

Court Election Set Wednesday

Record Turnout Expected

Court Committee Announces Revision; Vote Method Told

A student body election which is expected to draw a record vote in the history of the University will be held next Wednesday on the controversial student court question. The ballot will have three options. They are: 1. Accept the court as it is; 2. Accept the court with minor revisions, which were drawn up this week by a Senate sub-committee; 3. Abolish the court. The polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 4:30 p.m. A student-body card or a slip from the registrar's office is necessary if a student is going to vote.

The question gaining the most votes will win the election.

Revisions to the court are 1. "The student court shall have jurisdiction in those cases referred to the Dean of Student Affairs from off campus authorities, provided the Dean of Student Affairs refers these cases to the court." 2. "All sessions of the Student Court shall be open except in such cases that the defendant requests closed session. The Justices shall have the power to clear the court when it is apparent that the public's presence will interfere with the judicial proceedings."

Three Option Ballot

The revisions came after the Senate acted on an initiative petition signed by 665 students who asked that the original question of whether to accept the court for a one year trial period be again put before the student body. The Senate decided instead to put a three option ballot before the student body.

At a Wednesday evening revisions committee meeting, Ross Rosenbaum, chief justice, said the winner of the election would be the question that received the most votes. He qualified the statement, adding that if the question of abolishment received the most votes, the number of votes on the other two questions would be combined.

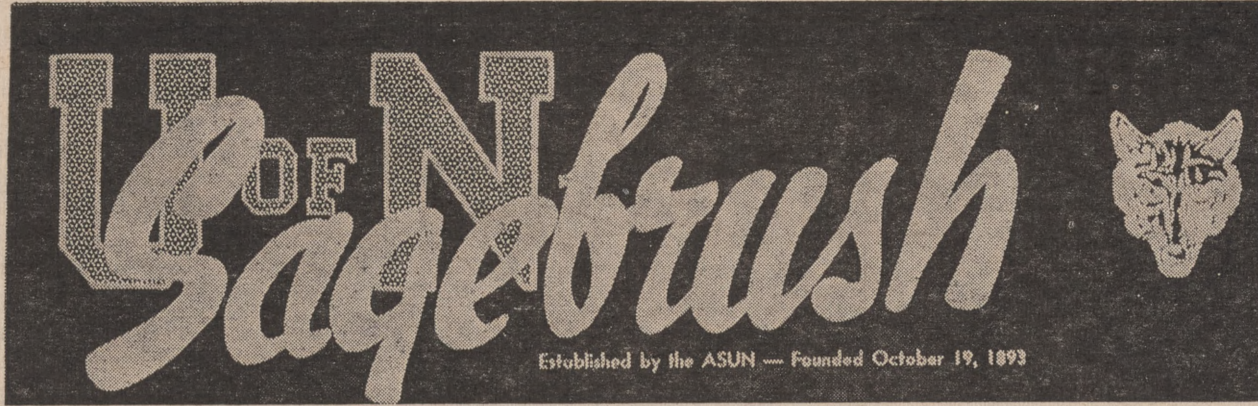

Sagebrush Editor Warren Lerule said such an election is obviously fixed, so that the two questions favoring the court can be combined to defeat the question against the court.

Oppose Rosenbaum

Student body President Dan Sobrio, Senator-at-Large Barbara Heward and Justice Virgil Bucciarie opposed Rosenbaum and said that the single question receiving the most votes will decide the court question.

The revisions committee voted to set up amendment procedure as follows in the event that the court is accepted and the constitution is accepted at the end of the one year trial period: "An amendment may be proposed by a two-thirds vote of the members of Senate. Upon approval by Senate this proposed amendment must be presented to the student body for approval or rejection through an ASUN election. A majority vote of the students voting in the election will constitute approval."

Annual Messiah Program Sunday

The silver anniversary presentation of Handel's Messiah in the Reno area will be given Sunday in the new gymnasium beginning at 8:15 p.m.

The Christmas portion of George Frederick Handel's Messiah has been given for 25 consecutive years in Reno.

This year the audience will hear the largest choir ever used for the Messiah. The 150-voice choir consists of the University Singers and the Community symphonic choir. They will be accompanied by a 30-piece University and community orchestra.

Dr. Keith Macy will be the conductor, with Prof. Harold Goodard as associate conductor. Prof. Felton Hickman, stage manager, will supervise the lining up of the choir. The Sagens will usher again this year.

The four soloists will be Eileen Bianchi, soprano; Virginia Foster, mezzo-soprano; Joseph Battaglia, tenor, and Chalmers Musgrove, bass.

"The Messiah is the most popular oratorio in existence. It is one of the major productions given by choral organizations in the United States," Dr. Macy said.

"It is my hope that people in this area will become so familiar with the Messiah, that in the future the audience will be able to sing along with the choir."

"Last year 2200 people jammed the gymnasium to hear the Messiah. I urge that this year everyone come early, not only to be sure of getting a good seat but because late-comers are a disturbing element."

Dr. Macy stated that the performance will begin at exactly 8:15 p.m. The choir will file in at 8:10, the orchestra at 8:13.

Stage decorations this year will be a little different from those used in previous years. In addition to potted plants and poinsettias, two large white Christmas trees will flank the stage.

This presentation is another in the Sunday at Four series.

Robert Petrini Funeral Held

Funeral services were held Monday for Bob Petrini, who died last week after suffering from multiple sclerosis. Petrini graduated from the University in 1953 with a degree in journalism. He was the technical editor for the Nevada Bureau of Mines and Mackay School of Mines.

As a student here, he was president of the undergraduate chapter of the journalism fraternity, Sigma Delta Chi, and a member of the Press club.

Petrini worked as a reporter in Reno and Sparks, and was active in civic and athletic groups. He was a former president of the Sierra-Nevada Sports Writer's Association, and worked for a time as a United Press International staff correspondent.

Order Poster Ban On Buildings Here

"It is hereby directed that no literature or material be placed on any university building, permanent or temporary, or paint of any sort upon walks, steps, fire escapes, stairs, curbs, gutters, or doors." This statement was issued in a directive to the students by John Sala, superintendent of buildings and grounds.

The reason for this new policy is that there has been an over abuse of campaign literature, announcements, paintings, and other advertisements defacing the buildings and walks, said Sala.

This action is the result of a meeting Sala had with Dan Sobrio, A.S.U.N. president, and Samuel M. Basta, dean of student affairs.

This new policy does not prevent the expression of student ingenuity for campaigns, meeting announcements, etc., said Sala. He suggests the use of stakes stuck into the lawn at various locations, the use of movable displays, stringing banners from one building to another, and the use of bulletin boards to advertise campaign slogans and announcements.

"This office will assist the student government and its subsidiary organizations in stringing banners from one building to another, and the use of bulletin boards to advertise campaign slogans and announcements."

"This office will assist the student government and its subsidiary organizations in stringing banners from one building to another by providing equipment that would insure safety to students as well as provide effective means of display." This statement was also included in the directive from the superintendent of buildings and grounds.

Governor Sawyer Won't Initiate Hazing Bill, But Will Sign One

Gov. Grant Sawyer has informed the Sagebrush that he will not initiate any anti-hazing law during the next session of the state legislature. At the same time he indicated that he would probably sign such a bill if it were brought to his desk.

Such a law has just been put into effect in California. It is designed to do away with all forms of student conduct that is morally degrading or physically harmful. The law was passed this year as a result of several widely publicized cases of hazing in California universities.

The University of Nevada Interfraternity Council recently took action banning all hazing and "hell weeks" among Nevada fraternities. "This is a matter for the (university) administration to handle," said Sawyer when contacted by a Sagebrush reporter recently.

"I will not initiate any anti-hazing measure to go before the legislature," said the governor. But he added, "I guess I'll sign it if it is passed by the legislature."

In California the law has been interpreted to mean that all forms of hazing—including the making of freshmen students wear "dinks"—is now outlawed.

Recently one student at the University of Southern California died as a result of a fraternity initiation. He choked to death after being forced to swallow a dose of raw liver.

In an incident at the University of California at Berkeley a male student was hospitalized for several days after being severely paddled in a similar fraternity function.

Although no such fraternity cases have occurred at the University of Nevada in recent years, one freshman student here nearly suffered permanent injury to one of his eyes during the year's Frosh-Soph field day.

'Curious Savage' Ends Tonight

Tonight is your last chance to see "The Curious Savage," a comedy presented by the Campus Players in the Education auditorium.

The three-day run started Wednesday and the concluding performance is to be given tonight. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

Tickets may be picked up at the graduate manager's office or at the door. There is no charge to students.

The story of the play in keeping with the coming holiday season tells of the "curious" Mrs. Ethel Savage who believes in "the spirit of giving." She has ten million dollars to give away to satisfy the unusual whims of others.

How she accomplishes this, and outwits her greedy stepchildren as well, is shown as the story unfolds.

Prof. Charles Metten, assistant professor of speech and drama, is directing the play. Before coming to the university he directed plays at the State University of Iowa, Santa Barbara Junior College and the Santa Barbara Repertory theater. He is now working on his doctorate in speech and drama.

Members of the cast include Iris Homestead, Janice Aalbu, Ronald Anderson, Carilla Dempsey, Dale Gordon, Magnus Homestead, Dean Kausalis, Mickey McBride, Sarah Pederson, Kathleen O'Leary and Sharon Winter.

Working behind the scenes are Jo Ann Hooser, Stormy Byrom, Heather Gillon, Germaine Koster, Robert Lemon and Douglas Smith.

Technical director is Mr. Terry Ellmore. Sets were designed by Russ Byloff.

"The people working on this play are an exceptionally fine group. They are all very enthusiastic," Professor Metten said. "We have a good nucleus for an acting company for our new theater in the Fine Arts building, which is soon to be completed."

The Campus Players plan to do two productions during the Spring semester.

Editorial

IN RECENT WEEKS several narrow-minded and ill-thinking Senators as well as some big-talking, but courage-lacking, would-be journalists, have strongly criticized the present editorial policy of this newspaper. The criticism, usually reduced to petty name-calling, has been aroused because of the controversial student court. This newspaper has campaigned against the ridiculous court, and the freak judicial system will go before the students for their judgment next Wednesday.

THE ELECTION CLIMAXES a strong editorial campaign, which was designed to better the University of Nevada. The Sagebrush has time and again criticized the court because of its inadequacies. This criticism has spurred Senators to revise the court constitution. It has spurred usually passive students to take interest in how their student government operates. And, it has spurred the legislative group to arrange a special election, which may see the University rid of an unfair judicial system.

IT IS THE DUTY of the Sagebrush to point out poor conditions when they appear on campus. Through the semester this has been done. Because certain optimistic people insist upon looking out over the campus through rose colored glasses, the Sagebrush has been accused of attempting to "destroy everything."

THE SENATORS FORGET that had the Sagebrush not waged its editorial war on the court, it would have continued along on its ridiculous path. At the present two of the five judges, all members of the court constitution drafting committee, and a great many students feel that the court is not good in its present state. Because of this, the inadequate constitution has been revised.

THE REVISIONS were called for when the Senate recently acted on a petition calling for "resubmission of the proposition originally establishing the student court for a one-year trial basis." The Senate has evaded the petition. An option-ballot, with the added question of whether the court should be accepted with revisions will be presented to the students. The petition specifically asked for the original question. It was signed by 665 students. The Senate overrode the petitioning students by adding the option.

THE REVISIONS, however, add up to little more than nothing. The one major revision is opening the court to the public if a defendant wishes the public to sit in on the session. Nothing has been done about restricting cases to campus violations. The court can still sit over violations of the law, which occur while the student is off campus. The court's cases are still dictated by Sam Basta, dean of student affairs. There are still no formal charges necessary before a student is ordered before the court. The one blanket charge, "conduct unbecoming a student," still covers any violation, whether the erring student has been before the downtown courts or not.

BECAUSE THE SAGEBRUSH has brought these facts into the open, several narrow-minded Senators boldly stand before the student legislature and accuse the Sagebrush of being "biased," of not being "middle of the road." This drivel, while unintentional, serves this newspaper as a compliment. The Sagebrush certainly is biased—biased for the welfare of the University community. Any newspaper that is middle-of-the-road is not worthy of being read.

BEFORE THE SENATORS decide to clean house on the Sagebrush, they might do a little cleaning up at home. It is the Senate's responsibility to look after the welfare of the students. In this, the Senators have failed. The students had to bring forth an initiative petition, before the all-powerful, but small-acting Senators would probe into the students' rights and affairs.

THE SENATORS MIGHT remember that any mistakes the Sagebrush makes, and there are many, are laid before the public with every edition. Many Senators, however, scream out "I've been misquoted," when their statements are printed and they seem of a foolish nature. Many of the Senators' statements are indeed foolish, some outright stupid, as any student can verify if he has attended a Senate meeting.

A STUDENT COURT would be an asset to this campus if it were set up similarly to the one at San Jose State College. That court is open to the public, it handles only campus violations, legal counsel is granted, there is a prosecuting attorney, and the court is not in a position where it might be used as a scapegoat.

THE SENATORS' REVISIONS do not provide for this sort of court. Instead, they have a board of student examiners, who are placed in a position where they must act as sort of sidewalk psychologists.

IN THE LIGHT OF THE REASONS given above, the students should vote against the court in the election next Wednesday.

Our Readers Write

EDITOR, THE SAGEBRUSH:

At the Senate meeting of Dec. 2 the students of the U of N were cheated by the very Senators that they chose to represent them. An initiative petition was submitted by 665 students calling for "resubmission of the ORIGINAL proposition establishing the Student court. This original ballot was a simple yes or no proposition. The Senate did not give the students what they petitioned for; but instead the Senate gave them a loaded, court-favoring, optional ballot. The Court's influence in the Senate is quite obvious. In fact, it appears that the court has more influence in the Senate than the students have.

If the Court is allowed to stay in with its meaningless options, will the Court live up to them?

They might very well find legal loopholes to again evade their responsibilities. The Court has flagrantly violated its own "tentative" constitution as well as the ASUN constitution; and not even batted an eye. The only time the Court ever does any changing is when extreme pressure is brought to bear. The attitude of the "Justices" causes a person not only to distrust them, but to question their capabilities and integrity.

The campus has recently been bombarded by a second publication. "The Scrub-brush" is printed by people who are afraid to show their faces, or print their names. No one sees who delivers it. It is left, in effect, as an unwanted child on the doorstep. "The Scrub-brush" No. 1 stated that it was "unbiased and truthful." This is like saying that they had a white dog that is mostly black. Due to its whitewashing policy "The Scrub-brush" could be more appropriately called "The Paintbrush." They have attempted to whitewash the Student Court; and like whitewash the outward appearance looks like new but the same rotting, decrepit structure remains underneath.

IT'S A FACT: That the court justice who "manipulated" a student parking permit was let off the hook. However the precise reason that he was let off is skillfully not mentioned. Could it be that it just looks bad for a court justice to be caught red-handed? Ever wonder how bad a crime a court justice will have to commit before he can be punished. Hmm, something to think about.

In closing, the court has not only violated legal rights of a student in this institution but also MORAL rights.

LARRY DAMON

EDITOR, THE SAGEBRUSH:

I feel th eneed to discuss with I feel the need to discuss with ground concerning the Student Court issue, and to express my sentiments in this regard.

The Court was originally conceived after a committee had compiled a listing of the various types of courts that are found throughout the United States at Universities and Colleges. After extensive debate and consideration, the Senate submitted the Constitution of the court to the faculty and administration for their approval which was ultimately granted. After this it was decided to ask the students to approve the court for a one-year trial basis, and the students did so at the special election held for this purpose. The trial period began this fall, and to date the court has heard approximately ten cases. After considerable publicity criticizing the court it was decided by some students that the court is inherently evil, or at least that the Dean of Student Affairs should be performing this function.

It was never intended by Senate that this document (the Court Constitution) should be perfect, or they would not have asked the students to approve it on a trial basis only. The Senate felt, as many students do now, that changes would necessarily be made pending the test of utility. Senate has since then decided that revisions should be made as the need arises during the trial period. A committee was appointed, and it has already proposed several timely amendments to the provisional document. These are by no means the only amendments that will be made during the trial period as I feel that other changes may become necessary provided the court is permitted to continue for the trial period. (Refer to article for these amendments.) Secondly, the Dean of Student Affairs has always handled the cases before the Court was instituted, and it should be noted that the court is an attempt to give the students a greater voice in their own affairs. If the Court were to be abolished, the Dean would once again hear and decide these cases while being completely divorced from student opinion. The Student Court idea is certainly compatible with the spirit of good student government.

In conclusion, may I say that I am aware that many of you students have decided one way or another concerning the Court. For those who are still undecided, I would submit to you that the issue to be decided upon the 16th is whether or not the court will be allowed to live out the trial period which it deserves. I feel that as the year progresses, the Court will evolve into a branch of student government of which we can be justly proud. After all, the U. S. Constitution became the great document that it is only after long and trying appraisal. We owe ourselves the responsibility of seeing that a worthy project in student government is carried to its ultimate judgment which of necessity and in all fairness will be at the end of the trial period.

I urge each and everyone of you readers to make your decision and express that decision honestly at the polls. Thank you.

STALEMATE

by RICHARD MORRIS

Someone recently asked me how I get ideas for this column. The answer to this is a simple one—I steal them. However, while doing "research" for this week's column, I found that I had more inspiration (beer) than usual, so I decided to write it myself.

Sarah Jane Futch has a good excuse for losing chess games to her mother.

FIDE, the International Chess Federation, awards the title of international grandmaster to a select few of the world's top chess masters. A common misconception is that this title is awarded on the basis of playing strength. This is false; the sole criterion is the unpronouncibility of the man's name. Perhaps the greatest masterpiece of all time was conferring the title upon Euwe. (This is not pronounced "you-we." Correct pronunciation at end of column.)

A great chess master named Bogoljuboff was once asked whether he preferred to play the white or the black pieces. He replied, "When I have white, I win because I have the first move; when I have black, I win because I am Bogoljuboff."

There are many ways to resign your game (concede defeat) when you see that you are hopelessly lost. One of the standard methods is to tip over your king, while another is to sweep away the pieces and break the board over your opponent's head. However, if you have a flair for the dramatic, I suggest that you follow the example of the great master Aron Nimzovich, who once resigned by jumping on top of a table and screaming, "Why must I lose to this idiot?"

To pronounce "Euwe" correctly, yawn.

ROTC Band Beginning Preparations for Debut As Concert Organization

For the first time in its history, the University R.O.T.C. band will become a concert organization, it was announced today by the band director, Delmar H. Polbier. With the end of the fall drill season, the band can now devote one hour a week to the preparation of concert music for an appearance sometime in the spring.

Cooperating in the band's new venture are Lt. Col. Charles Roman, chairman of the military department, and Dr. John Carrico, associate professor of music, who has given the use of the University band room on Tuesdays at 11 a.m. and access to the University band library.

Flora, Fauna . . . and Things

The Washoe Pine, which is indigenous only to a small region along the Mount Rose Highway above Sky Tavern, is of interest to the residents of Nevada. It existed unnoticed by Botanists in this area until Mason and Stockwell from the University of California observed its distinct charcters in September of 1938. The type tree, which is clearly marked at the base, may be seen by travelers a quarter of a mile above the T-bar lift on the Mount Rose Highway at an elevation of 7,800 feet. There are only a few dozen trees at most known to exist.

Although it illustrates close affinities with the Jeffery Pine, it was believed that it was distinct enough to give it a species classification. It was named in 1944 by Mason and Stockwell after the Washoe Indians which were at one time abundant in the same locality. The official designation of the tree is Pinus washoensis Mason and Stockwell. Since that time there has been much controversy as to the vitality of the designation, but it appears to be valid by many Biologists. Only time and additional research will tell.

Since the timber in this location was extensively utilized during the operation of the Comstock Lode in Virginia City for mining purposes, it is not known whether or not the Washoe Pine is a relatively new occurrence or a relict of a past flora which preceded the Jeffery Pine. It is known, however, that it did not exist prior to the Ice Age in the exact area which it now occupies since it occurs on a glacial moraine which was deposited several thousand years ago. The question as to its place in geologic and evolutionary time will only be answered through research.

May we once again remind you that the Biology Club is open to all interested students. At least one field trip is planned during each semester of sites with biological interest in the immediate area of Reno. During the meetings which are usually held during the noon hour, movies are shown and an occasional talk is given by and interesting speaker.

Old Infirmary To Be Demolished; Work Scheduled During Xmas Leave

The old infirmary will be gone when students return from Christmas vacation.

Room has to be made for the new library building. Bids will be opened Wednesday, December 16, to tear the infirmary building down. Work is to begin on December 20 and the building will be leveled to the foundation by January 1. Work on the library will begin January 6.

Infirmary facilities will be moved to two houses north of the new fine arts building, on Virginia street. A corridor is being built to connect the buildings. A third house will be used to house any overflow of patients or for isolation of any one disease.

The homes, bought and renovated by the University, will serve only as temporary quarters for the infirmary. James D. Rogers, University engineer, says that application will be made to the legislature for funds to build permanent infirmary facilities on a proposed third floor of the Jot Travis Student Union.

The old infirmary was built at about the turn of the century.

Plan New Addition To Student Union

The student union will have a new addition sometime in 1962, says James Rogers, University Engineer.

The addition will be situated north of the present structure.

There will be additional space for recreation on the same ground level as the present facilities, added Rogers.

Conference rooms will be built on the upper level.

The new infirmary will be erected above the conference area.

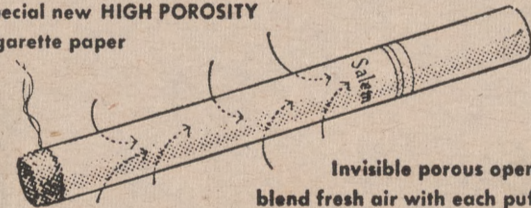

The legislature will be asked to match funds which may become available from the Jot Travis estate for the building project.

Business Fraternity Starts Active Year

An active professional program for Delta Sigma Pi, international professional business fraternity got underway last Wednesday as members learned of the importance of business insurance.

Speakers during the evening session held at Ross hall were J. Sloan Olin and Ernie Kofoed, local representatives of the New Yory Life Insurance co. Details of the business insurance field were garnered during a spirited question and answer period.

This was the second event of the year for the organization, headed by president Charles Dyer. Members and wives gathered at Lawton's earlier in the school year for their first social event of the season, a dinner dance.

Other phases of the program this year include various speakers in the business world, being arranged for by Ron Wiggins, chancellor in charge of speakers, while several field trips are now in the formative stage.

Plan Redecoration Of Theta House

Kappa Alpha Theta sorority has received another loan. The first loan, received last spring, was financed locally and nationally and was used to pay for a new wing on the house. The national officers of Kappa Alpha Theta granted a new loan of $8,000 recently to finance the redecorating of the house. The Theta Mother's club and alumni group also donated for the new fixtures.

A nationally approved decorator will supervise the work. Mrs. Pauline Lively from San Jose, Calif., who was once a national officer of Kappa Alpha Theta is the person designated to do this job. When she arrives she will oversee the decorating of the living room and dining room.

The official date for completion of construction is January 27, 1960. At this time the house, which originally roomed 18 women, will be occupied by 26 women.

The living room and dining room are the first rooms to be redecorated in a long-range plan of design. Eventually each room in the house will be planned by a decorator.

One of the outstanding features of the new wing is a patio, which will lead off the living room. A balcony will extend out over the patio.

A decorative front door will complete the features of the new house.

Trachok Awards 25 Letters

Coach Dick Trachok announced a list of 25 lettermen yesterday for the 1959 Wolf Pack football season. In addition to the lettermen, 21 more gridders will receive "participant" awards.

Only five of the 25 lettermen are seniors and none of the non-lettermen will graduate. This should give Nevada a very promising team for next season with a wealth of experience and reserves.

The Wolf Pack gridders and their dates were feted at the annual football banquet Wednesday night with dinner and the floor show at the Riverside hotel.

Seniors Chuck Walker, Tom Whitaker and O'Neil Sanders will receive trophies, symbolic of four letters in football during their college career.

will be awarded blankets with a block "N" engraving, signifying three letters in football.

Nine players will be given block "N" jackets for their second time letter in the gridiron sport. They are seniors Bobby Peck and Danny Baldini and Gene Germain, Bob Hunter, Chris Nenzel, Martin Murphy, John Frida, Dick Ripley and Jim Whitaker.

Nine more players will receive sweaters for the first season in which they lettered. They include Dave Brady, Archie Curtis, Dave Haines, Don Hunt, Frank Nenzel, Clyde Sanders and Jay Vre Non.

Trachok innovated a new policy this season in giving "participant" awards to players who practiced and played with the team all season but did not see enough action to earn a letter.

These players will get an engraved tie clasp from the athletic department.

Volleyball Tournament

The Reno fellowship volleyball tournament scheduled for tomorrow is open to University students. The tournament will host out-of-state teams as well as Reno teams. The games will start at 4 p.m.

Wolf Pack Casaba Artists Tangle With Tall, Tough Presidio Quintet

The University of Nevada basketball team lifts the lid on its home season tonight against a rangy Army team from Presidio of San Francisco. Saturday night the Wolf Pack will host Long Beach State.

Both games will get under way at approximately 8:30 p.m. in the new gymnasium, following preliminary contests by the freshman team which starts at 6:30.

The Wolf Pack, fresh from a double victory over Eastern Oregon College last week, face a seasoned and tall team in San Francisco Presidio.

The Presidio team boasts three men over six-four, including celebrated shot putter Bob Neider at center. Presidio is coached by Hal Fischer, former Nevada standout basketball player in 1946-47. Fischer was also coach of the All-Army team last year.

Presidio has played three games to date, winning two out of three from Travis Air Force Base.

Spencer indicated that he would start the same lineup he used in a winning combination last week against E. O. C. in Oregon. The opening five was junior Kenny Longero and sophomore Morgan Jellett at guards; junior Ed Allison at center; and senior Bob Lyons and junior Val York at forwards.

Lyson is the tallest starter at 6-3. Allison is next at 6-2. Spencer indicated concern over the backboard control the taller Presidio team would probably have, but said that the Wolf Pack would have to take advantage of sharp ball handling and accurate shooting to come out on top.

Dave Lumos, junior college transfer from Fallon, will be ready for action this week after injuring an ankle in practice season the day before the team left for the Eastern Oregon series. Lumos was scheduled to make the trip with the team but remained in Reno after the injury.

Nevada looked sharp in a scrimmage session with the frosh team Tuesday. Reserves slated for possible duty are forward-center Bob Challenger, guard Lyle Damon, Chet Wood, freshman Joe DeArrieta and Bob Fischer.

The University of Nevada Wolf Pack basketball team opened the season on the winning side last week with two straight victories over Eastern Oregon College at Le Grande, Ore.

New coach Jackson Spencer's Wolf Pack dumped Eastern Oregon 68-61 Friday and 65-56 in the second game Saturday.

Nevada made up for lack of height with sharp ballhandling and accurate shooting. Spencer commended the Wolf Pack for fine passing, shooting and defense.

Veteran Val York, junior from Fallon, paced the Nevada scoring attack in the first game with 21 points. Guard Kenny Longero was next with 19 points.

The Wolf Pack took the lead midway through the first half and led the rest of the game Friday night. Nevada was leading at half-time 34-29.

In the second game, Nevada had to come from six points behind, 41-47, to pull it out of the fire. Guards Joey DeArrieta and Morgan Jellett caught fire for four quick baskets each on jump shots and lay-ups via the fast break and the Wolf Pack pulled ahead in the final nine minutes.

The Wolf Pack held a slim 26-25 lead, but Eastern Oregon forged ahead early in the second half.

Forward Bob Lyon led the Nevada scoring with 16 points on Saturday night. Jellett, a sophomore scoring with 16 points on Saturday night. Jellett, a sophomore, followed with 15 and center Ed Allison had 10.

What Makes Pop Corn Pop?

Popping corn contains water. When the water gets hot enough, the kernel explodes. Result: popcorn.

We're not passing this information along as a public service. Actually we're up to the same old game.

You see, popcorn makes most people thirsty. Fortunately, when most people get thirsty they hanker for the good taste of Coca-Cola.

Wouldn't you like some popcorn right now? C'mon now, wouldn't you?

INDEPENDENTS STILL ON WINNING STREAK

The undefeated Independents continued to dominate the intramural basketball action Wednesday night by dumping Phi Sigma Epsilon, 54-23, for their fourth straight victory and a firm hold on first place in the standings.

Sigma Nu trounced Sigma Phi Epsilon, 49-16, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon nudged Lambda Chi Alpha, 54-50, in other games Wednesday night.

Earl Cornforth and Eric Martin led the scoring attack in the Independents' easy victory over the Sig Eps. The winners jumped to an early lead and were ahead 24-6 at halftime. Cornforth potted 16 points and Martin had 12.

Guards Bruce Barton and Frank Guisti played brilliant floor games for the Independents. Center Don Logerwell was high for the Sig Eps with 13 and controlled both backboards.

Forward Jim Maguire and center Fred Black each scored 12 points enroute to Sigma Nu's rout over the Phi Sigs. Hustling Jerry Lusk netted eight points for the losers.

SAE held onto a slim margin throughout the game to overcome upset-minded Lambda Chi. Slender forward Don Pribble paced SAE with 16 points. Jim Fee had 19 and Jerry Shutt dumped in 16 in a losing effort for Lambda Chi.

The Independents are out front in the intramural league standings, not including last nights games, with a perfect 4-0 record. Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Nu are tied for second place with 3-1 marks. SAE is in fourth spot with a 3-2 record. Lambda Chi with 1-3, the Sig Eps with 1-4 and the Phi Sigs with 0-4 follow in that order.

NEVADA RIFLE TEAM FIRES SCORE TO BE FILED IN HEARST MATCH COMPETITION

The University of Nevada rifle team fired a 935 out of a possible 1000 score in competition for the 39th annual William Randolph Hearst Sixth Army ROTC rifle matches.

The score will be sent to Sixth Army headquarters at Presidio of San Francisco, Calif., by Sergeant Kenneth Day, rifle team advisor.

Last year, Nevada finished eighth out of 54 competing colleges and universities in the Sixth Army area, made up of the Western states.

Nevada took first place in the Hearst matches in 1956 and 1957.

Larry Gedney paced the five-man Nevada first team with a 189x200. John Hunter, Dan Sobrio and Ralph Cameron all fired a 188x200. Richard Dow had a 182x200.

Sergeant Day also entered an "alternate" team from Nevada which compiled an 858x1000. Freshman Don Arkel led the second team with a 181x200. Other members of the second squad were Paul Gillespie, David Allingham, Ronald Major and Larry Miller.

Theta Chi Fraternity Plans New House; National Body to Help Pay

Theta Chi is going to build a new house. This announcement was made last week as the national officers of the fraternity agreed to pay sixty percent of the total costs.

The house will probably be located north of the University and will cost approximately $110,000. If all goes according to plans it will be completed within a year.

The overall design calls for a modern-looking structure which is to embody many of the basic items of the Theta Chi crest. The house will be constructed of red brick and white stone. Red and white are the fraternity's colors.

Two interlocking fountains will be situated on the lawn. Crossed swords reaching to the ceiling will form the entrance. They will be highlighted by indirect lighting.

The inside will feature a large living room which will contain a sunken fireplace surrounded by couches. A large dining room, separate recreation and living quarters for the housemother have also been planned. Indirect lighting and sections of glass paneling will play an important role in the interior.

Quarters for the members will house two persons to every room. The house will have a living capacity of forty men.

The basic plans are the ideas of Jeri Tedrowe, a Theta Chi alumnus. The architectural work is being done by R. A. Casazza, also an alumnus practicing in Reno.

Nevada Women Attend Meeting

Four University of Nevada students last week attended the Northern California-Nevada state meet of the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students.

Pat Reynolds, Joyce Casazza, Barbara Heward, Ellen Murphy, and Miss Roberta Barnes as advisor, traveled to Chico State college December 5 to participate in the meet.

Workshop discussions concerning types of programs that can be offered for the AWS took up most of the meet.

Miss Reynolds said it was "one of the most successful conventions I have ever attended."

In these times we fight for ideas, and newspapers are our fortresses. —HEINE.

AWS Christmas Party Successful

The annual AWS - sponsored Christmas party for underprivileged children was held Monday evening in the Student Union building. This year's party, taken over by the new Spurs colony on campus, was complete with Christmas carols, Santa Claus—alias Bill Provin—and two gifts for each of ten children present. Mrs. Gottschalk gave a puppet show, and refreshments of apple cider and cookies were served.

After the children's portion of the party was over a surprise for the women was announced. A comic fashion show entitled "New Fashions for Women" starred Joan Ruark as Lillian Smelbert, commentator from Greenland. Models for the "event" were Sue Fordon, Catherine (Mimi) Patrick, Fritsi Hancock, Susan Petersen, Margaret Eddelman, Leanna Noble, Carolyn Bell, Maxine Wright, Dorothy Howell, Joann Prandi, Pat Potter, Myrna Thompson and Linda Pierce.

Such "chic" outfits as a postman's uniform, mountain-climbing clothes, new-style stretch ski pants and the latest in corsets were modeled.

Some of the "exclusive shops" providing these "fashions" were The Alaska Mailing House, Ah - Ah - Ah of Norway, PeeWeeski of Broken Bones, Nevada, and Saks Third Alley.

Parking Violations Ignored by Some

Four hundred and twenty citations have been issued this semester by the University police, but only 94 have been paid. Cars are towed off campus and stored on the second violation. Students have to pay the tow charge and storage fee to retrieve their automobiles.

Twenty-six have been towed away.

There is 125,000 square feet of land by Clark field to park on, but very few cars have been parked there. When the new library is built this will be about the only on-campus parking area left.

We should never create by law what can be accomplished by morality—MONTESQUIEU.
