Fifteen Faculty Members Receive Raise in Ranking

Fifteen faculty members of the University of Nevada were promoted last week by the Board of Regents at a Las Vegas meeting.

Named as full professors were associate professors G. A. Broten, Russell P. Elliott, Richard E. Larson, J. Craig Sheppard and John Winston.

Dr. Broten holds a doctorate in education and is director of health, physical education and recreation. He has been a college instructor for 13 years.

Elliott is a history and political science expert and has been an associate professor for five years.

Larson has been an associate professor for six years and a member of the geology department staff.

Sheppard has been a college instructor for 15 years and an associate professor for the last seven.

Winston, a metallurgist and associate professor for four years, holds a master's degree in science.

All holding doctorates, these men advanced to associate professorship: Dr. Richard G. Orcutt, engineering; Dr. James S. Roberts, history; Dr. Fred Ryser, Jr., biology; Dr. Robert N. Thompson, mathematics; Dr. Howard J. Weeth, animal husbandry; and Coach Glenn (Jake) Lawlor, physical education. Lawlor was also

Carl Sandberg To Be At Commencement

President Charles J. Armsrong has announced that poet-philosopher Carl Sandberg will be the featured speaker at commencement exercises for the University of Nevada on June 1.

Theme of the 1959 commencement will be an observance of the Lincoln Sesquicentennial, marking the 150th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth.

President Armstrong said, "The University of Nevada is signally honored that Mr. Sandberg is to be our commencement speaker. As a foremost authority on Abraham Lincoln, his presence here will be doubly significant because of Lincoln's role in admitting Nevada into the Union during the Civil War."

Nevada was admitted as a state in 1864 by special order of President Lincoln, so that the wealth of its Virginia City mines could bolster Union finances. Nevada's state constitution is the only one ever telegraphed to Washington, at a cost of over $3,000.

Sandberg, a Pulitzer prize winner for poetry, is the author of seven volumes on Lincoln. He received the Gold Medal for History from the American Academy of Arts and Letters, and the Silver Medal from the New York Civil War Roundtable. This year, also in observance of the Lincoln Sesquicentennial, he addressed a joint session of Congress on February 12.

The 81-year-old poet-philosopher-historian-novelist is the author of 28 volumes of poems, histories, and novels, including "Chicago Poems," "Corn Huskers," "Chicago Race Riots," "Smoke and Steel," "Slabs of the Sunburnt West," "New American Song Bag," and "Always the Young Strangers." In addition to his novels on Lincoln ("The Prairie Years," "The War Years," "Collector") he co-authored two

Hand Wrought Traditional Mace To Be Presented To President

Highlighting the inauguration ceremonies for Dr. Charles J. Armstrong as tenth president of the University of Nevada will be the presentation of a mace—symbolic standard of authority—as a gift from the Alumni association.

During the ceremony, scheduled for April 19, the mace will be presented to the University Board of Regents by Gene McKenna, president of the Alumni Association. Dr. Louis A. Lombardi, vice-chairman of the board, will make the acceptance and, symbolic of vesting authority, will present the mace to Dr. Armstrong.

The University has extended an invitation to the general public to attend the inaugural ceremonies. A colorful academic procession will precede the actual inauguration in the campus gymnasium at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Clayton Phillips, chairman of the alumni executive committee that drafted the plans and gathered the materials for the mace, said its origin is traced to medieval times when it was developed as a weapon to crush armor. Later, it fell into use as a ceremonial herald maintained by the heads of the noble families of Europe, rulers, and institutional dignitaries.

The mace is being designed and made of native Nevada materials by the University art department under the supervision of Professor J. Craig Sheppard, chairman of the department. The finished product will be a hand-wrought silver sphere mounted on a Nevada mountain mahogany staff tipped with silver. The sphere is to be encircled with a band of thirteen Carson City silver dollars, representing the 13 years of coining silver in the Nevada capitol. It will be topped with a cross, also fashioned from silver.

The mace will be permanently maintained in the President's office in historic Morrill hall.

Jim Santini, senior class president, recently announced some graduation reminders. The deadline for the $8.00 diploma fee has been extended until Friday, April 24.

Measurements for graduation caps and gowns are being taken in the Y.W.C.A. office of the Jot Travis Student Union building. Applications for graduation are to be filled out and handed in to the registrar's office.

Colorful Campaign Ends As Elections Held Wednesday

Dan Sobrio was elected student-body president in the general elections Wednesday, when he defeated George Allison by 64 votes.

Climaxing a two-week period of noisy and colorful candidates' campaigns, 1034 University of Nevada students went to the polls. Sobrio, Phi Sigma Kappa, received 575 votes and Allison, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, received 511.

"I am looking forward to greater unity for the student body in the coming year," Sobrio said shortly after the returns were in. A beerbust was held for all University students by his fraternity in celebration of Sobrio's victory. Two students were arrested when Reno police broke up the noisy beer party.

When asked about Sobrio's election win, Dick Bryan, ASUN president, said: "I am looking forward to working closely with Dan and orienting him in his duties."

"His ability as a speaker will inspire the student body to support his proposals," said Bryan.

Jim Megquier, Sigma Nu, received 720 votes for junior men's senator-at-large, defeating Charles "Chuck" Thomas, Sigma Phi Epsilon, who received 304 votes. By Sagebrush press time Megquier was unavailable for comment.

Lynn Walsh, Delta Delta Delta, was elected junior women's senator-at-large when she received 584 votes, defeating Karen Decker, Pi Beta Phi, who received 440 votes.

Shortly after the elections, Miss Walsh said: "As a senator-at-large I believe in representing the entire student body, including independent students."

The senior class president race was won by Charles "Chuck" Walker, Alpha Tau Omega, when he recorded 126 votes, defeating Jud Samon, Sigma Nu, who received 114 votes.

Benny Echeverria, Lambda Chi Alpha, won the junior class presidency, defeating Doug Salter, Sigma Nu, who received 69 votes.

Beer Bust Winds Up Being Just Complete Bust

The all-school beer bust Wednesday evening turned out to be just that—a bust.

The "party," celebrating the election of Dan Sobrio earlier in the day, began shortly before 7 p.m. with two kegs going full blast for the rapidly congregating crowd of students at Virginia lake.

By 7:30 one of the taps was out of commission, and the remaining tap was mobbed by thirsty collegians. Some students, tired of fighting the mob for some brew, took matters into their own hands and started to make off with kegs that were at the scene.

More than two hundred students were mobbing the place by eight o'clock. And each and every one of them seemed to be after one thing—beer.

The situation was decidedly out of hand by 8:15. The one flowing keg had been moved onto a picnic table. The picnic table that the keg was on and an adjoining table gave way shortly thereafter under the weight of a horde of well-lubricated students.

The police arrived at the scene shortly thereafter and were greeted with enthusiasm of a sort. The few policemen there hastily decided to proceed with a tactical withdrawal, a retreat, taking with them two students who were jailed as being intoxicated.

Shortly before 8:30 the last tap was pulled from an almost empty keg and was spirited away from the scene by the student who had (Continued on Page 10)

Delta Sigma To Hold Spring Formal

Lambda Delta Sigma will hold its annual spring formal this evening at the L.D.S. Institute of Religion. "Underwater Rendezvous" is the theme of the annual affair. Decorations will consist of shipwrecks, seahorses, and mermaids.

Preceding the dance, eight women and eight men pledges will be initiated into the coeducational fraternity.

Light refreshments will be served and a floor show will be staged by members of the group. The dance will take place between 9:00 and 12:00.

Living Groups To Have Formal Dance

University coeds residing in the two halls on campus will hold their annual spring formal tomorrow night at Lawton Springs resort.

"Bewitching Spring" is the theme of the Artemisia-Manzanita sponsored affair. Music will be provided by Dan Porter's band, stated Betty Edmondson, chairman of the dance.

Library Week Is Observed at UN

An invitation to survey the University of Nevada library and to use it to its fullest extent was extended to University students by James J. Hill, director of the Nevada library. This invitation was extended in conjunction with National Library week, which is being celebrated from April 12-18.

Mr. Hill stated that many of the University students are failing to take advantage of the opportunities their library offers.

The Nevada library contains some 4,368 books which are classified as general works. In addition it has 11,976 bound periodicals and many not yet bound. There are nearly 83,000 other bound books which deal in specialized subjects such as philosophy, religion, language and the like.

The theme for national library week is "Wake Up and Read." been operating it. Those around the keg were too interested in getting

Editorial

It was announced last week that Glenn "Jake" Lawlor was giving up his job as basketball coach at the University and would move up to the position of athletic director. The coaching vacancy will be filled soon, but it will take some time before a man of Coach Lawlor's caliber can be found.

Coach Jake has become a tradition during his fifteen seasons with the Wolf Pack at Nevada. He has become tremendously popular with the fans as well as the players of the game. His actions on the bench have drawn as much attention as the great teams he has developed.

While Nevada has suffered through losing streaks on the football field, Mr. Lawlor has never failed to field a squad of championship caliber.

With all due respect, we can say Coach Lawlor has not been a good loser. He has shown he can take defeat in stride, but it is apparent he and his teams have been out only to win. He's shown the ability to instill in his players a winning spirit. That's all that can be asked of any coach.

"Jake" Lawlor will be missed on the basketball court next season. —db

The American woman has gained fame throughout the world in this century for successfully venturing into such formerly-masculine activities as sports, politics, and the armed forces.

Usually when she decides to explore a new-found male activity the American woman does it with so much zest that we now have women athletic champions, congresswomen, and top women military commanders.

The men still have a few all-masculine strongholds left, however, as there are few feminine leaders in pro football, the labor unions, and the combat regiments of the Marine Corps.

One such masculine stronghold was challenged last week at the University of Nevada. At a beerbust formerly dominated by the men, the women managed to have a special line formed, starting at the front of the men's line. While the males grumbled over their thirst, the women's cups were being filled aplenty.

Could it be that the weaker sex will soon take over the beerbust too?

DEAR MR. EDITOR AND FELLOW STUDENTS:

May I say that being elected ASUN President is the greatest honor of my life. I would like to express my heartfelt thanks to each and every one of you for your cooperation and support. I realize that my gratitude can best be expressed by assuring you that I will work tirelessly to achieve the goals set forth in my campaign.

We should look forward to next year because it will be one of the most eventful years in University history. I have confidence that we will succeed in doing our part to insure a better future for our students and University.

Sincerely,

DAN SOBRIO

More Elections

for the office of sophomore class president when he recorded 226 votes to Cate's 215.

The polls were jammed in the Jot Travis Student Union when 449 freshmen, 250 sophomores, 250 juniors and 135 seniors turned out to vote. The voting machines used last week in the primary were again made available by Washoe county.

"Using the machines this time was easier than in the primary election," said Jean Rivkin, elections board chairman. "The students were familiar with the voting procedures and the elections went smoothly."

Election results were officially announced minutes after the polls were closed. A crowd of about two hundred students waited in the coffee-shop for the much anticipated announcement.

The newly elected officers, including Pat Reynolds, recently elected AWS president, will take office officially on May 15. They will speak before the student body at an assembly that evening. Outgoing officers are also expected to speak.

The election campaigns were described as the most colorful in years at the University. Banners and signs proclaiming the merits of candidates were displayed all through the campus. One of the signs was a mechanically operated lion and another gained attention for its likeness to the Reno arch downtown.

A colorful torchlight parade was held by one fraternity as its members toured the sororities and halls introducing its candidates. Another fraternity was equipped with a jazz band when it visited the women's groups. About three hundred students danced the "bunny hop" in front of three sorority houses as the band's music blared away.

A street dance was held during another fraternity's campaign for its candidate. Sorority women went to the fraternities introducing their candidates, serenading the men and passing out cigars. Each candidate dined with the living groups and presented his platform for the office he sought.

On the day of the general elections the campaigns reached a peak when motor boats sped over the waters of Manzanita lake and booths were set up on campus giving away lemonade and cookies. One fraternity group drove a fire engine through the campus roaring the siren and shouting its candidate's qualification through a sound system.

UN Delegates To Model United Nations

Three Nevada students will be representing Venezuela next week at this year's Pacific Coast Model United Nations conference. The site of the conference will be the campus of the University of Southern California.

Cathy Arentz, Kim Miller, and

Don O'Donnell will be accompanied to the conference by Dr. Harold N. Brown, professor of education. "This year we'll be having a smaller delegation than in the past, but I feel that Nevada will be well represented," said O'Donnell, who is serving as delegation chairman.

Old Stewart Hall Closed by Regents; Many Other Buildings Need Repair

The University of Nevada Board of Regents voted to close down ancient Stewart hall after students were forced to flee from the building in a recent earthquake.

This, however, does not mean students will get out of class, as space is being found on the campus for those displaced by this order.

The 70-year-old structure has already been vacated, except for the first floor, which will be evacuated as soon as adequate space is found on the campus.

An immediate study of other old buildings on the University campus was ordered by the regents.

James Rogers, University engineer, stated that there are seven buildings on the Nevada campus which are unsafe.

Morrill hall is listed by Rogers as being in as bad shape as Stewart hall. Rogers' office reports that the "old agriculture" building—now known as the Humanities building—needs fire escapes, as does the Mackay school of mines and the electrical engineering structure.

The University asked the 1957 legislature for money to replace the hall, but the request was turned down.

This year's legislature was asked to appropriate money for the planning of a new building which would house the journalism department as well as the political science and history departments, the post office and some psychology classes. The bid was refused by the legislators.

The regents' move may stimulate the legislature into action on the proposed building.

Jack Bonner, of the state attorney general's office, said he considered the situation serious enough that the regents should ask Governor Grant Sawyer to call a special session of the legislature.

Stewart hall was originally built as a women's dormitory and dining hall in 1889. The structure cost approximately $20,000, which was contributed mostly by citizens of Nevada by donations.

200 Fellowships Are Available

Two hundred fellowships for graduate study in 15 foreign countries will be offered by foreign governments and universities through the Institute of International Education for the academic year 1960-61.

The Institute announced recently that applications for the fellowships will be available on May 1 and will be accepted until November 1, 1959.

The scholarships cover tuition and varying amounts of maintenance in universities in Austria, Denmark, France, Germany, Iran, Israel, Italy, the Netherlands, Sweden, Switzerland, Canada, Brazil and Mexico. Students applying for Italian university awards or Austrian, Danish, French, German or Netherlands Government awards may apply for a Fulbright travel grant to supplement their scholarships. Two additional awards, offered by an American foundation, are for any country in the Far East, South or Southeast Asia and Africa.

General eligibility requirements are United States citizenship, a Bachelor's degree or its equivalent before departure, language ability sufficient to carry on the proposed study, and good health. A good academic record and demonstrated capacity for independent study are also necessary. Preference is given to applicants under 35 years of age who have not had extensive foreign experience. While married persons are eligible for most of the above described awards, the stipends are geared to the needs of single grantees.

For further information and application forms, prospective applicants should write to the Information and Counseling Division, Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th Street, New York 21, N. Y., or to any of the Institute's regional offices.

Kitty Tilman Prom Queen

Kathleen "Kitty" Tilman, Independent, was crowned queen of the Junior Prom last Saturday night. John Madariaga, junior class president, officiated at the coronation. He presented Miss Tilman with a tiara and roses.

The honor court, formed by the queen candidates, received bracelets. Members of the court were: JoAnn Todd, Pi Beta Phi; Diann Coate, Delta Delta Delta; Carolyn Brown, Gamma Phi Beta; and Gay Brennan, Kappa Alpha Theta.

After the coronation Madariaga led the queen in a dance in which the honor court and their escorts joined.

Big balloons floating near the ceiling of the Sky Room of the Mapes hotel trailed long strings of confetti. Table decorations were smaller balloons and curls of confetti.

The dance was crowded. Estimates of the number of couples range from one hundred fifty to two hundred.

At the prom Miss Tilman wore a printed sheath and long white gloves.

Student Union Is Putting on Show

If you have a date this Thursday evening and you are short of cash, the speech and drama department and the Jot Travis Student Union have a program that will interest you.

Each Thursday evening current movies are shown in the education auditorium and the only admission is a student-body card. The movies begin at 8 p.m.

More than one hundred persons showed up at one of the recent movies said Bill Adams, student union board chairman.

New High Detail Map of Sparks and Surrounding Terrain Is Available

A large-scale topographic map showing the area from Sparks east to Mustang and north to include most of Spanish Springs Valley is now available to the public as the result of a cooperative program between the Nevada Bureau of Mines and the U. S. Geological Survey.

Dr. Vernon E. Scheid, director of the Nevada Bureau of Mines, University of Nevada, Reno, said the map is part of a new seven-and-a-half minute series planned for various areas of the state.

The new map is known as "Vista, Nev.," and may be purchased for 30 cents a copy through the following agents within Nevada: Lake Mead Natural History Association, Boulder City; Sarrett Office Equipment, Las Vegas; A. Carlisle and Co., Reno; and Brundige's, Reno.

Area covered by the map extends from Sixth Street in Sparks to about seven miles east of the city, and from near the Truckee River north about nine miles.

This map is printed on a scale of 2,000 feet to the inch, a size particularly useful in city and regional planning, road construction, and irrigation projects, Dr. Scheid said. The map shows contour intervals of 20 feet.

Job Interviews

Job interviews for senior students in the fields of mechanical engineering, mining, sales and marketing and industrial engineering will be conducted by the Owens-Illinois Company.

Hawaiian Firm Offering Island Orchids Direct by Mail

It's always springtime in Hawaii: At least, that's what the Hawaiians say. To bolster this statement a company in Hawaii, "South Pacific Orchids," is offering Nevadans an imported sniff of the islands—orchids. Called a "50th State Special," they are offering corsages for $3.95 a copy, shipped airmail special delivery from Honolulu. Guaranteed to arrive in perfect condition, the cost of each orchid includes shipping charges. The particular attraction of orchids may be lost on the males, but it's a safe bet that the female of the species will glower more than somewhat at her escort if she's the only one in the crowd not fastooned with one. And at these prices it looks as if the fiftieth state will force all but the ost dedicated skinflint to ante up.

Many Student Union Committees Have Openings for Working Members

Positions on six Jot Travis Student Union committees are open for University of Nevada students interested in taking a closer part in campus activities.

Bill Adams, Student Union board chairman, announced this week that positions are open with art, games, hospitality, publicity, house and dance committees. Those interested should contact Adams in the Student Union building.

"Persons signing up should be interested in planning activities for the students that will take place in the Jot Travis Student Union," Adams said. The positions are available for the rest of this semester and for next year, he added.

The art committee arranges for art exhibits in the student union and is now headed by DeAnn McGowan.

The games committee schedules chess, pool, shuffleboard and card tournaments for University students which are held in the Student Union.

The hospitality committee acts as hosts to visitors to the Student Union and gained recognition earlier this semester when its members greeted the Russian ski team during its visit to the campus. Carol Wagner is chairman.

The publicity committee, headed by David Hansen, publicizes the Student Union activities in the Reno newspapers and the SAGBRUSH and will soon be placing photographs of student union activities on bulletin boards in the building.

The house committee makes recommendations to the other committees about possible activities to take place in the Student Union. Its members also sit in on other committee meetings. Jim Sloan is chairman.

The dance committee arranges for student dances to be held in the building and will buy records for hi-fi phonograph that will soon be purchased, according to Adams. Susan Peterson and Dennis Jones are co-chairmen.

Old Flag Pole Is To Remain Awhile

"Although some students of the University of Nevada think otherwise, the old flag pole in front of Morrill hall will not be taken down for some time," said Carl M. Horn, superintendent of buildings and grounds.

About two months ago seven University of Nevada students decided that the old flag pole should be taken down. As they started to saw the pole down, the night watchman noticed the unusual activity and ran them off.

The seven "lumberpacks" were not punished because Mr. Horn attributes the action to "devilment."

The pole cannot be taken down now, because the fire alarm wires are attached to the pole. It will be taken down as soon as the underground cable alarm system is installed.

Mr. Horn commented that he would be happy to let the seven students saw down the pole as soon as an underground cable alarm system is installed.

More Promotions

Promoted to assistant professor were Mabel L. Hartley, agricultural economist; Harold Vincent, chemist; LeGrand Walker, animal husbandry; and Robert J. Laughler, physical education. Laughter will advance when he receives his doctorate this June.

All promotions were proposed by department chairmen, recommended by the dean, and seconded by the academic committee and vice president.

The regents accepted the resignation of Carl M. Horn, effective in July. Horn is superintendent of buildings and grounds. Horn is retiring under the state program.

Robert W. Dean was employed as assistant professor of music for the coming year. He will replace Frederick Freeburne, who will not return.

W. G. Stucky, associate director of the agricultural extension service, and James F. Kidwell, associate professor of animal husbandry, resigned.

James E. Hunter was raised to professional status after serving with the animal husbandry department in a technical status.

Waneta A. Wittler resigned as extension home agent leader.

Myron G. Ochshorn was employed as an instructor in English. Ochshorn will replace Dolores Barracano who will not return.

Mary F. Frazier was appointed as a technical assistant in the evening division office.

28 men into a telephone booth (not the one in the Education building) last week, setting a new world record. Using London rules, the SAE's pulled the stunt on the lawn in front of the new Jot Travis student union. Switching to Roman rules (phone booth in horizontal position) another record was set when 41 SAE's crowded into the small utility booth.

Electrical Engineers Will Present Program to Las Vegas Gathering

Sixteen electrical engineering students from the University of Nevada, who are on their twelfth annual inspection trip, will present a technical program to Boulder

City engineers tomorrow in southern Nevada.

The senior students left the campus yesterday at noon. They will spend today and part of tomorrow touring various installations, and Saturday afternoon they will present a program before the Boulder City section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

The student program will feature five talks by students: Stanley R. Jones, Gordon G. Osborne, Lawrence G. Brunetti, Hugo E. Gundelfinger, and Richard A. Hughes.

The first speaker, Stan Jones, will talk on "The Hall Effect—A Modern Rediscovery." Gordy Osborne will speak about "The Imagination and the Engineer," and Larry Brunetti will follow with "An Example of Engineering Precision."

Hugo Gundelfinger will be the fourth speaker, and his talk will be on "A D.C. Transformer." The final talk will be presented by Richard Hughes, and he will speak of mathematics.

Before their own presentation, the students will visit the Edgerton, Germeshausen and Grier laboratories in Las Vegas, the Stauffer Chemical Company in Henderson, the steam plant of the Southern Nevada Power Company at Lake Mead, and they will also visit Hoover Dam.

Students who are taking the trip besides the speakers are Max L. Jones, Carl E. Fisher, Tom F. Ormsby, Joe R. Ortiz, Richard C. Richards, Tom W. Seabury, Jack R. Sorenson, Gary M. Soule, James B. Taylor, William N. Viani, and Tom W. Woodhall.

Also, two staff members will accompany the students: Assistant Professor Henry Domingos and Instructor Glen Clark.

Hartman Recipient Of Prize at Tucson

"It wasn't really much of anything," said Mr. Robert L. Hartman, when asked about his success in winning a prize at the Tucson Festival Art Show.

Mr. Hartman's painting, "Gathering," was one of the prize winners entered in the Tucson, Arizona, exhibit.

Paintings in the show were by southwestern artists from Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada, Colorado, Utah and Texas. Eighty-two paintings were entered from a selection of over three hundred submitted for the show. Two of Mr. Hartman's paintings were exhibited.

Judge for the show was Frederick S. Wight, director of art galleries at UCLA.

Mr. Hartman, assistant professor of art at the University, explained his painting as a non-figurative type. He said, "I guess it could be classified as abstract, but I don't like to use that term."

The editorial staff of the SAGEBRUSH went into a violent argument as to what filler should be used for this hole. No satisfactory agreement was reached.

IT WAS FUN, unless you were one of the students on the bottom during the record-setting booth stuffing stunt pulled by the SAE's. The men on the bottom grimaced in pain as they supported many pounds of fraternity brothers, estimated by SAE Bill Adams to be about 2,000 pounds. Adams himself did not enter the booth. It is generally conceded he could scarcely get into the booth by himself.

High School Forensic Tournament To Be Staged at University of Nevada

Eleven schools have entered the April 27-28 High School Forensic Tournament and two more schools have tentatively entered.

All of the schools present will enter the oratorical contest. Seven of the schools will be represented in the extempore contest, and 10 schools will enter the dramatic interpretation contest. There will be a total of 62 contestants.

Dr. Robert S. Griffin, chairman of the speech department, will be in charge of the debate and oratory contests. Dr. William C. Miller is tournament director and will be supervisor of the extemporaneous speaking contests. They will be assisted by Dr. Bernard Anderson of the speech department, and Mrs. David Williams of the secretarial staff.

President Charles J. Armstrong will be the host at a luncheon for coaches and contestants Tuesday, April 28, at 12:30 p.m. in the dining hall.

Students from classes in public speaking, interpretation, and debate will act as judges.

High schools entered are Carson, Lassen County of Susanville, Eureka County, Moapa Valley, Basic of Henderson, Bishop Gorman of Las Vegas, White Pine of Ely, Reno, Sparks, Rancho of Las Vegas, and Panaca of Lincoln County.

Civil Service Jobs Are Being Offered

Over four hundred jobs are being offered to college seniors by the Federal Civil Service. There is a critical need for personnel for federal activities in Nevada and California.

Applications to take the Federal Service entrance examination must be filed before April 23. The actual test will be May 9, and it will be open to all college majors.

The majority of the job openings will be professional, management, technical or administrative.

Applications and further information may be obtained from the college placement office.

$250,000 Grant from Jot Travis Estate May Mean Student Union Addition

A new addition to the Jot Travis Student Union may be built by the University of Nevada if the state matches $50,000 awarded to the University from a trust fund of the Jot Travis estate.

Of the $600,000 building fund for the present student union, $300,000 was given to the University by the Jot Travis estate and the other half was matched by the state.

University regents recently voted to have the attorney general asked if the matching fund agreement between the state and the Jot Travis fund still holds.

The recent $250,000 donation was awarded to the University when one of the beneficiaries of the Travis estate, Mrs. Hannah Travis Fulton, died. A sum of $750,000, left in trust for her will be divided among the other beneficiaries, with the University of Nevada's share amounting to 30 percent.

The proposed site of the student union addition is the northwest corner of the present building, extending toward Lincoln hall, according to Bill Adams, student board chairman.

"A new building approximately the same size as the present student union could be built for approximately $400,000," Adams estimated. Many of the facilities in the present building would not be included in the new branch, making the total cost lower, he said.

Plans for blueprints and construction are now under consideration, Adams said. Blue printing will probably take place this summer and construction might begin in late summer or early fall, he speculated.

The new building might include a six-lane bowling alley, a browsing room with current best-sellers, a stereo-hi-fi room and records, several committee meeting rooms, offices for campus committee chairmen and six hotel-type rooms for persons visiting the campus, Adams speculated.

"Early next fall the student union board will poll the students to find out what they would want included in the new building," Adams said.

Jot Travis, an early Nevada pioneer who died in September, played an important part in Nevada mining, ranching and transportation.

Comstock Stomp Atmosphere To Be Reminiscent of Old Virginia City

The golden days of the Comstock era will be relived tonight when Phi Sigma Kappa presents its annual Comstock Stomp at the Del Monte guest ranch from 9 p.m. through midnight.

Couples will be dressed in western costumes typifying the Comstock era of the 1850's in Virginia City. The guest ranch will be decorated like an old time saloon, with wagon wheels, spittoons, and roulette wheels.

Two special attractions of the dance are the garter check at the door for the girls, and a can-can dance to be held some time during the evening.

Charley Meyerson's Swinging Shepherds will furnish the music.

Guests will include Doctor and Mrs. Willard Day, Professor John Gottardi, and Professor and Mrs. Asher Wilson.

Special Puzzle Contest Opened

A special crossword puzzle contest, featuring 627 prizes and exclusive to college personnel, will be presented by Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company — makers of Chesterfield, L&M and Oasis cigarettes, starting this week. Only students and faculty members of accredited colleges and universities are eligible to compete for the 627 prizes.

The grand prizes in the Liggett & Myers contest are two 1959 Rambler "Americans." There are 25 second prizes of Columbia Stereophonic Hi-Fi sets, 100 third prizes of Emerson Transistor radios and 500 fourth prizes of cartons of Chesterfields, L&M or Oasis cigarettes.

Contestants have only to complete one simple crossword puzzle to win the contest. Only one entry is necessary to win, but there is no limit to the number of entries a person is permitted to make. The crossword puzzle will be available in special Liggett & Myers ads in the SAGEBRUSH and also on entry blanks available on special displays where cigarettes are sold.

Entries must be accompanied by six empty package wrappers (all the same brand) from the contestant's favorite type of cigarette: king or regular Chesterfield, king box or regular L&M filter or Menthol-Mild Oasis filter cigarettes. Entries must be mailed to Liggett & Myers, P. O. Box 271, New York 46, N. Y., before midnight, Friday, May 29th.

April 18-19 Dates For Inauguration Of Dr. Armstrong

Ceremonies inaugurating Dr. Charles H. Armstrong as the president of the University of Nevada will be held on the campus April 18-19. The new president is expected to outline his philosophy of education and state his plans for the future of the University.

Armstrong is the tenth president of the 75-year-old University.

President Armstrong will be presented with a mace, created by Craig Sheppard, chairman of the University art department. It will be a gift to Armstrong from the University alumni association. The staff is symbolic of the continuance of learning and improvement at the University of Nevada. Dr. Louis Lombardi, acting chairman of the University board of regents, will present the mace to the new president.

The president, the university faculty, representatives from other Universities, alumni, and guests will join in a procession through the University campus, at 10 a.m. Sunday.

Following the official inauguration ceremony, a reception will be held in the new Jot Travis student union building, where the public may meet and talk with Armstrong.

Guest speakers will be presented at a luncheon to be held in the Sky Room of the Mapes hotel at 1 p.m. on Sunday.

Feature speaker will be Meredith O. Wilson, president of the University of Oregon. He will talk about the universities, colleges, and other learned societies of America. Dick Bryan, student body president, will present the views of the Nevada students.

Representing the faculty will be Charles Fleming of the agricultural experiment station at Nevada. Addressing the group for the alumni will be Peter Echeverria, a Nevada state senator.

Views of the Nevada state department of education will be given by Raymond A. McGuire, director of curriculum for the state.

Mayor Len Harris of Reno will represent the city of Reno.

Governor Grant Sawyer will coordinate the views of the guest speakers when he talks for the state of Nevada in its entirety.

Chairman of the inauguration ceremonies is Dr. Alex Dandini, professor of foreign languages at Nevada. Dr. Kathryn Duffy of the business department is secretary of the committee.

Three and a Half Million Dollars Appropriated for UN Improvements

The Nevada legislature, which adjourned recently, gave the University of Nevada some three and a half million dollars for construction and improvements on the Reno campus.

The largest single appropriation was $2,572,912 for the construction of a new library.

The library is to be constructed behind the infirmary, and should be finished around September of 1961, according to Brian Whalen, assistant university engineer.

A library committee, composed of University faculty members, is now investigating plans for a new library. The committee, headed by James J. Hill, director of the University library, hopes to have its recommendations ready some time this month.

The University has allotted $150,000 for the purchase of property for the University. It is then planned tentatively to buy the property north of the site for the new fine arts building.

The legislature also appropriated $118,800 for the designing and planning of a new engineering building. The engineering building was reported as being in poor condition in recent University accreditation reports.

The College of Agriculture received $302,000; $130,000 will be used for the construction of a new greenhouse, and $172,000 for the farm agriculture mechanic shop.

The new greenhouse will be built beside the present one, which is located north of the new agriculture building.

The design, construction and extension of University power and telephone lines will use up another $59,000, allowed by the lawmakers. This will include extensions for the fine arts building, the student union, and Ross hall, as well as the older buildings on campus.

The utilities will be put underground, both for preservation and to keep the campus beauty. The utility lines will run from between the Mackay science and electrical engineering buildings, across the quad, under Ross hall, past the Student Union and on past Lincoln hall to the new fine arts building.

The legislators did not forget the landscaping of the University campus altogether. Some $10,000 was allotted for this purpose. The majority of the landscaping will be done around the new agriculture building and the Student Union.

HIGGINBOTHAM TO "GO HOLLYWOOD"

Minus beret, sun glasses, cigarette holder and sports car, Professor A. L. Higginbotham, chairman of the University of Nevada department of journalism, will soon invade the southern California film industry.

"Higgy" this week revealed that he has been invited by Copley Productions, San Diego, California, to do a portion of the script-writing for a film tentatively titled "The Advantages of Working for a Newspaper." (Ed. Note: Are there any?)

N. L. Hazelip, manager of Copley, extended the invitation, noting "Higginbotham's many valuable talks that he has given before newspaper groups on how to attract more graduates to newspapers."

The educational film, to be produced some time this year, will show interested persons the many different sides of the newspaper industry.

'Brushfire' To Be Out End of Month

"Brushfire," the campus magazine, will return to the University of Nevada about the end of the month.

"The idea behind this magazine is to reflect the ideas, feelings, and reactions of the student," said Harold Robinson, editor of this year's publication.

The magazine this year will have a foreword by Nevada governor Grant Sawyer. It contains poetry, essays, short stories, and sketches by University students.

The art work is by Paul Jeffries. The cover will feature Virginia City.

A contributor to the magazine is Lucius Beebe, editor of the Virginia City Territorial Enterprise. Mr. Beebe will tell why he lives in Virginia City instead of a metropolis.

HARRY LAWTON, JR., received his B.S. in Physics at Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., in 1950, joining General Electric that same year. He received an M.S. degree in Management Engineering from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in 1958.

"Long-range programs are important — for both men and missiles"

"In a company dedicated to research and development, a young man's opportunities to learn more—to increase his technical skills—are almost unlimited," says 31-year-old Harry Lawton, Jr., a General Electric engineer engaged in the development of inertial guidance and fire-control systems for ballistic missiles. "And to maintain America's scientific leadership, we're going to need all the technical training and skills we can produce."

"An important aspect of my job at General Electric is the continuing opportunity to learn more. I've been able to continue my education in the company's Physics Program for college graduates. And I also have the advantage of association with top technical experts in my work. Opportunities like this have helped me realize that long-range programs are important—for both men and missiles."

Harry Lawton is one of several hundred technical graduates who are devoting their skills to the development of 14 government missile projects to which General Electric is a major contributor. More and more our scientific progress and our national security depend on men like this—men who bring high qualifications to their work and who continue their quest for knowledge, both on and off the job.

General Electric believes that individual initiative and career growth are essential to America's continued technological leadership. To this end, the company encourages all of its employees—including more than 30,000 college graduates—to develop to their fullest capabilities by providing opportunities for increasing knowledge and working skills.

Education Meeting Set Tomorrow

The University of Nevada High School Relations Committee will sponsor the second annual State Conference on Elementary, Secondary and Higher Education Services and Relationships tomorrow.

The program will begin at 10 a.m. in the College of Education auditorium and continue throughout the afternoon and evening.

Representation expected includes elementary and secondary school principals and supervisors, superintendents, members of the State Board of Education, Nevada Congress of Parents and Teachers, and the University Board of Regents.

The purpose of the conference is to discuss problems such as services provided by Nevada schools and the University in the improvement of the quality of instruction.

Other discussions will cover problems of instruction in reading, English, foreign languages, science and mathematics.

Several national leaders in the field of education have been invited as guest speakers for the conference.

Nevada Track Squad Takes Dual Meet From College of the Pacific

The University of Nevada track team took the measure of College of Pacific 73 to 57 in a dual meet held last Saturday at Stockton.

The visiting Wolf Pack won every running event but the 440-yard dash and the high hurdles, and showed depth in the field events as well.

Freshman Dick Strunk of Nevada won the century in 9.9 and came back to win the 220-yard dash in 21.4, only two seconds off his record-setting pace of the week before.

Dave Sharp, Nevada's ace miler, dropped down to run the half mile in addition to his specialty and took first place in both events. He ran the half mile in 2:02.6 and the mile in 4:36.9.

Another freshman for Nevada, Joe Eberle, showed very good form in winning the two-mile event in the time of 10:47.7.

Nevada took first and second in the pole vault when Dave Harris cleared 13 ft. 2 in. and Chris Nenzel came in second.

Rod Cook took a first for Nevada in the shot put with a toss of 45 ft. 2 in., and Mike Lommori captured the javelin event with a throw of 162 feet.

Final first of the day for Nevada was taken by Bob Challenger, another freshman, who ran the 220-yard low hurdles in 24.6.

Nevada's mile relay team had no competition, but ran an exhibition anyway, covering the distance in 3:43.1.

SPORTS

Kinnear Trophy Race Very Close; Could End in Tie

There is a possibility that Sigma Nu and Alpha Tau Omega may be tied in the final standings in the Kinnear trophy race. The rest of the groups participating in intramural sports have long since been outdistanced by both Sigma Nu and ATO.

The Taus have collected 420 points in the contest for possession of the Kinnear trophy. They received 100 in softball, 20 in basketball, 60 in volleyball, 40 in bowling, 60 for their efforts in the crosscountry run, 100 in track, and 40 in skiing.

Sigma Nu followed the Taus in the standings with a point total of 380. Sigma Nu massed this total from 40 points in softball, 100 in basketball, 40 in volleyball, 40 in the crosscountry run, 60 in bowling, 40 in track, and 60 in skiing competition.

If the Snakes should win the only remaining intramural sport—baseball—and the Taus were to take second, the result would be a tie in the Kinnear trophy race.

Other groups in the competition are well back of the two leaders. The third place Independents have a total of 205 points, Sigma Alpha Epsilon has 150, Lambda Chi has 40, Phi Sig has 10, and in last place is Theta Chi with 5.

With competition for the Kinnear trophy developing into a close two-way race, SN and ATO will be after a victory in baseball competition. For the Taus victory means possession of the Kinnear trophy. For the Snakes a victory means a tie in point totals and a chance to win the trophy in a playoff.

Wolf Pack Baseball Team Takes Two Conference Opening Games

The University of Nevada baseball team won its first two games in conference competition last Friday.

The Wolf Pack took the measure of the visiting Aggies from the University of California at Davis by scores of 7-5 and 10-1.

This gives Nevada an overall record of 3 wins and 1 loss for the season and gives the Mustangs record of 4 wins and 6 losses.

From the Davis campus a season's

In the first game, timely hitting for Nevada, coupled with Aggie miscues afield, combined to give the Wolf Pack the edge. The Mustangs scored twice in the fourth inning on three hits and two Nevada throwing errors, but the Wolf Pack stormed back in its half of the inning to score four runs on Bob Shoemaker's triple, and consecutive singles by Val York, Jim Whitaker and Roy Kidder, plus a sacrifice by Martin Summerbell, and a double by Ron Paolini.

The Mustangs scored another run in their half of the fifth inning but the Pack evened things up again when pinch-hitter Bill Clarke singled, continued to second on an out-field bobble and eventually stole home.

Nevada scored twice more in the sixth inning when Roy Kidder walked and stole home; Ron Paolini, alive on a fielder's choice, took second on an error by the infield and scored from there when the Aggie catcher threw the ball into center field.

Starting pitcher for Nevada, Tom Towle, was replaced by left-hander Roy Kidder in the sixth, who pitched two innings of good relief ball to wrap up the game for Nevada.

In the nightcap, right-handed pitcher Rusty D'Anna and infielder Jim Whitaker, both freshmen, put on a two-man show for Nevada. D'Anna went the route, allowing only one run on five scattered hits. Whitaker drove in six runs with an inside-the-park home run, a triple, and a single in four times at bat.

The Wolf Pack scored three runs in each of the first two innings. In the first, catcher Bob Peck led off with a walk, scoring later on an error, and a single by Bob Shoemaker. Clarke was walked and both men scored on Whitaker's single.

In the second inning, Peck once again got on, this time with a single. Shoemaker was safe on an error, Clarke banged out a single and Jim Gardner's sacrifice fly drove in the last of the three runs.

Clarke opened the Nevada fourth with a single and then Whitaker lined a ball to the fence in left center and slid home under the throw which was a split second too late and high.

In the sixth it was Clarke and Whitaker again as Clarke singled and Whitaker again got good wood on the ball, but was held up at third this time with a triple. The scoring ended when Whitaker got the last run for Nevada on Val York's sacrifice fly.

The Aggies threatened briefly in the seventh but D'Anna was lifted out of trouble as the Wolf Pack pulled off a double play to end the game.

Independents Top WRA Basketball

The Independents completed an undefeated season in the Women's recreation association basketball league.

Tuesday night's action brought the basketball competition to a close. Gamma Phi Beta forfeited to Kappa Alpha Theta, and the Independents won on a forfeit over Delta Delta Delta Tuesday.

Final standings:

	Won	Lost
Independents	7	0
Kappa Alpha Theta..	4	3

Trachok Appointed As Football Mentor

Dick Trachok, head football mentor at Reno high school, is to be the new football coach at the University of Nevada.

The Board of Regents, meeting in Las Vegas last week end, announced the appointment of Trachok to the post formerly held by Gordon McEachron, who resigned early this year.

Assisting Trachok will be Floyd Edsall, head coach at Sparks high school, whom the regents also have named to be the new freshman basketball coach.

Glenn "Jake" Lawlor, head basketball and baseball coach at Nevada for fifteen seasons, was elevated to the newly created post of director of intercollegiate athletics. He was also promoted to the rank of associate professor.

Lawlor was relieved of duties as head basketball coach, but will continue as head baseball coach.

Lawlor's new duties as director of intercollegiate athletics will include athletic scheduling, purchase of equipment and its care, arrangements for athletic road trips to include routes, lodging arrangements, etc.

Dr. Arthur Broten, head of the department of health, physical education, and recreation, as it has been newly renamed, was promoted to the rank of full professor and continues in his former capacity. He praised Lawlor's work at Nevada and said his new appointment "would clear lines of responsibility."

Trachok was a starting halfback on Nevada's all-time best team, the 1948 eleven that was once rated number three in the nation. After graduating as an outstanding student in 1949, he took over the coaching chores at Reno high and in ten seasons ran up a 70 won, 21 lost and three tied record that included six state championships.

He won the job over a field of outstanding candidates, which included Ray Clemmens, Sacramento Junior college coach, and Gene Schultz, former Boulder City coach who had an undefeated team at Walnut Creek, California, last fall.

A native Pennsylvanian, Trachok was a schoolboy grid star at Davidson high, Conemaugh township, Pennsylvania. He played a year for the University of Pittsburgh, then moved to the University of Nevada to play under Joe Sheeketski. "Jake" Lawlor was line coach at the time.

Floyd Edsall, named as line coach and freshman basketball coach, is senior among high school coaches in Nevada. He was all-state end for Sparks high school in 1939, and has coached at two other schools besides Sparks. He first coached at Lovelock and then moved to Elko, where he produced outstanding football teams. He was also athletic director and coached skiing.

He has coached at Sparks high school for two seasons and comes to Nevada, like Trachok, with the rank of assistant professor.

In other developments within the department, athletic staff instructor Robert Laughter was promoted to assistant professor, contingent upon his receipt of his doctorate in physical education this summer. He will relinquish his post of freshman basketball coach to Edsall, but will continue on as tennis coach.

Another new position within the department was also approved by the Board of Regents, that of full time athletic equipment man, who will have charge of all athletic equipment at the University.

New Coaching Staff Is Named

UN Invitational Rifle Match Here

Eight teams began firing this morning in the fourth annual University of Nevada Invitational rifle match. The match will be concluded tomorrow afternoon with the awarding of both individual and team trophies.

Dr. William R. Wood, academic vice president of the University, welcomed visiting team members at 7 a.m. today in the education building auditorium.

Competition began an hour later with seven visiting schools plus host University of Nevada on the firing line. Making up the visiting contingent are University of California at Davis, University of San Francisco, UCLA, Montana State, California, Texas Western, and Stanford.

The collegiate marksmen will fire at the University of Nevada rifle range, directly below the old gymnasium.

Perry W. Hayden, University of Nevada comptroller and member of the National Rifle Association, will present trophies at closing ceremonies tomorrow afternoon.

Pack Trackmen Go To Sacramento

The Wolf Pack track team journeys to Sacramento this Saturday for a Far Western conference meet with Sacramento State college.

Once again the Pack will be without the services of Dick Dow, the quarter-mile ace who is still out of action with a pulled leg muscle.

Also out of action is quarter-miler Dick Toleno who has been hampered by a bad cold.

Dave Sharp, who was moved from the two-mile event to the half-mile against College of the Pacific last week, will be back running the eight-lap distance again.

Coach Dankworth is expecting outstanding performances again from freshman dash star Dick Strunk, and from weight man Mike Lommori, who have led Nevada to a perfect season so far.

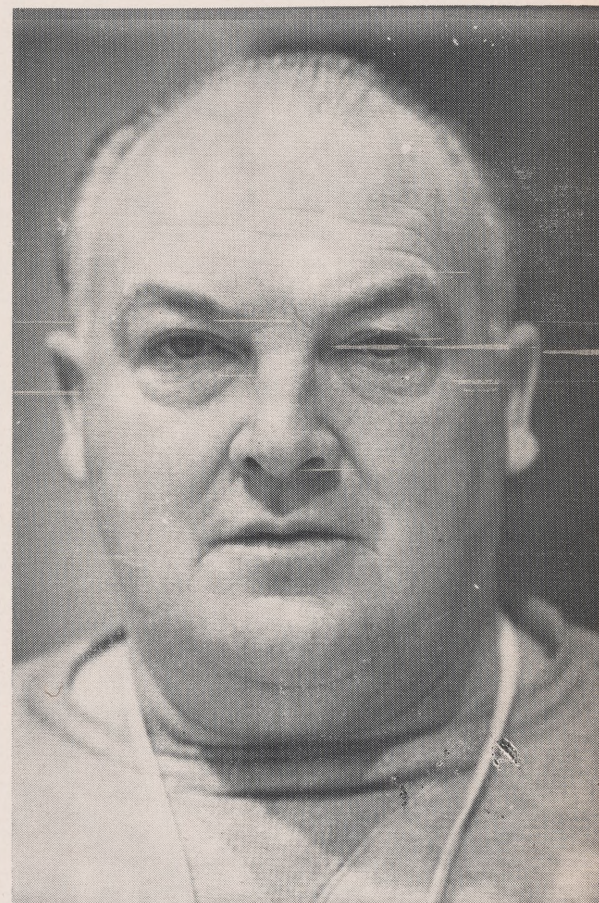

Lawlor Attends Mother's Last Rites

News both happy and sad came to Glenn (Jake) Lawlor this week. The newly appointed director of athletics at the University of Nevada received word Tuesday of the death of his mother in southern California.

Lawlor left immediately for Los Angeles and will leave from there for the burial, which will take place in Iowa.

Only last Saturday, Lawlor was notified of his elevation to director of athletics after fifteen years at the helm of Wolf Pack basketball teams.

Lawlor is expected to return to Reno Wednesday.

NEW DIRECTOR of athletics at Nevada is "Jake" Lawlor, who was promoted to the position by the Board of Regents last week. Lawlor also steps up to an associate professorship. Coach Jake, head basketball and baseball coach at the University for fifteen seasons, will relinquish basketball duties but will remain at the helm during the baseball season. Lawlor's appointment to the new position will "clear up lines of responsibility" said Dr. Art Broten, department head. —Dondero photo

State Basketball Playoffs To Be At University

After much consideration, it was decided Sunday by the Northern Nevada Conference schools, that the northern conference high school basketball playoffs for next season would be held at the University of Nevada gym.

Coaches feel that it is a break for fans to have the games of all divisions played in the same gym. They also realized that it was better from a financial standpoint. In past tournaments, B rated high schools have played away from the higher rated schools.

The zone playoffs were set for the first weekend of March, 1960, so as not to conflict with the Winter Olympics.

... JUST WHITTLIN'...

By JUDY V.

Everybody ready for Mackay Day? Now that the elections are over, that's the next big thing on the agenda. Well, it was a pretty big week, wasn't it? I've just been trying to figure out where to start—there's always some joker who says, at the beginning, but the trouble is, with the jumbled-up mess of notes I have here it's hard to tell where the beginning is. How about—

Once upon a time there was a Junior Prom at which there were several prominent chaperones and there weren't several prominent chaperones. The ones who were, were Dr. and Mrs. Wm. Millr (Dr. Miller, I understand, is going to start giving his Speech 111 and 112 classes Cha Cha lessons in order that they might avoid the standard waltz tempo in their speeches), and the one who wasn't was Dean Basta. The Art of the Dance was heavily stressed at the prom. Under the direction of Sigma Nu, Bob Morrill, who held a brief rehearsal at his home prior to the affair, some light-footed lads and lassies (who shall remain anonymous) did an impromptu exhibition of an old rustic favorite, the Virginia Reel.

Later in the evening, Pi Phi Billie Mae Morris did a breath-taking interpretation of a young lady almost falling off a stage before a large audience. Could it be that Billie had also attended Bob's dance rehearsal? Onlookers were: Gamma Phi Pat Reynolds and Phi Sig Dan (new ASUN president) Sobrio; Gamma Phi Lynn Brown and Snake Britt Ottem; Delta Dianne Moore and Sigma Nu John Madariaga; Independent Kitty Tilman (chosen Queen) and Tony Bell; Theta Grace Paine and Snake Jud Samon; Delta Leanna Noble and Sigma Nu Doug Salter; Delta Dianne Coate and Dick Bath; Delta Stephanie Maas and Mack McKinnon, a Sigma Chi from Michigan; Delta Patsy Plumm and Sigma Nu Bob Ferraro; Pi Phi Billie Mae Morris and Sigma Nu Pete Looney; Gamma Phi Lora Leonard and Lambda Chi Bill Osborne; Gamma Phi Abbey Utter and SAE Tony Xavier; Gamma Phi Jeanille Haggerty and SAE Richard Robbins; Pi Phi Pat Potter and Dave McGowan; Pi Phi Sally Sherman and ATO Mack Fry; Pi Phi Kay Hicks and Sigma Nu Bob Ferraro; Kay Calvin, Pi Phi and SAE Jim Halley; Theta Kathy Bailey and SAE Clark Russell; Pi Phi Sharon Teglia and you'll-never-guess-who, Sigma Nu Ron Wilson; Pi Phi Barb Ruark and SAE George Allison; Pi Phi Sue White and SAE Ron Broderdorf; Pi Phi Tish Saul and Sigma Nu "Hoot" Kendrick; Gamma Phi Dorothy Howell and ATO Paul Huffey; Gamma Phi Eleanor Bonnefant and Sigma Nu Joe Ortiz; Olivia Forsythe and Snake Larry Brunetti; and Delta Ann Bengoa and Independent Jerry Tobin.

The zoo that's been roaming around campus the last few days (assorted beasts such as mice or "Meeces" as they were ycleped, lions, dragons, etc.) doesn't seem to have affected the romantic, springtime atmosphere around here. Among the pinnings announced last week were: Delta Barbara Couch and ATO Allen Ross; Delta Lynn Ross and ATO Chuck Walker; Delta Mary Ann Kerstetter and ATO Jerry Boden; and Gamma Phi Barbara Galeppi and Dal Byington, a Sigma Nu alum.

Guess that's it for the week—say, among you who attempted my little word game, did anyone get steward? Geef? Yo-yi? Humm—I must have been using last year's G & L Handbook. Weekend events (According to the Social Calendar):

Friday—Lambda Chi Dance, Sundowner's Dance, and a Phi Sig Dance.

Saturday—Artemisia-Manzanita Dance, ATO Dance, and Sigma Nu Dance.

Food for Thought (an attempt): In some states it is illegal for any individual to enter into matrimony with any person who has been previously related to him through a past marriage. (In other words, an in-law.) In Nevada, is it legal for a man to marry his widow's sister?

Annual Blackfoot-Whitefoot Dance

The AO and Sigma Nu "Indians" will go on the warpath Saturday night when the two fraternities present their annual combined Blackfoot-Whitefoot Indian dance at the American Legion hall on North Ralston street. The dance is planned to last from about 9 o'clock to midnight.

The Taus and Snakes will start the day's festivities with the annual field day Saturday afternoon. The activities will include a softball game and an obstacle race.

Candidates from the four sororities will vie for the title of Blackfoot-Whitefoot Princess. The candidates include two "squaws" named Linda Smith. One Linda is a Gamma Phi Beta and the other Linda belongs to Kappa Alpha Theta. The other two competing for the crown are Delta Delta Delta Joyce Stevens and Billie Mae Morris, Pi Beta Phi.

Prizes will be awarded for the couple wearing the best Indian costumes.

The annual attendance trophy will be given to the house with the best percentage of members attending.

Charley Myerson's Swinging Shepherds will play the tom-toms for dancing.

Guests include Dr. and Mrs. William Miller, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Roelofs, and Mr. and Mrs. Orsie Graves, of Sparks. Graves is a former president of Sigma Nu.

Lopez and York for Lincoln Hall Office

Art Lopez opposed Chuck York for hall president in the finals of the Lincoln hall elections held last night, but tabulation of the ballots was not complete at press time.

Lopez, of Carlin, and York, from Mina, survived the Tuesday primaries from a field of five candidates. Lopez is a senior, and York is a junior.

Freshman Dick Haymond, of Ely, met sophomore Dan Yim, from Gardnerville, for the post of treasurer.

For hall secretary, Bill Stratton, a freshman from Alturas, Calif., ran against frosh Chris Wilson of Elko.

Primary elections for vice-president were also held last night. Nominated were: Jerry Berry, Boulder City; Bill Dolan, Hawthorne; Marius Kendall, Dayton; and Dean Schank, Fallon.

New Art Show Opens Next Week

A new art show opens next week in the art gallery of the temporary buildings.

"The Painted Flower" is a collection of three dozen pictures done in various forms of art including oils, watercolor, pastels and graphics.

The exhibit (collected by the Western Association of Art Museums), will be at the University of Nevada until May 8. The public is invited.

Sigma Delta Chi Will Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Sigma Delta Chi, the national professional journalistic fraternity, is fifty years old today. Initiation of new members and a dinner at the Santa Fe hotel Sunday will highlight the celebration of its founding.

Professional members will join University of Nevada undergraduate members for a social hour and the dinner after the initiation of new members. Initiation ceremonies will take place in the journalism building at 5 p.m.

New undergraduate members are Robert Ryan, Mayer Freedman, Charles Thomas, John Conklin, Don Graydon and Richard Madsen.

Neal Van Sooy, past national president of Sigma Delta Chi and A. L. Higginbotham, professor of journalism, will speak to the gathering on the founding of the University of Nevada chapter.

Jock Taylor, editor of the Reese River Reville and one of the founders of Sigma Delta Chi, will talk about the early days of the fraternity.

John Sanford, editor of the Reno Evening Gazette, will speak on the professional chapter.

A history of the fraternity will be given by Don Graydon, a sophomore in journalism.

Undergraduate members will be introduced by Robert L. Brown, undergraduate secretary, followed with a response by Richard Madsen, a junior in journalism.

Bryn Armstrong, assistant managing editor of the Reno Evening Gazette and president of the professional chapter, will close the celebration with a toast to the past, present, and future of Sigma Delta Chi.

The University of Nevada insurance plan will probably increase its rates due to the number of injuries resulting out of the election beer-bust.

More Sandberg

books concerning the Civil War. He has been awarded Doctor of Literature degrees from Lombard College, Knox College, Northwestern, Harvard, Yale, New York University, Wesleyan, Lafayette College, Syracuse University and Dartmouth College. He received an L.L.D. degree from Rollins College, Augustana College, and University of Illinois, and a Ph.D. from Upsala College.

Among his numerous awards are the Gold Medal for Poetry from the Poetry Society of America, and the Award of Merit from the University of Louisville in 1954.

Sandberg has been cited as the foremost American Folk Song recitalist and served as a lecturer at the University of Hawaii and the University of Chicago.

He was born in Galesburg, Illinois, and now makes his home in Flat Rock, North Carolina.

More Beer Bust

the remaining brew out of the keg to notice that the remaining kegs were rounded up and removed from the scene by members of the house that was running the beer bust.

When it became apparent that there was no more beer at Virginia lake, the party broke up. Many of the students headed for the "Little Wall." That establishment was so crowded by 9:15 that the operators of the place closed it down.

The casualty rate at this year's bust was higher than last year when a Sigma Nu was run over by a car. This year on the disabled list were students suffering from (1) a broken leg when an awning collapsed; (2) a badly cut eye requiring about ten stitches; (3) a student minus a small amount of front teeth.

And so the end came to another wild party.

It has been pointed out that if frogs had wings they wouldn't be bumping their derriere on the ground as they go juming about.
