

Armstrong Names Goals For Leaders

"The times in which we live demand the best in us, and human intellect is our greatest resource."

Those were the remarks of University President Charles J. Armstrong as he addressed close to 50 students Saturday night during leadership conference at Lake Tahoe.

The President explained the role of student government in the academic life of the University as one of leadership in encouraging scholastic excellence and other related objectives within the University.

He told the campus leaders that they are "in a uniquely important position to mould opinion." The President said "the success of the University's plans," such as the new honors program and the advanced studies being conducted by the Desert Research Institute, "depend on the spirit of the student body."

He stressed that it is time for intellectual attainment and scholastic excellence to receive their deserved respectability.

President Armstrong said his greatest hope is to make the University of Nevada "the best small state school in the nation" and said he believes this is possible only if the entire University community has the spirit and conviction to carry it through.

The President listed three responsibilities of the University in the areas of instruction, public service, and research, and termed the Desert Research Institute as "one of the best ways to develop the University."

He explained this by saying that the DRI's studies

"stimulate scholarship within the University, and will help the state, western region, and the nation as a whole as it studies ways of using the resources of the desert without spoiling its natural beauty."

The President also spoke highly in favor of academic freedom but emphasized the adage that with freedom comes responsibility.

He said "freedom without responsibility is mere license," and that "the editor, lecturer and writer must be free to express their opinions" but these opinions must be based on facts.

President Armstrong said that only by the free flow of ideas can men and women make choices and determine their values of life. He said he has no fear of these choices based on education through freedom.

Males 21-23 Urged To Verify Status

Male students between the ages of 21 and 23 years of age are urged to contact the Office of Student Affairs for verification of their previous year's work following a recent meeting between Dean Sam Basta and Major General James A. May, State Director of Nevada Selective Service headquarters.

The verification can be completed on a Selective Service form available at the Dean's office according to the two officials.

General May advised that men students in these critical draft ages, in order to be deferred, must have been satisfactory during the previous school year.

Dean Basta confirmed that his office will assist in every way by providing these forms and helping students, who are also registrants of the Nevada Selective Service System, with their college deferments.

Both the State Director and the Dean of Student Affairs emphasized that registrants with prior military service of a year or more with the regular armed forces need not be concerned with this form at the present time.

General May also advised all registrants of the Nevada Selective Service system between the ages of 21 and 23 years and attending colleges or universities outside the state to secure this college student certificate from their school officials and forward it immediately to their local board.

Members of the Selective Service staff have been present during orientation lectures for new men students at the University to discuss the present draft situation and pertinent parts of the Selective Service laws.

Employment Service Will Announce Jobs

The student employment service has announced that all regular part-time hourly rate positions on campus will be listed with and filled, as vacancies occur, through the employment service.

The policy, new this year, will be effective immediately.

The University has found that students have a wide range of special skills and training. This new policy is designed to make better use of specific talents.

If a specific skill is desired to fill a listed position, for instance, the employing official need only call for a student with that talent.

In addition, the employment service has jobs listed from around the Reno-Sparks area that can serve as adequate part-time employment for many students.

All-Dorm Social Tomorrow Night

The University dining commons will be the site of the first all-dormitory social, Wednesday, Sept. 20. According to Louis Reece, social director of Lincoln Hall, all plans have been made, and only the official approval of the University is needed. The dance is sponsored by the four dormitories and is expected to be well attended.

As in the past, the social will take place from 7 to 10 p. m. in accordance with women students' hours. The Student Union stereo and intercom system will supply the music. Committee members plan to have student entertainment in the form of skits and talent displays during the course of the evening. Refreshments will be served.

This event is the first of many scheduled for dormitory residents this year and is being organized by the combined efforts of all four social representatives. This will be the first time the dining commons has been used for a dorm social, and all residents are urged to attend.

Chaperones for the affair will be Mr. and Mrs. Jack Spencer of the new dorm, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Haymond of Lincoln hall.

Hello-On-the-Hill Sat. Night To Be All-School Dance

The annual "Hello-on-the-Hill" dance will be held in the Student Union Saturday night—but minus two old features.

There will be no "Miss Hi" and "Mr. Hello" this year, said Joan Ruark, dance chairman.

The affair is an all-school dance. Miss Ruark predicted a sizeable attendance because the football game is out-of-town at Redlands.

Admission is $1.50 per couple or $1.00 stag. Dancing will run from 9 p.m.-12 midnight.

A MUMBO-JUMBO MESS of hands, arms and people is all that's visible in one of the hottest sections of "Infernosville" at the SAE's "Heaven and Hell" dance Saturday.

Rain Drives Dance Inside

Rain washed out the scheduled revival of Sigma Alpha Epsilon's tennis court dance Saturday night, so SAE's told their guests to "Go To Hell."

That was the message of one sign at a hastily-revamped "Heaven and Hell" dance held inside the SAE house when rain put the damper on the tennis court venture.

Furniture was cleared from the living room and downstairs area, with the former being "heaven" and the latter being "hell."

Bob Heaney, president, estimated close to 1,000 guests attended the all-school dance. He said the dance will be held next year, but preferably on the courts again.

Up until three years ago, the tennis court dance was the annual welcoming dance. When the "Hello-on-the-Hill" dance came into use, the tennis court romp was stomped. But Heaney said it will be held yearly from now on.

Don Porter's band played in one room, and record players supplied the music elsewhere.

The downstairs area was labeled "Infernosville."

Registration Sets All-Time Record

Initiating a new system of registration was the goal of the University's administration for the 1961 fall semester.

With catalogue and pens in hand, bewildered freshmen to phlegmatic seniors entered the new gym last Wednesday to register for their classes.

Located throughout the gymnasium floor were sectioned-off areas where staffs of the various departments were situated, waiting to enroll close to 2200 students.

Sororities Pledge 132 Last Night

Today on campus some 132 women students can be seen—by the farsighted—wearing those miniature symbols of their new social affiliations, sorority pledge pins.

Pledging ceremonies last night at the four national sororities marked the end of a week of rushing activities which started Sunday, Sept. 10, with the traditional introductory tea.

According to Aliceann Monaghan, Panhellenic president, pledging figures are Tri-Delta, 36; Kappa Alpha Theta, 33; Gamma Phi Beta, 32; and Pi Beta Phi, 32. When sorority rush week started, 164 women had been signed up for the several activities.

The University of Nevada Panhellenic council administered rush season under National Panhellenic rush policies. They observed both the pledge quota and chapter membership systems as recommended by the national council.

Mrs. Harry W. Kelley, a Panhellenic counselor from Oakland, Calif., worked all week helping the University Panhellenic council and its rush committee.

Panhellenic advisor and dean of women Elaine Mobley said of the recent rush season: "We consider it a very successful year."

The 132 new sorority women were ribbon pledged Saturday afternoon when rush ended to allow active members of the four sororities to leave after the last rush activity for leadership conference at Lake Tahoe.

Complete listing of sorority rush results will appear in Friday's Sagebrush.

Nurses To Sip Tea

Nursing students wishing to get acquainted with the faculty and other students in the Orvis School of Nursing are invited to attend a faculty-student tea. The event will be held in the faculty room of the dining commons, Sept. 20 from 4 to 5 p. m.

Those individuals who were fortunate enough to find room in the desired classes were completely registered within half an hour. Others, less fortunate, were noted running throughout the gym in search of an opening in a needed class.

For the first time, registration was centralized rather than scattered. That is, all enrolling of classes, payment of fees, and signing of cards was done in one central location rather than in several different areas throughout the school.

Another feature of the new registration system was controlled flow of traffic, maintained by enrolling students by admitting them to the gym in an unusual alphabetical order.

Instead of all students attempting to register as one mob, organized groups assembled according to last names and proceeded with registration.

Originator of the new system of registration is Dr. Jack Shirley, deputy registrar of the University.

Dr. Kenneth E. Young, executive vice president, praised the Sagers and Pages on "a fine job. These organizations helped to make things go smoothly and many thanks are due them."

Student ID photo cards will be the official student body cards for 1961-62.

This will eliminate one card that is a necessity and will also save the ASUN 150.00, Paul Bible, ASUN president explained.

Photos for ID cards are still being taken in the Sierra room of the student union building. ID cards are required of every student. Faculty members may also have cards made if they wish.

The Sierra room will be open Wednesday afternoon from 1 to 4 and Friday morning from 8 to 12, according to Dick Morris, photographer. A late charge of $2 is being made for each photo.

Editorial Comment

A SOMEWHAT BELATED welcome back is extended through this column to the many returning students and to the large number of new freshmen added this year to the University's population.

TO MEET THE EXPLOSION predicted last year by the registrar, the Sagebrush will appear twice a week on campus, Tuesday and Friday, in an effort to better serve students with more timely news coverage, both of coming events and those past.

THE UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA, with its current emphasis on raising academic standards, inaugurating honors programs of study, and more advanced research projects, is shifting in the direction of larger colleges and universities all over the country. Semi-weekly publication of the Sagebrush is directly in line with these changes: their success, to a large degree, depends on knowledge and support of them on the part of the entire campus community.

THE MAIN FORMAT of the Sagebrush will be that of a bulletin board. As the official student newspaper, it is published primarily to provide information of interest to the greater number of students. This can best be done with a smattering of news stories of general interest rather than with long and detailed information on a few campus affairs. AS TYPICAL ANY NEWSPAPER, there are a number of areas of news which receive better and more extensive "play" than others. Among those the Sagebrush more actively supports and which it terms "must go" are events which University President Charles J. Armstrong recently referred to in the field of "intellectual attainment and scholastic excellence."

A SECOND NEWS CATEGORY which the Sagebrush feels is more important to the general campus community are cultural events, such as lectures, plays, and speakers.

THE SAGEBRUSH DOES NOT OVERLOOK the fact that the University of Nevada is still basically a social campus and related news coverage will not be overlooked, but social news will be aimed at the entire student body and not merely at social fraternities and sororities. Regardless of staff-member affiliation, the Sagebrush will continue to be an independent newspaper serving a student body composed of more than two-thirds Independents.

EDITORIAL POLICY IN PAST YEARS has fluctuated from mildly to violently anti-student government, although editors are often cautioned to take a middle-of-the-road policy in commenting on campus politics. This year the Sagebrush is neither anti-student government nor will it take such a suggested editorial policy.

SOON AFTER HIS ELECTION LAST YEAR, ASUN President Paul Bible asked, "Let's not have another 'Sagebrush hassle' next year." The Sagebrush does not anticipate a "hassle" but will study the actions of government and comment and criticize through the editorial columns. News stories on student government will be objective and based on fact; however, the Sagebrush does not intend to cover campus politics so extensively as last year. It is felt that sports and social events hold more interest for the majority of students than the actual operations of government.

OFFICIAL VIEWS OF THE SAGEBRUSH will be expressed in the editorial column. All other opinions will be included in by-lined columns and signed letters to the editor. Students, faculty members, and the administration are encouraged to express their views through this publication.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, The Sagebrush:

Cordial greetings go from all of us in the University to all students, returning and new, as once again we begin another year in life in the University of Nevada.

It is your University; what it accomplishes, what it becomes, will depend in very large measure upon what you as students do, and believe in, and strive for.

Certainly the University is in the strongest position of its history, in terms of excellent faculties, ever-improving physical facilities, and expanding curricular and course programs.

Yet the ability of the University successfully to meet the challenge of the sixties will finally depend, not so much upon these important factors, as upon the spirit which you as students develop within the University community.

Your dedication to the cause of learning, your desire to explore with us the frontiers of human thought, your determination to use every facet of your abilities to extend those frontiers, your resolve to make the most of every opportunity provided you here, will mean the difference between success and mediocrity.

New programs developing in the University during this coming year—courses of study leading to the Ph. D. degree, Honors Programs, increasing emphasis on research, basic and applied, throughout the entire University, including many new and challenging areas of inquiry—symbolizing the importance which we place upon excellence. This means that scholarship and intellectual attainment have achieved a new respectability and an urgent importance within the University. The world tensions in which we live, and must continue to live for many years to come, demand the best that is in us, and that we do our best part to develop to the fullest our greatest national resource for survival, human intellect.

The year ahead will bring many other opportunities as well—for fun and relaxation in social activities, for participation in student organizations, and in the many extra-curricular activities related to University life. This is as it should be; but it is important that a proper balance be maintained between these interests and the basic intellectual concerns of the University community.

We wish for each of you success and satisfaction in all that you do here. I am confident that with your help we can make this the best year the University has ever had.

Charles J. Armstrong,
President

'Mud Money' Totals $805.11

Blue Key "muckers," with an admirable goal of dredging Manzanita lake, netted $805.11 when they kicked off their campaign project last Wednesday, registration day.

According to Bob Blair, overall chairman for the drive to gather $9,000 to have the lake dredged and refilled, $600 of the sum collected came from members of the freshman class.

"Project Mud," Blue Key's name for their campaign, was dreamed up by the upperclassmen's organization as a service project to help beautify the campus.

The group is asking each student to donate at least $1 to the project. In addition, they are sending out letters to alumni and other interested groups.

A permanent booth advertising the project will be set up soon in the Student Union. Some sort of a receptacle will be included in the display for students to deposit their dollar donations.

Open Hours Listed For Clark Library

Open hours in the old Clark Memorial Library this fall semester will remain much the same as those during spring semester, 1961.

Students may use the library's facilities from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday, and from 7 to 10 p. m., Monday through Thursday evenings. On Saturdays the building will be open from 9 in the morning until 4:30 in the afternoon, and on Sundays from 2 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 10 p. m.

When the new Noble H. Getchell library is completed for use, longer open hours will be in effect. The $2.8 million building will be open from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m., Monday through Friday; 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Friday, 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. Saturday, and 2 to 10 p. m. Sundays.

University and library officials are not yet able to name a completion date for the new building.

Lora Leonard Named New ASUN Secretary

ASUN President Paul Bible this week announced the appointment of a new student body secretary, Lora Leonard, senior journalism student and president of Sagens.

Bible made the appointment after he learned Lois Chanslor, appointed secretary last spring, is not returning to the campus this semester.

ARCHIE SAYS:

My cousin Archie—he thought the electric razor his gal gave him last Christmas was o.k. Then he tried Old Spice Pro-Electric, the before shave lotion. Now the guy won't stop talking, he thinks electric shaving is so great.

ARCHIE SAYS Pro-Electric improves electric shaving even more than lather improves blade shaving. ARCHIE SAYS Pro-Electric sets up your beard by drying perspiration and whisker oils so you shave blade-close without irritation. ARCHIE SAYS Pro-Electric gives you the closest, cleanest, fastest shave.

If Archie ever stops talking, I'll tell him I use Old Spice Pro-Electric myself.

SO DO I.

Five Profs Swing Sabbatical Studies

Five members of the University of Nevada faculty will be absent from their posts during the year as part of the new "sabbatical leaves" policy.

The leaves allow faculty members holding the rank of assistant professor or higher to leave their posts for up to a year, their teaching.

The five professors going this year are Dr. Robert Gorrell, professor of English; Dr. Meryl Deming, professor of chemistry; Dr. Austin Hutcheson, professor of history and political science; Keiste Janulis, associate professor of journalism; and Irving Sandorf, professor of electrical engineering.

All except Dr. Gorrell will take their leaves during the second semester; Dr. Gorrell is now in Europe and will be gone the entire year.

A professor taking a full year's leave is on two-thirds pay, while a half-semester hitch still draws down full salary.

To be eligible for a sabbatical leave, a professor must have taught for six years on a full time basis, including time at the instructor level.

The leave policy was set up by the 1961 session of the Nevada state legislature, which provided for it in AB 294. Roger Foley, attorney-general, has interpreted the law to mean that two percent of the academic faculty is eligible for leaves each year.

"Talking road" that can save your life!

The visibility is almost zero and ahead is a sharp curve.

Suddenly, beneath your wheels, the road says: "Slow down!" It does this by sending sound and low vibrations through your automobile's frame. You get the message and cut your speed.

This road warning system—called a "rumble strip"—cut accidents in test areas by nearly two-thirds. It is made chiefly from a new kind of plastic developed by Standard's scientists...one so rugged that it will stand up to the pounding of the heaviest traffic.

The rumble strip is part of Standard's continuing interest in traffic safety, which includes driver training, seat belts in Company cars, educational films for schools, and widespread distribution of safety tips.

The tough plastic which makes the rumble strip possible is only one of a wide variety that our scientists are creating to help manufacturers bring you new and better products.

They include super-strong plastics for car bodies; tough, versatile plastics for building materials; long-lasting plastic fibers to increase the durability of everything from clothing to tires.

planning ahead to serve you better

Book Out on Radical Labor in Early-Day Nevada Boom Towns

"Radical Labor in the Nevada Mining Booms, 1900-1920" is the title of a study recently written by Dr. Russell R. Elliott, chairman of the history and political science department.

The publication marks the second in a series of Nevada Studies in History and Political Science published in association with the University of Nevada press.

Beginning with the discovery of silver at Tonopah and copper near Ely, both in 1900, and gold at Goldfield in 1902, Dr. Elliott brings together in one story the radical labor activities, sparked by the Industrial Workers of the World, which resulted in two decades of bitter disputes.

Dr. Elliott has taught western American and Nevada history for more than ten years and has authored numerous articles dealing with this area.

Career Cues

"Cure for job boredom: I made my favorite pastime my career!"

Richard Bertram, President
Bertram Yacht Co., Division of Nautec Corp.

"When you stop to think what percent of our total waking hours is spent bread-winning, you realize how tragic it is for any man to work at an occupation he doesn't enjoy. Besides frittering away life, it reduces chances of success to just about zero. I know... because it almost happened to me!

After college, I did what I thought was expected of me and joined a solid, Manhattan-based insurance firm. I soon found office routine wasn't for me. I lived only for lunch hour when I could walk to the Battery and mentally sail with the ships that stood out in the Narrows... and for the summer weekends when I could go sailing. Fortunately, the company I worked for is one of the leading insurers of yachts and after two years I was transferred to their Yacht Underwriting Department. Enjoyment and interest in my work improved immediately 100%.

After World War II, I started my own yacht brokerage firm and yacht insurance agency in Miami, combining my marine insurance background with an even closer relationship with boats.

My only problem ever since has been a feeling of guilt that my work was too easy. I love boats and boating people. That affection has paid me rewards way beyond the financial security it has also provided.

The moral's obvious. You have an odds-on chance for success and happiness working at what you enjoy most — what comes naturally! And if it's not just frivolous, your life's work could well be what you now consider just a pastime. It's certainly worth thinking about, anyway!"

And to make any time pass more enjoyably...

The Nevada Wolfpack officially opens its 1961 football season Saturday night against the powerful Redlands University Bulldogs. The team will leave by bus Friday morning for the southern California campus with an overnight stop scheduled at Bakersfield.

According to preseason reports, Redlands is favored to win the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SC-IAC), which also includes Occidental, Whittier, Pomona, Claremont Mudd and Cal Tech. Triple-threatener Roger Chaney, two-time all SC-IAC quarterback, will lead the Bulldogs again this year. In front of Chaney will be a line averaging about 213 pounds per man anchored by 270 pound tackle Harvey Hyde.

With this big line, and a well balanced backfield, Redlands is looking forward to one of its best teams in the history of the school.

After Thursday's mediocre showing against McClellan Air Force Base, the Wolfpack must really be "up" for this game against strong Redlands. After the game against the airmen, Coach Dick Trachok said "We didn't get mean enough quick enough. We have a lot of work to do."

Thumbnail sketches of your Wolfpack

—End Jim Whitaker, a 205 pound senior from Ukiah, California, is majoring in economics. Jim is an officer in the U. of N. ROTC program. On the field he wears number 84.

—Quarterback Jimmy "Porkchops" Cawiezell, a 180 pound junior from Davenport, Iowa. Jim attended Trinidad, Colorado JC, and is majoring in physical education. He'll be wearing number 12.

—Guard and linebacker Billy "Rock" Daniel, a 200 pound junior from Reno High School is also majoring in physical education. The marine reservist will be wearing number 65.

Notes and Quotes

There were no injuries suffered in the McClellan game except for minor bruises on Jock Achave, Rick Miles and Dave Lundy.

Jim Cawiezell put the "spotters" phone out of commission in the contest with the airmen.

Bill Daniel says it was not he who was thrown out of the game last Thursday night as many people seem to think.

Max Culp and Pete Palzis are being recruited for the boxing team after their fine showing against the "flyboys."

Bob Zuliani still predicts the Detroit Tigers will win the American League pennant.

Kinnear Fight To Start Next Week

Intramural sports competition for the Kinnear trophy will get under way next week at the University of Nevada.

The Kinnear trophy is made of copper and was donated to the University by Kennecott Copper Company of Ely. It was awarded to the first winning intramural sports team in 1933 by the copper company. The trophy has been awarded to the winning team each year ever since, with the exception of the three World War II years.

Only three groups have won the trophy during the 25 years it has been awarded.

Alpha Tau Omega fraternity has won the trophy 15 times and tied once during the 25 years of competition. They have placed second eight times, and third once.

Sigma Nu has won it six times and tied it once; they have been second eight times and third twice. Lambda Chi Alpha won the trophy twice, came in second four times, and third four times.

This pattern was finally broken last year for the first time in 25 years by the Independents, who accumulated a total of 500 points during last year's Kinnear trophy competition.

Fleet Backs Lead 19-12 Wolf Victory

by Tim Anderson, Sports Editor

University of Nevada's football team came from behind in the final quarter Thursday night to overtake a fired-up McClellan Air Force Base squad, 19-12 in a pre-season practice session at Mackay Stadium.

The Jets from Sacramento threw a scare into the Wolf Pack by taking a 12-6 lead in the third quarter. That was all Nevada needed, however, to spark an offensive effort that resulted in two touchdowns in the last quarter. The Wolf Pack, an easy winner over the McClellan aggregation in last season's practice scrimmage, didn't have any time to relax this time.

The Nevadans lost no time getting on the scoreboard when Campbell ran around right end from 13 yards out early in the first period. He was set up by two draw plays by Achave, which netted long gains. The conversion attempt was no good as Nevada was off-sides. A little later, quarter-back Jack Renwick hit end Rick Miles with a 30-yard pass but McClellan tightened up and held.

Late in the second period, the Jets grabbed a Nevada fumble on the Pack's 15. Ken Morris, former Kansas U. back, gained five, and then all-Air Force quarterback Gil Bettez tossed a TD pass to Sam Franklin that tied the score. Conversion missed and it was 6-6 at the half.

McClellan came out for the second half and scored early on a zig-zag run by Bettez from 10 yards out. Fullback Sidney Brown and Morris, set up Bettez with some long-gainers on the ground. The 2-point conversion attempt was foiled by the Pack, making the score 12-6.

About mid-way through the third quarter, Nevada started a 77-yard march which carried into the last period. Herron and Campbell continued their brilliant running and ripped off steady gainers as Nevada's forward wall took charge. Campbell's 20-yard scamper set up Herron for a 3-yard end run to paydirt, knotting the score at 12-12. The Silver and Blue then took a one-point lead with Renwick place-kicking the game's only conversion.

Two straight-ahead blasts by Herron resulted in the final touchdown of the game half-way through the final period. The sophomore back scored from the 12, bowling over several would-be tacklers on the way.

Coach Trachok alternated three quarterbacks—Renwick, Bob Alfred and Jim Cawiezell during the evening. Defensive standout for the Pack was Gene Lang, who gathered in two interceptions. Linemen Bob Zuliani and Tony Klenakis showed speed and good blocking on offensive. Fistic action flared up several times during the night between the two anxious clubs.

The Wolf Pack meets Redlands University in the season opener on September 23 in southern California. Nevada will have to play better than they did Thursday when they clash with Redlands who promised to be one of the Wolf Pack's toughest foes of the grid season.

Beginning Russian Taught at Night

An introductory course to the course to the Russian language, emphasizing the fundamentals of grammar and pronunciation, is being offered again this fall semester by the University of Nevada's evening division.

The class meets on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 9:30 p. m. Instructor of the five-credit course is Dr. Aleksis von Volborth, who received his Ph. D. degree from the University of Helsinki and speaks English, Russian, Finnish and German.

Dr. von Volborth is an associate mineralogist in the Nevada mining analytical laboratory at the University.

New Post Provides Personalized College

Dr. Harold L. Kirkpatrick, assistant professor of history and political science, has recently been named to the newly created post of Assistant Dean of Arts and Sciences.

According to Dr. Kirkpatrick, the great increase in the number of students enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences, the largest college on campus, has made it impossible for Dean Ralph A. Irwin to provide necessary personal attention to individual students. In his new capacity as Assistant Dean, Dr. Kirkpatrick will be concerned with such individual problems and will also work on a new student advisement program.

Dr. Kirkpatrick will continue to instruct in the history department, where he teaches European civilization and history of Germany.

Commenting on his appointment, Dr. Kirkpatrick said, "I'm delighted. I enjoy working with the students. I still feel that the student is the most important part of the college."

ONCE MORE, UNTO THE BREACH

With this installment I begin my eighth year of writing columns for the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes, as fine a bunch of men as you would meet in a month of Sundays—loyal, true, robust, windswept, forthright, tattooed—in short, precisely the kind of men you would expect them to be if you were familiar with the cigarettes they make—and I hope you are—for Marlboro, like its makers, is loyal, true, robust, windswept, forthright, tattooed.

There is, however, one important difference between Marlboro and its makers. Marlboro has a filter and the makers do not—except of course for Windswept T. Sigafos, Vice President in charge of Media Research. Mr. Sigafos does have a filter. I don't mean that Mr. Sigafos personally has a filter. What I mean is that he has a filter in his swimming pool at his home in Fairbanks, Alaska. You might think that Fairbanks is rather an odd place for Mr. Sigafos to live, being such a long distance from the Marlboro home office in New York City. But it should be pointed out that Mr. Sigafos is not required to be at work until 10 A.M.

But I digress. This column, I say, will take up questions of burning interest to the academic world—like "Should French conversation classes be conducted in English?" and "Should students be allowed to attend first hour classes in pajamas and robes?" and "Can a student of 18 find happiness with an economics professor of 90?"

Because many of you are new to college, especially freshmen, perhaps it would be well in this opening column to start with campus fundamentals. What, for example, does "Alma Mater" mean? Well, sir, "Alma Mater" is Latin for "send money".

What does "Dean" mean? Well, sir, "Dean" is Latin for "don't get caught".

What does "dormitory" mean? Well, sir, "dormitory" is Latin for "bed of pain".

Next, let us discuss student-teacher relationships. In college the keynote of the relationship between student and teacher is informality. When you meet a teacher on campus, you need not salute. Simply tug your forelock. If you are bald and have no forelock, a low curtsey will suffice. In no circumstances should you polish a teacher's car or sponge and press his suit. It is, however, permissible to worm his dog.

With the President of the University, of course, your relationship will be a bit more formal. When you encounter the President, fling yourself prone on the sidewalk and sing loudly:

*"Prexy is wise
Prexy is true
Prexy has eyes
Of Lake Louise blue."*

As you can see, the President of the University is called "Prexy". Similarly, Deans are called "Dixie". Professors are called "Proxie". Housemothers are called "Hoxie Moxie". Students are called "Amoebae".

This uncensored, free-wheeling column will be brought to you throughout the school year by the makers of Marlboro and Marlboro's partner in pleasure, the new, unfiltered, king-size Philip Morris Commander. If unfiltered cigarettes are your choice, try a Commander. You'll be welcome aboard.

Supplement Out On UN Catalogue

Students who experienced difficulties with registration due to the out-dated 1961-62 catalogue should be pleased to learn that their headaches in this category are over. So is registration.

The day after registration a 36-page supplement to the campus catalogue was made available.

The new 1961-1962 catalogue is the same as the 1960-1961. The only change is the new cover.

BA Prof Named CPA

James Marshall Hoyt, associate professor in the College of Business Administration, has recently been elected a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Professor Hoyt holds a CPA certificate from the State of Nevada and is a member of the Nevada Society of CPAs.
