meeting next week. The gathering will be held Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m. in room 213 of the New Engineering building.

Wilson is considered one of the leading design engineers on California's highway department. His talk will deal with the work now under way on highway 40 between Reno and San Francisco. He is a graduate of the University of California.

Wilson's talk will be followed by a movie and refreshments.

Dean J. E. Moose On UN Committee

Dean J. E. Moose of the University of Nevada's graduate school served last week on an examining committee for the re-evaluation for accreditation.

Dean Moose examined the California State Polytechnic College of San Luis Obispo's mathematic department, the physical sciences, and the graduate study program.

In addition to his duties as an examiner, Dean Moose also filled the capacity of Nevada's sole commissioner on the committee to which teams report their findings.

"Live" TV show 40 fathoms down guides
our search for future oil reserves

With new oil becoming harder to find, our search widens. Now we're exploring the ocean floor — and new techniques are the rule. In one such venture we lowered a TV camera 250 feet below the waves to help guide the drilling of test holes from shipboard.

This is typical of the novel techniques used in our quest that last year took us to 21 states, Canada, Alaska and ten Latin American and Caribbean countries. In all, we drilled 120 exploratory wells. Although the cost ran to many millions, the successful ones helped us locate more new oil than we withdrew from the ground.

Actually, this benefits you as well as Standard. It means an adequate reserve of our most valuable national resource, to be drawn on in days ahead to provide the thousands of products from petroleum so essential for your daily needs.

Scholarships Are Open to Students

Applicants for both Fulbright and Rhodes scholarships should have their applications filed before the end of October, said Dr. Loring Williams, Fulbright program adviser for the University of Nevada.

Fulbright program awards are made entirely in the currencies of the participating countries. In general the maintenance allowance is based on the living cost in the host country and is sufficient to meet the normal living expenses of a single person.

The value of a Rhodes scholarship is about $1,560 per year. Students who qualify under the G. I. Bill may expect the same benefits at Oxford as at an American university.

Excellent scholarship is a basic prerequisite for both programs.

The primary difference between the two programs is that the Fulbright scholarship specifies that recipients have at least a bachelor degree or its equivalent before the beginning date of the grant, while a Rhodes scholarship award may go to students having a junior standing at a recognized college or university.

Since 1951, Nevada has recommended 18 students, out of which 10 have been chosen by the Board of Foreign Scholarships to study in foreign countries.

Letters of award will be mailed to successful candidates in April and May, 1959.

Twenty-five countries are participating in the program this year.

Community Chest Quota for Nevada

Fifteen hundred dollars is the quota for the University of Nevada in this year's Community Chest drive. The university has met its quota only once in recent years. Under the direction of Professor John R. Gottardi, the quota was surpassed in 1956.

Professor Keiste Janulis, current campus chairman for the drive, hopes that through the cooperation of the faculty and students of the university, the quota will be met or surpassed again this year.

In an effort to meet the desired sum, the YWCA on campus, which receives funds from the Chest, is offering to hash for the living group contributing the most per capita to the fund.

Kay Karstens, Ellen Piehl, Nancy Petrini, Pat Dunn, Caroline Hall and Nancy Hansen, of the YWCA, will collect donations from the living groups. The Y portion of the Community Chest drive on campus is under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Talcott.

Professor Janulis said that the faculty and staff of the University will be contacted by building captains early this week.

ASUN president Dick Bryan urged every student "to contribute as much as he can afford" in the Community Chest drive. "It is especially important," he said, "since some of the money is turned back to our YWCA on campus and is used for many worthwhile projects which it sponsors."

Sobrio To Head ROTC Drill Team This Year

Cadet Daniel Sobrio has been selected to head the university's R. O. T. C. Drill team this year. The team has begun practicing its tricky marching maneuvers five days each week.

A display at the Military Ball, Nov. 15, will be one of the highlights of the team's activities this semester.

The team is part of Company A, the R. O. T. C.'s company size drill unit here. The drill team itself will consist of only about 15 members.

ROTC To Have Own Band Organization

The ROTC Brigade at the University of Nevada will have its own band this year. In the past the university band has served as the ROTC band.

Cadet Captain Jay G. Evans has been assigned to the position of Band Director. He is being assisted by Cadet First Lieutenant Felton Hickman.

Chief Warrant Officer Louis Ferraro, Bandmaster of the Sixth U. S. Army Band at the Presidio of San Francisco, spent ten days at the beginning of the school year assisting Cadet Captain Evans in the organization of the band.

The band will wear the ROTC uniform with a blue and silver helmet liner, white scarves and blue leggings.

"A way of getting direct contact with the students in education," is the way Dr. Garold D. Holstine, dean of the school of education describes the series of assemblies that he has started within the college.

The first of this series was conducted last week and almost 150 students attended.

At that meeting, which was held in the Education Auditorium, the dean discussed ways to prepare the student for careers in teaching.

Dr. Holstine urges the students to "present their views to me so that I can act upon them."

College Tests To Be Given in Ten Towns

Approximately three hundred Nevada high school seniors will be given a school and college ability test next week. James C. Hayes, University of Nevada student counselor, and Helen Gilkey, Dean of the Schol of Nursing, will conduct this annual high school testing program.

Leaving Monday, they will visit ten schools in the northeastern part of the state. These will include Battle Mountain, Carlin, Elko, Owahee, Wells, Montello, Ely, Lund, Eureka, and Austin.

The trip will last one week and will cover 100 miles.

Hayes explained that these tests are used to help in counseling situations. Through a percentile score, the student can be compared with the rest of the nation's high school seniors. In addition, state averages are compiled to enable the student to compare himself with Nevada high school seniors.

Hayes continued that the scores are given to the high schools as a service of the University. Should the student decide to come to the University, then these scores are used by the Dean of Student Affairs as a counseling device.

Dean Gilkey will take the opportunity to talk to the senior girls concerning careers in nursing.

Organize English Club on Campus

A University of Nevada club of students interested in English literature was organized on campus this week.

Harriet Nosenchuck, Janet Balmain, and Bernard Mergan were elected members of an executive committee which will head the organization.

While the nature of the club's activities has not been determined, a number of projects are being considered.

Writing of club members may be read to the club for criticism.

Instructors in the English department may be asked to make talks.

Visiting and Nevada writers may be invited to meet with the students.

Nevada Student Visits Spain During Summer; Part of Exchange Program

Dan L. Urriola, Jr., a University of Nevada senior in civil engineering, spent 13 weeks in Europe this summer as a participant in international student exchange organization.

Although Urriola and the other 86 students who attended from the United States paid their own way, the International Association for the Exchange of Students for Technical Information made the trip possible. The association found jobs for the men and chartered the plane that took the group to Amsterdam.

The students flew to Amsterdam on June 10 and scattered to different parts of Europe. Urriola went to Spain.

He spent eight weeks at the Pantano de Zujar dam site near Badajoz. The dam was being built to irrigate cotton, tobacco and rice in the area.

After the eight weeks at the dam site, Urriola struck out to visit relatives in the Basque provinces and to see the rest of Spain.

"I saw most of Spain for very little money," Urriola said. "I stayed at boarding house hotels for $2 a day. Another low cost item was wine that sold for 2 cents a glass."

Two Days in Paris

Urriola spent two days in Paris and two days at the Brussels World Fair. He said that the American fashion show and the American Rexall drug store struck his eye as the best exhibits of the fair.

The 86 students flew for home from Amsterdam on Sept. 10.

Former Associate Editor of 'Brush Now With U.S. Broadcast Information

Mr. "Bob" Parker, class of 1940, dropped into the Journalism building recently to pay a visit to his old mentor, Professor A. L. Higginbotham.

Parker is with the US Foreign Broadcast Information Service. A transfer from London to Washington, D. C., with Reno as a stopover, is the occasion for the visit. He is staying with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Parker.

"Bob" Parker has gone a long way since his associate editorship of the UN Sagebrush was terminated.

Immediately after graduation in 1940, he moved to Salt Lake City and went to work for the United Press and later was a staffer on the old Salt Lake Tribune-Telegram.

His next move was to Washington, D. C., where he worked for the Office of War Information. During this period he was the guest of President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at dinner in the White House.

He then gained a commission in the U. S. Army, and during the war, he was with General Willoughby's Counter Intelligence Group in the Southwest Pacific area.

Since his release from the service, he has been with the Foreign Broadcast Information Service at various foreign posts. The work Parker is doing now is highly confidential and he declined to say anything about it.

Parker feels that his course in journalism has "really paid off."

Found in Library

Several books and a cigarette lighter left in the University of Nevada library this semester have not yet been claimed.

The lighter bears the initials "CNA." The name Nina Diane Moore is in the book Understanding Arithmetic. Clay Darrow's name is in Money and Banking. One book does not have the name of the owner of it. It is Spoken German by Charles Kany and Christian Melz.

Agreement Between University and Washoe Medical Provides for Training

Students in the Orvis School of Nursing at the University of Nevada will begin professional training at Washoe Medical Center under the terms of a working agreement signed Friday, Oct. 3.

Dr. Ernest Mack, president of the Washoe Medical Center Board of Trustees, Clyde Fox, administrator, and Mrs. Madge Pringle, assistant administrator, nursing service, signed on behalf of the hospital. Dr. Charles J. Armstrong, president of the University of Nevada, and Mrs. Helen Gilkey, dean of the Orvis School of Nursing, signed for the University.

The agreement will provide facilities for students in all fields of professional nursing in clinical criteria, Dean Gilkey said. As freshmen, the students will go to the hospital for observation periods only. During their second year, they will begin giving actual nursing care to patients under the supervision of nursing faculty.

The Orvis School of Nursing also has working agreements with the Nevada State Hospital and St. Mary's Hospital in Reno. Nursing instruction at the Nevada State Hospital will be specialized inasmuch as that institution only gives care to psychiatric patients. Every student will be required to complete instruction there as well as the other two hospitals.

A total of 13 students, who represent the first class admitted to the Orvis School of Nursing, are in their second year of study. The freshman class this year is more than double last year's with 28 students registering. In addition, there are 20 registered nurses taking evening division course and daytime courses in nursing to improve their professional skills.

"We are very grateful for the fine facilities made available to us through these agreements," Dean Gilkey said, "and the high calibre of medical care given by these hospitals is a very fine thing for our students."

... JUST WHITTLIN'...

By JUDY V.

Here's that girl again; how I made it this time I'll never know, just one of those weeks, I guess. 'Course they say that things are better late than never, but it's days like this that make girl columnists wish that they could turn in their typewriters and go home. Well I guess that's enough grippin' for one time; on with the news!

This weekend proved to be quite the social merry-go-round with the four pledge dances which were held on Friday and Saturday nights. The Gamma Phi's held their dance at the El Cortez, on Friday evening. A few of the new familiar faces seen there (of course I would think they were familiar, wouldn't I?) were Bev Staples and SN, Dick Dorworth; Sarah Humphrey and SAE, Bill Adams; Jean Baker and SN, Bobby Burns; Nancy Damon and SN, Jud Samon; Carol Mather and SN, Bob Moore; Laura Lee Smith and Tau, Pete Menducci; Linda Smith and SN, Lennie Marrs; Maxiene Wright and Kirk Terrell; Pat Reynolds and Snake, Bob Ferrero; Abby Utter and SAE, Steve Heyer; Charlese Rupley and SN, Clay Darrow; Nancy Lynn Sanders and SAE, Dick Yates. Then there was John Metzker and—well, just John Metzker, and standing on top of the tables, no less.

The Half-Way House was the sight of the Pi Phi dance. Due to my rather last-minute column, I was unable to get too many names. However it is rumored that Barbara Foltz and Lambda Chi, Leroy Arscacada; Kay Kelley and Jerry Moon; Sharon Teglia and Snake, Ron Wilson; Carol Theix and Lambda Chi, Al Mohat; and Diz Boonhoom and SN, Lester Sweeney were among the several guests.

The S. A. E.'s held their dance on October 11th, and it was also at the Half-Way House. Lynn Baker, from what I am told, was the host of an EXCELLENT cocktail party. Seems as though Ed Petroni, Social Chairman of the S. A. E.'s had a little trouble with his band. He ordered five pieces and got three. Could have been worse though, Ed. What if you'd only ordered three? Taking full advantage of the trio, which managed to put out some pretty fair music were, George Allison and Pi Phi, Barbara Ruark; Tom McCann and Pi Phi, Sue White; Norm Scroggin and Tri Delt, Charlotte Sheldon; Clark Russell and Valorie Estes, Theta; Stan Smith and Joyce Hollenbeck, Theta; Ed Allison and Tri Delt, Judy Maxum; Rodger Brown and Theta, Susan Scutter; Ed Petroni and Delta, Judy Buck; Wayne Tetrault and Kathy Arnsen, Theta; and the gaiest couple at the whole dance, Lynn Staubs and Pam Weir.

The Theta Chi's also had a pledge dance on Saturday night. Man, it must have been a wild one; have you seen Sharon Sorenson? I heard someone kicked her; I sure wish I knew who it was so I could avoid him.

The Taus thought that Saturday was a pretty good night for a dance, too. As a result, they had a pretty good dance. Of the multitudes who were there included: Rich Hughes and Janet Carlson; Keith Earnst and Beth Boyd; Harry Heck and Lynn Walsh; John Seeliger and Sharon Flanagan; Jim Sloan and Pi Phi, Sharon Wilkerson; Ted Nicolich and Joane Ruark, Pi Phi; Keith Kellison and Noel Night; Jack Jelovich and Lynn Spell; Murdock Smith and Jane Beeghley; Church Walker and Lynn Ross; Wally Johnson and Patsy Lewis; Roger Bremner and Nina Freedman; Carl Wegren and Joane Cavalliera; Gerald Boden and Alex Anestastastos, Delta; Rus Westover and Joyce Stephens; Dick Ripley and Ann Baldini; Paul Huffey and Gamma Phi, Dorothy Howell; Gary Bullis and Sandy Brown; and Gary Machabee and Lois Perretto. There were also some stray frat men, it seemed. As one Tau summed up the situation, "I don't care if you come again, boys; only next time, bring a date."

Sunday evening the Phi Sigs had a Hay ride, complete hay, truck and truck driver. Guess you could ask Dave about that, though.

I know its kinda short this week, but there's no use a talkin' when there's nothin' more to say, so—So long!

(The Watch-Bird had better keep eyes open next week, huh?)

PROMINENT NEVADA EDUCATORS ASSIST IN FORMING LOCAL INSURANCE COMPANY

Two individuals prominent in schools affairs at the University of Nevada are entering a private business venture which has two and a half million dollars behind it.

Dr. Garold D. Holstine, dean of the school of education and N. E. Broadbent, members of the board of regents, are among fourteen Nevadans who have started Nevada's first home-owned and operated life insurance company.

Dr. Holstine describes the Trans-western Life Company, as "good for the economy of Nevada because it will allow Nevadans to invest in Nevada and also bring money into the state."

Both Dr. Holstine and Broadbent will be members of the board of directors. Dr. Holstine will also be secretary of the board. He made it clear that he will continue to be a "fulltime dean of education at Nevada."

In addition to Broadbent and Dr. Holstine, the board will include Rex Bell, lieutenant governor of Nevada.

Chairman of the board will be Linn V. Hall, a Reno insurance man. President of Transwestern will be M. J. Christensen of Las Vegas.

Art Display at Travis

A student art display will be on view in the Jot Travis Student Union building for the next two weeks. The display will include paintings and drawings done this year and last year.

Deanne McGowan, chairman of the student union art committee, is coordinating the display with the help of Prof. Craig Sheppard of the art department.

Higginbotham Announces Stylebook For Nevada Journalism Students Here

Publication of the new and third edition of "The Style Book of the Department of Journalism," was announced today by Professor A.

L. Higginbotham, chairman of the department of journalism.

The book is chiefly for the use of students of journalism at the University of Nevada, but a copy is being sent to all high school publications and newspapers in the state.

The purpose of the style book is to assist publications in attaining uniformity in style even though many writers are involved and dedicated to the making of better newspapers through greater accuracy, precision, clarity, and readability.

"The Stylebook" will be available to journalism students at the ASUN book store Oct. 3.

Genetics To Be Discussion Topic

New genetic experiments were topics of discussion during a recent visit to the University of Nevada by Dr. Oirsten Stromnaes, director of the Institute of Genetics at the University of Oslo, Norway.

Dr. James F. Kidwell, Geneticist with the Nevada Experiment Station, said the distinguished foreign scientist attended the International Genetics Congress in Montreal in August. He is presently studying at the University of California at Berkeley.

His Nevada visit was part of a tour of western universities and colleges. His primary interest, Kidwell said, is a study of radiation effects on genetic systems, closely related to work being carried by members of the staff of the animal husbandry department at the University of Nevada.

Engineering Courses at University Have Attracted Four Women Students

Among the four women enrolled in engineering this year at Nevada are two who hope to graduate in June, Gerty I. Berg and Yvonne J. Erb. The others are Lucille O. Shelly, a junior, and Patricia Chaffin, a freshman.

Miss Berg credits her success in engineering to good schools in Germany. She was born in Germany and finished 12 years of school there. She arrived in the United States in 1947.

"One's precious time was not wasted in German schools," she says. "Those that failed a grade took the grade over again and again until they mastered the work. No importance was put on the age that you completed your education."

Miss Berg is in electrical engineering. She is the first woman on this campus to become a member of the all engineer's honorary, Sigma Tau.

The other senior, Miss Erb, says that her education was geared to engineering since she was a freshman in high school.

She said "most of the girls fell into teaching or secretarial areas but I fit engineering." Most people told me I was crazy," Miss Erb said, "but when a person tells me I can't or shouldn't do something I have a stubborn streak that sees me through." She attended her senior year at Sparks high school.

Miss Erb is in civil engineering and is on leave of absence from the Bureau of Reclamation at Glen Canyon Dam, Page, Arizona. She will return there in June.

Nevada Graduate To Exhibit Work

A Nevada graduate will be the next exhibitor in the art department gallery. Paintings and drawings by Gene G. Garriott, class of '53, will be exhibited in the art gallery located in the temporary buildings behind the EE building.

While a student at the UN Garriott was associated with Theta Chi fraternity. After graduation in 1953 he spent a year in Germany as a private in the artillery. He then attended the Art Center School in Los Angeles. He is now associated with the Thomas C. Wilson Advertising Agency in Reno.

Garriott stated that this will be his first one man art show and that his work is "reasonably conservative."

J. Craig Sheppard, associate professor of art, remarked that this is the first time a former student has had a show in the gallery.

The exhibition will be open Sunday, Oct. 19 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. and daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. through Nov. 7 with the exception of Sundays when the hours are 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Orvis Nursing Booth In Oct. 18 Exhibit

Orvis School of Nursing students will have a booth on the World Health Organization, at the United Nations exhibit in City Hall Oct. 18. United Nations Week is to be celebrated Oct. 18 through Oct. 24.

Bardus Nordloh is the committee head, and Wendy Freedman is in charge of posters for the booth. Their work will be supervised by Miss Marie Haddad, assistant professor in the Orvis School of Nursing.

Students in the booth will hand out pamphlets on the World Health Organization. These will cover a brief history of the organization and its present activities.

One of the nursing students will wear the newly adopted student nursing uniform.

Student Directory Being Compiled; Ready Soon

The student directory of the University of Nevada will be available at the A. S. U. N. bookstore late in October. The directory will carry the names, phone numbers and addresses of all matriculated students.

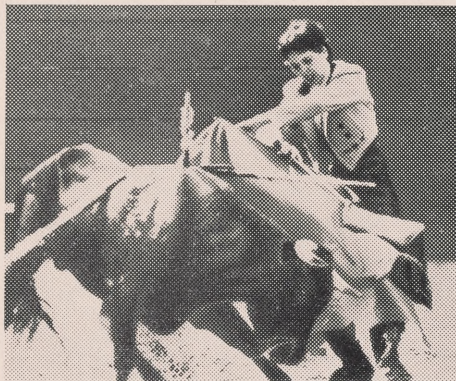

The directories will sell for 50 cents each. The U. of N. undergraduate chapter of Sigma Delta Chi publishes the student directories each year as a fund raising project. Sigma Delta Chi is the national professional journalistic fraternity.

THEY SAID IT COULDN'T BE DONE - BUT TODAY'S L&M GIVES YOU-

THEY SAID IT COULDN'T BE DONE!
 They said that bullfighting was strictly for men, and a woman couldn't do it. But pretty Pat McCormick, while a student at Texas Western College, ignored the scoffers, and became the first American girl to win international acclaim as a torea-Dora.

Puff by puff Less tars
 & More taste

DON'T SETTLE FOR ONE WITHOUT THE OTHER!

Change to L&M and get 'em both. Such an improved filter and more taste! Better taste than in any other cigarette. Yes, today's L&M combines these two essentials of modern smoking enjoyment—less tars and more taste—in one great cigarette.

Short Spotlight By RICHARD I. TRACY

In a general preview of tomorrow night's game, I have to admit that the Golden Gators are a tough team. They have a 3-win, 1-loss record so far this season. But if Nevada shows some of the spark that they have shown fans in the last few games and employs the rugged nine-man defense, they will be a hard team to beat.

Interfraternity Rifle Meet in Oct.

This year's interfraternity rifle meet will be held Oct. 27 and 29. The meet will be from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. in the university's small-bore rifle range.

Each fraternity will be allowed to enter one team of five shooters. An independent team will probably compete. The independents won the meet last year.

Every competitor will shoot five shots in each of the four basic firing positions—standing, prone, sitting, and kneeling. The scores of the three top men in each team will be taken as the teams' scores.

The University of Nevada Rifle and Pistol club will sponsor the meet under the direction of the university's Department of Military Science and Tactics.

The shooter having the highest score in the meet will win a silver plated belt buckle. Medals will be awarded to each member of the winning team said Master Sergeant Kenneth Day, the club's advisor.

The winning team will have the name of their organization engraved on a revolving trophy.

The meet will have no bearing on the Kinnear trophy this year.

No person who has won a letter in riflery at this university will be allowed to compete in the meet, Sergeant Day added.

Intramural Games Go To New Gym

The new gym will be available for the intramural basketball tournament this fall, said Professor Chester Scranton, head of the intramural sports program. In previous years, the old gym has been used.

The tournament will get under way on Wednesday, Nov. 5. Games in the series will be played on Wednesday and Thursday nights and three games will be played each night.

Game times and playing schedules will be announced next week.

Sports Spotlight

By RICHARD I. TRACY
 Sagebrush Sports Editor

The Cal Aggie game is over. Nevada lost the game after a bitter defensive struggle. The outcome of the game proved the value of the Aggie defense, where the linebackers moved in for close-in protection, and formed a nine-man line.

The 14-2 outcome of the game was not merely an end product of the Aggies defense, I believe, but also of the scouting of the Nevada eleven by the Mustang scouts.

At the first of the third quarter, many of the Wolf Pack plays seemed to be off, the pass plays were not taking their deadly effectiveness against the opposition, and the blocking assignments for the Pack linemen seemed confused.

Bobby Peck's passes seemed to be shorter and less accurate than in other games, probably because he was forced to jump-pass over the heads of the towering Mustang linemen who forced their way through the Nevada line.

Peck's pet receiver, Tom Whitaker, was clobbered from every point of the compass—the second the ball touched his hands.

Chuck Walker, although he was clipped, and had to be helped from the field, returned to play, and put in a typical good game.

Although I do not pretend to be a football expert, I saw what the effect of the Mustang's tight line of defense did to a powerful Wolf Pack team, which was the darkhorse candidate to win the game.

I know Coach McEachron and Coach Dankworth saw it's effect and I know that the scouts for San Francisco's Golden Gators saw it, too. Undoubtedly, they will try to use the nine-man defense against the Pack tomorrow night.

However, since the Pack has been running the same defense all during their practice sessions this week, I doubt that the Gators will be anywhere near as successful as the Aggies were in employing it.

Whatever excitement I missed in the game at Davis, I got during the trip down in the editor's Impala convertible.

Comfortably installed between Dewey Berscheid, who drove the entire distance, and Rollan Melton, sports editor for the Reno Evening Gazette, who continually felt for the brake with his feet, I settled back for what I thought would be a quiet and uneventful trip. Highway 40 was closed by slides, and so we took the longer route, Highway 50.

After the first few hairpin turns on Highway 50, I had changed my mind completely about the trip being peaceful, and was pondering the advisability of crawling into the back seat and laying on the floor. Rather than suffer the humiliation and taunts of my associates, I stayed in front. We're a foolhardy bunch, we journalism men!

After I noticed Melton applying imaginary brakes and heard him gasp a few times as we made some unbelievable passes around other cars on the road, I felt a little better.

Berscheid, however, was completely at home at about 80 MPH and did not seem to notice our nervousness.

"The driver never gets killed," he said.

After wandering through the labyrinth avenues of Sacramento in search of Highway 40, we made our way to Davis and stopped at a restaurant for a bite to eat before the game.

An interesting and thought-inspiring feature of the menu was a notice typed across the bottom announcing the night's football event. Why don't some of our downtown restaurants do this???

Nevada To Play Host to San Francisco State Tomorrow; Air Game Expected

University of Nevada plays host to an aerially-minded San Francisco State College in a night contest in Mackay stadium here tomorrow night.

Game time is at 8 p.m. A large turnout of fans is expected to be on hand to watch the Wolf Pack meet the vaunted passing threat of the Golden Gators. The game will be a Far Western match. Nevada now has a 1-2 record, winning against Pepperdine in a non-conference opener, and losing two successive conference starts against Chico and Cal Aggies. San Francisco State has a season record of three wins and one loss.

Coach Gordon McEachron has been putting his squad through a week of rigid defensive training to counter Gator quarterback Jim Sochor's passing talents. In turn, the Wolf Pack has been sharpening up its own passing offensive around quarterback Bob Peck. If both passers are in form, the game should be one of the most exciting of the season.

Starting lineup for Nevada remains the same, with Bob Peck at quarterback Jerry Tobin and Bill Rankin, halfbacks; and Mike Lommori at fullback.

Dan Sobrio Elected Rifle Club President

Dan Sobrio, sophomore, has been reelected as president of the University Rifle and Pistol club. Bob Oliver was elected treasurer; Ralph Cameron, secretary; and Rodger Robertson, historian.

Other members of the club this year are Matthew Rast, Janet Balmain, Dale Wagner, Jack Porter, Tim Ennor, Bob Norvelle, Len Bernardi, Al Richards, Dick Dow, Larry Gedney, Bob Neushafer, Steve Brown, Bill Stratton, Sam Waggoner, Larry Frantzen, Ron Bradley, and John Hunter.

Tom Whitaker and Bob Riolo will flank the line with Bill Provin and Richard Ripley at tackles. Martin Murphy and Dan Baldini will start as guards and Chuck Walker will center.

John Genasci was selected as Nevada's player of the game for his defensive efforts against the California Aggies last Friday evening at Davis, California.

Genasci, an 18-year-old sophomore from Loyalton, California, played the entire game as quarter linebacker (quarterback) and made some rather spectacular tackles. The announcement was made by Coach McEachron. Selection was made by the entire coaching staff. Genasci was honored at a student assembly Thursday and was presented a miniature silver football.

Saddle and Spurs Club Sponsors Horsemanship

Riding horses for fun is the object of the Saddle and Spurs club for women students.

The women are also taught techniques of riding and saddling the horses.

Ellen Piehl is the leader of the group this semester.

A flat sum is paid by each club member to cover the cost of renting the horses for a total of nine or ten hours for the semester.

The horses are rented from a stable south of Reno.

Each week some women on Wednesday and some on Friday jump into jeans and cowboy boots and rush to the stables for their rides.

There is no strict stick-to-the-trail procedure followed on the rides. The horses are lead through streams as high as their shoulders, down into canyons and out.

The riders do, however, stay within sight of each other.

On the ride last Friday time was forgotten and the sun went down long before the horses got back to their stalls.

Interfraternity Bowling Teams Hold First Meet

Ironing the kinks out of the brand new lanes in the yet unfurnished Town and Country bowling alley, the Inter-fraternity bowling league rolled their first meet of the year Wednesday night.

Alpha Tau Omega took 3 games from Beta Alpha Nu, the business fraternity, the Independents won 2 and lost 1 in their match with Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Phi Sigma Kappa took 2 and lost 1 against the Lincoln Hall team.

Sigma Nu and the Civil Engineers team will bowl their match on Sunday, the day after tomorrow. Sigma Nu was the winner of last year's competition, and has the same team members as it did then.

Individual high scorer for the night was Fred Annand, who rolled the high game of 215, and a 588 series.

Lambda Chi Tops Badminton Race

Lambda Chi placed first in the Intramural Badminton Doubles competition. They had a record of 5 wins and 0 losses.

Placing second were the Independents with a four win and one loss record.

Under a new ruling, points for the Kinnear Trophy are no longer awarded for badminton.

The tournament was under the direction of Bob Autry.

Cal Aggies Show Second Half Spurt To Ruin Wolf Pack

California's Aggies came roaring back in the second half last Friday night to take a 2-0 lead away from the University of Nevada Wolf Pack. Favored Nevada lost to the Aggies 14-2.

A 75-yard run by Wolf Pack halfback Jerry Tobin was the outstanding contribution in the game; he carried the ball to the three-yard-line before being run out of bounds. Fullback Mike Lommori then carried the ball to within inches of the goal line. The fired-up Aggie line held for two downs and kept Nevada from scoring.

Early in the game Rod Cook and Chuck Walker dropped Aggie back Johnson in his own end zone to score Nevada's only two points.

After an all defensive second quarter, the Cal Aggies came booming back to score twice in the third quarter. Quarterback Ted Gantenbein and back Alvern Vom Steeg made the scores for the Aggies. They scored one two-point conversion.

John Genasci was selected as Nevada's player of the game. He played an outstanding defensive game and will be awarded a miniature silver football.

Other outstanding players were fullback Mike Lommori, tackle Bill Provin. Rod Cook and Chuck Walker played a heads-up game.

Theta Chi and ATO Tie for First Place

After a series of hotly contested games Theta Chi and ATO tied for first place in the Intramural Table Tennis Doubles tournament. They both had records of four wins and one loss.

The Independents placed third, the SAE's held fourth position, and Sigma Nu and Lambda Chi tied for fifth position.

Group	Won	Lost
Theta Chi	4	1
ATO	4	1
Independents	3	2
SAE	2	3

Boxing Workouts

The years first boxing workout will be held in the old gymnasium at 4 p.m. Nov. 3. Coach Jim Olivias urges interested students to attend.

Nevada has had good squads in the past and has sent several boxers to the National AAU finals. Another good roster is expected this year by Coach Olivias.

Three More Pix On Film Program

"Torment," a Swedish psychological melodrama (and third in the university film series, was presented Thursday night.

Three more motion pictures are scheduled for presentation in the Education building auditorium.

Next in the series is a picture that shot Anna Magnani to stardom, "Roberto Rossellini's "Open City." The Italian film will be shown Oct. 30, at 8 p. m.

The Marx Brothers literally hit the screen with "A Night at the Opera," Nov. 6. This classic comedy can be seen at the same hour.

To climax the film series, Professor Asher Wilson has scheduled "Oedipus Rex" for showing, Nov. 13. According to Professor Wilson, this color film is the "finest thing reeled out of a camera in fifty years."

All the motion pictures are free to students, and members of the department of speech and drama urge all students to attend.

Dean Irwin to Eglin

Dr. Ralph A. Irwin, dean of the college of arts and science, was flown last week to Eglin Air Force base, Florida, to witness an aerial firepower demonstration.

Transportation furnished was an Air Force T29, military version of the Convair. The flight was direct to Denver, Colo., where Dean Irwin visited the new Air Force Academy, then on to Eglin AFB with a stop-over at Keesler AFB in Biloxi, Mississippi.

The demonstration of current firepower and modern techniques including the firing of a Matadore missile "was very impressive" Dean Irwin stated.

Phi Sig Hayride

Twenty Phi Sigma Kappa men and their dates went on a hayride last Sunday night. A picnic lunch, numerous athletic contests, and a songfest were on the program.

Guests included Dr. and Mrs. William Miller.

The two hay wagons left from Del Monte stables on South Virginia street and proceeded to the picnic grounds on Huffacre lane.

Pat Levine, social chairman of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, was in charge of all arrangements.
