Four Vie In ASUN Contest

Four men students at the University of Nevada announced their candidacy for the office of student body president this week as colorful, poster-studded campus campaigns get underway.

The four candidates are George Allison, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Bob Scott, Theta Chi; Dan Sobrio, Phi Sigma Kappa; and Gene Pieretti, Lambda Chi Alpha.

Climaxing a week of campaigning will be the elections assembly where candidates will address the student body. It is scheduled for 7 p.m., Tuesday, April 7, in the old gym and will be followed on Wednesday, April 8, with the primary elections.

The general election is set for Wednesday, April 15.

Other offices to be voted on are men's junior senator-at-large, women's junior senator-at-large, and senior, junior and sophomore class presidents.

Candidates for the offices are: Men's junior senator-at-large: Charles "Chuck" Thomas, Sigma Phi Epsilon; and Jim Megquier, Sigma Nu.

Women's junior senator-at-large: Karen Decker, Pi Beta Phi; Lynn Walsh, Delta Delta Delta; and Marilyn Nelson, Kappa Alpha Theta.

Phi Sigma Kappa Plans Bonfire And Street Dance

A street dance, a bonfire and music by Dave Hansen's Playboys are planned for a rally to be staged Monday night at 7:30 by Phi Sigma Kappa.

West Seventh street between North Virginia and Sierra will be blocked off for the dancing. The street is adjacent to the Phi Sig fraternity house. Refreshments will be served.

Phi Sig members are hoping that the police and fire departments do not "crash" the gathering again this year. Last year, fire trucks and police cars were called to the scene to put out the bonfire.

The firemen were especially unhappy when someone in the crowd borrowed the keys to the fire truck for a time. This year the Sigs want to stay on the good side of the law and have promised to behave themselves.

BLOOD POURING FROM HIS NOSE, Nevada fighter Chub Quilici rushes in to meet his San Jose State opponent, Bill Maddox. Quilici, boxing in the 156-pound division, had trouble getting started in the opening rounds, then came back to give his opponent a heavy beating in the final round. Scoring on the 10-point must system, judges gave the decision to Maddox. Only other Nevada boxers to see action last night were (Long) John Genasci, who took a narrow nod in the 178-pound class, and Bill Short, who dropped a decision in the 147-pound division. —Dondero photo

NAA National Championships Continue Into Semi-Finals Tonight at U of N Gym

From the moment the bell sounded for the opening round, the University of Nevada gymnasium was filled with flying gloves, blood-spattered faces and the cheers of fight fans as the top collegiate boxers of the nation last night began mixing in the three-day NCAA boxing tournament.

An estimated crowd of more than 2,000 fans were on hand to view the first night of boxing activity in the NCAA tourney being held in Reno for the first time.

Three University of Nevada students were entered in last night's fights, but only one, John Genasci, was able to work out a win. In the 147-pound division, Nevada's Bill Short lost to Walt Hailey of California Poly on a close decision. Nevada favorite Chub Quilici, showing a lot of blood, guts and determination, lost by a decision to Bill Maddox of San Jose State in the 156-pound class.

Genasci kept a steady pace to outpoint his Washington State opponent, Lee Powers, in the 178-pound division. Genasci will move into the semi-finals tonight to meet the defending national champion in the weight class, John Horne of Michigan State.

Other Nevada fighters scheduled for action tonight are Dick Short, who will meet Frank Reynoso of Sacramento State in the 125-pound class, and Don Kitts, who meets San Jose State's tough Nick Akana in the 132-pound division.

Also fighting for Nevada tonight will be Joe Bliss against Freddie Martin of Cal Poly and Carl Looney vs. Archie Milton, San Jose State, in the heavyweight division.

Editorial

The University of Nevada Sagebrush will maintain a non-partisan viewpoint in the coming elections and will allow all candidates for the various ASUN and class officers equal opportunity to present their views, policies and platform in the paper.

Prior to publication of this week's paper, all candidates for ASUN president were asked to write a letter containing their various views on student government. Those letters can be found in the Letters to the Editor section.

Because of lack of space, candidates for other offices were not extended the offer to voice their views this week. However, successful candidates for other offices in the primary elections April 8 are urged to express their views. Their letters will be printed in next week's Sagebrush, provided they have been submitted to the newspaper office or the journalism department before noon, April 9.

It is perhaps senseless to urge voters to the polls next Wednesday for the primaries. Students should remember, though, that it is their school, their student government. Schools are usually run by a small, solid group. The people who usually complain about this situation the most are those who failed to vote.

After the political activity during the next two weeks, students at Nevada will have named a new ASUN president. The person who will be vice-president next year has already been named. The editorial staff of this paper feel that the person elected is well qualified for the office.

Less agreeable is the method by which a vice-president is elected at Nevada. The choice is left completely to women students, even though they are in the minority at the University. The person named to AWS presidency automatically becomes ASUN vice-president.

It would seem that an office as important as this should be filled by a vote of all students, and if women students want their own set of officers, they can elect them.

The situation is not the fault of women students. The trouble lies in the present ASUN constitution which sets up provisions for the various elections.

Perhaps our next president can begin work on having the ASUN constitution revised, as there is a need for many changes in the document. It would probably be much more worth while than trying to push through a student court.

SAGEBRUSH EDITOR AND NEVADA STUDENTS:

I am sure that most of you are fully acquainted with the importance of the office of student body president. A great deal of responsibility is connected with it. Responsibility not only to the entire student body, but also to the faculty, administration, and the community. The future of the University is dependent upon the coordination of these different groups.

In the next few years relations between the student body and the administration will be extremely important, not only at the present time, but in the future. The University will be in the world spotlight this coming year because of the Olympic Games. Close cooperation between the student body and the administration will be necessary if Nevada is to put on an outstanding show of hospitality. At this time we will be proving that the University of Nevada can handle its share of the biggest winter show in the world.

Dr. Armstrong, our new president, has already expressed his thought about working closely with the students by helping organize and by backing the president's round table. This is a committee made up of fraternity and sorority presidents, class presidents, senators-at-large, and the AWS and ASUN presidents. Its purpose is to inform the students of the activities of the administration and at the same time give the students an opportunity to ask questions about these activities. I feel that this information should not stop at the round table. I would like to inform the entire student body through campus publications and a news letter posted in the Student Union building.

As all students are interested in where their registration fees go, I would like to publish at the beginning of each semester a report showing a breakdown of the allocation of the fees. This report would explain how much money is allocated to each department or student organization. I would also like to inform the students periodically of the amount contained in the general fund, which actually belongs to them.

Although we have a good, working constitution now, I feel there are some revisions needed, especially concerning the strict quorum that is needed in many of the important boards and committees, as for instance the finance control board and the executive committee.

I feel that this idea of student evaluation sheets can be very beneficial to both faculty and students if properly used and controlled.

A closer relationship between the ASUN president and the class presidents would be useful to the student body as a whole. I would like to see each class president publish a news-letter each month informing members of the individual classes and the rest of the students of the activities that will be taking place. This will stimulate a greater interest both on the part of the president and the class members. As it is impossible for the president or his committee to reach all students, this will serve to bring the individual class member closer to the president.

Probably foremost in the average student's mind is the question of the student court. I think that the court can only work if a majority of the students back it; a majority of the entire student body. The vote that was taken in December was for a trial basis only.

This trial period will give the students an actual, not just theoretical, chance to see it work. If it does not work, I will be the first to work to get rid of it. Of course, many revisions and changes will have to take place, but these will be worked out.

These are just a few of the tasks which I think the student body president of the University of Nevada should strive to carry out. Since being on the campus I have been keenly interested in student body affairs and feel that I can accomplish the tasks necessary to increase the prestige of the University of Nevada.

Sincerely yours,
GEORGE ALLISON

DEAR EDITOR AND FELLOW STUDENTS:

Here briefly are some of the major issues of the campaign as I see them:

1. The need for unity of campus organizations, and direction of this greater unity and cooperation toward the goal of enhancing the effectiveness of student government; and moreover, the betterment of the University as a whole. A step in this direction would be the placement of greater emphasis on student body functions such as athletics, etc. Unless we effectively combat this situation, we not only lose sight of, but surely defeat the principles on which any sort of student organization is founded. Combined effort by all campus factions is the only insurance we have against the decay known as indifference.

2. The need for us all to start thinking intelligently about the controversial Student Court. How can anyone propose acceptance, modification, or rejection in an objective manner without first observing the operation of such a body? The students who were concerned enough about the problem to vote, approached the Court for a one year probationary period. This much is done, so why argue the point further? Let us watch the court in action, formulate our own opinions, and exercise our right to reject, modify, or accept the Court at the end of the trial period.

3. The need for closer coordination of interests between administration and student body. Steps are being taken in this direction, but much remains to be done yet.

4. The need for a more effective means of prospective student orientation, in order that we, the student body, may help our University grow not only in numbers, but in stature as well.

5. The need for our student government, and especially the officers elected from the student body as a whole, to once again represent the policies and attitudes of the greater majority of the students. Being aware of public and majority opinion is indeed one of the responsibilities of leadership.

Naturally, I have not answered all of your questions in this letter. I have attempted to outline five areas of need for decisive and qualified leadership. Please stop and talk with me if you have questions about any of my positions. To the solving of these needs, and to the pledge of my effective leadership, I hereby direct my efforts.

Sincerely,
DAN SOBRIO

DEAR EDITOR:

Thank you for pinning me last night offering space for a letter to set forth my opinions and beliefs on the issues of this campaign.

The student court is an important issue on which every candidate must make a stand. First, an official election has been held and the required number of votes were cast to make it valid. Therefore, the trial period is required and should begin as soon as possible. Anything else would make any future election on controversial issues no more than a farce.

We then must consider what is necessary to make the court work. What must be done first is to make sure that the court constitution says exactly what it means. This may be done with the aid of men who know the intent and have the ability to word it so that it says exactly what is meant.

Second, the court must be sold as an honest endeavor to aid the students in their self-government. Many critics of the court object to it because they feel that it should have the final say if it is to be effective. This is true, however, it will take time to prove to the faculty that we are able to handle our own affairs. But why do we want to handle our own affairs? This is the same question which would be raised if we were setting up an original student constitution. It is because we feel we are capable and should run our own affairs, not be run.

One of the most important duties of any president is to make recommendations for appointive offices. A man should make recommendations on ability, not on friendship or other association. He should also make every effort to look to all groups for able men.

On any issues that may come up I plan to use all of the powers of this office to inform all of the students. Then make my decisions on a general report from what will then be an informed group knowing all the facts and problems of the issue.

Beyond any issues or written duties any candidate for office must always look to and work for the students.

Thanks again,
BOB SCOTT

A MATTER TO BE BROUGHT BEFORE THE ASUN:

As a candidate for the office of ASUN president I am running on a platform of independence and progress. My record as Chairman of the Assembly Committee and as a member of the senate and of the Homecoming, Winter Carnival and Hello-on-the-Hill Committees is a matter of record. I am proud of it and welcome the opportunity to explain my position on any issue.

Democracy is based on a concept of representation for all. No one group should dominate any University organization or activity. Committee chairmanships should be given to people that are best qualified to hold them.

The quality of representation is indicative of the quality of the University. With the Winter Olympics coming to this area we should be mindful of this fact.

The concept of giving the students voice in cases involving misconduct is basically sound and good. Whether or not the student court is the best means to this end remains to be seen. If the trial period of the court proves to be satisfactory in obtaining this end I will whole-heartedly support it.

In closing I am for anything that will further the aim of the student body and the University. I feel that my opponents are outstanding individuals and I am proud to be running against them. In making your choice I hope you will consider me as your representative; I feel that my record will speak for itself.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely yours,
GENE PIERETTI,
Candidate for ASUN Pres.

Two Professors Return From Trip

Two University of Nevada educators recently returned from Arizona, where they inspected two nuclear engineering departments.

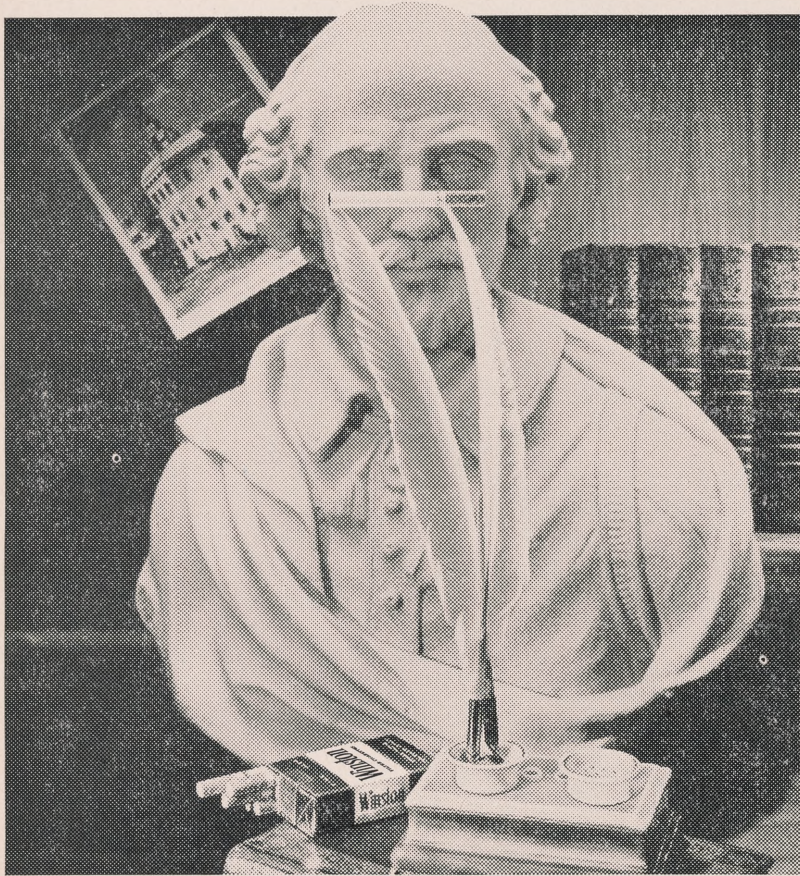

Dr. Howard B. Blodgett, dean of the college of engineering, and Professor David E. Dickinson, head of the nuclear engineering at Nevada, visited the engineering departments at the University of Arizona at Tucson; and Arizona State at Tempe.

The purpose of the trip was to inspect large nuclear reactor set-ups at the two Arizona schools for ideas on the type of system the University of Nevada will have when the engineering department here receives its reactors. Nevada now is using a non-critical reactor in nuclear physics.

Sen. McCarran Scholarship Award Made to Business Ad Student at UN

Winner of the 1959 Sen. Pat McCarran Memorial Scholarship award at the University of Nevada is 26-year-old William Vannoy, a junior student in business administration.

The announcement was made by Joe K. Hicks, of Reno, member of the scholarship committee of the American Association of Airport Executives and Reno municipal airport manager.

Hicks said the scholarship fund is $500, to be paid at the rate of $100 per month starting in October, 1959. He added that Vannoy also will be invited to attend the annual meeting of the association April 1-15 in Savannah, Ga., all expenses paid.

"Vannoy is the first student in business administration to win the award among four Nevada students so honored," said Hicks, who added that the scholarship is given to a student who will be a senior the following year and whose field of study will logically lead to airport management or a related career.

The memorial scholarship was established four years ago as a tribute to the late Senator McCarran, who was interested in the progress of airports in the U. S. At the present time it was felt by the committee that the scholarship should be limited to the University of Nevada. However, the committee may, at a later date, designate a technical institute at which the scholarship will apply.

Campus Tours Planned For High School People

Tours of the University of Nevada will be conducted this month for students of Sparks and Manogue high schools by Blue Key, campus service organization.

The purpose of the tours is to introduce the students to the University. It will include talks by the ASUN and AWS presidents, and visits to the various colleges on campus.

Dick Bryan, ASUN president, and Carol Gardenswartz, AWS president, will talk to the students about activities and what to expect at the University.

The students will visit the colleges in which they are interested.

Students will be treated to a coke break in the Student Union after the tours.

Carol Crisler, president, said that the names of new members of the Press club will be announced.

New Type Material for Runways, Other Improvements in Mackay

Many improvements are being made inside Mackay stadium in preparation for the track and field season.

A new track is being put down on the runways for the high jump, broad jump and pole vault. The new material is made of rubber, sand and asphalt. The surface of this mixture retains its form despite the many speedsters who run on it in spiked shoes.

This is the first time the topping has been used in the state of Nevada. It is now being used on the tracks of major colleges on the West Coast. Stanford University is one of the latest to use the new material.

New discus and shot-put rings made of concrete have replaced the old dirt rings. Contestants now use sneakers instead of spiked shoes. The concrete rings are recommended by the NCAA.

Dick Dankworth, University of Nevada track coach, feels the improvement will help contestants improve their marks.

Dankworth hopes to have more meets at the Nevada stadium, including the Far Western Conference meet and top high school meets.

Intramural Ski Meet Saturday

The annual intramural ski meet will take place Saturday at Slide mountain. The first event will begin at ten o'clock.

This year the cross country race will be omitted from the scheduled events. This is being done in accordance with an agreement made by the various living group sports managers. There are only two remaining events—the slalom and the downhill.

All living groups are expected to enter a team this year, with the exception of the Independents. Independent sports manager Ron Pahor said it is doubtful that enough skiers can participate to form a team. According to meet rules each team must have three skiers finishing each event to receive points.

Tennis and Baseball For Intramural

Intramural tennis and baseball will begin in April and continue into May.

The 28-match doubles tennis tourney will start April 13, when Sigma Nu will be pitted against Lambda Chi.

Competition will start at four o'clock on the University's tennis courts. Any team arriving more than ten minutes late automatically forfeits. A team will be dropped from the schedule after two such defaults.

Intramural baseball competition calls for a 21-game schedule. All games will be played at four o'clock at field two in Idlewild park.

In both tennis and baseball, the winning team will be determined by the won-lost records. Both sports will add to the point totals in the race for the Kinnear trophy.

Individual Honor Goes To Gedney

Larry Gedney, University of Nevada marksman from Fallon, walked off with top individual honors at the National Intercollegiate Sectional Match held at Berkeley, California, March 20-21.

Gedney led the Nevada small bore rifle team to sixth place in the meet, which was won by the University of California. The California squad posted a new national record of 1444x1500.

Gedney's top individual mark was 292x300. Teammate John Hunter of Reno placed seventh in the individual shooting with 287x300 score.

Hunter also fired 292x300 from the standing position to place second.

Making the trip with Nevada coaches Master Sergeant Kenneth Day and Sergeant 1st Class James Coffey were Gedney, Hunter, Dan Sobrio, Ramon Salcedo, Robert Oliver and Robert Fuller.

The Wolf Pack squad is now preparing for the Fourth Annual Nevada Invitational Rifle Match, on April 24 and 25.

Nevada hosts the top intercollegiate riflemen in the nation during the two-day match. Invitations have been accepted by the University of California, Santa Clara, Montana State college and Texas Western.

Basketball Awards

Eleven men of the varsity basketball squad have been named to receive letter awards for participation in the recently ended season. The announcement was made by Coach Jake Lawlor last week.

Receiving trophies will be Lyle Damon, Bob Ferrari, Chuck Walker and George Kasunic. Blankets will be presented to Frank Kendrick and Ken Longero. Bob Lyon, Stan Summers and Val York will be sporting jackets and Bob Ritchie and Don Stoker will receive sweaters.

Summer School Plans Are Completed

Plans are completed for the first summer session since the University of Nevada was given unrestricted accreditation by the Northwest Regional Association in December, 1958. The University of Nevada has been accredited by the Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools continuously since 1938.

Registration for summer school is accepted from (1) graduates of high schools, (2) adults with ability to do scholastic work on the university level.

No formal admission or matriculation is required for summer school students.

Undergraduate students may gain a maximum of six or seven credits in the main term. Students are limited to a total of 11 credits for the entire summer sessions of June 8-August 14. Five and six credits are considered the normal load and are equivalent to approximately 14 and 17 hours respectively in a fall or spring semester. A graduate student may earn six credits in the main summer session. All courses are for University credit and may be applied toward graduation.

A schedule of courses for the 1959 summer school session is available at the education building.

Job Interviews Offer Civil Service Information

Excellent job opportunities are open to seniors and juniors through the Nevada State Personnel department and the United States Civil Service Commission, said Sam Basta, dean of student affairs.

James Wittenburg, a University of Nevada graduate, will represent the state personnel department in discussing employment opportunities within Nevada. He will be in the main lounge area all day April 13.

Johnson and Johnson Personal Products corporation will hold interviews in room 110 of Ross hall, Monday, April 6. They are interested in business administration and liberal arts majors for their management training program.

Westinghouse Electric corporation will interview electrical and metallurgical engineers, and metallurgy and physics majors in room 120 of the Jot Travis Student Union building on April 6.

Expect Lawlor Move To Head Athletics

In a recent issue of the Reno Evening Gazette, Roland Melton, sports editor, made this prediction: "By sundown, Saturday, April 11, there should be official word on these important athletic matters at the University of Nevada.

"A new athletic director.

"A new football coach.

"A new basketball coach.

"A revised health, physical education and athletic department."

No mention had previously been made of the rearrangement because the budget had not been set by the legislature. The budget is now approved. Nevada has $3,108,000 plus $572,000 for equipment.

"The change has been carefully thought over and is not simply a snap decision," said Dr. Art Broten, head of the department.

The change will consist of several things.

First, Coach Jake Lawlor will step up from basketball coach to become athletic director. Nevada will be in the market for a new basketball coach as well as a head football man.

Dr. Broten will retain his position as head of health and physical education, but will delegate athletic duties to Lawlor.

"The revision will clear up various duties and responsibilities," said Broten.

"Chub" Drakulich is considered as a potential candidate for the basketball opening. He is now the coach at Nevada Southern at Las Vegas and is a Nevada graduate.

Another possibility is Hal Fischer, Nevada graduate and coach at the Presidio in San Francisco.

As to a new football coach, Melton made this prediction in his sports column: "The new Nevada coach will be Richard Trachok, now at the Reno High School where he has coached since 1949."

By next week, the new coaches should be named and the rearrangement of the P.E. department should be final.

First President's Round Table Hears Explanation of Proposed Expenditures

President Charles Armstrong explained new financial expenditures of the University of Nevada to 18 campus leaders at the first session of the President's Round Table just before the Easter recess.

The state legislature has appropriated funds for a new library, a central heating plant, and a new wing on the Agriculture building.

President Armstrong told the students.

The Round Table was formed to permit closer communications between President Armstrong and University of Nevada students.

He presented a pamphlet titled "Budget in Brief," outlining facilities needed because of the recent growth of the University.

The pamphlet described problems of constructing new buildings, hiring of professors, increased enrollment figures, and the operating budget.

If enrollment at the University continues to increase, at its present rate, President Armstrong said, by 1973 we will have more than 8,300 students.

Attending the discussion were Carol Gardenswartz, AWS president; Beth Boyd, Delta Delta Delta; Emmy Hanf, Gamma Phi Beta; Kress Harris, Kappa Alpha Theta; John Heward, Sigma Nu; Gerald Boden, Alpha Tau Omega Bob Scott, Theta Chi; Frank Sharp, Lambda Chi Alpha; Jim Welsh, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Tom McCann, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Dan Sobrio, Phi Sigma Kappa; Carol Warner, Artemisia-Manzanita; Stan Terrell, Lincoln Hall; Margaret Eddelman, sophomore class president; Dick Lewis, freshman class president; Jim Santini, senior class president; Barbara Ruark, Pi Beta Phi; Sam Basta, dean of student affairs, and Dick Bryan, ASUN president.

Physical Ed Club Has New Blazers

Upperclass members of the Physical Education Majors club will be sporting new blazers when they sell programs at the NCAA boxing tournament this weekend. The PEM's is a club for women who are physical education majors.

The blazers are a dark blue with white piping and bear the club crest.

Part of the cost of the blazer is paid by the club and is earned by each member through work done during her freshman and sophomore years. Only upperclass members may wear a blazer.

Beatnik Thinking Is Panel Topic

Dr. James S. Roberts participated in a Seattle political science conference last week as a member of a five-man panel that discussed the political philosophy of the "beat generation" and of England's "angry young men."

Dr. Roberts, assistant professor of history and political science, attended the annual meeting of the Western Political Science association, which was held March 25-29. Some eighty political science professors from western colleges were at the conference.

Eugene Burdick, co-author of the best-selling novel "The Ugly American," reported on the "beat generation." Another report was given on the "angry young men."

Dr. Roberts stated that the "beatniks" and their English counterparts are rebelling against the conformity found in modern society. They feel that the only chance of survival for the individual is to withdraw from organized society.

America's "lost generation" of the post-World War II period and the philosophy of existentialism was also brought into the discussion, he added.

Dr. Chase To Teach At Syracuse Summer School

An invitation to teach summer school at Syracuse University in the state of New York has been accepted by Dr. Harry M. Chase, Jr., assistant professor of history and political science.

Dr. Chase will teach classes this summer from June 29 until August 7. He will present an international relations course and another course analyzing foreign affairs problems.

Dr. Chase received his doctorate from Syracuse University in 1957.

LOW TAR: L&M's patented filtering process adds extra filter fibers electrostatically, crosswise to the stream of smoke . . . makes L&M truly low in tar.

THE MYSTICAL ORDER of Coffin and Keys held one of its spring rituals last weekend when knightly-attired members fought off a Manzanita lake monster. The monster was reportedly turned loose from the biology department ten years ago in an amoeba state. The members of the secret society will now retire into obscurity for another year, to emerge like the Groundhog next spring. ### Koltanowski, Blindfold Chess Expert, To Play 30 Boards in UN Exhibition

Thirty University of Nevada faculty members and students will challenge world-champion chess player George Koltanowski to 30 games of chess at the same time, Monday, April 27.

The International Chess Master will hold the Nevada chess spectacular in the Jot Travis Student Union at 7:30 p.m.

Members of the faculty and students interested in viewing against the San Francisco Chronicle chess editor should contact Dick Morris, Bill Adams or Robert Kersey. Morris can be reached at FA 2-0233 and Adams and Kersey can be contacted at the Jot Travis Student Union.

"The Student Union is sponsoring this chess exhibition as part of our new program of providing activities to all of the students at the University," Adams stated.

Mr. Koltanowski won the world's blindfold chess championship in 1951 when he played fifty games in nine hours. He won 43, drew five and lost only two, without looking at the board once.

In 1949 he played 271 games in 14 hours, winning 251, drawing 17 and losing three, "but that time he was looking at the board," according to a leaflet published by the San Francisco Chronicle.

Referred to as "chess wizard" by several leading magazines, Koltanowski learned to play chess at the age of 14 and has since traveled throughout the world playing the game.

Representative Of Ceylon WUS Will Speak Here

A World University Service representative from Ceylon will speak at the regular meeting of the campus YWCA group Tuesday, April 7.

Mr. Victor Chervim will discuss student conditions and the economic development in Ceylon. Mrs. Ruthe L. Talcott, YWCA advisor announced this week.

The meeting is scheduled at 12 noon, in the Nevada room of the Jot Travis Student Union. More than fifty women students are expected to attend, Mrs. Talcott said. Although the meeting is a YWCA function, she stated, it will be open to all students.

Urriola Wins On Engineering Paper

Dan Urriola, senior civil engineering student, won a technical paper contest at a recent civil engineering convention. His paper competed against those of ten other western civil engineering students who are student members of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

His paper dealt with an irrigation project in Southwestern Spain. Urriola was familiar with this project since he had actually observed the Spanish irrigation project last summer.

His paper were judged 50 percent on presentation, and 50 percent on technical content. Under presentation voice, timing, and general overall delivery were taken into consideration. The speaker's knowledge of his subject, and the interest value to a technical audience were points observed in the content half of the contest.

Background material for his paper, "Plan Badjoz," Spain's Irrigation Project," was gathered last summer when he visited Spain as an exchange student. Under the International Association for the Exchange of Students for Technical Information Program Urriola was able to view southwestern Spain, and the irrigation project.

Urriola received a trophy, and forty dollars, as winner of the contest.

The contest was held in conjunction with the National Convention of the American Society of Civil Engineers. The Los Angeles convention also hosted student members of the society from the western states.

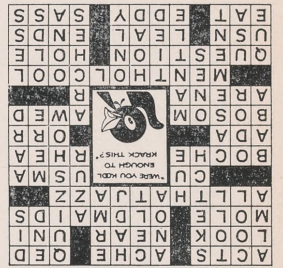

The American Society of Civil Engineers is an organization of practicing professional and civil engineers in the United States.
