Students Will Offer Spring Musical In Downtown Reno March 13, 14

Strains of Viennese waltzes will fill the State building in downtown Reno on March 13 and 14 when the University of Nevada presents "Rosalinda," the popular adaptation of Johann Strauss' "Die Fledermaus."

Reinhardt and Korngold's adaptation of "Die Fledermaus" (tr. the Flying Mouse), is a light-hearted musical comedy which has been produced by many light opera groups, including the San Francisco Light Opera Company.

Following closely the libretto of the original "Die Fledermaus," the musical is the story of a rich banker, Baron Von Eisenstein, and his beautiful wife Rosalinda. The baron is being sought by the police for having assaulted a young man who was paying too much attention to Rosalinda. When the police arrive at the baron's home, they find Rosalinda entertaining her lover Alfredo. Mistaking Alfredo for the baron, they drag him off to jail. When Eisenstein learns of the mistake, he decides to enjoy his freedom by attending a magnificent masquerade ball. Disguised in a costume and mask, he flirts with all the women, including his wife Rosalinda. The resulting contretemps are hilarious and the whole thing ends happily in the Vienna jailhouse.

Julia Robertson will be playing Rosalinda, with Jim DePriest as Eisenstein.

The cast also includes Bud Madalena, Vickey Roberts, Alan Van Vorst, Mickey McBride, Dr. Loring Williams, Ted Ripson, Carol Stever and Carol Gardenswartz. A group of seven dancers, directed by Jeanne Dell Clay, and a chorus of eleven singers will support the cast.

Dr. Wm. Keith Macy, professor and chairman of music, is directing the musical portions of the show, while Asher Wilson, professor of speech and drama, is in charge of the staging.

Editorial

There May Be Some Inconvenience

Student body president Richard H. (for Hudson) Bryan has orally criticized the editor of this publication for not printing in its entirety his letter to the editor printed in the Sagebrush last week.

Omitted from the letter was the final paragraph in which Mr. Bryan invited all members of the student body to attend the Wednesday night meetings of the Student Senate.

This, we feel, is a nice gesture on the part of the ASUN president, and certainly there should be students at the meetings—for various reasons.

But if any students plan to attend the meetings, they should try to pick themselves up a folding chair or something suitable for a seat, for there are no seating facilities for a gallery.

The Senate meets in the Conference Room, which also serves as an office for Student Union Director Robert Kersey. Kersey has a large desk in there, as does his secretary. The furnishings in the room are quite plush, to be sure, but the common student was overlooked when the seating facilities were installed.

More Walks Might Be the Answer

Travelers to and from the new Student Union are leaving their trails in the lawn, much to the displeasure of the buildings and grounds keepers. Most noticeable of the foot-paths is the one which cuts around the corner of the Humanities (Old Agriculture) building.

No doubt, Carl Horn and his men are now busily painting "Keep Off The Grass" signs and are planning an "operation sprinkler" for the coming spring months. The normal tactics of the hearty crew is to battle lawn-cutting students with streams of water.

On progressive college and university campuses, side-walks are usually constructed for the convenience of pedestrians.

UNDERBRUSH

American colleges are becoming marriage mills and fun factories, charges a University of Indiana professor.

Journalism teacher Jerome Ellison made the charge in the current (March 7) issue of The Saturday Evening Post, noting that there is a national inclination to push education aside whenever it interferes with love or comfort, money or fun.

His article, "Are We Making a Playground Out of College?" offers some suggestions for improving the situation. They include the abolishing of automobiles on the campus, disbanding fraternities and sororities, eliminating plush university housing for married students until the head of the house becomes a senior and a re-entrance examination at the beginning of the junior year.

Ellison, who notes that he is speaking with a background of twenty-five years of editing, writing, teaching and publishing, says what concerns him is an intellectual immorality—the encroachment upon the main business of college of an accumulation of irrelevancies which together make up a "Second Curriculum" that often takes precedence over the first.

"The Second Curriculum," he explains, "is that odd mixture of status hunger, voodoo, tradition, lust, stereotyped dissipation, love, solid achievement and plain good fun sometimes called 'college life.'"

"It drives a high proportion of our students through college chronically short of sleep, behind in their work, and uncertain of the exact score in any department of life."

The author questions whether we can afford what is happening today. "Communists and free men agree on at least one thing—the abler, better-informed side in this contest is more likely to prevail," he observes. "Higher education will play an increasingly vital role in the struggle. We water it down, it seems to me, at our own great peril. And watering it down we certainly are."

He warns that we must think our way out of the present situation and advocates the development of a lot of tough, disciplined, seasoned thinkers to lead the way into tomorrow's new world.

In short, he advocates trimming the Second Curriculum because the First Curriculum must come first.

Fifteen Initiated

Fifteen women became active members of Gamma Phi Beta sorority at an initiation ceremony on Friday, February 20.

The women are: Carol Beeson, Dorothy Howell, Carra Rainey, Elynor Cassinelli, Carol Dodson, Joyce Gearing, Paula Hanna, Sarah Humphrey, Lora Leonard, Geraldine Martinez, Renee Robertson, Madolyn Saibini, Georgia Teskey, Abby Utter and Maxine Wright.

During the week which preceded the initiation ceremony the initiates were required to live at the Gamma Phi house, to wear dark and light brown ribbons in their hair, and to carry candy and gum for the actives.

The pledge group made up two songs to be used for rushing next year.

New actives were honored at a luncheon and fashion show at the Hidden Valley Country Club on the weekend after the initiation ceremony.

Abby Utter was chosen outstanding pledge for the past semester.

Public Forum

February 25, 1959

EDITOR,

U. of N. Sagebrush

I am writing not with the purpose of condemning the editor and staff of the campus newspaper for the gross error in judgment committed recently in the Sagebrush, but of informing you of that error and of the necessity for immediate correction of any adverse impressions received by its readers leading directly or indirectly to a blot on the reputation of the University of Nevada and its students. It is my belief that the facts in themselves are condemning and will serve as well as an impassioned denunciation might.

I call your attention to one line in the February 20, 1959, issue, occurring on page 2, column 3. The line reads: "Jesus saves—Green Stamps." Perhaps I need go no further; the implication of what I am pointing out must certainly be apparent. As the official organ of the student body, and thus of the University as well, the Sagebrush is now allowed to contain material of a pernicious, sacrilegious (sic), and profane nature. This runs counter to the ideals of the institution; the Constitution of the State of Nevada directs the University to "strive, above all, to develop in its students, at all levels, those qualities of mind and body and spirit which are necessary for life as a worthy human being in a democratic society." The line I mentioned above was no doubt meant to be humorous, but in place of humor there is only vulgarity and irreverency.

It is my sincere wish that some move will be made to undo the wrong which has been committed and that in the future the staff of the Sagebrush will use higher standards and criteria (a possible suggestion: rely on your common sense instead of your sense of humor) in its selection of material to be published.

A Fellow Student,
DONALD COLEMAN

List of Names Aspiring to Student Court Justice Posts Being Considered

Names of University of Nevada students who might serve as justices of the student court are now being considered by the ASUN nominating committee.

Barbara Heward, in a report to the ASUN senate Wednesday, said that the nominating committee has a long list of names of students interested in becoming justices.

The names were not made public.

After evaluation of character and judgment by the nominating committee, Miss Heward said, ten students will be referred to the senate for further evaluation.

The senate will then select five students to act in the capacity of justices for the student court.

Qualifications for the justices are: (1) The student must be matriculated and an undergraduate; (2) The student must have a 2.1 average; (3) The student must not be president of any all campus committee, such as Mackay Day, Winter Carnival, etc.; (4) The student must not be president of any campus living group.

Western Regional Interfraternity Meet Hosted By Nevada

The first Western Regional Interfraternity Council conference ever held in Nevada was kicked off yesterday morning with a breakfast in the Sky Room of the Mapes hotel.

Dr. U. G. Dubach was the featured speaker at the breakfast. Nearly 100 delegates from colleges in the western states were on hand for the address. Dr. Dubach is chairman of the political science department at Lewis and Clark College, Portland, Oregon.

Colleges represented at the four-day parley are University of Oregon, Oregon State College, University of Idaho, Idaho State College, University of Southern California, UCLA, Washington State College, San Francisco State College, Long Beach State College, San Jose State College, University of Arizona, Arizona State College, Utah State College, and Pacific University.

Twenty-five fraternities are represented at the conclave.

Delegates toured the Nevada campus and then adjourned to a series of meetings and workshops for the rest of the morning.

Lunch was held in the University dining hall and was followed by a talk from James Hayes, student counselor at the University. He spoke on "Group Living and Vocational Adjustment."

Afternoon workshop topics were scholarship, judiciary responsibility of Interfraternity Councils, and pledge training with intellectual and moral atmospheres and a constructive basis.

Dinner in the Mapes Sky Room concluded the first day of the conference.

Meetings on today's agenda are to be held in the Mapes hotel.

Mr. John Sala, University of Nevada alumni director, addressed the group at lunch.

Tomorrow, Russell Mills, architect and Mayor Pro Tem of Reno, will speak on "New Fraternity Houses."

Election of new council officers will follow and a place for next year's conference will be selected.

Dr. Charles J. Armstrong, president of the University, will speak at a banquet in the Holiday hotel Saturday evening. Master of ceremonies will be Peter Echeverria, state senator.

Delegates will head home after a no-host breakfast Sunday morning.

Merely a Case of -- Mistaken Identity

It happened in the softly lighted lounge of the Villa Roma on the evening of the Sigma Phi Epsilon dinner-dance. A cluster of faculty guests stood near the door, greeting and chatting with students as they arrived.

Carol Gardenzwartz entered and approached the cluster as her date hung up her cloak.

"Good evening, Dean Irwin," she said politely to the first faculty guest she encountered, who happened to be Prof. Kieste Janulis, of the journalism department.

Professor Janulis, who was there as a chaperone as well as a Sig Ep alumnus, sniffed her breath suspiciously.

"As a senior and as a campus wheel," he said sharply, "you should be able by this time to distinguish between a beat-up journalist and the distinguished dean of the College of Arts and Science."

"But," he added, softening a little, "I suppose it was my scholarly air and dignified demeanor that led you to take me for the good dean."

Mrs. Janulis, however, saw the incident in a different light.

"Skip the dessert at dinner tonight," she hissed to Professor Janulis, "and, starting tomorrow, you are on a strict grapefruit and cottage cheese diet."

New Light on 'Case of the Burlap Blisters . . . Or, Why Get Irritated?'

An apparent epidemic of measles kept the University of Nevada infirmary busy last week, but most of the patients, it turned out, were only suffering from "burlap" rash.

Members of Alpha Tau Omega pledge class, who wore burlap sacks during "Hell week," developed a rash. Head nurse Mary E. Johnson advises that future students going through "Hell week" refrain from wearing burlap sacks because they cause itching and general discomfort.

Of all the students who claimed measles, ten were admitted with legitimate cases.

It's better to be president than right.

ROTC Drill Starting

Drill periods will begin soon for members of the ROTC. Freshmen, sophomores and juniors will start on March 12. The seniors will begin on March 17.

These drill periods are preliminary practice for the annual military review held on Governor's Day, May 12.

They will begin without arms, and consist of practice in platoon movements and formations.

'Penny Mile' Starts Off Annual Student-Help Fund Raising Carnival

The "Penny Mile" kicked off the annual World University Service carnival on campus today, as University of Nevada students dropped their loose change on the lawn near the Jot Travis Student Union.

The carnival and dance, which will take place tomorrow evening, in the old gym, will be held to raise funds for foreign students who do not have adequate finances to attend universities.

Each year, according to Lynn Peterson, WUS carnival chairman, universities and colleges throughout the United States stage similar projects to aid foreign students. Last year the "Penny Mile" was the means of adding about $50 to the fund, Peterson said.

Eighteen campus organizations will have booths operating at the carnival between 8 p.m. and 10 p.m. A dance, featuring the music of Bob Stange, will be held from 10 p.m. until midnight.

Prizes will be awarded to campus organizations raising the most money through their booths. A prize will also be given for the best decorated booth. Tickets will be sold at 10 cents apiece for booth activities.

Campus organizations participating in the WUS carnival are: Sigma Nu, Alpha Tau Omega, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Sigma Kappa, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Gamma Phi Beta, Delta Delta Delta, Pi Delta Phi, Kappa Alpha Theta, Faculty Women Club, Aggie Club, Biology Club, Young Republicans, Sagers, Blue Key, ROTC, and a Bureau of Mines Club.

James Welsh Gets Sigma Presidency

James Welsh was chosen president of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternal colony in elections held last Monday evening at the colony's house.

Other new officers include Harold Starr, vice president; Charles (Chuck) Thomas, secretary; Charles (Chuck) Korthius, comptroller; Warren Ronshiemer, historian; Terry Batchelor, chaplain; Robert Fisher, guard; and Harold Starr, senator.

Welsh replaces Charles Thomas as president. Other outgoing officials and their offices are Terry Batchelor, vice president; Stan Elberg, secretary; Vincent Fagan, historian and James Welsh, house manager.

New officers will serve for a term of one year.

Space Travel Expert Addresses Meeting

Research in space travel was explained to more than one hundred fifty University of Nevada students and faculty members at a special assembly Tuesday by James W. Crooks Jr., of Convair Aeronautics.

Mr. Crooks, a member of the Convair Intercontinental Ballistic Missile team, also showed slides of modern U. S. missiles. He is a special assistant to the chief engineer of Convair Astronautics and helped invent the Azusa missile tracking system.

He also originated the Vernier rocket which is now used on large missiles.

Pat Reynolds Wins Primary Election For AWS President

Pat Reynolds, Gamma Phi, won the University of Nevada Associated Women Students' primary presidential election Wednesday, defeating Nancy Petrini by 81 votes and Jean Rivkin by 84 votes.

Miss Reynolds and Miss Petrini will vie for the women's presidential office in the general election next Wednesday.

Carol Gardenswartz, AWS president, said that more than fifty percent of the women students went to the polls. Of an estimated six hundred eligible voters, 324 women cast their ballots.

Miss Reynolds, a student senator, received 163 votes. Miss Petrini, a Tri-Delt, won 82 of the women students votes. Miss Rivkin, Artemisia-Manzanita, received 79 votes.

All undergraduate, matriculated women students are eligible to vote in the general election next Wednesday. Voting will be held in the Jot Travis Student Union building.

UN Science Fair Rules Released

Rules for Nevada's first statewide science fair have been sent out to science teachers in the state. A tentative date for the fair has been set at the last week in April or the first week in May.

The fair will be held in the Reno area, although the exact location has not been decided upon. Entries are being accepted in the fields of physics, chemistry, biology, earth sciences and mathematics.

Group entries will be permitted in the fair. Awards will be broken down into two basic groups—projects done by more than three persons and projects done by an individual up to three persons.

The local chapter of Sigma Phi Sigma, national physics honor society, is sponsoring the fair. Dr. George Barnes, associate professor of physics, said "they wanted to do something constructive, and the science fair was the result."

Nevada has in the past been one of the few states without an annual fair of one sort or another for grammar school or high school students.

Social Fraternities Stage Host of Dances This Past Weekend

Members of four University social fraternities danced and partied last weekend. The fraternities are Sigma Phi Epsilon, Lambda Chi Alpha, Sigma Nu and Theta Chi.

Sigrid Nielsen was chosen to reign as the Sigma Phi Epsilon Sweetheart at the fraternal colony's first annual Queen of Heart Ball. Miss Nielsen was presented with a dozen roses and an engraved tiara at the dinner-dance, which was held last Friday night at the Villa Roma near Reno.

Sixty-four persons were present at the dinner, and were offered their choice of roast chicken, lobster or trout.

About one hundred persons danced to the music of a four-piece orchestra.

Guests included Dean and Mrs. Samuel Basta, Dean Elaine Mobley, student counselor Bernice McNaught, Prof. and Mrs. Kieste Janulis, and Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hayes. Some ten alumni and their wives were present.

Marilyn Carlson reigned over the Lambda Chi Alpha Ubangi Stomp Saturday night. Miss Carlson, a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority, was crowned at the costume party and given a stuffed tiger.

Steven Colen and Shirley Campanella, adorned as jungle natives, took first place in the best-costume contest. Second-place costumes were worn by Susan Youngs and William Stathes.

The Ubangi Stomp was held at the Halfway House, between Reno and Carson City. The Swinging Shepherds, a student group, provided the music. Dr. and Mrs. W. A. S. Smith and Prof. and Mrs. Asher Wilson chaperoned the affair.

Bill Jones and Bonnie Ramos were acclaimed as the best-costumed couple at Sigma Nu's annual Jailbird Dance. They dressed as members of a motorcycle gang for the costume party which took place last Saturday night at Bish's game farm.

Guests at the party included Dr. and Mrs. Theodore S. Grieder and Prof. and Mrs. Sidney J. Claunch.

Theta Chi sponsored a dance on Saturday night at the Del Monte guest ranch on South Virginia street. A four-piece group played for the 15 couples who attended.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon students held an informal get-together at the fraternity house last Friday afternoon. About fifty members and friends of the fraternity drank refreshments and played games on the lawn outside the house at 835 Evans avenue.

Bookplate Contest Rules Announced

The Mackay School of Mines announces a bookplate designing contest, which is open to all students of the University of Nevada.

First prize is $25, and second prize is $10. The winning entries will be used to make engraved plates for the Mackay School of Mines library. These plates will be used to make labels for books donated to the library.

The printed bookplate will be 3 inches (horizontal) by 5 inches (vertical). Entries may be submitted in any size, but the dimensions must be in a 3 by 5 ratio in order to permit scale reducing.

The bookplate must include the words: "Library," "Mackay School of Mines," "University of Nevada," and "Gift of" in any logical arrangement. "Gift of" should be followed by an adequate space in which the name of the donor may be entered.

The contestant may use a drawing to represent the Mackay School of Mines, the mineral industry, or some symbol of learning, but this is not a requirement of the contest.

Entries must be submitted to Professor Craig Sheppard, chairman of the art department, before 12 noon, March 23, 1959, and these entries shall become the property of the Mackay School of Mines.

All entries will be judged by a committee appointed by the Mackay School of Mines.

Faculty Program Evaluation Is Slowed Down

The prospective program for a standard faculty evaluation by students was slowed this week when University of Nevada college deans and a student committee failed to agree on a satisfactory evaluation form.

It was generally agreed that those now used voluntarily in the College of Agriculture and the College of Mines, and in the Journalism department, all objective questionnaires, are good, but still better questionnaires are being sought.

The ideal form, the ASUN senate agreed, would enable students to evaluate their professors and the courses, and give professors an opportunity to understand student sentiment toward their teaching.

A committee, headed by senators Dick Landingham and Roger Mills, will continue to investigate the evaluation program and consult with faculty members about a suitable form.

SURE, IT'S ALWAYS LIKE THIS, mutters Photographer Don Dondero as he suspiciously eyes a doughnut—day old, he claims—at the refreshment hour of the Press Club meeting Wednesday night. Meanwhile, Gazette Sports Editor Rollan Melton gets tip-top service from Carol Crisler, Press Club president. That's coffee she's pouring from the silver pot.

Melton and Dondero Tell Press Club Of Problems Confronting Journalists

Rollan Melton, sports editor of the Reno Evening Gazette, and Don Dondero, free lance news photographer, gave informal talks on their jobs to members of the Press club Wednesday night.

Melton and Dondero are both former University of Nevada journalism students. The meeting was held at the Kappa Alpha Theta house.

Carol Crisler, president of the club, announced that Mayer Freedman had been selected as the club vice president, and Ramona Booth as secretary treasurer for the remainder of the school year.

Melton told of a typical day at work in his sports office at the Gazette. He said his two greatest allies were the telephone and typewriter.

A former Wolf Pack football player, Melton operates the sports desk alone but has the assistance of interns from the University of Nevada journalism department.

Dondero said the telephone is the greatest aid and largest expense for a free lance photographer. Boxing and skiing are the most difficult sports to photograph, according to Dondero.

... JUST WHITTLIN'...

By JUDY V.

Survive the weekend? Well, that's all right, we all seem to have a tendency to overdo things—especially after the long, long dry spell we've been having. So, if "your tongue's asleep and your teeth itch," don't worry about it—just console yourselves with visions of that lovely pink rabbit (I'm referring, of course, to your long anticipated Easter baskets) and those three days of peace and quiet.

Seven dances we had over Friday and Saturday, not six as I so erroneously reported last issue. The Sundowners held an all-school dance on Friday night at the Game Farm. The Manhires returned and provided the affair with a bartender, this being rather traditional at the last few Sundowner dances (Jack tending bar, I mean). The stomp was well attended by students and ATO Paul Huffey, who came disguised as a hibernating bear who had chosen a Shinola factory to do his snoozing. (He was accompanied by The Lady in Green, or Gamma Phi Dorothy Howell.)

Good old Al Mohatt, Lambda Chi, also made the scene escorting Barbara Parrish. In addition to the above mentioned "notable" characters were: Lambda Chi Jerry Cahill and Delta Lynn Walch; Lambda Chi Dave Nyquist and Barbara Parrish's roommate (as you see, my source was not too accurate); Snake Lester Sweeney and Pi Phi Diz B.; Mike DeWitt and Theta Ellen Johnson; Mr. and Mrs. Dick Ankers; Sigma Nu Ron Wilson and Pi Phi Sharon Teglia; Lambda Chi Leroy Arrascada and Gamma Phi Carol Mather; SAE Bill Campbell and Delta Jill Stratton. Vic Arzuaga and Roger Smith were a couple of the fellows who just couldn't make up their minds and came stag.

Gamma Phi Beta held their Roaring 20's costume dance on the same night. Noticed in the vicinity of the Big Y were: Pat Reynolds and Snake Don Moore; Nancylynn Sanders and Don Graydon; Paul Hanna and SAE Steve Heyer; Abbie Utter and Buck Winters; Jane Nevin and Ted Berrum; Green Lady and Bear; Carol Dodson and Phi Sig Donald Donald; Georgia Teskey and Phi Sig Fred Dugger; Barbara Galeppi and Dallas Byington; Olivia Forsythe and Snake Joe; Charlese Ruple and Ken Manuel; Linda Smith and Tom Jones; Jackie Curti and Bruce Tognoni.

The Sig Eps held a formal Friday night. Gamma Phi Segrud Neilsen was chosen Sig Ep Sweetheart. This must have been a pretty interesting formal; seems like the troops went bowling afterwards.

The Sigma Nu's held their Jail-Bird dance Saturday night. Some of those attending were: Don Cronin and Lois Perretto, Pi Phi; Delta Betty Jean Zyski and Pete Looney; Pi hi Connie Lil and Howey Nells; Bob Morrill and Delta Deanna Noble; Gamma Phi Emmy Hanf and Larry Damon; Jud Samon and Delta Beth Boyd.

Pi Beta Phi gave their annual Pajama Dance at the Green Fox on Saturday. Among the high points of the dance was an exotic dance interpretation by Selda Kay who has never really been to Africa but who has a very active imagination. Other interesting people attending were: Joanne Todd and Sigma Nu Ken Zunino; Barbara Foltz and SAE Darrell Baxter; Independent Nina Freedman and Norm Zunino; Teresa McGuire and SAE Larry Kerney; Sue White and SAE Ron Borderdwarf; Joan Wagner and Bobbie Burns; Joanne Dumble and Bob Shoemaker; Jean Best and Dave Furman; Barbara Ruark and SAE George Allison; and Gerry DeBenedetti and SAE Bob Davies.

The Lambda Chi Ubangies went on their annual rampage Saturday night. Marilyn Carlson was chosen "White Goddess." Some of the several couples attending were: Vern Ross and Suzie Workman, Theta; Larry Coleman and Theta Norma Rogers; Steve Colen and Barbara Campenella; Dave Peretti and Theta Alice Urrutia; Gene Peretti and Theta Patty McAdam; Bill Kieth and Gail Furhman; and Fred Humphrey and Tinike Kelner.

The Theta Chis held a dance Saturday night, but unfortunately I was unable to contact anyone who could give any information. Oh well, mysteries are a lot of fun; the Phi Sigs used to have them all the time, didn't you, fellas?

The social events for the coming weekend are: Friday, the I.F.C. Convention and Saturday, the WUS Carnival. See you all.

Alumni Association Recommends Nevada Legislative Measures

The University of Nevada Alumni Association has gone on record as supporting three major measures now being considered by the 1959 legislature.

The major recommendations approved by the executive committee of the Alumni Association are:

(1) That legislation be enacted allowing for the appointment of the board of regents. This resolution, which requires a constitutional change, has already passed one session of the legislature. If passed in the 1959 session, it will go on the next general election ballot for approval by popular vote.

After study of the elective method now in effect, the Association felt that there are certain drawbacks in having candidates engage in a political campaign for the board of regents.

(2) That the State of Nevada participate in the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education, which will require legislative approval and appropriation. The Association feels that membership in WICHE offers the only present solution towards insuring Nevada youths an opportunity to be admitted into medical, dental and veterinary schools.

(3) That the Alumni Association be withdrawn from control of the board of regents of the University of Nevada.

Sacramento State Boxers Find Going Tougher On This Side of Mountains

By GIB LANDELL

Revenge-minded Nevada boxers turned the tables on a talented Sacramento State team Monday night. The best local crowd of the season saw the Wolf Pack score a 4½ to 3½ victory over the golden-clad Hornets. Sacramento had taken a 6-2 decision at Sacramento last week.

Top bout of the action-packed card was an "upset" draw recorded by Chub Quilici with Sacramento's highly-regarded Terry Smith.

Smith, 1958 PCI champ and a veteran of over two hundred fights, appeared to have an edge in the opening round. Midway in the second round the crowd sensed that Quilici was capable of pulling an upset and offered a chorus of support.

The southpaw swinging sophomore bore in on his taller opponent and many felt he won the round.

It was all Quilici in the third canto. Chub scored frequently with booming lefts as Smith's shots went astray. Scoring was 29-29 by judges Tony Smercina and Bill Stremmel, while Wally Rusk gave it to Smith by a 29-28 count.

The decision was received with mixed emotions.

Nevada picked up one point before the card got underway when Sacramento forfeited the heavyweight clash to big Carl Looney.

Dick Short started the Wolf Pack off on the right foot when he won a close decision from Frank Reynoso in the 125-pound division. Short's sharp punching gave him the edge.

Don Kitts, having his finest ring season ever, fought a brilliant fight and displayed excellent condition as he decisioned Washington Kingsby. Kingsby, no rookie to the ring sport, was an all-Marine Corps champion.

SWEET REVENGE

Joe Bliss probably enjoyed the sweet taste of revenge even more than his teammates. Bliss finally got even with Sacramento's rough freshman sensation, George Waggoner. Waggoner had a draw and a win over Nevada's popular lightweight previously.

Waggoner showed plenty of stamina and courage as Bliss belted him with everything but the ring posts. The Sacramentan came back with a rally in the second round but it was evident that he couldn't cope with the relentless power that Bliss kept pressuring. Joe had a unanimous decision from all three judges.

Sacramento finally broke into the win column when 147-pound Dan DiRe picked up a decision from the Pack's Bill Short. The edge was close, 30-29, on all three cards.

Ruthless Jim Flood, twice NCAA champion, left little doubt in the minds of on-lookers that he'll keep that title in Sacramento for a third straight year. Flood gave Nevada's game but outclassed Clark Reber a merciless working over before referee Jack Tighe stepped in to stop it after one minute of the second round. Reber showed a lot of guts in holding on as long as he did.

The Hornets acquired victory number three when ex-heavyweight Norm Tavallero pounded out a clear-cut decision over John Genasci. Tavallero carried the fight all the way.

A pair of top exhibitions were turned before the night's festivities officially got underway. Nevada's 139-pound Pete Conlan and Sacramento's Jim Lagon threw enough leather at each other to more than satisfy the entire arena. Then, came the Wolf Pack's Ralph Bryan, a freshman 147-pounder who is going to be heard from in a big way in the next few years. Bryan opened up on Hornet Vern Greer and showed plenty of ring savvy plus a fine punch from either side. Both exhibitions were "no decisions."

Sigma Nu Bowling Win Puts First Place Tie Into Kinnear Trophy Race

Sigma Nu forged into a tie for first place with Alpha Tau Omega in the race for the Kinnear trophy last week after the Sigma Nu's won the intramural bowling league. The fraternities are deadlocked in top spot with 280 points each.

Riflemen Win Cal Aggie Matches

A victorious University of Nevada rifle team returned here last Sunday evening from Davis, California, after defeating the Cal Aggie team.

The Nevada riflemen, coached by Sergeant James Coffey, challenged and defeated the California team by a score of 1890 to 1861.

High man for the meet was Larry Gedney, posting a score of 383 out of a possible 400. John Hunter of Nevada was second with 383. In third place, and as high man for the opposition, was Robert Adams of Davis, with 382.

Other team members and their scores were Ramon Salcedo, 377; Robert Oliver, 373; and Gary Cameron, 371.

The Nevada rifle team left Reno March 3 for El Paso, Texas, to compete in the Southwest Invitational rifle match, March 5, 6 and 7.

title three weeks before the schedule ended with 37-5 record.

ATO edged out Sigma Alpha Epsilon for second place with a 27½-14½ won-lost record. SAE was third, one-half game behind the Taus.

Phi Sigma Kappa took fourth position, winning 23½ and losing 18½. Bowling is the first sport in which the Phi Sigs have finished high enough to score points for the Kinnear trophy.

The Independents were beaten in their final three games and fell into fifth place. They won 22 and lost 20.

Trailing far behind in sixth, seventh and eighth positions were the Civil Engineers (16-29), Physical Education Majors (9-33), and Beta Alpha Nu, the national professional business fraternity (6-36).

Sigma Nu Fred Annand, a sophomore, walked away with all of the league's individual honors. He rolled the high individual game of 243 and the high individual series of 648. Annand also won the individual average crown with a 184.

Sigma Nu also claimed the team records. The men from Ralston street had a high team game of 963 pins, and the high team series of 2647.

Roman box score: Lions 57, Christians 0.

Nevada Ski Team Enters Vanderbilt

The University of Nevada ski team returns to competition this weekend.

At the Sugar Bowl, the Nevada snowmen compete in the annual Warren Vanderbilt Memorial meet. Hosted by the University of California, the contest opened this afternoon with the downhill and will continue through Sunday with the jumping.

Harry, Ericson, an outstanding cross-country skier, will compete with the Nevada squad for the first time this year. Ericson suffered a broken leg bon over two months ago.

Coach Chelton Leonard's team will miss the services of all-around competitor Jack Bosta. The Reno man was injured at Reno Ski Bowl last weekend and will have a cast on his leg for three months.

Leonard will enter Doug Salter, leading point maker for the Wolf Pack, in the downhill, slalom and cross-country.

Jon Madsen, promising Nevada freshman, will also enter all three events.

Don Cronin, Dale Prevost and Tom Trabert round out the Nevada team.

Leonard feels his skiers will make a respectable showing and should be able to beat such traditional rivals as California, Stanford, San Jose and Chico.

Should the team show well, it has a good chance to enter the national collegiate championships in Colorado at the end of this month.

Wisconsin To Send Full Team to NCAA

First team to announce it will have a complete 10-man squad entered in the 1959 NCAA national boxing tournament at the University of Nevada April 2, 3, and 4, is University of Wisconsin.

Although about 18 college teams have indicated that they'll send contestants to the three-night classic at the University of Nevada gymnasium in Reno, the Badgers are the first to line up entries for all 10 weight divisions.

Coach Vern Woodward, enjoying a banner season in his first year as head coach at Wisconsin, after many years as aide to John Walsh, will have Badgers battling in the 112, 119, 125, 132, 139, 147, 156, 165, 178 and heavyweight divisions.

Tournament director Dr. Art Broten says he expects entries from Virginia, Syracuse, Michigan State, Wisconsin, Houston, Arkansas, Idaho State, College of Idaho, Nevada, Washington State, Hawaii, California, Chico State, Sacramento State, California Poly, San Jose State, San Francisco University, Santa Clara, Fresno State and possibly others.

Broten reports a brisk advance ticket sale in Reno—at the Nevada athletic department, Southworth's Cigar Store, Grand Buffet; and he's receiving a lively mail demand for ticket reservations from out-of-town points. Tickets will also be put on sale in Sacramento, San Jose and Herlong, California, and Pocatello, Idaho.

Thinclads To Hold Intersquad Meet

Coach Dick Dankworth will unveil his 1959 edition of the University of Nevada track team tomorrow. The Wolf Pack thinclads will hold an intersquad meet beginning at 10 a.m. in Mackay Stadium.

Many of the track events will be run over an abbreviated distance as a conditioning buildup.

Participants in the field events will put into use for the first time the new asphalt runways and take-offs. Shot putters and discus men will test recently constructed concrete throwing rings.

Coaching Clinic Grows in Stature; Top Men Lined Up for Sixth Session

University of Nevada's sixth annual coaching clinic signed the final member of its faculty last week. Director of Athletics, Dr. G. A. (Art) Broten announced that Fred (Tex) Winter, head basketball coach at Kansas State college, would handle the hoop sport at the week-long gathering.

With the signing of Winter, the University maintained its practice of bringing the most highly respected coaches in the nation to the annual summer clinic. Winter has enjoyed outstanding success at the Kansas school. His Wildcats have been leaders in the Big Eight Conference for the past several seasons and are currently rated second in the nation by a major wire service poll.

Previously, Forest Evashevski of the University of Iowa was selected to teach football at the clinic. Evashevski's team, the Hawkeyes, won the 1958 Big Ten championship and went on to defeat California in the Rose Bowl.

The clinic will be held at the University campus, June 15-19.

Hundreds of coaches from all parts of the western United States make the annual trek to the athletic clinic. It has gained status in its short existence as one of the finest in the nation.

PORTLAND CAGE SQUAD TAKES TWO FROM WOLF PACK; ONE OF TOP TEAMS

NCAA tournament-bound Portland University took two victories from the University of Nevada last weekend as the Wolf Pack ended its 1958-59 basketball campaign.

Friday night, the Pilots took a 66-32 triumph in a game played at The Dalles, Ore. Portland built up a 30-18 halftime lead and continued to pull away in the final period.

Senior Jim Armstrong topped all scorers with twenty for Portland, while Stan Summers followed with 12 points for the Silver and Blue.

The two clubs moved on to Portland for the Saturday finale, with the Pilots on the very long end of a 106-77 count. Portland held a 51-35 intermission advantage.

Both teams were red-hot from the field. The Oregonians posted a hard-to-believe .513 shooting average and Nevada hit a very good .420.

Armstrong again led all point makers, this time with 22. Chuck Walker, Bob Lyon and Ken Longero paced the Wolf Pack with 15, 14, and 11 respectively.

Portland ended its season with a 19-7 mark and will host De Paul University of Chicago in an NCAA play-off game tomorrow night.

Freak Accident Injures Jack Myles

Jack T. Myles, lecturer in journalism and Reno advertising executive, was the victim of a freak accident last Monday evening.

While driving back alone to Reno from Carson City, a tire on Myles' car went flat. He jacked the car up with a bumper jack. Because he could not see too well, he slipped his right hand under the tire to determine whether he had enough clearance. At the same instant, the car slipped off the jack.

Myles' hand was pinned beneath the wheel for almost two hours before a passing motorist stopped to aid him.

No bones were broken, but the attending physician states that if his hand had remained under the wheel for another hour, or if it had been colder, Myles would probably have lost the hand.

His hand is swollen and painful, Myles wife said, but he should be able to return to work shortly.

You are looking at a time machine

It sounds like science fiction: traveling across the continent in 4½ hours, New York to London in 6½, cutting airline schedules almost in half.

Yet these are routine for jet liners in the jet age — an era people at Standard's research laboratories have been working toward since the day seventeen years ago when we fueled the first U. S. jet flight.

Since then our scientists have worked with the armed forces to perfect fuels and special lubricants for planes that fly faster than sound, or cruise non-stop around the world. They've also helped engine designers solve problems of heat and cold; aided airlines with faster airport fueling systems.

The sum of these years of development has been to add hours to the traveler's day, days to the tourist's week. In helping to harness time, as well as putting petroleum to many other uses for you, the people at Standard are planning ahead to serve you better.

ARTEMISIA PICTURES

Young Republicans are requested to meet at noon, next Wednesday, in the lounge of the Student Union building for Artemisia pictures.

I'm a marijuana man. I've stopped thinking.
