Watercolors Are On Exhibit Here

Twenty-seven paintings chosen from a collection of over five thousand watercolors are now on exhibit in the art gallery in the temporary buildings.

The collection was assembled by the Ford Motor Company for publication in its magazines, "Ford Times," and "Lincoln-Mercury Times."

New Traffic Laws Have Real Teeth

Traffic regulations on the University of Nevada campus now have teeth in them.

The legislature passed a bill making a violation of a regulation a misdemeanor. This means that persons given tickets by the campus police will have to appear before the justice court to answer charges.

Before Senate Bill 172 was passed there was some doubt about how campus regulations could be enforced. Now everyone entering the campus—not just students—is under the jurisdiction of the campus police.

The Board of Regents, at their meeting in Las Vegas tomorrow, will discuss new regulations, including laws affecting pedestrians. The new regulations will go into effect once they have been filed with the secretary of state and published.

Presidential Candidates Views Are Released In Letters To Sagebrush

Political controversy swept over the campus yesterday when George Allison claimed that his opponent in the ASUN presidential race, Dan Sobrio, misrepresented several facts in his elections assembly speech.

Allison toured fraternities, sororities, and dormitories Wednesday evening, telling students how he considered the facts to be misrepresented. Both Allison and Sobrio have written letters to explain their stands on the assembly speeches.

DEAR MR. EDITOR AND
FELLOW STUDENTS:

Here are the facts:

1. Six dollars of your ASUN fees go to intercollegiate athletics. Article V, Section 1-C of the ASUN constitution.

2. We students have no representation in regard to the spending of these funds either through the finance control committee (Article IV, Section 1C-6) or through the eligibility and athletics committee which is comparable to the original board of athletic control.

3. Reference to the "old constitution" in my campaign assembly speech was made only to show how we have lost this representation because the revised constitution ignores the situation.

4. My speech at the campaign assembly clearly stated this representation had been lost, and moreover that I proposed the re-establishment of student representation in this regard.

DAN SOBRIO

DEAR EDITOR AND
FELLOW STUDENTS:

I would like to stress the fact that I do not in any way desire to conduct a "smear" campaign.

In response to many students' questions, I would like to clarify my stand on several points brought out within the last two days.

Many students are under the impression that within the present constitution there is a provision for an Athletic Control Board. This clause was quoted from a constitution of the University of Nevada. However, it was not mentioned that this constitution is outdated and that the present constitution does not contain any such provisions. Nor is there any board that give scholarships to athletes. A board has not been created for this purpose as the University of Nevada would have to withdraw from the Far Western Conference.

The only board that functions now is for the purpose of recommending athletic policy to the president; especially concerning eligibility.

Six dollars is paid by the student into the Athletic department to provide a guarantee to each athletic team coming to Nevada.

No board controls this budget, but the Athletic department handles it in the same manner that other departments at the University control their budgets.

If the majority of the students favor having student representation in Athletic control as was specified in the previous constitution, I would seek a revision to that effect in our present constitution.

The veterans administration in Reno was told this week that plans to consolidate it with the San Francisco office are being made. Jim Hayes, VA coordinator in the office of the Dean of Student Affairs, requests all veterans and war orphans at the University to come to room 103 in Ross hall to sign a petition to prevent the planned consolidation.

Two Fraternities Locked in Struggle For Honor of Having ASUN President

By DON GRAYDON

Phi Sigma Kappa and Sigma Alpha Epsilon are squared away for the battle that will be decided at next Wednesday's general election.

The question to be decided at the polls: Will the Phi Sigs or will SAE have the honor of having the ASUN president in their fraternity?

The answer to this question depends partly on what happens to the 162 votes cast in the primary for Gene Pieretti. Will Pieretti's Lambda Chi support go over to Dan Sobrio or to SAE George Allison? Or will this support split between the candidates?

There was great joy in the Phi Sig camp last Wednesday night as the primary election tallies came in. Final count: Sobrio, 431; Allison, 342. The denizens of North Virginia street are determined to snag the ASUN prey for their house, and they'll get him if the primary election is any indication.

Meanwhile, back at SAE headquarters, Allisonites are plotting the strategy which they feel will give their man the nod. University students can look for the usual car caravans, boat rides on the lake, and matchbook advertising, all designed to bring the message to the voters.

Objective observers of the election seem sure of one thing. The winning frat is going to throw a beer-bust Wednesday night, so it doesn't really matter who wins. There is one point, however, that is not yet clear: Is it legal, ethical, and fraternal for the losers to drink the winner's beer? Or are they expected to stay home and sulk?

One question arises in all the pandemonium. Is any Phi Sig voting for Sobrio only because he is the best man? Likewise, is there any SAE who is supporting Allison solely on the basis of his qualifications for the job?

In other words, are there any independents in these fraternities?

Sobrio to Oppose Allison

By WARREN LERUDE

Dan Sobrio, Phi Sigma Kappa, and George Allison, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, will oppose each other for the office of University of Nevada student body president in the general elections next Wednesday.

Sobrio led a field of four presidential candidates in this week's primary election when he received 431 votes. Allison insured his berth in the general election when he recorded 342 votes. Gene Pieretti, Lambda Chi Alpha, received 162 votes and Bob Scott, Theta Chi, recorded 27.

Although Ben Echeverria received a majority of the votes cast for the three candidates seeking the junior class president office, he was not elected because the ASUN constitution lacks a standard election clause making a majority winner the automatic winner. He will run against Doug Salter, Sigma Nu, in the general election. Echeverria received 125 votes, Salter received 56, and a third candidate, Gerald Boden, Alpha Tau Omega, recorded 52 votes.

Climaxing a colorful and noisy week of campus campaigning, 955 students went to the polls in the Jot Travis Student Union to cast their votes.

Lynn Walsh, Delta Delta Delta, and Karen Decker, Pi Beta Phi, will vie for the office of women's senator-at-large. Miss Walsh received 363 votes, Miss Decker recorded 315, and a third candidate, Marilyn Nelson, Kappa Alpha Theta, received 214 votes.

Voting Machines Used First Time

"X marks the spot," is a voting phrase that died in obscurity this week when four complex, automatic voting machines were used in the University of Nevada primary election Wednesday.

The old voting method of placing an "X" next to the name of a candidate was replaced by a new, machine-age method of knobs and levers. Voters simply pushed down the knobs next to the candidate's name and then pulled a lever.

A curtain drawn behind the voter insured maximum secrecy in voting. The machines tabulated the votes and did away with the possibility of "human error" in counting the votes. As a result of the speedy tabulation of the machines, the results of the elections were available when the polls closed.

"There is no expense involved in the election other than the absentee ballots," Jean Rivkin, elections board chairman stated, "because the machines are loaned to the University by the county."

Editorial

Not a Mouthpiece

At the elections assembly Tuesday evening several candidates made comments about the relations between the University of Nevada Sagebrush and the student government.

The staff of this newspaper certainly does not mind criticism from students, faculty members of the University administration, and even welcomes it if it is on a constructive basis.

But a person planning to enter student government, especially the top post of ASUN president, will sadly discover the student newspaper is not to be his mouthpiece. There's little enough separation of power in student government as it is with the president sitting at the head of the Senate table.

It is the duty of the Sagebrush to criticize the actions of the student government which would not promote the general welfare of ALL the students, especially those classified as Independents, who have little representation.

The Sagebrush has been criticized for its stand against the student court. The staff of this paper feels that if something wasn't said about the court, the first, inadequate try at drawing a constitution would have been approved and adopted. Due to the controversy, the court has been critically analyzed by many students, and many corrections have been, and still are being made. If and when the court is put into operation, it will probably be a much better part of student government than would have been derived from the original court constitution.

Because of its obligation to the students, the Sagebrush is not, and will not, be a passive tool for those in student government. —WL

Exercise Voting Judgment

Throughout the earlier part of next week the colorful and noisy election campaigns will continue to sweep over the University of Nevada campus.

Next Wednesday, a new student-body president, two senators-at-large, and three class presidents will be elected, and the campus will regain its normal spring-time serenity.

The person elected president of the University of Nevada student body will then begin his year of meeting student controversies, making thousands of routine decisions, and leading the student body through a year of everyday campus life.

The color, noise and pomp of his campaign will drift into obscurity and he will be judged by his peers for his abilities in maintaining a just office.

The person elected will not be called upon for his flamboyancy, and he should not be elected for it. When voting Wednesday, students should concentrate on the consistent judgment of the candidates and not the colorful social achievements of their fraternities during election campaigns.

... JUST WHITTLIN'...

By JUDY V.

Just in case you might have wondered why ye olde scandal column appeared not in this most worthy publication last week, I have prepared an explanation: Dewey misplaced it in the wastebasket, but we found it and here it is (I hope).

Things sure are never dull around here—just ask the people who have classes on the third floor of Stewart hall—the word has been around that after the quake the infirmary treated countless cases of air sickness. Beginning next semester a new policy will go into effect; all students attending classes in Stewart Hall will be expected to carry, in addition to their usual texts, a parachute, a first aid kit, and a special handbook entitled, "Methods of Arranging Up To 35 People in an Average Doorway Under Quake Conditions" or "Prejudices Must Be Abolished."

What with Easter vacation, the coming of Spring and all that, several campus couples has succumbed to the romantic atmosphere. Independent Rickey Gobli and SAE Lynn Stauts announced their pinning, and another SAE, Bruce Rossman, finally presented his pin to Betsy Concannon, an Independent. Gamma Phi Jackie Curti announced her engagement to Bruce Tiogni. There was also an engagement in the Pi Phi house. Carol McGowan announced her engagement to Don Bernard, SAE.

Three couples joined the matrimonial ranks during the Spring recess. Sigma Nu Lester Sweeney (that's a he, Dewey) and Diz (that's a she, Dewey) Bonahoon took on the Mr. and Mrs. tag. Eric Bretthauer, Independent, and Yevonne Fenwick were married in an evening ceremony. Tri Delt Roberta Umscheid became Mrs. Mel Watson; however, this, it seems, was not a spring vacation wedding—this sneaky couple has been married since Valentines Day.

I had really intended to have a more lengthy piece this week—you know, with all sorts of juicy bits about the dances that were held and all that. Due to circumstances beyond my control, the notes really were lost this time; well, not exactly lost, I just never got them. Somewhere on campus there's a sorority sister of mine who has absconded with the goodies. Absent minded, I guess—or maybe the SAGEBRUSH editor is paying her.

Old-Fashioned 'Mellerdrammer' Is Scheduled for Production Soon

"Marry me and the mortgage shall be yours." This is the theme of one of the acts in a melodrama to be presented by the directing class of the drama department.

The melodrama, reminiscent of the "Gay 90's," will be presented Thursday, April 30, and Friday, May 1, at 7 p.m. in the old gym. The first performance is in conjunction with the Mackay Day beard judging contest. The beards will be judged between acts.

"Only An Orphan Girl," is "a soul stirring drama of human trials and tribulations in four acts."

The cast, announced by Professor Asher B. Wilson, includes Arthur Rutherford (from the city) played by Don Wilhoite, Dick Perkins (a clean-cut farm lad) by Doug Smith, Swem Perkins (his father) by Dean Kapsalis, Nellie (the orphan girl) by Trudy Caddel, Ethel Rutherford (a fair stranger) by Victoria Roberts, Mrs. Perkins (a mother) by Renee Robertson, Amos Appleby (a neighbor) by Dennis O'Connor, and Lucy (a ray of sunshine) by Rickey Gobel.

Directors for the production are Jim DePriets, Tom Hallam, Mickey McBride, Bruce Rossman, William (Ty) Tyson, Orville Fleming and R. R. Byloff.

Bouncer is Don (Knuckles) Jones.

"The public is invited, but a small donation is requested to help get the players out of town," said Professor Wilson, adding, "Remember, it's a long way between stops in this country."

Wilson added that refreshments will be served to ladies and gentlemen seated at the tables.

Members of the orchestra will be named next week.

UN Delegates To Tempe Convention

Five hundred women students from all over the United States gathered at Arizona State University in Tempe, Ariz., last week to attend the I. A. W. S. convention there.

Attending the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students convention from the University of Nevada were, Joyce Casazza, Barbara Heward, Nancy Petrini, Sue Pincino, Pat Reynolds, and Miss Bernice McNaught, women's counselor.

The theme of the week-long affair was "Conformity and/or Independence." Alice K. Leopold, assistant to the secretary of labor, was the principal speaker.

'Brushfire' Taking No Chances; Mother Will Screen Literary Efforts

"Brushfire" is taking no chances—it has a mother on its editorial board. Mrs. Maurice Osborne, parent of University of Nevada senior Gordon Osborne (of Engineering) is on the board. All material submitted will be examined by Mrs. Osborne for its propriety in being circulated to the reading public of mothers.

However, Mrs. Osborne is considerably puzzled as to the specifications for her censorship. As head of the Circulation Department at Washoe County Library, she is well acquainted with the current types of literature in demand, and she knows what mothers are reading in the public library. "Lolita"—is this safe for them? "She Came Running"—is the language cleaner than in "From Here to Eternity"?

She is wondering if the public library should go back to the "closed shelves" of an earlier era. It had not occurred to her that today's maternal parents required a screening of their reading material.

In all events, she will try to judge the literary contributions to "Brushfire" from the standpoint of her status as mother of Gordon.

Rat Experiment Shows Diet Need

Think twice before you have a quick "coke and hamburger" for a meal.

On the basis of experiments being conducted on the Nevada campus, many teenagers are not eating correct nutritious foods.

Twenty rats have been eating five types of diets which are supposedly typical of teen-age eating habits.

The five diets ranged from properly balanced meals to the quick "coke and hamburger" lunch.

The rats were fed the prescribed diets for four months. At the end of this period, detailed studies were made on growth development, blood deficiency and skeletal differences. It was noted that the rats who "grabbed a quick non-balanced snack" were underdeveloped and not healthy. The rats which had eaten a correctly balanced diet were healthy and fully developed.

A special problems class in the school of home economics is conducting the experiments with the twenty rats, which were bred in a genetics class by Dr. Howard Weeth, assistant professor in the agriculture department.

Thetas Win Honors At District Meet

The Thetas came back from their district convention with honors again this year. They won the Phi Tray for the second consecutive time. The Phi Tray is awarded to the sorority with the best scholarship and chapter achievement.

Kress Harris, president, stated that if they win in scholarship and achievement next time, they will be able to keep the trophy.

Free Flu Shots At Infirmary

The University infirmary reports that free flu vaccine shots are now available to students.

Mrs. Mary E. Johnson, head nurse at the infirmary, said more cases of flu have been reported so far this semester than during all of last semester. She said that this may be because students do not realize that the vaccine is good for only six months to a year.

Mrs. Johnson urged students not to attend classes if they have the flu.

Tri-Delts Working On Service Project

The Tri Delts are working on a service project to earn a substantial amount of money. The amount cleared will be awarded as a scholarship to a worthy girl on campus.

The Delta girls are busily dispersing tickets around campus for the drawing to be held before Mackay Day. The grand prize is a $50 gift order on Hattons in Reno.

Bookplate Design Contest for Mackay

Could you use $25? Or, maybe, just $10 would do?

If so, and you are artistically inclined, the Mackay School of Mines is sponsoring a book-plate design contest with a first place prize of $25 and a second place prize of $10.

The book plate, which will be placed in the Mackay library, must be three inches by five inches in size and the words "library," "Mackay School of Mines," "University of Nevada" and "gift of" must be included.

Drawings may be used in the design and may be of the John Mackay statue, the Mines building, any symbol representing the mineral industry or education.

The contest is open to all students and entries must be submitted to Professor Craig Sheppard, chairman of the art department, by Wednesday, April 15.

Additional information on the contest is available through Professor Sheppard.

TAMMIE TENK

Co-ed Competes For 'Miss Nevada'

Miss Tamara (Tammie) Tenk, a freshman at the University of Nevada, has been selected to represent Carson City in the "Miss Nevada" contest in Reno this June.

Miss Tenk, an Independent, is a 5 foot, 6 inch brunette with measurements she places at 39-23-36. She has brown eyes.

"I'm scared to death by it, but I'm sure it will be the most exciting experience I've ever had," said Miss Tenk.

She was elected "Miss Carson City" last October as part of the 1958 Nevada Day festivities. Previous to that, she won the "Miss Sports Car" title at the Tahoe-Douglas road races last summer.

Miss Tenk is majoring in social psychology. She is a participant in various activities at Artemisia hall, where she is a resident.

Delta Pi To Initiate Here on Saturday

Delta Pi chapter of Delta Sigma Pi, international professional business fraternity, will be installed at the University of Nevada tomorrow in a day-long program.

Thirty-two undergraduate members and ten alumni members will be initiated.

The Nevada chapter will be the 102nd of Delta Sigma Pi. The organization was founded in 1907.

Burell C. Johnson, Western Regional Director and Grand Council member of the organization, and J. D. Thomson, executive director and Grand Council member, together with representatives from several California chapters, will be present.

Tomorrow's activities will begin with registration at 10 a.m. in the Tahoe room of the Holiday hotel, followed by an informal luncheon.

At 1 p.m., the visitors will be conducted on a tour of the campus. The formal initiation ceremonies will be on campus at 2:30 p.m.

Presentation of the charter will be made by Mr. Johnson at the installation banquet in the Tahoe-Sierra rooms of the Holiday hotel at 6 p.m.

Undergraduates to be initiated are: Vance A. Antonelli, Robert L. Byrne, John F. Rhodes Jr., William J. Vannoy, Paul W. Rand, Ronald Wiggins, Richard C. Yates, William S. Zideck, James L. Hay, LeRoy F. Strawn, Delbert E. Peterson, Lynn M. Peterson, Danny L. Winter, Dominick J. Pieretti, Raymond B. Foster, John C. Roberts, Theodore H. Moore, William T. Tyson, Richard K. Latham, Anthony Bastanchurry, Donald Smith, Perry E. Clevenger, John E. Minetto, Richard C. Herman, Richard T. Donovan, John A. Martie, William O. Proven, Larry G. Oxborrow, Grant B. Hudlow, Charles J. Dyer, Walter B. McIntyre, and Raymond G. Moritz.

Five of the ten alumni initiates are recent graduates of Nevada. They are Raymond S. Alfred, George Wasson, Harvey Gordon, Lee Darrah and Spiros Anastassatos.

The five faculty initiates are Charles P. Woods, assistant professor; Sidney J. Claunch, assistant professor; William Houwink, lecturer; Martin Green, assistant professor; and Edward M. Vietti, assistant professor.

Fourteen Initiates Enter Journalism Club

Names of fourteen new members were announced at a Press club meeting Wednesday evening by Carol Crisler, president. The Press club is made up of students who have taken seven or more hours of journalism courses.

Featured guest was Katherine Mergen, society editor for the Reno Evening Gazette and editor of the weekly entertainment guide for the Reno newspapers. She is a graduate of the University of Nevada and was an instructor in journalism here in 1944-48.

Mrs. Mergen talked on problems in news writing and editing, and on women in journalism.

A film titled "A Rip Roaring Time at Ripple Rock" was shown. Produced by Time-Life Incorporated, it showed how their writers, photographers, and artists prepare material for "Life" magazine.

New club members are: Ed Allison, John Conklin, Bill Crawford, Diane Gordon, Don Graydon, Dan Hanley, Warren Lerude, Don O'Donnell, Chuck Thomas, Mayer Freedman, Dave Hansen, Sally Whipple and Jeanne Dell Clay.

pha Tau Omega, received 79 votes, Jud Samon, Sigma Nu, won 72, and Barbara Galeppi, Gamma Phi Beta, recorded 53 votes. Walker and Samon will oppose each other in the general elections.

Gary Bullis of Alpha Tau Omega led the four candidates for sophomore class president recording 136 votes. He will oppose Dudley Cate, Sigma Nu, in the general election. Cate received 109 votes in the primary election, while Alice Urrutia, Kappa Alpha Theta, received 101 and Lynn Spell, Pi Beta Phi, recorded 53 votes.

No Race

There was no primary election in the race for men's junior senator-at-large because only two candidates filed for the office. Jim Mequier, Sigma Nu, and Charles "Chuck" Thomas, Sigma Phi Epsilon, will vie for the office in the general election.

In the freshman class, 404 students voted while 257 sophomores, 210 juniors, and 104 seniors went to the polls. Automatic voting machines were donated to the University and set up in the games area of the Jot Travis Student Union.

"The elections went smoothly and the results were available within minutes after the polls closed," Jean Rivkin, elections board chairman, stated. The votes were not hand counted as in past elections, but were automatically tabulated by the machines, she said.

Four machines were used. One was designated for each class. The county will donate the machines again next week for the general elections.

As election time drew near, the candidates' campaigns reached higher stages of noise, color and complexity. Posters and signs stating qualifications of the candidates literally dotted the campus. The biggest sign was reported to be 14 feet by 16 feet and the smallest was estimated at 1½ inches by 2 inches.

Students drove automobiles that were adorned with loudspeakers through the campus, shouting of the candidates' qualifications, and playing music. Other automobiles were covered with paper and paint signs proclaiming the political virtues of candidates.

One evening prior to the primary elections several fraternities trekked to the sorority houses to introduce their candidates. A fire truck driven by members of one fraternity gained attention as its occupants screeched the siren while other fraternity members serenaded the sorority girls.

A complex dinner schedule was set up by the election board, arranging for candidates of each living group to dine with the other living groups and present political platforms.

It is expected that on Monday the campaigns will reach even more flamboyant stages and continue until the general election on Wednesday.

Climaxing the elections in the past, the fraternity sponsoring the new student body president staged all-school beer busts. It is expected that similar activities will occur again this year.

Senate Proposes To Get Further Dope On Winter Carnival Activities

Further probing on students' ideas about what sort of winter activities should be held at the University of Nevada next year in conjunction with the 1960 Winter Olympic Games at Squaw Valley will be conducted by John He-ward, senator, next Monday evening.

Heward will present a survey to all campus living groups to sound out ideas for house decoration, a dance or bean feed, and campus decorations.

In a preliminary survey several weeks ago, fraternity and sorority members voted against having an intercollegiate competitive winter carnival because it would conflict with the Olympic Games. Independents, who were not consulted in the first survey, will be visited by Heward and Bob Autry, Winter Carnival chairman, on the evenings of Monday, April 13, and Monday, April 20.

The results of the survey will be delivered by Heward to the ASUN senate at their regular meeting on Wednesday, April 22.

Heward said that persons having suggestions about next year's winter festivities should contact himself or Autry. Both can be reached at the Sigma Nu house.

Journalism Class Has Radio Studio

Modern radio studio facilities are now available for use by University journalism students.

The Board of Regents accepted an offer by KOLO Radio that their March meeting. Under the agreement, students may use the complete studio facilities in the El Cortez hotel whenever KOLO is not using them.

Professor Keiste Janulis, who teaches "Journalism on the Air," says that the class will use the facilities during the latter half of this semester. "We hope to tape several types of news programs for broadcasting," he said.

Twelve junior and senior University students are registered in the class.

Big Entry For Nevada Speech Tourney

Sixty-one contestants representing five Nevada and two California high schools have indicated they will attend the University's annual speech tournament.

The University of Nevada Invitational High School Speech Tournament will be held on the Reno campus April 27 and 28. The contest is sponsored by the University's department of speech and drama.

The debate question for the 1959 tournament is "Resolved: That the United States should adopt the essential features of the British system of education."

"L&M is kindest to your taste," says James Amess. "There are two good reasons why I know you'll like 'em. They're truly low in tar, with more exciting taste than you'll find in any other cigarette."

LOW TAR: L&M's patented filtering process adds extra filter fibers electrostatically, crosswise to the stream of smoke... makes L&M truly low in tar.

MORE TASTE: L&M's rich mixture of slow burning tobaccos brings you more exciting taste than any other cigarette.

Sigma Nu Wins Intramural Ski Meet; Special Event Proves Popular Surprise

Sigma Nu has gained 60 points in the Kinnear trophy race after its victory in Saturday's intramural ski meet. Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Alpha Epsilon received 40 and 20 points for their second and third place efforts.

The meet consisted of two events—the giant slalom and the slalom. Both crosscountry and jumping were omitted this year by prior agreement among living group sport managers. The giant slalom was substituted for downhill competition this year.

The most interesting race of the day was the beer race sponsored by the Reno Ski club. Competitors were required to stop at various designated points on the downhill course, and drink a can of beer before continuing. The race was run in fun and the results did not count in meet scores. Nevertheless, the race tested the competitor's beer consumption ability as well as his skiing adaptability.

Meet results (first three places): Giant Slalom: (1) Tom Jones, ATO; (2) John Madsen, SN; (3) Doug Salter, SN.

Slalom: (1) Doug Salter, SN; (2) John Madsen, SN; (3) Sam Samsons, SN.

Beer Race: (1) David Barkley, SN; (2) Jack Bullis, ATO; (3) Glen Bates, SN.

THERE'S AN IMPORTANT FUTURE AHEAD FOR THE MEN WHO WEAR THESE WINGS

The Air Force pilot or navigator is a man of many talents. He is, first of all, a master of the skies—and no finer exists. In addition, he has a firm background in astro-navigation, electronics, engineering and allied fields. Then, too, he must show outstanding qualities of leadership, initiative and self-reliance. In short, he is a man eminently prepared for an important future in the new Age of Space. Find out today if you can qualify as an Air Force pilot or navigator. Paste the attached coupon on a postal card and mail it now.

NCAA Fights Great Success; Joe Bliss Takes First Championship for Nevada

NCAA boxing is over and it will probably be a long time before the University of Nevada will host another such spectacle.

Highlight of the tourney for Nevada came when Joe Bliss decisioned Washington State's Daryl Whitmore. Bliss, a 130-pounder, was a runner-up last year. Joltin' Joe has the distinction of being the first national champion from Nevada.

By winning, Bliss is automatically qualified to enter the Pan-American bouts later this spring. Bliss hasn't made his decision yet. If he goes it will mean missing school and work and with a family, this would be difficult.

Another Nevada favorite, Dick Short, was a runner-up in the 125-pound division. The fight could have gone either way but the judges ruled in Bobby Cornwell's favor. Cornwell is from Washington State.

Four other Nevada entrants did not reach the finals. Bill Short and Chub Quilici went out in Thursday night's bouts and Carl Looney and John Genasci faded Friday night.

San Jose State college captured the team trophy for the second straight year, gathering 24 points to edge out traditional rival Idaho State, which followed with 22. Sacramento State placed third with 13, and Nevada and Washington State tied with 12. Nevada finished higher in the finals than it ever has before.

National winners were crowned after the matches Saturday night. From the 112-pound division to heavyweight they were: Heiji Shimobokura, College of Idaho; Ron Nichols, San Jose State; Bobby Cornwell, Washington State; Nick Akana, San Jose State; Joe Bliss, Nevada; Buddy Rausch, Idaho State; Terry Smith, Sacramento State; Charles Mohr, Wisconsin; John Horne, Michigan State; and Hal Espy, San Jose.

Important Matters Are Up for Decision

Several major issues should be decided tomorrow when the University Board of Regents meet in Las Vegas.

In all likelihood, a new football coach will be selected. Of about 80 applicants from as far away as Germany, the field has been limited to roughly ten.

However, any actual developments have been clouded in the smoke of obscurity. Persons involved in making a recommendation to the Regents have continually remarked that "a final decision has not been reached."

Sources usually accurate report that several prospective candidates were interviewed this week. Official sources on campus declined to comment.

Many persons have been mentioned for the job. Some are Nevada graduates and are now successful coaches.

Track Records Shattered As Mackay Stadium Hosts 3-Way Meet; Big Crowd

Two records were shattered in a tri-college track meet in Mackay stadium last week. Chico State, Idaho State and Nevada competed in the track and field events, which were watched by the largest crowd in some time.

Dick Strunk, frosh speedster from Hawthorne, set a new school record in the 220-yard dash.

Booming the distance in 21.2, he broke the old record of 21.7 set by Emory Graunke in 1937 and tied by Marvin Byars in 1952.

Pushing Strunk to the new record was Bob Ritchie, who also broke the old record. Ritchie's time was 21.6.

According to a Los Angeles newspaper, Strunk's time ties for third best in United States collegiate track circles.

Pole vaulter Dave Harris set a new stadium record with a vault of 13 ft. 6 in. Harris holds the school record of 13 ft. 7 in.

Mike Lommori took first place in the shot put and the discus and second in the javelin toss. The discus whirled 147 ft. 1 1/2 in. for Lommori's all-time best.

The anticipated mile duel between Nevada's Dave Sharp and Tom O'Riordan of Idaho failed to furnish expected thrills. Sharp, running with a bruised left heel, faded badly in the last lap and O'Riordan won with a slow 4:30.9. O'Riordan also "cleaned house" in the two-mile run.

Strunk and Dick Dow both turned in outstanding jobs. Strunk toured the 100 yard dash in 10 seconds flat and ran anchor for the mile relay. Dow took the 440 in 50.8.

Bob Ritchie jumped 23 ft. 1/4 in. and barely missed first place in the broad jump.

Chris Nenzel showed well as he did first in the high jump and took a second and fourth in the shot put and high jump.

Bob Challenger gave the Wolf Pack its final win of the day when he cruised over the 220 low hurdles in 24.9.

Nevada's mile relay team made up of Dick Dow, Morgan Jellet, Marshall Coverston and Dick Strunk won with a clocked 3:29.9.

Nevada piled up 82 5/6 points to win the meet. Second place Idaho scored 54 1/2 and Chico 23 3/4.

The next home meet will be on May 2 when Nevada hosts San Francisco State.

The Wolf Pack will face College of the Pacific tomorrow at Stockton, Calif.

Net Team Drops Practice Sessions

Nevada netmen have suffered two defeats in non-league play.

College of Pacific won 7-0 in a match early this week. Against Nevada was the 93-degree temperature at Stockton, California.

Handing the Wolf Pack its second defeat was Lamar Tech of Texas. Their team holds the national small-college championship, and two Davis cup men from Basil aided them considerably.

In league matches, Nevada will face the California Aggies today and Humboldt State tomorrow. Both matches are at Chico.

Coach Bob Laughter states that competition will be more keen and that Nevada stands a good chance of showing well.

Pete Ezevich, Jim Randall, John Brown, Lee Anderson, and Ken Gray will attempt wins for Nevada.

Intramural Baseball Contests Underway

Sigma Nu, Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Phi Epsilon posted victories in the first week of intramural baseball.

Sigma Nu massed 18 runs in just two innings to defeat Theta Chi 18-3 on Monday. Both teams agreed to call the game in the second inning after Sigma Nu took a 15-run margin early in the game.

ATO shut out Sigma Alpha Epsilon 8-0 Tuesday and the Independents were defeated by the Sig Eps 8-6 Wednesday.

Next week's schedule calls for SAE to play the Independents on April 13, Theta Chi vs. Sig Eps on the 14, Lambda Chi vs. the Independents on the 15, SN vs. SAE on the 16, and ATO will be pitted against the Independents on the 17.

All games are scheduled to be played on Field 2 at Idlewild park at 4 o'clock.

World Record Broken! Forty-one Nevada Students In One Phone Booth!

Forty-one students literally piled into a standard green telephone booth on campus at noon today, unofficially setting a new world record for the number of persons fitting into a telephone booth.

One student answered the ringing telephone and talked with the party on the other end of the line, fulfilling the one unwritten rule of the telephone booth staffers.

The University of Nevada booth staffers smashed an unofficial record set just last night by a group of students at a University in Rome, Italy, who managed to pile 36 into a booth.

The new springtime campus stunt has replaced the party-raids of previous years at universities and colleges throughout the world.

The record was broken when the booth was in a horizontal position, but the Nevada students also were able to crack the unofficial record for persons crowding into a booth while it stood in a vertical position.

Twenty-eight Nevada students stacked themselves in the unusual "public utility," as it stood upright to crack the unofficial record of 22 set by a college in Modesto, California.

More than one hundred and fifty students stood by in awe as the record-smashing students piled themselves inside the booth in front of the Jot Travis Student Union.

Placing the booth on campus for the stunt was part of Sigma Alpha Epsilon's attempt at campaigning for their candidate for ASUN president.

"We think the booth should be placed in a museum," said one of the slightly-battered students, "but we have not decided which institution would be appropriate."

Student ME's To Take Field Trip

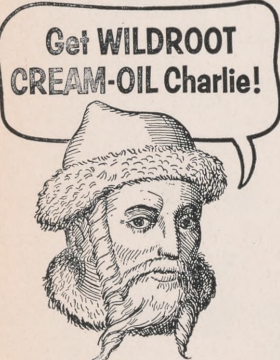

Six atomic power and research plants will be visited by seven University of Nevada mechanical engineering students on the Annual Mechanical Engineering field trip between April 7 and May 1.

The senior students go to the various California installations to gain practical knowledge about the research, the assembly lines, and the executive branch of engineering.

At Sunnyvale they will visit the Westinghouse plant, and Lockheed Aircraft. At the two plants they will see missile and turbine research, rocket engineering, an electric generating station, and other electrical components.

The group will also go to the United States Steel plant at Pittsburgh, the Pacific Gas and Electric plant at Vallecitos, the Ames Research Center at Moffett Field, and Ford Motor Company assembly plant in San Jose.

They call it "legal tender," That green and crackling stuff. It's tender when you have it, But when you don't, it's tough.

J. GUTENBERG, bookmaker, says: "If you want hair that's neat, not greasy, you're just the type for Wildroot!"

No Bonfire, No Police, No Trouble

There was no bonfire, neither the police nor the fire department showed up, and more than two hundred students did attend, to dance to the music of Dave Hansen's Playboys at the Phi Sigma Kappa street dance Monday night.

West Seventh Street, between North Virginia and Sierra, was blocked off for the dancing. Refreshments were served.

The fire department refused to grant a permit for the bonfire. Last year the Phi Sigs had a large bonfire, but firemen invaded the affair and extinguished the blaze.

The dance was so successful that the members of Phi Sig have decided to repeat the performance next Monday night.

Nine Initiated Into Sigma Pi Sigma

Nine new members were initiated into Sigma Pi Sigma, national physics honor society, in ceremonies held in the Home Economics building at 4 p.m. on Thursday April 2.

Initiates are Dr. David F. Dickinson, Dr. Clifton R. Blincoe, Joseph J. Boyajian, Joseph F. Cuny, Carl Edward Fisher, Paul Freedman, Olaf J. Leifson, Benjamin Piper, and Edwin F. Wagner.

Twenty-three persons attended the buffet dinner held that evening at the Villa Roma, on highway 40 outside of Reno. Guest speaker was Dr. R. G. Breen Jr., a consultant physicist, who spoke on the problems in basic scientific research that face persons engaged in ballistic missile research. Dr. Breen formerly worked for the missiles and space development division of General Electric's aero science laboratories.

John Darrach, Sigma Pi Sigma president, was toastmaster for the evening.

Attend Press Meet

President Charles Armstrong and two faculty members from the department of journalism took part in the program of the 34th annual convention of the Nevada State Press association. It was held in Las Vegas.

President Armstrong presented the Community Service award.

A. L. Higginbotham, professor of journalism and outgoing president of the association, presided over the convention.
