

Carnival Queen Contest

Six UN Coeds Vying for Carnival Queen Honor

Two breaks with tradition accompany the race for Winter Carnival Queen, now being contested by six Nevada coeds.

Ellen Roseman, Delta Delta Delta; Karen Parsons, Gamma Phi Beta; Marilyn Madsen, Kappa Alpha Theta; Carmelita Markhart, Pi Beta Phi; Sandra Hall, New Dorm; and Beverly Seher, Manzanita; have been nominated to vie for the crown.

For the first time in the 22-year history of the Winter Carnival, the queen will be named from the University of Nevada. In the past, she was a coed from one of the competing schools.

The competition is limited to freshmen women, and it is the only queen contest during the year that freshmen women can enter.

For the first time, the queen will be elected by a vote of the male student body.

Voting will take place on Friday, Feb 10, in the student union.

Campaigning for the male vote, the coeds will be the guests of Nevada's fraternities for lunch and dinner next week. Sorority serenades of the fraternities are planned for Monday night in an effort to woo votes.

Miss Markhart's home town is Seattle, and she is a graduate of Reno high school. This 18-year-old coed is a math major.

Miss Seher, and 18-year-old elementary education major, is a graduate of South Tahoe high school and a resident of Tahoe Valley.

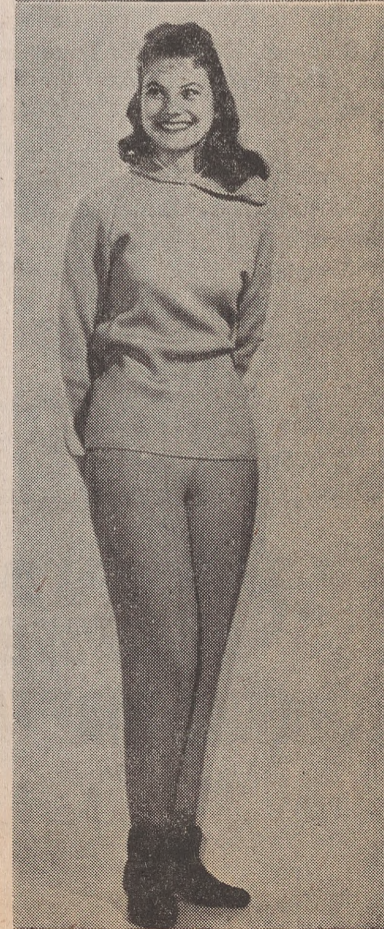

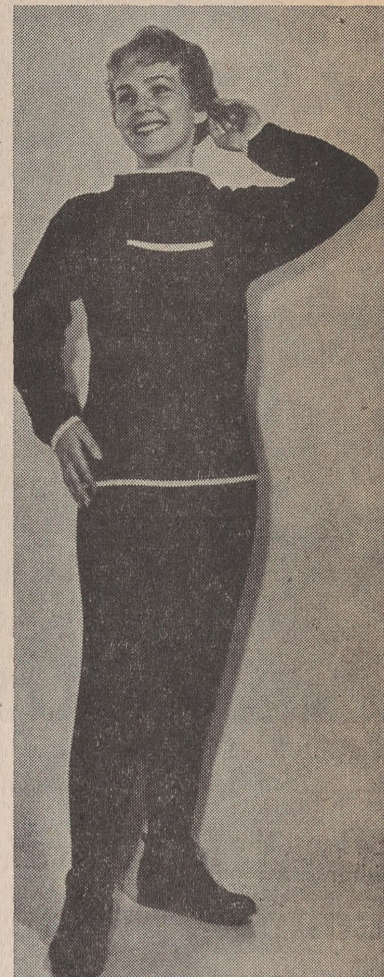

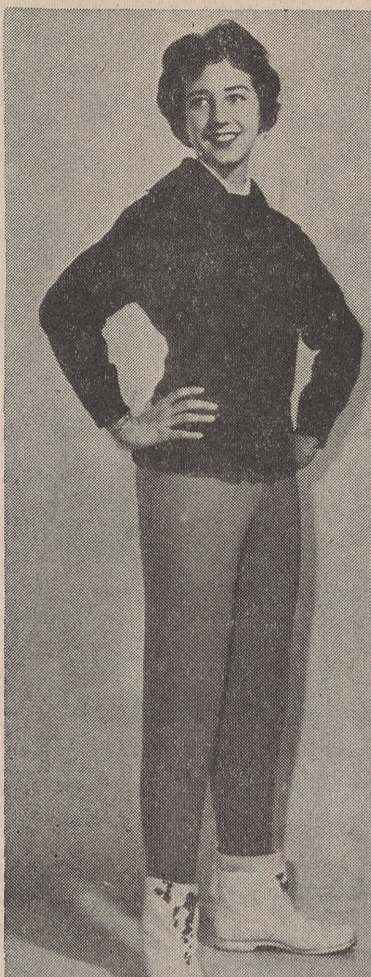

A graduate of Sparks high school and a resident of Sparks, Miss Roseman is a pre-med major. She is also one of the youngest contestants—age 17.

Eighteen-year-old Sandra Hall is a resident of Big Pine, Calif., and a graduate of Big Pine high school. She is majoring in elementary education.

Miss Parsons, an 18-year-old home economics major, is a resident of Reno and graduated from local Reno high school.

Biology major Marilyn Madsen is 18-years-old and lives in Reno. She is also a Reno high grad.

Vote on Council Changes Planned for Wednesday

Any or all of the five Senate-proposed changes to the Student Judicial Council constitution may be accepted by a majority vote in next Wednesday's ASUN general election.

The proposed changes were drawn up by a Senate committee after the recent controversy over the Office of Student Affairs' power during council cases.

REGISTRATION scene: "What do we do now?"

New Semester On

Although a few stragglers are still coming in, the majority of students weathered the mid-year stress of registration and started classes yesterday morning.

Registration for spring semester, maneuvered with a few changes from the fall, was held Wednesday. At 2 p.m., one-half of the students, about 1300, had registered and paid their fees.

The entire procedure went "much smoother" this semester than before, according to Dr. Sam Basta, dean of student affairs. The financial end—certifying loans and other financial arrangements—was the most confused and took the most time, said Dr. Basta.

As in past registrations, sign-up for most classes were held in the New Gym, which opened at 8:30 a.m. Mobs of students queued outside the doors at early morning hours, anticipating an early finish

The five changes provide for: (1) removing the Office of Student Affairs' representative from council membership, (2) informing the defendant of the council's decision at its next regular meeting, (3) the defendant receiving a written copy of the council's decision; and in the event the Office of Student Affairs imposes a different decision, an explanatory written statement coming from that office, (4) a monthly report of the nature of council cases to Senate, to the executive committee, and to the students through the Sagebrush, and (5) the council, the Office of Student Affairs, and the faculty disciplinary committee establishing written definitions of the five recommendations which would be followed by all three groups.

The five recommendations made when trying students for "conduct unbecoming a student of the University of Nevada" are acquittal, warning, probation, suspension, and dismissal.

The five proposed changes, collectively, lessen the Office of Student Affairs' control, provide for wider student knowledge of council proceedings, and determine time limits and definitions on council proceedings.

An ID or ASUN card entitles a student to vote.

SAGEBRUSH EDITOR, Donald O'Donnell seems to have finally found something that amuses him, "his thumbs."

'Behind the Scenes'

'Editor A Tyrant, in Wrong Age'

By Marybeth Hockel, Managing Editor

He's a tyrant and he is living in the wrong period of newspaper history.

Sensationalism and an eccentric choice in news values (according to various people-around-campus) have become trademarks of this year's Sagebrush editor, Don O'Donnell. The outspoken editor, better known as D. A. O'Donnell (but who knows what the A. stands for?), has been to the Nevada campus this year what Hearst and Pulitzer's "Yellow Kid" was to the moralists in the period of sensational, "yellow journalism."

O'Donnell is against what most "good" editors are usually for. He has taken stands against the traditional ways and means of campus student government . . . he has slammed the student court time and again . . . and he has had sinister run-ins with Sundowners for opposing them.

Perhaps it is the "beatnik" influence of his hometown, San Francisco, which has given birth to this radical rabble-rouser's attitudes on the "cow country atmosphere" which, he believes, prevails on the Nevada campus. Being a senior journalism major, O'Donnell knows the "Canons of Journalism" and the "Laws of the Press," but he still has had his disagreements this year, as when the entire ATO house was on his back.

As a matter of fact, feelings have gotten so heated over O'Donnell's tactics that he has become the main topic of many cocktail parties, beer bust and jam session knock-down-drag-out discussions. Especially in early November, when his editorial policy was all in favor of one national political candidate, the editor was fast on his way to being an island—even though they say that no man should be an island. By supporting a Republican candidate, O'Donnell broke a long-time Sagebrush tradition. Democrats were furious with him for taking a stand in the first place, besides breaking tradition, and Republicans were antagonized by his blunt remarks.

Some of O'Donnell's better editorials have been "Sunset for the Sundowners," "Nixon for President," "A Time of Decision," "The Megquier Case," "A Change Is Needed," "Tree Trimming," "No Purpose" and "No Purpose Revisited."

A man of many feelings and personal beliefs, O'Donnell was all set to transfer schools this springs because of the "intellectual stagnation" at Nevada. His chosen campus was Cal at Berkeley—where radicals rant at will and are not lone men on the totem poles.

However, the challenge of this "backwoods" school lured him back and he is once again Sagebrush editor. Now all the student body can do is sit back and wait to see what will come next from this radical whose favorite saying is "Tradition Is Stagnation."

Student Court Changes Listed

The following are the proposed changes to the Student Judicial Council constitution.

QUESTION NO. 1

Subsection 5 of Article I, section A, which reads "Dean of Student Affairs or his designated representative (ex-officio; with out vote)" and subsection 4 of Section C of the same Article, which reads "Advisor—Dean of Student Affairs or his designated representative.

- (a) Non-voting member of council.
- (b) Provides information on University policy.
- (c) Liasion between the Student Judicial Council and non-University persons (civic groups, parents, attorneys, etc.)
- (d) Informs the council of the cases coming into the Office of Student Affairs that are within the jurisdiction of the council be deleted. And further that subsection 2 of Article V, section C be changed to read: 'All cases will be introduced by the Office of Student Affairs. The introduction will include the nature of the complaint, the source of the complaint, factual data on the defendant as obtained from University records, and furnish information on University policy regarding the case.

QUESTION NO. 2

Subsection 1 of Article V, section F be changed to read: "The defendant will be summoned and told of the decision of the Council at its next regular meeting. He or she will be given opportunity at this time to present any further facts in mitigation or extenuation of the decision. The defendant will be informed of his rights of appeal."

QUESTION NO. 3

That the following be placed under subsection I of Article V, section F and labeled part (a): "The defendant will receive a written opinion which has been filed with the Office of Student Affairs, stating the Council's recommendations. If the Office of Student Affairs deems it necessary to render a different decision, the defendant will receive a copy of the dean's opinion, stating the terms of the decision and reasons for not adopting the council's recommendations."

QUESTION NO. 4:

Subsection 3 of Article V, section F to be changed to read: "The Student Judicial Council shall make a public report as to the disposition of cases handled during the preceding month. This report shall be given to Senate, the Executive Committee, and made available for publication in the Sagebrush."

QUESTION NO. 5

Section A of Article III be changed to read: Enumeration of Powers: The Student Judicial Council is not designed to effect disciplinary action. Its immediate function are to investigate, adjudicate, and recommend appropriate action to the Dean of Student Affairs. Each violation coming before the Student Judicial Council will be handled in the manner demanded by the individual situation. Recommendations of acquittal, warning, probation, suspension and dismissal from the University will be used by the Student Judicial Council as guides for suitable action. A written definition of the above recommendations shall be established by the council, the Office of Student Affairs, and the Faculty Disciplinary Committee, and adhered to by all three of these bodies."

Forms Still Out

Sagebrush questionnaire forms will still be available throughout next week, editor D. A. O'Donnell has announced.

The forms have been in the student union and the dining commons for the last several weeks for students to pick up. The questionnaire was put out to give the Sagebrush staff, reader opinion and ideas.

O'Donnell said that a final tabulations of the forms will be made sometime next week and a sample of the replies will be printed in next Friday's paper.

Registration: Crowds, Lines and Confusion

REGISTRATION Wednesday again brought confusion, long lines, and frayed tempers upon students and faculty members. As of late Wednesday approximately 1300 students had registered and paid their fees. The final day for registration is Monday, Feb. 13, and no final figures will be available before that time.

... Registration

to the hectic registration struggle. New students and returning students without identification cards had photographs taken in the student union for the cards, which had to be validated for the start of the semester. Some faculty members also had identification cards made merely for identification purposes.

Two changes in registration set-up were having room 104, Ross Hall, open for the checking of class cards and lines formed outside, and forming the line for fee assessment and payment through the entrance to the dining commons and ending downstairs in the student union. The entire system for registration showed more organization and made it easier for students, observed members of student service organizations.

Members of Sagens and Pages, women's service organizations, and Blue Key, men's service organization, assisted with registration. ASUN cards were distributed by Benny Echeverria, student body president, and ASUN secretary, Joyce Casazza. Cards are still available in Echeverria's office, upstairs in the student union.

"Thank God it's over for another semester," was breathed by numerous students as they trudged out of the ASUN bookstore laden with books. The ordeal was lessened by clear weather and an only-damp grounds from recent rains.

Another innovation at registration were the class permit cards, which students carried to each class. Purpose of the cards is to help the instructor in keeping class attendance and to provide official enrollment information for each course.

Orientation and testing for about 180 new and transfer students was held Monday. A welcome assembly was held Monday evening in the Education auditorium. Greetings were extended by Charles Armstrong, university president, Al Pagni, president of Blue Key, and Echeverria.

'Waste Maker,' Other Packard Books on Hand

Have you read, "The Waste Makers"?

Copies of this current best-seller by Vance Packard, who will lecture Feb. 17, in the dining commons, are now available on loan-out at the student union office, room 111, of the TUB.

The book deals with the subject of over-commercialization of our present way of life. It focuses on the efforts of producers to stimulate consumer - use artificially through wasteful living.

Also available are Packard's two previous best-selling books of social criticism, "The Hidden Persuaders," and "The Status Seekers."

"The Hidden Persuaders" deals with what Packard refers to as "psychological hooks" and their use by American business to increase sales through advertising-pressured consumption.

The role that class status plays in our presumably classless society, is the subject treated in "The Status Seekers."

Packard's lecture, and the availability of his books in connection with his appearance on campus, are being sponsored by the lecture committee of the student union board.

Gary Bullis, committee chairman, is acting as coordinator for the event.

Engen Ski Film Set for Tuesday

Sverre Engen, ski film photographer, editor, and exhibitor, will present "Ski Time USA" in the Education auditorium, Tuesday, Feb. 7, at 7:30 p.m.

The one-and-a-half hour ski film is in color with musical background with commentary by Engen.

Included in the film will be a demonstration of various ski techniques, plus a sequence showing deep snow skiing.

Other scenes were filmed at the 1960 Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley. This section highlights the jumping competition, some of it filmed in slow motion, and downhill racing events. A slalom exhibition by Olympics contestants is also included.

Sverre Engen, a ski pioneer, was active in jumping competition a quarter-century ago. He now devotes most of his time to the preparation and exhibition of ski-lecture films.

The admission will be 75 cents to everyone not carrying an ASUN card.

New Sunday Hours Planned for Union

The lounge of the Jot Travis Student building and the downstairs snack bar will be open from 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. on Sundays, beginning Feb. 5.

In announcing these new hours, Robert Kersey, director of student services, stated that this policy would be given a month's trial. If use of the areas involved warrants it, these Sunday hours will become permanent.

They were voted into effect at the last meeting of the student union board.

Previously the lounge and snack bar of the TUB were open only between 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Sunday.

Weekday operating hours will remain unchanged.

Nevada Gets Cancer Research Grant

A $60,000 ten-year grant from the Reno Cancer Center, Inc., to the Desert Research Institute of the University of Nevada to establish a program in cancer research was announced recently by Dr. Charles J. Armstrong, president.

The grant, at $6,000 per year, will be used to create and support part of the salary of the Allie M. Lee research professorship. Under the administrative direction of the Desert Research Institute the position would provide a joint program in cancer research and instruction in the Orvis School of Nursing.

Legislative support will be sought to establish the position effective July 1, 1961, Dr. Armstrong said. Notification of approval of the grant was given by Dean C. Fletcher of Reno, chairman of the medical research committee of the Reno Cancer Center, Inc., headed by Mrs. Boyd Hammond of Reno, president.

Plans call for the grant to support cancer research and instruction in the nursing school in the field of pharmacology.

Cancer research, which Dr. Fletcher said today would be the first such research to be conducted within the State of Nevada, will be undertaken in a specially equipped laboratory in the Max C. Fleischmann College of Agriculture.

The professorship, named in honor of the late Allie M. Lee, wife of a late New Mexico and Texas oilman and major benefactress of the Reno Cancer Center, Inc., and whose sister, Mrs. Thomas Eddy is a Reno resident, calls for a least one-half time research in the field of cancer, and part time instruction in the nursing school.

Dr. Armstrong said that the grant will be considered again in December of 1970 as to the possibility of a ten year extension.

Concerning the Reno Cancer Center, Inc., Dr. Fletcher added that "Our organization is primarily concerned with helping to find a cure for cancer and helping to alleviate the pain of the people who have already contracted the disease."

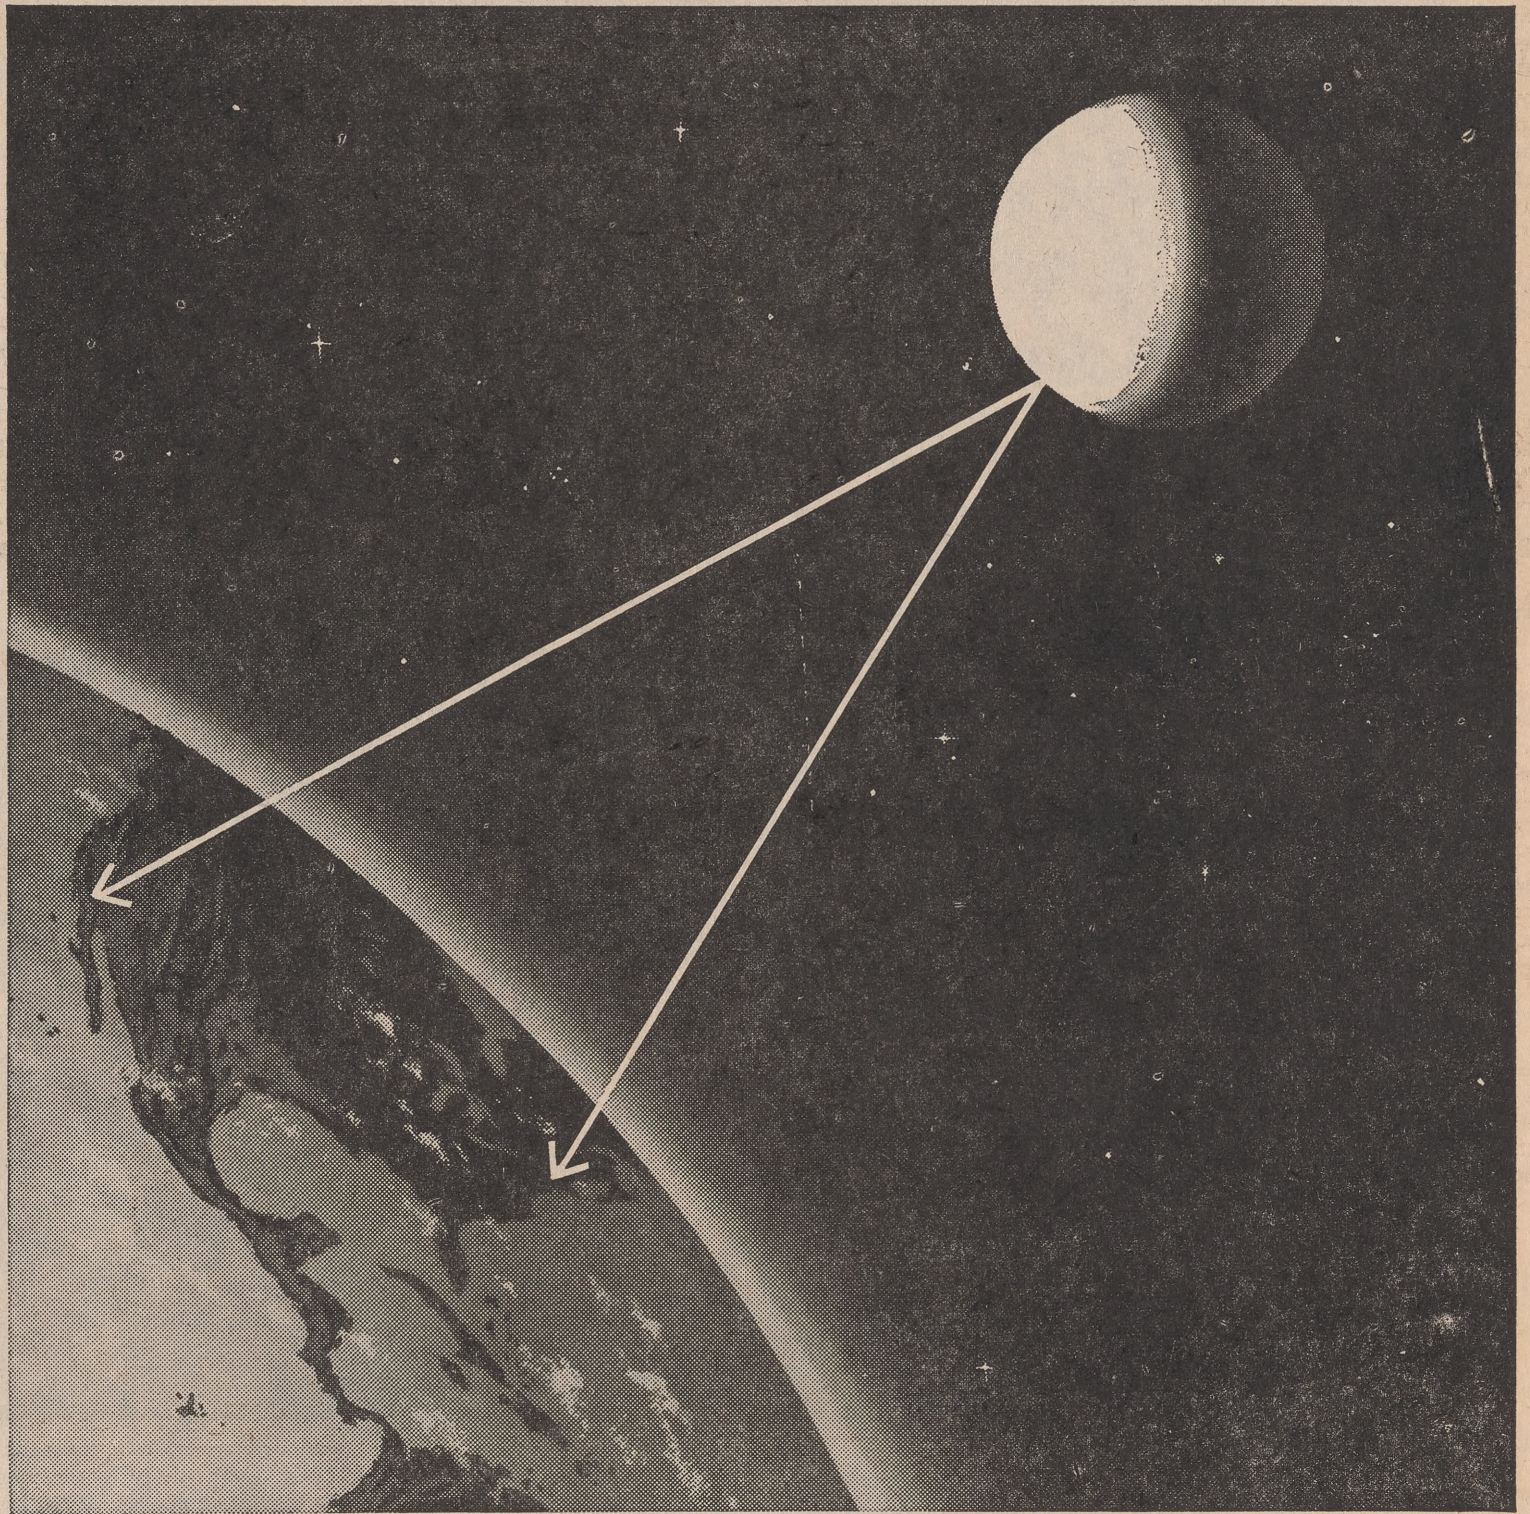

President Armstrong commented that the grant is one more important step in the development of the Desert Research Institute and a very important contribution to the program of the Orvis School of Nursing.

Budget Cuts Could Up Fees -- President

The raising of student fees or cutting enrollment at the University of Nevada may become necessary if budget cuts continue, it was pointed out by President Charles J. Armstrong at a recent Board of Regents meeting.

The operating budget for the next two years has been established by University officials at $6,896,000 the first year, and $7,694,000 the second year. Of this amount $5,392,000 would be state appropriation during the coming fiscal year, and $6,149,000 in state appropriations the following year.

Of these amounts, some appropriation cuts were recommended by Governor Grant Sawyer. However, the governor has recommended the full $4 million requested for capital improvements during the next two years at the University, President Armstrong added.

During the meeting, regents approved a time payment plan for tuition and board for students who cannot pay the entire amount at registration time.

The plan for deferred payment of tuition for in-state students was set up as follows: $36 on registration day, $37 at the first of the next month, and $37 the first of the second month. Out-of-state payments will be $87, $88, and $88, on the same schedule. These fees include a $3 handling charge for resident tuition and $5 for non-resident tuition.

Board and room payments will be on the same schedule of $125 each for the three periods, including a $5 handling fee.

The plan will become effective in the fall of 1961.

Regents also approved the purchase of twenty acres of land in Moapa Valley, four miles south of Logandale, for an agricultural experiment station. The purchase price, including water rights, is $7,000.

In action on personnel matters, regents accepted the resignation of Perry W. Hayden as comptroller and treasurer of the University effective Feb. 1.

After 15 years as University comptroller, he resigned Dec. 24, following a controversy involving a transfer of funds. Henry Hattori was appointed acting comptroller until a successor is appointed to the position. He was formerly chief accountant at the University.

A post-retirement appointment for one year beginning June 30, was approved for Professor A. L. Higginbotham, journalism department chairman.

Higginbotham began teaching journalism at the University in 1923, after working as state editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer in Cleveland, Ohio.

The following professors were put on tenure effective July 1, 1961; Howard Christensen, College of Agriculture; L. Clair Christensen, Agricultural Extension Service; Donald W. Marble, Agricultural Experiment Station; John L. Carrico, Arts and Science; George Herman, Arts and Science; Walter Stanley Palmer, Jr., Business Administration; Donald G. Potter, Education; Robert B. McKee, Engineering; Aleksis von Volborth, Mackay School of Mines; Jerry W. Dye, Southern Regional Division, and Alice D. Mason, Southern Regional Division.

SPOTS OPEN

Spots are still open in the cast of the spring musical, according to Dr. William Miller. Dr. Miller has suggested that any persons interested in trying out see him or Ronald Williams in the Fine Arts building at the earliest possible time.

The Port of San Francisco has more freight and cargo-passenger arrivals and departures to world ports than any other western seaport.

JAZZ BY TJADER—Vibraphone technique by Cal Tjader will be just part of the show as he brings his quintet to Nevada Feb. 24 for a New Gym concert.

Tjader Quintet Set for New Gym -- $1.25 Price Planned

The Cal Tjader quintet, popular recording jazz group, will appear in concert on campus, Feb. 24.

The appearance of this group in the new gym will be the first show this year by a major jazz group at the university.

Admission will be $1.25 per person.

Tjader first came to prominence as a drummer for Dave Brubeck's trio in 1948. Later he toured as featured vibraphonist with George Shearing quintet before forming his own group.

Winner of the Down Beat New Star award in 1952, Tjader was the first vibraphonist so honored.

Besides drums and vibes, he also plays piano. He is the composer of numerous tunes which the group features. Tjader also writes his own group arrangements.

In addition to Tjader, his present group features: Lonnie Hewitt, pianist; Al McKibbin, bassist; and drummers, Willie Bobo, and Mon-

Albums recorded by this versatile combo are currently high on best-seller lists in the jazz and Latin music fields.

Their local concert will include show music, jazz specialties, modern jazz ballads, and Latin numbers.

They are being brought to the University by the student union board, which sponsored the Dave Brubeck campus appearance here last year.

Phi Sigma Kappa Moves to New Spot

Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity has moved to a new location at University Terrace and Sierra Street. The group started the move last Friday and completed it early this week.

The fraternity moved from 705 N. Virginia to 877 N. Sierra. The group has the new house on a two-year lease, with plans to build new quarters by the end of that time.

Housing 21 men, the new house has been extensively remodeled on the interior. Almost all of the moving and remodeling work was done by members of the fraternity.

Phi Sig president Richard Gwyn expressed delight at the new quarters. "We have a great deal more space than we had before, and living conditions will be much better here."

The group will not have Winter Carnival house decorations this year, said Gwyn, because all possible work time will have to be devoted to fixing up the house.

Everything Is 90% 'Great Decisions' Series Set

By RICHARD MORRIS

Recently, lured by an offer of beer, I attended a Brushfire staff meeting. Shortly after I arrived, the great literary minds of the campus had made an important policy decision. It was decided that since the Brushfire is a literary magazine, the short stories published in this annual publication must not conform to the standard American formula of no plot and an abundance of sex; instead they will have no plot and no sex.

The next item on the agenda was discussion of the financial condition of the Brushfire. Former editor Cecelia Clayton was asked the cost of printing the 1960 edition. Cecelia guessed at an approximate figure. She was, however, able to state that the magazine had gone $900 into the red or "something like that."

Editor Alan Berry then asked about the advertising revenue. Cecelia couldn't answer this question either.

Upon mention of advertising, a heated discussion ensued about whether advertising in the 1961 issue should be regulated to the back, spread throughout the magazine, or cut out entirely. After long debate, it was definitely decided that advertising should be relegated to the back, spread throughout the magazine, or cut out entirely. Several staff members conclusively demonstrated that the Brushfire could not possibly make money on advertising, while several others showed that it is impossible not to make money on advertising.

The next topic was the question of whether the name "Brushfire," which is often confused with "Sagebrush," should be changed. Richard McConaughy suggested "Backwash," but was immediately outdone by someone who suggested "Cesspool." The name of the magazine was not changed.

At this point, several of the great minds present pointed out that they were unable to think without beers in their hands. That their observation was correct was demonstrated by the great number of important points which were made when the conversation turned to a discussion of the problems of making home brew.

O'Donnell thinks that the Eye (Hungry) should write in a more scandalous manner. Therefore, whenever Marilyn is around, everyone please discuss theology. (This is very scandalous; college students are supposed to talk about nothing but sex.) If this suggestion is followed, we can read such items as: "Guess who was seen discussing theology with Dean Mobley out at Shakey's?"

In the event that you have been wondering about the purpose of that little yellow light on top of the Union building, you will find it enlightening to know that Bob Kersey had it installed to induce people to come in and ask, "Why?" Kersey usually replies that he installed it to get people to come in and ask, "Why?"

Toddy Watkins has promised to suggest another subject for this columnist to write about in the event that none of her panties are stolen. (See the last 90% column if you don't understand.)

Various people have commented that 90% is 180 proof, that everything is 90% sex, that everything is 99% sex, and that everything is 100% sex. Although I cannot dispute these statements, I must remind everyone that the title of this column refers to Sturgeon's Law which states: "Everything is 90% crud."

Those of you who have read the quotations from the writings of the great ancient Chinese poet Li Po, may find the legendary story of his death rather interesting. Although we really do not know how he died, the legend certainly follows the pattern of his life.

Li Po was riding in a boat while consuming copious quantities of wine in order to be able to write in a more inspired manner. As he looked over the side, he saw the reflection of the moon in the water, and finding the sight very beautiful, he leaped into the water and tried to grasp it.

A program designed to help increase public participation in the formation of U.S. foreign policy is "Great Decisions," being sponsored for the first time this year by the University of Nevada's Statewide Services.

"Great Decisions" is an annual review by hundreds of thousands of Americans of the most important international problems facing the people and the government of the United States. It has been offered nationally since 1955 by the Foreign Policy Association-World Affairs Center, a nonpartisan, non-governmental educational agency. There are programs in all 50 states, and in over 1,000 American communities.

The core of "Great Decisions" is a small, informal discussion group made up of friends and neighbors, meeting in a private home at their own convenience once a week for eight weeks. There are no dues and no need for a "teacher" or trained "discussion leader."

Each individual or couple has a fact sheet kit, containing an introductory booklet, eight fact sheets, eight opinion ballots, reading lists, discussion questions, and tips for discussion leaders and participants.

The topics for discussion are: Deadlock over Germany, Soviet Challenge and World Leadership, France and Western Unity, Japan Future of an Ally, South Africa and an Explosive Continent, The Americas in Jeopardy, Arms and Survival, and Blueprints for the World Economy.

Dr. Lloyd Drury, dean of statewide services, said, "During 1961 'Great Decisions' will help you make up your own mind what national goals and policies will best secure our American freedoms. Some of the concrete things you can do are: 1) get the facts on important, headline issues of foreign policy; 2) talk over the facts, in the American way, with your friends and neighbors, in your own home, at a time that's convenient for you; 3) gain a deeper understanding and reach your own individual opinions on these critical issues of U.S. foreign policy; 4) let your opinions be heard by policy-makers in Washington — send your opinion ballots, along with hundreds of thousands of other "Great Decisions" participants, to Congress and the State Department. This way you help democracy work—you take a personal part in the great national debate on the future of U.S. foreign policy."

Each member of the group fills out his or her ballot, registering individual opinions. Complete instructions are printed on each ballot, explaining how to get the opinions into the hands of local Congressmen and Senators, and to the Office of Public Services of the U.S. Department of State.

The FPA center takes no stand on political issues. It believes strongly, however, in broad scale public participation in the continuing national debate on foreign affairs. It therefore provides nonpartisan background materials which make it possible for any interested citizen to learn the facts and to make up his or her own mind on critical issues facing the nation.

"Great Decisions" is statewide or community wide. Elsewhere it may be a few interested citizens, meeting as a single discussion group. The University of Nevada programs begins Feb. 5.

For further information on the "Great Decisions" program, contact Statewide Services, Stewart Hall, University of Nevada, Fairview 3-2081, Ext. 441.

Carnival Banquet 'Open' this Year

The Winter Carnival banquet will be open to all students this year, it was announced recently by Robert Kersey, director of student services. In previous years student attendance was limited.

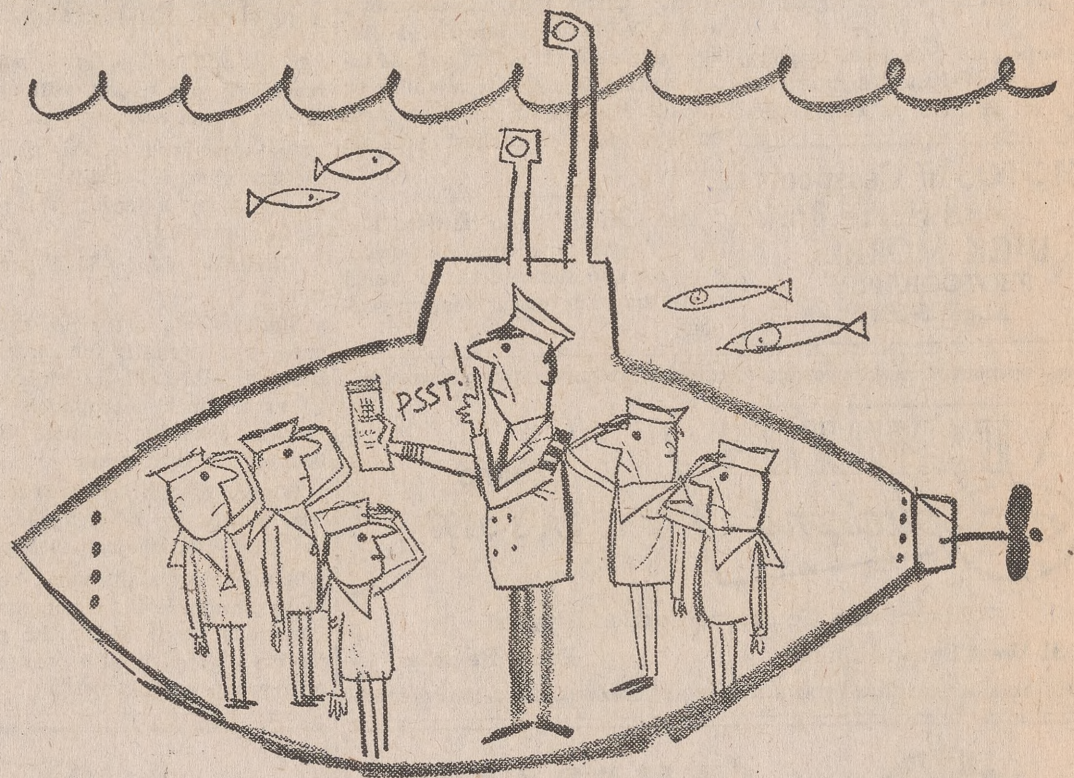

The banquet will be in the dining commons beginning at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 11.

Each of the 12 schools competing in Winter Carnival events has been asked to present a skit at the banquet.

Reservations for the event may be made in person at the student union office, room 111. A charge of $2.50 per plate must be paid at the time reservations are made. The deadline for accepting reservations will be noon, Friday, Feb. 10.

Following the banquet will be the Winter Carnival dance which is being held at the new Reno Elks' hall located at 597 Kumle Lane, just west of South Virginia street. The dance will begin at 9 p.m.

BOYS! Are you looking for a room? Kitchen available for light cooking. Clean and homelike. Within walking distance from the University. Call Mrs. Draper, 50 Bisby St. FA 2-4480. $10.00 per week.

Nevada Boxers Meet Cal Poly

Nevada's boxing season opens tonight at San Luis Obispo, Calif., where the Wolf Pack boxers meet up with ringmen of Cal Poly.

Coach Jimmie Olivas of Nevada is pleased that 11 bouts have been arranged for the match. Olivas has a large training squad and his schedule for 1961 has been cut back to four team matches because of schools withdrawing from boxing.

At least one and possibly two of the Nevada-Cal Poly bouts will be no-decision affairs, however.

Mills Lane, Nevada's NCAA welterweight champion, will meet Walt Hailey former NCAA finalist in an exhibition. Hailey has been ruled ineligible by the California Collegiate Boxing Conference—to which Cal Poly belongs.

Six Cal Poly boxers have been ruled out of conference boxing on grounds that they are "too experienced" for collegiate competition.

Freddie Matrin 152 pounds and a 1960 Collegiate All-American, will meet Jerry Tobin, Nevada junior with one year of ring experience. Olivas is uncertain whether this bout will count in the scoring Friday Martin is among the ineligible. 1959 NCAA finalist.

Wolf Pack 'Crucial' Tonite Against Sacramento State

The University of Nevada Wolf Pack heads into a crucial game tonight as it meets the hottest team in the Far Western Conference, the Sacramento State Hornets, in a battle for the league lead.

That lead currently belongs to Coach Jack Spencer's Nevada team, which includes a 4-0

FWC record in its over-all 7-6.

The Hornets, on the other hand, are 3-0 in the six-team conference and with a Tuesday verdict over Chico State in a non-leaguer are 12-5 for the campaign to date.

Coach Ev Shelton's Green and Gold from the California capitol city has not lost a game since the post-Christmas Chico Invitational tournament, and now has won five in a row.

The skein includes Humboldt State (59-45), the Cal Aggies (82-66) and San Francisco State (63-49) within the conference, plus Humboldt (60-55) and Chico State (75-56) outside the league.

A win tonight would put the Hornets in good position, since the Far Western Conference this season adopted a split home-and-home schedule, with teams meeting each other on both courts during the campaign.

Nevada, meanwhile, will be trying to get back on the winning track after dropping two decisions last weekend to tough Loyola in Los Angeles. The Wave last night trimmed University of San Francisco, 65-57, in San Francisco to extend its record.

The Wolf Pack has completed its schedule against both Chico State and Humboldt State, with a 4-0 sweep of those two series.

Tomorrow's opposition for the Nevada team in Reno will be provided by the California Aggie Mustangs from Davis, now 0-1 in the conference and 1-11 over-all.

Coach Jim Sells' Aggies have won only from University of California at Riverside (86-55), but have lost some of their decisions to rough competition.

The three times Aggie opponets have gone over the 100-point mark, it has been done by good teams. Memphis State did it, 118-52, Bradley followed by 102-65, and last week Ed Burgess scored 52 points to lead Gonzaga of Washington to a 123-79 verdict.

Preliminaries Friday and Saturday will match the Nevada Frosh against Hawthorne Marines and Susanville Texaco, game time both nights at 6:30 p.m.

Engineers!

Scientists!

WE'RE LOOKING
YOU

Last year we had the pleasure of meeting many engineering and science seniors during our visit to the campus. As a result of our discussions, a gratifying number chose to join our company.

We'll be back on the dates below, and this notice is your invitation to come in and see us.

If you're interested in joining a company that's a leader in fields-with-a-future, you'll be interested in the advantages Boeing can offer you. Boeing is a major contractor on the advanced solid-fuel ICBM, Minuteman; on the boost-glide vehicle, Dyna-Soar, and on the BOMARC defense missile system. Boeing's Vertol Division is one of the country's foremost builders of helicopters.

Boeing is also the nation's foremost designer and builder of multi-jet aircraft. Production includes eight-jet B-52G missile bombers, KC-135 jet transport-tankers and the famous Boeing 707, 720 and 727 jet airliners.

Research projects at Boeing include celestial mechanics, solid state physics, nuclear and plasma physics, advanced propulsion systems, and space flight.

Expanding programs offer exceptional career opportunities to holders of B.S., M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in aeronautical, mechanical, civil, electrical-electronic and industrial engineering, and in engineering mechanics, engineering physics as well as in mathematics and physics. At Boeing you'll work in a small group where individual ability and initiative get plenty of visibility. You'll enjoy many other advantages, including an opportunity to take graduate studies at company expense to help you get ahead faster.

We hope you'll arrange an interview through your Placement Office. We're looking forward to meeting you.

Ski Team To Be In Donner Meet

The University of Nevada ski team will take part in the Far West Ski Association ski tourney at Donner Ski Ranch on Highway 40 this weekend. The meet will be co-hosted by four colleges including Nevada, Chico State, Sierra College and San Jose State.

California and Stanford are also entered.

Competition will be in four events. Downhill will be held today. The slalom will be on Saturday morning, followed by cross country in the afternoon. The meet will be climaxed on Sunday with the jumping event.

According to co-coaches Les Hawkins and Bill Bulkley, the following eight skiers will represent Nevada; Jon Madsen, who won the jump at the first collegiate competition early this season; Doug Salter, a strong fourway competitor; Dick Dorworth, who excels in Alpine events but is also reliable in cross country and jumping; Tom Jones, a fourway point-gainer; Larry Cheney, Alpine specialist; Bob Heaney, who is strong in jumping; Harry Swainston, cross country reliable; and Dave Jones, who excels in cross country and jumping.

Five Court Changes Deserve Yes Votes by All Students

THE FIVE PROPOSED changes of the Student Judicial Council constitution which will be voted upon by students at next Wednesday's special election have a great deal of merit and warrant yes votes by every member of the ASUN. THE PROPOSALS which will be voted upon mark a step forward in the greatly needed reform of the student court. The Sagebrush has in the past advocated more extensive changes in the court constitution, but the presently proposed changes are indeed worth unto themselves.

THERE ARE SEVERAL major reasons why students should support the proposed changes. First, the changes will tend to make the organization more of a student run operation than it is now. Second, the changes will greatly help those persons brought before the court because it will give them more of a chance to know just where they stand in regards to procedure and possible disciplinary action. The setting down of concrete definitions of the five possible recommendations of the court will help to eliminate misunderstandings arising out of decisions. Third, the proposal of monthly reports to the students on council activities will allow the ASUN at least a general idea of what is happening with the court throughout the year and will provide a basis of knowledge of court activities for possible further revisions of the organization's constitution.

THESE ARE JUST SEVERAL of the reasons why the proposed changes warrant approval by the students. But these few reasons can give you, the student, an idea of the worthiness of the proposals.

ON THE BASIS of these reasons primarily the Sagebrush urges approval of all five proposed changes and urges that every student vote in this special election to show that the student body is interested in the principle of constructive court reform.

Signal Placement At 'Death Corner' Shows ASUN Power

THE WORK BEING presently done on the installation of a traffic light at the Ninth and Virginia "Death Corner" provides a striking example of what student government can do when its power is applied to something of other than social interest to the students. It forcefully demonstrates the constructive possibilities of the ASUN.

DEAN OF STUDENT AFFAIRS Samuel Basta tried for years to have a traffic signal placed at that intersection, but it was only after an aroused student body organization got to work that bureaucratic wheels finally began to turn.

THIS IS THE type of action that benefits all the students of this University. Unfortunately, Nevada students have seen little action of this type in recent years. Possibly this and the Senate work on academic standards will mark a change in the attitude of student government.

IN ANY CASE congratulations from the Sagebrush are in order for the three prime movers in the effort to get a traffic control system at the intersection. ASUN President Ben Echeverria, Dean of Student Affairs, Samuel Basta, and Paul Bible did a fine job in the effort to eliminate the danger at the Ninth and Virginia corner.

Why Not?

By BILL ADAMS

For the benefit of the students that asked the question, "Where is the new registration policy we heard about?"—it will not take effect until the Fall semester. As you know, Dr. Kenneth Young, vice president of the University, held several meetings concerning the confusion and chaos immediately following September's registration. The purpose was to formulate a new system that would help alleviate the long lines and cut down on the amount of paper work and signatures one has to acquire.

It is my understanding that the registration will be more centralized in the future. That is to say, that it may be possible for a student to start and finish registering without leaving the confines of the gymnasium.

At this point I would like to thank the students who took the time to fill out the Sagebrush questionnaire and were kind enough to list "Why Not" as one of their favorite columns.

Watch out for our upcoming track team—even though the track has been very muddy from the much needed storm—these men can be seen training every afternoon at Mackay stadium. Last year the team broke many long standing records both at the NCAA meet and here at Nevada. One man to watch very closely is Bruce Truman, a recent arrival from Ogden, Utah, who specializes in the two mile. As in any sport the men train very hard—show them there is still some school spirit and attend the track meets, as well as dropping around during practice.

It has been suggested by a number of students that a course should be offered on "How to Study." It was pointed out to me during the reading period and final week that students wasted many hours of their time because they did not know how to study. Of course, you can say that this problem is basically one in the freshmen class.

But then I feel that all of us learn some new tricks every semester. Such a course would at least help incoming students with the basic and fundamental problems of studying, which would help them in their remaining years at this institution.

The Nevada State Legislature is currently in session and one of the high points in the president's budget will be the new addition of the Jot Travis Union. He will ask the state to match the funds which we already have from the Travis estate. The new wing will offer more meeting room space for campus organizations, a browsing library, a music listening room where one can read while listening to the latest classical and popular records.

The new facility will also have more office space. Many of you may not know that the Sagebrush and Artemisia staffs still hold forth in the old student union, (south of the main gate)—they will have some of the above mentioned space. This, of course, will allow some future editor the opportunity to be with student government in the same building—which could prove to be very interesting.

As it now stands there will also be a large recreational area with several pool tables, ping-pong, and shuffle boards. Eight lanes of bowling alleys will be provided which will give the student body a chance to enjoy the game without paying the high rates that the downtown establishments charge. As many of you know, it is very difficult to bowl because of the numerous bowling leagues in this town—you have to bowl during the day or not at all.

Also, the University plans to put the health facility on the third floor. This will place the infirmary in the center of the dormitory complex, as well as in the heart of the campus.

Girls—attend the Y.W.C.A. fashion show—today at 2:00 in the TUB. Why not?
