WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN cause for celebration—the University of Nevada's 100-86 win over Chico State Friday night—turned into a free-for-all with members of both teams and about thirty Nevada students piling on top of each other. The fight broke out after Chico's Wall and Nevada's Fetzer

Student Stalwarts Can Aid Olivas With Ring Talents

By RICH CARSTENS

Attention Jimmy Olivas: Applicants for light-heavyweight and heavyweight boxers will be available at the end of basketball season.

The Nevada boxing team lacks fighters in the top two weight classes and Jimmy hopes to fill this gap.

It seems that Coach Jack Spencer's successful recruiting program in basketball produces two-fold. The observation is gleaned by blows delivered during Friday's basketball game and unscheduled fight with invading Chico State.

Chico was humbled 100-86, and to its knees, and on its back, and to its belly. But, alas, so was Nevada.

Strikingly enough, coach Olivas' Wolf Pack boxing squad is in need of light-heavyweight and heavyweight boxers to round out an otherwise excellent Nevada ring team.

Possibly the most talented of Nevada's sporting endeavors, the Silver and Blue pugilists hold a 1-1-1 record this season with five more matches slated before the California Collegiate Boxing Conference tournament in San Luis Obispo April 5-7.

Ironically, Chico State enters a rematch with the official Nevada boxing team Saturday at 8 p. m. in the same place with the addition of a ring.

Corpsman Seeks Talented Aggies

University of Nevada students interested in serving in the Peace Corps will have an opportunity to talk with field representative Paul Worthington when he visits on campus this week.

Worthington will be on campus Thursday and Friday, Feb. 22 and 23 to recruit students into the Corps.

While he will mainly be interested in students majoring in agriculture and home economics, Worthington will also speak to majors in education, science, and trade skills.

He said, "Peace Corps volunteers are already on the field working in jobs as divergent as brick masons, mechanics, language teachers, community development, agriculture and medicine."

Worthington will meet with department heads, faculty members, and staff personnel.

He says he has found group interviews more successful, but will meet individually with any interested students.

Worthington is a 31-year-old graduate of Michigan State University where he majored in agricultural economics. He served in the US Air Force for two years, with one year stationed in Japan.

When he returned to the United States, Worthington spent a year teaching Veterans on-the-farm training program. He returned to Michigan to get his vocation agricultural teacher's certificate

Original Score Concert Tomorrow By Music Prof.

Prof. Ronald R. Williams, assistant professor of music, will present a concert of original compositions tomorrow night at 8:15 in the Fine Arts auditorium.

Prof. Williams' concert marks the first time a University faculty member has presented his original compositions.

The program includes selections for a piano duet played by Honors piano students; piano solos by Dr. Willard F. Day, assistant professor of psychology; a solo by flutist June Seyfarth, and an alto solo by Shelby Squier.

The University Singers and members of the Music Circus will present numbers. Reno Master sings will perform a short opera. Prof. Williams presentations will consist of works he has composed during the past eight years.

Prof. Williams is directing the "Music Circus, to be composed of three one-act musicals with parts for about twenty students.

The musicals are "Trial by Gilbert and Sullivan, The Would-Be-Mistress" by Pergolesi, and Susan and the Elders" by Jerome Moross.

Student Mob Beats Chico State Cagers

By ROYCE FEOUR
Sagebrush Sports Editor

In the worst brawl at a home basketball game since 1953, Nevada and Chico State players and Nevada students engaged in a short but wild, free-swing fistic fray in the closing seconds of Friday night's game.

Players from both teams and about thirty Nevada students from the stands traded blows for several minutes at the conclusion of the heated 100-86 Wolf Pack victory here over Chico State.

Dining Commons Site Of Weekend 'Slalom Swing'

The annual "Slalom Swing," sponsored by the Student Union, will be held Saturday night, Feb. 24 at 8:30 in the dining commons.

Music for the all-school dance will be provided by Pat Ivanelli and his Dixielanders. The group features in the "Twist."

One men's and one women's ski sweater will be given away as door prizes.

Appropriate dress for the dance is ski clothes or sports wear, according to Denver Dickerson.

Refreshments are included in the 35 cents stag and 50 cents drag admission price.

Shooting for the magic 100-point mark with about three minutes left, Nevada players started flagrantly fouling Chico State players to get possession of the ball for the chance to score.

When Nevada did hit 100 points on Gene Simpson's two free shots, the stands went into an uproar with the entire cheering section leaping to its feet and emitting a thunderous roar of cheers.

After an exchange of the ball, Les Wall of the Wildcats was dribbling the ball downcourt and hit from behind by Dave Ricks going away.

Wall, either knocked off balance by the intentional foul or on purpose, kept going and rammed into tall Nevada center Bruce Fet-

Debaters Hit Road For Tournaments

The University will be represented at two debate tournaments this week. Teams, selected from members of the speech and debating classes, will attend tournaments in Arizona and California.

While some of the members have been University debaters for several years, many will be making their first appearance at the collegiate level.

Students attending the Desert Invitational Debate Tournament in Tucson on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday will be Pat Clary, Larry Struve, Stanley Smart, Steve Morris, and Ralph Aldave. They will be accompanied by Dr. R. S. Griffin, director of forensics.

Taking part in the Stockton, Calif., debates will be Gene Lane, John Doyle, Harvey Lambert, Edward Pierce, Paul Freitag, Larry Hill, Larry Hutchings, Barbara Hardin, Denis Graham, and Mike Mackedon. This group, which will be gone Friday and Saturday, will be accompanied by Prof. Arthur Hastings of the speech department.

The topic to be discussed at both of these tournaments, the first forensic competition of this semester, will be "Should labor unions be placed under anti-trust legislation?"

Editorial Comment A Mob Damages Nevada

The Wolf Pack yell leaders and songleaders will have to admit one thing after Friday night's game against Chico State College: School spirit is definitely on the upswing.

But that's not to say that very many people around Reno or the state are very impressed after about thirty Nevada students turned the new gymnasium floor into a virtual battleground.

The punches exchanged between Nevada and Chico players before the spectators reached the floor can be excused. The Wolf Pack not only hit that rare 100-point mark, but assured itself of a second-place position in the Far Western Conference league. And Chico State players had good reason to show a few signs of heated tempers after playing a game which was notorious in the number of fouls called—58 in all.

But the armchair athletes weren't content with appreciating Nevada's impressive accumulation of points. Rather than letting the players swing it out until the fight would have been broken up by the coaches and referees, the heroes turned player emotionalism into a one-sided mob riot.

While one Chico player was badly hurt, the University of Nevada's name will suffer greater injury. The impression of Nevada which Chico players carried back with them is anything but favorable, and this will be passed on to the other schools in the league.

Sportsmanship belongs on the playing floor and in the stands, but there are marked boundaries between these two areas. The immature actions of a few Nevada students have hurt a sport, a team and a University.

Dr. Orvis Donates To Hawaiian Univ.

The Mae Zenke Orvis music auditorium was dedicated at the University of Hawaii the first week in January.

Donor of the building is the widely-known Dr. Arthur E. Orvis, who gave a large sum to the Orvis School of Nursing on campus.

The music auditorium is the first collegiate building constructed with private funds at the University of Hawaii. It is named in honor of Dr. Orvis' wife.

Dr. and Mrs. Orvis make their home in Reno during the winter, and spend their summers in Honolulu.

Dr. Orvis is a graduate of Cornell University and holds honorary degrees from both the University of Nevada and Hawaii.

Mrs. Orvis, a musician, was honored at the opening concert by an original musical selection composed by Dr. Armand Russell of the University of Hawaii's music department.

Dostoevski First In English Club Discussion Series

A series of discussions on the major works of Feodor Dostoevski is one of the projects the English Club has taken on for the spring semester.

These discussions, informal in nature and open to the entire University community, will be held once a month.

At each meeting one of the major productions of this Russian author will be discussed in depth and detail.

The first discussion will take place Monday, March 5, with the time and place to be announced later.

The English club expressed hopes that many faculty members and students will read "The House of the Dead" in preparation for this first discussion.

Letters to the Editor

What's So Special?

EDITOR, THE SAGEBRUSH:

I would like to bring to the attention of Mr. Kersey, and any other authorities who were responsible for planning the "special" dinner for Valentine's Day which was forced upon us who eat in the dining commons, that I found nothing special about salami, cheese, and potato salad, even though they were served buffet style. It was extremely disappointing, after expecting a regular hot meal on such a rainy day, to find a longer wait than usual for a dinner which was far inferior to most lunches. The live music and heart-shaped cakes were nice ideas; it was just a shame that some hot food was not served in place of such picnic fare. If it must be such food, why not at least make it hamburgers for St. Patrick's Day?

JUDY WILTON

Intellectual Answers

EDITOR, THE SAGEBRUSH:

I think that perhaps all of the opinions that have been expressed concerning the poor political situation on this campus have overlooked the basic reason behind it.

The apathy and political disorder that are prevalent on this campus are not caused by failings of the political organization of the student body but rather by a widespread lack of intellectual thought among the students themselves.

This condition is caused partially by Nevada's lack of a state college system, which places upon the University the burden of educating the masses; by Nevada's lack of cultural opportunities, which hinders the average student from overcoming the provincialism caused by his environment; and because of the low academic standards in certain colleges of the University.

In the Student Union, in hallways, at parties, in the Sagebrush, in classrooms, I hear talk, but no thoughts. If the campus had thinkers, student politics would run automatically, not on a two-party system, as dictated by social pressures, but on a many party system, as dictated by thoughts.

If a visitor to our campus saw only the students, he would probably mistakenly call the school Nevada A&M, rather than University.

Hebert Announces Bridge Club Plans

A bridge club for University of Nevada students could be in the making if campus card-sharks show enough interest.

That's the word from Jeff Hebert, a co-chairman of the library committee who has turned his efforts to organizing campus bridge players. A "kick-off" get-together is slated for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow upstairs in the student union.

"Everybody interested in playing bridge—or in meeting people who play bridge should attend," said Hebert. "If there are enough persons who show response, we might organize a bridge club."

The proposed club would elect officers, write a constitution, and hold monthly or semi-monthly meetings if students show enough interest, pointed out Hebert.

"There's a lot of people on campus who like to play bridge, but don't know who else does too," Hebert observed.

Prospective bridge-clubbers should bring their own cards to the initial get-together.

Stan Kenton to Be Guest Instructor At Lake Tahoe Summer Band Camp

Stan Kenton, widely known bandleader, will head a staff of musicians and teachers at a special session of the Lake Tahoe band camp this summer.

The Lake Tahoe camp will be one of three sponsored by Down Beat magazine and the National Band camp this summer. The other two will be at Michigan State and Indiana university.

The band camp, to be held Aug. 26 through Sept. 1, was started by Down Beat to supplement clinics such as the recent Buddy DeFranco concert and clinic on the Nevada campus in January.

Kenton will bring with him a recent Buddy DeFranco concert and clinic on the Nevada campus in January.

Kenton will bring with him a staff of 25 including 16 musicians and various other arrangers, composers, and music consultants. Activities of the camp will include daily workshops with Kenton, lessons on improvisation, and jam sessions. Several bands will be organized, and each will arrange and play its own music.

The regular University-sponsored band camp will precede the Kenton camp by a week in the same spot at Lake Tahoe.

Down Beat is also sponsoring a contest for young musicians for which the first prize will be a scholarship to the music camp, and a trip to Hollywood.

Dr. John Carrico, associate professor of music at the University, is the local sponsor for the camp.

Dr. James Nickels Joins Staff of Psychology Dept.

Dr. James B. Nickels became assistant professor of psychology at the beginning of this semester.

Coming to the University of Nevada from the U. S. Air Force where he held the rank of captain and worked in the psychology research program, Dr. Nickels arrived one day before the semester began.

Dr. Nickels received his B. A. degree from Occidental college in 1953. He obtained his M. A. from the University of Missouri and in 1959 received his doctorate in counseling and psychology from the same university.

After spending one year in the University of Missouri's counseling bureau, Dr. Nickels spent two years on the faculty.

From 1957 to 1959 he taught psychology and philosophy at Christian college, Columbia, Missouri. In 1959 he was called into the Air Force and has been in that service until he obtained his present post.

National YWCA Officer to Be On Campus Wednesday

A visitor to the campus Young Women's Christian association this week will be Odile Sweeney, a national official of the organization. Miss Sweeney, associate in administration of the college and university division of the National Board of YWCA, will visit the University tomorrow, February 21.

A member of the national staff since 1949, Miss Sweeney helps in the administration of the 474 college YWCA groups in the country.

She also carries the staff responsibility for work with advisory boards of the student associations, assisting them with leadership training, and development in the areas of finance, personnel, and interpretation of the YWCA on the campus and in the community.

Miss Sweeney's visit comes at a time when student YWCAers are placing special emphasis on strengthening their work on university campuses. Part of the program includes helping students participate in weekend and summer work camps, the Peace Corps, and community service. Miss Sweeney will meet with the Nevada YWCA cabinet and advisory board to discuss ways of broadening and strengthening their program on this campus. The president of the University cabinet is Susan Lombardi.

Both Sides Score in Thursday Debate

"Democracy, as a form of government, has failed to meet the needs of the twentieth century," was the topic of a debate held in the dining commons, Thursday night.

The two debate teams — Stanford University and Fresno State College — both won top honors debating the same subject at the Stanford Philosophical Tournament early last month.

The debate was non-competitive and the final decision was left to the audience.

Fresno took the affirmative side in the discussion and said a country must meet four prerequisites to become a democracy. The prerequisites were an educated and sophisticated populus, adequate communications, economic security, and a great ideological gap between two major political parties.

Negative Stanford pointed out that democracy is an individual responsibility. It is up to the people to choose the type of government to run the country.

Col. Ronan Takes Command Position

Lt. Col. Charles E. Ronan, for four years head of the military science department here, is now in command of the 2nd training regiment at Fort Carson, Colo.

Colonel Ronan was the 1st training regiment executive officer at Fort Carson before his new appointment.

He served as professor of military science on campus from 1957 until 1961 when he returned to Carson for the second time. He served there in 1954 as commander of the 155th infantry regiment.

Colonel Ronan left Colorado in 1955 for Turkey where he trained the 6th Korean brigade which he took into Korea.

He then returned to Turkey to complete 26 months with the NATO allies.

Colonel Ronan is a 1937 graduate of the University of South Dakota law school. He was an attorney until he entered the Army for World War II service with the 90th infantry division.

He completed the Army command and general staff college course in 1955.

Does the possibility of studying abroad sound attractive?

Grants will soon be awarded for study at Tunghai University, Taichung, Taiwan, Formosa, for a two-months' summer institute in Chinese civilization.

The conference board of Associated Research Councils has announced thirty available grants. The grants will cover tuition, housing and round-trip travel from the recipient's place of residence in the United States to Taiwan.

Eligibility is posted in the office of the University executive vice president. Applications must be submitted no later than March 1.

Grantees will be responsible for their own maintenance expenses while in China and en route.

Bare-Backed Beachbomb

LESSON 2 - What about standards?

Advanced students of girl watching never waste eyeball effort watching girls who are not beautiful. Standards must be kept high.

But how do we judge whether a girl is worth watching? Although many strict academicians will shudder at our aesthetics, we must insist that a girl is beautiful if she is beautiful to you. (That's the beauty of girl watching. Every girl is beautiful to someone!) For example, many observers have pointed out that the Bare-Backed Beachbomb (see above) has a weak chin.

Yet none of these keen-eyed experts would deny that she is indeed an attractive specimen. And, speaking of standards, don't forget to keep your smoking standards high. Smoke Pall Mall!

StereoStuff

By SANDY HALL

And now, Concert in Stereo presents the music from the motion picture score composed and conducted by Henry Mancini—BREAKFAST AT TIFFANY'S.

Here are Audrey Hepburn's feelings towards the music which so largely contributed to the success of this motion picture:

"Dear Henry,

I have just seen our picture—BREAKFAST AT TIFFANY'S—this time with your score.

A movie without music is a little bit like an aeroplane without fuel. However beautifully the job is done, we are still on the ground and in a world of reality. Your music has lifted us all up and sent us soaring. Everything we cannot say with words or show with action you have expressed for us. You have done this with so much imagination, fun and beauty.

You are the hippest of cats—and most sensitive of composers!

Thank you, dear Hank."

Those who have seen the motion picture BREAKFAST AT TIFFANY'S, I'm sure will join with Miss Hepburn in her thanks to Henry Mancini for producing this fine score of music which contains the wonderful hit recording of "Moon River," and for those who haven't—Listen! You'll love it!

Concert in Stereo is also featuring a smooth collection of song stylings that marks the album debut of one of the promising singing groups to arrive on the scene in recent years—The Lettermen!

A year ago Jim Pike, Bob Engemann, and Tony Butalo decided to pool their talents and form The Lettermen, and it was obvious from the beginning that they'd found a winning combination.

Their very first Capitol record "The Way You Look Tonight," was an immediate hit and was soon joined on the nation's best-seller charts by their version of "When I Fall in Love." Both of these tunes plus a brand new hit entitled "A Song for Young Love" are included in the album.

I must confess we missed you last week at Concert in Stereo, so join us this week from 3 - 4:30 p. m. on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Campus Actors Outline Plans For SF Trip

Campus Players, the University theatre group, has announced plans for three one-act plays to be presented in April.

Members of the group will direct and act in the plays, according to Sarah Pedersen, president. They plan to present the plays at the Veteran's hospital, Nevada State Prison, and possibly the Nevada State hospital and orphanage.

The plays and their directors will be "Red Carnations," Doug Smith; "Suppressed Desires," Katie Diedrichson; and "Trifles," Delmar Dolbier.

Members selected to act in the plays are Brent Boozer, Jim Bernardi, Vienna Otegui, Sandy Jones, Ron Fleming, Bob Lemon, Dale Gordon, Ralph Kuehnart, Marge Maple, Barbara Champlin, and Sarah Pedersen.

The Campus Players also have in planning their second annual trip to San Francisco. The trip, on May 18-20, will include two plays—one professional and one at a California university, and a matinee.

The group will earn money for the trip by ushering and otherwise assisting at various University Theatre productions. Members will be on an individual point system and must do a certain amount of work to be eligible for the trip.

Campus Players, according to Miss Pedersen, is a group of "any University people who are really interested in the theatre." Members must have taken some part, either acting or technical, in two University Theatre productions.

Faculty advisor of the group is Dr. Charles Metten of the speech and drama department.

Tau Pledges Wear Gunny Sacks for Annual 'Helpweek'

Any gunny-sack clad bodies seen climbing up the Alpha Tau Omega fire escapes this week are to be ignored. They are only ATO pledges going through "help week."

The 37 neophytes may only enter the fraternity house by way of the fire escapes and are required to wear gunny sacks while they are inside the house.

The Tau "help week" started at midnight Sunday and ends Friday night.

Formal initiation for all pledges who made the required 2.2 grade-point average will be March 4, but all ATO pledges are taking part in "help week."

The pledges will be making general repairs inside the fraternity during the week.

Neophytes include Fran Archuleta, Don Banta, Ron Banta, Joel Borstad, Charlie Burr, Evans Charley, Bill Cozart, Dick Crawford, Jim Curran, John Dube, Raymond Gallio, Larry Giurlani, Mike Griffin, Jerry Guffey, Phil Hannifan, Craig Hartung, Leonard Howard, Dennis Johnson, Ron Jones.

Biologists Show Expedition Slides

Showing of slides made on an expedition in the Pacific and Indian oceans will be the program for a Biology club meeting tomorrow, Feb. 21.

A brief business meeting will be conducted before the program, at 7 p. m. in the humanities building.

Narrating the slides will be Curt Russell, who is doing graduate work in the biology department of the University. Russell received a bachelor of arts degree in biology at Stanford, has studied for a year as a graduate student at UCLA, and spent a year working for Scripps Institute of Oceanography in La Jolla, Calif.

Don Wilkerson, president of the Biology club, has invited all interested persons to attend.

... Blood Spills on Local Floor

Both benches emptied to join the slugging combatants already on the court and the Wolf Pack forces were soon joined by ambitious reserves from the stands.

The brawl was all Nevada. With the numerical strength of the hardy students from the stands, Chico State didn't have a chance.

Only a small handful of Chico students and the Wildcat players were faced with a feverish attack from the flaunting Nevada "vigilante corps" from the cheering section.

Blows were flying all over the place, and the two officials and coaches could do little to stop the mass attack upon the highly outnumbered Chico players.

Lying at the bottom of a pile-up, knocked unconscious by the first blow from a Nevada student from out of the stands, was Chico's little Richard Stephens.

But Stephens was still taking punishment. With his arms held to his sides, Stephens was receiving blow after blow to the face and being kicked in the head from outside the pileup by spectators.

After the student-induced brawl broke up, Stephens was carried from the floor, his face a bloody mess from the merciless beating he took while at the bottom of the pile.

Stephens was hospitalized, and although there were no fractures, as at first feared in the jaw, he was dazed and could not remember the game or what had happened to him.

One second still showed on the clock before the riot erupted, but the boiling Chico State coach pulled his team off of the floor without taking the free shot that was coming or finishing the game.

Many of the strugglers on the floor were spectators who rushed onto the court to stop the battle and pull the slugging players away from each other.

After the game, emotional students and spectators milled around the gym floor, telling each other how hard he hit that Chico player or how exciting what he saw was.

After the tempers died down and students took a second look at the unwarranted action, most persons agreed that it was, to say the least, highly unsportsmanlike on the part of the Nevada rooters.

Little sparks of action between players in a hard-fought game occur often with maybe a shove here and a right cross there, but it is usually quickly broken up by the officials or coaches.

The consensus is that the distasteful part of the melee was the mob-like exodus from the Nevada rooting section and resulting gang-type beating of the outnumbered Chico players.

It was like David and Goliath. Only this time David didn't win, except in a moral sense.

Big Bad Nevada clobbered the Wildcats in the game, and in "there's strength in numbers" pounded Chico in the uncalled for brawl.

CRASH — Nevada forward Gene Simpson catapults upon the back of a Chico player in the brawl-marred 100-86 Wolf Pack Far Western Conference victory. Simpson's foul shown here was just one of 58 fouls called in the hectic game. Nevada made it a clean sweep of the weekend FWC action with an easy 88-62 win over Humboldt State Saturday. (Sagebrush photo.)

Cagers Romp To Circuit's 2nd Slot

University of Nevada's basketball team moved into undisputed possession of second place in the Far Western Conference standings and retained a mathematical chance of taking the title with a pair of FWC victories here over the weekend.

The Wolf Pack bombed Chico State, 100-86, Friday night in a foul-marred and fight-scared contest and coasted to an easy 88-62 victory over winless Humboldt State Saturday.

The double FWC victory boosted the Nevada league record to 7-3, one-game behind league-leading Sacramento State (8-2).

Coach Jack Spencer's Wolf Pack journey to California for two crucial FWC encounters Friday and Saturday that will decide the conference championship.

Nevada takes on first-place Sacramento State Friday and the fourth-place Cal Aggies (5-4) Saturday. Should the Wolf Pack win both games and the Aggies defeat Sacramento tonight, the Silver and Blue would capture their second straight FWC title.

Friday's 100-86 decision over Chico State marked a season high for Nevada and the highest combined score in the FWC in many seasons.

Craig Hall led the torrid Wolf Pack attack with 30 points, big Bill Robinson was next with 24, Gene Simpson netted 20, and Stewart Johnson added 17 in the scoring melee.

Wall paced the sharp-shooting Wildcat point - parade with 32 points, many of them on free shots in the final two minutes.

Chico State lost the services of 6-5 center Fred Obermiller with more than 15 minutes left in the game. The Wildcats were only five points behind when Obermiller fouled out and with him went their only rebounding power as the Wolf Pack proceeded to speep the backboards and pull away in a mass of points and rebounds.

Simpson had the distinction of potting the 99th and 100th points for Nevada as the locals went over the century mark for the first time under coach Spencer in three seasons.

Spencer started reserves Bruce Fetzer and Craig Hall in Saturday's anti-climatic triumph over Humboldt State honoring the two seniors along with Hall as tri-captains playing their last home game.

The pace started slowly with the winless Lumberjacks (0-19) for the season) surprisingly leading 9-8 after six minutes and trailing by only five points, 20-15, at the ten-minute mark.

But Spencer inserted Johnson and Simpson into the lineup and Nevada started rolling and racked up a commanding 48-27 halftime lead.

Junior guard Joe DeArrieta displayed outstanding performances in both wins, constantly pressing the opposition and frequently stealing the ball to start a fast break while playing his usual smooth floor game offensively.

Robinson topped the scoring for Nevada Saturday against Humboldt with 23 points as four other Wolf Pack players hit in the double figures.

Simpson had 14, and DeArrieta, Feilback and Hall all contributed 12 points to the rout.

'Ones' Jam Pack Fistic Mark After Cal Ring Bout

Coach Jimmy Olivas' Nevada boxing team was all even today at 1-1-1 following a draw (3-3) against the University of California at Berkeley Saturday night.

Both teams won three bouts on the six-card program at Berkeley in the California Collegiate Boxing match.

The draw follows a Wolf Pack victory over the combined Stanford-Santa Clara team (4½-2½) and a loss to Cal Poly at San Luis Obispo.

Nevada's three winners were All-America Steve Parker, Skip Houk and Lonnie Tolano.

Parker extended his two-year undefeated record to three fights in 1962 by pounding out a decision over Mike Huffman of Cal in the 132-pound division.

Improving Skip Houk picked up his second straight triumph against one draw with an aggressive nod over the Bear's Larry Costa in the 147-pound class.

Classy 165-pounder Lonnie Tolano outpointed Cal's Roger Trent for his third consecutive 1962 win and the third Nevada victory on Saturday's card.

In the other bouts Cal managed a decision over Pete Conlan, 139, by Dennis Natali; a TKO over Fred Robertson, 147, by Dennis Treadway; and a decision over Dave Stix, 156, by Willie Kelley.

Foundation Grant Offered to Nevada

Superior students of science will benefit from a recent grant from the National Science Foundation to the University of Nevada.

The grant will be used to conduct a program of undergraduate science education, designed for the development of understanding of research and investigate procedures and scientific methods, as well as concepts and materials of science.

Support for undergraduates capable of becoming creative scientists or engineers will be furnished by the Foundation.

Emphasis in the program is placed on students as independent scholars, giving them a chance to demonstrate capacity for creative enterprise with minimal supervision.

Nevada students taking part in the program will receive nominal stipends while participating in the program. They will be chosen on the basis of applications made to the University.

Senators May Split Over Federal Aid

A perfect opportunity for campus political parties to come to the fore and take a stand will be afforded in Senate tomorrow night.

Up for consideration before the Senators when they meet at 7 p.m. in the Aggie conference room is a letter from Boston University asking the University of Nevada's written support in a national campaign for more federal aid to education.

If campus liberals follow their national counterparts, they should be expected to support the request. Conversely, campus conservatives, if they share national conservatives' opposition to federal aid

After spending five hours Saturday working on the new proposed ASUN constitution, the Senate committee has the document in its "final form" to present for Senate's consideration tomorrow night.

According to several members of the committee, the system of representation is based on the four academic class presidents and 16 senators at large.

They report that a couple of articles have been added, and the constitution with its complete changes will be brought out Wednesday night.

The constitution will be thrown out for discussion, and a special Senate meeting will be held Feb. 28 when Senators will vote to approve or reject the constitution.

If it is approved, a special ASUN election will be held March 7. Primaries would follow on March 14 with generals on March 21, moving both election dates back a week.

should be expected to speak out against the request.

The Boston University letter was written by the president of the school's student-faculty assembly which started the nation-wide campaign with a front-page editorial in their BU News, requesting the support of all senators and representatives for federal aid to education.

A letter followed a month later, which included a statement from Dr. John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State University:

"Some form of outright federal aid to education is essential if we are to meet the demands upon our colleges and universities in time."

Williams says in his letter that Boston University student-faculty assembly agrees "wholeheartedly" with Dr. Hannah, and "propose the following measures for your consideration:

1. An increase in funds to be allocated to specific departments of instruction.
2. Scholarship aid for needy and talented students.
3. Batching grants and low-interest loans for construction of new academic buildings (libraries and classrooms).
4. Increase in National Defense Education Act loans to as much as double their current

Gundlach Speaks On Viet Nam Today

The military, political, and economic problems of South Viet Nam will be the topic of a lecture given in the dining commons tonight at 8 p. m. by Lt. Col. Robert Gundlach.

Col. Gundlach is chairman of the department of military science. He has given several lectures on Viet Nam and recently returned from a year's tour of duty in the area.

The lecture is one in a series sponsored by the Associated Women Students. This lecture is co-sponsored by the AWS, the Collegiate Council of the United Nations, and the Nevada Association of the United Nations.

Brushfire Deadline

Members of the Brushfire staff have set March 15 as copy deadline for the campus literary publication.

According to Dave Lutz, assistant editor and business manager, the staff plans to have the magazine out around the middle of April.

Lutz said more short stories and poems are needed to fill the Brushfire.

Persons interested in working on the business end of the magazine, especially selling advertising, should contact Lutz.

Career Cues:

"Whatever your major, make sure to include a course in 'people'!"

W. Emlen Roosevelt, President National State Bank, Elizabeth, N. J.

"If my college adviser had prophesied that studying psychology would some day help promote my career in banking, I'd have scoffed. Yet that is exactly what has happened. And when I think about it now the reason seems obvious. The facts and figures of banking, or of any other field, are mechanical devices. They take on real meaning

KEEP OFF THE GRASS might be a good idea, not just for pedestrians but for cars, trucks, or anything else. The University lawns, saturated by the long wet spell, are not holding up under any form of pressure. According to John Sala, superintendent of buildings and grounds, these foot-deep cuts in the lawn in front of the old Clark library were made by work crews moving books last week.

only when related to people.

"Good psychology is also the basis of all teamwork. And, since most of today's business and scientific problems are too complicated for 'one man' solutions, teamwork is essential. If you want to be a valuable team player, and a likely candidate for captain, be the person who understands people. Learn what it takes for people to work together in harmony. Learn how to win trust and confidence. Learn basic human psychology.

"Bear this in mind, too. World tension, community tension, business tension, even family tension are the facts of everyday life. The more you know of human behavior, the better prepared you will be to deal with these problems.

"So, if you have the chance, take a course devoted to 'people.' Your class adviser can probably help you fit a psychology elective into your schedule. I don't think you'll regret it... I know I didn't."

W. Emlen Roosevelt first became a bank president while still in his early thirties. Today he heads still another bank and is a leader in New Jersey financial circles. Em's been a CAMEL fan ever since his undergraduate days at Princeton.
